Champs Named In Volleyball Tourney Here

Olton State Bank and Olton Farm Supply teams emerged victors of the senior class volleyball tournament which ended Tuesday night.

The Bank team of ladies to include Boots Grimes, Billie Norfleet, Peggy Poteet, Twila Parker, Virginia Moss, Latrell Stewart and Jo McGill will receive the first place team trophy. This team has established a reputation as Olton's finest ladies' volleyball team by continually capturing the coveted trophy.

Olton Farm Supply's team of men will likewise be awarded a first place trophy. This team includes Gerald Allcorn, James Martin, Andy Andrews, Don Franks, Joe Hall, Bill Lunsford, R. V. Allcorn and Bobby Copeland.

Runners-up in the tournament were Post Office ladies' team and Gray's Garage mens' team. Panhandle Compress ladies and School Faculty men were third place winners.

Forty-eight teams competed in the tournament which began March 7. Games were played all day Saturday and each week-night with the exception of Wednesday evening. Tournament games were played simultaneously in both old and new gymnasiums, thereby shortening the usual three-week bout into eight well-packed days.

High School Senior Class, sponsor of the tournament, cleared $760.00 on the project. This sum will be used to help finance the senior class trip to Mexico City, Mex. in May.

Class sponsors, Mrs. Joe Harper and Don Waldrup, commended students for faithful work they contributed during the tournament and the many participating teams who co-operated with an outstanding show of sportsmanship.

The committee appointed Eldon Franks judge for the May 7 Democratic primary and Laus Hair was named assistant election judge.

Olton Youngsters Sweep Lamb County Stock Show

Olton youngsters almost made a clean sweep of the county stock show held in Littlefield last weekend.

Olton exhibitors showed the grand and reserve champion calves, grand champion barrow and three championship lambs.

Gerry George added another $100.00 to his growing bank roll of prize money with the grand champion calf of the show. John Lynn Burrow showed the reserve champion. Both animals were Herefords.

Grand champion barrow was a crossbreed shown by Carl Motley. Ronnie Johnson of Springlake showed a Poland China to a reserve grand championship.

Champion sheep were shown by Jimmy Tollett, Rose Marie Horn and Roy Neal Jones, all of Olton. Young Tollett won the medium wool class, Miss Horn the fine wool class and Jones the Southdown class.

Reserve grand champion Shetland pony was shown by Karen Lewis of Olton.

Richard Hall was judged top showman in the swine division and Roy Neal Jones won the sheep showmanship.

Here's how Olton youngsters placed in the show.

Mrs. Glass lived alone and did her own housekeeping until she became bedfast a few months ago. She also was a grandmother of Mrs. J. G. Measles of Plainview, formerly of Olton. Both the Blackwell and Measles families attended funeral services.

COMMAND PERFORMANCE SCHEDULED

Second Run On PTA Play Friday

A "command performance" of "More Than Meets the Eye" will be presented Friday evening by local P-T-A players.

The comedy is scheduled for 8:00 o'clock in the evening in the high school auditorium. Tickets will again sell for 50 cents and $1.00.

The P-T-A play, which was acclaimed as "one of Olton's funniest" following the first performance February 26, will be presented again due to inclement weather accompanying the first showing.

Proceeds from Friday's performance will be added to that taken in previously and will be applied on the cost of new furniture purchased for the junior high library.

Feminine members of the all-star cast include Mesdames Rex Chitwood, Dub Hall, Owen Norfleet, Major James, Bobby Copeland and Miss Latrell Stewart.

Messrs. E. J. Moore, Bob Gullett, Troy Martin, Morrison Asman and Dick Bentz will carry the male roles.

P-T-A members are anxious to present the three-act comedy for the second time because of the "raves" given it by first-nighters, and also to eliminate another fund-raising campaign which would otherwise be necessary to meet budget requirements.

Neighbors Plow Whitaker Field; 74 Men Take Part

Pungent odors of prime earth of spring mingled with warm feeling of friendship Wednesday as some 74 men gathered with 54 tractors to plow the 350-acre Tom Whitaker farm.

The Whitakers' son, Joe, was injured in a feed mill accident at the Whitaker farm 6 miles north-east of Olton Dec. 28. He has been in a coma at a Lubbock hospital since.

Plans to plow the Whitaker fields primarily was made by Rev. E. Lee Stanford, pastor of Olton Methodist Church, and Dick Cade, chairman of the board of stewards. Almost all denominations of the community were represented in the work of friendship.

Cloys Fancher acted as foreman at the farm Wednesday. His assistant was J. L. Snider.

Methodist women prepared lunch for the workmen. Lunch was served at the church.

Paving Most Urgent Need Say Clinic Participants

HAS 38 MONTHS EXPERIENCE IN MANAGEMENT

Dick Whiteley New COC Manager

A Lockney man has been hired to replace Wayne Cooper as manager of Olton Chamber of Commerce & Agriculture.

He is Dick Whiteley, who was manager of the Lockney Chamber for 38 months.

Dick is a native of Wheeler County, having been graduated from Kelton High School in 1940. He was a radio operator and aerial gunner in Europe during World War II.

Returning to the States, he

Former Olton Resident Dies In California

Jordan Dickenson, 57 years old, Wrightwood, Cal., brother of W. B. Dickenson, Sr., of Olton, died recently at Wrightwood.

He suffered a heart attack. Mr. Dickenson was a native of Olton and lived here until the late 1930s. Funeral services and burial were at Redlands, Cal.

Survivors, other than W. B. Dickenson, include the wife; two daughters; two grandchildren; and three other brothers, Jack of Melrose, N.M., O. O. of Brady and Jim of Redlands.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Dickenson attended funeral services.

Hospital Facilities, Full-Time Dentist Rated High On Want List

Paving was cited as one of Olton's most urgent needs by all six of the groups taking part in the Community Clinic conducted here Tuesday by Olton Chamber of Commerce & Agriculture.

Dick Whiteley, manager of the Chamber, said 157 persons participated in six separate sessions of the clinic.

Need for hospital facilities and a medical doctor here also was high on the list of community needs pointed out in the clinic. Need for a full-time dentist was brought into sharp focus.

DICK WHITELEY

Need for recreation facilities for young people was discussed at every session. Promotion of a city park was discussed at length.

Drain Lake
Possible drainage of the city lake came up throughout the day. Also there were several suggestions that more welfare of the instructional variety be provided for Latin-Americans. There was talk of providing classes in child care for Latin-American mothers.

There were six sessions in the clinic which was supervised by Ralph Duncan of West Texas Chamber of Commerce. They included sessions with high school seniors, housewives, retail merchants, professional people, employees and farmers.

Olton housewives—town and rural—held one of the most animated sessions of the entire clinic although attendance was cut somewhat by a sandstorm raging at its peak of intensity during that session.

Similar to other sessions, paving, hospital facilities and recreation for young people held the spotlight of their discussion. They also favored instruction in child care for Latin-American people.

They expressed concern about sanitation conditions at the city lake and city dump. One woman said rats frequently venture out of the rubble at city dump and bite sleeping children who live nearby. Much has been done by the city during the past year to rectify this condition.

Senior Class

The high school seniors noted that organized groups of teenagers still go out of town for recreation. It was pointed out that although Olton has as much or more recreation facilities as any other town its size in the country, most of it is monopolized by grown-ups.

The youngsters cited the need for year-around theater facilities here.

One of the most appalling things brought to light during the clinic was the fact that only two high school seniors of a class of 48 expect to live here when they complete their education. Youngsters pointed to lack of job opportunities as the reason for their decisions to look elsewhere for a place to live.

The young people put paving and hospital facilities high on the list of needs of the community.

Need Industry
Need for paving, hospital facilities, medical doctors and a full-time dentist again came up at the retail merchants' meeting. Industry for Olton also was discussed.

The group discussed promotion of a dollar day, better merchandising, better merchant-customer relations and a better understanding between farmers and businessmen.

The professional group discussed promotion of housing for sale and rent, a hospital, paving and drainage of the city lake.

The employee group discussed need for paving, recreation facilities for young people, FHA and rental housing, hospital facilities, medical doctors and job opportunities.

Housing Facilities

Farmers discussed need for more housing facilities for sale and rent, building of a city park, hospital facilities and exploration for new crops and new markets. One farmer suggested that the Chamber study the possibility of promoting a crop contest, offering prizes for best quality and quantity on given acreage.

Information gained through the clinic will be compiled into a book. Suggestions made during the clinic will be used as guide posts in formulating a program of work for the Chamber for the next five years.

"HOME WAS HELL," SAYS CLOVIS LAD

Kindly Olton Folk Lend Boys A Hand

"Home was hell," Clovis Lad said in a bitter statement as an eruption rather than an assertion Monday from a 14-year-old Clovis boy arrested here Sunday night in a stolen pick-up.

The youngster and his 15-year-old brother left home after "a fight with the old man."

"He said he was tired of us and was going to call the law on us," declared the eldest of the two. "He hit me with his fist and I hit him back. My mother just sat there and watched him. He stays drunk and beat us up with anything he picked up."

Later investigation revealed that the boys' parents were separated when the children were small. Their mother re-married, divorced and then re-married the boys' father. The father works only part-time.

The boys were enroute to the home of an aunt in Plainview in the stolen vehicle when it stalled here. Night Officer Ernest Holland took the boys into custody.

After learning who they were and how they came to Olton, he called Deputy Sheriff V. L. Smith. They enlisted the aid of G. B. Stanley, minister of Olton Church of Christ, Marcus Breland and Bill Bennett pitched in to help. A kindly FBI officer, Dick Dyer, here to investigate a federal charge against the boys—transporting a stolen motor vehicle across a state line—pledged his cooperation.

After a lot of "red tape," Mr. Stanley secured a release from the boys' parents and from a welfare agency involved. Officers quoted the boys' parents as having said, "We don't want them. Send them on to the reform school."

Instead of going to a reform school, the boys will be going soon to a Church of Christ orphanage in Hollis Okla., for a new chance at a Christian upbringing. For this they can thank a group of conscientious officers, a dedicated churchman and some Olton citizens who want to see all youngsters get a decent break in life.

Sweet Corn Meeting Set Next Tuesday

Sweet Corn Production Acreage will be discussed at a meeting Tuesday in the high school study hall. The meeting is scheduled for 8:00 o'clock in the evening.

"Those interested in production of sweet corn should be present at this meeting, as it is necessary to determine how many farmers will be planting sweet corn," stated Wayne Cooper, Chamber of Commerce manager.

THE CRACKER CRUMBS

By Celie Waldrip

Still inspired by our recent trip to the principals' convention and tour of the western country-side, I'm thrown into my usual state of dilemma in trying to think of something else to talk about.

Having expounded at great length about our jaunt to almost everyone interested . . . and some who probably weren't but minded their manners anyway, bless their hearts . . . any footnotes here added would either be anti-climactic or met with the statement, "You'd think those poor souls had never been out of town before, the way they carry on."

Suffice it to say, the scenery, tours, people, meetings, entertainment, weather and everything were enjoyable and exciting . . . and to the delight of the defenseless reader I'll omit the verbal ecstasies.

With just a little encouragement, however, I would mention the one dark cloud that hovered over an otherwise perfect vacation. Possessing this rare characteristic of being more adept at complaining than complimenting, a woman would pounce on the only irritating element of a lovely two weeks, wouldn't she?

This "disturbing element" is mentioned only with the hope that those anticipating a cross-country trek may have fair warning and avoid it.

The clue to complete traveling satisfaction lies in a few words . . . shy away from red-caps, bell boys, porters, cabbies, hosts, guides, and just about anybody who looks as though he might be anxious to do a favor, carry something, or open a door.

It was our experience during this particular trip, to discover the initial expense of such important items as food, transportation and lodging are mere trivia.

The big blow came when we stepped off the train and into the eager clutches of the above mentioned helpful little men with arm and open palm paralyzed into an ever extended, ever rigid position. These little men may be further identified by their obsequious miens and fawning natures . . . and the dollar marks that serve them as eyeballs.

In one city we found that cab drivers not only charge customers the usual preposterous taxi fare, but add an extra twenty-cents per person for "personal service".

This "personal service", as far as I could tell, consisted of opening the cab door, slouching lugubriously, and entertaining with sad tales of the low salaries of cab drivers who have six months to feed at home.

A tired traveler cannot even venture into the ladies' room without first dropping a quarter in a slot. She is then expected to tip a "hostess" for doing nothing save emitting "Good morning" and looking knowing and helpful.

In another perplexing incident, a red-cap who officiously toted our luggage was "tipped" for helpfully emptying the entire ridiculous contents of a hat box in the lobby of Union Station.

Behind every door and around every corner lurks a little man eager to make the traveler feel at home . . . for a nominal fee, of course.

We asked one of these ever-present little men how to get to a particular resort hotel we wanted to visit. He went into the details of the finer points of map-making, gestured, thought, pointed, changed his mind, drew pictures, tore them up, and started all over again. This continued for some twenty minutes while we stood on one tired foot and then the other.

Finally we ventured to interrupt the maze of instructions with "well, maybe we can find it", and deposited the inevitable coins in the helping hand.

As we hurriedly headed for the nearest exit, the man called over his shoulder . . . "But the roads is all closed since nobody goes up there this time of year and besides a snow slide covered up the lodge last week and there ain't nothing there to see." This, while pocketing the "tip" for all that important information.

I made the horrible mistake of asking a porter-looking fellow the time of day. After giving a hesitant answer he continued to stand with that all-too-familiar beseeching look, as if I should give him two and a quarter for his trouble.

Being full up to here of this "gimme . . . gimme" business, I turned on my heel and marched off in a manner I hoped sufficiently dignified. During our stay there the porter-looking fellow avoided me as if I were a leper, thinking me a sorry souce of easy money and not worthy of his trouble.

I may possess a narrow view of the "tipping" subject, not being on the receiving end. But I wonder, of all the fine old customs of our country, and as "cash crazy" as we seem to be, how this irritating custom has been allowed to endure.

In Canada we found cheerful assistance and aid with nary an open palm. It is not one of their customs to expect tips, and I suppose it didn't enter their minds to hang around until someone crossed their palms with silver.

One young Canadian carried seven pieces of our heavy luggage to the train, deposited them neatly, said "Have a nice trip", and disappeared. We were so floored at such treatment we considered chasing him three blocks and tipping him anyway.

I'm sure this gripe must be as old as the custom itself, but we had never encountered such a prominence of "tipping" as was found in the Northwest.

The custom has endured the ravages of time however, so I guess it is here to stay . . . although geographically localized in the larger cities, I'm happy to say. Consequently the weary traveler will either be relegated to the paupers' pew or else lug his own luggage.

Actually, I suppose we shouldn't begrudge giving tips to those poor fellows on the coast. They probably need the extra money to meet those "prices slightly higher west of the Rockies."

Yes, each of you have the ability to express yourself—you each have the ability to remember names, faces, and facts—the sole purpose of the Dale Carnegie Course is to assist you to develop these abilities to a greater extent and give you the added confidence and abilities that will enable you to lead a happier, richer, fuller, life in your business, social, civic, Church and family contacts.

The "talk of the town" in Olton the last two weeks seems to have been: "What is this Dale Carnegie Course I hear so much about? . . . 'Are you enrolled yet?' . . . 'Do you think it will help me?' . . . 'Why are the people enrolled so excited about the course?' . . . 'How can it be so much fun and still be so beneficial?' . . . 'I don't intend to make any public talk, should I be interested?'"

Comments of the class members enrolled in the Thursday night class which started January 7th, at the Springlake School answer many of these questions.

Don Spain, owner of Olton Farm Supply said: "By the time I had three sessions of the Dale Carnegie Course I had gained benefits from speaking and public relations to more than replace the cost of the course."

Percy Parsons, owner of Parsons Funeral Home said: "Under the leadership of Lester Campbell, the Dale Carnegie Course has proven to be one of the most enjoyable, wholesome, educational experiences I have ever had."

Connor Parsons, co-owner of Parsons Furniture said: I feel that if everyone takes the Dale Carnegie Course and applies it, they will receive a lot more than their money's worth. It built up my self-confidence and ability to speak before a crowd. I do not believe there is any way to have a closer association with this many people from the surrounding community than the Dale Carnegie Course."

Emmett Harper, farmer-president of Olton Chamber of Commerce & Agriculture says: "The Dale Carnegie Course has helped me gain confidence and meet the public. I sincerely think it will be of great help to the community to develop leadership ability. Cassie and I are taking the course together at Springlake, our son, Kenneth and his wife, Iva, and our daughter, Jeanavon, will be taking the course here in Olton."

Paul Ray Spain, employee of Olton Farm Supply says: "In the past few months I have had many problems, which have given me a depressed

Readers Digest . . . "Some people concentrate on their liabilities . . . and they are wasting their time. They should be working on their assets. In the Dale Carnegie Course, they are shown what their assets are."

Mack R. Douglas, Pastor of the Tower Grove Baptist Church said: "Never before have I had such a wholesome, positive, and effective result of a visitation assignment as from the graduates of the Dale Carnegie Course. I strongly recommend that every person who wants to serve God and others better can certainly learn to do so by taking the Dale Carnegie Course."

Lowell Thomas, famed radio commentator and lecturer, said: "A movement for adult education is sweeping the nation today; and the most spectacular force in that movement is the Dale Carnegie Course."

feeling. The training has helped me overcome worry and has given me a new interest in life."

Wayne Cooper, former manager of Olton Chamber of Commerce & Agriculture said: "I definitely feel the Dale Carnegie Course will help develop more and better leadership in Olton and our community. This in turn will make Olton a better place in which to live, work and raise our children.—In addition I will defy anyone who will really apply themselves, upon the completion of this course, to honestly say the course has not been worth every cent of the enrollment fee."

Robert R. Murray, Jr., President of the Southern Bank of Commerce said: "It is without hesitation that we strongly recommend the Leadership course for any one desiring to increase his income or his personal enjoyment in association with others. We far prefer having a staff member with the ability to practice simple truisms learned in your course than to have one who has assimilated the normal college education but who has not learned how to apply fundamentals of good human relations. Thank you for affording us the opportunity to enroll eight of our staff in your current class."

Dan Nichols, president of a civic club in Carlsbad, says: "In the first place, Carlsbad is a much better place in which to live. Graduates of the first two classes are practicing what they learned and one can't help noticing how some of it is "rubbing off" on the people with whom they have contact. . . . and this cross-section includes bank presidents, clerks, housewives, waitresses, mining engineers, and chemists. Of the 21 club members who took the course. I have yet to hear one word of disapproval. To quote one of our past presidents, Joe Sides, Pontiac and Cadillac dealer, "If I had to make a choice between the Dale Carnegie Course and a college education, I'd take the Dale Carnegie Course." It is the talk of the town how the atmosphere changed in our largest bank, after its three highest officers took the course. That bank is now sending three more employees through the course. As for me personally, I wouldn't take a five thousand dollar bill for the way the course has changed my whole way of thinking and living. You can count on one very interested member in the fall class, my wife. With best personal regards, and my sincere wish that with God's help, you continue the good work you are now doing."

Safflower Test At High Plains Research Station

Safflower will be tested at the High Plains Research Foundation this year in cooperation with the US Department of Agriculture, as a part of the Foundation's program to develop new crops for the area. Five varieties were used in the 1959 tests at Halfway. Heavy hail on June 22, 1959, damaged the crop so severely that the tests had to be abandoned. There is still a possibility that a variety can be found that will be adapted to the area. Dr. Earl Collister, Chief Agronomist, said in announcing the acceptance of the request of the USDA and farmers in the area for further research on the crop. The Foundation has been selected by the USDA to conduct the regional test. This will be the only safflower test of its kind to be made in the area. The varieties to be tested are being supplied by Dr. Lester N. Leiminger, Research Agronomist, of the Agricultural Research Service at Utah State University. The eight varieties to be included in the test are US10, N-6, N-10, N-4051, N-4054, N-4055, Gila, and A5731. Three of these varieties were included in the 1959 test program at Halfway.

Raise a motor boat in a cotton field?

It's not fantastic! And here is why:

Phillips 66 Ammonia helped one Texas farmer realize an added net profit of $54.32 on his cotton, after deducting the cost of ammonia. Seventy acres of cotton like this means over $3800 extra profit... enough to buy a pretty classy boat and motor.

Ask your Phillips 66 Distributor to help you work out a complete fertilizer program with this 82% nitrogen fertilizer.

Fixed Cost Per Acre	$75	$75
Ammonia Cost Per Acre	$5.60	—
Yield Per Acre	847 lbs.	633 lbs.
Net Profit Per Acre	$156.56	$102.24

BILL WALDEN is shown at left filling the fertilizer attachment he built to put down his Ammo-Phos plant food while listing his land. Bill made this attachment to put his Ammo-Phos exactly where it should be to realize the best benefit from the plant food. It places the Ammo-Phos plant food in a band about 2 inches below and about 2 inches to the side of where the seed bed will be when he plants.

Here Bill is shown applying his Ammo-Phos 11-48-0 at a rate of 125 lbs. per acre, as he prepares his land for planting. Bill figures that this attachment saves him 2 trips across his field to apply and plow down broad cast fertilizer. Bill said: "I tried another brand of fertilizer last year and I'm back on Ammo-Phos this year!"
