What would be like if we could press buttons for "Stop, Rewind and Erase" in life just like we can on a VCR?

We were talking about that, and at first it seemed like a good idea.

Just think...what would it be like if we could just put everything on "Pause" for a little and relax. With the world frozen around us we could decide what course of action to take instead of having to make snap decisions.

For those of us who have a habit of putting our foot into our mouth on a regular basis the chance to think about what we were fixing to say instead of having it pop out has tremendous appeal.

The "Stop" option could correct a lot of things...misunderstandings, errors in judgement, arguments. Just stop the machine of life, rewind it past the bad part and happily correct everything before sending it back to resume, the nasty bits neatly edited out! Of course, this could all get a bit tricky, as we would have to make things flow neatly along without interruptions. (Who wants blank spots or hissing static at places in their life?)

And then, what would happen when OTHER people wanted to change the outcome of life?

But then think about this, VCR capabilities in the human race wouldn't do a bit more good than it does on movie viewing.

We might have the chance to go back, but we really can't alter what we say or do!

When we rewind a VCR we simply put it back to the start and get the chance to look at what we've already seen again...which is exactly what memory does for us already.

We can't put things on pause, but in a way that's what sleeping is all about...the chance to rest and re-evaluate the world around us daily.

On a real VCR the only true changes one can make comes with erasure. Even with movies we can't change the outcome of them...only get rid of it entirely, in order to start on something else.

Well, erasure of the life we are currently living doesn't have a great deal of appeal, to me, at least.

For all the faux pax, and foul ups we invariably make, I don't want to be "erased".

Like a lot of things "it's a good idea, it just doesn't work". No, I don't really think that having the options of a VCR is a very good idea, after all.

Best to just keep on doing the best we can, trying hard to make our lives as good of a "movie" as we can, so that someday, like a truly good movie, we can be watched in the memories of those who viewed our lives...and remembered on the tape of someone else's recollections.

Talco Homecoming A Rousing Success

Saturday, June 25 at the Talco School, the ex-students met to renew old acquaintances of those past happy school days. There were hugs, back slapping, hand shaking, squeals of delight and a few tears as schoolmates greeted each other. Also there were a great many sneak looks at name tags! As the visiting got into full swing, one could hear some people recalling school day memories, asking about other classmates, showing pictures and fanning. Boy, was it hot! There were annuals, school pictures, newspaper clippings and scrapbooks on display.

Two hundred fifty-two had purchased tickets for the catered barbecue lunch that was served in the cafeteria. Due to a mix-up on the registration, many of the exes failed to register themselves or their spouses or guests, but approximately 400 were in attendance.

Those who registered from Houston were George Anderson, Eddie Chapman McCarty, Roger E. Gene Dixon, Marjie Strutton Ellswagon, Wayne Blackburn.

During the assembly in the auditorium, Bud Barrett, president, recognized the classes, starting with 1924. Shep Barber represented that class. Most classes were represented with the class of '48 getting a round of applause for the most in attendance. The teachers were called to the front of the stage to have their pictures made. There were 16.

Bud introduced Murry Foster from Denison, 1941 graduate, who has made Talco proud. He calls himself an oil patch artist. His work is on display in the Kilgore College Museum, a history of the Texas oil fields. He has shown his works in Dallas and Ft. Worth as well as in smaller towns. Murray presented an original oil painting of the Talco School as it looked in 1939. Bill Vickers, principal, accepted the painting on behalf of the Talco students and ex-students.

After the assembly, the crowd went to the cafeteria where visiting continued.

Next year, the school will celebrate its 50th anniversary and everyone should make plans to attend.

Death Toll Predicted For 4th Of July

The Texas Department of Public Safety has estimated that 36 persons will die as the result of traffic mishaps in the state during the 78-hour Fourth of July weekend.

"There is a greater potential for accidents during the summer months because of the increases in the number of vehicles and miles driven on Texas Highways," DPS Director Leo Gossett said. "We appreciate the recognition of this potential by the careful Texas drivers who observe the laws. Our troopers and local officers hopefully will be getting the attention of careless motorists through enforcement of these statutes."

The DPS counting program for traffic fatalities begins at 6 p.m. Friday, July 1 and ends at midnight on Monday, July 4.

During the 1987 July 4 period, also 78 hours in length, 37 traffic deaths occurred. Three additional fatalities were reported later from critical injuries suffered during the holiday program. A total of 58 percent of the fatalities occurred in accidents where speed or driving while intoxicated was listed as a contributing factor.

Along with the usual duties, the DPS will be working in Operation CARE (Combined Accident Reduction Effort) with the Louisiana State Police, Arkansas State Police, Oklahoma Highway Patrol and the New Mexico State Police to reduce drunken driving and speeding along interstate highways during the July 4 period.

"Available troopers in Texas and these four states will be increasing their cooperation to reduce fatal accidents as part of the Operation CARE program," according to DPS Lt. Charles Dorbandt of DPS Austin Headquarters, who also serves as the CARE regional president with Texas and the four neighboring states.

"The CARE program is designed to increase the smoothness and safety of the traffic flows on the interstate highways in the U.S.," Lt. Dorbandt said. "We'll be working with the state troopers in the four contiguous states to minimize dangerous driving practices on these roadways through enforcement. However, we will also provide assistance to the motoring public."

Voelkle-Magee Exchange Wedding Vows

Miss Lynette Voelkle and Kelly Magee of Irving were married on June 25 at 2:00 p.m. at the S. MacArthur Church of Christ in Irving. Larry Redelsperger, Minister for the Deaf, Church of Christ, Puyallup, Washington, officiated at the formal double-ring ceremony. Interpreter for the deaf was Rhonda Bagby of Arlington.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nim Voelkle of Irving. Parents of the bridegroom of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Magee, also of Irving.

Musical selections presented were "Sunrise, Sunset", "Wedding Song", "Faithful and True" and "The Lord Bless You and Keep You".

The church had an impressive and striking design with 125 glowing candles. A tree of 33 candles was in the center. Spirals and fans of candles were at the sides with fresh greenery at the base of each candelabra. At the end of each pew was English ivy with peach flowers and a big bow.

The bride wore a chiffon gown with a chapel length train. The chiffon sleeves were trimmed with silk venise lace, tapering down to the wrist with a cuff also trimmed with lace. The princess waistline flowed into a semi-full skirt finished with a deep ruffle and lace. The Queen Anne neckline was trimmed with venise lace and hand beadwork, completing the soft, elegant line of the gown. The veil of ivory illusion, designed and made by the groom's mother, fell over a lace and pearl tiara. The bride carried a peach and blue French rose cascade accented with bridal stephanotis, baby's breath and candlelight ribbon streamers.

Maid of Honor was Joni Voelkle, cousin of the bride of Dickinson. Bridesmaids were Nancy Gilliam Seattle, Washington, Tania Tucker of Irving, Jennifer Davis of Duncanville and Sherry Hart of Irving. The maid of honor and the bridesmaids wore baby blue ante bellum dresses. They carried peach and blue French rose nosegays, accented with baby's breath and peach and blue ribbon streamers.

The groom and the father of the bride wore charcoal gray tuxedos with cutaway coats; striped pants, dove gray vests, black, gray and white striped ascot ties, and white shirts with wing-tipped collars. The groomsmen wore charcoal gray tuxedos with stroller coats, striped white shirts with wing-tipped collars. The groom's and groomsmen's boutonnieres were peach and blue rose buds accented with baby's breath.

The best man was Robert Mayes of Grapevine. Groomsmen were Doug Hathorn of Irving, Jerry Wilson of Irving, Ted Hart of Irving, Al Voelkle, brother of the bride of Irving. The groomsmen served as ushers.

Flower girls were Jana and Joy Weaver, twin cousins of the bride, and they wore baby blue ruffled dresses and carried small white baskets filled with peach and blue French roses, with peach and blue ribbon streamers.

A reception was held in the Fellowship Center of the church following the ceremony. Members of the houseparty were Jan and Amy Redelsperger of Puyallup, Washington, Paula Bull of Abilene, Sallie Huffman, Pat Crockett, Virginia Hart and Joyce Weems, all of Irving.

Guests entered the reception area through an archway covered with ivy and ferns. Ten round tables were dressed with cloths and baskets of greenery. Ficus trees and baskets of flowers and greenery surrounded the garden area. In the center of the garden area was a silver punch fountain for the guests to serve themselves.

While guests were waiting for the bride and groom to arrive at the reception, they were served from a table laden with beautiful arrangements of fresh fruit and vegetable trays.

The bride's table was a butterfly design dressed with a lace candlelight tablecloth. The bride's cake was in the center with two peach and blue arrangement on each side. At one end of the table was the groom's cake and silver coffee service. At the other end of the table was a silver punch bowl filled with apricot punch. Lattice panels stood behind the table to give it a garden effect.

The bride's cake was a Lady Windemere Cake, which served 400. The unusual design was made of five small rounds for the base tier, one 16" round, one 12" round, and one 8" round completed the four tiered cake. It was decorated with star borders and string work on each tier. Silk peach and roses accented each layer. The cake ornament for the top tier is a Garden Gazebo with a ceramic bride and groom.

The groom's cake served 200. Chocolate curls topped the two tier chocolate cake with chocolate icing. The base tier was decorated with columns and drop borders. The top tier was hexagon shape with columns at each side and with rope borders.

Following a wedding trip to Florida, the couple will reside in Irving. The bride graduated from W.W. Samuell High School in Dallas, has a degree in Commercial Art and Advertising from Texas State Technical Institute in Waco. She works in the production department at Fast Signs in Dallas.

The groom graduated from Irving High School, has attended Eastfield Community College in Mesquite and Northlake Community College in Irving. He is a computer clerk in the accounting department at Sekin Transport in Dallas-Ft. Worth Airport.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at So. MacArthur Church of Christ Fellowship Center on June 24. Before the dinner, the bride and groom presented gifts to their attendants. Interpreter for the deaf at the rehearsal dinner was Rhonda Bagby of Arlington.

Amy Redelsperger and Joyce Weems presided at the two guest registers. The tables were covered with lace candlelight tablecloths and featured small flower arrangements and feathered pens.

Several showers were held prior to the wedding.
