Mayor Cannot Vote, TML Opinion Declares

Council Deadlock Appears Untied

Olton's mayor has no vote in the city council unless there is a tie among the councilmen.

That is the effect of an opinion received from the Texas Municipal League by City Attorney Andy Stroebel.

As a result, a 3-3 voting deadlock in the Olton council is broken, apparently in favor of a trio of councilmen elected in April.

The TML opinion, written 13 years ago for the City of Comanche, was forwarded here in answer to questions raised following Mayor M.T. James' surprise vote on a parking issue.

The mayor's vote threw the council into a tie, and stalled enactment of an ordinance to put in parallel parking on 8th between Main and G.

Mayor James, asked to comment on the TML opinion Wednesday, said:

"If that's the way it stands legally, we'll abide by it."

James, in casting his vote at this month's council meeting, did so on his interpretation that a mayor could vote in cases other than ties if he announced his intention prior to the vote.

The mayor, who was joined in the voting by councilmen Bob Duncan and Fred Thompson, said he would withdraw his vote in the event it was found to be illegal.

New councilmen Bob Gullett, Cecil Gallaway and G.H. Buchenau voted together, in favor of the ordinance.

Gullett, also asked for comment Wednesday, said:

"I don't have anything to say, other than it was just one of those things where a legal opinion was necessary. We weren't sure how it was."

The TML opinion, written by the law offices of Hart, Brown and Sparks of Austin in August, 1949, brought out these major points:

1. "The mayor has no right to vote in any matter coming before the city council unless the vote between the aldermen is tied, in which event he may cast the decisive vote, provided, however, that in elections he shall have no vote in any event."

2. "A quorum at a regular meeting will consist of three or more aldermen without regard to whether the mayor is present or absent. A quorum at a called meeting or at any meeting requiring two-thirds of the council will consist of four or more aldermen without regard to whether the mayor is present or absent."

3. "If the mayor and five aldermen are present, the majority necessary to pass an ordinary ordinance or resolution will consist of the votes of three or more of the aldermen."

4. "The majority required to enact an ordinary ordinance or resolution at a called meeting is exactly the same as is required in a regular meeting. The difference between the two meetings is in the number of aldermen required to constitute a quorum."

5. "The mayor has no right to vote on a resolution to override his veto. A majority of the aldermen (three in your city) can enact an ordinance over the veto of the mayor."

6. "In the absence of a statutory requirement that a stated proportion of the whole council or the whole board or a stated proportion of those present is required for the enactment of an ordinance, if a quorum is actually present, a majority of those voting on the issue is sufficient for its enactment."

"Thus, in the consideration of ordinary business before the council, a majority of those present and voting is sufficient for the passage of ordinances and resolutions, if a quorum is actually present."

Confusion in the interpretation of the law apparently resulted from this passage from Article 1007 of the state statutes:

"The mayor shall preside at all meetings of the city council, and shall have a casting vote, except in elections."

The TML opinion says: "The determinative question is: To what extent and for what purposes is the mayor a member of the city council?"

"It is now our opinion that in the case of general law cities, . . . the mayor is a member of the city council only as the presiding officer thereof, and that he has no vote on any question coming before the council, unless there is a tie vote between the aldermen, in which event he may cast the decisive vote, and that he has no vote in any event in elections."

The TML opinion thus has the effect of making the 3-3 vote on the Olton parking issue null and void.

Although Mayor James' vote apparently will not be counted, the ordinance will not go into effect automatically.

City Attorney Stroebel said the document has not been signed by the mayor and that it is in an inactive status. Stroebel said he thought the council would have to start anew on the issue, either by dropping it or voting on a new motion for adoption.

TWINS BORN FOUR HOURS APART---These two infants, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Barnett of Olton, were born on different days over the weekend. They weighed 2 lbs., 13 ozs. and 3 lbs., 1 oz. at birth.

Twins Have Different Birthdays

Twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Barnett of Olton, born two months prematurely Saturday night at Community Clinic, will have different birthdays.

One of the twins was born at 9:17 p.m. May 19, and the other arrived about four hours later at 1:10 a.m., May 20. The children have not been named.

Although the heaviest of the two weighed only a little over three pounds, both seemed to be doing well, according to an attending physician.

One of the infants weighed 2 lbs., 13 ozs. and the other 3 lbs., 1 oz. at birth.

The twins are expected to be hospitalized about six weeks.

Barnett, a farm laborer who works for Royce Bearden, and his wife have six other children.

Olton Racer Grabs Honors

Don Hardy of Olton and his partner, Kelly Chadwick of Floydada, recently won first place in drag racing at the national division championship meet at Memphis, Tenn.

The Hardy-Chadwick team is now placed second in the nation, topped only by a team from California. Hardy and Chadwick have 80 points and the California team has 90 points.

"We go to Amarillo next week for a regional meet," Hardy said. "We'll be racing every week for the next 14 weeks. The winner will be announced then."

The national winner will receive a new Pontiac car.

Hardy and Chadwick were given two trophies and $125 in cash at the Memphis meet.

The California team now in first place will also be at the Amarillo meet.

"We feel like we have a good chance," Hardy said. "Most of the rest of our meets are not too far away. We have to go to Oklahoma City, Colorado and Dallas, but that's about as far as we'll have to go."

Four regional meets are held each year. A team can pick up 40 points at the regional meet.

Hardy, son of Mr. and Mrs. L.L. Hardy, is employed at Thompson Chevrolet. Chadwick is basketball coach at Floydada.

IN COUNTY HOMES

Quiet--TV At Work

The television set seems to be a "must" to Lamb County residents, according to a report from the 1960 Census of Housing.

The radio, telephone, washing machine, clothes dryer, home freezer and even the mighty auto take a back seat to that wonderful marvel of progress, the TV.

According to the report, there are 6,474 occupied housing units in Lamb County and 5,683 of the units boast a TV set.

Those who aren't watching may be listening since 5,902 also own a radio.

Anybody who's ever had a telephone call—usually a wrong number—in the middle of Ben Casey or Bonanza could probably explain why there are only 3,700 telephones in those units.

One amusing aspect of the report is the contrast of the 5,683 TV's with the lower figure of 5,486 reported in sound condition with all plumbing.

Apparently the residents are too busy watching to go anywhere for only 3,385 owned a car.

A large number of the residents may be "sweating out" their favorite "shoot-em-up" in more ways than one since only 628 households have air conditioning.

The washing machine was counted at 3,867 the clothes dryer at 1,332 and the home food freezer at 2,060.

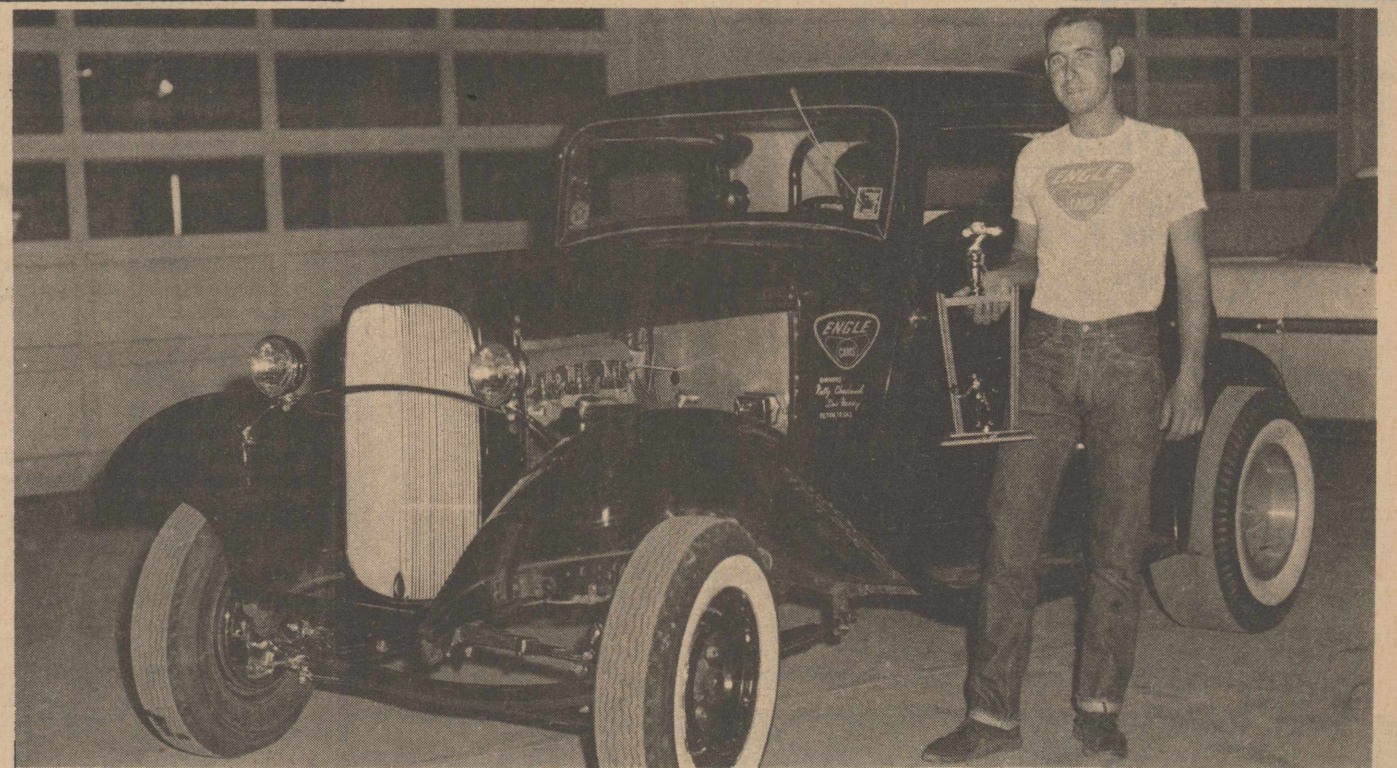

Families having two automobiles numbered 1,807 and those have three numbered 375.

Total housing units in the county numbered 8,419 with 3,685 occupied by the owners. Median value was placed at $6,900. Of the rented places, 2,789, median gross rent was $54.

Basements were in 422 of the homes and 67 were trailer homes.

Television still has another step to go, however. It was topped by the number of units with hot and cold running water, 6,087; flush toilet, 6,215; and bathtub and shower, 6,163.

If Lamb County is at all typical of the country as a whole, one might conclude that we are a nation of clean, TV watchers.

DON HARDY, Olton drag racer, and a partner, Kelly Chadwick, Floydada, brought home another big victory last weekend with a first place in drag racing at the national division championship meet in Memphis, Tenn. The Hardy-Chadwick team is now ranked second in the nation, topped only by a team from California.

Correction, Please

If there is anybody in the United States who has more sources of information than the President, then we would like to know who he is. Therefore, it came as something of a shock when the President, at his press conference Thursday, said:

"Well, as you know, the Billie Sol Estes case came to public attention when the United States government indicted him April 5."

Later, in case anybody had failed to get the point he was trying to make, the President repeated himself:

"As I have stated before, . . . this matter came to public attention because this administration indicted Mr. Estes, before a state agency in Texas, or any place else moved."

Surely one of the 75 FBI agents the President announced are now working on the Estes case should have tipped Mr. Kennedy that the first public mention of Billie Sol Estes' phony farm empire came last Feb. 12 when the Pecos Independent and Enterprise, a semi-weekly newspaper, published the first of a three-part series questioning the existence of 33,500 anhydrous ammonia tanks for which mortgages had been obtained by Estes.

By digging into the records of Estes' chattel mortgages, Oscar Griffin, editor of the newspaper, found what he expected—mortgages totaling about $35 Million secured by not more than $5 Million worth of tanks.

Editor Griffin had begun his own private investigation last August that culminated in the series of stories that toppled Estes' house of cards.

As for the tanks, a few did exist, but mostly there were phantoms, with serial numbers for placement only on the mortgage papers.

The investigation of Billie Sol Estes started only after the Pecos Independent and Enterprise got curious in print. The finance companies, which held the worthless paper, took a long second look at the bogus mortgages and then called on the federal government for action.

One of the finance companies, which had invested heavily in Estes' mortgage papers, found $7 Million of them to be phony.

Ironically, if United States Department of Agriculture officials had ever insisted on a complete, certified accounting of Estes' "net worth," they would have found he had practically none—and the political scandal now casting a shadow over the Kennedy administration would have been avoided.

One of the biggest favors granted Billie Sol Estes in Washington was the Department of Agriculture's acceptance, without question, of a faulty, incomplete audit of his wealth.

Estes brought it to the nation's capital in January, 1961, while seeking to have the department rescind an order increasing the bond on his grain storage warehouses from $700,000 to $1 Million.

The audit the Department of Agriculture so co-operatively accepted showed his "net worth" in January, 1961, to be $13.7 Million. On his income tax return Estes listed his total wealth as minus $3 Million.

When the time comes around for awarding the 1962 Pulitzer Prizes, one of the winners should be the small town newspaper editor from Pecos who refused to take Billie Sol Estes' word for anything.

OFF WE GO!—Diplomas in hand, OHS graduates begin leaving the auditorium following graduating exercises here Friday night. Friends and relatives filled the school auditorium.

Bill Permits More Use Of Diverted Grain Acreage

The U.S. Department of Agriculture today announced program changes which permit farmers greater flexibility in using acreage diverted from wheat and feed grains under the 1962 programs. The changes are authorized by recently enacted Public Law 87-451 (approved May 15, 1962).

Flax, rapeseed and mustard seed have been added to the list of crops that may be grown on acres diverted from production of wheat and feed grains, following the required review of the current supply situation with respect to all of the crops eligible for consideration. Production of guar, sesame, safflower, sunflower, and castor beans on such acreage was already permitted.

The new law amends the Agricultural Act of 1961 by authorizing the Secretary of Agriculture to permit acreage diverted from wheat and feed grains to be utilized for annual non-supported field crops and flax when these crops are not in surplus supply and will not be in surplus supply if produced on the diverted acreage. No price support may be made available for production of any such designated crop on the diverted acreage.

The new law also empowers the Secretary, if further justified by the supply situation of a permitted crop, to establish a partial payment for that crop up to one-half the rate which would otherwise be applicable if the acreage was devoted to conservation uses.

Accordingly, a determination has been made to provide partial payment for 1962 on diverted acres planted to guar, sesame, sunflower and castor beans. These payments will be computed in the case of guar and sunflower by taking 20 percent of the applicable commodity rate for minimum diversion for the farm.

The partial payment rates for castor beans and sesame will be computed by taking 30 percent and 40 percent, respectively, of the minimum regular rate for the acreage involved.

Safflower, flax, rapeseed and mustard seed may be grown on diverted acres but no payment will be made. Flax produced on the diverted acres will not be eligible for price support, but any other flax on the farm may qualify for support.

The Department's revised regulations for administering the amended Agricultural Act of 1961 will include the following provisions:

—Signup will not be reopened and previously stated intentions to divert may not now be increased.

—Producers may redesignate diverted acreage only for the production of one or more of the permitted crops. This redesignated acreage may already be planted to the permitted crop. However, the producer will be required to pay the performance cost of any such redesignation.

—Permitted crops disposed of as a green manure, or destroyed by natural causes by a deadline date (not later than 30 days prior to the normal harvest date for the applicable permitted crop as determined by the ASC State Committee) may be considered as a conserving use provided other conserving measures are carried out, if necessary, to protect the land throughout the 1962 crop season. The original program payment rate will be reestablished in such cases. If the permitted crop fails or is disposed of or not harvested after the disposal date, no upward adjustment will be made in the program rate.

—If a producer elects to plant the entire diverted acreage to a permitted crop for which no payment will be made and an advance payment has been made, he will be required to refund the advance, but no interest would be charged.

—Participation under the new provisions shall not serve to extend the compliance deadline date for wheat, barley, corn or grain sorghum.

—Each producer who wishes to take advantage of these provisions should go to the ASCS County Office and request a change in his intentions not later than Jun 29.

Don't cuss the climate. It probably doesn't like you any better than you like it.

ROLLING CULTIVATOR

PATENTED

The business end of the Rolling Cultivator is the ductile iron spider. Note that it turns the opposite way from ordinary tools—instead of just picking the ground, it slices through and displaces the dirt as it rolls. Fast flying spiders work at field speeds up to 3 times faster than ordinary cultivators. Three gangs of spiders work each row, one directly over the crops, the other two on the side of the row—each gang independently floating to insure thorough cultivation coverage no matter how uneven the ground. You can angle the gangs to throw dirt toward or away from the plants or get more or less agitation. The rear gangs can be tilted to work bedded ground or the sides of furrows. Sweeps work the middles and the cultivation is complete.

Working for Texas

Meet a fellow Texan: Preston Smith.

Preston Smith's story is in the best Texas and American tradition—a farm boy who worked his own way to an education and a place of honor in his business and community life.

Born in the heart of Texas, at Georgetown, he moved with his family to Dawson County in 1923 when he was 10 years old. He went to school at Sunset, Lamesa, and Texas Tech. In his adopted home town of Lubbock, with his wife Ima and their two children, he now carries out the full responsibilities of a typical Texas business and civic leader.

A steward at St. John's Methodist Church—member of the Salvation Army Board, the Kiwanis Club, the Chamber of Commerce, the Texas Farm Bureau—these are some of the activities close to the heart of Preston Smith, citizen.

He did not stop there. In his daily pursuits Preston Smith came to realize that business and government are closely related in the American system—and that without good government we cannot have a favorable climate for good business. A man of direct action, Preston Smith went into the business of government. He served six years in the Texas House of Representatives and six in the Senate.

Senator Smith has supported sound statewide legislation for better schools, roads, welfare and conservation. He took the lead in establishing a permanent building program for state colleges. He had the integrity to support necessary state spending and the courage to oppose extravagance and waste. In government, as in business and at home, Preston Smith believes in meeting our obligations and paying our bills.

Having proved himself as one of the best-rounded, best-equipped, best-informed and most highly respected Texans in both his private and public careers, Preston Smith was a logical candidate to succeed Ben Ramsey as Lieutenant Governor of Texas.

Voters in 102 counties gave Preston the lead over four opponents in the First Democratic Primary. Now he is in the runoff. He got there without the support of any self-serving group or power bloc. His opponent has the endorsement of labor leaders and other special interests who want to dominate our state government.

Preston Smith asks only for the votes of individual Texans who want a Lieutenant Governor without any strings attached. He is depending on independent-minded Texans everywhere to vote for him on June 2.

Elect your independent candidate for Lieutenant Governor—

"Modern?" That's like when you've got (Gas) Air Conditioning!

"Modern" is a real hard word to explain. Like, fr'instance, if you were talking about the "newest" in Summer comfort—the Sun Valley Gas air conditioner. It's the "most" in Summer comfort, because the air is the "coolest," and "cleanest" and stays that way when it's "hottest" outside. You might say it's the "economical"est," too, because it uses low-cost, dependable GAS. And no moving parts in the heating or cooling cycles make it the "maintenance free"est" of any unit on the market. So I guess you'd say "modern" ends everything with an "est," like the Sun Valley does.

Use Of Cotton Bagging For Cotton Bales Encouraged

COLLEGE STATION, May 24—A pilot program aimed at diverting low-quality cotton and cotton by-products into a bagging material for cotton bales has been announced by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The raw material for the bagging would come largely from the short fibers removed from cotton during ginning by lint cleaners. This lint, much of it now burned at gins, can be combined with other cotton by-products or low-grade cotton to make serviceable cotton bagging.

Under the pilot program, a payment of $1 per bale will be made for the use of all-cotton bagging, up to a maximum of 100,000 bales. Payment will be from funds provided by Public Law 320. The program will begin on a date to be announced and terminate with the respect to the use of the bagging and filling of claims on June 30, 1963. Studies will be made during the operation of the program to determine the practical and economical value of this bagging.

The cost of the bagging will exceed that for jute which is now used. Producer organizations have indicated a willingness to assume part of the added cost during the initial stages of manufacturing and introduction of cotton bagging. As production machinery and methods are developed, costs are expected to be reduced to make the material competitive with other types of bagging. In addition, the used cotton bagging will have a greater re-use value than the present jute bagging, the USDA officials said.

Details on the pilot program, including instructions for making application to participate, may be obtained from the Cotton Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA, Washington 25, D.C.

A good paint job on exterior woodwork not only improves the appearance of a building, but protects it from the weather, says Bill Smith, extension forester. Paint can greatly increase the service life of wood above the ground, he adds.

HPRF Test Results Told

Six fertilizer experiments on cotton were conducted at the High Plains Research Foundation during 1961. They consisted of: (1) various rates and ratios of nitrogen and phosphate; (2) six different sources of phosphate; (3) six different methods of phosphate placement; (4) four different sources of nitrogen; (5) magnesium and trace elements and (6) preplant and sidedressed applications of nitrogen. Delbert Langford, associate agronomist, conducted the tests. Data on the tests are reported in Research Report No. 46, issued by the Foundation.

Four fertilizer treatments out of the 15 compared showed significant yield increases. These were 40-0-0, 40-40-0, and 4-120-0. Fertilizer used in these tests were Urea (45 per cent N) and Triple super phosphate (46 per cent P2O5). None of the fertilizer treatments had any effect on Micronaire or strength of fiber. The basic fertility level of the soil was quite high. Rainfall of 13.87 inches and 11.9 inches of irrigation was received during the planting to harvest period.

The six different phosphate materials were applied at the rate of 80 pounds of P2O5 per acre. Nitrogen in the form of Anhydrous ammonia was applied at a total of 125 pounds per acre. Yields ranged from 711 pounds per acre with 20 per cent super to 797 pounds with phosphoric acid (52 per cent P2O5).

The phosphate placement test included 230 pounds of ammonium phosphate (13-39-0) per acre. This gave 30 pounds of nitrogen and 90 pounds of P2O5 per acre. Anhydrous ammonia was then applied at the rate of 100 pounds nitrogen per acre. These made a total of 130 pounds nitrogen and 90 pounds of P2O5 per acre. The highest yields from the six methods of application were obtained from the fertilizer banded three inches from the row and bands ten inches from the row produced the second highest yield.

New tests designed to measure the carry over of nitrogen and phosphate from year to year have been initiated this year.

MORE FARMERS PLANT DEKALB BECAUSE--- YOU CAN DEPEND ON DEKALB!

DeKalb stands behind its products. That's why the DeKalb people were the first to offer free seed for replanting in event of hail or washout.

When hail and hard rain struck in this area recently, DeKalb's Free Replant Offer came in handy for Don Huguley, who farms southeast of Olton.

Don had 40 acres of DeKalb F-60 washed in when a three-inch rain with hail hit his place. He picked up his free replant seed without delay.

Don Huguley has planted DeKalb for several years. He says, 'It's better than any other seed I've found.'

Farmland Values At New High In County

Despite the fact that farming is not much more satisfying, from an income standpoint, than it was in 1954, the value of farm acreage in Lamb County has zoomed amazingly.

The Government reports that local farmlands have risen 60 per cent in value since then, partly the result of a change in the number of farms.

They now command higher prices, acre for acre, than farm properties in most other parts of the United States.

The figures are revealed in the latest nationwide Census of Agriculture, released by the Department of Commerce.

It sets the value locally at $265 per acre for land and buildings. This compares with $166 per acre five years earlier, when the previous agricultural census was taken.

Elsewhere in the United States, farm property is bringing $114 an acre for land and buildings. In the West South Central States, the price is $92.

One of the reasons given by the Department of Agriculture for the rising cost of farmland is the small amount of it being offered for sale. It points out that the number of farms on the market has been at a low level in recent years and that no change is apparent now.

Grain Sorghum Test Results

One of the major decisions that a farmer makes every year is the date to plant his crops. Research by Delbert Langford, associate agronomist at the High Plains Research Foundation, on the date of planting grain sorghum, suggests that certain dates are more favorable than others. The grain sorghum date of planting test included four different planting dates: (1) April 20; (2) May 15; (3) June 1; and (4) June 25. At each date of planting hopes of better times ahead?

Or does another theory, put forth by a Department of Agriculture economist, hold the answer? He suggests that some farmers, who would like to sell, are holding back because of the capital gains tax they would have to pay, due to the increased value of their property.

Such a tax could be considerable, he points out, noting that within the lifetime of many present-day owners, values have more than tripled.

In a period of only five years, the current survey shows, the value of the average farm in Lamb County, counting land and buildings, has gone from $62,919 to $96,251. Part of this rise, however, was due to the increase in acreage per farm, resulting from consolidations, and must be discounted.

two varieties of an early maturing, medium maturing and late maturing grain sorghum were planted.

The report prepared by Langford indicates that the average time from planting to bloom was 24 days longer for the April planting than for the June 25 planting. From this standpoint the early planting was less favorable because more water was required to grow the crop to maturity. The April planting required 18.5 inches of water where as the June 25 planting required only 11.3 inches of water.

Langford stated that height of plant and its standability is important. The hybrids in this test planted in April averaged 12 inches shorter in height than the same hybrids planted June 25.

The May 15 and June 1 plantings produced the best yields last year. There was no advantage in the April planting with respect to early harvest. Little difference was noticed in the moisture content of the grain from the April and May planting which were harvested on the same date. Additional information can be obtained in High Plains Research Foundation report No. 29. The date of planting test will be conducted again in 1962.

You couldn't set a price... in dollars and cents... on the great assets of this community in which we live and work... our places of worship, the facilities for preparing our children for their places in the world, the friends who live around us and take part of the community load on their shoulders, and the stores and shops always ready to take care of our daily and emergency needs.

- These things... not to be valued in terms of money... are not free. But we can buy them for nothing.
- We buy them... without price... when we trade at home... as our trade stimulates the community prosperity which determines the number and quality of these aids to fuller living that we are privileged to enjoy. And they actually cost us nothing... extra.
- Because... part of every dollar we spend goes for the support of these community facilities... for our own benefit when we spend it at home... for somebody else's gain when we spend it in their town or city.

Friend Of The Court May Play Vital Part

Since ancient Rome, an amicus curiae is a friend of the court. He plays a vital part in presenting a court with arguments which help it to reach a just decision. A pending case may well affect many people besides the parties.

A court often welcomes outsiders into a lawsuit who cannot present evidence or question witnesses. Their main role is to inform the court, to write briefs, to tell the court of likely outcomes of its decision.

There are many types of friends of the court.

1. Court appointed Amici. The court may ask a professor of law or a public spirited group to help the court find facts, present the law, or supply other helpful information.

2. Special interest Amici are the largest group. Private commercial interest, trade and similar groups, have money at stake. They too might help the court—but their main purpose is to have the court set a precedent favorable to them.

3. Governmental Amici. The district attorney, Attorney General, or other lawyer for a public agency or the state or U.S. can present a public view of the case—often without a special interest. Such agencies can often inform the court how the outcome of a particular case is likely to affect the public.

Sometimes a government agency can represent a state's special interest. For example, California may join Texas in a dispute between Texas and the U.S. over off-shore oil. Or a principle in a water dispute between two eastern states may affect Texas' stake in Rio Grande river water. Though in such a case Texas would speak in the public interest it also has a special interest motive for Texas.

HPRF Tests

Tests using flame cultivation on cotton by the staff at the High Plains Research Foundation were conducted in 1961. The tests included three varieties of cotton, different tractor speeds, pressures, burner sizes and setting. The size of the cotton at first flaming was varied.

Gregg and Lockett 88-A were used in the test as representative of early and late maturing stormproof cottons. The open-boll variety selected was Paymaster 88-90. To obtain the desired seed bed, the test was cultivated twice with sweeps resulting in a bed that was raised two to three inches above the middle. It was stressed in the report that a more efficient job of flame cultivation can be accomplished with a wide, flat bed.

The five treatments used in the test are as follows: (1) check (no flaming), (2) midjet and cross flaming; (3) parallel flaming; (4) cross flaming; and (5) no weed control.

Turman Favors Help For Aged

House Speaker James A. "Jimmy" Turman, candidate for lieutenant governor, said this week that the State government must shoulder its share of responsibility in giving adequate care for its aged citizens.
 "During the past seven or eight years, the State has made some progress in easing the financial burden of our senior citizens through gradual increases in grants," Turman said.
 "The average assistance grant now has reached $54.92, which, of course, is insufficient for many of our elderly people, with their limited income from other sources and little opportunity for any added revenue from employment."
 Turman said the people of Texas would have a chance in November to raise old age grants when a vote is taken on raising the constitutional ceiling $5,000,000. He said he favored the amendment and would work for its passage.
 Turman said the problems of the aged were not to be taken lightly or solved with the passing of time.
 "The problem involves a million Texans, three-fourths of whom have passed 65, with the remaining one-fourth within one to five years of reaching 65," Turman pointed out.

Shrine Clinic Set At Hereford

More than 80 doctors and medical specialists from New York to Hawaii and in-between will be in Hereford June 1 and 2 for the seventh annual Oasis Shrine Club Children's Clinic.
 The medical staff for the clinic will include specialists in cardiology, oral surgery, neurosurgery, eye, ear, nose and throat, laboratory, orthopedics, plastic surgery, audiology and speech and radiology.
 Parents of children who might need special attention in any of the above special areas are asked to contact W.J. "Dub" Reeves, Box 565, Hereford.

Preston Smith For Work Law

Preston Smith, Democratic runoff candidate for Lieutenant Governor, has come out squarely for retaining the Texas "Right to Work" law which provides that Texans can't be forced to join a labor union in order to get or keep a job.
 At the same time he defends their right to join voluntarily "any organization which has legitimate, worthwhile purposes." This would include a legitimate labor union.
 Senator Smith already has called attention to the fact that his runoff opponent is the endorsed candidate of organized labor leaders and several other special interest groups. Smith has not sought any such endorsements, he pointed out.

P-A-G HYBRID SORGHUMS

stand up in the field... stand out in yield!

The combination of standability and yields rates high with sorghum producers. Strong stalks, healthy roots, and bred-in resistance to lodging have earned P-A-G sorghums the reputation for being "up" when harvest time arrives. The large semi-compact heads dry quickly in the field for easy combining. High yields of plump grain will bring you top sorghum profits. I have a good supply of adapted seed and would appreciate the opportunity to serve you. Plant P-A-G hybrid sorghum.
