Town Hall fields project questions

A proposed water recreation project for Clarendon was the topic of a town hall meeting attended by more than 50 people Monday night at the Bairfield Activity Center.

Clarendon Alderman and project steering committee chairman Sandy Skelton welcomed those attending and gave a brief overview of the opportunity before the community.

In July, an anonymous donor approached Skelton and offered $500,000 to the city for the purpose of building a water recreation facility for local kids and their families. Research was begun immediately, and last month the City Council appointed a 13-member steering stated desire of the donor? committee to help guide the project.

City Administrator David Dockery discussed what the city has learned about water recreation projects in other towns. Communities have found these projects to be important community development and economic development tools, improving both the quality of life of towns and bringing in more business.

Dockery said Wellington reports 70 percent of the visitors to its water park are from out of town. Other communities report 50 to 75 percent of traffic is from out of town. He also said he expects a full project to cost between $2 million and $4 million.

"There is a huge need for community effort, and we are looking at funding from foundations and grant opportunities," Dockery said

The Texas Parks & Wildlife Department (TPWD) is one possible source of grant funds. Other communities have received 50/50 funds from TPWD in awards for water recreation projects ranging from $300,000 to $1.5 million.

"One hundred percent of funds raised will go to the single goal of a pool or water recreation project," Dockery said, noting that sustainability in the short- and long-term will be prime considerations also. The floor was then opened to questions from the public.

Question: How do we compare in terms of restaurants and hotels with the other towns that have these facilities?

Answer: We need more motels considered. A connection to the park and restaurants, but if you build the is important for a TPWD grant. traffic those things will come.

Answer: 10 build a waterpark for kids and their families to have fun.

Question: What liability will the city incur and have you looked into insurance and the need for

Answer: Based on other cities and information from the Texas Municipal League, the city can expect to pay about $2,500 per year for liability insurance for such a facility. Lifeguards are based on formulas of either square footage or capacity. Limited workforce has been a problem for some towns because lifeguards tend to be high school or college students. Clarendon has the benefit of being a college town and therefore a bigger source of workers. Also, along these lines, total payroll at the Wellington Aquatic Venue is about $55,000 for a 56-day season, so the facility creates some jobs. Wellington's total operating expenses were $97,800 for this year; and that facility brought in $98,000 from gate passes, pavilion rentals, and concessions.

money come from? Will taxpayers be asked to foot the bill?

Answer: The money will come from contributions, foundations, and grants. It will take a large effort by our citizens. But it's encouraging that other facilities are breaking even.

Question: What locations have you considered?

Answer: The location near at Fourth and Kearney east of the Post Office is city-owned and is comparable in size to the area occupied by Wellington's waterpark. It's also connected to the city park. Other locations near the park have been

Answer: Yes. Dockery stated: "If all we can raise is $20, then we could apply for $500,020 in TPWD funds and have a $1,000,040 project. But whatever we can accumulate we would apply for that match to TPWD."

Question: Are you looking at a three-month season or yearround season?

Answer: The longer its operated the more sustainable it will be and more unique it will be for Clarendon. It will also cost more to build. Everything comes down to dollars at this point.

Question: How much was the facility at West Texas A&M Univer-

Other public comments:

• Appreciation and applause for the benefactor and the goal, but concern that Clarendon needs more jobs and shops first. Perhaps do the project in phases as Clarendon grows.

• Noting that Clarendon has what many other communities do not, US 287 traffic gives us the edge if we have something for people to stop for. Do it right and we can have

Committee comments:

Dr. Robert Riza - Consider the impact that 280 students on our college campus has on this community for nine months of the year. We can have that impact all year long with this project.

Johnny Floyd - If you have friends or others who couldn't be at this meeting, encourage them to ask their questions of any committee member or Mr. Dockery.

Cotton Festival begins Friday

Hedley will be the place to be this weekend with the 64th annual Cotton Festival taking place Friday and Saturday, October 9 and 10.

The Hedley Lioness Club will get things going Friday with a Chili & Stew Supper at 5 p.m. The club will also be selling chances on a quilt. After the supper, everyone is encouraged to go to Memorial Field and support the Owls as they take on Ft. Elliott in some exciting six-man football.

Saturday begins with Breakfast Burritos from 7 to 9 a.m. followed by a Motorcycle Show from 10 a.m. to noon sponsored by Tripp's Harley-Davidson of Amarillo.

Street music all day will be provided by Pat Chesser and others; and activities downtown will include Knocker Balls from Abilene, a Greased Pig Contest, Human "Happy Hippo" Game, and a Bow & Arrow game. Other vendors and games will also be happening during the day.

The Lioness Club will be open for a quilt show Saturday, and the Lions Club will host a catered BBQ dinner at noon.

The Hedley Senior Citizens will sell hamburgers from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. The Senior Citizens will also hold raffles for two guns - a .44 Henry Golden Boy and a .38 Special Pink Lady. Both guns come with $50 for ammunition. The Hedley Volunteer Fire Department will also be raffling a BBQ grill.

Hedley's One Act Play team will host Bingo all day. See their ad on page five of this week's ENTERPRISE for more information on the great prizes they have lined up. After 4:00 p.m. the HHS Junior Class will have a concession stand in the Senior Citizens building. The Hedley Senior Class will hold a Bake Sale, and the Rowe Cemetery Fund is also planning a Cake Walk & Bake Sale.

The Little Prince and Princess contest will be another attraction during the day. The Kiddie Parade will begin on Main Street at 1:00 p.m., the big parade will begin at 2 p.m. with line-up an hour before at the school. The Adamson-Lane American Legion Post #287 will lead the parade with as the Color Guard.

All former students and teachers of Hedley School are invited and encouraged to attend the Hedley Ex-Students Reunion, which begins at 3 p.m. at the School with a catered Reunion BBQ Dinner at 5 p.m.

The names of all raffle winners from this year's festival will be announced at the Lions Hall at 6:00 p.m.

Steve, Danny and Billy Mullins with Original Band will close out the Cotton Festival with live music and dancing at the Red Barn beginning at 9 p.m.

Reaching a milestone

They say time flies when you're having fun, and it certainly appears to be the case as your editor marks 20 years on the job this month.

Two decades is a milestone to be sure. Some folks might say that's a good point to shift directions. In my case, it puts me just under half-way to my great uncle George Wayne Estlack's mark as having the longest tenure in our paper's history.

To say that a lot has changed since 1995 would be a vast understatement. Clarendon has changed, the newspaper business has changed, and Lord knows our world has changed. Some things we could see coming, and many things have caught us by surprise.

My position gives me some advance notice of things to come from time to time. For instance, I learned four weeks ago from a press release that there is "A strong likelihood that October 7, 2015, will be the End of the World!" This column is being written October 6, so I'm assuming you're going to be around to read it. If by roger estlack you're not, well, I guess I just missed the biggest news event of my career and I apologize in advance for not forewarning you last month. I just didn't want you to panic.

If I thought tomorrow really was "the end," I'd write a more appropriate column for our final issue. But honestly, the world has ended, the anti-christ has come, and the country has gone to hell many times since October 1995.

We do our best to deal in the facts as best we can discern them and leave the prophecy and nail-biting to Surprises have been in abundance. If you had brought two fifth graders and a pre-Kindergarten student into my office that first week I was on the job and told me that I would be married to one and the others would largely run the paper by 2015, I'm sure I would not have believed that. And yet here we are... and with a Cub Reporter and a Cub Photographer learning the ropes to hopefully follow their old man someday.

My professors at Texas Tech prepared my generation of journalism students for what they thought the digital revolution would bring to the newspaper business. They weren't far off with how our paper is now read on electronic devices, but I don't think anyone expected how totally dependent people would become on their "telephones."

We can disseminate information now quicker and to a wider audience than we could in 1995 when we were bound strictly to the printed newspaper. But our obligation – my obligation – remains unchanged... to bring you the most accurate information we can, to connect our readers with the stories they care about, and to do what we can to improve our community.

This year's National Newspaper Week theme is "Power of the Press." That power or influence is derived from the trust that you, the reader, places in your local newspaper. Your faith in us and our advertisers' support of us allows us the privilege of keeping you abreast of everything you need to know about life in Clarendon and Donley County. From what your city council is doing to what's going on with this exciting waterpark opportunity to how the Broncos, Owls, and Bulldogs are doing to who has the best sales this week, it is our honor to serve you.

Thank you all for your support these last 20 years. Your confidence has meant the world to me and my family, and we look forward to continuing to serve this great community.

Three cheers for the Post Office gang

A youngster asked the riddle without expecting an animated response. "What do the post office and the 8-ball have in common?" Answer: Both are typically linked to the word "behind."

Still, most postal employees are friendly, knowledgeable and helpful, somehow managing smiles at a time in history when both they and their patrons are harried and hurried.

The other day, a postal friend – call him Ray – said he and his associates often face situations not covered by manuals, directives or even the counsel of authorities higher up on the civil service food chain.

Ray contributes what he can to reduce tensions. A veteran at the counter, he provides "by the book" postal services, accompanied by quips such as, "Here's a receipt to remember your money by," or numerous other smilemakers, like "Just get it out of here" quips when patrons don't want to spend any money for extra services.

Some happenings are long remembered in a joking manner even if anything but funny at the time. One route carrier – Marvin was his name – was alert for dogs lying in wait at certain addresses. He wasn't ready for a cat springing from behind a shrub, locking claws of all four feet into his leg. The animal was finally dislodged, one claw at a time.

Another carrier named "Jo" didn't know what to do when a turkey – wings flapping wildly – "attacked," seemingly at war with the postal vehicle's windshield. She managed to make the mail delivery, but a sub driving the route later was chased back to her vehicle by a turkey – presumably the same one. Turns out the wild turkey, somewhat domesticated, didn't take to postal folks....

Fever pitch at the post office is reached during the final five minutes or so before closing time. That's when folks arrive with mailings that "must get out." Situations are mindful of the guy who owned a computer capable second....

Other awkward situations produce predictable requests, most of them bobbing up in the churning sea of human error. "I forgot to put a stamp on an envelope I dropped in the drive-through box" is a boo-boo commonly heard. Sometimes, patrons say they forget to affix stamps – or even to address envelopes. Some aren't sealed. A key to reducing many foul-ups is making certain to provide return addresses. We can help by arriving earlier and smiling more. I grin in recollection of the old door signs: "No dogs allowed except seeing eye dogs." People without eyesight don't see signs – and dogs can't read. I reserve the right to be wrong. There may even be an "app" for that, or at least a postal regulation....

Why community newspapers matter

store and my barber tells me jokes..." —Roger Miller

ROLLING FORK, Miss. – The chosen theme for this year's National Newspaper Week is "Power of the Press," and that power, it seems to me, is a very rela-

Everybody understands the power of, say, The New York Times or The Washington Post, but probably less recognized and appreciated is the power of the Deer Creek Pilot and the thousands of other small, community newspapers just like it all across the land.

In survey after survey, it is these little community-minded newspapers that are continuing to thrive. And there are some very tangible, observable reasons for that, not the least of which might be the notion I share that the smaller the community, the more important its newspaper.

For more than 20 years now, I have put out a little country weekly that's been published continuously for 138 years in what most folks might consider Backwater, U.S.A., the two poorest counties in the poorest state in the union with a combined population of less than 6,500 men, women and children.

And it is neither flippant nor hyperbolic when I say that little country weekly newspaper is the only news organization on the planet Earth that gives the first tinker's damn about Sharkey and Issaquena counties, Mississippi. That, folks, is what makes the Deer Creek Pilot mighty, mighty important to those people who call that place home.

While mine might serve as prime

"I got credit down at the grocery example, it is in that respect no different from all those other community newspapers in all those other towns in this Community newspapers have the power to bring about great good and make a profound difference within their locales. And among the good ones, the ones who endure and even prosper, there is always to be found one common denominator-trust.

In a small town the local newspaper is not like the local hardware store. It simply isn't.

In a small town, every newspaper subscriber thinks he or she is a stockholder, because there exists a real relationship, an implied contract, if you will, between that paper and its readers.

They buy your newspaper, advertise in your newspaper, sometimes even when they don't have to, based on a simple precept: They trust you to do your very best to find the truth and to tell

News travels fast in a small town; bad news travels even faster, but all too often that "news" is no such thing. All too often, that "news" is little more than rumor, sometimes made up out of whole cloth and at best some grain of truth exaggerated in its retellings vastly, and often alarmingly out of proportion.

In a small town, readers expect their newspaper to separate the wheat from the chaff and then to "tell it like it is." And why not?

The community newspaper is not some monolithic entity; its editor is not some ivory towered "big shot." He or she is also a neighbor. He or she is one who goes to church with you, or stops to chat in the grocery store or is always there to volunteer at community functions or stops to shake hands or just waves in

More importantly, he or she is the one everybody else trusts to promote those things that are beneficial, and to try to stop that which is not. There's a fishbowl effect in small towns, and its newspaper is hence, often its lightening rod. It may be praised one week and dog-cussed the next, but it is not only impossible, but really not important that it be liked. It's important that it be respected and it is even more important that it be trusted.

I have been in this crazy business for some 38 years now, at both the daily and weekly levels, and been blessed to receive a few accolades along the way, but the greatest single compliment I have ever received came from a saltof-the-earth little lady who stopped by the office to pick up a hot off the press edition featuring the issue du jour in my

The Clarendon Lions Club had its regular Tuesday noon meeting October 8 with Boss Lion Jacob Fangman in charge.

We had 18 members, Lion Sweetheart Kendra Davis, and two guests this week - Matthew Stidham, guest of Lion Darrell Leffew; and Brian Fuller, guest of Lion Robert Riza.

Brother Stidham provided lively piano playing with our opening song, "Down by the Riverside."

Lion Riza reported on college activities and said the volleyball team will play Odessa this week and a hypnotist will be on campus Thursday. Lion David Dockery reported that the water recreation town hall meeting was well attended.

Lion Mike Norrell said the Broncos will open district against Lockney this Friday, and he praised the junior high student council for volunteer work they did at Prospect

Lion Roger Estlack reported that the Chamber of Commerce will have its next Business After Hours social at the Best Western Red River Inn this Thursday evening at 5:30

Mr. Fuller presented a program on Clarendon College's Quality Enhancement Program (QEP), which will be part of the accreditation process for the college this month. "Attend to Learning" focuses on attendance and student success at the college. Studies show that if a student is successful their first semester in college, they will likely continue to be successful. As part of that QEP, students who have a 90 percent attendance rate and earn a C or better in all their classes this fall will receive a $200 scholarship when they return in the spring.

With no further business, we were adjourned to spread Lionism and good cheer throughout our fair county.

Les Beaux Art Club's artist spotlight

The Clarendon Arts Festival will be October 24 and 25 at the Donley County Activity Center. These week's featured artists are Enrique Mier and Gary Ward.

Enrique Mier grew up in the small town of Coruna, Mexico. At the age of 6, his family moved to Houston, and then eventually Pampa, from where he graduated. After enrollment at West Texas A&M, Enrique became an artist and began to build a style for his work.

His art deals with the idea of free enterprise in America, and combines the different aspect of charcoal with a more assertive use of acrylic, creating a juxtaposition within the media. The contrast in the two medias represent the cultures that cannot afford the price of high

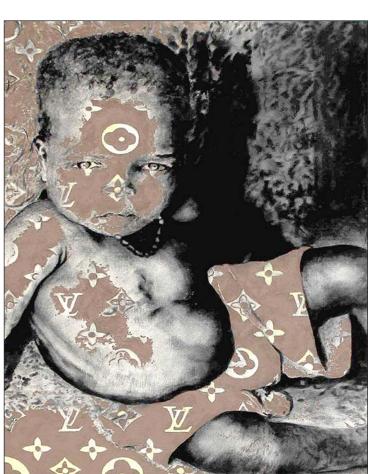

Gary Ward is a second generation artist from Canyon, Texas. Growing up in the cowboy culture under the influence of his artist dad, the late Jim Ward, he developed an early appreciation for Western art. Working primarily in pastels, Gary loves to paint the people, animals, and places that make Texas and the West unique.

Gary has participated in numerous shows over the years including The Panhandle Plains Invitational, Western Trappings on The Llano, Cowboy True, Western Heritage Classic, and the Stamford Cowboy Reunion Art Preview Party and Sale.

New Aspirin Formulation Approved

The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) recently approved an extended-release formulation of aspirin called Durlaza. It is the first aspirin with this formulation designed to slowly release the medication in the body over a twenty-four hour period. Durlaza was approved to help prevent a second stroke or events like a heart attack from happening in a person for a second time. Aspirin helps stop blood platelets from sticking together and forming a clot. This new aspirin will be available as a prescription drug in a one hundred and sixty two and half milligram dosage form.

Durlaza may increase the risk of bleeding and may cause ulcers in the lining of the stomach. The risk of bleeding increases if other medications are also taken, such as one of the nonsteroidal antiinflammatory drugs (NSAIDs). Ibuprofen (Advil) and naproxen (Aleve) are common NSAIDs. Signs of internal bleeding may include bright red blood in the stool, stool or vomit that looks like coffee grinds, extreme pain in the stomach, or an extreme headache. Any concerns about these side effects should be addressed to a

NOTICE OF ELECTIONS & REFERENDUM TEXAS PEANUT PRODUCERS BOARD AT LARGE

The Texas Peanut Producers Board will conduct a referendum on a statewide increased checkoff amount for peanuts in conjunction with its 2016 biennial election. Eligible voters will decide if an assessment of up to $3 per net ton, which is produced and sold in Texas, would be collected and submitted to TPPB, effective May 1, 2016. (The current assessment rate has remained fixed since 1990, despite vast economic changes over the years).

According to the Texas Commodity Referendum Law, Texas Agriculture Code, Title 3, Ch. 41, Subchapter C, Section 41, a person is eligible to vote in the referendum if he or she is, or for at least one production period during the three years preceding the date of the referendum has been, a producer of, or caused to be produced, peanuts for commercial purposes. This includes owners of farms and their tenants or sharecroppers who would be required under the referendum to pay the assessment. Eligible voters from all four regions will be allowed to vote on the referendum, which will be held statewide by mail ballot.

In addition to the referendum, TPPB will also be conducting its 2016 biennial election in all 254 Texas counties for the purpose of electing three TPPB board members, two members from Voting Region One and one member At Large. There will be a total of nine TPPB voting board members.

There is one seat open for election of an At Large TPPB board member. The At Large member may be from any of the 254 counties in Texas so long as they meet the requirements below.

Peanut producers eligible to vote in the election are persons, including the owner of a farm on which peanuts are produced or the owner's tenant or sharecropper, engaged in the business of producing peanuts or causing peanuts to be produced for commercial purposes. Any qualified producer may vote for an At Large nominee regardless of residence.

Any eligible voter-producer may place his or her name in nomination to serve as a director on the TPPB. Nomination applications must be submitted to TPPB, signed by the applicant and ten additional eligible voters.

Nomination forms for the At Large seat will be available in all 254 Texas counties or can be obtained by writing TPPB, 4205 N. I-27, Lubbock, TX 79403. Please state your county of residence if you request a nomination form in writing. Nomination forms will be available Nov. 23, 2015 and must be filed no later than Dec. 23, 2015.

The election/referendum will be held by mail ballot. Ballots containing the nominations of all persons who have validly filed petitions under Section 41.025 of the above stated code will be available Jan. 9, 2016. Ballots will be available at peanut buying points and county agent offices, or by writing TPPB at the address stated above. Voters may also vote for board members by "writing in" the name of any eligible persons. Ballots must be postmarked no later than Jan. 23, 2016 to be counted.

TPPB is certified under Section 41.011 and Section 41.021 of the Texas Commodity Referendum Law to conduct this referendum and has obtained all approvals and determinations required by law from the Commissioner of Agriculture, Texas Department of Agriculture.

Bronco JV plays tough Canadian team

By Sandy Anderberg

The Clarendon Bronco junior varsity has had a stellar season, but they fell short against a good Wildcat team in Canadian losing 16-28 Thursday night.

"We could tell we were a little rusty after being off a week," coach Brad Elam said. "Defensively, I thought we played well the first half and held them to a 6-0 lead at halftime. Offensively, we struggled to move the ball.'

However; the Broncos were able to put some good plays together before the break but could not score. Nathan Shadle found Preston Elam "We did have a couple of big plays," Elam said. "A run by Ryan McCleskey and a pass to Bear Smith from Noab Elam."

Elam thought the Broncos came out flat in the second half, which good," Elam said. "But we are going allowed the Wildcats to put two more to have to clean a lot of stuff up touchdowns on the board to increase their lead. 100.881944&zoom=13&type=r ADDITIONAL NOTICE. TCEQ's Executive Director has determined the application is administratively complete and will conduct a technical review of the application. After technical review of the application is complete, the Executive Director may prepare a draft permit and will issue a preliminary decision on the application. Notice of the Application and Preliminary Decision will be published and mailed to those who are on the countywide mailing list and to those who are on the mailing list for this application. That notice will contain the deadline for submitting public comments. PUBLIC COMMENT / PUBLIC MEETING. You may submit public comments or request a public meeting on this application. The purpose of a public meeting is to provide the opportunity to submit comments or to ask questions about the application. TCEQ will hold a public meeting if the Executive Director determines that there is a significant degree of public interest in the application or if requested by a local legislator. A public meeting is not a contested case hearing.

OPPORTUNITY FOR A CONTESTED CASE HEARING. After the deadline for submitting public comments, the Executive Director will consider all timely comments and prepare a response to all relevant and material, or significant public comments. Unless the application is directly referred for a contested case hearing, the response to comments, and the Executive Director's decision on the application, will be mailed to everyone who submitted

Thornberry welcomes Panhandle veterans to Washington

WASHINGTON - More than 40 Panhandle veterans, family members, and volunteers traveled to Washington last week to tour Congress and the memorials that commemorate their service and sacrifice.

US Congressman Mac Thornberry (R-Clarendon) hosted the group today for a special tour of the Capitol where he had the opportunity to speak to them on the Floor of the House.

"I consider it a great privilege our area that visit Washington as a part of the Texas Panhandle Honor Flight," Thornberry said. "It's an opportunity for us to show them around the very democratic institutions that they sacrificed so much to protect. We were happy to welcome these veterans, their family members, and many other wonderful volunteers who made the Flight possible."

The Texas Panhandle Honor Flight is organized and sponsored by the local chapter of America Supports You Texas (ASYT), which is headquartered in Amarillo. The Honor Flights are part of ASYT's efforts to promote awareness and support for our U.S. military service members and veterans, as well as their families. The group also organizes care boxes for active duty pereach year to meet with veterans from US Congressman Mac Thornberry with the Panhandle veterans during their special tour of the Capitol last week. COURTESY PHOTO

"Organizations like America because of what these veterans sacrificed. Groups like this play an thanks," Thornberry says.

Today, these flights honor America's D. Sauls, Vietnam Army - Amaveterans by paying for and transport-sonnel, sponsors an annual Armed ing groups of veterans from all over Forces Day banquet, and organizes the country to see the memorials designed and erected to honor their service.
