

Twenty-four to pin on wings today

Twenty-four of the Air Force's newest pilots get their wings today as Reese Undergraduate Pilot Training Class 92-01 graduates in the Simler Theater.

The ceremony is scheduled for 10 a.m. Related events in the Officers' Open Mess include a buffet from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.; a parent's social at 6:15 p.m.; and a dinner-dance at 7 p.m.

The guest speaker for the graduation ceremony will be Brig. Gen. James Higham, 542nd Crew Training Wing commander, Kirtland AFB, N.M. General Higham served as commander, 64th Air Base Group, from July, 1987 to January, 1989.

During the ceremony, several students and permanent party members will receive awards for their performance during the year of pilot training. Student awards include the commander's trophy (top graduate), "topstick" (best in flying training), academics, distinguished graduate, leadership and outstanding second lieutenant.

Other awards will be given to the outstanding academic and flightline instructor pilots, maintainers and mission maker.

For details on the graduates, see Page 8.

SORTIE TRACKING

From my perspective

by Col. Bill Henny
64th FTW commander

In reflecting upon the U.S. Constitution, President Woodrow Wilson expressed, "Not a mere lawyer's document; it is a vehicle of life, and its spirit is always the spirit of the age."

In a concerted effort to recognize this vital document, the Department of Defense has developed a thoughtful and educational awareness program that commemorates the Bicentennial of the Constitution (and the Bill of Rights).

All of us who proudly wear the Air Force uniform are stewards of the public trust and the Constitution. Folks like yourselves have taken an oath to defend what most Americans take for granted. Upon entering the Air Force, you took an oath to defend the Constitution of the United States. In short, defending the Constitution is defending America. This document is the foundation of our country and is the means by which we sustain justice and protect liberty.

Recent surveys reveal, however, that many Americans have little or no knowledge of the Constitution. Nor do they fully understand their rights guaranteed under it. It goes without saying that with these rights comes responsibility.

As responsible citizens, we should be well informed regarding our rights and know why they are protected. By participating in civic affairs and being aware of national and local issues that affect our lives, we become more attuned to the principles for which our country stands. Freedom of expression, trial by jury and the right to vote are just a few of the privileges we enjoy under the Constitution.

As we commemorate the Bicentennial of the Constitution, there is no better way for us to reaffirm our obligations to America than by learning more about the Constitution and the Bill of Rights. After all, these are "the words we live by."

A pocket booklet on the U.S. Constitution can be obtained through your orderly room.

Way to go!

I am sure by now that most of you have had the opportunity to see the coverage of the most recent Top Flight competition in last week's Roundup. The commitment to excellence, once again, shines through... and not just on the part of the aviators and maintainers who competed. Our folks who went to Vance AFB for Top Flight represented this wing — THE REESE TEAM.

Each and every one of you played an important role in our success. Your professionalism, dedication and enthusiasm will ensure that the 64th remains a winner. I continue to be ever grateful and proud to serve as your commander.

No butts about it

by Maj. Rodney Hemmitt
Reese anti-smoking project officer

The main cause of death and sickness in our country isn't pesticide residues or low-level radiation from nuclear plants. It isn't fluoride in toothpaste or dioxin in paper towels, either.

The "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" are cigarette smoking, alcohol and drug abuse, sexually permissive behavior, and the failure to use life saving technology.

Cigarette smoking's toll is now half a million premature deaths out of the two million annual fatalities in this country.

By the time you have finished reading the morning newspaper, 55 Americans will have died from this insidious killer — and not just from lung cancer, but heart disease, emphysema and a host of other illnesses.

In the most recent report, the surgeon general says cigarette smoking is still the single most preventable cause of death in our society.

Every holiday weekend in the United States the news is filled with reminders about driving safely, and there is always a grim statistical accounting of the number of deaths on the nation's highways.

Where is the Grim Reaper's scoreboard for a killer that is 10 times greater than the carnage from auto accidents?

You don't have to be one of those yearly half million premature deaths.

The solution can be as simple as putting out a cigarette.

SMOKING IS

DANGEROUS

From YOUR perspective

As wing commander, I need to hear things "from YOUR perspective." Your inputs and suggestions can help Reese remain the pacesetter in the command. If you see something good, call me. If you have a problem that you feel needs my attention, call me. First, however, consider using your chain of command.

You may remain anonymous if you wish, but those who leave their name and number can get a direct response to their call. Calls can be made to the Careline 24 hours a day at 3273.

Twilight golf fees

Why doesn't the golf course offer twilight golf fees as do many other golf courses?

The Reese golf course does offer twilight golf fees Tuesday through Friday to accommodate players after duty hours who probably won't get a full round in before dark. Monday the course is closed and on weekends twilight play is not provided because players can start in time for a complete round. The twilight fee is 50 percent of the daily cost and is posted on the club house marquee.

Dental clinic problems?

My husband is a retired tech sergeant. On Sept. 3, I called for a dental appointment to have my children's teeth cleaned. I was told to call back the following Monday, which I did. At that time I was told the only available appointment would be for Sept. 26 at 10:15 a.m.

My children are in school, and they can only miss class between 1:15 and 1:45 p.m. If we can't get better service than that, what's the use of serving 20 years in the Air Force?

We apologize for the inconvenience that obtaining a dental appointment caused you. To alleviate future problems, we're designating more time for non-active-duty dental exams. This will include afternoons between 1:15 and 1:45 p.m.

Reminder cards will be handed out to non-active-duty members with recommendations on the best time to call for appointments. Starting in November, we'll try a new system whereby cleaning will be done at the same time exams are.

If you have any further questions, call Lt. Col. (Dr.) Edward Wright, 3128.

CHAMPUS feedback

Carolyn Johnson

As Reese's health benefits advisor, Carolyn Johnson hears a great number of questions about CHAMPUS and other health benefits. Some of the more common questions are:

Q: My wife, who is enrolled in the Delta Dental Plan, recently had to have a crown. After reading the Delta handbook, I thought Delta would pay 80 percent of the allowable charge for the crown. Delta only paid $50, and the crown cost me $350. Did I get ripped off or not?

A: No, you did not get ripped off, but I can see why you felt Delta would pay 80 percent. What the handbook says is "Delta will pay 80 percent of the allowable charge for an amalgam or resin restoration toward the cost of the crown." In layman's terms, this means Delta will pay 80 percent of what a filling would normally have cost, had the patient had a filling rather than a crown. Therefore, Delta actually pays 80 percent of a filling cost rather than 80 percent of a crown cost.

Q: My son is now six months old and CHAMPUS is refusing to pay claims because he is not enrolled in DEERS. CHAMPUS paid for the bills when my son was born. Why won't they pay now?

A: Children must be enrolled in DEERS as soon as the parents receive a birth certificate. CHAMPUS will usually pay claims for new born care, but will reject all other claims until the child is enrolled in DEERS. The active duty sponsor should take the birth certificate to the personnel office, Bldg. 920, to enroll the child. For more information about enrolling children in DEERS, call 3276.

CHAMPUS expands requirements for nonavailability statements

As of Oct. 1, 1991, some CHAMPUS-eligible persons will need "nonavailability statements" from nearby military medical facilities before CHAMPUS will share the cost of certain kinds of outpatient treatment that they receive from civilian health care providers, according to Carolyn Johnson, Reese Health Benefits Advisor.

In the past, nonavailability statements (NASs) were needed only for nonemergency inpatient care from civilian sources for people who lived within the ZIP Code service area of the nearest military hospital.

The NASs are certifications from uniformed services hospitals that they can't provide a particular type of care. As of Oct. 1, the NAS must be entered electronically in the Defense Department's DEERS computer data files by the service hospital or the CHAMPUS claim will be denied. Beneficiaries will no longer be required to attach a copy of the NAS to the claim form.

A patient doesn't need an NAS to visit a physician to have the need for such a procedure diagnosed — the NAS is only needed when the procedure is actually performed.

People whose home address ZIP Code falls outside the local military hospital's service area don't need NASs before they seek civilian health care under CHAMPUS. An NAS is not required for people who live within a service hospital's ZIP Code service area, but who require emergency care (that meets CHAMPUS guidelines as an emergency) from a civilian hospital, or who have primary health insurance or a program that provides coverage for the needed treatment and that pays before CHAMPUS.

For more information about NASs, including how to get one and how to appeal the denial of one, contact Carolyn Johnson, Health Benefits Advisor, at 3581.

CONEX

Field work strengthens members' readiness

by SSgt. Mike Breslin
managing editor

The stillness of the afternoon was unbroken, except for the occasional jet overhead. Bugs flittered about, taking little notice of the quiet activity in the field around them. The mood in the camp seemed tranquil amidst the day's heat.

"Attention in the camp — alarm red!"

The still of the afternoon is shattered by a flurry of action. Gas masks and other chemical defense items are hectically donned. Sights of people using the buddy system are common, as camp members seek cover under nearby structures, furniture — whatever's close as the alarm hits.

That was the scene more than once last week as 120-plus wing members deployed to Reese West for a contingency/field training exercise.

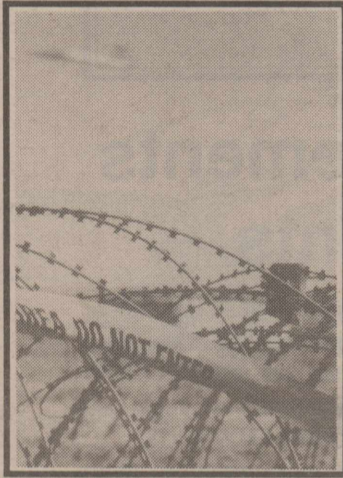

As the members headed out Oct. 8, wing officials said that education was a key aim of the exercise, commonly called a "CONEX." Apparently, the wing didn't fall short of that aim.

"The CONEX was an excellent training session," said Maj. Gary Tucker, chief of the Base Exercise Evaluation Team. "Everyone worked hard, and it turned out to be a really good learning experience."

Units from throughout Reese participated. Services, security police, medical, air traffic control, logistics, civil engineers, personnel, comptroller, chaplain and disaster preparedness all took part.

The camp itself had all the aspects of the "real" field: Rows of tents — one or two ringed in barbed wire — lined the compound. Everyone entering the area had to go through a security checkpoint and identify themselves as well as their business. Even at slow points in the day, people moving back and forth in the camp could be seen carrying or wearing combat gear.

During this CONEX, the field scenarios weren't just at Reese West. Air traffic controllers went each day to the base tower and handled real sorties. Though the sorties were not exercise-related, the controllers did their jobs wearing full chemical gear. Communications squadron officials said this was the first time controllers in ATC had done this.

Of course, the exercise presented challenges for all. Deployed members dealt with long hours, heat, living in field conditions and more while carrying out their exercise duties.

Different units did their part to make it easier. Limited MWR and exchange services were available, and chapel services were held each day for those who wanted to worship. Also, "Prime RIBS" members provided deployees with two hot meals per day, while meals-ready-to-eat, or "MREs," were the standard lunch fare.

Different contingency simulations that campers faced included ground and air attacks, hostage scenarios, personnel problems and dealing with "foreign nationals" who lived around the camp. (Also, there were some real world medical problems during the exercise, though none were serious.)

A comment sometimes heard during such contingency exercises is that the scenarios are farfetched. However, one participant at this CONEX who was a Desert Storm veteran said he had seen examples of everything the exercise had to offer while deployed to the Mideast.

10 wing members receive Article 15

Ten wing members received Article 15 punishments over the last quarter for a variety of offenses under the Uniform Code of Military Justice. This brought the number of Reese military members punished under Article 15 for fiscal year 1991 to 30.

According to Reese staff judge advocate Maj. Edmund S. Bloom, commanders imposed punishments based on factors such as the seriousness of the offense and the prior service and disciplinary record of each offender. The offenses and punishments were:

□ A second lieutenant was reprimanded and ordered to forfeit $150 pay per month for two months for falsely altering his TDY travel orders, a violation of Article 123, UCMJ.

□ A second lieutenant was reprimanded and ordered to forfeit $700 per month for two months for exposing himself at a Lubbock fast food restaurant, violations of Articles 133 and 134, UCMJ.

□ A second lieutenant was reprimanded for conduct unbecoming an officer for his role in furnishing false information to the security police, a violation of Article 133, UCMJ.

□ A second lieutenant was reprimanded and ordered to forfeit $700 pay per month for two months for conspiring to make a false official statement and for making two false official statements, violations of Articles 81 and 107, UCMJ.

□ A technical sergeant received a suspended reduction to staff sergeant and was ordered to forfeit $250 pay per month for two months for dereliction of duty, a violation of Article 92, UCMJ.

□ A staff sergeant was reduced to senior airman and ordered to perform seven days extra duty for der-eliction of duty and peeping into the window of another military member's quarters, violations of Articles 92 and 134, UCMJ.

□ A staff sergeant received a suspended reduction to senior airman and was ordered to forfeit $100 pay per month for two months for providing alcoholic beverages to a minor, a violation of Article 134, UCMJ.

□ A sergeant was reduced to airman first class, restricted to Reese for 14 days, and ordered to perform seven days extra duty for adultery and failing to obey lawful orders, violations of Articles 134 and 92, UCMJ.

□ A sergeant was reduced to airman first class for failure to go, dereliction of duties, and making a false official statement, violations of Articles 86, 92 and 107, UCMJ.

□ An airman first class received a suspended reduction to airman and was ordered to forfeit $150 pay per month for two months for making a false official statement and wrongfully using an altered military identification card, violations of Articles 107 and 134, UCMJ. (Information compiled from the Reese Legal Office)

Civilian indicted for theft

A federal grand jury at Lubbock returned a theft indictment Sept. 18 against Mark A. Braxter in connection with the theft of goods from the Reese Main Exchange March 9, 1991. The value of the goods was approximately $530. According to Reese staff judge advocate Maj. Edmund S. Bloom, Mr. Braxter was working at the exchange as a contract painter when the theft occurred. Major Bloom added that the U.S. Attorney's office, with assistance from the Base Legal Office, will prosecute Mr. Braxter.

Lockheed members repairing statics

When visitors enter the main gate, they notice the static display aircraft right off.

People imagine the planes soaring overhead, each with their own vision of airpower history.

Over the past few weeks, Lockheed corrosion control and sheetmetal branch members have been refurbishing the B-25 Mitchell. Overall, 422 man hours were spent on the project.

When taking on a project like this, there is more involved than just buying paint and brushing it on. Lockheed's T.O. Hilly said, "This project has taken quite a bit of time just to research the original paint scheme and colors."

The B-25 on display here was the last flown at Reese. After being retired and prepared, it was mounted as a static display aircraft in January 1959. The plane will be dedicated in a ceremony Nov. 6 to retired Lt. Col. Edgar E. McElroy, who piloted the 13th aircraft in the famed Doolittle Raid on Tokyo during World War II.

The B-25 project began with Harold Wilson and Jerry Timmerman of the sheetmetal shop replacing several panels on the wings and fuselage that had deteriorated over the years. "The plane was in pretty good shape for as long as it has been there," said Mr. Wilson. "It was tough getting to some spots because of its size, but I enjoyed working on it."

After the body of the plane was repaired, it was refurbished to its original design by Sal Anguiano, Robert Hotaling, Mike McKaskle and Joe Morin from the corrosion control branch.

The Lockheed crew found restoring the B-25 quite different from working on Reese's T-37 and T-38 trainers.

"It's kind of neat to work on something as historical as a B-25," said Mr. Morin.

Refurbishing of other static display aircraft is also in the works as the wing prepares to add the first T-37 retired here to Reese's impressive collection of vintage training aircraft.

Mission maker

How does one have time when you're a surgical licensed vocational nurse, a reserve Army master sergeant, wife and mother?

"You just have to take things into stride and not let them get to you," said Bobbie Powlett, 64th Medical Squadron. "I've been doing it for a long time, and I've managed."

Mrs. Powlett has been a surgical L.V.N. at Reese for 22 years and an Army reserve for 19 years. Mrs. Powlett checks in patients, sets up for minor surgery as well as run different kinds of tests on patients when needed.

"I enjoy working with the staff and helping patients at Reese," she said. "I really like nursing in general because we take care of people."

Mrs. Powlett served two years active duty in the Army during the Vietnam War. It took 10 years after her discharge before deciding to join the reserves, where she is now an instructor for enlisted first sergeant and senior noncommissioned officer courses.

"It took me 10 years to join the reserves because I had a daughter and I wanted to spend time with her"

(Amn. José Alejandro)

she said. "After seeing everyone working at Reese I decided to join since it didn't affect my full-time job."

Mrs. Powlett, originally from El Paso, Texas now calls Lubbock her home. She has been here over 20 years.

Mrs. Powlett and her husband, MSgt. Phillip Powlett, still have one son at home, Matthew, 12. Sergeant Powlett is stationed at Hill AFB, Utah.

Mrs. Powlett enjoys jogging, softball and cooking.

Tips focus on child safety

October is National Crime Prevention Month. The 64th Security Police Squadron offers the following tips for your child's safety:

□ Never leave young children alone or unattended.

□ Instruct children to keep doors and windows locked, and to never admit strangers.

□ Teach children how to contact the police or a neighbor in an emergency situation.

□ If it is necessary to leave children at home, keep the house well lighted and notify the neighbors.

□ Know where your children are at all times — morning, noon and night.

□ Advise them to never leave home without advising their parents where they will be and who will accompany them.

□ Advise them to travel in pairs or groups.

□ Advise them to walk along busy streets and avoid isolated areas.

□ Advise them to use locally approved play areas where recreational activities are supervised by responsible adults and where police protection is readily available.

□ Advise them to refuse automobile rides from strangers and refuse to accompany strangers anywhere on foot...even if the strangers say mom or dad sent them or said it was o.k.

□ Report immediately to the nearest person of authority (teacher, police, parent, etc.) anyone who attempts to molest or annoy them.

For more information, call SSgt. Kathrine Myers, 3946.

'Red Ribbon Week' kicks off

As part of the national effort in the war against drugs, the Reese community is taking part in the "Red Ribbon Campaign," Oct. 19-27.

"The campaign focus is on stopping drug abuse before it starts, and showing our support for a drug-free America," said MSgt. Frank Lechuga, superintendent of the substance abuse center.

"Being 'drug-free' means being free from accidents, addiction, legal troubles and embarrassment. Teenagers are especially at tremendous risk in becoming addicted before they even know it," he said.

Recent findings about the dangers of alcohol and other drugs have highlighted the influence their friends can have on their decisions to stay drug-free.

"Drug-free students can serve as role models for younger, more impressionable students," said Sergeant Lechuga. "Students also learn that to be drug-free is to be a winner. Staying drug-free will pay off. It will mean a future of good grades, a good job, and admission to college or a training program in a field of their choice."

Red ribbons, pamphlets and National Drug/Alcohol Abuse Hotline cards are available for all personnel through their orderly rooms. The red ribbon can be displayed in the workplace, in automobiles, or even in the home.

For more information call Sergeant Lechuga, 3900, or Capt. Kathleen Post at 3901.

Let Us Entertain You!

Civic Lubbock, Inc. invites you to help us celebrate 35 years of bringing entertainment events and cultural activities to Lubbock and West Texas. Our birthday party is a gift to the citizens of our area...a gift of entertainment for those who attend concerts, activities and events, for the organizations that we are proud to support and for the individuals who have volunteered time and energy to serve as Civic Lubbock board members during the past 35 years. Please join us Friday, November 1st and Saturday, November 2nd for a weekend of activities designed to entertain you.

Friday, November 1, 1991

WALK OF FAME INDUCTION

6:15 - 6:45 p.m. Buddy Holly Statue, 8th Street and Avenue Q

No Charge for Attending

Civic Lubbock established the Walk of Fame to honor outstanding musical artists from the Lubbock and West Texas area in 1980. Since its origination, Civic Lubbock has inducted 19 outstanding artists, mounted a permanent name plaque on the base of the Buddy Holly statue for each inductee and has recognized them as an integral part of our music heritage.

THIS YEAR'S INDUCTEE IS SNUFF GARRETT

Snuff became a household name in Lubbock in the '50's while working as a local disc jockey. He moved to California in 1961 where he became one of the nation's foremost record producers. Snuff has produced the music for many movies and presently produces the music for Burt Reynolds' television series Evening Shade.

BUDDY...THE BUDDY HOLLY STORY

8:00 p.m. Lubbock Municipal Auditorium

Call Select-A-Seat for ticket information: 770-2000

A musical starring Joe Warren Davis as Buddy recreates the life of Buddy Holly from his days singing country music in Lubbock to his death on February 2, 1959. Buddy comes to the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium direct from a six-month Tony-nominated Broadway engagement. This show is a continuing long-run in London's West End where it was nominated for an Olivier Award and in Sydney, Australia.

The critics say:

"The show is an unashamed, rabble-rousing fiesta. It's got everything."

London Sunday Times

"Buddy has them dancin' in the aisles...the audience is elevated to joyful chaos."

New York Post

"It explodes into full throbbles of joy...utterly mesmerizing."

Yard of the month program to change

In the past, choosing the yard of the month was really like choosing the winner for a beauty contest. Next year the criteria will change.

Each occupant who had cared and attended to their area stood a good chance of being selected as the yard of the month sometime during the inspection season, April - October.

Winners usually took the prize with brightly-colored floral arrangements. While such displays are pretty, they need a lot of time and care as well as a green thumb and water.

Next season, the criteria will change, enabling an attractive, neat and well-maintained yard to win the award for yard of the month, and ultimately a shot at the yard of the year competition.

In our hot and usually dry climate where water resources can be limited, judges will give special consideration to "smart" landscaping, such as indigenous shrubbery and other vegetation that allows for water conservation.

The shift in priorities will allow everyone to compete in the yard of the month program, not just those willing and able to spend considerable time and money to beautify their yards.

With the trend changing direction away from artificial ornaments and shifting toward integrated, natural landscaping themes, housing officials hope to focus on landscapes that are well-thought out, pleasing to the eye and easy to maintain.

This will also eliminate the heavy re-landscaping responsibility for new housing residents who may not want special yard features that require a great deal of maintenance.

Housing officials also planning a number of additional competitions, such as seasonal contests at Christmas and other holidays which can challenge residents to beautify their areas on special occasions.

For more information, call the housing office, 3912.

Chapel announces October programs

The Rite of Acceptance will be held at 5 p.m. at the Oct. 19 Mass. This is the liturgical rite that actually begins the Catechumenate Program.

At this time, the candidates formally express their intention to study and prepare themselves, with the training and support of the catechists, to join our worshipping community.

The candidates will then either be baptized or be confirmed as members of the Catholic faith community at the Easter Vigil Mass.

After the Mass, a potluck supper will be held. Everyone is invited to attend.

Protestant Chapel Parish

Young adults in grades 7-12 are invited to become a part of an exciting program in Reese Protestant Chapel Parish.

In addition to Sunday School classes held from 9:45-10:45 a.m., you are invited to join a drama team that will perform skits as an outreach ministry for the chapel.

In addition to a drama team, a puppet ministry is being planned.

The first meeting, including practice and a pizza party, will take place Oct. 19 from 1-4 p.m.

For more information, call Chaplain (Maj.) Greg Timmons at 3237.

Women of the Chapel

The Women of the Chapel will meet Oct. 22 at 7 p.m. in Room 9 of the Chapel.

WOC is an organization open to all women of the Christian faith who are part of the Reese community.

The purpose of the WOC is to provide opportunities for women of all Christian beliefs to grow and develop spiritually in all aspects of living and relating to God, family, others and self. This meeting will focus on Women's Protective Services and how we can reach out to the clients they serve.

IM football playoffs begin next week

The intramural football league is scheduled to end the regular season Wednesday evening and begin playoffs Thursday.

The 54th Flying Training Squadron "A" team remained undefeated at 11-0 in the American League as of Wednesday morning.

The 52nd FTS, with a two-game winning streak, is in second place at 6-4.

The 64th Communications Squadron moved into a third place tie with the 35th FTS. Both teams are 6-5.

Rounding out the rest of the American League are: 33rd FTS, 3-7; 54th "B" 3-6; and the 64th Security Police Squadron, 2-9.

The 64th Logistics Squadron remained on top of the league with a 9-1 record. Right on their trail is the 64th Operations Support Squadron with a 9-2 record. Rounding out the rest of the National League are: 64th Civil Engineering Squadron, 5-6; 64th Mission Support Squadron, 2-8; and 64th Medical Squadron, 1-10.

Results from Tuesday games were:

—64th Operations Support Squadron, 14—Civil Engineering Squadron, 0. The OSS defense shut down the CES offense as OSS cruised to victory.

—35th Flying Training Squadron, 34—64th Security Police Squadron, 6. The 35th ran away with the game in the first half as their defense held the SPS to six points.

—64th Communications Squadron, 19—52nd FTS, 8. The CS team came from behind in the second half to earn the victory.

—35th FTS, 27—64th Mission Support Squadron, 6. The 35th won their second game of the night by stopping the MSS offensive.

—52nd FTS, 33—SPS, 0. The 52nd FTS rebounded from an earlier loss to blank the SPS.

World champ visits Reese

Three-time world champion drag racer Pat Austin (far right) talks with spectators outside the Reese Youth Center Tuesday. Mr. Austin, a highschool classmate of Capt. Bob Rowe, 54th Flying Training Squadron, offered to give Reese people a close-up look at his record-setting racing teams while visiting Captain Rowe. Mr. Austin made the stop while enroute from a drag meet at Dallas to his home in Seattle, Wash.
