"Kills Bugs DEAD" the lable on the bug spray can proclaims.

Excuse me...but isn't that a little redundant? Doesn't the word "Kill" mean to make something dead?

Think about it. Wouldn't the statement "Kills Bugs" be sufficient. Obviously, if it kills them they are dead! But the statement seems to imply that somehow, this poison will kill bugs a little bit deader than another spray would!

But, such is the world of lable advertising...in some sort of frenzy to impress the American buyer with a product's tremendous power the lables seem to go overboard.

Another rather stupid statement that one sees fairly often reads "It REALLY WORKS!"

Well, did they think we were going to buy it if it didn't work?

Would they put on the lable "Doesn't work worth a flip"?

Of course not. If we don't think it would work we wouldn't buy it. But it makes me wonder just a little when they try to assure us of that.

Another thing. How many times can a product be "New Improved Better Stronger More Powerful... Better Flavor...Healthier etc., etc.?"

Does that mean it wasn't very good to begin with? Why didn't they make it the very best they could at the start of marketing instead of "improving" the product fifteen times in it's first year or so of production?

The answer is obvious...they do it to sell more.

But Sometimes I wonder just a little about their techniques.

Still, those lables with outrageous or silly claims don't bother me nearly as much as the new packaging strategies

The pound of coffee that isn't a pound is a well known thing, now.

We adjusted to the fact that we don't buy coffee by the pound anymore.

Soon, I suppose, we will adjust to the sneaky fact that a five pound bag of sugar usually contains only 4 lbs.

Marketing does this to avoid upping the price, so they say.

Of course any fool knows that when you pay the same price for 4 lbs. as you do for 5 lbs. there HAS been a price increase.

But, like I said, they are pretty sneak and hope no one notices.

Bacon, little sausages, various canned goods are doing much the same thing, putting less into a package and charging the same. Somehow, the size of the container never seems to shrink either!

It doesn't matter much, we have to have the food items anyway. But somehow, somehow, I can't help but wish that the marketing strategists would realize that the public isn't a bunch of idiots falling for these little tricks.

No, we know what they are up to, we just have to buy the stuff anyway!

Country Cooking

By Gerrie Bankhead

The Country Cooking Column is coming to you this week from the breakfast room of Marise Fontenot of Pattonville.

Originally from Lake Charles, Louisiana, Marise retired 15 years ago and has made her home in Pattonville for the last three years. Marise chose this area because of her family members living there. She is the proud mom of two children: Barbara and husband Jon Young and two children of Pattonville; and Roxan DeRosier and husband John and one child of Lake Charles.

Hobbies include traveling, fishing, quilting, cooking, walking and growing roses. One of her favorite places to travel is Alaska to visit her sister, Eva Smith. She also enjoys visiting Michigan and Pennsylvania.

Cooking any kind of Gumbo, especially seafood gumbo is her favorite food to cook. Of course, being from Louisiana, she was reared on this type of cooking and has lots of recipes, some of which she is sharing this week with us. There are very few "Texas" foods she will eat. She says she does like blackeyed peas, rice, sausage and a very few more items. She strictly likes Cajun food and is trying to keep the traditional taste acquired in her children and grandchildren.

Marise recalled during the many years her husband was living, how she cooked a lot. He was in politics and always thought someone had to eat with them. He was very particular about what he ate and what was served. One instance she wanted to share was about eight years ago when she was asked to make three gallons of Roux (an oil and flour mixture) to make Quail Gumbo to be served to the President an guests at the White House. This was exciting for her. She has cooked many, many meals and served to the Governor of Louisiana and members of the Congress in Washington. She also uses Roux in lots of recipes. She makes it or buys it either one. We hope you enjoy the recipes Marise is sharing this week.

The Shrimp and Okra Gumbo was handed down from her late mother and she has used this recipe all her life. The Blend of Bayou Seafood was from Roxan, her daughter, about four years ago. Missy, a granddaughter, was visiting and stated this recipe is delicious. This is one of their holiday favorites.

The Cajun Smothered Chicken recipe is another that is handed down from her mom many years ago. The Crawfish Etouffee came from a nephew, Jay Fontenot, about 20 years ago. The Syrup Cake (Gateau Sirok), which is French for syrup cake) has also been used as long as she can remember.

If you have enjoyed the article, want to request a recipe or make a suggestion, please call 652-6032 or write to Rt. 1, Box 67A, Deport.

Next week I plan to share several recipes I have collected from many different readers who have generously shared with me. Keep sending in any type of recipe that is new, different, or one your family has really enjoyed. There are lots of readers that live miles away in many different regions that I cannot interview, but you can still share your recipes with us.

Bramlett Is Award Winner

Michele Bramlett has been named a United States National Award winner by the United States Achievement Academy in Science.

This award is attained by very few students. In fact, the Academy recognizes less than 10% of all American high school students.

Michele, who attends Prairiland High School, was nominated for this award by David Tyler, Physics teacher at the school. Michele will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors or other school sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability and recommendation from a teacher or director.

Michele Bramlett is the daughter of Bobby and Joyce Bramlett. Grandparents are B.C. and Frances Bramlett of Paris and the late Lester and Josephine O'Neal.

Charles and Margalene Wright,
Honored At 50th Anniversary Reception

Wright's Honored On 50th Wedding Anniversary

Charles and Margalene Wright were honored at a reception, given by their daughter, Annette, Myrtle Chumbley and Barbara Hillard, on the occasion of their 50th anniversary. The event was held while the couple was on a trip to Paris, Ft. Worth and Tyler from their home in Van Horn.

The couple opened gifts and received numerous congratulatory cards and comments from friends and family gathered for the affair.

A highlight of the anniversary reception was having her mother, May Chumbley, who is 89 years old, present at the reception.

Mrs. Wright is originally from Blossom, the daughter of May Chumbley and the sister of Viola Brendle.

Gilbert and Bonnie Huddleston,
Celebrating 50th Anniversary

Huddlestons Celebrate 50th Wedding Anniversary

Gilbert and Bonnie Ruth Huddleston will celebrate their 50th anniversary with a reception from 4 to 6 p.m. on Friday, June 12 at the Bogata Community Center. Hosts and hostesses will be their sons and daughters-in-law, Gary and Sharon Huddleston, Berney and Jamie Huddleston and Rex and Sherry Huddleston.

Gilbert and Bonnie were married Friday, June 12, 1942 in Clarksville. They have lived in Bogata since 1947 after Gilbert's return from nearly four years service in World War II. Gilbert is retired from the construction business and Bonnie is retired from a 40 year teaching career. Since retirement, the Huddlestons enjoy traveling and spending time with their six grandsons, Allen, Randy, Clayton, Cortney, Chase and Jared Huddleston and great-granddaughter, Charity Huddleston.

Friends and relatives are invited to attend the celebration. The couple requests no gifts, please.

Work Day Held At Shady Grove Cemetery

Work day was held as planned at Shady Grove Cemetery, despite the Saturday rainstorms.

Present were Ruth O'Brien of Garland, board member S.C. Short, president Elois Sparks, Henrietta Watts, Stanley O'Brien and a number of others.

A good response for the cemetery fund was received. If you have not responded, you may still do so as indicated on the cards bought and written and mailed as a compliment by Ruth O'Brien, project chairman and Mrs. O'Brien encourages you to do so.

The churchyard was also cleaned and filled with flowers by Mike Sparks.

Mr. Short and Mr. O'Brien spent time mowing but due to the need of fill dirt, a lot of water was present.

On Sunday, the members were surprised with a clean church, compliments of Ruth O'Brien.

Much more help is needed and everyone is encouraged to support the cemetery fund.

O'Brien Elected Eules Lion President

Dr. Stephen O'Brien of Garland, native of Lamar County, was recently installed as president of Eules Lions Club. He also serves on the Parks Board there.

Dr. O'Brien is a practicing dentist, and he and his daughters live in Eules and attend the First Baptist Church where they are members.

Rachael, Stephanie and Julie attend Eules Schools and the First Baptist Day School.

RELATIVES and friends of the Hershel Stone's had a supper and family get-together at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Short. Pictures were taken of the five generations present. They are Hershel Stone, great-great-grandfather; Mrs. Onita Stone Short, great-grandmother; Bennie Short, grandfather; Mrs. Rena Short Begedy, mother; and Christian Brian Begedy, the youngest.

Lock in energy savings this summer with the right thermostat setting

For energy efficiency that doesn't sacrifice your comfort, keep your thermostat setting on 78° this summer. For each degree below this setting, you'll add from 6 to 8 percent to your cooling costs. Since air conditioning is usually one of the largest energy users in your home, the savings can be significant.

For more information about low-cost and no-cost ways to save energy, call or visit your local Texas-New Mexico Power Company office and ask for the free booklet, "Energy Management Guide."
