DA Probes 'After-Hours' City Equipment Use Here

The City of Olton--which has had its share of troubles over the years---faced a new problem Wednesday.

This one unfolded as District Attorney Jack Young of Muleshoe began an investigation Tuesday into alleged misuse of City of Olton equipment.

"It involves the use of city equipment by city employes after normal working hours on jobs for which the city did not receive any pay," the district attorney said.

Young said he had received "several complaints" on possible irregularities, but he added that no formal charges have been

The work in question was done after normal working hours, he said, and money paid for it did not go to the city.

Mayor M.T. James Jr. said Wedensday night that the situation had come as a surprise to him, but that he would call a meeting of the city council in an effort to "get to the facts" of the matter.

James indicated the council would meet Thursday night, if at all possible. It was believed that the principals involved would be called to the meeting to answer queson our staff for anyone who isn't interested in building this community through the youth," Johnny Clark, school superintendent, told school employees Saturday morning.

At a general meeting before the opening of school, Clark emphasized the necessity for all employees working together to build a strong organization. "A good school program is planned. It is not an accident,"

He spoke briefly on the school board having the responsibility for enacting regulations and the business manager, principals, department and division heads carrying out details.

He noted the advisability of using proper channels in school business, saying that it is an advantage to have one person to look to for leadership in each department. Speaking on loyalty to the school he said:

"I feel like I can tell people more that's wrong with the schools in 30 minutes than they can think of in a week. Any of us in the school system, if we're just half awake, know of things that are wrong,'

"We need to look at our weaknesses, not for criticism or gossip, but with the idea of improvement," he added.

In speaking just to the faculty at a later meeting, Clark emphasized the importance of the teacher's responsibility, saying the teacher is first responsible to the pupil, then to the parent and then to the public.

He said that teachers have a special position of public trust and respect and a responsibility of dignifying their profes-

He noted that every dedicated school employee should have an interest in holding students in school and doing as much as possible for them while they are there. He said that no teacher could afford to penalize a student because his memory might be a little slower than others or his skin a little darker.

"We ought to thank God that we live in a country where we believe in the right to be an individual --- the right to be different,' he explained.

Night Classes Set At Wayland

PLAINVIEW, SPECIAL: --Though a 20 per cent increase in resident enrollment at Wayland Baptist College is predicted, the college will again offer evening classes for the benefit of area people who desire special courses, according to Dean Robert G. Collmer.

Scheduled now are classes in art, biology, German, mathematics, music and Spanish. Evening classes may be taken for credit or non-credit, depending on the needs of the student, just as in the last six years since Wayland began offering late afternoon and evening classes.

If demand is sufficient it is possible that other classes could be added to the schedule, according to Dean Collmer. Art 112, Lettering, will be offered from 6 to 9:30 p.m.,

Tuesdays by Donald Jack Davis, instructor in art, who has spent the summer at the University of Minnesota working toward a doctorate in art. Biology 434, Bacteriology, will be taught at a time that suits those desiring to sign up, according to Edwin S. Kajihior, assistant professor of biology. This is the first time in several years that bacteriology has been offered for those desiring it for nursing or technician's work.

The beginning course in German will be offered by Friedrich Horlacher, who arrived Aug. 29 from his home if Ulm, Germany, to teach languages at Wayland. He is nearing completion of his doctorate at the University of Tubingen in Germany. This class will be taught at to 9:30 p.m., Monday and Thursday, in the new electronic language laboratory, which should speed up the learning of the language.

For the benefit of public school teachers Dr. Dorothy Mc Coy, professor of mathematics, will again offer modern mathematics in Mathematics 491, Theory of Numbers at 5 p.m., Tuesday. Dr. McCoy explains that this is sometimes called, "Higher Arithmetic." The course deals with the set of whole numbers which have been studied for centuries. Currently much interest is being revived in them. She says that the amazing thing is that so many questions can be asked for which no one has ever found an answer. The known theorems are both interesting and fairly easy to understand though the proofs often seem such as to require great ingenuity to develop. Dr. McCoy spent six weeks in a Mathematics Institute at Washinder the auspices of the National Science Foundation. Music 102, Fundamentals, will be offered from 7 to 9 p.m., Tuesday, by Paul Newton, instructor in music, who spent ington State College, Pullman,

the early part of the summer

getting new material for this and other mathematics classes doctoral sutdies in musicology at North Texas State University and two weeks in New York City doing research. This is an elementary appreciation course which involves listening to and discussing music but does not require previous knowledge of Miss Myra Applewhite, who has spent the summer studying at the University of Madrid and traveling in Spain, will teach Spanish 212, Conversational Spanish. The class is offered each fall for the benefit of those who employ Latin Americans and those planning travel in Mexico and South America. This year the class will be taught from 7 to 9 p.m., Tuesday, in the new electronic language laboratory.

Requests classes should be addressed to Dean Robert G. Collmer and inquiries about courses to be offered to either Dean Collmer or Mrs. Audrey House Boles,

Checkups Are Cancer Answer

Cancer is often spoken of as the "silent" disease. This is because in many cases cancer grows without giving any symptom. And pain, which is most often thought of as accompanying diseases, is not generally present until cancer is far advanced.

Most cancers can be cured when detected and treated in the early stages. The difficulty in cancer control, then, lies

FOR SALE: 40 A well improved. | with the detection of the disease. Only a physician can tell if cancer is present. Any suspicious symptom should always be examined by the family physician. But often, by the time any symptoms of cancer show up, it is too late. Treatment of advanced cancer is difficult.

The only insurance against this silent growth is a regular, at least yearly, physical examination.

All physician's offices should be cancer detection centers, so the family doctor is most often the front line against cancer. a physical check-up, whether cancer is suspected or not, the personal physician is the person to see.

If cancer is suspected, the family doctor may refer his patient to one or more specialists to confirm or rule out the possibility of caner.

A top-to-toe physical examination will include inspection of the body surface, followed by examination of various organs such as the heart, blood vessels, lungs, mouth, nose, ears, eyes, throat, abdomen, rectum, sex organs and breasts.

The blood, urine, uterine cells, or other body fluids may also be examined or tested X-rays of the chest and other parts of the body and a proctoscopic examination (visual inspection of the lining of the rectum and lower bowel with a lighted tube) may also be performed by the physician. A proctoscopic examination has increased in importance because 70 percent of cancer of the colon and rectum can be discovered in this way.

If a physician suspects cancer, a biopsy is performed and a sample of the suspected tissue sent for microscopic examination by a pathologist (a sepcialist in human tissue examination.) Only a biopsy can definitely establish the diagnosis

The individual is the key to the prompt diagnosis of cancer. For only if a person presents himself to his physician can a diagnosis be made.

THESE PICTURES show the application of Golden Uran last year at the Wally Stewart farm. Wally and his dad, Bert, decided to use Golden Uran for a number of reasons . . . . It's the fast, easy way to decompose stubble safely, without danger from fumes or burns. In addition there's no problem with evaporation in Golden Uran and it's helpful in weed control.
