Senate Runoff Election May 27

Gov. Price Daniel has set the runoff election in the Senate race for Saturday, May 27.

Gov. Daniel said the runoff election will be held only between the dates of May 21 and June 5, Daniel said. "The Saturday, May 27 date was chosen as the most favorable for the largest possible turnout of voters."

Daniel said the runoff date will be officially announced after the canvass has been completed.

By state law Daniel technically cannot call the runoff election until after the votes are canvassed. However, his office said the announcement was made in answer to large numbers of inquiries received recently.

Election laws say the governor must call a runoff within five days after the canvass determines a runoff will be required. Then the runoff must be held 30 to 40 days after it is called.

Elect Bill Jones New Director Of Talco State Bank

Bill Jones of Dallas, formerly of Talco, was elected to fill the unexpired term of the late J. O. Franklin, as director of Talco State Bank at a meeting of the board of directors of the bank Tuesday afternoon. He was also named inactive vice-president of the institution.

Jones, a native of Talco, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Jones. He graduated from Talco High School in 1947, attended PJC, and a business college in Dallas. He began his banking career in 1948 when he went to work for the Texas Bank and Trust Co. in Dallas in the transit department. He later worked in the bookkeeping and personnel departments and in 1960 was elected assistant cashier and manager of the loan and discount department.

Jones is married to the former Miss Alma Lois Moore of Dallas and they reside at 10719 Casandra Way in Dallas.

Sports Banquet For Talco School Teams

Talco High School held its all Sports Banquet at the Alps in Mt. Pleasant, with Danny Perdue as master of ceremonies. Jon Smith gave the invocation. Coach Billy Joe Vickers gave the welcome.

Coach Jack Wright introduced members of the girls basketball team, boys basketball team, football team and track team.

Coach Bobby Staten introduced the speaker, Auburn Smith, athletic director at Southern State College, Magnolia, Ark., who advised the athletes to not short change themselves by failing to get the most out of their class work. He stressed that not only should the athlete be a good player, but he needs to be a good student. He reminded them that life is a playing field on which they are players and that "they represent their God, their parents, their home, their school, community, and themselves."

Appreciation gifts were presented to Coach Wright, Coach Staten and Coach Vickers. The benediction was given by Martha Lewis.

Guests were dates of the athletes, the administrators and faculty of the school with their husbands and wives; members of the board of education and their wives, and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Jones. Jones is the announcer for the football games.

Austin — Sometime between now and August 31, the Texas Legislature must come to a show-down, do-or-die, back-to-the-wall decision on a big new money-raising bill.

But many lawmakers believe the situation will have to have reached the desperate, no-choice-left stage before such a decision can be made. To meet current needs, say some lawmakers, the tax bill will have to be a big one and it's bound to bring static from voters.

Only way they can survive, said one, is to be able to say, "Look, I don't like this bill either. But what can we do... close the schools?"

In this climate, the House postponed floor action on the general sales tax measure by Reps. John Allen of Longview and Forrest Harding of San Angelo. Gov. Price Daniel attacked the bill as "obnoxious and inequitable," hitting everything "from the cradle to the grave."

Governor Daniel urged compromise through a "package" bill. Ingredients for the package, he said, might be gotten from Rep. George Hinson's omnibus tax bill and Rep. Ben Atwell's selective sales tax measure.

Hinson's bill would hit in many areas — watches, jewelry, power tools and machinery, construction materials, natural gas, restaurant meals, non-essential beverages, tax.

Atwell's bill is akin to a general sales tax except that it names the hundreds of items it would tax rather than making a blanket provision.

SENATE COOL TO TAX — With less than bubbling enthusiasm, Senate State Affairs began hearings on the first tax bill sent over by the House.

It is Rep. Charles Ballman's "loophole bill" designed to raise some $43,000,000 toward retiring an expected $63,000,000 deficit in the general revenue fund.

Senators listened with seeming sympathy to witnesses who criticized the bill's provision for a revised tax formula and a gift tax. They listened, too, to a lengthy pro-sales tax discussion by Tom Sealy of Midland, chairman of the Citizens for a Sales Tax group. Under the Ballman bill's broad caption, the Senate could add extensively to its revenue-raising features, but most observers doubt the Senate will be eager to seize the initiative at this stage.

CAMPAIGN LIMIT KILLED — A bill to limit campaign expenditures to $25,000 in a race for the U. S. senate or congressman at large was killed by the House, 83-to-50.

Sen. Martin Dies Jr. of Lufkin was sponsor of the bill which passed the Senate.

Supporters of the measure said that as things are "a rich man can buy his way into office." Opponents said the limit was unrealistic and that a newcomer to politics could never become known with such restrictions on a statewide race.

INSURANCE CHANGE FLOUNDERS — Sen. Grady Hazlewood's bill to set ground rules for the state's merit rating auto insurance has had at least a temporary set-back.

Senate voted 16-to-13 to take up the bill. However, a two-thirds majority is needed to begin floor action.

Prior to this action, the State Board of Insurance announced extensive changes in the rating plan, effective August 1. Such violations as running a red light or stop sign, illegal passing or turning, negligent collision and breaking of drivers' license restrictions were removed from the list of actions causing a driver to pay higher insurance rates.

Senator Hazlewood was not satisfied with the changes. He criticized the removal of red light running from the list and the keeping of penalties for speeding, no matter how slight.

FREIGHT RATE BILL PASSED — A bill to simplify rate setting for railroads and truckers was passed on second reading by the House.

Under the present law, the Railroad Commission has to pass on every rate change request, no matter how trivial. Under the proposed measure, the rail or truck line would publish the proposed new rate and if no one objected, it would go into effect. If there were objections, the Railroad Commission would call a hearing and decide the matter.

CONSOLIDATION PAYMENTS OKAYED — A bill designed to encourage consolidation of school districts received final Senate passage.

It provides that common school districts which consolidate into one will continue to receive, for 10 years, the same amount of state aid they would have received if they had not merged.

Sen. Thomas Creighton of Mineral Wells is sponsor. He said it would promote better schools and, in the long run, economy.

JEFFERSON REPORT "BLOWS IN" — Release of the House General Investigating Committee's report on its study of vice in Jefferson County blew the lid off a long-smoldering controversy.

Report accused Atty. Gen. Will Wilson of failing to follow up vigorously on reports to him of flourishing prostitution and rackets in the Beaumont-Port Arthur area.

It also criticized Liquor Control Board Administrator Coke Stevenson Jr. for merely demoting an agent accused of failing to stop liquor law violations by private clubs in Jefferson County.

House committee completed its study last year and was automatically dissolved at the beginning of this session, but the report was delayed.

Wilson hotly denied that he had failed or refused to take any action within the power and scope of his office. He said the criticism of him was "politically motivated" by Rep. Tom James of Dallas, vice chairman of the committee.

Meanwhile, the House — rather wearily, perhaps — voted against a bill that would set up House and Senate investigating committees every session, as a matter of law. Better, they decided, to establish such committee by resolution when special circumstances seem to warrant.

Mr. Merchant

YOU NEED THE NEWSPAPER!

The newspaper of today is the most powerful medium of advertising on earth. In the old days the merchant may have thought he was a benefactor and that he was contributing his bit "as a public-spirited citizen" when he carried a two-inch space in the village paper every week in the year and generally without change of copy. Possibly he was.

But that is changed now. A new order has arrived. People read advertisements. Many find their greatest interest in looking over the advertising pages to get news that will save them money, and, take it from John D. Rockefeller, the way to save your dollars is first to save your pennies.

Advertisements today are right up to the minute. They are as fresh as the news of the world or the latest baseball score. Live merchants cater to live people and they know they must not alone be up to the minute, but they must be some distance ahead. They must anticipate the wants of their customers.

And they do. Turn to the advertisements in this paper right now! Just read what the merchants are offering. Notice the invitations for you to do business with them. Notice how attractively the advertisements are set up and how inviting they are.

Business men—that is the successful ones—know advertising pays big returns. Look over this newspaper right now and pick out the successful firms. They're the advertisers. Advertising is the tonic that puts dividends in the banks.

Everybody reads advertisements today! Mr. Merchant, is your advertisement in this newspaper?

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

HOW TO TACKLE LIFE'S PROBLEMS

Have you ever tried to prune a quince bush? If you have, then you know how the tiny thorns prick at your fingers painfully as you grasp the branches.

But if you take hold of only one branch at a time and proceed with caution, the little thorns don't have enough strength to prick your fingers. Individually, the branches seem powerless against you. But when they are pressed together, watch out!

Here is a good example of strength through unity. One branch from the bush cannot do much harm. The thorns are there, all right, but they don't have much "bite." When they unite, however, they have enough power to keep anybody out.

This can serve as a lesson. Tackle life's problems one at a time, and they are more easily overcome. But try to tackle all your problems at once, and you could be defeated by those problems.

Yes, there is unity in strength; and this holds true in just about all situations. A group of dedicated people, pressed together with one common purpose in mind, has more power than do the individuals within the group. If an individual set out to do the same thing, he might fail.

When we learn to handle life's problems one at a time, they aren't too difficult. It's when they consolidate and burden us down that their load may crush us into defeat.

But the Christian can take all of his problems to the One who has the power to cope with them—God in Heaven. God answers prayer. When we learn to take all our problems to God, we are on the best—and only—road to getting them solved.

God is our ever-present help in time of need. God wants to help us solve all our problems. He is the real Comforter. He understands all situations.

I always take my personal problems to God in prayer. I have problems just as you do. We all have personal problems that sometimes prick at our hearts overwhelmingly, just like the quince bush thorns.

The way to tackle life's problems is to take them to God. God is good. He wants to help. He wants to solve our problems for us. All we have to do is ask and believe.

Alcorn Says Space Travel, Like Riding Bicycle, May Lose Novelty

Editor note Achin Alcorn, philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sulphur calms his concern about the Russians' space flight, in his letter this week.

Dear Editor: I was out here on this Johnson grass farm the other afternoon looking up at the sky and a neighbor stopped and asked: "What're you doing, looking for a Russian traveling through space?"

I told him nope, just looking for clouds. Everybody I know has been excited, and a little concerned, about the Russians' getting the first man into space, and it is an achievement, but I have a notion that the Russians, who threw their hats in the air when they heard they were first in space, spent the next few minutes looking for them on the ground, as hats spring from the products of the earth, not from space.

You will notice that man, when he goes into space, has to carry his own earth-produced oxygen with him, whereas I've already got all the oxygen I need completely free any place I want to go on this farm.

My point is, outer space may be interesting to look at the first trip or two, but it could get mighty boring in the long run.

And as for our being behind the Russians in space, it's true, but I'll tell you, I believe we can catch up and I believe we will. In the final analysis, a new scientific feat is impossible to get a monopoly on. You can't keep a secret very long. Everybody's got laboratories these days. It's sort of like the secret of the bicycle. One country at one time no doubt had the bicycle first, but once the idea was discovered, bicycles turned up all over.

The United States sooner or later will be sending men thru space too, and this generation won't be over before we start having traffic collisions up there too, but I have a notion the novelty will wear off and traveling through space may wind up like a man I know who saved up his money and traveled around the world. He said the trip was interesting, but the best sight he saw was the look of home when he got back. And you've got to remember this man was on the earth's surface, not going around it 150 miles up where you don't meet any new people and your main pastime is wondering if there's a leak in your oxygen hose. Yours faithfully, A. A.
