

Nichols Worth

By Nanalee Nichols
Bits and pieces have become a fairly common portion of this column.

Bits and pieces are things that don't have enough "body" to make an entire column, but do merit putting forth. Here goes.

A weekend or so ago my three year old great-nephew and his parents visited us. When it was time for dinner his mom said "Can I use the phone book for Jeffery to sit on?"

Naturally, Thomas and I just cracked up laughing, leaving them looking extremely puzzled.

I then went to the phone, picked up both the Contel book and the area book, and solemnly presented them to her. The look on her face as she stared at the inch thick total of the two books was priceless.

They live at Coppell, and are used to a six inch thick metroplex phone book!

Have you ever been in a really bad mood and then had it lifted because of some simple, or silly incident.

Monday morning I was tired, cranky and hot. Just as I backed out of the garage my attention was caught by the shadows of the purple martins on my house.

There in the early morning sunshine was a perfect world of shadow.

The martin house was so crisp and clear that the head of a baby poking out could be seen. Even the legs on the insect his mom presented him were visible!

They whirled and dipped, circling and diving as new-fledged nestlings stayed close to home.

In that moment my crankiness disappeared as I was drawn into the shadow world.

Have you ever wondered whose idea it was to give puppies that innocent, "what did I do" or "how could you do that to me" look?

It makes it so hard to punish them! Ours lies down with its little head on its forepaws, soulful brown eyes following our every move, recrimination in its every glance! Talk about a guilt trip!

Do they make a water hose that won't kink? I've bought expensive ones, medium priced ones and cheap ones, and every single one of them kinks and manages to hang up on every tiny twig, border or rock! Of course it doesn't matter too much, my dogs take a wild hair about once a year and chew them into two foot pieces!

Am I the only person in the world that can work out in the yard for hours and barely feel hot, but when it comes time to clean house, even with the air conditioner on I'm a sweaty mess? For some reason I feel that it's okay to be hot outside, but it isn't natural inside!

Anyway, that's this week's bits and pieces. Stay cool folks.

People and Things

Jerry and Dorothy Jones and Cliff and Jean Jones were inadvertently left out of the list of those attending the Talco Homecoming last week. And George and Judy Cain Taylor of Kingwood attended.

Rue Anna Bell Appointed To Talco-Bogata School Board

The Talco-Bogata C.I.S.D. Board of Trustees met in regular session Tuesday evening, July 9, in the Talco School Library.

Prior to the meeting, the annual tour of campus was conducted by Supt. Freddy Wade, with the assistance of the new Talco Principal, Ben Tyler. Board members Eddie Brown, Jerry Russell, Kip Stansell, Buford Hervey, Mollie Williams and Ricky Franks, along with new Bogata Junior High School Principal Jimmy Lee and Rivercrest High School Principal Ray Miller, participated in the tour.

The regular scheduled Board meeting convened at 7:30 p.m. with the approval of the previous meeting's minutes.

Financial reports and cafeteria reports were routinely handled and in the tax report, Mr. Wade reported that 93.48% of 1991 taxes had been collected to date. This is, according to Wade, a 1% increase over last year's receipts collected.

The Board went into executive session and re-convened at 8:45 p.m.

into open session. Upon convening, nominations for the Board position vacated by Tommy Corbell's recent resignation were accepted. Eddie Brown nominated Rue Anna Bell and Buford Hervey nominated A.D. Stephenson. Brown, Russell, Stansell and Franks voted for Bell and Buford Hervey voted for Stephenson. Williams abstained.

A report was given by Supt. Wade concerning the makeup of the newly created County Education District, of which Russell is a member. Since the administration building of Talco-Bogata C.I.S.D. is in Red River County, the entire district is considered to be a part of Red River County District.

Mr. Wade gave an update on approximate cost of the Rivercrest track being resurfaced. The first estimate of approximately $80,000.00 has been upgraded to somewhere near $95,000.00. In addition, a core sample will be necessary to finalize a bid proposal. The Board agreed to take bids as has been previously voted upon and make a decision as to when in the future the track project could be financially possible.

The Board postponed discussion of a proposal on the baseball field until the August meeting. Talco State Bank's bid was accepted and will be the school district's depository for 1991-92 and 1992-93 school years.

Budget study meetings were scheduled for July 25, 1991 and August 12, 1991, following the special called meeting to canvass the results of the August 10 election results. A correction on the new salary schedule for auxiliary personnel was accepted by the board and the amended 1991-92 calendar was adopted with the school year scheduled to begin on August 16 for teachers and August 19 for students.

The Board officially accepted the resignation of Talco Principal, Gary Wuest, and hired Ben Tyler of Dallas Highland Park as his replacement. The Board also accepted Bogata Principal Jimmy Lee's recommendation to hire Mrs. Ginger Jordan as an elementary teacher as it's final action of the night.

Controversy Over Road Settled

After lengthy litigation, accusations and waiting, the "Moon Ranch Road" controversy was ended as District Judge K. Baker ruled the Johntown-area road to be a "public neighborhood road" and that Dan Kelley's criminal and arrest charges stemming from the controversy be expunged from the county records.

Red River County Pct. 1 Commissioner Drue Pirtle, named as the defendant individually and for the county in the lawsuit, was also ordered to drop his slander suit against the Dodd brothers.

The case was brought to court before the visiting district judge on April 30, for trial, but during the Voir Dire examinations of the jury it was announced to the court that a tentative settlement had been reached by the attorneys for both parties.

A copy of the judgement states that the road going across "certain property" belonging to D.L. Kelley and his wife, Barbara Kelley, commonly known as Moon Ranch Road, was declared a "public neighborhood road" and would be the responsibility of Red River County to maintain. The county was also ordered to maintain a cattle guard at the north entrance to the Kelley property and if requested by the Kelley's, "put in a second cattle guard at the north entrance so as to constitute a double-wide cattle guard." This second guard, if requested, would be put in at county expense.

The judgement also ruled that Kelley will not be required to fence the sides of the right-of-way and that he may not place a gate across the roadway. However, Kelley, his successors or assigns may build a fence up to the side of the cattle guards if a walk-through gate is put to the side of the guard, with said gate to be "at least 10 feet in width and remain unlocked".

All of this was decreed to constitute a covenant running with the land described in the deed Kelley purchased in 1968 and will be binding upon Kelley, his wife, their heirs and successors.

Also ordered in the judgement was the dismissal of all criminal and arrest charges against Kelley arising from the controversy so that the charges will not appear in the records of Red River County.

Pirtle was also ordered to file a notice of non-suit in the personal slander suit by him against W.T. and M.J. Dodd unless the "Defendants file a cross-action therein or utter words of slander subsequent hereto against Pirtle."

Both parties were ordered responsible for their own legal expenses in the matter.

Talco First Baptist WMA's Hold Bible Study & Fellowship

The Talco First Baptist WMA met Monday night in the church fellowship hall for their Bible study and fellowship.

Geneva Kelso voiced the opening prayer.

Jo Coil presided over the short business session with Joyce Alexander reading the minutes of the previous meeting.

"Fellowship" was the topic of the devotion brought by Pam Hinson. Her subject was in six parts, faithfulness, appreciation, love, happiness, cooperation and unity.

For the August meeting, the group will go to the Western Sizzlin with Joyce Alexander bringing the devotion.

The group was dismissed by Vivian Westbrook.

Dear Sirs:

On behalf of the Talco Ex-students, I want to thank you for the excellent coverage of the Talco Homecoming activities. We appreciate all of the advance publicity, as well as the pictures and write-up following the meeting. It will be especially appreciated by those who live out of town. The paper seems to improve each year and is an excellent way to keep in touch with old friends.

Yours truly,
Mary Kathryn Cotten
President, Talco Ex's

A Letter To The Editor:

The picture of the football trophy on page 6 of the July 4 paper was mistakenly identified as a 1941 trophy. It is a 1939 trophy, won by the Talco Trojans in their first clean sweep of the district.

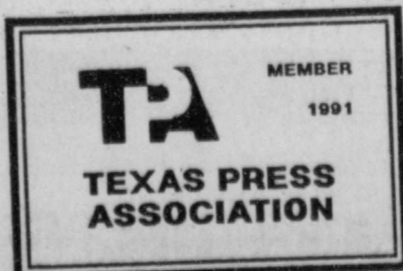

I personally feel an injustice has been done to the juniors and seniors of 1939 who made up most of the team for the district team. Thank you for printing my letter.

Nadine Caldwell
A Trojan booster for the 1939 team.
Ed. Note: We did, inadvertently, mistakenly identify the trophy as the 1941 trophy. However, in the story concerning the homecoming, the trophy was correctly identified as the 1939 trophy. I wrote the column myself, and assumed that since the trophy was on the table honoring the 1941 graduates, that it belonged to the 1941 class, not the 1939 class.

Familiar Faces

....By Nancy Brown

One of Talco's most familiar faces is that of Gene Norman, known to many as "Whistling Gene", because of his happy-go-lucky attitude, his familiar, gentle whistle and his friendly smile.

Gene is one of those people who smiles and speaks, everytime he sees you, no matter where you are. He and his wife, Marie, are lifelong residents of Talco where they have raised ten children.

He is retired from the Fina Gas Station in Talco, where he worked for the last 35 years.

Gene is one of our community's favorite people. Everyone I loves Gene, especially the children who know him.

Hilarious To Horror, This Kitten Made A Story!

By Nancy Brown
Our family have always had a "cat family". We have enjoyed a Himalayan female cat, who for six years has been childless or kittenless whichever you prefer.

Then along came Beau, a half persian, half travelling salesman tom cat kitten.

Beau and our female promptly produced two kittens, one exactly like it's mother, but with the rambunctious temperament of it's father, and the other looking exactly like it's dad and having the high class temperament and airs of it's mother!

The kittens have been both delight and disaster, one loving and calm, the other nosey and rowdy.

Little "Rambo" (the rambunctious one) has climbed the curtains, attacked the unsuspecting and entered any open door or cabinet to check things out.

Always the very first to poke her nose into business that wasn't hers, the other evening I put in the last load of laundry in the washer and dryer, then filled the cat's bowl with their evening milk. It didn't take long for me to realize that Little Rambo wasn't at supper. After three or four minutes I realized that she had to be somewhere she didn't belong...she never misses a meal.

We called and looked before I remembered the little kitten slapping at me with a paw as I stuffed clothes into the dryer!

Hurriedly I opened the dryer door and there was poor Rambo, wrapped up in my husband's shirt. She had been thumping round and round!

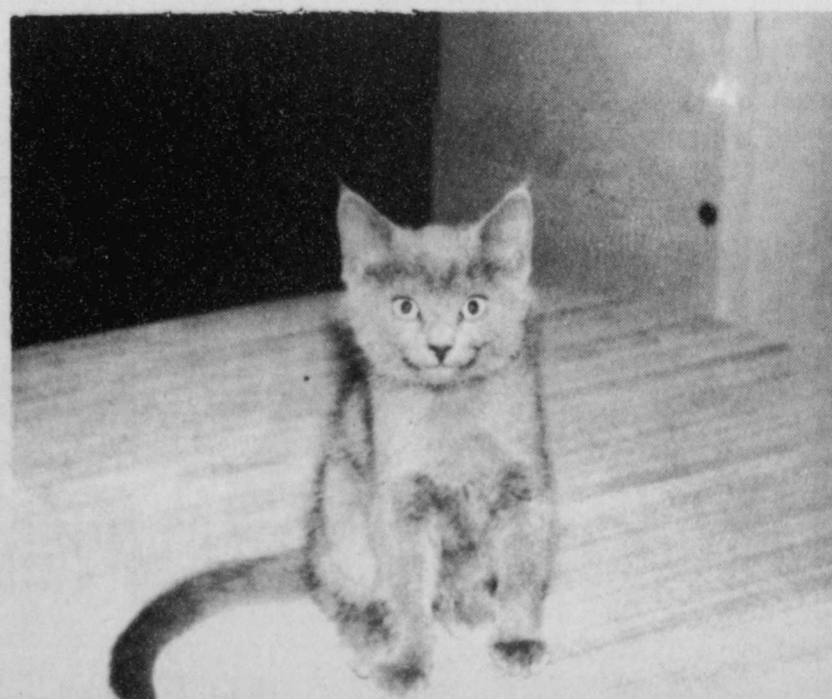

She was panting and her little heart was beating like a drum.

As terrified as the poor kitten, we began wetting her down to cool her.

Following an hour of total attention and a small amount of cooled milk, the kitten began to recover, and was soon hopping around playing.

Relief turned into laughter as we realized our kitten had made it through a good five minutes of "fluff cycle".

One thing about it, if cats really have nine lives, our Rambo only has 8left!

RAMBO lived up to her name after surviving a good 5-minute

Country Cooking

By Gerrie Bankhead

The Country Cookin column is being shared this week from the kitchen of Martha and Lawrence Wood of Rugby. They have been married for 43 years and have lived in this community all their lives. Martha shared that in all these years, they have only moved one time. What a record. They attend the First Presbyterian Church in Deport, where they have attended for 40 years.

Martha enjoys China painting, oil painting, watercolors, gardening, yard work, flowers, sewing, crocheting, cooking and ceramics. With all these hobbies, Martha also teaches oil painting 4 hours per week at her home. She has continued this for the past 12 years and finds it very rewarding. Looking at a student's finished product gives her much pride and enjoyment. Martha also enjoys canning fruits, vegetables and jams. Sharing these with friends and neighbors is an enjoyment also.

Martha has beautiful flowers growing all around her house. Just this one hobby alone takes many long hours.

Her sewing crafts include rabbits, dolls, stuffed animals and doll clothes. She reminisces when she was about 9 years old that she started crocheting and sewing doll clothes. Her parents didn't have the money to buy thread, so her mother took flour sacks and raveled out the threads for her to crochet or embroidery with. From this, she has expanded her knowledge of these hobbies into making a career out of some of them. She says that almost everything she sees, she wants to try to make it.

Lawrence is Martha's handyman, he cuts out all the wood pieces she needs for her crafts. He says that mostly he tries to stay out of the way, but he is very handy and patient when it comes to helping her.

Making breads is one area of cooking Martha loves. She keeps a starter for homemade light bread and if anyone would like to have this recipe, just call her. She started this bread about 5 years ago and got her first starter from Sammy McConnell.

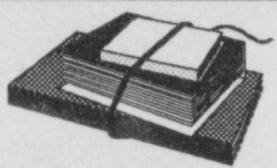

Her career at Turner's Department Store lasted 39 years. Being retired now, she devotes all her free time to her hobbies and things she enjoys. She says she doesn't miss the work, but she misses seeing all the people everyday.

The Blueberry Yum Yum recipe Martha shares has been used in her kitchen for 10 years. She travels to Avery each year to pick blueberries. The Zucchini Bread recipe was given to her by her sister, Gladys Cox, about 5 years ago, and she added the pineapple to it.

The Mexican Salad recipe came from a friend in Texarkana, Nanny Katherine, in 1987, and her Frozen Dessert recipe came also from a friend, Katy Freeman, about 4 years ago. The Tasty Cole Slaw dressing recipe came from her niece, Linda Gray of Bogata. You may substitute the honey for the same amount of sugar if you don't have honey.

If you've enjoyed the article, request a recipe or have a recipe to share or suggest a feature, please call 652-6032 or write Rt. 1, Box 67A, Deport, TX 75435.

Geneva, A Fascinating City

By Nanalee Nichols
Editor's Note: For those interested in hearing about a trip to Switzerland, here's your chance. If you aren't, feel free to read something else...this article is definitely for those with travel in their hearts!(P.S. thanks for all the nice compliments on these articles)

As our bus descended from the high mountains down into the French speaking portion of Switzerland the houses began to change too. The style became less that of a mountain chalet and more that of a French wine province. Slate or red pan tile roofs still prevailed, but the homes held less ornate carving or etching, and the hillsides became completely covered with vinyards. Wine making is serious, and big business in the French area. While we are used to having iced tea or coffee with meals, everyone has wine or beer with their meals. The wine making industry is labor-intensive. All up and down the terraced hillsides men and women could be seen, tying up the vines on their wires, carefully trimming or pruning, poisoning for insects or just inspecting the crops.

The vinyards are weed free, and little huts sit at the end of the fields. These are actually tool sheds and storage buildings. Leslie, always ready to answer questions, pointed out that the custom began back in medieval days when the farmers didn't want to have to carry tools and equipment back and forth between their home within the walled towns. They locked them away for safety from the gangs of roving bandits, then retreated at night to the safety they found within the town walls. They also, she smiled, were called the "Hanky Panky Huts"...because of their use in courting! Fields of bright yellow rape, (yes, that's spelled right) illuminated the fields. Rape is used much as we use soy beans, for oil, food supplements and animal food. Orchards interspersed the fields, and for the first time we began to see cattle that weren't the popular Borwn Swiss.

As we approached beautiful Lake Geneva we were struck again by the gorgeous medians of blazing flowers. We made a stop at Chillon Castle, which inspired Lord Byron's very popular poem "The Prisoner of Chillon". It's water-surrounded turrets and walls were imposing, indeed. I confess that Thomas and I both were less than thrilled with the prospect of Geneva. However, we were in for a pleasant surprise.

Geneva hadn't sounded like it would be the highlight of our trip, but it proved to be a lovely, lake side city with an international flavor and flair that was unique. Because it is the headquarters for the European United Nations, the World Health Organizations and the International Red Cross there are embassies and people from all over the world.

After seeing the Jet 'D Eau spout it's 500 foot spray of water in the harbor of Lake Geneva we learned that we had been privileged...the world's highest fountain has fallen prey to vandals who poured cement down it...and only moments after we saw it, it ceased to work...as the damage from the cement was not completely fixed. We saw the Reformation Wall, with it's statues of John Calvin and the others who led the way to Europe's religious reform. Across from the somber wall was a park where university students were enjoying a holiday by lying in the warm sun, practising juggling, or reading books. It was a holiday, Ascension Day, and many places were closed, but we still beat a path back to the water front after checking into our hotel.

There we found street kiosks, beautiful churches, swans and boats, sidewalk cafes and more. We asked our tour guide "If you were in Geneva for one night, where could you find something special to eat that you won't find anywhere else". She told us how to find a tiny cafe which has no menu.

Seated there we were brought green salad, then a sterno stove was placed on the table. The waitress soon appeared with a metal platter of sirloin steak, so tender it didn't need a knife to cut it, and topped with a baseball size mound of melting, seasoned butter.

Then, she began serving thin, hot, not-quite-crispy fried potatoes, across between a shoestring potatoe and a fried potato. We ate until we could eat no more, and wandered back out onto the street. We watched in fascination as a group of young South Americans, bedecked in woven ponchos and long hair, played lively music while they wove through the crowd. Then we noticed a very black man dressed in dazzling white robes and pill box hat. He carefully gathered up the voluminous robes and stepped onto an escalator, ascending with dignity. Indians in brilliant saris strolled past, as did fierce looking men in turbans. Little children darted in and out of the crowd, making for, of all places, McDonald's!

Window shopping was a treat, and occasionally a shock. Some of the mannekins (male as well as female) were rather graphic! Some of the clothes were incredible! We viewed a display of obviously cheap, cardboard looking and very flashy cowboy boots with horror. The price, translated from Swiss Francs, was about $300 per pair, and no self respecting Texan would have been caught dead in them. Weary at last we wandered back in the near-dark to our hotel.

After breakfast the next morning we travelled towards Interlaken. This area is one of the most beautiful in Switzerland. At Brienz we stopped at a wood carvers workshop where we saw (and some purchased) inlaid music boxes, cuckoo clocks and nativity scenes. Their animal carvings were so lovely. The village is the center of Swiss woodcarving, and their take great pride in the hundreds of hours they spend on their craft.

We took home a cuckoo clock for ourselves, plus music boxes and tiny clocks for those who had stayed in our home while we were gone.

The drive fro the village got prettier and prettier. The houses had friezes of carved vines, flowers and geometric designs, and the valley below was green and lush.

We had a view of the Jungfrau before climbing up once more, through green forests and snow capped mountain peaks.

Early in the afternoon we arrived in Lucerne, our final stop on the trip, but what a wonderful ending to the tour it proved to be!

Rural Fire Protection Grants Approved

U.S. Rep. Jim Chapman (D-Sulphur Springs) announced that funding for the Rural Community Fire Protection Grants, which assist communities to address the rural fire problems, was recently approved by the U.S. House of Representatives in the FY92 Rural Development, Agricultural and Related Agencies Appropriations Bill.

"This is good news for rural East Texas. These grant are made to public entities to organize, train and equip local firefighting forces to prevent, control and suppress fires threatening human lives, crops, livestock and other resources in rural areas," said Chapman, who, as a member of the House Appropriations Committee, was able to secure $3.5 million to fund approximately 3,800 grants.

Congress began funding these grants in 1972 and has continued to increase funding for this purpose throughout the years. In the past, Texas has received a number of these grants.

"In the upcoming weeks, the Senate will consider the bill. You can be assured that I will continue to offer my full assistance to the firefighting community and will continue my efforts to see that East Texas rural fire programs are adequately funded," concluded Chapman.

Odia & Lucille Story

In 47 years the two of you have truly seen it all! Together you have raised two sons and a daughter and now have 8 grandchildren and two step-grandsons, 6 great-grandchildren and a step-granddaughter. That's quite a family!

You have served to each of us a roll model, someone to learn from and to look up to. You have taught us how to love and the importance of the family unit. Something most people take for granted.

No matter how dire the circumstances, there was always room at your table and in your hearts to love one more kid, no matter who he was or where he came from. God will bless you for those times.

We will never be able to fill your shoes or be the parents you were to us so our only hope is that someday our children will look at us with the same love, adoration and pride that we see each time we look at the two of you.

So on this July 12, when you celebrate your 47 years together, look back and smile, knowing that your love is still alive and teaching all who know you its true meaning!

You've come a long way since the night Judge Edwards got up from his supper table and married you, taking two of the last three dollars you had to your name as payment.

Congratulations and Happy Anniversary to two of the greatest people in the world.

Love,
 Kenneth, Lewis and Pattie Marie

Letter To The Editor

Letter to the Editor:

There are many organizations and businesses across this nation who solicit funds in the form of donations. My family and I, until recently, have only been a part of the "asking" when it involved a local organization such as school or church. In March, when Jared was asked and we accepted his participating in the Hospital's poster project, we were unaware of the fact that the poster would be used to solicit funds, (donations) and would be primarily available only through the Gift Shop located in the hospital for a donation of $5.00.

As things progressed, we were discouraged that so many of our extended family members as well as friends would be unable to receive or purchase one of the posters without a trip to Dallas. Knowing the poster was to be used as a fund raiser, we didn't feel we could ask the hospital to supply us with an unlimited number of posters to be freely distributed, although we would have gladly given to anyone wanting one, had this been an option. We have not forgotten how this community pulled together on Jared's behalf and gave so freely at the time of his diagnosis.

We decided to take orders from anyone interested and have the hospital send us the posters as needed. It was later suggested to me that we ask the hospital to supply us with posters and allow us permission to solicit donations for them in order for the posters to be available locally. They agreed, resulting in our family's participation of soliciting donations for Children's

Med. Ctr. during our Frontier Days Celebration.

We are thrilled Jared got the opportunity to do this project, but would gladly not have it, if it could mean his not having the illness he has had. On the other hand, it could have easily been someone else we might have known and we would have been in the shoes of those of you who have been so eager to donate. Many lives in this community have been touched by Children's and many more will be in the future. I felt it would be a small thing for me to do if I could raise some money by using the poster for it's intended purpose, to raise donations. We are fortunate to have such a facility so close to home when needed, and for the future of all our children I hope we can continue to support this hospital when an occasion arises.

To date we have collected and sent a total of $382.00 to the hospital to be used for Cancer research and/or Care of Cancer patients. There are still posters available at our home, and you need only ask if you would like to have one or know someone who does, with or without a donation.

Donations can be made at anytime, for any purpose and in the name of any patient. The address is Children's Medical Center, 1935 Motor St., Dallas, TX 75235.

We thank all of you who contributed to this effort, hoping you gave on behalf of your children, not ours. A special thanks to Meemaw and Kathy for your support, encouragement and help.

Sincerely,
The Huddleston Family

A broken air conditioner could be good news for your budget

If your air conditioner is almost beyond repair, replacing it may be easier on your budget than you think. By replacing it with a new, high efficiency system, you'll use less energy, and you'll get a rebate from Texas-New Mexico Power Company.

Rebates of up to $125 — depending on the efficiency rating — are available for new central air conditioning units. Or you can choose the heating and cooling efficiency of a heat pump instead and receive a rebate of up to $275. For more information, call or visit your local TNP office.
