Calling Men, 21 to 36 to Register Oct. 16

Registration of all men between the ages of 21 and 36 for one year of military training who vote at Talco or who live in Talco voting precinct will take place Wednesday, Oct. 16, in Talco, according to Chief Registrar Jim Morris. Registration hours will be from 7 a. m. until 9 p. m. and later, if necessary.

Mr. Morris has not designated a place for registration. It will probably take place in the regular voting place at the city hall, unless school officials close school that day and allow Mr. Morris to set up his office in the school building.

Mr. Morris has not chosen his assistants at this time, but is asking for volunteers, to help in the registration. Those who use typewriters are preferred. Anyone wishing to help is asked to see Mr. Morris at once.

Mr. Morris will attend a meeting of Titus county chief registrars Saturday in Mt. Pleasant where he will receive instructions and supplies and take the oath of office.

First step in the new compulsory military training service being inaugurated in the United States will be next Wednesday, Oct. 16, when all men between the ages of 21 and 36 must register at their voting places. From this enrollment the army will choose those men it deems best fitted to receive a year's training.

A heavy fine and prison sentence is provided for failure to register. The law states that all men must register unless specifically exempted by law, provided they have reached their 21st birthday and not passed the 36th. Traveling men, college students, and others who are away from their polling place on Oct. 16 must go to the nearest polling place and register.

Five Miles of Work on Highway 271 is About Complete

Grading and stabilization work for Highway 271 had been practically completed Saturday afternoon, with only a little grading and packing to be done on the five-mile stretch from the fair grounds at Mt. Pleasant north to the S. A. Newman place between Talco and Mt. Pleasant.

It is expected that in a short while a wearing surface of asphalt and gravel will be spread, after which this part of the road can be used for regular traffic. Most of the equipment has been moved to the Newman place and grading and stabilizing work will continue as long as the weather will permit. However, it is thought that the project will not be entirely completed this year, and the old road from Talco will probably remain the principal route of travel until spring.

Below is a copy of the report that will be filled out by boards who will register men on next Wednesday between the ages of 21 and 36 years, from which registration there will be selected certain numbers for induction into military training camps for one year. All men required to register should read this report carefully and be in position to answer promptly the questions that will be asked in order to expedite the work of the boards which will be heavy.

Upon answering the questions above, enrollees will be given a small card showing they have registered, that will also carry a description of the holder.

Smith Co. Test Makes Gas in Paluxy Sand

Third place in which the Paluxy sand has been known to produce oil was found Monday when Smith County's deep Chapel Hill test followed Talco and Sulphur Bluff into Paluxy pay by about 4½ years with a new gas distillate well. The well is producing heavily of gas but leaves Talco and Sulphur Bluff still the only fields producing oil from the Paluxy.

From perforations at 5,785-5,810 feet, Sun & Shell No. 1 Moseley, Hinds survey, flowed at the rate of 5.6 barrels of 74.7 gravity condensate hourly through ¼-inch choke. Gas was figured at 2,000,000 feet daily, and ratio was 20,000 to 1. Pressures were 1,650 pounds on casing and 1,600 pounds on tubing. Ratio was 850 to 1.

Cement was drilled out to 5,822 feet for the test. It is the second completion for the well, a distillate producer having been provided from perforations at 8,140-8,228 in the Pettit zone. The well made 29 barrels of distillate in twelve hours on last test there.

Addition of the Paluxy gives the field three pays, the Pettit, which produces oil at three wells, and the Rodessa section of the Glenrose.

Three Wells Drilling in East Talco

All drilling in the Talco field is centered on the east side of the field this week.

Humble, having completed the last producer, on the J. C. Young heirs in West Talco, moved machinery to the east side and is drilling around 2000 feet on the W. D. and V. I. Phillips No. 4. The company has an offset to make to the Joe Robinson No. 1, completed in that area last week.

Denver Drilling Company is straightening hole on the E. V. Duke No. 4, after reaching a depth of 4230 feet. They are drilling for Magnolia Company. It has been reported that Magnolia has a block located west of the Young heirs in West Talco, to drill next.

Bill Hinton spudded in Thursday on the Joe Robinson No. 2, after making a producer out of the No. 1 well. The completion of this well will cause other companies to offset.

Tyer Wildcat to Resume with New Supply of Water

Resumption of drilling on the J. F. Morrissey No. 1 A. F. Tyer wildcat east of Bogata is expected to be resumed the last of the week after being shutdown since last Friday due to shortage of drilling water. Operators have been forced to tear up water line and lay a longer one to a new source of supply.

The new water supply is expected to be adequate and drilling is scheduled to progress without further delay. The shutdown came below 1900 feet after B. B. Bowden, geologist, had predicted the Woodbine sand would be picked up at about 2100. Mr. Bowden has stated he expects a showing of some sort in this sand.

"Boom Town" Comes to Strand Theatre

Featuring four of Hollywood's brightest stars, Clark Gable, Spencer Tracy, Claudette Colbert and Hedy Lamarr, one of the most outstanding motion pictures of the year is to be seen in "Boom Town," showing at the Strand Theatre in Talco on Oct. 15-16-17. Attention of the reader is directed to the theatre's advertisement in this edition.

Talco Trojans Beat Deport in 6-0 Game

Talco Trojans defeated the Deport Tigers in a 6-0 game Friday night under the floodlights on the Talco gridiron.

During the first three quarters both teams charged and passed up and down the field, each taking numerous five-yard penalties. Talco completed some passes, accounting for yardage, only to lose when a line plunge was made against the charging Tigers.

In the beginning of the second half Deport players came out on the field determined to down the Trojans and completed some beautiful passes, but an interception changed the advance to the Trojan's favor.

Deport was threatening again with passes and plunges after Talco had made their six point score, but due to the short time remaining to play, both teams were scrapping along the forty yard line when the final whistle blew.

Talco's well trained high school band attired in their beautiful red, white and blue uniforms put on a show at the half that was greatly appreciated by the fans.

The Deport High School Band accompanied the team to Talco and with a fine cheering squad and a large number of Deport fans played no small part in helping the Trojans hold the strong Talco eleven.

Cotton Crop Forecast is 12,741,000

This year's cotton crop was forecast at 12,741,000 bales Tuesday by the Agriculture Department. The forecast was based on Oct. 1 conditions.

The crop was forecast at at 12,772,000 bales a month ago. Last year's crop was 11,817,000 bales. Average production during the ten years, 1929-38 was 13,547,000 bales.

The Census Bureau reported that cotton of this year's growth ginned to Oct. 1 totalled 3,924,094 running bales, compared with 6,682,066 bales to that date a year ago, and 6,577,109 bales two years ago.

The condition of the crop Oct. 1 was 72 per cent of a normal compared with 68 a year ago, and 63, the 1929-38 average Oct. 1 condition.

Texas prospects declined 89,000 bales due to below average rainfall, particularly in the northwest.

REV. HULON COFFMAN

Rev. Hulon Coffman of Dallas, will conduct a revival meeting at the Calvary Baptist Church from Oct. 13 through Oct. 27. Rev. Coffman is recommended as a fine preacher of the scriptures.

Mt. Pleasant is Selected for Airport

Wings over Titus county may become common before long. Mt. Pleasant is one of the sites recommended for an airport project, said to be necessary for the defense program, and allocation has been made for $198,516 for construction work.

Authority to select sites for airport projects is vested in the Civil Aeronautics Board and appropriations have been recommended for 284 places in the State.

In Washington, the House has approved a deficiency appropriation bill of $500,000,000 for airport construction, of which Texas will receive $38,416,873 in connection with national defense. The appropriation must now be approved by the Senate, which is thought very likely.

Other places in this immediate section to be recommended are Sulphur Springs, Paris, Atlanta, Jefferson, Marshall and Johnston's Ranch in the First Congressional District. Greenville, Honey Grove, Bonham, Tyler, Wills Point and Longview-Kilgore were also selected.

Cookville Man Shot Saturday Night

An alleged quarrel on Saturday night between two men who live near Cookville, resulted in the shooting of Ennis Tinker at a roadhouse five miles east of Mt. Pleasant. Doss May was placed in the Titus county jail following the altercation and Tinker went to a hospital. Following the shooting, in which Tinker received a pistol bullet in his right chest, May is said to have put Tinker in his own car and carried him to a hospital.

First Movie Shown at Talco School

Talco students were entertained in assembly Tuesday by the showing of the first motion picture since purchase of the projector.

The picture was entitled "Magic Beneath the Clouds," showing the Royal Gorge, Pikes Peak and Will Rogers Memorial. The film was of the sound type, with announcer explaining each scene as it was shown.

The students will be shown educational pictures from time to time. The projection machine is the property of the school.

Talco will have a run in with the Mt. Pleasant Tigers Friday night when they journey to Mt. Pleasant and challenge them for a gridiron battle.

Talco Trojans will receive a cordial welcome as well as a good send-off when they meet the Mt. Pleasant Tigers tonight on the Mt. Pleasant football field.

Merchants in Mt. Pleasant have placed advertisements in this week's issue of The Times, welcoming the Trojans and Talco football fans to Mt. Pleasant.

Talco merchants show their patriotism to the Trojans by running a similar advertisement, boosting for them to win.

Both teams are on edge, due to last year's close score and are going to play their best.

Mt. Pleasant has already placed a heavy victory of 40-6 over Winnboro, who defeated Talco 27-14.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1940

It's October! Have you noticed the gold creeping into the green and felt the friendly bite of the early morning breeze? Not long now until witches will be riding brooms and the gobble of turkeys will start our mouths watering.

Congratulations to the publishers of two good weekly newspapers that were just a little better last week. The Huntsville Item celebrated the tenth annual prison rodeo with a 28-page special edition and the Mt. Vernon Optic-Herald killed two events with one 16-page edition, the sixty-sixth anniversary of that newspaper and the livestock show in progress at that place.

CARD OF THANKS

"No, they remind me too much of the horses I always bet on."

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

BURT LOCKHART
in Pittsburg Gazette

Armistice Day—November 11—will certainly sound strange and out of place this year.

The old firm of Dollars & Cents is still on top, but more important is the old dependable Dollars & Sense.

Have you noticed that none of the Communists in the United States have bought tickets back to Europe?

It is important that this country should know one hundred years in advance whether it is headed for a dictatorship.

What we need in this country is a workable plan for costless vacations. The government ought to do something about it.

Robert Quillen considers suckers blessed. He says they are so inherently honest, they can't believe others crooked.

The fact that human nature is the same the world over does not excuse it. It has been here long enough to know better.

It is perfectly proper to pray that you be not led into temptation, but if you are determined to jump in you'd better pray twice.

It was Elbert Hubbard who put this chunk of wisdom: "Never explain; your friends do not need it and your enemies will not believe you anyway."

We have some very important and useful men in this country, but we can get along without any of them better than without Johnny Q. Taxpayer.

Maybe Elliott Roosevelt can tell the Legionnaires how to become a captain in the army without previous military training. They would like to know.

While one of the most important things now required of the government is fingerprinting, old timers will tell you that when they were growing up more stress was laid on footprinting on the sands of time.

Two North Carolina men have invented self-kicking machines. No doubt both are serviceable machines and could render useful service to millions of men who voted for candidates on the promise that they would lower taxes when they got into office.

Considering the eternal hatred that prevails among the European nations and the political turmoils in the far East we are more convinced than ever that ours is the only nation on the globe worth living in or dying for.

The world is getting more cockeyed all the time. Having been taught all our lives that old man Nero fiddled while Rome burned, now comes along a historian who says fiddles had not been invented at that time.

If Hitler ever had any designs on America no doubt they have been given a decided setback since he has found it almost impossible to get across a twenty-five-mile channel. Failing to cross it after several months of terrific effort, he might conclude that it would be futile to undertake a trip across three thousand miles of ocean.

FARM NOTES

JAS. W. McCOWN, Co. Agent
Titus County

"Hog meat in the smoke-house and potatoes in the bank" were plentiful the year through when our fathers and mothers were growing up. Of late years it is rare to find these stand-bys on a big percentage of our farms. These foods were good for our parents and will still go a long way in keeping the family well fed.

Our parents depended to a certain extent on fattening hogs on mast and we can't turn them out anymore as they will interfere with the neighbors so it is up to us to produce pork with what we have and it still can be done lots cheaper than buying store-bought meat and shortening. Even pigs at weaning age now can be ready for the butcher before Feb. 1st if properly fed, so with the best feed crop in several years—what will farmers do about it?

Grain always has, and will continue to be, the best feed for producing pork. It must have something fed with it if meat is produced economically. Feeding grain to hogs without giving them something to balance the ration is like expecting people to eat cornbread all the time and nothing else. How do you think you would like that kind of ration? If you don't think you would then give the hog a break, to get some meat along with his corn.

Skim milk—1 gallon per day—to each hog regardless of size or age, and grain will get the porkers ready about as quick as anything. If milk is not available, tankage, mixed equal parts with cottonseed meal will get the job done, and at market prices will make milk sell at 2c a gallon or less in results. Feed each hog, regardless of age or size, 1-3 pound of tankage and 1-3 pound of cottonseed per day and all the grain the hogs will eat. Tankage can be secured from any packing house by groceryman who handle meat. It is not generally used by farmers because they do not know its value therefore arrange for the merchant to get it for you. Usually about 40 pounds is what is needed for finishing one hog. It will be possible of course for two neighbors to order a sack and divide it. Remember it will make milk sell for 2c a gallon in results.

Shorts, two pounds per hog per day, is fair with grain but will not give as good results as milk or tankage since they are animal feeds and the hog after all needs some meat to go with his corn. Do not make the mistake of feeding shorts and nothing else to hogs. If you do check up and see how costly it is. Good shade, good water and green grazing (or a substitute) is essential for good results.

NO LONG WAIT

Boss: "Now look here, why hasn't this job been done? It's more than a month since I told you to do it!"
Clerk: "I forgot it, sir."

Boss: "Forgot it! Suppose I forgot to pay your salary—what would you say?"

Clerk: "I would tell you at once, sir—not wait a month and kick up a fuss about it."

THE PAY-OFF

Judge: "Have you anything to offer the court before sentence is passed on you?"

Meek Prisoner: "No, your honor, my lawyer took my last dollar."

Selective Training and Service Act

The official title of the so-called Draft Act is the "Selective Training and Service Act of 1940."
The Act provides that the governor of each state shall have charge of its administration; that the office by means of which he performs his selective service functions shall be called "State Headquarters for Selective Service." All selective service records and not other records shall be maintained in this office. The Federal Government will pay all necessary expenses of the operation of State Headquarters, including the hire of clerical personnel. The person designated by the governor to have charge of this work in the state will be called "State Director of Selective Service" and shall be in immediate charge of State Headquarters.

There will be 341 local boards in Texas; at least one in each county and one for about every 30,000 population. Each local board will be given a name or number, or both.

Tremendous power is purposely lodged in the local board. Any person interested in any selective service matter should communicate with the local board.

Texas First Quota Low

The first call of men for selective military service is not going to fall evenly upon the individual states of the nation.

In some states, only a small portion of the young men who register will be ordered to report for one year of military service. In other states, a rather large per cent of those who register, and who are eligible for service, will be ordered out for duty.

This difference is brought about by reason of the fact that the Selective Training and Service Act credits each state with the number of men, who are already in the Army and Navy.

On account of this credit, Texas will only be called upon to furnish about 8,000 men the first year; while New York with a population of about double that of Texas will be called upon to furnish 118,000 the first year; Pennsylvania, 44,000; Ohio, 66,500; Michigan, 50,500; Illinois, 65,700; California, 62,000; Arkansas, 10,000; and Louisiana, 15,600. Congress accepted the theory that each state should furnish to the nation its proportionate share of man power in relation to total population. Each governor will apply the same policy in assigning quotas to counties and cities.

No Army Enlistments for One Year

The regular Army will not accept enlistments for one year; except in very special cases, the department has decided to cling to its policy of accepting only men who sign up for at least three years.

There is a provision in the Compulsory Military Training Act which allows men who are registered to volunteer for the one year training period, and department officials say this has caused confusion in the public mind.

This provision is effective only after registration—October 16—and does not apply to the regular Army, but only to the 500,000 potential trainees, who are regarded in military circles as forming a separate unit.

"We do not want men in the regular Army for only one year," one officer explained. "The regular forces have got to be men with greater experience; in 1919 and 1920, we tried a campaign to get one-year enlistments and we learned our lesson then—it didn't work," the officer declared.

Employment, Pensions and Farm Benefits

The number of employees in manufacturing industries in August, 1940, was 8,168,200, which was 569,000 more than during the same period in 1939. In other lines of work, the number of gainfully employed increased in proportion.

In addition to national defense, there is a definite trend toward increasing other outlays of a domestic nature. The President has already spoken for increased old age pensions and for wider unemployment insurance coverage. Bigger and better farm benefits are sure, or a different system of farm help based upon a processing tax program to give the farmer a guaranteed income for at least his domestic crop.

Lonesome Bill Says Draftees Should Get Jobs and Gals too

Editor's Note: We had been aware for some time that there was a streak of the radical in Lonesome Bill, but until the following letter was received, in which he asserts the government should guarantee all draftees their girls as well as their jobs back, we did not suspicion any romantic tendencies.

Dear Editor: I been a-thinking about this registration when men caught between the ages of 21 and 36 will sign up for a year of army training and the more I see into it the more I see wrong with it.

In the first place, I notice that a fellow who has to quit a job and go to the army will get his job back when he comes home, that is, if he comes back fitten to work and finds his boss ain't gone bankrupt or run off with his stenographer or died or something. Now it looks to me like a mighty fine thing for the government to get the bosses in line and make them hold jobs open for men who have to go to the army, but it also looks to me like if the government can do that it can just about do anything it sets its head to do.

I ain't got no romantic streak in me to amount to nothing, but I know folks who has and I been thinking that if the government could guarantee the army men their jobs back it ought to also be able to guarantee they can get their gals back.

Yes, sree, the government ought to do something about that. What's going to happen to the fellow who comes back from a year in the army to find his job waiting and his gal gone? Why, nine chances to one he will go get on a bender and lose his job, too. Course he oughtn't to do that, but it's human nature to do it and the government ought to consider human nature when it goes to guaranteeing things.

Now, you take a fellow who has got usef to a gal's tongue clatter and flavor of gum and she has got set to his brand of chewing and style of dancing and he comes back from a year of army training and finds her gone, what do you think he will do? Why, he'll more than likely go up in the air and come down like a game rooster and the training he got in the army will be used for something else besides national defense. Who knows, it may start a revolution and if it does who else but the government will be to blame?

You can put me down for guaranteeing jobs and gals, too, and you can also tell Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Willkie that there ain't no copy-right on the idea and if they want to use they are welcome. I know well enough that a man is bound to lose some ground when he starts throwing mud, but mine has so much back taxes, persimmon sprouts and Johnson grass on it that I don't guess anybody would want to keep it and I don't care if they do.

Yours for fair play,
LONESOME BILL.

Experts Watch for Recurrence in Farm Land Boom

WASHINGTON.—The agriculture department is watching the possibility of a recurrence of the land speculation boom touched off by the world war in 1914, and counsels precautions.

Noting that World War conditions had sent farm land values skyrocketing almost a hundred per cent in a decade, the department sought to gauge the possible effects of the present conflict on farm prices.

Factors adverse to another land boom, it was said, tended to outweigh those which might encourage one. The department emphasizes, however, that the unpredictable element of "inflation psychology" could easily upset all calculations.

"The possibility of even a partial repetition of World War movements in land values," a department report said, "would appear to justify giving serious consideration to the formulation of legal measures aimed at discouraging excessive increases."

Figures were cited to reflect the extent of the World War's influence. In 1910 the value of the country's farm real estate was $34,801,000,000. By 1920 it had soared to $66,316,000,000, with most of the increase occurring after 1914. Values have since drifted downward to the current $35,356,000,000.

Senator Asks Faith in Newspapers be Reaffirmed

WASHINGTON.—Senator Alexander Wiley (Rep.) of Wisconsin, Wednesday called for a reaffirmation of faith in American newspapers, the 236th anniversary, he said, of the first edition of the first regularly issued American newspaper.

Declaring that freedom of the press came only after a hard battle, he said the first printed news-letter appeared April 24, 1704, and was called the Boston News-Letter.

"Our press today, in a world of censorship, enjoys an almost unlimited freedom," Wiley said. "In all justice it should be stated that with very few exceptions that freedom of the press has never been abused."

He added newspapers were living up to the obligation to present only the truth and by using discretion in emphasis on foreign news were performing a great service in preserving America's mental balance.

Red River 4-H Places Calves for Contest

Placing of calves in Red River county for the annual Kiwanis Club sponsored 4-H Club feeder calf contest has been completed with 42 calves being taken by club members. The calves were purchased at Odessa and the Clarksville Kiwanis Club paid hauling charges and has made a deposit as insurance on the calves, according to County Agent W. T. Posey.

For the first time a 4-H Club girl is joining the 4-H Club boys participating in the contest. Miss Louise Griffin of Rugby, whose brother, Boyd Griffin is a consistent prize winner, is feeding out a calf this year.

Club members of this section, in addition to Miss Griffin, who have taken calves are Wilburn, Jim and Dan Cotten of Johntown, 1 each; Ross and Ray Skaggs of Rugby, 3 and 2; Roy Lee Kisner of Johntown, 1; Harry and Charles Crawford of Halesboro, 1 each; Boyd Griffin of Rugby, 2; Alvis Fred Swint of Rugby, 2; Bobby Alsobrook of Rugby, 1, and Forrest, Wayne, Loyd and Ralph Grogan of Rugby are partners in feeding 3 calves.

The calves are fed for profit but a few members, including Boyd Griffin, will feed animals for show and some of them will likely be entered in the Fat Stock Show at Ft. Worth.

New Source for Oil in Texas is Discovered

If every oil well in Texas "dried up" today, the state would still have a tremendous petroleum supply with its millions of tons of oil shale yielding an average of 40 gallons per ton, Fred Plummer, University of Texas petroleum engineer has predicted.

While making a geological map of the Llano mineral area, University Bureau of Economic Geology fieldmen discovered the outcrop of petroliferous shale which reaches from the Colorado river westward fifty miles into McCullough county. With WPA aid the Bureau made the first extensive oil shale exploration in the state and sampled the deposits at two-mile intervals.

In University laboratories, the shale samples gave test yields ranging from 20 to 90 gallons of oil per ton, averaging about 40. Bureau research workers reported this to be the highest yield recorded for oil shale anywhere in the world. Deposits run from 20 to 30 feet in depth. Assuming what they considered a conservative estimate of only 30 gallons per ton, Bureau workers calculated a square mile mined to a depth of ten feet would yield 14,500,000 barrels.

Woman Must Fool Husband or Draft

TULSA, Okla.—A Tulsa attorney was presented with this problem recently:

"I'm 53 years old," a woman told him, "but I'm married to a man who thinks I'm only 39. I've got a son 36 years old, but to make my story stick, we dropped some years off his age."

"Now, my son has to register for the draft unless he tells his correct age. If he does that I'll have to claim he was born when I was 3 years old. What shall I do?"

The attorney suggested a family truth session.

Mother: "Junior, why do you always come to the table with dirty hands? You know I always send you away to wash them."
Junior: "Well, once you forgot."
