Sometimes friendship goes beyond the call of duty. This past weekend, one friendship was put to the test. We have a very tall, thin friend whose name is Jim. Aforementioned friend came home with my husband Saturday morning after their service club meeting to help Thomas work on our worn-out satellite receiver. For three solid hours they traced out wires, ran back and forth calling "better or worse?" like deranged people, and generally worked very hard at getting us some satellite reception. This was certainly showing some real friendship. But the true test was yet to come. My fourteen-year-old nephew Jeff came slogging back across the pool dam to inform his long-suffering aunt (me) that he was "stuck in the garden spot" on his four-wheeler. I grumbled and groused as I searched for my mud boots to go help him get out. Friend Jim said "no, I'll go, I've already got on my galoshes". His lanky form followed Jeff through the trees. Thomas and I stuffed our feet into mud boots and headed on to the garden spot too. We rounded the corner just in time to be witnesses to what has to be one of the funniest scenes ever. Jeff was pushing the four-wheeler. His helper was pulling on the back rack. They would count "one-two-three" and heave a mighty effort, almost lifting the machine over each row. Down at the slimiest, soupiest place they counted, heaved...and Jim's boots stuck in the mud. Almost in slow motion he began to fall backwards. As he went down he turned and gave us all the sickliest, most sheepish grin imaginable! SPLAT! Jim was sitting in muddy water, his legs up under the four-wheeler, his hands still gripping the back rack, his chin on a level with the back wheels. We would have liked to help. Really we would have. But, who can move when they are laughing so hard? Jim cheerfully got up, finished helping Jeff get his machine unstuck, and headed for his truck. He figured out a pair of work covers and went into our barn to change. It didn't take him long. However, when he came back out into the chilly air Jim made a discovery. The whole inseam on the covers was ripped out! Hastily, he retreated back into the barn to put his long-handled boots on. Low sounds of disgust issued from the barn as he was forced to put on those soaking wet, very muddy clothes! They had gotten really chilly in the few moments since he had shucked them. So, he helped us finish up. We got to thinking that if he would come back we could stage the whole episode again and capture it forever on the camcorder! He said, "He flatly, with no room for argument, refused. I guess the limits to friendship are...

Holiday Schedule For Newspapers

In order that their employees may enjoy the holidays Thunder Prairie Publishing will come back the day after Christmas and put out an edition which will go into the mail on Monday, December 30. All advertising and news must be in by Friday, December 27 in order to be published that week. While we are aware that this is confusing to our readers, there is no other way to make time available to those who work so hard to get out a paper. Next year the holidays will come later in the week, which will make things much easier and make schedules more keepable. For now, we beg that our readers bear with us. Thanks, and Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to All!

Familiar Faces

By Nanalee Nichols

This week's familiar face is confined not just to one town, or one state, or even one country! No, this week's familiar face is known far and wide and is truly an International Traveler. There are several things that distinguish this elderly, snowy haired gentleman. For one thing, he always wears pretty much the same outfit...a bright red suit fringed with white fur at the cuffs, and set off with a red and white hat. His method of travel is rather unusual too. He prefers reindeer and a sleigh over the more traditional plane. These reindeer, however, get him around the world in plenty of time to do his job. He has a patient, adoring wife, and a host of little elf friends who help him in his work. But the most wonderful, special thing about this gentleman is his generosity. He loves children, and sees that they all get toys and clothes, goodies and pets galore! Despite his "threats" that he doesn't bring presents to bad little boys and girls, he's a softy. It's doubtful if any child ever was "bad" enough to go giftless from this man! His name, of course, is Santa Claus. He also goes by Santy, Santa, St. Nick and Jolly Old Elf! It might be well to be on the lookout for Santa Claus in YOUR town right now, because it's getting real close to time for him to come around!

SCENE OF THE SEASON—deep snow, red barns and evergreens create a vision of Christmas card beauty. This photo typifies the peace we all hope for during the Christmas season. The photo is the first place winner in this paper's first Christmas Color Photo Contest and was submitted by David Teague of Goshen, Indiana. Teague is a long-time subscriber, was born in Pattonville, lived in Deport, moved to Talco and has relatives in Bogata! We hope the beauty of this scene will inspire us all in the best of Christmas traditions.

It Was A Tough Decision...But Here Are The Winners In The Photo Contest!

The first annual Thunder Prairie Publishing Christmas Photo Contest can only be termed a huge success. Fifty entries were received, and the judge's decision was not an easy one. Three judges viewed each entry, which was not identified in any way. All three judges were from outside the publishing area. A few of the subjects we received were: children opening packages, beautiful reflections in Christmas ornaments, fresh poinsettias, snow scenes, skiing scenes, deer pictures and many, many more. But, a selection was finally made and, with an eye to color and composition, subscriber David Teague of Goshen, Indiana. His breathtaking snow scene, taken near his home, captured the honor of first, and is our featured picture on the front page this week. For his entry he will receive a first place certificate, a free year's subscription to the Deport Times (his choice) and two free rolls of color film. David was born in Pattonville, lived in Deport until the age of 9, then moved to Talco. He has relatives in the Bogata area. Second place honors went to another "former native" of the area, Nikki Jo Cooper Smith. Her picture of her three sons won her a certificate and a free roll of film. Nikki grew up near Taylortown and lives in Oroville, California now. Third and fourth place honors went to the same person! (Remember, the judges had no way of knowing that the two entries were from the same person). Jennifer Christie of Jowntown's "Christmas Puppy" charmer won third and her shot of ice coated leaves won fourth. Mrs. Christie will receive certificates and free film also. There were dozens and dozens of other wonderful, worthy entries. We wish we could print them all! The contest has proved to us here at the newspapers that the word "amateur photographer" isn't wholly accurate. The quality of most of the entries was very professional. Congratulations to each and every one of the entrants!

Locals Grandson Participates In Athletic Competition

William Kett Boughner, grandson of W.T. and Mary Lou Dodd of Johntown, may have set a record for the Johntown area as being the first "local" to participate in international athletic competition. Kett recently participated in an indoor soccer tournament hosted by the NATO military base in Keflavik, Iceland. A goalie for the U.S. team, Kett was instrumental in the hard fought and well earned championship for his team. If not the first, then Kett most certainly is the youngest local in international competition, he is only five years old. His team is the Pee Wee champions of the NATO Base with an unbeaten and untied season record. Terra Rae, Kett's seven year old sister, is his biggest fan.

Already well traveled, Kett was born in Mt. Pleasant and has lived in or visited three countries, 22 states and has been to the top of the Washington Monument in Washington, DC. His mother, the former Terrye Hearne of Clarksville, is married to Senio Chief Torpedoman W. Ray Boughner with the U.S. Navy assigned as the Weapons Officer for the NATO base in Iceland.

Kett's local stateside fan club includes his great grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles (Skeet) Holley and great aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. M.J. Woods of Clarksville.

Letter To The Editor

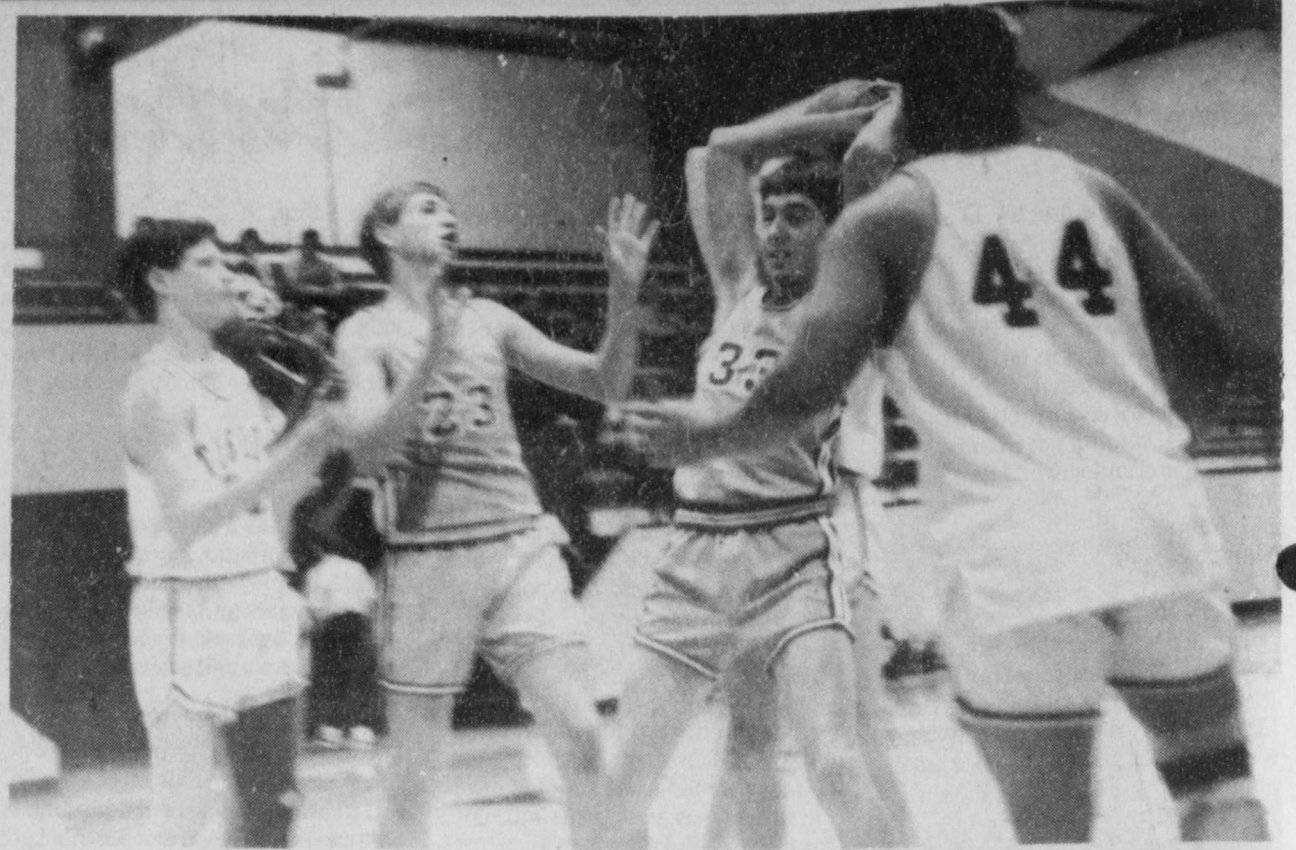

Dear Nanalee:
 I am sending you quite a mixed bag!
 1. My entroy of two photos for the Christmas picture contest.
 2. My family has lived around Deport since about 1880. I was born in Pattonville, raised in Deport until I was about nine years old. We then moved to Talco.

Included here is an old photo of Deport. It came from a collection of one of the older family members. I thought you might like to run it sometime, and ask if anyone can identify the businesses. I believe the one on the left says "Nobles Bros. DGCo.". I wonder what all the wagons loaded with cotton, are doing intown. Did they come to sell it? About what year could this have been?
 3. Also enclosed, three copies of Bogata advertisements from an old book.

Good luck in all you do, we believe yours must be one of the top small town newspapers in the country. We enjoy it.

My wife is the former Meurlene Bean of Talco. Her father and step-mother live in Bogata, Mr. and Mrs. M.C. Bean.

Best wishes for the holidays.

Rebel Sports Report

Rivercrest Wins Consolation Titles At Recent Tournaments

By Rosie Jasso
 Last weekend, tournaments were here, there and everywhere. Teams were scattered within a 70-mile radius doing what Rivercrest is best known for...playing basketball.

Varsity boys, participating in the Celeste Tournament, and varsity girls, taking part in the Prairiland Tournament, managed to bring home two Consolation trophies for Rivercrest.

For the varsity girls, the games began on Thursday with a match facing Clarksville. A long, hard-fought battle against the Lady Tigers was not enough for the Lady Rebels as they lost with a 45-48 score. High scorer was LaTricia Belcher with 11 points.

On Friday, Roxton became the opponent which the Lady Rebs relieved their frustrations on from their previous loss. An outstanding 27 point win over Roxton made the score 59-32 with the aid of Krista Weatherall's 17 points. The desire to place in this tournament was fulfilled as the Lady Rebs whopped Chisum 50-23. Patches Rains contributed 13 points to the victory. This ended the lady's tournament with a consolation title.

The boys headed to Celeste on Thursday to begin their toumey. The first match saw the Rebels up against the Leonard Tigers. A Rebel victory was eight points short as Leonard won 79-71. Freshman rookie Trae Beverlin put up 18 points for the Rebel attempt.

The team from Caddo Mills was on the Reb's agenda for Friday.

Improvement from the previous game resulted in a 69-49 win over Caddo Mills. Corey Gable scored 21 points for the night.

Saturday's match saw the Rebels against the Fannindale Falcons. A 57-43 victory acquired the consolation trophy for the Rebels. Dean Tiffie's 15 points contributed to the final win.

Friday, December 20, four RHS teams will travel to Paris to take on the Paris High Wildcats.

Junior High Rebels
Compete In Mt. Pleasant Tourney

The Talco-Bogata junior high boys participated in the P.E. Wallace Junior High Tournament held in Mt. Pleasant last weekend. Both the seventh and eighth grade teams made it to the finals Saturday evening.

The seventh grade boys played the Mt. Pleasant seventh grade "A" team, losing 44-22, but still bringing home second place. Chosen as All Tournament players were Eric Martin and Alvin Savage.

The eighth grade also played for first place Saturday against Mt. Pleasant's eighth grade "A" team. The boys took a 59-16 loss to the awesome sized Tiger team, but like the seventh grade, brought home second place. Chosen as All Tournament were A.J.

Lee and Jay Hancock.

On Monday, December 16, the seventh, eighth and ninth grade boys traveled to Leonard. The seventh grade took a 47-24 win, while the eighth grade game went to the wire. The eighth grade Rebels lost 56-55. The RHS freshmen pushed the Tigers to a final 38-38 tie forcing the game into overtime.

The sure shots of center Kyle Kennedy and forward Rodney Humphrey helped to save the game, the Rebels won 42-38.

The Talco-Bogata Junior High girls played Leonard at Bogata on Monday night. The seventh grade won their game while the eighth grade lost 38-31.

How I Spent My Thanksgiving Holiday

By Donna Rozell

From my perch on the side of the creek I could see an overcast sky. The silence was broken only by my friends retreating footsteps. It was the Wednesday before Thanksgiving and my out-of-town friend and I had been enjoying the outdoors and the easy silence of two people who are comfortable together. We had walked along the dam beside the lake and into the trees 100 yards or so from the spillway. It was about 12 noon.

up that "cliff", they seemed to have a plan. It would have suited me to set tight until our numbers increased. We could have talked horse and rodeoed; swapped yarns and spit, but they made all haste and carefully loaded "it" and me onto the stretcher. I expressed a few doubts but as we hit the water I clutched the handrails and tried to look like I thought this was going to work.

However, on my dresser are get well cards; the kitchen table holds a new plant. I have the loan of a pair of crutches; a walker with pockets, a wheelchair and another chair, whose purpose is too personal to discuss. Books and tapes are stacked everywhere, loaned to help keep me busy.

Friend had hopped across the creek like a deer; so, with hardly a pause, I was airborne in his wake. Instantly, I knew I wasn't going to make it. Leading with my left, I crashed into the far bank with a crack that sounded like a large root snapping. He had to haul me onto the bank like the "catch of the day". Not wanting to appear a complete "klutz" I tried to bounce up, but my foot didn't work. Looking down I saw it was at an alarmingly unnatural angle and setting back, announced I had broken my leg. My O.O.T.F. uttered a mild expletive (with which I silently agreed) and he said, "I heard it, I thought it was a root."

Still yet I don't know how they did it and not spill me but soon we were all on the otherside, puffing and grinning, especially me. Putting down the wheels we lurched toward the dam, the ambulance, my brother, my mother and the undertaker.

I was feeling extremely grateful and a little ashamed to have had doubts. About this time, the gurney hit a washed out place, the right handrail collapsed and I slide toward the lake. It was about 2:30.

More of my clothes are clean than ever before and every towel, sheet and rag I own has been washed, fluffed, folded and put away. You can see the kitchen counter top and there is not one dish in the refrigerator whose contents is covered with green or blue mold. My socks are matched; my shoes are paired; tho it will be a while before I need the left ones. I've had my hair washed, as needed and been chauffeured here and there for outings and free food.

Credit Portfolio Reviewed

The U.S. Department of Agriculture Farmers Home Administration continues to review its portfolio for possible graduation of borrowers to private credit as mandated by Congress, the FmHA State Director in Temple, announced.

The FmHA credit programs are administered in a manner that will assure that they do not supplant or compete with credit available to farmers, rural families and groups from other reliable credit sources. The law requires that FmHA borrowers should graduate to other credit on reasonable rates and terms when they are able to do so.

We looked at each other for a few silent desperate moments as it appeared our day had peaked early and was going downhill at an alarming pace. It was about 12:15.

Now understand, most of the crises in my life have involved a sick animal of some sort and "the vet". So as my OOTF, the veterinarian, made plans to get my leg and me back to civilization, I considered the irony of my situation; tried to look hopeful and not throw up.

After a brief consultation, I was made secure on the ledge, we exchanged hopeful smiles and he set off to get the truck. While contemplating my situation, I watched him out of sight.

I looked at the clock in the operating room and that was the last I remember until the journey to room 541. It had been a long, long day. It was about 11 p.m.

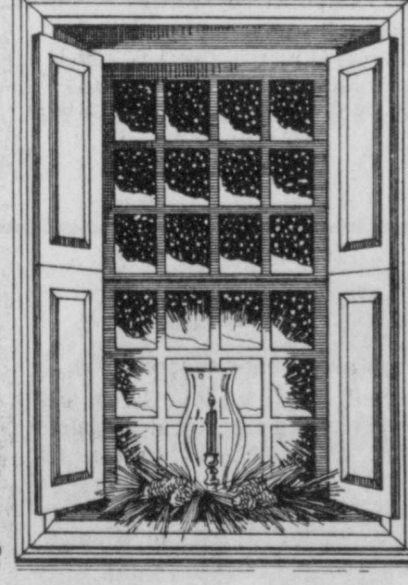

I'm home now and my bruises are frightening. Bone from my hip now lives in my ankle. There is a plate in my leg and 40+ metal staples in three incisions. My left hip hurts and the knee shows signs of stress; my toes are swollen and ache painfully. The skin is scrubbed from my elbows and it will be eight weeks before I can put weight on the foot, if then. I will be three months in a cast and more in therapy.

While in the hospital the Methodist preacher came to see me several times and holding my hand, prayed with and for me. While I was in tears from pain, fatigue and frustration, he was thanking God. I thought at the time he'd "slipped his halter".

Thanksgiving Day has come and gone. I didn't get to have dinner with my family but I've gotten the message.
