Monticello Area is Due Travis Peak Deep Test Soon

Dr. James McKeekin-Kerr, geophysicist of Longview, has announced plans for a deep oil test in the Monticello area in the near future. The test is expected to explore 200 feet of the Travis Peak formation, at approximately 8,000 feet.

Dr. McKeekin-Kerr said that a block of 3,000 acres or more is being assembled north and northeast, with a portion a little south of Monticello, with acreage contributions expected from major companies. Drilling is expected to commence immediately after the clearing up of lease acreage.

Actual location and the name of the drilling company will also be announced after completion of

School Library To Remain Open During Summer

Talco school library will be open to the public every Tuesday through June, July and August. The Parent Teachers Association is sponsoring this project to give the vacation period.

JOHNTOWN STORE BROKEN INTO

Thieves broke into the Jim Pirtle grocery store at Johntown Saturday night by crawling thru iron bars over a window. Only a small amount of .22 shells, cigarettes, candy and bananas and other small items were reported missing.

According to Mr. Pirtle it looked like the work of boys, and many finger prints have been taken, but as yet no arrests have been made.

TO THE CITIZENS OF TALCO SCHOOL DISTRICT:

We, the members of your school Board, want to advise you that we find it necessary to effect a change in our plan of taxation. It becomes necessary for us to reduce values placed on most properties, and to make up for the loss in revenue that this will bring about, we will need to increase the rate of taxation. We do not anticipate that the total tax will be much if any more than last year.

We hope you will support us in this move, because we find it necessary in order that Talco may continue to have an outstanding school program.

Alcorn Wants System Undertime Pay to Eliminiate Embarrassing Surplus

Editor's note: Achin Alcorn, philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sulphur, comes up with another strange idea this week, as the following leter will reveal.

Dear Editar: I was out here the other afternoon givin some serious thought to my agricultural program for this year, it ain't no matter to be taken lightly or entered into hurriedly, as it seems pretty obvious that lack of thinkin coupled with overwork has brought on the present embarassing farm surplus.

The way I see it, if more farmers had been thinkin more and workin less, we might have been confronted right now with a good old-fashioned scarcity and prices could stay high without any government help. Personally, I wash my hands of any reall times and congratulated the sponsibility for all these surclub on its wise selection of pluses. Can't pin it on me. Many's the time when I was con- books. In appreciation of her fronted with the greedy urge to efforts Mrs. Gieger presented her get in my field and start plowin, carnations. but I always put the welfare of the country ahead of myself and wandered off in the pasture and Johnson and Mrs. E. It's simple. Say I'm toyin with the idea of goin to the field this afternoon and plowin. Instead, I apply for under-time, forget the field, go fishin, and help hold the information that report did not surplus down. It seems to me a lot simpler to pay a man for under-time instead of payin him for over-time. It's easier on the man and his equipment and the government saves the expense of
