Colonel Gallagher takes command of 54th FTS

Two more squadron changes of command scheduled this month

Lt. Col. Mark Gallagher took command of the 54th Flying Training Squadron from Lt. Col. Robert Hennis Tuesday in the first of three change of command ceremonies here.

Lt. Col. LeeRoy Martin will assume command of the 52nd Flying Training Squadron from Lt. Col. Mark Richardson today at 9:00 a.m. at the T-1A Hangar. Maj. Harry Edwards will relinquish command of the 64th Medical Support Squadron to Lt. Col. Richard Paschedag on May 10 at 3:00 p.m. at the Reese Club. Everyone on base is welcome to both ceremonies.

Gallagher replaces Hennis who will be a student at Industrial War College, Fort McNair, Washington D.C. Gallagher had been the 54th Flying Training Squadron Operations Officer since October 1995.

A native of Kittery, Maine, Gallagher attended the U.S. Air Force Academy, graduating with a bachelor's degree in history in 1978. After graduation, he entered Undergraduate Pilot Training at Williams Air Force Base, Ariz., receiving his wings in June 1979. He was then selected as a T-37 instructor and served as a class commander.

In 1982, Gallagher attended Squadron Officer School and was a distinguished graduate. After training in the RF-4C at Bergstrom Air Force Base, Texas, Gallagher was assigned to the 15th Tactical Reconnaissance Squadron, Kadena Air Base, Japan.

He completed a master's degree in systems management in 1985 through University of Southern California.

In April 1986, Gallagher was assigned to the 4486th Fighter Weapons Squadron, Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., flying the RF-4 and F-4E in the test and tactics business. He served as reconnaissance evaluation pro-

Air Force revises selection board schedule for 1996

RANDOLPH AIR FORCE BASE, Texas (AFNS) — The Air Force's board schedule for the second half of 1996 recently underwent some minor changes say officials with the Air Force Personnel Center here.

The changes affect one enlisted and two officers' boards and are the result of the new command screening board added to the fall schedule.

The Chief Master Sergeant Evaluation Board has been moved one week from its original convening date of Sept. 30 to an opening date of Oct. 7. The Medical Corps and Dental Corps Board and the non-line Captain Board for Medical Service, Biomedical Sciences and Nurse Corps, slated to start Nov. 4, is now Nov. 12.

The revised 1996 promotion board schedule is:

□ June 17 — Major Chaplain and Medical Service Corps Board, Captain Judge Advocate General Board

□ July 8 — Lieutenant Colonel Line Board, Colonel Chaplains, Medical Service, Biomedical Sciences and Nurse Corps Board

□ July 29 — Special Selection Boards

□ Sept. 9 — Captain Line, Chaplains and Judge Advocate General Boards

□ Sept. 18 — Air National Guard Colonel Federal Recognition Review Board - Second Session

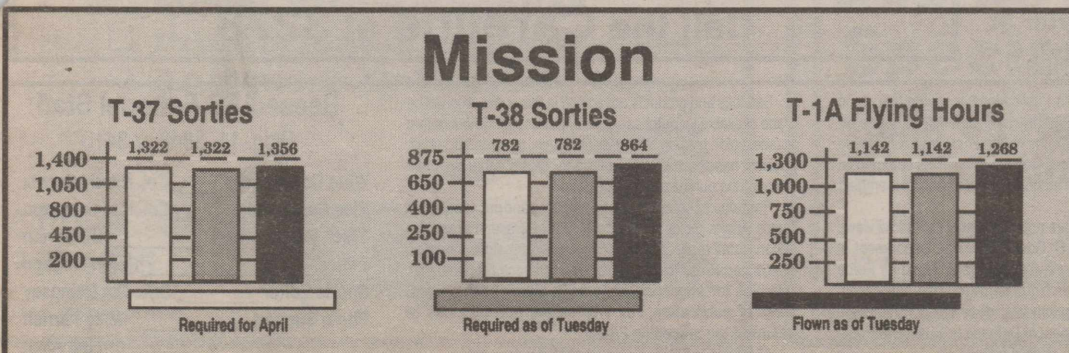

□ Oct. 7 — Chief Master Sergeant Evaluation Board

□ Nov. 12 — Medical and Dental Corps Board, Captain

Medical Service, Biomedical Sciences and Nurse Corps Board

□ Dec. 2 — Colonel Line and Judge Advocate General Board, Major/Captain Judge Advocate General Board

All of the boards convene at the Center and the release of selectees is generally within three months of the board's opening date.

Assignment update

AF, AETC teams to visit Reese in July

Chief Ptomey

by Chief Master Sgt. David Ptomey
64th FTW Senior Enlisted Advisor

Probably the biggest question at Reese today is, "When am I going to get an assignment and when will I be leaving?"

Well, in an effort to keep everyone as informed as possible, I thought I'd write this article to give everyone the latest information that's available. Remember now, this information is subject to change.

All commanders have looked at their squadrons by AFSC, grade and name and identified the month and year each person will be available for assignment. Based on that list, we have identified to command, approximately 65 personnel that are available for assignment between July 1996 and March 1997. The remainder of Reese personnel will be leaving between April 1 and Oct. 31, 1997.

To give everyone a tentative timeline of how this process will proceed, I asked Staff Sgt. Donald Porter in the Reese Military Personnel Flight outbound assignments section to put together a talking paper.

Here's how it looks as of right now:

Overseas assignment cycle #1

□ May 7, 1996 — HQ AFPC will publicize overseas requirements via equal listing (specifically for those personnel who have already been identified).

□ June 7, 1996 — Overseas assignment selections made (report-no-later-than dates will be January - March 1997. Personnel will be notified through their unit commanders within 15 days).

Assignment team visit #1

□ HQ AETC/HQ AFPC assignment team is scheduled to visit July 15-17 and will provide stateside assignments to the remaining personnel who were not selected for an overseas assignment.

□ Stateside assignments will have a report-no-later-than date of March 31, 1997 (early reporting authorized with squadron commander concurrence).

Overseas assignment cycle #2

□ August 1996 — HQ AFPC will publicize overseas requirements via equal listing (for remaining Reese personnel).

□ September 1996 — Overseas assignment selections made (report-no-later-than dates will be May/June 1997).

□ November 1996 — HQ AFPC will publicize additional overseas requirements via equal listing.

□ December 1996 — Overseas assignment selections made (report-no-later-than dates will be July - September 1997).

Assignment team visit #2

□ HQ AETC/HQ AFPC team is scheduled to visit in January/February 1997 and will provide stateside assignments to all Reese enlisted personnel who remain eligible and who have not received an overseas assignment.

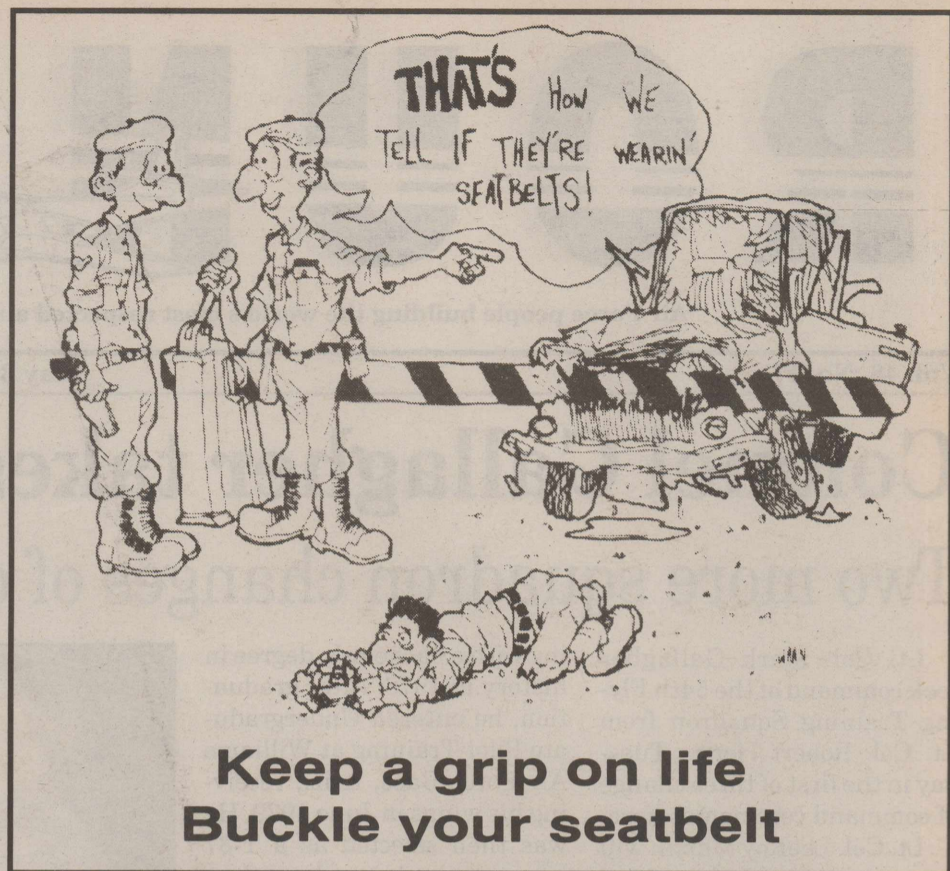

□ Stateside assignments will have a report-no-later-than date of Oct. 31, 1997 (early reporting authorized with squadron commander concurrence).

It's important to remember the above is our most current information, but it is not set in concrete.

I can appreciate everyone's anxiety concerning base closure, but we need to keep our priorities right — closure is not our primary mission and won't be until the last Joint Specialized Undergraduate Pilot Training class graduates on Jan. 23, 1997. Until then, let's keep our focus on the business at hand — training and supporting the best pilots in the world.

Any questions concerning your release date should be directed to your squadron commander through your first sergeant.

Any questions concerning the process itself should be directed to Porter at 3361.

Recycling program reduces demand on sanitary landfills

by Stephen Jones
Environmental Flight

Some products claiming to be degradable occupy landfill space for decades, offering further evidence recycling whenever possible is the best alternative to waste disposal.

Biodegradable materials such as food and yard waste, decompose into natural elements when exposed to air, moisture, and bacteria. Photodegradable materials, such as plastics, disintegrate when exposed to sunlight. Degradation of both material types occurs very slowly in landfills.

Modern landfills are designed, according to law, to minimize the amount of sunlight, air, and moisture entering the landfill to prevent pollutants from entering the air and the drinking water supply. This results, however, in decomposition so slow, even paper and food may take decades to decompose.

Recycling saves energy, natural resources and landfill space. If current trends continue, Americans will annually throw away more than one million tons of aluminum cans and foil, 11 million tons of glass, 4.5 million tons of office paper and nearly 10 million tons of newspaper. Most of these products could be recycled, reducing the environmental damage caused by mining, logging, and manufacturing raw materials, and decreasing the amount of garbage sent to landfills.

Each building on base has recycling locations for office and industrial recyclables. Tri-State Recycling Services operates the base's recycling program. Recyclables and bagged yard waste are also picked up in the housing area every Monday. Tri-State Recycling Services offers special pick-up services for bulk items.

If organizations, offices or housing residents plan a social function, Tri-State will provide containers for the recyclables and arrange to pick them up.

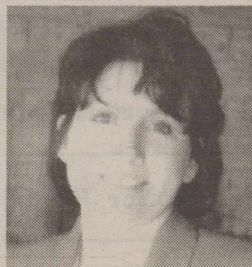

To request pick-up service of bulk items, or if you would like additional information on recycling, call Tri-State Recycling Services at 3815.

Reese celebrates Earth Day

Shelly Abendschan, Texas Forestry Service, presents Col. Edward De Iulio, 64th Support Group Commander, with a banner recognizing Reese as a "Tree City." It is the third straight year that Reese has earned the designation. At right, members of the Reese Child Development Center help Stanley Greenburg, 64th Civil Engineer Squadron, and Linda Woestendiek, 64th CES, plant a tree near Reese Manor. The planting was part of the Earth Day observance here April 26.

AF to launch long-range airpower study

WASHINGTON — An Air Force study geared toward institutionalizing long-range planning and developing a long-term strategic vision for the role of airpower around the year 2025 will be published late this year.

The purpose of the study, directed by Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Ronald R. Fogleman, includes many facets but key among them is defining "where the service is headed and how we're going to get there," said Maj. Gen. John A. Gordon, special assistant to the chief of staff for long range planning.

The effort will draw upon several studies, including an ongoing Air University study, the Scientific Advisory's Board's recently published "New World Vistas," and studies underway within other Air Force major commands," said Gordon, a lieutenant general select.

"We recognize that it's absolutely impossible to be precise," Gordon said. "What we want to do is make sure that we don't get there just through the evolutionary path by just incrementally changing.

"We want to leap out and imagine what the world is going to be like and anticipate what military capabilities will really be needed and what capabilities will really be there and then begin to move toward that future."

Gordon emphasized that the study is not just about technology and weapon platforms. "We need to think about demographics and personnel, infrastructure, acquisition, civil engineering and logistics and how they will serve as force multipliers. Air Force has always been pretty much a leader in technology but our future is not just in technology. It's how we do our business as well. We want to explore all of that and help set a vision.

"And whatever we produce needs to be usable and understandable and something that every member of the Air Force can adopt as their own," he said. "It must mean something to everyone."

"Everyone" includes Congress and the American people, Gordon said.

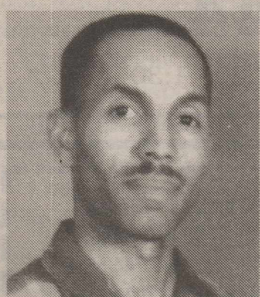

One technique the planners are using to develop the study is "alternative futures," Gordon said. "One thing we know about the future is — if we agree exactly what the future will be, we are guaranteed to be exactly wrong."

Through "alternative futures" the long-range planners will examine three different fiscal environments: the same amount of money, more money and less money. The planners will also project the range of things that could occur in the future — large and small — and the role airpower may play at each level.

"We don't want to plan toward a very specific future," Gordon said. "We want to plan toward the main things we want to be able to do, the main capabilities we want to have."

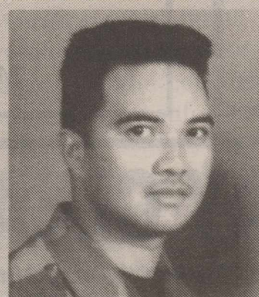

This also includes focusing on the joint service environment because "we are very cognizant that virtually everything we do in the future will involve jointness," Gordon said.

assistant operations officer.

During Operation Desert Storm, Gallagher led 14 combat missions.

Gallagher returned to Williams Air Force Base in 1991 with the 99th Flying Training Squadron as a T-38 instructor pilot and also served as an assistant operations officer. He also completed Air Command and Staff College by correspondence that year.

In July 1992, Gallagher was assigned to Randolph Air Force Base, Texas, as a fighter assignments staff officer and also served as chief of rated management. He completed a master's degree in information management from Webster University in 1994 and Air War College in 1995.

In May 1995, he re-qualified in the T-38 and moved to Reese.

Gallagher is a command pilot with more than 3,000 hours of flying time.

He is married to the former Gail Apfel of Grand Island, Nebr. They have two children, Kate and Daniel.

Cypress Gardens founder Dick Pope Sr., for many years averaged crowning a queen at the rate of more than 100 a year. This year the attraction celebrates its 60th anniversary.

NEWS OF TRAVEL

60th Anniversary Of Cypress Gardens

(NAPS)—Florida's Cypress Gardens, founded in 1936 by Dick Pope, is celebrating its flora and flaunting its fauna as it embraces its 60th anniversary this year. Noted as Central Florida's first tourist attraction, Cypress Gardens has much to offer visitors of all ages.

Pope had developed a substantial business in New York when the Depression hit. After reading a magazine article about a man who had opened his home to the public and began charging admission, Pope decided to do the same on a much larger scale. Soon, he and his wife, Julie were on their way back to their original home in Winter Haven, with dreams of creating a botanical wonderland along the shores of Lake Eloise. The dream became Cypress Gardens.

In 1943, a photo of water skiers being pulled behind a boat ran in a local newspaper. Several soldiers in the area saw the photo and arrived at the park to see the "water show." Unfortunately, none existed. However, Pope's wife, Julie, who was in charge of the park while her husband served in World War II, rounded up her children and their friends and held Cypress Gardens' first water ski show.

In August, 1985 after almost half a century of Pope family ownership and involvement, Cypress Gardens was acquired by publishing company Harcourt Brace Jovanovich. HBJ added new attractions, shows and food facilities, and premiered the month-long Mum Festival.

Today, the 200-acre park is celebrating its 60th anniversary, complete with a water skiers' salute to the summer Olympics in Atlanta with a revitalized presentation of Totally Mardi Gras, A Water Spectacular.

Amid the theatrical pageantry, color, choreography, costuming, novelty acts, comedy and fast-paced speed boat and skiing action that made the Mardi Gras-themed show a hit when it debuted in 1995, the enhanced production now showcases the talents of the park's world record-holding athletes more than ever before.

The show is a tribute to the legendary "water ski capital of the world" and a nostalgic tradition of water skiing showmanship and innovation pioneered by the park's founder, Dick Pope Sr.

The children of Texas come in all sizes, shapes, colors, and abilities. They do not all learn the same way, but they ALL do learn. Do you know of an infant, child, or young adult who does not learn easily or has an impairment that might affect his/her success in life? Do you know that public school programs can serve these children from birth to age 22? For more information, call the Special Education Director in your school district, or contact the Child Find Coordinator at the Education Service Center at 806-792-4000. Public Education in Texas is for every child. Don't leave any child behind.

You need cash and you need it now, but your credit history or lack thereof, prevents you from obtaining a conventional loan. What do you do? Many consumers are turning to the recently emerging firms that specialize in cash advances ranging from check cashing services, car title loans and the more-established tax refund advance. The advances are not viewed as conventional loans under our current laws, and legal guidelines for finance charges and other fees do not apply. For example, car title loan firms are often licensed as pawnbrokers and may charge a monthly fee of up to one-fifth of the value of the loan in addition to two percent interest per month on the unpaid balance. While many businesses that fall under the broad category of "cash in a hurry" services are legitimate - this is new territory for our market and consumers should exercise caution and research any cash advance offer thoroughly and weigh any fees involved against actual need or other resources.

64th CPTF: the money folks

The mission of the 64th Comptroller Flight is to advise the wing commander and staff on financial matters and ensure funds are properly executed in support of the wing's pilot training mission.

The flight is comprised of the commander and financial analysis, financial services branches and the Defense Accounting Office.

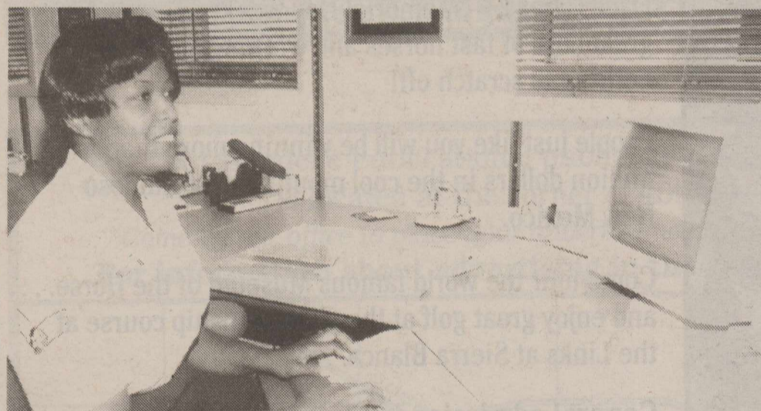

The commander and the financial analysis section monitor the planning, distribution and execution of the wing's $65 million annual budget.

The financial services branches update and process entitlements to members' master pay accounts for military, civilian and travel pay actions. They oversee a payroll of over $42 million annually. Also the accounting liaison section certifies funds availability for all wing budget accounts.

The Defense Accounting Office handles all accounting functions for the wing and works in concert with the comptroller flight. They handle all cashier functions and make payments to vendors based on financial services certification of funds. These payments to vendors total more than $58 million annually.

Capt. Eric Bass (far right), representing the 64th Mission Support Squadron, has already made up the stagger as he pulls away to win the 200-meter dash during track and field events at Reese last year. Several track events are scheduled for Reese Fitness Day, May 31.

Base readies for Fitness Day

Reese Fitness Day is scheduled for May 31 from noon to 4:30 p.m.

According to event officials, activities are open to all active-duty military and civilian employees.

Fitness events and points of contact include: long distance walk/run — Gary [Name], 6021; racquetball — Senior Airman Troy Dandrea, 3761; softball — Senior Airman Terry White, 3322; golf — Senior Airman Kevin Johnson, 3468; and indoor volleyball — Staff Sgt. Ramon Guerrero, 6061.

Other events are: beach volleyball — Airman 1st Class Roland Johnson, 6700; basketball — Senior Airman Brian Crane, 3521, or Airman 1st Class Warren Bengé, 3254; cycling — Staff Sgt. L. D. Harper, 3040; tennis — Tech. Sgt. Michael Harrison, 3766; bowling — Tech. Sgt. Herbert Martin, 3701; and track — Senior Airman David Kane, 3783.

Track events will include the 100-meter dash, 400-meter dash, 880-yard run, 1 mile run and the 440-yard relay.

Reese Fitness Day officials said squadrons should register teams as soon as possible. Some of the events have limitations on the number of teams that may participate.

An awards ceremony will conclude the day's activities.

AF hoopsters place second in championships

RANDOLPH AIR FORCE BASE, Texas (AFNS) — After a grueling week of exciting games, the Air Force men's and women's basketball teams each came out in second place during the 1996 Armed Forces Basketball Championships.

The men's championships were held at Camp Lejeune, N.C., April 8-11. The Air Force men's team totaled two wins and two losses, finishing up with an 87-72 loss to the Navy team in the finals.

The following men comprised the 1996 Air Force team: Capt. (ret.) Clarence Ryan (officer in charge), Houston, Texas; Senior Master Sgt. Jarvia [Name] (coach), Pentagon; Master Sgt. Jimmy Howard (assist. coach), Eglin Air Force Base, Fla.; Mr. Kevin Davalos (trainer), Pope AFB, N.C.; Senior Airman James Armstrong, Robins AFB, Ga.; Staff Sgt. Carpal Tunnel Syndrome: Don't Ignore It

(NAPS)—If you spend a lot of time working or playing at a computer, be alert for the following signs:

- painful throbbing
- tingling
- numbness in your hand, wrist and forearm.

These signs should not be ignored because they can indicate Carpal Tunnel Syndrome, a painful and potentially serious condition that puts pressure on the median nerve in the wrist.

The condition is usually caused by continuously repeating the same motion with your hand and wrist. Although it is not limited to computer users, it is a common problem among those who use computers for several hours every day.

Left untreated, carpal tunnel syndrome can lead to damage requiring surgery. Luckily, there is much that can be done to prevent this progression. If you experience any of these symptoms and they persist more than a few days, see your doctor as soon as possible.

Your doctor might recommend alterations to your work station or work habits. One example of changing habits might be typing with your wrists held in a certain position. A combination of cold therapy to reduce swelling, pain relievers, and a carpal tunnel syndrome wrist brace is often recommended.

Quality braces, such as Bauer & Black® brand carpal tunnel syndrome brace are designed to immobilize your wrist while resting or sleeping. This helps reduce inflammation and painful throbbing, tingling and numbing caused by Carpal Tunnel Syndrome. It can help slow the progression of Carpal Tunnel Syndrome and possibly help delay or prevent the need for surgery.

The Bauer & Black carpal tunnel syndrome brace is made of a lightweight material, with an inner lining which provides added comfort. Braces are easy to put on
