Vol. 43, No. 46

Nov. 22, 1991

Reese AFB, Texas 79489

(Mike Parrish)

Winners all

Four Reese members look upon the audience after being named the top first sergeant, senior noncommissioned officer, NCO and airman of the year during the 15th Annual Enlisted Awards Banquet, Nov. 16. They are MSgt. Donald Leaton, SMSgt. Darrel Johnson, SSgt. Randal Naylor and A1C TreCIA Clouden. For more on the winners, see Page 7.

AF logs best safety record

Bolstered by Reese's major-accident free record, Fiscal 1991 was the safest year yet for the Air Force.

According to senior wing and Air Force officials, the numbers speak for themselves.

"The bottom line of that record is that we have a group of highly intelligent, highly motivated, well-trained people in the United States Air Force who are really paying attention to doing the right things the right way at the right time," said Brig. Gen. James L. Cole Jr., the Air Force's top safety official.

"As we face the final decade of the 20th century, and its challenges of budget, people and equipment shortages for our armed forces, it is imperative we elevate safety to the same level of primacy and emphasis as proficiency, professionalism and pride. If we do not, we simply cannot afford the losses," said the general.

Col. Bill Henny, 64th Flying Training Wing commander, echoed the general's comments. "We have enjoyed tremendous success from our safety efforts, both in the flying and ground safety programs. We have had that success because our commanders and supervisors have gotten their people involved and provided excellent training."

The Air Force maintains flight records all the way back to 1921 and fiscal 1991 set records in almost every category of mishaps, Air Force officials said.

Flight safety statistics recorded the lowest number ever of serious mishaps per 100,000 flying hours with a 1.11 rate, compared to 1.49 in fiscal 1990. The 10-year average was 1.64. Reese flew 80,500 hours (2.2 percent of the Air Force total) without a single Class-A mishap.

Col. Bob Negley, 64th Operations Group commander, said that Reese's accident-free year was especially impressive when you consider that our mission is pilot training. "We have a lot of young instructors doing a magnificent job," said Colonel Negley. "We flew more than 60,450 sorties and totaled more than 380,000 aircraft movements. That makes Reese one of the 25 busiest airports in the nation."

The colonel stressed that it takes a real team effort to put up those kinds of numbers without a major accident. "Everyone in the flying program — the students, IPs, controllers and maintainers have really performed well," he said.

24 to pin on wings today

Twenty-four of the Air Force's newest pilots will get their wings today when Reese Undergraduate Pilot Training Class 92-02 graduates in a ceremony in the Simler Theater.

The ceremony is set for 10 a.m. Related events in the Reese Officers' Open Mess include a buffet from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.; parents' social at 6:15 p.m.; and dinner-dance at 7 p.m.

The guest speaker for the graduation ceremony is retired Lt. Col. Howard Pierson.

During the ceremony, several students and permanent party members will be cited for their work during the year of UPT.

Student awards include the commander's trophy (top graduate), "top stick" (best in flying training), academics, distinguished graduate, leadership and outstanding second lieutenant.

Other awards will go to the outstanding academic and flightline instructor pilots, maintainers and mission maker.

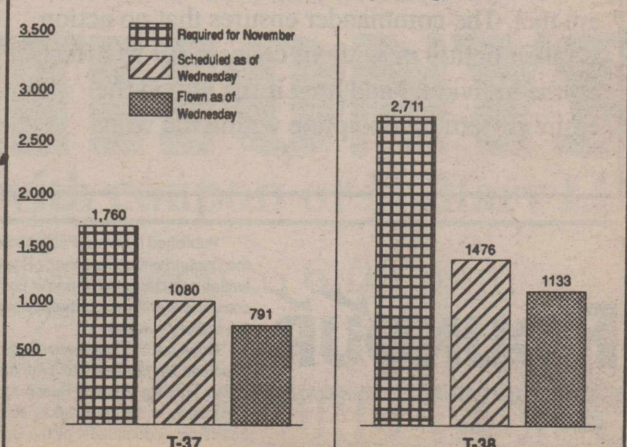

(For details on the graduates, see Page 8.)

SORTIE TRACKING

From my perspective

by Maj. Edmund Bloom
Staff judge advocate

As a result of the latest article on disciplinary actions in the Roundup, there have been several inquiries on the differences between officer and enlisted punishments.

It is important that everyone know and understand the basics of the system under which we operate. Different rules apply depending on the rank and position of both the commander and the accused.

For instance, officers do not lose any rank upon receipt of nonjudicial punishment. This is because an officer's rank is given him by virtue of an act of Congress and no punitive action of the Air Force, including a court-martial, may reduce the rank of a commissioned officer.

On the other hand, virtually every Article 15 involving an enlisted man involves either an outright or suspended reduction in rank. However, the system is not unbalanced.

In the last quarter, one-half of the reductions of enlisted rank were suspended, meaning that the individuals were placed, in effect, on probation for a period of six months. And while it does not appear in the original article, of those who received an outright reduction in grade, all were given to individuals for second offenses.

Additionally, the average salary forfeiture for the officers was $1,333.33 per person, whereas the average forfeiture for the enlisted was $166.66 per person.

Article 15 authority allows a commander authority to be flexible in maintaining order and discipline as well as making attempts to rehabilitate. A primary concern is the impact that action will have in terms of general deterrence, rehabilitation, and hardship on the individual.

The impact of an Article 15 on the career of an officer is far greater than the effect on an enlisted member. In many cases, an Article 15 on an officer is something they can never overcome, whereas enlisted personnel, through acceptable performance, can put the event behind them.

Both officers and enlisted members face the prospect of having Articles 15 filed in an Unfavorable Information File. Officers and senior NCOs may also have Articles 15 filed in their command selection record. The entire system allows the commander the authority to tailor the punishment to the situation (age and rank of the individual, financial and family situation, performance history, offenses involved, and so forth).

The most important aspect of the administration of military justice is that the commander is charged with ensuring that the needs of justice are met. The commander ensures that no action is taken lightly or without concern for its effects on the individual and how it fits within the entire pattern of discipline within the wing.

As Reese's health benefits advisor, Carolyn Johnson hears a great number of questions about CHAMPUS and other health benefits. Some of the more common questions are:

Q: I am going to have a breast biopsy done by a civilian doctor at one of the local hospitals. Is a Non-Availability Statement required for this procedure?

A: Since Oct. 1, a NAS is required on any outpatient surgical procedure. Please feel free to stop by my office for a complete list of procedures which require a Non-Availability Statement.

Q: I have health insurance through my employer. Every time I receive care, I am always asked, "What is your primary and what is your secondary insurance?" I have no idea what they are talking about. Is there an easy rule to follow?

A: The easiest way to answer this question is to always remember that CHAMPUS is not an insurance, it is a benefit. Therefore, if you have other health insurance through an employer, it will always be primary. CHAMPUS will only be a primary insurance if you carry a supplemental insurance. Supplemental insurance is offered by several military organizations, like AFSA, TREA, TROA, AMA, and so on. These organizations pay cost shares and deductibles after CHAMPUS pays.

Planning can prevent holiday party mishaps

by Capt. Kathleen Post
Chief, social actions

As the leaves fall from the trees, and the weather becomes a little chillier, you know the holiday season is right around the corner.

After Thanksgiving, festive Christmas parties will be planned, whether they be squadron functions or home parties.

If you're one of those planners and you plan to serve alcohol, be sure you don't forget an important ingredient to having a successful party — the designated driver.

As the host or hostess, you will be responsible for ensuring your guests get back home safely.

Remember, alcohol is a depressant, not a stimulant. It is not digested, but absorbed directly into the bloodstream. The blood alcohol concentration impairs judgment and physical coordination. People who have had too much to drink are not fit to drive, no matter how much they may insist that they are OK.

As the host/hostess, what can you do to ensure your guests arrive home safely? Serve food along with alcohol, serve non-alcoholic drinks, mingle with your guests to see who may need a ride home later and have people at your party who will serve as designated drivers.

You may want to have a key peg board, where guests deposit their keys until they are ready to leave. This allows you to see your guests before they leave and, if needed, you can offer them a ride home.

Being a good host/hostess involves more than just menu and entertainment planning. With a little forethought, you can truly have a festive occasion, by including designated drivers in your holiday party planning.

Tips help smokers go 'cold turkey'

Want to quit?

For wing smokers interested in breaking the habit, daily "stay quit" tips have been provided by the American Cancer Society to assist members reach their goal over a 31-day period. These tips will be broken into groups and run weekly in the Roundup, the first being:

Thursday, day one:

The Great American Smokeout... People wanting to quit smoking should discard all cigarettes first by breaking them in half, then by wetting them down. Next, they should clean out all ashtrays in their home, car and office and put them away. Matches should be discarded and lighters should be hidden.

Friday, day two:

Stay positive and picture success. When you wake up in the morning, promise yourself that you won't smoke a cigarette all day. Plan ahead and think of how you'll deal with stressful situations without lighting up.

Saturday, day three:

Spread the word. Tell everyone you know that you've quit and are planning to stay off cigarettes for good. Your outward display of pride in yourself will reaffirm your commitment, and the support and encouragement you'll get from family and friends will be welcome. Also, if someone "adopted" you for the Great American Smokeout, keep him or her involved in your progress and include your "adopter" in some of your weekend plans.

Sunday, day four:

Spend your day with friends who don't smoke. Visit places where smoking is prohibited: a library, theater, church or museum. Watch movies from the "no smoking section; travel in the "no smoking" car of your commuter train. Revisit places where you've illegally smoked in the past (elevators, supermarket) and enjoy not feeling guilty.

Monday, day five:

Eat rather than smoke, but stick to low calorie, high nutritional foods: fresh fruit, crisp, crunchy vegetables. Substitute sugarless gum for a cigarette. Other temporary "pacifiers" to keep on hand: lemon drops, pumpkin or sunflower seeds, apple slices, carrot sticks, unbuttered popcorn. Avoid spicy foods that can trigger a desire for cigarettes.

Tuesday, day six:

Take a breather. Relaxation exercises help relieve urges to smoke. Take a deep breath, hold it a second, then release it very, very slowly. Remember, urges to smoke are temporary.

Wednesday, day seven:

Scramble up your day and change habits connected with smoking. Drive a different route to work; eat lunch in a new place; leave the "scene of an urge." At home avoid your "smoking chair" after dinner, reach for gum rather than a cigarette when answering the phone.

Thursday, day eight:

It's Thanksgiving, so stretch out your meal; eat slowly and pause between bites. After dinner, instead of reaching for a cigarette, treat yourself to a mint or a cup of orange tea with honey. Or have a refreshing after-dinner glass of club soda. For dessert, grab a tangerine or pear. Or introduce everyone around you to your new pleasure - sucking stick cinnamon. Crack nuts for yourself and other guests - this will certainly keep your hands busy.

Days nine through thirty-one will be in following editions of the Roundup.

Mission maker

Cynthia Gates "loves to see people eat," so it's no wonder she likes her job. Mrs. Gates, head cook supervisor in the Reese Enlisted Open Mess, has been here 19 months. Her love of cooking extends to many areas of her life. A mother of four ("They're why I like to cook"), she lists cooking as a hobby in addition to being her livelihood. However, that's not the only reason she likes her job.

"I like meeting new people," she said, adding that, "The people that come here expect good food, and I like providing them with it."

The Georgia native recently sharpened her skills during a week-long culinary upgrade program at Randolph AFB, Texas. Although brief, the program was intense.

"They crammed so much into us, our brains hurt by the time we took our test," she said with a laugh. It was a really good experience though; it helped me a lot."

Mrs. Gates' husband, Darryl, is a staff sergeant working in the Reese Consolidated Base Personnel Office. The couple have four children — Johnny, 14; Terrell, 12; Rico, 11; and William, 5.

Safety

Air Force-wide, fatalities due to flight mishaps dropped to 18 in 1991 from 43 in 1990, and a 10-year average of 64. The total number of destroyed aircraft was 38, compared to 52 in fiscal 1990. The 10-year average was 54.

Fiscal 1991 saw 109 fatalities, the lowest number of non-flying fatalities compared with any other year. Fiscal 1990 recorded 125 with a 10-year average of about 185 per year. The previous low for a one-year period was 118 in 1989. Again, Reese recorded zero accident fatalities.

Lt. Col. Rick Robinson, Chief of Safety, said Reese not only went through FY91 without a fatality, the wing enjoyed lower numbers in most accident categories. "We cut our on-duty reportable mishaps by 70 percent over 1990," said Colonel Robinson.

Much of this was accomplished while the Air Force fought Desert Storm and brought home the largest deployment of U.S. forces in more than two decades. Fighters, bombers, and tankers deployed and proved the Air Force could fight and win a war anywhere in the world — and do it safely.

Military Airlift Command, Air Force Reserve and Air National Guard cargo crews alone had to fly more than 200,000 hours beyond their programmed hours in support of Desert Shield and Desert Storm.

General Cole sees the success of the Persian Gulf War as validation of the high levels of motivation, training and proficiency of Air Force people. "When the crisis broke out and the war followed they just geared up and went right after it," he said.

"There is great risk for a lot of mishaps when you do that kind of deployment. You run that risk because it's high speed, high pressure and very intense."

The fact that they accomplished that massive deployment and kept mishap rates down was a "tribute to our people," he said. It proved them to be well-trained, highly motivated, focused and aware, making safety a part of their mindset and a part of their life.

Although fiscal 1991 was the best safety year in Air Force history, there were still 127 deaths, "and that is 127 too many," he said.

"We simply cannot accept death, injuries, and lost and damaged equipment as the cost of doing business. We just can't do it because our people are too precious and we've entered a very challenging and difficult period where resources are scarcer and more expensive."

"We have less people to do many very important jobs and we cannot lose our focus on doing the right things the right way and keeping the operation not only mission success oriented, but do it safely as well."

The general attributed most of the Air Force's safety success to commanders in the field who are identifying problems and safety hazards, and then developing and implementing solutions before accidents happen.

He cited their creation of a "culture of safety," where every member of the organization becomes a safety officer, safety NCO or safety civilian. "I use the term safety professional," General Cole said.

"Safety becomes part of your way of life, part of your way of thinking, part of your way of doing your job on a daily basis. When you create that kind of culture, that kind of environment, the right things happen and the wrong things don't happen."

Colonel Henny added that the campaign for safety never ends. "We did a super job during the dangerous '101 most critical days of summer' and through the Memorial Day weekend. We need to be just as cautious during the upcoming Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays. We must continue to be vigilant and ensure that safety remains our top priority on and off the job," he said.

Notes

Uniform allowance

Basic and standard clothing replacement allowance rates increased by more than $20 Oct. 1, Air Force officials said. The new basic rates are $165.60 for men and $190.80 women, a $21.60 increase. New standard rates are $234 for men and $270 for women, a $28.80 increase.

AIDS/HIV education available

Military Public Health has an outstanding interactive video disc training system for AIDS and HIV education. It is specifically tailored to military personnel. The newest module addressed the responsibilities and concerns of supervisors of HIV infected personnel.

The format is suitable for individuals or groups of 10 or less and will be presented at Military Public Health upon request.

For more information, call 3534.

Black history committee to meet

The black history month committee will hold a meeting Tuesday, 1 p.m. at the 64th Operational Support Squadron.

For more information, call 1st Lt. Cleve Turk, 3709.

Top wheels to compete

The next top wheels competition is scheduled for Monday, 10 a.m. in the vehicle operations yard, Bldg. 461.

For more information, call 3356.

Chapel holds training

The chapel will hold altar servers training Monday, 6:30 p.m. at the chapel. The training is open to persons in the third grade or those who have made their first holy communion. This is also a meeting for all current altar servers.

For more information, call Danni Saenz, 3238.

Thanksgiving services scheduled

An Ecumenical Thanksgiving Eve Service will be held Wednesday, 7 p.m. at the chapel. Following the service, the Women of the Chapel will hold a reception.

Time sheets due

Civilian time sheets must be turned in by Wednesday, 9 a.m. For more information, call Cindy Seay, 3816.

Power outage scheduled

There will be an electrical power outage in Bldgs. 650, 541, 542 and 546 Saturday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. to allow a contractor to install a new utility pole.

For more information, call SSgt. Ruddy Almonte, 3589.

Vet clinic renovated

Due to a renovation, the base veterinary clinic will curtail sick call and vaccination services from Tuesday through Jan. 26. During this time, the clinic will be relocated to Bldg. 230, Room 120. Services will be limited to resale items only during this time period.

For more information, call Joyce Durst, 3535.

Parents meeting held

The Parent Advisory Board Meeting has been rescheduled for Dec. 3, 5 p.m., at the child development center. Child care will be provided.

Self help center ready for service

The self help center is currently under construction, but is still open for business. All squadrons are encouraged to consider doing construction and maintenance on their areas with the help of the center.

Hours of operation are: Tuesday-Friday, 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Saturday, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Housing street construction to begin

Construction on Reese Village streets started Nov. 18 and will continue through April 8. The project will consist of replacing selected curbing and gutter, resurfacing community parking, driveways and resurfacing streets.

Parents should inform their children not to play around areas under construction.

For more information, call 3922.

Facilities to close

Due to the Thanksgiving Day holiday Thursday, several Reese facilities will be closed. All MWR facilities will be closed Thursday except for the physical fitness center, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and the Enlisted Open Mess, where the lounge opens at noon.

Additionally, some facilities will close early Wednesday. The library will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and the golf course will be open from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The base exchange will be closed, but the Shoppette will be open from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. The commissary will be closed.

Reese selects top four 1991 enlisted members

MSgt. Donald Leaton ... First Sergeant of the Year

Unit: 64th Operations Support Squadron.
Duty title: First Sergeant.
Time in service: 20 years.
Time at Reese: 15 months.
Hometown: Nocona, Texas.
Achievements during the quarter: "Sergeant Leaton is widely recognized throughout the wing as one of the most professional and effective first sergeants in the command," Lt. Col. Frank Shealy, 64th OSS commander, said. "He continually supervises over 120 enlisted personnel and assist with administrative support to more than 480 officers."

As first sergeant, Sergeant

Leaton served as the focal point for countless staff and administrative actions critical to the successful wing reorganization and establishment of the new OSS.

Sergeant Leaton served as the unit project officer for the annual "Toys for Tots" campaign and is currently working to gather donations of Air Force model kits for local children. Through his effort in organizing, staffing and managing a sales booth at the open house, the OSS raised over $1700. He also contributed over $400 towards the wing and group holiday food fund for needy Air Force families by running eight miles for donations.

"His handling of sensitive and confidential personnel matters among our group and squadron members has been absolutely flawless, earning him the highest level of respect from both military members and their dependents," Colonel Shealy said.

Education: Sergeant Leaton holds a bachelor's of science degree in education and two associates in applied science degrees in the Health sciences.

Goals: He plans to get his masters degree in history and teach high school history.

Hobbies: Chess, civil war buff and jogging.

SMSGt. Darrel Johnson ... Senior NCO of the Year

Unit: 64th Security Police Squadron.
Duty title: operations Superintendent.
Time in service: 22 years.
Time at Reese: four years.
Hometown: Turkey Creek, La.
Achievements during the quarter: "Sergeant Johnson is a key to the sound leadership and management of the squadron," said Capt. Danny Thomas, SPS commander. He exercises staff supervision of over 60 wing members assigned to the squadron."

During the year, Sergeant Johnson worked jointly with Air Training Command security police staff in reviewing consolidation operations of the security plikice and assisted in evaluating a new Air Base Ground Defense training location ("Patriot Warrior", Camp Swift, Texas), ATC security police.

He was also recognized for his work in the community.

Sergeant Johnson is an active member of the Monterey Baptist Church. He is also an active member of the Reese NCO Academy Graduates Association, serving as vice president.

He attends monthly meetings with area wide police chiefs and federal law enforcement supervisors, enabling him to stay attune to area criminal activity and those special areas of interest involving wing members.

Education: Sergeant Johnson holds a bachelor's degree in police science from Park College and has done graduate work at the University of Southern California.

Goals: Sergeant Johnson hopes to make chief and influence the rapid changes in the Air Force.

Hobbies: Hunting and fishing.

SSgt. Randal Naylor ... NCO of the Year

Unit: Det. 2,3307 TES
Duty title: Propulsion Systems Evaluator for the T-1 Test Team
Time in service: eight years and eight months.
Time at Reese: 20 months.
Hometown: Tulelake, Calif.
Achievements during the quarter: "Sergeant Naylor is a self-motivated, highly dependable noncommissioned officer," said Lt. Col. Wayne Schulz, T-1 Test Team director. "He has contributed invaluable information and ideas relating to methods and procedures that will be used to conduct dedicated qualification operational test and evaluation of the T-1A aircraft."

As a self-inspection monitor, he established and continuously updates the test team self-inspection program and conducts periodic inspections.

Sergeant Naylor has been recognized for his work in the community.

He contributed many volunteer hours in the restoration of the base's youth baseball field project. Sergeant Naylor is a member of the Reese Chapel's Protestant Funds Council, test team intramural bowling team and managed a Pony League youth baseball team.

"His efforts at self-improvement resulted in his selection for promotion to technical sergeant and have made him a more valuable asset to the T-1A Test Team and the Air Force," said Lt. Col. Mike Campano, Det. 2 commander. "He definitely has a bright future ahead of him."

Education: Sergeant Naylor earned an associate's degree in aircraft power plant technology through the Community College of the Air Force. He has accumulated over 90 semester hours toward a bachelor of science degree in occupational education through Wayland Baptist University.

Goals: Sergeant Naylor's short-range goal is to complete his degree while a long-range goal is to make chief master sergeant.

Hobbies: Hunting, Reading and sports in general.

A1C Trecia Clouden ... Airman of the Year

Unit: 64th Medical Squadron.
Duty title: Pharmacy Specialist.
Time in service: two years and three months.
Time at Reese: 22 months.
Hometown: South Hill, Va.
Achievements during the quarter: "Airman Clouden's superior performance has helped the 64th Medical Squadron meet and exceed Air Training Command's indicator performance standards," Lt. Col. Joseph Contiguglia, MS commander, said. "She is exceptional performer."

In a highly stressful and technical environment, Airman Clouden quickly assumed all NCOIC responsibilities during a four month period when the position was vacant. Under her tutelage, two technicians were trained and able to pass their end of course examination.

She was instrumental in the successful implementation of the new pharmacy prescription refill call-in service. The waiting time for prescription was down 95 percent.

As the pharmacy supply custodian, she is responsible for an annual budget of over $900,000 and maintains a 99.9 percent fillrate.

In her off-duty time, Airman Clouden has volunteered her time in support of Camp Blue Yonder, Reese's 50th Anniversary Open House, American Businesswomen Association and a fundraising charity booth at the South Plains Fair in support of education grants.

Airman Clouden epitomizes those rare qualities most sought in an Air Force member—coolness under pressure, strong professional pride, keen technical abilities and an intense desire to succeed," Colonel Contiguglia said. Education: Airman Clouden is currently enrolled in the Community College of the Air Force.

Goals: A short range goal for Airman Clouden is to become Senior Airman Below the Zone while a long range goal is to pursue a bachelor's degree in pharmacy and become a pharmacist.

SGLI may change

Two separate plans are in the works that, if adopted, would allow dependents and retirees to sign up for Servicemen's Group Life Insurance, an Air Force compensation expert said.

Under one proposal, all dependents of active-duty service members would qualify for the low-cost insurance coverage, regardless of current health condition. Spouses would be covered for 25 percent or 50 percent of the members' actual SGLI coverage. For example, if the sponsor had $100,000 of SGLI coverage, the spouse would qualify for $25,000 or $50,000 of insurance.

Other family members could receive either $5,000 or $10,000 of coverage, depending on the sponsor's coverage.

"In the case of dependents, in the era of working spouses with the rising cost of child-care, I think people tend to understate how much insurance they might need should a spouse die," said Col. Steve Strobridge, chief of the Air Force's entitlements division. The same applies to children where substantial costs most people wouldn't think of accompany a child's death.

That's where the importance of an insurance plan such as the dependent SGLI proposal would help, making an affordable alternative so the member can get insurance if desired, Strobridge said. Premiums would be paid through payroll deductions, much like the current SGLI policy.

For retirees, the plan tries to even out the way the service treats active-duty and reservist retirees, the colonel said. Currently, regular retirees stay on SGLI for 120 days after leaving the service and can convert to Veterans Group Life Insurance for five years. After that, they may buy insurance from one of the government underwriters, but at a much higher premium.

Reservist retirees with 20 "good" years of service stay on SGLI until age 61, or until they start receiving retirement pay. Under the new plan, Strobridge said, both groups would be covered under the new retired SGLI for life.

One of the biggest problems facing reservist retirees now is that it takes them longer to get the 20 "good" years of service than their active-duty counterparts, thus putting them in a higher age bracket when they try to get insurance through civilian plans.

The proposal would allow regular retirees to continue coverage under the more affordable SGLI plan.

Like the dependents' plan, the retired SGLI proposal would be a guaranteed approval for the participating member.

Strobridge said all the bugs haven't been worked out of the proposals yet, and they may go through many changes before getting final approval. However, because the proposals will cost almost nothing for the services to implement, Strobridge thinks they stand a good chance of becoming law.

If approved, the new SGLI plans could take effect in fiscal 1993.

Desert Storm veterans asked not to give blood

Discovery of a parasitic infection in some servicemembers returning from the Mideast has prompted the Defense Department to ask all people who served in the Persian Gulf since Aug. 1, 1990, to temporarily stop donating blood.

In following up on servicemembers returning from the Gulf, military physicians and researchers have discovered some cases involving infection with a parasite transmitted by the bites of sand flies.

Twenty-two of the half million Desert Storm veterans are said to have the parasite known as Leishmania. While usually causing an easily treated skin disease, military health experts identified the infection in bone marrow cultures of seven patients who had no skin lesions.

They did, however, have mild illnesses, some with fever and diarrhea. None of the infected people had donated blood.

None of the cases involve life-threatening illness, DOD officials said. The infection is not contagious in person-to-person contact, but while there are no cases of this specific parasite being transmitted through blood transfusions, five cases of a related strain were reported in medical literature to have been transmitted by transfusion of contaminated blood.

DOD's hold on accepting blood donations from people who have traveled to the Gulf area, including Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, Iraq, Bahrain, Qatar, the United Arab Emirates, Oman and Yemen, will give medical researchers time to determine the level of additional infections from the exposed population and allow them to develop a screening test for infection.

Blood already donated by Gulf War returnees will not be withdrawn from the inventory because of the very low risk of contamination versus the risk of a sudden shortfall of critical blood supplies, officials said.

Actions earn Reese pilot FSC award

Capt. Sandra Miarecki, 33rd Flying Training Squadron, was recently selected for the quarterly Helping Hand Award.

The Helping Hand Award is designed to recognize the truly exceptional volunteers who contribute time and energy to enhance the quality of life to the Reese family. The award is a symbol of being inducted into an elite fraternity of volunteers.

In some instances, it may involve someone who does a truly heroic deed with disregard of danger in the saving of a life.

While on a fishing trip July 16, Captain Miarecki saved the life of an elderly drowning victim in dangerous rapids.

Captain Miarecki will be honored at the wing awards ceremony Wednesday. She will receive a plaque and get a reserved parking space adjacent to the Reese Commissary and main exchange until the next quarter's winner is selected.

Other nominees for the award were: Glenn A. Huff, Lockheed; Josiane Goupie and Candace Uliano, family services; MSgt. Norma V. King, SSgt. Douglas Crider and Sgt. Robert Mergerson, 64th Civil Engineering Squadron; 1st Lt. Stefan Koziolok, 35th FTS; Sgt. Luanne Marie Charles and Capt. Mitchell M. Sibley-Jett, 64th Mission Support Squadron; TSgt. Michael R. Williams, 64th Security Police Squadron; and Shirley J. Musil, 64th Services Squadron/morale, welfare and recreation.

Submissions for the next quarterly Helping Hand Award competition, for the October-December time period, will be due no later than Feb. 1. Nomination packages will be distributed in January. All active duty, retirees, and their dependents, as well as civilian workers employed at Reese, are eligible to be nominated for this award. Nominations should be submitted to the family support center.

For more information, call 3305.

Reese OWC makes pledge to AF Village

Eighty six delegates of Officers' Wives Clubs and Senior Commanders' Wives from around the world met at the Air Force Villages in San Antonio recently as part of the 27th Anniversary meeting of the Air Force Village Foundation.

Each delegate was asked to designate their club's pledge either into the Fellowship Trust or into the Nursing Home Expansion at Village I.

The Fellowship Trust, which the OWC's began in the 1960's and continue to support, assists widows of career Air Force Officers who need financial assistance to live in a secure, comfortable and dignified environment.

The Nursing Home Expansion

at Village I is a $2.6 million project that has added 22 semi-private rooms, 44 beds as well as additional areas for physician directed therapy and treatment. The Nursing Home Expansion will directly aid those widows who will need the facility once they can no longer maintain themselves in their apartment.

OWC's collectively support the Fellowship Trust with funds of approximately $150,000 each year.

TEETH: Give your mouth a sporting chance

For protection against hazards such as airborne hockey pucks and elbows to the chin, youngsters and adults need more than lightning reflexes — they need the protection of an athletic mouth guard.

The Reese Dental Clinic has free mouth guards for active duty members and their dependents.

Athletic mouth guards have been found to prevent more than 200,000 dental sports injuries each year, according to research.

Mouth protectors not only sharply lower the incidence and severity of injuries to the teeth and mouth during athletic training and competition, they also act as a buffer against more serious injuries such as concussions, jaw fractures and neck injuries.

Though traditionally associated with football, mouth guards can prevent injuries in a wide variety of athletic activities. The Reese Dental Clinic recommends that players of all sports, particularly contact sports such as hockey, boxing and basketball, wear mouth protectors at all times during training and competition.

Dental and sports medicine studies indicate that almost any vigorous activity can result in injuries to the teeth, lips, cheeks, tongue and jaws — not just sports involving body contact. Sudden falls and accidental collisions during many sports can lead to dental injuries.

Of the three types of mouth protectors currently available, the custom-made protector, fabricated from a cast of the athlete's upper teeth and fitted by a dentist, is by far the best in terms of fit, comfort and ease of speech. The mouth-formed protector, made of a soft material that easily molds to the athlete's teeth, is less expensive than the custom-made protector but may not fit as well or last as long. The stock mouth protector, the least expensive, is also the least satisfactory because little can be done to adjust the fit.

Even the least expensive mouth guard is better than none at all, however. Mouth protectors minimize sports injuries regardless of the type used. So, before you buy your youngster that new skateboard, invest in a mouth guard first.

For more information, call the dental clinic at 3321.

Rattlers log victory

The Reese Rattlers improved their downtown's league record to 4-1 with a 61-42 victory over Lubbock's "Loose Cannons."

The Rattlers will be in action against Lubbock's "Hombres" at 9 p.m. Monday at Wilson Jr. High School.

The ball game got underway as the Loose Cannons won the jump ball and scored the first six points of the half.

"We weren't connecting and turnovers hurt us early in the game," SSgt. Ed Harrelson, Reese coach, said. "They (Loose Cannons) were scoring points off their offensive rebounds."

The Rattlers got on the boards when Sgt. Avery Canary made a perimeter shot with 14:15 left in the half. The Loose Canons team managed to increase their lead to 17-10 with 7:27 left in the half.

Sgt. Frank Parker made two consecutive jumpers and a three pointer to tie the Loose Canons score at 19.

"We were playing sluggish early on in the first half," Sergeant Harrelson said. "We were using a zone defense and it wasn't working. I decided it would be best if we went to a man-to-man, full-court coverage."

The Rattlers took their first lead, 21-19, with 5:45 left in the first half. Reese lead at intermission, 29-27.

The Loose Cannon's team started the second half by scoring six unanswered points to take a 33-27 lead.

The tempo of the game picked with SSgt. Michael Barnett and TSgt. Michael Harrison in the game. Sergeants Barnett and Harrison put pressure on the Loose Cannons and caused several turnovers.

TSgt. Joseph Kirby's perimeter shot was the first two points as Reese scored 19 unanswered points as the Rattlers now led 48-33.

"We managed to score those points because of fast breaks and we were controlling the boards on both sides of the court," Sergeant Harrelson said.

The Rattlers stopped the Loose Cannons from scoring points for six minutes and capitalized on the turnovers.

Three consecutive steals by Sgt. Jay Matthias and team work increased the lead to 54-38. The final score was 61-42.

High scorers of the game were Sergeants Parker (11 points), Canady (10 points) and Joseph Kirby (10 points).

Updates

Reservation required

People who want to use the treadmills, aerobic cycles, air-dynes and stairmasters at the Reese Physical Fitness Center should make reservations to ensure they can get a machine. They can be reserved for maximum of 30 minutes at a time. Reservations can be made between

Reese personnel may run FREE ads in The Roundup.

To Qualify, Free Ads —

- Must be a personal item you have for sale — a stereo, a car, clothes, etc. (Real estate never qualifies as a free ad.)
- Must be written out legibly or typed and taken to the Public Affairs Office on base or mailed to the publisher's office at The Roundup, P.O. Box 16243, Lubbock, TX 79490.

All ads called in to the publisher's office are charged for.

The publisher is the final authority concerning what is a free ad and what is not.

All real estate and business items can be run in the Want Ads for $4<sup>00</sup>

Mail in Want ads and payment ($4 per week) to the Roundup, P.O. Box 16243, Lubbock, TX 79490

or

Bring ad and payment by 5760 40th St. (Corner of 40th & Frankford, across from Modern Hyundai)

Want to Run a "Want Ad"?

Reese personnel may run FREE ads in The Roundup to sell personal items. Take written ad the Public Affairs Office, 2nd floor, Bldg. 800 by Tuesday of the week you want ad to run, or mail to The Roundup, P.O. Box 16243, Lubbock, TX 79490. (Ad must reach publisher by noon on Wednesday of the week you want ad to run.)

Join the ranks in the Ford Military Appreciation Purchase Program.

As our way of saying thanks, Ford Motor Company and all Ford and Lincoln-Mercury dealers are continuing to offer all active military personnel or their spouses a very special purchase plan.

Now, you can join the many who have already received substantial savings off the Manufacturer's Suggested Retail Price on a new 1991 or 1992 Ford, Mercury, or Lincoln car or any Ford light duty truck.

To be eligible, just prove your active-duty status as of March 1, 1991. You must take delivery of your new vehicle before December 31, 1991. And only one vehicle can be purchased per eligible buyer.

The Ford Military Appreciation Purchase Program is our way of showing you we appreciate the service you provide. You give us your best. Now we'd like to do the same.

For more information, visit your Ford or Lincoln-Mercury dealer or call 1-800-445-6098.
