Chem-Security Systems Decides Dump Site Not Right

Chem-Security Systems, Inc., has decided not to build a chemical waste disposal site six miles east of Cunningham in Red River County, according to Roger Nelson, business development manager for the company.

"We will not exercise the option on the John Ward property," Nelson said Tuesday, June 23, in a telephone call from the Bellevue, Washington, office of Chem-Security. "While the geology may be such that it satisfies state and federal standards, it is not good enough for our internal standards."

"We said all along that if the geology wasn't right, we would walk away from the site," Nelson said, "and that's what we are doing. We still believe that Northeast Texas is a viable area for a treatment/storage/disposal site, and we will continue to look for a site. The people of Northeast Texas deserve to have their waste products disposed of properly."

The possibility that a chemical waste disposal site might be located in Red River County was made public in late April, 1971. Core drilling samples of the site were taken at approximately the same time. Analysis of the core samples taken in late April has just been completed by the company. Residents of Red River and surrounding counties had organized the Sulphur River Watershed Concerned Citizens Association to oppose the location of the site in the area, and had hired Clarksville attorney Jim D. Lovett to represent the association in the matter.

Lovett mailed a letter last week to the company warning that legal action would be taken if further steps were taken to locate a chemical dump site in the area.

P.C. Abernathy, one of the prime organizers of the Sulphur River Watershed Concerned Citizens Association, stated that "It's the best news I've heard lately. We've still got the organization, and if they want to try and locate a plant anywhere else in the watershed area, we'll be ready to fight if necessary".

Jane O'Neal, another prime figure in the resistance to the dump, said "It's good news, the best. Even though Chem-Security says we didn't have much to do with the decision, we feel we've won a victory. We're going to stay organized and keep an eye out for any attempts to put a plant anywhere in the watershed area".

Crowning Of Queen Will Highlight Rodeo

One of the Highlights of the Bogata Rodeo is always the crowning of the new Bogata Rodeo Queen and Princess. This year, five young ladies are entered in the queen's contest. Vicki Zehetner, age 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Zehetner of Clarksville; Angie Warren, age 16, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Warren of Bogata; Shelley Webb, age 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Webb of Pattonville; Darla Davidson is age 16, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Travis Davidson of Deport; and Darlene Brooks is also 16, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Brooks of Bogata. The girls will be judged on horsemanship, appearance and personality, with each category counting as thirty-three and one third percent of the score.

Last year's Queen, Michelle Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Thomas of Deport, will not be available to crown the new queen. She will be in Seguin, Texas, competing for the title of State High School Rodeo Queen, after capturing the Regional Title recently. Michelle has been extremely active in rodeo and horsemanship activities during her year as Bogata Rodeo Queen, and captured many honors.

Presenting the crown to the new queen will be Molly Blackmon, who is the 16 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Blackmon of DeKalb, Texas. She is the Central Rodeo Association Queen for the year 1981.

Molly has had years of riding experience and showing quarter horses at several state fairs.

She won the Reserve Champion Youth All-Around at the State Fair of Texas, and has had much rodeo experience as her father owns the Western Sports Arena in DeKalb. She runs barrels and has also assisted the pickup men in handling steers and calves in the arena.

Rodeo Action Begins Thursday

Barrell racers, bull riders, clowns and horses, are just part of the fantastic array of events planned for the annual Bogata Rodeo and Frontier Days.

Turtle races, free pancakes and beard growing, kids and everything imaginable provide something for just about everyone at Frontier Days, and three nights of some of the finest rodeo available anywhere, round out the weekend.

The Rodeo Parade for Thursday will form at 5 p.m. at the Red River Nursing Home and follow a predetermined route to where it will come east on 2nd street to North Main then it will turn back south and go south through the Main Street in downtown Bogata, then to the Rodeo Grounds.

The big Frontier Day events will start on Saturday morning with a free pancake and sausage breakfast, a traditional Frontier Day meal, served in downtown Bogata from 7 to 9 a.m.

At 9 a.m. the action starts with the traditional turtle auction followed by the race itself. There will be a snack break at 10 a.m. with two groups, those 14 years and under and those 15 years and over trying for prizes and recognition in the watermelon eating competition. Next is the Ugliest Man judging. Then the tobacco-spitting event. Following that comes the egg throwing contest with two categories of contestants, youngsters and adults. At 11:30 a.m. the tug-of-war begins, with one contest for men and one for women.

Special notice has been received that those wishing to enter the turtle races should bring their own turtles. It seems that one very large turtle broke through the pen and all but six turtles gained their freedom!!!!

The parade on Saturday will be at 6 p.m. and will follow the same route as the Thursday parade except that it will be much larger and will include several Shriner Units from as far away as Dallas and Texarkana. Make your plans to attend the Frontier Day celebration, parade, and then go see some of the best rodeo action anywhere.

Gary Hiner, Cuthand, Tex. cowboy and current CRA "Rookie of the Year" and Bull Riding Champion, will be a contestant at the Bogata rodeo June 25, 26 and 27. Hiner, although "Rookie of the Year" is no new-comer to the sport of rodeo. He has been a contesting cowboy for the last ten years in the worlds most dangerous sport, bull riding. Gary comes from a rodeo family as his brothers and dad are contestants. Gary had a good teacher in his early days when he traveled with the great Jack Wiseman and learned his lessons well. He won the championship at the CRA finals in October. He had his best day in July at Wright City, Okla. rodeo when he won the first go, short go and the average good for 67.00 a sec. for 16 seconds.

Bull riding is the worlds most dangerous sport. It really had no place in the working day of a working cowboy and owes its existence to the idea that one cowboy thought he could ride that "mean old bull" better than the next cowhand so the event was born. Most of the bulls used in modern day rodeo are crossbreeds such as, Charolais, Brangus, Braford and a cross between any of these with Brahma. Most bulls weigh from 1200 to 2000 pounds and are more dangerous to the cowboy after he is down or off than while he is on his back. The modern bucking bull has tremendous strength and agility and sometimes seems to go four directions at once. All a bull rider has to do to qualify is to stay on the bull for eight seconds and not touch him with his free hand. Seems like a simple thing to do until one has crawled down into the chute, taken the wrap on his hand, and nodded to the gate man. The first jump is pure mayhem and it steadily gets worse for the next eight seconds. Come out and see the world's most dangerous sport at the Bogata Rodeo.

Cowgirls also compete in the rodeo. Cyndy Gantt, winner of the barrel racing championship in three associations, will be one of the top cowgirls entered in the Bogata rodeo. Gantt, the current CRA Champion Barrel Racer really came into her own in July, 1980. She was constant winner from that date until after the finals in October. She won the average and placed in all four go rounds at Sulphur Springs. She also won the ETRA Championship as well as the Louisiana Rodeo Association finals. In all, she collected over $25,000 in money and enough saddles and belt buckles to start a tack shop.

VBS To Start In July

Vacation Bible School will begin July 6 and continue through July 10, at the Calvary Baptist Church in Talco. Time is from 9 to 11 a.m. each day. The theme will be "The Word."

The pastor Rev. Marion Coon will be the director. Mrs. Beth Woods will be in charge of the nursery assisted by Mrs. Linda Smith. The three year olds will be under the teaching of Mrs. Barbara Brown and Loreta Stobe and Julie White. Mrs. Barbara Russell

The "Kid", a coal black stallion with a star in his forehead, is the other half of this winning combination. Cyndy Gantt is a real star in the field of rodeo and, with the Kid, will be trying for her second championship in the CRA at the Bogata rodeo.

The performances are scheduled to start at 8:30 p.m. Thursday, Friday, and Saturday evenings.

Mandi and Greg Russell will teach the four and five year olds. Joan Watherall and Lori Franks will be in charge of the six and seven year olds. Sue Coon and Gena Gage will direct the eight and nine years olds. Linda Woods, Michael Alford and Kristi Foxworthy will be over the ten and eleven year olds. Mrs. Shirley Whitmet will be the V.B.S. secretary. Refreshments will be served by Lucille Whitney, Orva Lou Easterling and Ruby Cogburn.

Prosecutors Act Extended For Red River Co.

I am pleased to announce that the Texas Legislature has passed, and the Governor has signed the bill extending the Professional Prosecutors Act to Red River County effective September 1, 1981. The Act makes three major changes. First, the County Attorney can not take new private law practice after September 1, 1981. I have taken none since December 1, 1980. Second, the County Attorney's salary will be set at 90 percent of a District Judge's Salary. Third, an additional $16,800 per year will be provided by the State government for office expenses, including an investigator. The County owes its thanks to Senator Ed Howard and Representative Pete Patterson for their support on this matter. Thomas H. Fowler District and County Attorney

FOOD ADDITIVES

Food additives are carefully monitored by the Food and Drug Administration to assure their safe use in food. Many additives increase the nutrient value of foods. Vitamins and minerals are added to salt, milk, margarine, breakfast cereals and enriched grain products. Natural colors such as carotenes (yellow), beet powder (red), and caramel (brown) are often used in cheese, bread and soft drink mixes. Only a few natural colors can be used easily in food manufacturing, so most of the colors added to foods are synthetic. These can be used only so long as there are no questions about their safety. Additives are also used for their anti-caking, anti-foaming and bleaching properties. One example is sodium silicoaluminate which is used in dessert and soft drink mixes.

Longer Days

In 100 million years an Earth day will be almost half an hour longer than it is now, the National Geographic Society says. As Earth rotates beneath its tidal bulges, friction slows it down by a fraction of a second each century.

Wing Ranch Furnishes Stock

One of Bogata's many assets is Wing Ranch Rodeo Co., owned and operated by Jerald Smith, who is heralded by many cowboys on the rodeo circuits as having some of the best stock (to laymen that means big, mean and ornery) in the business. Smith produces and furnishes stock for rodeos all over the United States, and this week is producing the rodeo for his home town in Bogata.

Wing Ranch Rodeo Company was organized in 1967, and that year Smith was named Producer of the Year. But since that year, when the award was discontinued, Smith's stock has hauled in award after award. Smith directed the Clyde Crenshaw Rodeo Company before forming Wing, and two horses bought from Crenshaw, No. 1, Bald, and No. 98, All Shook Up, were Bareback of the Year winners. No. 140, Red Light, won that award in 1971.

Crenshaw's bull No. 19 in '63 or '64 won the title of Bucking Bull of the Year, as did Wing's No. 15, Joe Butterfly, in 1967 and No. 00, Curley, in 1971. No. 121, Ozark Red, was the 1967 Saddle Bronc of the Year. No. 10, Playboy, was the Bucking Bull of the IFR in 1971 and No. 19, CC Rider, was runnerup in 1973. No. 62, Rimrock, was runnerup bareback.

Wing Rodeo has bought out several rodeo companies in the past years and has added new bulls and horses to the string to give the company the lead in outstanding bulls and horses in the nation.

Smith and Wing Rodeo have furnished stock at the Huntsville Prison Rodeo, the Arkansas Prison Rodeo, the World's Largest Bull Riding at Ardmore, the Four States Fair and Rodeo in Texarkana, and for Loretta Lynn Rodeos in the eastern United States. Smith was also selected to be an advisor for the IRA Finals in 1974.

Having good stock is something that Smith and Wing Ranch Rodeo work on constantly, and often have buck-outs at the Bogata Rodeo Arena in the off season to see how new bulls and broncs will work out.

In addition, Smith gives the credit for the success of Wing Rodeo to God and his family, in that order. His wife, Joan, does much of the paper work that is necessary to the operation of any good business, and his family also includes a stepson, a 8-year old daughter and two older children, including bull rider Jimmy Smith. The company has also established business offices in Valliant, Oklahoma and La Porte, Texas.

Doug Williams works as announcer and secretary, and a brother, Don Smith, is part owner.

Williams style as an announcer is so good he's been imitated. His is a rapid-fire delivery and he gets more said about what is going on in the arena and about the contestant's private life, their families and other occupations. He picks up all this information serving as secretary for Wing, and says he has a barnyard vocabulary. Williams will be announcing at the Bogata Rodeo.

Many of the big names in rodeo come to Bogata to ride because Bogata is Jerald Smith's home town, and because wherever you find Wing Ranch Rodeo Stock you find rodeo at its best.

Rodeo Individual Sport

By Ray Baxter
There are those who say, "If you've seen one rodeo you've seen 'em all."

While this is open for debate, there is no argument with the fact that each performer is truly an individualist, and the world in which they move is fraught with its own distinctive idiosyncrasies and superstitions.

For example: no one knows how it got started, but there reportedly is a marked reluctance among performers awaiting the starting day of a rodeo to inquire as to what animals they have drawn for competition.

While none of the real stars wear garish clothes, many have their sartorial trademarks.

Ike McClure, the immortal roper, always wore a necktie, even when about routine chores on his working ranch in New Mexico.

They're small, they're black, they hop and they bite, see em now at a location near YOU!

Fleas, that's what. The moist wet weather has created a flea population unrivaled for many years. The little thing seems to be everywhere, and controlling them can get to be a bigger battle than World War II.

Even folks who don't keep pets are spraying houses and yards as the passing flea army marches by.

People with pets are bathing, spraying, dusting and desperately trying to keep their favorite animal from becoming a traveling flea hotel.

Remedies from sulphur to the most sophisticated doggie shampoos are in evidence, and people slapping at their legs is not uncommon.

Anyone with an idea for controlling the hopping horrors should kindly submit it for consideration, otherwise, the whole area may have to wear flea collars!

Leased Floodlighting is no accident.

As a businessman, your decision to install leased floodlighting on your business property can mean added safety and security for the entire operation. Well lighted property and equipment is less subject to vandalism. And brightly lighted walkways, stairways, loading docks, and parking lots reduce the chance of accidents due to poor night-time visibility. Leased floodlighting provides directional lighting, and gives increased illumination per watt over standard incandescent lighting. Make a wise business decision . . . call us for leased floodlighting, today.

Cattle Raising Beginning Of Rodeo

Rodeo is the only sport that had its beginning in a major industry, that of the cattle raising. Rodeo is a Spanish word meaning roundup. In the Southwestern part of the United States it is pronounced "ro-day-o," but in the West, North and Central part it is pronounced "ro-de-o," and that is the way the cowboys say it.

No matter how the word is pronounced the sport remains the same, and it is typical of the west. It is indeed a sport, with the cowboys paying for the privilege of contesting for the prize money. This payment is in the form of entry fees, and it really means that a cowboy bets the amount of the entry fee that he can win against the other contestants in the same event. Such a spirit is true sportsmanship.

Rodeo had its beginnings in pioneer days before fences were built, when the cattle of neighboring ranches roamed and mingled on the open range. One might say that rodeo was born on a bet, and bred of the same circumstances of history that created the once wild cities of Dodge and Abilene.

Each year cattle roundups were held, and at this time cowboys sorted the cattle and branded the calves according to the brands of the cows they were following, thus establishing ownership of the cattle. When the work was done, the cowboys from neighboring ranches matched one of their cowpokes against a cowboy from another ranch in roping or bronc riding.

These matches grew into contests, other events were added, and they became rodeos.

At Cheyenne, Wyoming, in 1872, the townfolk gathered at the settlement edge to watch some Texans try to ride the wild stock. At Pecos, Texas, in 1883, they penned the longhorns on the courthouse lawn and roped them down Main Street. At Prescott, Arizona, five years later, they built a grandstand and sold tickets.

During the years, rodeo has grown steadily in popularity, spreading into the middlewest and east, until now it is one of America's top-ranked spectator sport events as judged by attendance and gate receipts. There are many rodeos held each year in the United States alone, and a good many in Canada, where they are called "Stampedes," and a considerable number are held in Australia.

There are two factors in producing a rodeo. First, the management, or local committee that sponsors the rodeo, provides the added money and other awards, the rodeo grounds and procures a stock contractor, and second, the cowboys, who come from far and near to enter the contest and put on the show.

It is often asked, "Where does the livestock come from? Where do they find the horses that buck and rear and the bulls that pitch and fight?"

Furnishing this stock to the rodeos is a business in itself, and a very important one. Stock contractors who have thousands of dollars invested in these rearing, bucking, twisting animals contract them to the rodeo management for the term of the rodeo. Many stock contractors also furnish the calves and steers for the roping and bull-dogging events.

The horses and bulls you see making misery for the cowboys in the arena are not trained to buck. They are animals that have been selected carefully by the stock contractors for their general meanness and dislike of being ridden. The way they act is their own temperament. When an animal loses its desire to buck, it is taken out of the string and replaced by one that has more fight, because cowboys like rough stock on which to compete.

Rodeo is a most dangerous sport. Cowboys are pitting their strength and skill against the brute strength and skill against the brute strength and trickiness of the animals they work with in the arena. Many times the animal wins, and it is hard to find a cowboy who is not an exhibit of the doctor's and surgeon's skill in patching up injuries.

But these same cowboys are back in the arena as soon as, or before, they have their doctor's consent; otherwise, they would consider themselves "panty waists." The rodeo cowboy earns no salary, draws no expense allowance, has no guaranteed annual wage. His only income is what he can win in a fiercely competitive sport, where he must win over not only the cowboys he competes against, but the rank animals he competes on.

Once rodeo gets into a cowboy's blood it is there to stay, and he abides by their unwritten code.

Yes, rodeo is the last frontier of the once-wild west. But more than the spirit of the frontier, more than the skills of the early days, are kept alive in rodeo. More than any man in the west, the competing cowboy holds a close kinship with the pioneer who won against the wilderness. The cowboy still rides the far reaches of the west, still stakes his life to win his living, because he prefers that to the creeping restrictions that go with the fringe benefits of a steady job.

"Say goodbye to the King of the Cowboys and first and last of a dying breed. Say goodbye to the King of the Cowboys chained to a life he doesn't need."—King of the Cowboys" H. R. Smith-H. James—James Brown. A-K-A. Amazing Rhythm Aces

Selective Service Revitalized

As part of the revitalization of the Selective Service System, Colonel Paul Dean Aikin, the State Director of Selective Service for Texas, says he expects almost one thousand individuals and organizations in Texas to receive a letter from him asking for help in recruiting local board members.

Colonel Aikin, a National Guard Officer, has been ordered to active duty for approximately 90 days for the purpose of recruiting a minimum of 690 local board members in Texas. Each of the 254 counties in the state must be represented on the 138 boards that will be established.

The Colonel's letter, sent to individuals, civic and ethnic organizations in all parts of the state, asks for names of highly respected and responsible citizens who may volunteer their services as local draft board members. Persons being considered for membership must: Be citizens of the United States between 18 and 60 years of age; Not be members of the Armed Forces (including reserve and retired status); If previously a local board member, having served not more than 15 years; and be willing to attend a few hours of training and later to devote an adequate amount of time serving on the boards without pay (Probably one to two hours per month, or less).

Colonel Aikin urges each individual and organization receiving his letter to respond as soon as possible with names of qualified persons, both men and women. He also asks anyone interested in serving to contact him by mail at Box 5218, Austin, Texas 78763 or phone Area Code 512, 397-5945.

The boards will not be activated immediately, but selected members will be placed in standby status for possible future need.

Ag Update

June is Dairy Month, according to Wayne Taylor, area economist-management for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Dairying is an economically important enterprise in at least 20 counties in East Texas. In 1980, cash receipts from dairying exceeded 198.2 million dollars in the Build East Texas area. These farm sales of dairy products had an overall economic impact of almost 674 million dollars on the area.

According to Taylor, a 100 cow dairy represents an investment of approximately $500,000 in facilities, cows and land. A dairyman with this size herd spends about $146,000 per year just to run the operation.

The cash costs of producing milk has increased about 51 percent since 1978-79, with production costs increasing more rapidly than the prices received by the dairyman for milk. Taylor says the dairyman has traditionally had to absorb these cost increases and produce milk more efficiently to stay in business.

The dairyman must be a good manager to remain in business under the current inflationary period of the economy, Taylor says.

Stiff Fine
Cleanliness is strictly enforced in the former British colony of Singapore. For discarding a cigarette, a litterer may be fined as much as $250.

Cotton Fleahoppers Are Big Problem In Area

Cotton fleahoppers continue to be the biggest problem for cotton this week. Entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service strongly suggests that fields be treated for this insect pest since most of the cotton in Lamar County has now begun to square.

Fields which have had one to two applications of insecticides already should be inspected closely for fleahoppers and light dosages of insecticides should be used where possible so that more beneficial insects will be left in the field. Entomologist H.A. Turney recommends that fields where low dosages were used, be checked in three to four days for re-infestation. Low rates will not keep fleahoppers out of the field for very long.

Overwintered boll weevil infestations remain light according to Billy Coker, County Demonstration Entomologist. Coker has insect traps out in Delta County and in the Cunningham and Fulbright communities in Lamar and Red River Counties. Very few weevils have been caught the past month.

Fleas continue to be a bothersome problem to many in the area. They have become a serious problem for many urban home owners and are difficult to control.

Flea control must include treatment of the pets and thorough treatment of the entire premises in doors and outdoors. These three areas should be treated simultaneously to break the "flea cycle" and get effective control.

Insecticides containing Sevin, DDVP, Pyrethrin, Rotenone, Matathion, Methoxychlor, Baygon or Sendran are labeled for use on animals. These should be used at three to four day intervals when infestations are heavy.

Spray all infested outdoor areas such as porches, garages and yards with Dursban, Diazinon, Sevin or Baygon. Be sure to treat areas used by pets and let the spray dry before pets or children are allowed to use treated areas. Repeat the spray at two-week intervals until fleas are controlled.

Inside the home begin control measures with a thorough cleaning. Vacuum all floors and upholstery and dispose of sweepings immediately to prevent flea escape.

Apply an insecticide spray to all floor areas and under and around upholstery, cushions. Also, spray moldings, baseboards and draperies to a height of one foot above floor level. Try to avoid further vacuuming and cleaning for 10-14 days after treatment. Once again, just applying an insecticide one time will probably not get rid of the pest. Always be sure to read the label and follow directions. Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economical level, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

Hat Is Cowboys Symbol

"A cowboy is normally a peaceful man, but one sure way of making him mad is to touch or take his hat. If you deform a cowboy's hat, he'll likely try to deform you," said cowboy artist Jim Sayre, of Deadwood, South Dakota.

The feeling a cowboy has for his hat has developed out of more than a century of tradition of a hat being a part of a cowboy's image, equipment or trade.

"I feel naked without my hat," said Syre, who was in Oklahoma City recently to attend the National Finals Rodeo where top rodeo cowboys competed for national honors and a share of the $40,000 in championship payoffs from the Winston Rodeo Awards program.

"A hat is the badge of a cowboy," said the rodeo artist who was formerly a Brahma bull rider.

"A typical cowboy will spend his last dime on a good hat, because a hat is important for his ego and helps him look the part. Anyone who wears a cowboy hat is saying he wants to be identified with this way of life," Sayre said.

For the true cowboy, a hat symbolizes and expresses the spirit of the old West. Today, the hat remains the strongest link with the past since its style is truly American in origin.

"The better the hat a cowboy wears the more people are impressed. Everyone looks at your hat before they look at your shoes, because they are looking at your face when they talk to you," said Johnny Smith of Denton, Texas.

"A cowboy may not always be able to wear the best pair of jeans or shirt, but he will always have a good hat," Smith added.

When asked why he wore a hat, Buck Brumley, of Albuquerque, New Mexico, said, "I wear one out of habit. I put my hat on unconsciously."

Jim Robison, a lawyer from Sikeston, Mo., who identified himself as a "weekend cowboy," said he started wearing a hat "when I got up enough nerve to defend it. Wearing a hat in certain parts of the country is sometimes looked upon as being silly, and a cowboy must be ready to defend his hat should someone laugh."

Normally, the importance of wearing a hat is learned early in life. In most cases, a father will buy his child his or her first hat, and this occasionally results in all members of a family wearing the same style and color of hat.

Sayre said there was a time when you could tell what part of the country a cowboy was from, or what his rodeo event was from the style of his hat, but that these differences are disappearing as various styles become more available in stores across the country.

Over the years, the cowboy hat has also been associated with many superstitions and stories. For example, never throw a hat on a bed as it will bring bad luck before the day is done. Or, if a cowboy wears his hat tilted to one side, watch him closely, as he probably can't be trusted.

A favorite hat has also been known to bring good luck. Casey Tibbs, the famous saddle bronc rider, always spit in his hat before each event to help insure good luck.

And people have also been known to be married wearing their hats, and to take their hats with them when they are buried.

Background Scripture: Hebrews 2:10 through 4:13
Devotional Reading: John 6:35-41, 44-45.

That has got to be one of the comforting expressions of our Christian faith: "For surely it is not with angels that he is concerned but with the descendants of Abraham" (Hebrews 2:16).

Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, the Messiah, the Risen Lord—but he knows who I am and he is concerned about me!

In the world there is always a "pecking order," a chain of command, respect and prestige. The privates of this world do not sup with the generals and field marshalls. Corporation presidents do not share lunch with the office boy. Movie stars and entertainers do not invite the mailman to dinner. The "Great people" of our world speak to other "great people".

But Jesus Christ is concerned about ME!

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Bond

Public Notice

NOTICE TO THE CLASS

All persons and entities who paid their membership dues to Loyd's Ambulance Service in Red River County, Texas for the period of July 1, 1979 to July 1, 1980, and who have not previously opted out as members of the class, are herewith notified that your class representatives previously certified by the Court, to-wit: Duane Benson, Bobby Brem, Olen Douglas, and James Wood, have submitted a proposal for settlement of your claims to the Court.

Under the proposed settlement the class would receive a default judgment against the Defendants in the amount of $52,178.40, which represents the full amount of the membership dues paid for said period less a credit for the period of time that Loyd's Ambulance Service did provide services to its members from July 1, 1979 to October 10, 1979. Total amount collected by Loyd's Ambulance Service was $72,470.00. They fulfilled 28 percent of their obligation, thus leaving $52,178.40 owing to the class. Jim D. Lovett of Jim D. Lovett & Associates, P.C. has donated all legal services to the class conditioned upon approval of this settlement.

Your class representatives have recommended that this settlement be approved even though it is not expected that the Judgment can ever be satisfied from any property belonging to the Defendants since no non-exempt property can at the present time be identified. However, your class representatives have recommended its approval since it is as favorable a settlement as could be entered considering all the conditions. It does give a possibility of the future satisfaction of some portion thereof, it is probably not dischargeable in bankruptcy since it would be entered under the Texas Deceptive Trade Practices-Consumer Protection Act, and it will serve the purpose of deterring the Defendants from attempting similar future businesses, thereby giving some protection to the public at large.

If you approve of this proposed settlement it is not necessary for you to do anything further. However, if you do not approve of the settlement then you must file your written objections and the reasons for such objections with the District Clerk of Red River County, Texas on or before the 3rd day of July, 1981 and serve a copy on the attorney for the class of Plaintiffs, Jim D. Lovett, Esq., 1210 W. Main-P.O. Box 904, Clarksville, Texas 75426 on or before said date. Any persons who fail to file such written objections with the reasons therefor will not be heard at the hearing. All members of the class and all others are invited to attend such hearing which shall be open to the public.

In the event members of the class wish to communicate further about the settlement they are instructed to contact the Plaintiffs' attorney, Jim D. Lovett at the above address or at 214-427-2274. Do not under any circumstances contact the Judge or try in any way to discuss the case with him since that would constitute a violation of the criminal laws of the state of Texas.

This notice shall be published one time each in the Clarksville Times, Bogata News, Detroit News, Paris News, Texarkana Gazette and the Mount Pleasant Tribune, which are all of the newspapers in general circulation in Red River County and the surrounding areas, at least ten (10) days prior to the hearing. The notice shall also be announced on three separate days on radio station KCAR. The Court has found that notice in this manner is proper and will provide adequate notice to the members of the class consistent with constitutional and statutory requirements relating to such notice.

Signed this 22nd day of June, 1981. Clara Gaddis District Clerk Red River County, Texas.

Livestock Operator Ordered To Stop Violating P&S Act

Gene Watts, Sulphur Springs, Texas, has been ordered by the U.S. Department of Agriculture to stop violating payment requirements of the Packers and Stockyards Act. Watts operates in eastern Texas. Administrative Law Judge Victor Palmer ordered Watts to cease and desist from issuing checks in payment for livestock without having sufficient funds on deposit and failing to pay, when due, the full purchase price of livestock. James L. Smith, P&S official, said the order was issued in default when Watts failed to respond to charges in USDA's administrative complaint. The P&S Act is a fair trade practices law administered by USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service. It promotes fair and open competition in the marketing of livestock, meat and poultry. P&S Act work in Texas is handled by M.L. Marshall, Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA, Room 8A36, Federal Bldg. 819 Taylor St., Ft Worth, Texas 76102, phone: 817-334-3286.

Ambulance Service Announces Rate Increase

While every effort has been made to keep charges for service from the Red River Ambulance Service, Inc. at the same level, the Board reluctantly instituted an increase in the base rate for ambulance service furnished to NON-Members. The base charge for Non-Members will be increased to $75 from the present $60 charge.

The charge of $1.50 per mile for non-members will remain the same at present. All charges for Members will remain the same as previously, that is, no base charge and a $1 per mile charge after the first 75 miles that the patient is transported. While the base rate for non-members remains lower than is charged by other ambulance services in the area, the charge enhances the advantage of becoming a subscriber. Obviously, one single ambulance call will more than pay for the price of subscription, a consideration all county residents should think about.

Thursday Rodeo Performance Is Dedicated To Hub Whiteman

The Thursday night performance of the Bogata Rodeo is annually dedicated to the memory of Hub Whiteman, one of the finest men in rodeo locally.

On that night a $100 savings bond will be presented to a member of the audience by Mrs. Hub Whiteman. Registration for the drawing will take place.

Hub started rodeoing in 1929 after a spell with the 101 ranch wild west show. He was an all around cowboy and a top flight bronc rider. He rode three of the toughest bucking horses in rodeo history: Midnight, Five Minutes 'Til Midnight and Hells Angels. He was for several years one of the biggest winners in rodeo. One year at the Ft. Worth Fat Stock Show Rodeo he won both the Bronck riding and bulldogging.

He was one of the organizers in 1936 of the cowboys turtle association, forerunner of today's professional rodeo cowboys association and served on the turtles board of directors.

He was the world's champion bulldogger in 1941 and went into the army soon after, serving in the European Theater during World War II. After the war he returned to rodeo full time. His rodeo career spanned thirty years. He judged many of the largest rodeos and was one of the most popular and prominent cowboys in the business.

Prior to his death on September 1, 1977, He served on the board of directors of the Cowboy Hall of Fame's Rodeo Historical Society.

On Thursday, June 23, 1977, the Bogata Rodeo Association proudly honored Hub for his accomplishments and his efforts to promote rodeoing nationally by presenting Hub with a plaque and by designating the first performance of the rodeo as "Hub Whiteman Night".

On January 28, 1978, Hub was inducted into the Central Texas Cowboy Hall of Fame in Belton, Texas,

Wheat Harvest Finally Underway

By Paul D. Payne
The rain delayed wheat harvest is finally underway, and with the weatherman promising several days of rainless, hot weather, we should see load after load of grain coming to town.

The next few weeks will be extremely busy ones for area farm families. Farm wives can be seen behind the wheel of grain trucks taking the wheat to the elevator, while others get their turn to do the actual combining. Other wives assume the more traditional role of preparing hot meals for the whole harvest crew and serving right in the field. Those are probably some of the most cherished memories of farm families when they pause about dusk for a meal of friend chicken and the works after a full day in the field.

It is now becoming apparent that some of the wheat was damaged by the prolonged wet spell. Some reports of wheat sprouting are coming in and growers with this condition can expect a lower grade and a severe price cut.

According to local elevator operators, wheat that has over 15 percent germ sprouted is classed as Sample Grade and will only be suitable as feed grade wheat. It is not exportable and will certainly be docked in price.

Wheat producers are encouraged to note any difference in sprouting in the varieties. EARly reports seem to indicate that there is more sprouting in Coker and Double Crop than in Arthur and TAM varieties.

Producers are encouraged to pay attention to the moisture level and condition of the wheat when placed in storage as this influences insect infestations.

Harvesting grain too wet provides an environment for insects and causes an added cost because the grain should be dried to 12 percent moisture or less. Grain containing more moisture attracts insects, promotes mold, and may induce heating.

Cracked grain attracts insects and aids in their development. Wheat should be harvested as dry as possible with the combine adjusted properly to eliminate weed seeds and keep cracking of kernels at a minimum.

Brucellosis Vaccination. Cattle producers are encouraged to continue having their replacement heifers vaccinated from Brucellosis. Beef heifers must be vaccinated between 3 and 12 months of age and dairy heifers prior to 6 months. However, vaccination between four and six months is recommended.

Dora: Charlie says he's going to marry the prettiest girl in town. Nora: Why the idea! I don't even know him!
