State Ruling Awaited On James' Tying Vote

Legality Of Vote Questioned

Whether Mayor M.T. James Jr. legally may cast a vote on issues where there is no tie in the city council remained in question Wednesday.

The mayor interprets the law to say that he can. City Attorney Andy Stroebel isn't so sure. Stroebel said Wednesday he is awaiting word from the Texas Municipal League, whom he wrote a week ago.

The question came up 10 days ago at a regular city council meeting, when Mayor James' vote on a parking question threw the council into a 3-3 stalemate.

Attorney Stroebel said he has written an opinion of his own on the question and will submit copies of it to each councilman and the mayor.

"The whole distinction in whether the mayor can or can-not vote," Stroebel said, "stands on whether you have a commission or aldermanic form of government."

Under the commission form, Stroebel said, there are two commissioners and a mayor and each has a vote.

Olton adopted the aldermanic form in 1958, the city attorney said, switching from the commission form.

Under article 1007 of the state statutes, Stroebel said, "if you read all the way to the end, it can be interpreted to mean that the mayor can vote only in the event of a tie."

He cited one case in state law history in which an aldermanic-form council voted on a tax question which required two-thirds approval. The mayor, in that case, cast a vote which decided the issue. Later, Stroebel said, an appeals court ruled against him. "We should have heard something from them (the Texas Municipal League) by now," Stroebel said. "I'm expecting an answer any day."

Mayor James, informed of the city attorney's letter to the state municipal organization,

"As you know, I feel I took a perfectly legal course of action. Of course, I will abide by any decision of the Texas Municipal League.'

James told the council when he cast his vote that he would withdraw it in the event it was found to be illegal.

He said at the time he felt it was legal procedure. City Attorney Stroebel pointed out at the meeting it was his understanding that the mayor could vote only in the event of a tie. However, Stroebel later read a state statute from a law book and said: "This seems to show he can vote."

At the same time, he reserved a chance to check into the situation further. Hence, the letter to the Texas Municipal League.

The Enterprise Wednesday took a short poll of two other men who have served as mayors think of the deadlock reached last week by the city council? The Enterprise took a sort of coffee-talk poll over the past few days to try to find an answer. A few people take it lightly. Said one:

"Looks like we've got another scrap on our hands."
"It's a mighty serious situation to others, who comment: "It's a bad thing for the town. I hope it all calms down." On the surface at last week's council meeting, the stale-mate appeared simply a split vote on a single issue, the question of whether or not to install parallel parking on 8th between Main and G.

But it went much deeper than that, Had the deadlock not occurred, it is almost certain that the three new councilmen would have started discussion of their plans to change some city personnel. Councilman Bob Gullett cleared that point up following the Tuesday night meeting. He said:

"We had intended to bring it up. . .but after the way things turned out we just decided to let it go for the time being." Mayor M.T. James Jr. pulled a surprise on the parking issue. He announced he would vote on the question and referred to state law which he said made it legal for him to vote on issues other than elections if he announced his intention prior to the vote.

When he joined Councilmen Fred Thompson and Bob Duncan in a vote against parallel parking, their ballots offset the three cast by Gullett, G.H. Buchenau and Cecil Gallaway for the question.

Once the story of the deadlock was out, John Q. Public. who ordinarily doesn't pay much attention to his city government, began to take an interest.

Most took sides. Like the fellow who was pleased with the results: "I was glad to see it happen. I don't think those new boys on the council ought to be able to railroad their ideas through."

Another took just the opposite point of view: "That situation gives the mayor too much control, I don't think we ought to be able to have tie votes. Each question should be derived, one way or another." Still another viewpoint:

"It's a bad situation with the council all split up, no matter whose side you take. If those fellows stay split, city government will just stand still."

Many people wonder what will happen in the next few months. Some think things will settle down and harmony will be reached. Others think both sides will be stubborn and the stalemate will continue.

"What will happen when a councilman can't be at the meeting, no matter what side he's on? Won't the side with three men present go right ahead and do things the way it wants to?", asked one man.

Answered another: "No, when that happens the other two from that side probably will be absent too and then there'll be no business transacted."

A quorum is necessary for the council to hold an official meeting and the required number to be present is four.

Another question is bothering some people.

What happens if one of the councilmen moves outside the city limits. Councilman Thompson has just started a new home on Highway 70 and he probably will be moving new home on Highway 70 and he probably will be moving in a few months. Thompson will have to leave the council, just as his brother Ed did a few years ago when he built his new home. In other cases, when mayors D.Y. Ray and Lefty Hollingsworth left office before their terms expired, special elections were held. Whether a new councilman would be appointed by the council or elected by the people could have a large bearing on the balance of power in the group.

City Attorney Andy Stroebel says he will need to check into that question before giving a definite opinion.

The balance could shift easily when a new councilman goes on, assuming Thompson moves to his new home before next April. If not, the decision of how they want the council manned will up the voters when election time rolls around again.

Many people are hoping, however, that the split can be resolved and the present council can work in harmony. "That would be the best thing for the town," says one

In any event, another man summed up the whole situation pretty well: "You can bet the voters won't stay at home when election time comes up again."

Who will get the benefit of the next temper tantrum?

According to reports received each week from Washington, newspapers, radio and television have been under more pressure since the beginning of the Kennedy administration than some veteran reporters can ever remember.

The first step was a request to publishers to do their own censoring. As might be expected, this had little effect on the communicatvns field. Next, came the "official adjectives." Various newspapers were sent lists of adjectives to use when describing members of the Kennedy family. Apparently, the Administration was not

Many Washington reporters are saying they are severely limited as to what they can release. Some say their stories may as well be written by the White House press

If a reporter releases a story that is contrary to the Kennedy wishes, it is highly likely that he will be "cut off." He suddenly may find he cannot see the President or the members of his staff. He can get very little information.

On the other hand, those who are favorable to the Administration are given exclusive interviews.

This brings some reporters, who work for wire services or large dailies, to the point where they must either lose their jobs or betray their profession.

It is a very effective tactic. President Kennedy likes publity, not only for himself, but for members of his family. The only catch is, it had darn well better be on his terms.

Success is a relative thing, someone said. But each of us strives for it and plans his life and actions to achieve it. We wish you success in this most complicated society, but we would remind you not to achieve it at the sacrifice of self respect. Many people write that our young people are weak and unable to carry on the American tradition. This we do not believe. We have the utmost confidence in you all.

Little Fatherly Advice For OHS Graduates

We heartily congratulate the Class of 1962 on reaching an important milestone.

If you live to be 90 it'll still be one of the biggest days in your life. Suddenly you'll have grown about a foot--- and aged some too. For the first time, you'll really be going forward under your own power.

Where to? What next?

Where you go in the world depends largely on how badly you want to get there.

The times we live in offer us plenty of opportunity to "go places," but they are also filled with dangers.

The American way of life offers us the right to live and work in a free society, but there are tose who would take this freedom from us.

We urge you to be alert against these dangers. Take an active interest in the affairs of your community, your state and your nation.

Each of us, in our own way, should be a good citizen and work to preserve the heritage handed down to us by our forefathers.

AN IMPORTANT MESSAGE TO THE FARMER FOR 1962

The PANHANDLE MUTUAL HAIL ASSOCIATION has paid back to the farmers an average of 84c of each premium dollar over the last 3 years for HAIL LOSSES. The loss benefits is the important and simple crux of any insurance policy, and much sweeter than any token dividend or deviation

TEN REASONS WHY PANHANDLE MUTUAL HAIL ASSOCIATION IS ONE OF THE LARGEST CROP HAIL WRITERS ON TEXAS CROPS:

- 1. All Texas policies are reinsured by the LLOYD'S OF LONDON with billions of dollar
- 2. All liability is mapped and limited by section and township.
- 3. Approximately FOUR AND ONE-HALF MILLION dollars paid to West Texas farmers for losses the last five years.
- 4. A-PLUS (EXCELLENT) RATING BY "DUNNE'S FIRE AND CASUALTY REPORT." Required legal reserve (policy holders surplus) maintained at all times and de-posits are kept in LOCAL BANKS throughout the West Texas area.
- 6. The PANHANDLE SPECIAL cotton policy DOES NOT have the REPLANT clause and we DO NOT use the PLANT POPULATION adjustment at any time.
- 7. We do offer the FB-10 and FB-5 cotton coverage (with replant) at reduced rates 8. The PANHANDLE Wheat Policy is the only policy with the "Extra Harvest Expense Award" benefits, also with the 10% credit on Tascosa and beardless wheat, only

- 48 hour waiting period instead of 120 and a premium saving in most counties. 9. Free cancellation on crop failures (See Dates)
- 10. Your PANHANDLE MUTUAL HAIL ASSOCIATION wants to serve you with "THE THINKING MAN'S HAIL INSURANCE.

Be sure and talk to your PANHANDLE MUTUAL AGENT now to compare and study the coverages and rates, because of the many coverages that are now being offered, you need to know which policy fits your West Texas farming conditions the best.

Allowed On Sesame

A special bill allowing farmers to collect part payment for retired feed grain or wheat land planted to sesame and several non-surplus crops in 1962 has been approved without objection by the House of Representatives and Senate of the United States. This word was received by Texas Sesame Growers, Inc. of Paris and Muleshoe from Congressman Graham Purcell of Wichita Falls, who sponsored the original bill. The approved bill is House Resolution No. 11413, and it includes the minor oilseed crops sesame, guar, safflower, castorbeans, sunflower and also flax. Part payment rate is to be set on individual crops by the Secretary of Agriculture. The indicated rate for Sesame is 50 per cent of the farmers feed grain or wheat conservation payment. At the indicated 50 per cent rate for sesame, a farmer whose total milo conservation payment, for example, is $40 per acre can collect $20 per acre and harvest a sesame crop too. He also remains eligible for price support for his planted milo crop

(The bill was signed by President Kennedy early this week.) Congressman Graham Purcell of Wichita Falls, representing Texas Thirteenth Congressional District commented, "This is a bill apparently beneficial to everyone, and especially to the United States Treasury. It will save the government half the cost of retiring any feed grain or wheat land planted to these non-surplus, non-price supported crops. The legislation met with favor in Congress and the Department of Agriculture." County ASCS offices will be advised concerning the details of this new program just as soon as word is received from Washington, according to the State ASCS Director Lewis David of College Station. "We know it is planting time," said David, and we will rush any information we receive to the counties, so farmers can take advantage of the program." Interested farmers should contact their local sesame seed dealer for additional details. In the Olton area, the sesame seed dealer is Olton Farm Sup-

Beware---Poison Ivy

Once again comes the season of the "Big Itch." Poison ivy, that is.

Sooner or later almost everyone gets a touch of poison ivy. Even the apartment dweller whose nearest contact with nature is an occasional stroll in the park can become a victim. There usually is poison ivy in the park. Even if you stay on the sidewalks exclusively, your dog may run through the poison ivy vines and bring it back to you. Or your neighbor may burn some leaves and thereby send tiny droplets of the oil in poison ivy into the air to settle on your skin.

Poison ivy and its close kin, poison oak, are three-leafed climbing plants. On the ground they are about a foot high, but more often they climb up walls, fences and trees. Sometimes they are mixed with honey suckmorning glories and other climbing plants. Poison sumac is a small shrub with small white berries. The effect of all three is the same -- a stinging, itching patch of blisters. Discomfort is acute. If the rash is spread over a considerable portion of the body, it can become a serious affair. There is no cure for poison ivy. There are lotions and ointments that will ease the pain and itching while it runs its course. Because there is no cure, the quacks offer a wide variety of claimed cures. Save

Poison ivy puts hundreds in hospitals every year and thous-ands more go at least once to a physician to get relief. If the face or eyes are involved, by all means see a doctor

The best percaution against poison ivy is to know how to recognize the plants and avoid them. Any natural history book and many encyclopedias have photos of the plants. The main identifying factor is the three-leafed twig. If you have been exposed, wash thoroughly, several times, using plenty of soap and hot water. You may be able to get at least some of the oil off before it irritates the skin. If you get a light case, use calomine or some other soothing lotion.

Some people, who never have had a poison ivy rash, think they are immune. The odds are that they've just been lucky. Very few are immune. Some are more susceptible than others, and these unlucky individuals develop the rash summer after summer.

Next time you go outside for gardening, make a care-ful search for poison ivy. If you find any, spray it with a strong weed killer or dig it out roots and all and dispose of it cafefully. Clean the hoe and rake thoroughly, rubbing them in dry sand or dirt. The oil droplets can cling to tools and clothing for long periods. Question: Is that all there is to it? I just go around and make an application?

Answer: That's the beginning. When you make application for employment, you let a prospective employer know that you are available. He may not need you today or tomorrow. Next week, however, an opening may arise and he will be looking through the job applications filed with the personnel office college degree puts you into a to see if a likely candidate for the job is available.

Question: Then, if Iam suited for the job, they call me and some good company, isn't it possible I might receive sevtell me when to report to work? Answer: Not exactly. The job application that you fill out at a company personnel office does not always tell an employer all that he would like to know about you. The job application provides general information. If you are considered for employment, you will be asked to come in for a job interview at which time more specific questions will be asked.

Question: What preparations ucation really so important in should I make for a job ingetting a "good" job and is it such a factor in company terview?

Answer: You should be pre-pared to "sell" yourself--to convince your interviewer that you are "the man for the job." Employers want neat, intelligent, and efficient employees.

The first impression you make is through appearance. Dress neatly, be well manicured and polished, but don't overdo it. If your clothes are flashy you might be considered to flashy for the job. An interviewer will judge

Industry Seeking Graduates

The high school graduate who does not plan to go to college may face what he considers a difficult task-the problem of "finding a job."

Jobs don't "grow on trees"

as the expression goes but, although some graduates don't realize the fact, industry is actually eager to find qualified and capable high school graduates to fill immediate positions --or to enter training pro-

Some industries have established career guidance committees. Through distribution of press releases and information booklets, these committees inform junior and senior high students of job opportunities and | terests and abilities that con-requirements, colleges offering specialized training, and companies which offer scholarships and financial aid programs.

For example, a 24-page book-let, "Grow with an Exciting Business," describes opportunities in the paper industry in such major areas as accounting, engineering, marketing and science. It also lists colleges which offer specialized training in pulp and paper technology. The booklet also cites the intribute to success in various

I wish to express my appreciation to the people of Lamb County for the excellent vote you gave me in the May 5, 1962 Democratic Primary Election. Your vote and influence were greatly appreciated, and I hope that I am deserving of your trust. I shall do my best to serve you with prompt and courteous service at all times. If I can be of service to you on any school question. please do not hesitate to call on me.

As you should know I am serving as your present County School Superintendent and it takes most of my time to perform the duties of the office. However, I will try to see as many voters as possible between now and the General Election in November. If I fail to see you, please accept this as a personal solicitation of your influence and support in November as this election will determine who shall be your County School Superintendent for the next four years.

e join your family, friends and this entire community in wishing each of you well in whatever endeavor you may plan for the future. Your graduation is an important achievement and, if you want it to be, the first step toward greater ones.

We would also impress upon you the importance of this day for another reason. Education, as we know it, is the foundation of democracy and the American concept of liberty. James Russell Lowell expressed it eloquently: "It was in making education not only common to all, but in some sense compulsory on all, that the destiny of the free republics of America was practically settled."

In other words, only an educated people treasure and strive for freedom. Contrary to what the propagandists preach, the great masses of the communist world are not educated. The selected few are allowed to continue their education after elementary school and enter a profession of their choice. You, on the other hand, have a free choice and thus become the master of your own destiny. You are, then, the master of the destiny of your country. What it will become in the next two or three decades depends almost entirely upon you. To keep your heritage, your freedom, and self respect will require your greatest effort. We wish you well and ask God's blessing upon your

Career In Selling To Or For Farmers

Young high school and college graduates with actual farm experience never had greater opportunity to make money than they do today. How? By selling to--or for-farmers.

Job and career possibilities in agricultural selling are many, and their number grows all the time, according to a report by Sales and Marketing Executives -- International, which has hundreds of affiliated clubs throughout the farming regions of the country.

Because he understands farming, farmers and their needs, who is better qualified to sell to or for farmers than the farm boy himself?" the report states. "Furthermore, why should a farm boy throw away all his farm experience and head for some totally unrelated occupation, when men are needed in many farm-related industries?"

In recognition of this situation, Sales and Marketing Executives--International has developed a program--"Careers in Agricultural Selling." Colleges and universities (Cornell University is a notable example) have been encouraged to establish courses in salesmanship oriented to agriculture. Corporations, through SME's own Youth Education Sponsorship program selling as a career among young people in farming communities. The same funds also provide for the placement of college graduates with farm experience in sales posts, while giving undergraduates and boys generally part-time employ-ment to help with their educa-

Its reliability is probably its greatest single asset

When you build a quality truck, the inclination is to run around asking users what they think of it. We do quite a bit of this.

It's a funny thing. You'd think people would talk mostly about the mechanical features of the vehicle—the good ride, its power, the double-wall construction, cab comfort, or tough tailgate.

These things get comment, of course, but they're consistently outnumbered by expressions of satisfaction with the dependability of a Chevrolet truck. Its greatest single asset seems to be the fact that it does its job well day after day without a lot of fuss or attention—and that's what impresses people the most.

Quality is the key to reliability. The next time you have to buy a truck, call your Chevrolet dealer and make your money go farther.
