Nichols Worth

By Nanalee Nichols

These dreams have to stop! I'm exhausted, worn out, tired, weary, and I'm not getting enough sleep either!

Well, I would be getting enough sleep if I just weren't working myself to death.

What am I dithering about? Dreams...dreams that keep me tossing, turning, talking in my sleep and generally working all night long!

For the past month or two I've been doing as much work in my sleep as I am awake.

I go to bed hoping for a restful night's sleep, and instead as soon as I manage to slide into the land of nod my work day begins again. I dream about phones ringing, computers locking up, ads being wrong and irate customers fussing at me.

I dream about being at work and trying to dial a phone number over and over, only to forget the number or be cut off half way through the process.

I dream about losing notes, or forgetting to be somewhere.

Sometimes I just dream about typesetting...no particular problem, I just keep on setting type right on through the night as well as the day.

My husband says I mutter in my sleep about setting type parameters and trying to do computer lable restarts.

Now, I don't need analysis to know that I'm paranoid about forgetting things, leaving things out of the paper or making mistakes. After all, we have five papers to worry about.

What I DO need is a way to stop working at night.

I wake feeling just about as tired as if I hadn't been to sleep.

Other editors tell me they tend to do the same thing...it apparently goes with the territory. People who have never been exposed to the madness that makes up weekly (or daily) deadlines just don't have any idea of what it's like. It isn't a 9 to 5 job...one stays 'til it's done, if that means 11 or 12 at night. That means that frequently I run home from the office and go right to bed...apparently my brain never notices something has changed!

Shakespeare referred to "sleep that knits up the ravelled sleeve of care". Shakespeare, obviously, wasn't on a deadline!

So, if you have any ideas for stress relief and a way for me to sleep without working all night long, do let me know...I could sure use the help!

First Baptist Church Declares Itself a "Zoo Zone"

You can expect to see the ARK PARADE at First Baptist Church, Talco, starting May 31. The church has declared itself a "Zoo Zone" for Vacation Bible School.

"Our VBS program features animals this summer," the VBS director said. "Like Noah, we'll be surrounded by God's wonderful creatures, and all of them have a story to tell about their Creator. It will be an incredible experience!"

It all takes place at the church, which will be transformed into a ZOO-RRIFIC ARK PARK, complete with a giant ark, and lots of other creative concepts of the First Baptist "ARK-itects!"

This free daily program for students ages two through teens includes games, crafts, songs, snacks, and lots of life-changing Bible interaction. You won't want to miss a minute of this SON-filled adventure. It's better than terrific... it's ZOO-rific!

School Board Amends Policy

The Talco-Bogata Board of Trustees held a special meeting Tuesday Night, May 25th for the purpose of reviewing the requirements for graduation. Students have normally had to have all credits at the local school (this is a state board of education ruling). In the past students have had to pass the TAAS test in order to participate in graduation ceremonies.

There were two board members missing but motion was made and seconded and passed by a 5-0 vote to revise policy restricting graduation ceremony participation. Under the new policy a student must meet all local credit requirements to graduate. Failure to pass TAAS will not keep a student from participating in the ceremony but no diploma will be received until All credit requirements and the TAAS test have been passed.

The Talco Park Committee will have a work day May 29, beginning at 9:00 a.m. Everyone is encouraged to bring his tools and come help build our park!

Revival Services will be May 31-June 4 at 7:00 p.m. nightly at Maple Springs Church. Bro. Ray Brooks, president of the Texas Baptist Institute, will be the visiting pastor. Music will be by Maxine Harrell and Evyonne Waldrum. Everyone is invited to attend.

Country Cooking

By Judy Screws

This week I visited in the new home of Nora and Harry Scoggins, who live just outside of Detroit, one mile this way and 7/10 of a mile that way. I can't believe I found it without a hitch. Nora gives good directions. While Nora and Harry were building their new home, they lived in their cabin in the woods. They had had this land for many years just waiting for them to retire and build a home on it. Nora worked at Carl's Sewing Center, in Dallas. She taught people how to use the sewing machines they bought, and gave sewing lessons. Harry drove a truck for Sears for 42 years. They lived in Mesquite and worked in Dallas.

I was met at the car by a very large white German Shepherd, named Nikki. I usually try to go to the front door when I am visiting someone for the first time, but Nikki led me to the back door and she acted as though she had her reasons, so I didn't argue. It really didn't matter which door I entered. I would have still seen the smoke coming out of the smoker on the patio and smelled the peas simmering on the stove. The house is pretty from any direction, and the vast number of windows opens it up to lots of fresh air, and causes one to be able to smell whatever is cooking. I've been told by my family that my nose is the only thing I have which really works well, and that sometimes they wish it didn't. My daughter has threatened to hunt for a contest for people with the best smellers, and enter me. She says I'll win, hands down. I believe that children should not be disrespectful.

The Scoggins have 3 sons. Dan and his wife, Judy have two sons, Danny and Benjy. David and Ines have two daughters, Matias and Yvie. Don and Cindi have two daughters, Rene' and Lauren. They all still live in the Dallas area and do not visit as often as their parents would like.

Nora and Harry attend Martin Memorial Methodist Church, in Detroit. Nora's hobbies include crafts, sewing, refinishing furniture, and reading. She also has her first garden this year. She had a Cabbage Patch doll named Nora, who lives in Harry's childhood rocking chair. Nora refinished the chair. She says she makes a new dress for the doll every once in a while. Nora also decorated the house. Her favorite color is blue and the house reflects this fact. She even has a blue kitchen sink. She waited a few months after moving in their home to make her curtains. This was so that she could get the feel of the place. I asked her if it took her long to get settled into a new home, and she said that to her home is wherever she had her stuff.

Nora says that her favorite things to cook are vegetables. She likes trying different mixtures. She especially likes cooking with squash. I guess that the enjoyment she gets from working with vegetables is the reason her new home has a pea-shelling room.

The recipes Nora is sharing with us are Squash Patties from her mother, Edna Burrow, who is 85 years old and lives in Ben Franklin, where Nora grew up. Garlic Dressing, given to her by a soft hearted cook at Cowboy's Restaurant in Dallas, and Red Beans and Rice, which she got from a friend, Sue Duplechain. The Corn Meal Pie was one of her grandmother, Lanora Lanham's and the gingerbread belonged to her late sister Billie Cherry. We're going to wait until next week on the gingerbread, so we'll have more room. The Squaw Corn recipe was given to her by her niece, Brenda Kincaid. I can't wait to try them.

Have a good week, and take care.

A heat pump gives you a cool way to save year-round

You can get a rebate when you choose a central heat pump to keep you cool in the summer and provide cozy warmth in the winter. Texas-New Mexico Power Company is offering rebates for new heat pumps with a Seasonal Energy Efficiency Ratio (SEER) of 12.0 or higher. Units equipped with a two-speed or variable speed compressor need a minimum SEER of 11.0 to qualify for a rebate.

Since a central heat pump is efficient at both heating and cooling your home, you'll also enjoy year-round comfort and year-round energy savings.

STUDENTS OF THE MONTH at Rivercrest for May are Amy Hervey and Brandon Williams. Amy is the daughter of Sammy Hervey and Nancy Puckett. She is an officer in Student Council, a D-Fy-It member, varsity cheerleader and a senior. Bran-

Community Council Has A Multitude Of Services

As was previously announced, the Community Council of Red River County, Incorporated will begin serving lunches to children in Clarksville, Bogata, Annona, Detroit, and Avery on June 7, and will continue to serve them until August 20. There are very few restrictions as to who is eligible for the service. First you must be between the ages of 0 and 18. You must be able to get to where the meals are being served, and you must not carry anything edible or drinkable out of the building when you leave. They prefer that the children be able to feed themselves or that someone who will feed them come with them. In cases where babies need a bottle or baby food, they must know in advance. All children should sign up in advance also, so that they will know how many sack lunches to bring. These people will come in, serve the lunches, and clean up when they are through. All they ask is that there be one local adult on the premises. There are no income requirements, no religious requirements, and no race requirements. The funds are for the county to use, and they do not care whether you make a million dollars a year, or 500 dollars a year. This is for working mothers and fathers, parents who would like a free hour to walk on the walking track, or whatever. Just sign the children up. This council has board members from the many areas to be served. They are as follows: James Vaughn, Jr. - President, Gracie Potts, 1st Vice-President, Susan Hughston - Treasurer, Annette Lovett - Secretary, Jarbie

Atkin, Paul Allen, George Beamon, Olen Douglas, Lane Duncan, Larkin Gooch, Travis Hale, Clayton Hall, Gertrude Hankins, Mary Jo Hanson, James P. Harvey, Molec Huddleston, Jimmy Kelly, Lorena Lester, Coy McGregor, Marjorie Nicholas, Claressa Nix, Hazel Rundles, and Lucille Samuels. Linda Ogden is the Executive Director.

The Council employs approximately 53 people, and if plans to restore the old WalMart Store go as hoped, they will be able to employ many more, as well as providing a needed service for Red River County.

Among the programs in which this council participates are these: Congregate Meals, Meals on Wheels, Rural Transportation, Local and Rural Transportation, Medical Transportation, Child Day Care, Energy Assistance, Commodities, Weatherization, Crisis Closet, Christmas Toy Drive, United Way Food and Energy Program, Summer Feeding Program, Health Fair and Blood Pressure Clinic, Senior Citizen Bazaar, Recreation, Telephone Re-Assurance, Information and referral, Nutrition Education, Case Management, Homemaker and Services, Respite Care, Volunteer Programs, Arts and Crafts, Legal Aid Assistance, Community Service Block Grant, Social Security Assistance, Volunteer Tax Preparation for Low Income and Senior Citizens.

We will keep you posted on the new programs as they are implemented. In the mean time, if you have any questions you may call Linda Ogden at 427-3496.

Best Wishes To All Our Graduates!

 GOOD LUCK TO ALL OUR SENIORS

I was just thinking. Have you ever noticed that certain families have their own little sayings and phrases which, if other folks use them, they usually change the wording a bit? This doesn't seem to be just a family thing. It also occurs in different parts of the country and in different age groups. For example, one of my favorite things to say is, "flitter pot". I did not make this up. I've heard it all my life. Mama used to say that someone had the "unadulterated gall" to do something. I've heard of "unmitigated gall," but unadulterated gall just sounds purer to me. Have you ever eaten "the last pea in Murphy's dish?" Do you know anyone who "is not worth the powder and lead it would take to blow his head off?" Have you ever made bread which "squatted to rise and cooked on the squat?" I vaguely remember one which goes something like "nothing ever goes too far over the devil's back that it doesn't come back under his belly." That one is probably just about the same as "what goes around, comes around." One of Donald's favorites is "You don't have the sense God gave a goose." Have you ever been "Sick upstairs in bed with your feet hanging out, or had a Knock down drag out fight? Did you ever see anyone who looked "guttured and rinsed out? Did you know that birds of a feather flock together? Can you imagine how someone who has been "knocked sky west and crooked" would look? Did you ever know anyone who felt "tollable (tolerable) well? Have you ever cooked enough food for a log rolling? Would you like to buy someone for what he's worth and sell him for what he thinks he's worth? I guess one could go on with this as long as they had paper on which to write, but I'll stop with "To die for." I'm hearing this last one from the kids on television and when I am at the schools, I guess new sayings and phrases will keep cropping up as long as there are people to talk. I would have thought that by now we would have run out of words for new songs. We'll go into that subject at a later date.

A Look At Religious Revivals In 1923

In 1923, a religious "revival" at a Bogata church was truly a revival of the faith. The Rev. J.L. Sullivan, then pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South (now the United Methodist Church) reported to the Texas Christian Advocate that a 15-day revival January 30-February 13 had resulted in 111 conversions. Eleven others were "reclaimed". The Rev. W.M. Bowden and party, an evangelist from Ft. Worth, led the services. Revivals in those days normally involved morning and evening services seven days a week, beginning and ending on a Sunday. "Brother Sullivan" reported that during the 1923 revival people were turned away for lack of seats even though three to eight services were offered daily.

All Bogata's business houses closed from 10 to 11 a.m. each day, Sullivan noted. By the third day, more than three hundred people were singing in the choir. The town was divided into four sections, and well-attended prayer meetings were held in each section. Seven "family altars" were built--does any of these survive, the News wonders.

Members of other denominations participated in the meetings. Sullivan reported that all Sunday Schools in town had increased attendance, and several denominations with vacant pulpits began actively looking for pastors.

"The spiritual pulse of all denominations of the town was quickened," Sullivan told the Advocate. "The revival of the membership of our church was one of the old Methodist type," he proudly reported. "Personal work, altar work, testimony and shouting" produced and characterized the revival's success.

In an era when an able-bodied man might earn as little as fifty cents for a day's work in the cotton fields, the collection plates received a total offering of $700, Sullivan reported. The parsonage family received a $100 "pounding", and Sullivan's salary, which had been several months in arrears, was brought up to date with $150 of the money.

Older Bogatans recall that during the Twenties, Bogata supported two Presbyterian Churches, a Baptist Church, a Church of Christ and two active African-American congregations, among others. Sullivan's article reminds us all that "that old time religion" was a central part of community life.

And older Bogatans remember "Brother Sullivan", who with his wife, spent retirement years in Bogata, occupying the house east of town that was later the residence of the Reynard Holts. The Sullivans were the parents of Raviah Howison, who had married a local citizen.

To earn this honor, Elliott Motors, Inc. was required to consistently obtain superior customer satisfaction ratings, as well as meet Chrysler Corporation's highest standards for facilities management, equipment and service personnel training.

Degrees Awarded At ETSU Spring Commencement

The greatest challenge facing today's college graduates is to achieve racial harmony and justice, Dr. Stuart Anderson told spring graduates at East Texas State University.

Speaking to the graduates in three ceremonies on May 15, Anderson urged his audiences not to become complacent.

"Individuals must instigate harmony and justice; we must each find our station and act now to mend and to heal," said Anderson, head of the ETSU department of mathematics.

Those who have obtained an education need to be leaders speaking up and helping others, the ETSU faculty member said.

"Help because you have evaluated your obligation to society. Be heard, not because you are an obnoxious squeaky wheel, but because you are articulate. Lead, not because you are part of an elite, but because you have well-formed opinions about where society should go," Anderson commented.

"If each of you contribute to a solution, there is cause for great hope. If we can solve these embarrassing and ruinous racial problems, other difficulties will dissipate," he said.

Of the 550 degrees conferred, 395 were bachelor's degrees, 135 were master's, and 20 were doctoral degrees.

To graduate with Academic Distinction, students must earn a grade point average of 3.75 or higher on at least 54 semester hours at ETSU.

The graduates from this area are:

Blossom: Cobi Delaine Minton-Bridges, BSIS.

Bogata: Kristi Joy Cawley, MED.

Cunningham: Mendy Michelle Norwood Cole, BS.

Deport: Reisa Swaim Norrell, BBA.

Detroit: Stacy McCoil, BBA; Dorris Ann Prunty, BSIS (Academic Distinction).

Pattonville: Tami Lynette McDowda, BSIS.

Texas-New Mexico Offers Bank Drafting To Customers

Texas-New Mexico Power Company is now offering an automated bank drafting service to qualifying customers who would like their checking accounts drafted each month for the amount of their electric bill. To qualify for the service, customers need to have good credit, no more than one insufficient fund check during the past 12 months, and to use a financial institution within the continental United States that accepts the automated payment method. Automated bank drafting can be used to pay electric bills for residential and commercial customers. Customers using the program will receive a statement each month showing the amount that will be withdrawn from their account. "This program is being offered to make it easier for customers to pay their electric bills," said Petty, Manager of TNLP's Bogata district.

"There is no extra cost to the customer, and they won't have to worry about mailing the bill or making a special trip to pay the bill in person." Customers must authorize TNP to start the drafts. Forms are available in TNP offices and will request information such as the customer's bank name, address and account number. Customers will also need to provide a voided check to verify bank information. Once the application is complete, TNP will require at least 30 days to verify bank information. The customer will continue to receive a regular electric bill during this period and will need to pay the bill as usual. The customer will be notified when the drafting process is ready to begin. More information about the program is available through TNP's local office.

Savings Bonds Rate Set

The semiannual market-based rate for United States Savings Bonds, in effect from May through October 1993, has been set at 4.78 percent, the Treasury Department announced today. The rate is 85 percent of the average market yield during the preceding six months on Treasury marketable securities with five years remaining to maturity. The new rate, down from the 5.04 percent semiannual rate of the November 1992 through April 1993 period, reflects the general decline in market interest rates over the past year. When bonds are held for five years or more, yields at redemption are the average of semiannual interest rates declared during the time held, or the guaranteed minimum rate, whichever is higher. For Savings Bonds issued on or after March 1, 1993, the guaranteed yield is 4 percent. Interest is compounded semi-annually from the date of issue and for EE Bonds issued since March 1, accrues monthly. The Savings Bond semiannual rate changes each May 1 and November 1. Federal income tax liability on bond interest earnings can be deferred until a bond is redeemed or reaches final maturity. Bonds are exempt from State and local income taxes. Current rate information can be obtained by calling 1-800-4US-BOND.

Wood Armstrong Given "Royal Treatment" By Man Who Remembers First Job

By Thomas Nichols

Would you like to be given a suite in a plush hotel with all your meals furnished, and whatever you wanted to eat provided, anytime, day or night?

Throw in a plane ticket round trip from Dallas to O'Hara Airport in Chicago with that limo on hand to meet you and your personal attendant on hand to cater to your ever whim and you have the stuff that dreams are made of.

For Wood Armstrong of Bogata this dream has come true not once but twice.

Wood is a familiar figure in Bogata, a friendly, active eighty-eight year old who knows hard work and leads a simple life, attending church regularly and helping others when he can.

His journey towards luxury dream trips began sixty-six years ago. Wood was a young, hard-working man who attended church at Morris Chapel Baptist Church, south of Rugby. There he served as church Superintendent. His duties included hiring a preacher for the small congregation.

When a young man just returned from the service asked for the job Wood gave him his chance.

The young man needed a job as a pastor in church somewhere to become ordained.

His first job may have been humble, but he is very well known today, since he is the pastor of the largest Baptist Church in the U.S. His name is Jack Hyles, and he is pastor of the First Baptist Church of Hammond Indiana.

Pastor Hyles has travelled all over the world, preaching to the masses and has authored books, been on radio and his services are now broadcast from his church in Indiana throughout the nation on television.

Hyles' book, published in 1964 is titled "Let's Hear Jack Hyles". In it he quotes a scene from his memories at Morris Chapel Baptist Church, where he said "Wood Armstrong would always say 'well, brother pastor, if you ain't got nowhere else to go you can come eat blackeyed peas at our house.' Hyles' reply was always 'I would I would'."

Through the years the once struggling young minister who has done very well never forgot the man who gave him his first job as a pastor.

In March of this year Pastor Hyles sent for Wood Armstrong to fly to Hammond for two days and nights of the "royal treatment".

This trip was the second trip of it's kind, the first one coming three years ago.

Wood stood with Pastor Hyles in front of 7,500 people and recalled their first meeting and sang gospel hymns. The service Wood attended was taped for television and will be aired later this year.

Wood was given a love offering from the church, as well as the royal treatment of limosinetransportation, hotel, and that custom tailored suit!

Then, it was time to board the plane homeward back to the quieter life in Bogata.
