There are always surprises in this world. Some of them are less pleasant than others.

Sunday morning I grabbed my three-pronged hand fork and went to wage war on the spring weeds.

At our house flower beds must always be raised, because the soil is so poor.

I was hunkered down in a cross-tie bed happily gouging and digging away at the loose soil when the fork made a strange, hollow "thunk" noise and I pulled it back.

To my absolute horror something began bubbling up out of the ground!

The slime that was oozing from the earth was yellowish in color.

Tentatively, I poked it with the fork, half expecting some strange earth-monster to roar and emerge.

The slime was beyond description.

I excavated the area until I knew what it was.

I then proceeded with my digging. Sure enough, almost immediately I hit another spot. Once more yellow, disgusting stuff bubbled up through the ground.

Then I managed to excavate a whole one.

"One what" you are probably asking.

The answer is "duck eggs".

You have all heard me moan about Fergus, our West Highland White Terrier. He's always been something else.

Well, what I had hit was his egg patch.

He was burying duck eggs in my flower bed!

The ducks tend to leave the eggs scattered around. I suspect he had already eaten as many as he could hold, and chose the flower bed as a handy spot to keep them away from anything else that might covet them.

No, we aren't going to kill him for stealing eggs. We can't raise ducklings because of the snapping turtles anyway. They make his coat pretty, too.

But it would be nice if he wouldn't hide them in my flower beds.

Because words just can't describe how gross it is to watch egg yolk come bubbling up from the ground!

Car, Cards, Cash Recovered After Theft

Peggy Parsons was asleep in the ICU waiting room after he husband's surgery last Wednesday, when she awakened in time to see a man leaving the waiting room with her purse.

Mrs. Parsons immediately found security, who began looking for the man.

According to reports he came out of the men's restroom without the purse. The security guard went into the restroom and found things from the purse scattered over the floor.

In the meantime the subject fled, jumped into a 1991 Buick, and drove away.

Pct. 1 Constable Randy Boren stated that the subject apparently had been watching Mrs. Parsons, because it was her vehicle he went to, and he had the keys to it from her purse. The man also had $700 in cash and some credit cards from Mrs. Parson's purse.

The security guard knew the subject and identified him.

A bulletin was sent out on the man and vehicle.

Constable Boren said that he had some knowledge of the man, and searched the Powerdly area for him.

He overheard a radio report from Hugo saying that he had talked with a man in a car fitting the description at a truck stop in Hugo about 30 minutes before the bulletin was received.

Boren went to Hugo and spoke with the policeman, who said that the man had gotten gasoline and asked him for directions to the Mardi Gras in New Orleans.

Boren stated that at that point he had Lamar County teletype New Orleans and Louisiana law enforcement to alert them that the man was probably heading their way.

In the meantime, Mrs. Parsons had gone home and cancelled the credit cards.

About 11:00 that morning a call was received from the Discovery Card offices advising that the subject had tried to use the card in Jonesboro's Walmart.

Jonesboro police had arrested him and he was facing charges of forgery and illegal use of a credit card.

Boren contacted the Jonesboro police and says he learned that the man denied having the vehicle.

He then spoke to the subject by phone and informed him that the Hugo police officer could put him in the vehicle, the security guard had seen him and identified him, and that he was facing a number of charges, including Federal charges concerning transporting stolen property across a state line.

The subject then admitted that the car was on the WalMart parking lot.

$585 in cash, the vehicle and the credit cards were recovered.

TALKING IT OVER—Coach Scudder talks to his Patriot

baseball team after the Prairiland/Chisum game last week.

Patriots Split In Second Week

The Prairiland Patriots opened the second week of the baseball season at Cooper on Tuesday night. Cool temperatures and a steady light rain made playing conditions difficult at best.

The red and blue opened the scoring on a solo homerun by third baseman, Cody Bowen in the second inning.

Jimmy Little scored in the top of the third on a throwing error at first base. The Patriots could not push another run across as the Bulldog pitcher kept the Pats off guard.

Cooper managed a solo shot off Patriot starter Mark Farris in the bottom of the third, and a hard single evened the score at 2-2 in the fifth.

Neither team could score again through the ninth inning. Mark Farris left the game, giving up two runs and striking out 16.

The Patriots found the Bulldog pitching too hard to handle, and they fell in order in the top of the tenth.

Chad Whitley started the bottom of the inning for the Pats. The first Bulldog he faced doubled to deep center. The next batter, Jamie Allen, drove the ball to deep center again, driving in the winning run.

The final score read 3-2, Bulldogs. The loss brought the Patriots record to 2-1 on the young season.

On Friday, the Patriots hosted the Chisum Mustangs, proving to be stronger than the young Mustang team, as they won 25-0.

The first quarter ended 2-0, with the help of Cody Bowen and Larry Smith's RBI singles.

In the second inning, Prairiland picked up two more runs while their pitcher, Brandon Bell, retired the Chisum hitters in consecutive order.

The third inning was big for the Patriots as they batted around twice, and rallied for eight hits. This rattled the Mustangs, and gave Bell the headway to pitch an impressive game. The third inning ended 19-0.

In the fourth inning, the lead off hitter for Chisum singled to right field, but Bell quickly ended the inning with two strike outs in a row. Prairiland scored six more to leave the score 25-0.

Bell struck out three in a row in the bottom of the fifth and the game was called due to the ten-run rule. The final score ended 25-0, Pats. Brandon Bell ended up with eight strike outs, while improving his record to 2-0 for the year.

Aching Throat

It hurts to talk...you're so horse people can barely understand you... you don't even want to think about swallowing. Yes, it's another painful, scratchy, inconvenient sore throat.

There are products to make your throat feel better—but remember the pain has a cause. Your body is sending you a signal.

A sore throat may indicate a bacterial infection (strep throat), a cold, influenza or even heavy smoking. Strep is treated by a prescription for antibiotics. There's no treatment for viruses that cause colds or flu, but nonprescription medicines can make you feel better.

Don't let a severe sore throat go more than two days before checking with your doctor. *A*ways get treatment if your sore throat is accompanied by a fever, particularly if your oral temperature stays above 101 degrees for 24 hours.

Nonprescription lozenges or sprays containing benzocaine can help relieve sore throat pain. Try gargling with salt water (1/4 tsp. of salt to eight ounces of water).

Community Service Club Tours New Jail

Members of the Deport Community Service Club were given a guided tour of the new Lamar County Jail last Saturday morning by Precinct One Commissioner Troy Owens.

The completion of the new 45,405 square foot facility is scheduled for the end of April and according to contractors work is on schedule in spite of all the wet weather.

The 196 bed facility is divided into 31,279 square feet designed to house prisoners, 5,560 square feet of area for the Sally Port and 8,566 square feet for administration and a county court room. The facility also has a medical room where patients can be given physicals without having to be taken to the hospital.

The Sally Port is a long garage area that is used to deliver prisoners. Once the doors are shut behind the county patrol cars, prisoners are in a confined area.

The facility can accommodate both male and female inmates classified from minimum to maximum security and even has a padded cell.

The facility carries a price tag of just under four million dollars when completed, according to Commissioner Owens, but the county, he says, will benefit as soon as the complex is completed.

Owens told the service club members that at the present time Lamar County is spending approximately $20,000 per month to house inmates in other jails because of overcrowding.

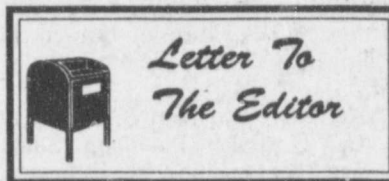

Also in the new facility fewer jailers or guards will be able to control more inmates more efficiently.

The new jail with its double concrete slabs, and dual security cells with concrete and steel living quarters is a long way from a motel, Owens stated to club members.

Tours of the jail are being conducted by commissioners and the sheriff's department to various interested groups in the area.

Owens told the Deport group that people or groups wanting a tour should contact one of the commissioners or the sheriff's office.

Dear Nanalee,

From time to time, the name of Mrs. Dorothea McDowra appears in your paper. This great lady's name always takes me back in time to 1938. My father, Les Temple, share-cropped a small farm south of Cunningham on what we called the Eric Wicker place.

On Friday before starting my senior year in high school, the following Monday, my sisters and I were helping Dad finish the last bit of cotton picking. We had made a fair crop and all our school clothes had been purchased. We had even bought a new battery operated Zenith radio.

There was to be a bake sale that Friday night and my mother was baking some goodies for the event. About 2 p.m., we heard my mother's cry for help. We looked and saw our house completely engulfed in flames. The kerosene cookstove had exploded and nothing could be saved. My mother was lucky to escape harm.

The only clothes we had to wear to school on Monday were the work clothes we were wearing and they were quite torn, worn and tattered. But thanks to the late Tom McDowra (Dorothea's husband), I had a new pair of trousers and shirt to wear to school on Monday. Others were generous to us during those trying times, but Tom McDowra's generosity and thoughtfulness were most impressive to this 16-year old country boy. A few years later I cried when I read of Tom's untimely death. Dennis Temple

GOOD CITIZEN-in spite of mud, bad weather and an overabundance of trash, Patsy Norrell is proceeding with pickup up the litter dumped out on the side of FM 1503 between her house and Hwy. 271. She does this as a civic duty and because she hates litter. (Staff Photo by Thomas Nichols)

Patsy Norrell "Lights Into Litter"

Patsy Norrell has assigned herself a difficult task...that of picking up trash thrown out on FM 1503 from Hwy. 271 down to her home.

Patsy says that she started walking for exercise along FM 1503 recently and was dismayed and disgusted by the trash and litter along the roadway. She decided that she would begin taking plastic bags with her and pickup up the eyesores on her walk.

In the last few weeks she has picked up no less than 18 bags of litter on her walks.

In addition to picking up the mess made by irresponsible people who can't be bothered to dispose of their own mess respectfully, Patsy disposes of the litter at her own expense.

In today's throw-away society our public roads are constantly abused by tons of disposable products tossed out.

People like Patsy, who practice good citizenship, and other groups nationwide who pick up after litterers, do it without compensation, the least we can do is give them a big vote of "Thanks" for their trouble, and time!
