By Nanalee Nichols

I don't get really, really serious in this column too often, but when I do get serious, I really, really mean it.

I attended a meeting last Thursday night, and in the course of casual conversation a comment about sexual harassment was made. That elicited another comment about "I just attended a seminar on sexual harassment and it will scare you to death".

Which brings me to the subject. Don't get me wrong, NO ONE should ever be threatened with the loss of their job, a promotion or anything else because they have to put up with true sexual harassment. People who resort to that should be punished to the full extent of the law.

But being afraid to pat a person on the shoulder because it can be called "sexual harassment" is ridiculous.

You can't convince me that most women (or men for that matter) can't tell the difference between friendliness and serious impropriety! And, for that matter, who hasn't learned how to take care of such things when it is improper? Why should it be necessary to resort to law suits and legal action? Most of the time, it isn't...but in attempting to protect those who have had to put up with real sexual harassment, we have created a system where it is virtually impossible for people to function normally!

As an example, have you heard the news story about the young woman who has filed charges on her date and her college? Seems she was so drunk that when he asked her if she "wanted to" she said yes. Then, next day, upon sobering up she decided she hadn't wanted to and is suing him and the college they attended.

What's wrong with this picture? Point number one...what does her school have to do with this at all? Point number two, and the major one as far as I'm concerned...did it ever occur to her NOT TO GET DRUNK? She has some responsibility to take here, folks! While it may not have been admirable for the young man to do what he did she did not have to be too drunk to know what she was doing!

Frankly, I think this whole thing has gotten out of hand. Women must learn to take care of themselves, and we all must learn to take responsibility for our actions and exercise some common sense.

I suppose there are those who will disagree with me, but I'll stick to my guns on this one!

Dear Nanalee,

So much is said and written about the faults of our children-always bad never good.

Since I've been rather confined to home the last few weeks I have witnessed a different group of kids. Good to the bone!

When they drop by and ask how I'm feeling or what can we do for you, it's heartwarming. They run errands for me, wash dishes, even mop the floors.

The greatest thing is when they come in and bring me "treasures" from the ditch by the walking track or wherever they might have been digging. I have quite a collection of these treasures.

The real treasures here are Brent Burden, Stephen Norman, Chris Farmer and Chad Larkin.

I want them all to know they are welcome in my house anytime. Parents you can be proud.

Sincerely,
Bocky Norman

Dear Editor,

The commercial advertising sign at the end of Main Street and 271 had the original concept of bringing out-of-town business to Deport and increase tax revenue for city services.

All regulations from the Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT) were followed to the letter (advertising license, bond, license fee to state, permit fee and right of way).

Keith Hollje, right of way appraiser, came out and met me and measured the right of way and showed me where the sign could be erected. At that time I asked him if we could go ahead and erect the sign and he said there was no problem with doing that.

After Texas-New Mexico Power graciously dug the holes for the sign and with lots of donated concrete and painted individual signs, the sign was erected. The mayor of Deport admitted to me that he called Jerry Loven at TxDOT and complained that the sign was a traffic hazard.

I returned to the TxDOT offices and Keith Hollje informed me that he had remeasured and that I had followed all regulations put out by TxDOT. He again said not to worry and the final brass plaque permit would be out soon.

After about another month I received the following letter on October 23rd:

Dear Mr. Seber:

In reference to your sign on US 271 in Deport, Texas, the following information will notify you that the sign needs to be moved. After several complaints, we had the right of way surveyed. Your sign is within the limits of the flare in the intersection. There are some stakes to indicate where the right of way limits are. In order to issue a permit at this location, the sign will have to be moved back to comply with the sign regulations. Please notify our office when you have made the adjustment. Sincerely, Jerry Loven

The sign would have to be moved back about 35 feet to meet with these specs and would not be visible from the highway.

On Monday, October 26th, I met Jerry Loven and Keith Hollje at TxDOT. I asked if they had complaints in writing. Jerry Loven said they had one from a TxDOT employee he had sent to check the sign. The other complaints were over the phone and he would not be specific whether they were all from the same person or the mayor.

TxDOT went to a lot of trouble and expense to survey and send people out to check on a sign that only had one complaint.

When I returned, I confronted our mayor and he freely admitted to complaining to Jerry Loven. When told that a lot of people were mad about this sign being moved back from the highway he told me he did not care.

I was told the mayor originally was upset because we did not go to the city council and ask their permission. I was also told he was upset because we did not include a free sign spot for the City of Deport and the American Legion. He denies both allegations.

The mayor of Deport and TxDOT went to a lot of trouble and expense to make us move this sign. Jerry Loven's phone number is 737-9356. The mayor's phone number is 652-3875.

Dave Seber
P.S. If you have any dealings with TxDOT, get everything in writing and with signatures and believe nothing an employee tells you.

A sisterhood of seven

Seven sisters meet once a month to share stories

By Nanalee Nichols
Many years ago, A.L. and Burnice Webster took a giant step and ran off to marry, it is doubtful that they envisioned what life would bring them. From their marriage came seven daughters!

A.L. Webster was twenty-two when he fell in love with fourteen year old Bernice, and she sneaked away from school to run away and marry. The nervous, frightened couple rode the train to Texarkana, Arkansas to marry, then returned home to "face the music".

With deep ties to the land they set about farming in McCrury Community. About every three years the couple had another baby, and without fail those babies were girls.

Today these seven sisters have a unique tradition that reflects the character and upbringing they were given by their beloved parents. Once a month, the "girls" meet for dinner. They have done so since the death of their mother in 1983. At these dinners, which take place either at one of their homes, or at a restaurant, they share again the joys of growing up in a large, all-female group of siblings, and catch up with the lives of their children, grandchildren and other relatives.

The seven Webster sisters are: Christine Nix of Hooks; Helen Stanley of Hagsport; Hattie Abernathy of McCrury; Bettie Pace of Clarksville; Juanita Sparks of Deport; Hiawatha King of Pattonville and Nelda Talley of McCrury.

Talking and chattering all a once, getting stories of their childhood isn't always easy, but some constant things emerge-these are women brought up in joy and laughter, Christian values, respect for farming and the land and honest character.

Life must sometimes have been a bit difficult for their father, after all, he was a lone male in a household of eight women.

They remember one time when they had several friends over, one staying for two weeks, two others for several days. That swelled the number of females to a point where,

"Daddy couldn't find a place in the house to change clothes. Every where he went there were girls". He finally retreated to the barn to change!

The house they grew up in wasn't large, it was a small, three bedroom home. Everyone, had their chores to do, and without that discipline the household couldn't have operated.

Two of the sisters (who must remain nameless or else this story can't be related) had the task of washing and drying the dishes every evening. The younger one got into the habit of retreating to the outhouse and staying until the older one finished her chores for her.

"She knew if I wanted to go out I had to get the job done, so she would wait until I did both jobs".

Finally, the older sister sneaked out and slipped the latch down on the outhouse. Locked in during the waning heat of a summer's day, the younger sister was trapped for a long, long time.

"Well, it worked, she didn't shirk her chores anymore" laughs the older sister!

Their mother dressed them in ruffles and frilly dresses, in spite of having to wash without benefit of electric washing machines or dryers. In addition, she made everything they wore. She had the amazing talent of looking at a picture in a catalog, then creating its replica. They would select their fabric from a peddler that came around, then show their mother what they wanted made. Of course, they had to wear one another's hand me downs, but didn't seem to mind.

Their grandmother lived next door to them, and she counted the number of girls "unmentionables" pegged to the line one week. There were 47 pairs!

Next to the youngest, Hiawatha, was the family's tomboy. She used to love to follow her dad around in little boots and overalls.

Hiawatha's rather unusual name is the result of oldest sister Christine being told she could name the impending child. At that time she was studying the poem "Hiawatha" in school, and promptly sadly her newborn sister with the name. It seems to have been the last time the Websters let a daughter name a baby!

How do you discipline seven girls, with a three year age difference? Not by spanking. Instead, if they fought or fussed among themselves they had to stand in front of the mirror, then kiss one another. For real offenses they had to put out their tongue for a small dose of terrible tasting castor oil!

Love was more a part of their lives than stern discipline, though. Christian values were instilled early, and they recall when the father, after working all day in the fields, would go from bed to bed at night, fanning his beloved daughters so that they could sleep.

Their mother would recall as she grew older that "When I was raising my girls I had time to visit with my neighbors, wash, iron, cook and clean, now I'm older and have all-electric appliances and I can't get much of anything done".

As the young women of the Webster mated the subject of dating came up. They could date, but were not allowed to go by themselves, either other friends had to go, another sister, or it had to be a double date.

The youngest sister, Nelda, laughs that she is now only one half mile from where she was born and one half mile from where she will be buried.

"I guess I didn't get very far in life" she laughs.

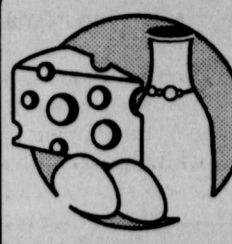

All the sisters love to cook and are excellent cooks. Most sew beautifully. They have worked at a variety of jobs. Five of them began their work careers working at the Duke & Ayers "dime store" in Clarksville.

They have sixteen children between them, and thirty-six grandchildren. Christine is the only one with great-grandchildren so far.

As they gather together in Juanita Sparks' living room they flood the room with laughter and good nature. They tease and "pick" at one another. It's a view back in time, for a moment one is witness to what life must have been like for A.L. and Burnice Webster as they raised their seven daughters. It is a pleasant sight indeed.

This week's featured cook is from Pattonville and is Yvonne Gray. She and her husband Dick have been married for 28 years. They live out on Hwy 196 past Prairiland High School. They built their beautiful, two story home about 10 years ago. Now she says that it is really too big for the two of them and they would like something smaller.

They have a daughter, Terri, who lives in Mt. Pleasant. Son, James D. and his wife Heather, live in Blossom. Recently (in fact, about 9 weeks ago), James and Heather made grandparents of Yvonne and Dick. They had a baby girl named Madison. Yvonne and Dick loves being a grandparent and have the opportunity to spoil her quite often!

Yvonne is a math teacher at Prairiland and this has been her 20th year in teaching. She teaches Geometry and TAAS Math. She loves her job, but is looking forward to the time they can retire and do some traveling. Along with traveling, they enjoy fishing, camping, canoeing and general outdoors activities.

We would like to thank Yvonne for sharing her recipes with us this week and we will see you in the kitchen!

Butter Rolls with Sauce-an old fashioned favorite sweetbread for anyone's taste buds.

Grilled Jalapeno Chicken-using jalapeno peppers combined with lime juice, honey and cilantro for a marinade. Cover and refrigerate overnight for best flavor.

Mr. and Mrs. Jason Aaron Chumbley

Chumbley-Gifford exchange wedding vows

Marti Lea Gifford and Jason Aaron Chumbley were united in holy matrimony on Friday, October 9 in an outside gazebo ceremony at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Gifford of Paris. Pastor Anthony Corso performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Gifford and is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Castlebury of Deport and Mr. and Mrs. B.J. Crawford of Bogata. The groom is the son of Ms. June Barber of Blossom and the late Coy Chumbley.

The bride was escorted by her father down the aisle lined with candle lanterns draped with tulle and bows and given in marriage by her parents. She wore a white satin and lace gown, the bodice was fashioned off the shoulders with a fitted waist accented with lace, iridescent clear sequins and pearls. The flowing full skirt was floor length with organza over satin. Her headpiece was a halo of white roses and pearls. And her bouquet carried out her chosen fall colors of orange, yellow, gold and rust.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Andra Dixon of Paris. The best man was Chad Johnson of Blossom.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony. Houseparty members included Lindsey Allen, Charity Barber, Theresa Stephens and Mandy Tull.

Rice bags were made by residents of Deport Nursing Home and distributed by Koletan and Kaid Stephens. Registry was attended by Morgan and Kelsey Chumbley.

The groom's mother hosted a rehearsal dinner in the fellowship hall at Life Line Church in Reno for family and friends of the wedding party.

The bride and groom were honored with several showers prior to their wedding. A miscellaneous shower was given at Deport American Legion Hall by friends and employees of Deport Nursing Home. Another shower was held at Casa Ole by employees of Lamar Electric Coop. A personal shower was given at the home of Andra Dixon by Lindsey Allen and Andra. In the month of September, new Puffkins include dalmation, cow, gorilla, white monkey, penguin and elephant. The following month, there will be two Puffkin releases including another monkey, an owl, seal, dragon and two dinosaurs. Then, a black monkey, hippopotamus and buffalo. In the winter, 10 more styles, yet to be determined will be released. In 1998, some Puffkins will be retired.

Patriots drop game against Rivercrest

The Prairiland Patriots dropped a disappointing game at Johntown last Friday when they left the Rivercrest campus with a 6-0 loss from the Rebels.

Both teams were scoreless at the end of the first half, which ended with a failed 32-yard field goal try by RC's Daniel Vasquez. That field goal try had been set up by a Jason Freelan interception at the Prairiland 41. The Rebels drove the ball to the 8 before being pushed back on a sack of Freelan and two failed pass plays.

The Rebel drive was the only penetration by either team in the opening two quarters.

Prairiland Coach Rick Connot changed courses in the second half, turning to the arm of his quarterback and a passing game. Elrod completed nine of 14 passes in that half for 94 yards, but it was Rivercrest that reached the endzone for the only points of the night.

That score had been set up when RC's Chase Collins sacked Jason Elrod and forced a fumble that rolled to the Patriot 2, where Coleman Brown pounced on it. From there, Freelan pushed across for the score. A conversion run was stopped, and the Rebels led 6-0.

Moments later, Prairiland drove the ball to the Rebel 7. Set up with a first and goal from there, Elrod fumbled twice in succession, the second grabbed by Rivercrest's Crabtree to end the scoring threat.

Prairiland drove to the Rivercrest 33 as time ran out on the clock.

PATRIOT JR. HIGH QB Blake Smith of Blossom runs with the ball in Thursday evening's 7th grade football game against Rivercrest. The Patriots were victorious with a win of 6-0.

Lady Patriots win again

In District action Saturday morning at Prairiland, the Lady Patriots handily defeated Chapel Hill 15-1, 15-6. Felicia Taylor had 14 kills and Katie Mullins had 6 kills while Meagan Hatfield put up 14 assists.

The JV team also had an easy game with a 15-1, 15-0 win. Kami Hudson, Ashley Moffitt and Tammy Nichols each had 2 kills. Jordan Hunold and Shannon Haltom had 12 and 9 serves respectively.

Lady Patriots make clean sweep in District

Tuesday afternoon at Chapel Hill, the Lady Patriots made a clean sweep of District action with a 15-3, 15-4 victory over Chapel Hill. Felicia Taylor led the kills with ten while Katie Mullins had 4. Meagan Hatfield had 9 assists. Taylor also led the serving with 9 service points, 5 being aces.

The JV team also won easily 15-3, 15-3. Toni Clarkson, Shannon Haltom, Sheena Jones and Ashley Athas each had 2 kills apiece and Brittany Bailey had 4 assists.

The Lady Patriots will be playing a warm up game with Rains Saturday morning at 10:00 a.m.

Mark Homer for State Representative

"Our kids education will be my top priority. I will support teacher pay raises and a return to classroom discipline. I will lead the fight for updated technology and meaningful vocational training. I will oppose any attempt to take billions of tax dollars from our public schools in order to fund a private school voucher scheme. Most importantly, I will work to create policies that encourage family involvement in our schools --because I know that parental guidance is the most important ingredient in building a child's character."

Paris UDC to celebrate 100 years

The United Daughters of the Confederacy is the outgrowth of many local memorial, monument and Confederate Home Associations, which were organized after the War Between the States.

After the War, many local groups, led by women, were organized to rehabilitate the country along with auxiliaries to Camps of Confederate Veterans. Out of these local societies, which for nearly three decades rendered untold service to the South, two Statewide organizations came into existence as early as 1890; the Daughters of the Confederacy in Missouri, and the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Confederate Soldiers Home, in Tennessee. After several changes of name, United Daughters of the Confederacy was organized on September 10, 1894. United Daughters of the Confederacy is, because of its connection with the previous organizations, the oldest patriotic organization in our country.

The objectives of the organization are Historical, Educational, Benevolent, Memorial and Patriotic, to honor the memory of those who served and those who fell in the service of the Confederate States of America.

In October 1898 Chapter #258 was organized in Paris, Lamar County, Texas. On Saturday, October 31, this Chapter will celebrate its Centennial Anniversary at the Sam Bell Maxey House Museum and State Park in Paris. The public is cordially invited to attend a Tea and ceremony beginning at 2 p.m. to honor the 100 years of service by these kind and considerate ladies.

For a century these ladies have worked diligently to preserve the memory and honor of Confederate soldiers. Continuing this tradition, the local chapter, in cooperation with the Sons of Confederate Veterans, Sam Bell Maxey Camp in Paris, have arranged for a beautiful large granite monument on the Maxey House park which will be dedicated to the memory of all Confederate Soldiers who are buried in Lamar County in unmarked graves without any type of tombstone. The names of these men known at this time will be read during the ceremony.

The festivities will also include awards to outstanding individuals. Living history exhibitions and enthusiasts of all types are urged to attend.

Matter of Fact

Rick Perry
Texas Agriculture Commissioner

When it comes to that long list of Texas myths and truisms, there's one about food that's hard to dispute: Texans do love beef.

But in this day of health consciousness, there are some folks who may be passing up a good thing for no real reason at all. Now the Texas Dietetic Association - a group that knows all about a healthy menu - is letting everyone know that beef does have a place on a dinner plate and in a balanced diet.

The association promotes what it calls Back to Basics. Back to Basics means eating a variety of foods from each of the food groups while also balancing what you eat with physical activity.

This approach embraces beef because it fits within the umbrella of a healthy diet. All foods can fit - just don't overdo it on any one. Balance a variety of choices from each food group and be sure to make smart choices about what you eat.

In response to consumer demands, the industry has worked to provide beef that is leaner than it was just 10 years ago. Finding that lean beef in your supermarket is as simple as looking for the words "round" or "loin" in the name of the cut (such as "top round" or "sirloin").

Proof that when it comes to eating right, you can have your steak and eat it too.

Fight "BAC" national campaign

"It must of been something I ate" is often the explanation for what many people call the "stomach flu". Despite continued progress in improving the quality and safety of foods in the United States, food-related illness remains a serious public health problem. Each year, as many as 9,000 deaths and 33 million cases of illness a year are linked to food borne pathogens. "Fight BAC" is a national campaign to help decrease the incidence of food borne illness and to help consumers protect themselves and their families.

Food borne bacteria have no smell and cannot be seen or felt, but can lead to serious illness. Most cases of food related illness can be prevented if consumers recognize that they play an important role in ensuring the safety of the foods they eat. Introducing people to BAC and his devious ways the "Fight BAC!" campaign will raise public awareness about four ways that consumers can keep food safe from harmful bacteria.

The number one defense is to keep things CLEAN. Wash your hands, utensils and surfaces with hot soapy water before and after food preparation and especially after preparing meat, poultry, eggs or seafood. Most people will say they wash their hands after using the bathroom, but in studies it has been found that only 74% of women and 61% of men actually do. Washing your hands does not mean passing them under the running water, but actually rubbing them and using soap. It takes 30 seconds to 1 minute to do a good job. Correct hand washing is the single most important means of preventing the spread of illnesses. Use a disinfectant cleaner or 1 tablespoon of bleach in 1 gallon of water to sanitize surfaces. A sanitizing solution must be left on the surface for at least 60 seconds to work.

Cross-contamination is how bacteria spreads from one product to another. Keep raw meat, poultry, eggs and seafood and their juices away from ready to eat foods. Separate the meat, poultry and seafood from other foods in your grocery cart and store them on the bottom shelf in your refrigerator so the juices do not drip onto other foods. Never place cooked foods on a plate or surface that previously held raw meat, poultry, eggs or seafood.

Foods cooked properly will be heated long enough and at a high enough temperature to kill any harmful bacteria. Cook foods to the proper internal temperature and check for doneness with a food thermometer. Cook eggs until both the white and yolk are firm.

Chill. Cold temperatures keep most bacteria from growing and multiplying. Refrigerate or freeze perishables, prepared foods and leftovers within two hours and make sure the refrigerator is set no higher than 40F and the freezer is set at 0F. Never defrost or marinate food on the kitchen counter. Divide large amounts of leftovers into small containers for quick cooling.

The Fight "BAC" campaign is from the Community and Worksite Wellness department of the Texas Department of Health.

Heart murmurs rarely life-threatening

A heart murmur might be the body's scare tactic, but its bark is often worse than its bite, says a cardiologist at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

"Most heart murmurs are not life-threatening," said Dr. Miguel Quiñones, professor of medicine at The DeBakey Heart Center at Baylor and The Methodist Hospital in Houston. "Many people who experience heart murmurs have perfectly healthy hearts."

Heart murmurs are buzzing or swishing sounds heard through a stethoscope in addition to a regular heartbeat. The murmur is caused by turbulent blood flow and is usually linked to a heart-valve disorder.

Quiñones says there are two kinds of heart murmurs: functional and pathologic. A functional murmur is caused by turbulent blood flow through a normal heart valve. A pathologic murmur is due to blood flowing through a defective valve or an abnormal opening in the heart.

"More than half of all patients diagnosed with a heart murmur have the functional type that doesn't require follow-up or treatment," said Quiñones, who is also director of the echocardiography laboratory at Methodist.

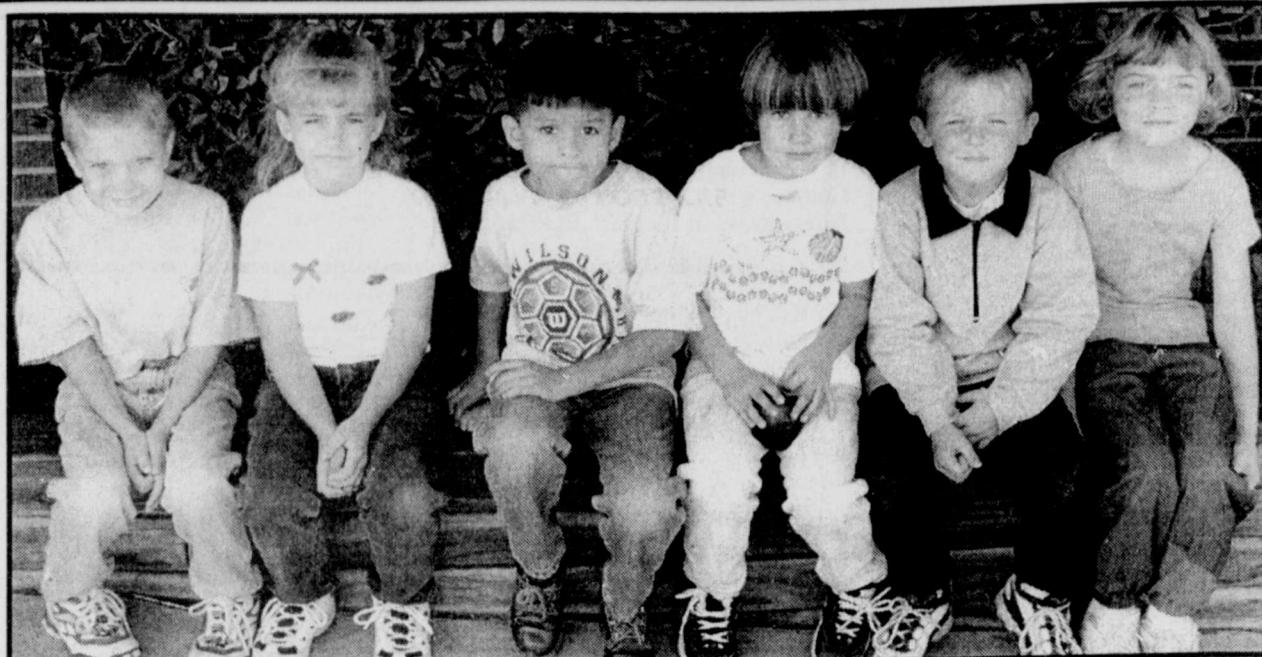

Quiñones recommends that people diagnosed with a pathologic heart murmur seek a cardiologist who can determine if treatment is necessary.

Cardiologists use echocardiography, an ultrasound test that takes a "picture" of the heart's sound waves and blood-flow velocity, to find defects causing the heart murmur.

Heart murmurs occur most commonly in one of four ways - 1) blood passing over a narrowed valve as in the case of rheumatic heart disease, 2) a defect in the heart wall, or 3) back flow of blood through an insufficient or leaky valve.

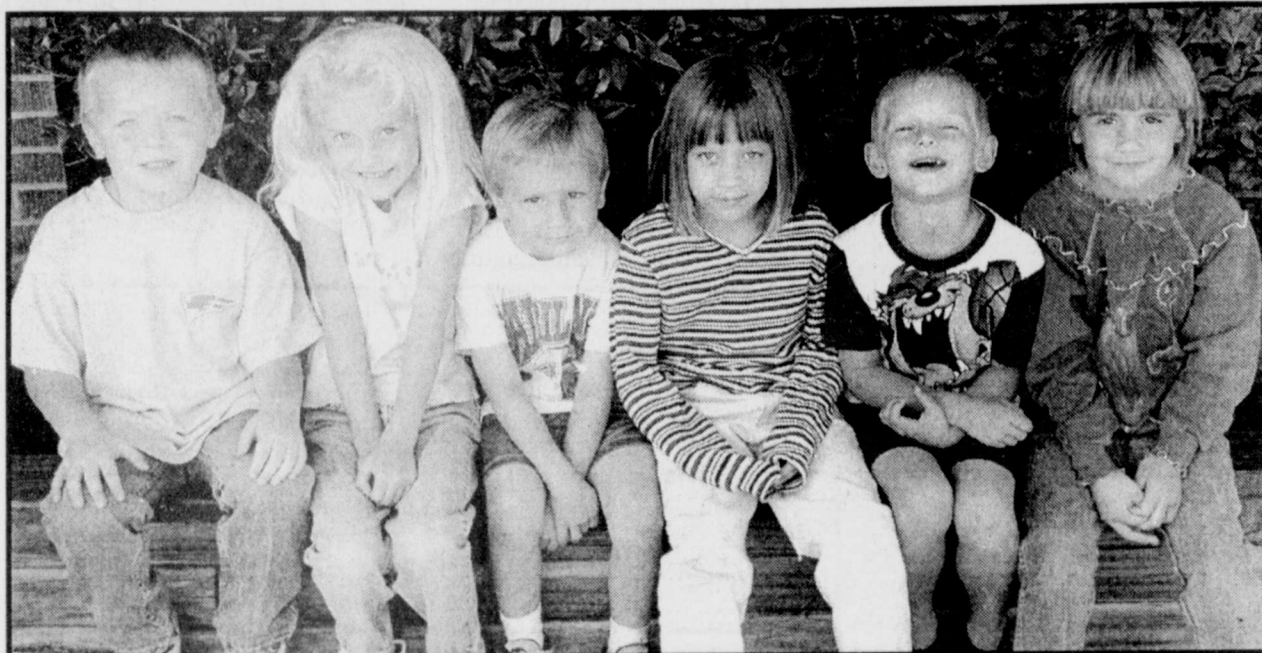

In many cases, the problem producing the heart murmurs can be corrected surgically. However, Quiñones says surgery is not always necessary. Many patients can live a normal life with medical treatment.

"Don't panic if your physician says you have a heart murmur," Quiñones said. "Chances are you can still enjoy a good quality of life and resume leisure activities like exercise and sports."

Buckboard Annie Says.....

Someone has defined middle age as the time of life when we try to use up all "Mother Nature" gave us before "Father Time" takes it all away!!

"I Want Every Single Child In Texas to Read, Every Child."

George W. Bush
Governor George W. Bush

Bush's Education Plan

- Teach every child to read by the 3rd grade
- End the automatic promotion of children who can't do the work
- Give these children the extra help necessary to get up to grade level (cost: $203 million)
- Send $1 billion more to districts without strings to use as they see fit— for teacher pay raises or more teachers
- Build more classrooms by having the state spend $200 million to help pay the debt costs of $3 billion in bonds for new school construction.
- Expand after-school programs for at-risk middle school kids ($25 million)
- Expand the Advanced Placement Program ($18 million)
- Pay for new textbooks, geared to Texas' new back-to-basics reading curriculum ($166 million)

"Last year, more than 40,000 students failed the 3rd grade minimum skills reading test. And you know what happened to them? Most were passed to the 4th grade.

"It's unacceptable so many children can't read."

"What they need is extra help.

"We're going to test our children early to make sure they can read. If they can't, we'll give them extra help to catch up and more chances to pass the test.

"State government should pick up the extra cost of this early intervention — $203 million — but leave it to local districts to decide what programs to bring these kids up to grade level.

"There is no question that when our children learn to read, the math scores will go up, the science scores will go up, and the discipline problems will go down."

"We're focusing on the basics and teaching every child to read. It is a goal I know we can achieve."

Sue Fancher

FOR STATE REPRESENTATIVE

A message from

Governor
George W. Bush

"Sue Fancher will work with me to make Texas a beacon state. She is bright, dedicated, and will be an effective State Representative."

George W. Bush

Texas Education.

I have spent the better part of the last twenty years raising my two wonderful sons. One of the biggest decisions I had to make in their upbringing was where they would go to school. We've always believed strongly in our local public schools, and it was among the proudest moments of my life the day I watched my two sons walk across the stage to receive their diplomas. Bryan is now a senior at Texas Tech and Rodney went on to receive a mechanical engineering degree from Texas A&M and a law degree from Samford University in Birmingham.

I share Governor Bush's vision for improving Texas schools. I'll work hand-in-hand with him to end social promotion, and ensure Texas parents have the confidence that their children have learned the necessary skills at the current grade level before being moved to the next. I strongly support Governor Bush's plan for a Texas where every child can read by the third grade. And I firmly believe we must give schools the right to remove disruptive students from the classroom, so teachers can teach without fear or intimidation and students can get down to the serious business of learning.

Another important step to improve public schools in Texas is to eliminate, once and for all, unfunded mandates from the federal and state government. Unfunded mandates endanger local control and cost Texas public schools millions of dollars in much-needed funds every year. The seemingly endless stream of red tape being generated by those in charge have tied the hands of some of our best educators and left school districts scrambling to comply while the children of Texas pay the price. That must change.

Ultimately, the real answer to improving education in Texas lies in giving parents and local schools the freedom to choose what's best for them. As your State Representative, I will work hard to guarantee that they have that freedom.

On November 3rd, please cast your vote for Sue Fancher for State Representative.

Prairiland Project Graduation opened their "Haunted Barn" on Tuesday night, October 27 at 6:00 p.m. It will continue each night thru Halloween, staying open until 12:00 p.m. on Friday and Saturday night. Come out and be greeted by some "ghostly ghouls". Then cross the "bridge of lights" if your dare! On into the "dining room" that offers you a culinary delight with a table filled with whatever might delight the taste buds of a Halloween goblin. Don't get ill or you will wind up in the "operating room" to see the surgery of Drs. Doom and Death. They will be assisted by several nurses and orderlies on duty. The "bloody bedroom" complete with all of the amenities will leave you wondering what might be under your bed! See an actual "electric chair" in action as the offender "sees the light!" Farmer D's barnyard is by no means a petting zoo, as you travel through this maze of deception. The "living room" offers you a relaxing time in front of the TV with all the family members? Then on to the "butcher shop"! What awaits you is quite frightening. Finger foods, anyone? On thru the cemetery, Mr. Bones and all of his cronies fill you with chills and spine-tingling fear! Frankenstein and his bride will be waiting for you to enjoy their ceremony in the "garden" under the trees. Watch out! you may be surprised as you turn the corner! The "witches room" is filled with bats and cats and other scary creatures. Around the bend finds you in a "pit of doom"....be sure to watch where you step! Through the "spider room" finds you entwined in the web of deceit and the room is filled with who knows what! Exit if you dare and see what surprises await you! Come out and support this hard working group.

Slain Commissioner's body exhumed

In a press release issued by Red River County Attorney Jack Herrington it was learned that the body of slain Red River County Commissioner Alton Peek was exhumed last week at the recommendation of the 102nd Grand Jury. The May term of the 102nd Grand Jury has been investigating the murder of Commissioner Alton Peek for the past 6 months. Under their direction the body of Alton Peek was disinterred Tuesday, October 20th for further investigation. The County Attorney's office was in charge of carrying out the necessary procedures. Peek's family and widow, Michelle Peek consented to the procedure. Mr. Peek was buried in Lamar County after the disinterment. All procedures were carried out according to state law, the press release says. Forms were signed by the president of the Boxelder Cemetery Association, the owner of the cemetery plot and the wife of Alton Peek. Since proceedings of the Grand Jury are secret, the public was not informed. The Grand Jury's term expires at the end of October. An additional meeting is scheduled this week. Peek was shot to death Nov. 11, 1996, at a farm near Boxelder. No one has been arrested in the killing, but a man thought to be a prime suspect reportedly killed himself a month after Peek's death.

Dear Lord,
So far today, God, I've done all right. I haven't gossiped, haven't lost my temper, haven't been greedy, grumpy, nasty, selfish or even overindulgent. But in a few minutes, God, I'm going to get out of bed and from then on, I'm probably going to need a lot of help!!

AFFIDAVIT OF PUBLICATION AND POSTING OF NOTICE OF ESTRAY
 THE STATE OF TEXAS
 COUNTY OF RED RIVER

Before me, the undersigned authority, on this day personally appeared Darlena Shimpoock, who after being by me duly sworn deposes and says:

After the herein described Estray was impounded, I made a diligent search of the register of recorded brands in the county where said Estray was found. I also contacted known exotic livestock and fowl owners in my County. The search did not reveal the owner of said Estray.

I did then advertise the impoundment of said Estray in the Bogata News, a newspaper of general circulation in the county where said Estray was found, at least twice during the fifteen (15) days after impoundment of said Estray. The dates of such advertisement were October 22 and October 29, 1998, and November 5, 1998, and a duly verified printed copy thereof is returned herewith.

I also posted a copy of the Notice of Estray and the Notice of Impoundment of Estray on the public notice board of the courthouse of the county in which the Estray was found.

Said Estray is described as the following: Older brown & black crossbred cow, approximately 950 lbs. Brand unreadable.

Witness my hand, this 8th day of October, 1998.

 Sheriff of Red River County, TX

We need Veteran's memories now!

Time is running out for veterans of any branch or time in the service to submit memories of their time in the armed services.

The memories will be run in a Thunder Prairie Publishing veterans day edition, and are much read by everyone.

Please, take a moment to submit a service memory to us. It doesn't even have to be during war time, but just a memory of what boot camp felt like, what the times were like during your service time, whatever you would like.
