

"Looks Like A Carnival!"

THAT'S THE WAY Speck Cole describes his pickle picker, a machine which may help cucumber growers cut labor costs greatly. First test runs of the machine worked well at the Cole farm this week.

Olton Man's Idea May Help To Solve 'Pickle Problem'

BY BILL TURNER

J.F. (Speck) Cole, Olton cucumber farmer, had to find some way to save his marriage, so he invented a pickle picker. "My wife told me that if I ever planted another cucumber, she'd just divorce me," says Speck, grinning.

Speck figured he wanted to keep trying cucumbers, so he set out to relieve some of the worries associated with pickle harvesting.

As a result, Speck has come up with a "traveling platform" designed to cut labor costs and speed up the harvesting process.

His "pickle picker", which is manned by eight pickers, a driver and a sacker, got its first real tests Monday and Tuesday of this week.

"I'm convinced it will cut my labor costs at least 30 per cent, and that's conservative," says Speck.

Olton cucumber growers have been almost entirely dependent on bracero labor for pickle harvesting in past years. With bracero labor becoming harder to get each year, most growers have their eyes open for anything which will ease the labor strain.

Many of them have found native laborers unwilling to stay with the stooping, bucket-carrying job of picking cucumbers.

The cucumber harvest probably will be worth about $600,000 in gross value to the Olton area this year. That's based on an average of about $600 per acre on 1,000 acres planted to the crop in this area.

"We can't afford to lose this industry," Cole says. "We need to find something which will save the pickle industry in this area."

You get the idea, watching Speck's enthusiasm over his new picker, that the "traveling platform" may be part of the answer to the pickle labor problem.

After spending about two years working on the project, Cole now has a patent pending on the picker.

The picker is made up this way: It is actually a slow-traveling platform, with eight seats for the men who do the picking. It is powered by an F-30 tractor with a Chevy engine.

The tractor is geared with two transmissions, truck and tractor, and travels at a speed slow enough to allow the pickers to do their job.

Cole is using a 12-man crew at present, including about six braceros. The two extras are relief pickers who also act as sackers when needed.

"It looks like a carnival coming across the field," says Speck.

A reporter who was out to see the picker Tuesday had to agree. A radio on the picker was blaring out Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong music that could be heard 200 yards away. Even the Nationals, who usually prefer their own music, had the spirit.

Cole figures his men can pick seven acres a day using the traveling platform.

Ordinarily, it takes about 15 braceros three days to cover 10 acres.

The traveling platform with 12 people should be able to cover Cole's 16-acre crop in about 2 1/2 days, Speck says.

On top of that, Speck says, "I think the men will be able to pick more cucumbers on this set-up."

"We should gain at least a couple of hours a day in picking time," Speck says. "Last year, we'd quit picking about 4:30 in the afternoon and it would take us til 7 or 7:30 to get the harvest loaded."

Using his picker, he says, the sacks can be left at the end of the turnrow for easy pickup by a truck.

Speck feels the traveling platform will be an inducement for native laborers to work on the local harvest.

"If we can get native labor to do the job, we can save $75 an acre right there," he says. Cole explained that a contract for a bracero costs $52, and it takes three men for two acres.

The Olton farmer says he can already tell that women will do a cleaner job of pickle-picking than the bracero laborer. He is using some women on the harvest at present.

"Women also will take care of the vines better," Speck added.

Damage to vines was one of Speck's major worries when he was designing the implement. But he says the picker isn't hurting them much.

"I really don't believe that the machine will do as much damage as a man carrying a bucket," he said.

The men on the four-row picker are situated one behind another, two to a row. The pickers work opposite sides of the vine.

In the early runs of the machine, the pickers have been busy training the vines to the row, so that they won't lay between the rows during later harvest.

Checking The Operation

J.F. (SPECK) COLE, left, walks alongside the picker, checking the results as the traveling platform moves across his 16-acre cucumber crop.

Olton Girl At National Camp

After a lapse of six years history repeated itself and Olton again had a representative selected to attend the Girl Scout Senior National Roundup from the Girl Scout Caprock Council, which includes 11 1/2 counties.

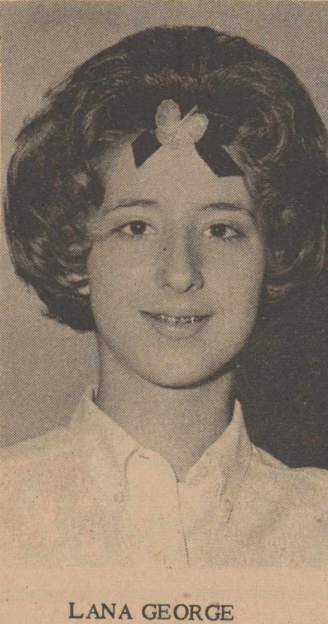

Lana George, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred George, left Monday along with 15 other Girl Scouts from this area to attend the national camp. In 1956 Mrs. Joe Allen, the former Miss Donice Silcott, was chosen to attend the national camp from Olton.

Selected from a large number of applicants by a committee of Caprock Council leaders, Lana had been training for the camp since last winter, according to Mrs. Paul Burrus, patrol leader of the Senior Girl Scouts here.

Armed with a variety of samples of Texas products to swap with girls from other states and other nations, the 16 Girl Scouts from Caprock Council left Lubbock by train Monday for the 1962 Roundup camp on the shores of Lake Champlain in Button Bay State Park, Vermont.

At Amarillo, the two South Plains patrols joined Scouts from New Mexico on a special car which will be attached to the Girl Scout cross-country special train at Kansas City. Stopovers enroute to their destination will include a sight-seeing trip and a program at Toronto, Canada. They arrived in Button Bay today.

Approximately 10,000 girls, 14 through 17 years of age, from the United States and 20 foreign countries will set up camps, practice out-door living skills and provide much of their own entertainment during the two-week encampment which will continue through July 31. They will live in tents.

Cucumber Harvest Comes To Life Here

Banner Year Seen For Crop

Hibernating cucumber graders and other processing equipment came to life this week in Olton as harvest of the vegetable, developing into one of the area's biggest money crops, got underway. "This is one of the best prospective years the cucumber crops have had up here," commented Duane Adock, manager of Dalton processing shed, and as far as it looks now this year's yields should be far above last year's if conditions remain the same.

Processing sheds have moved into operations that have been steadily increasing since the pickle crop was introduced in this area in 1958.

In the past five years the crop's economic importance in the Olton vicinity has become more and more prominent.

The almost 1000 acres of cukes under contract here this year are four times the acreage grown in 1958. Last year, the area had 642 acres in cucumbers.

Farm laborers to pick the cukes have begun flooding fields. Both natives and braceros are being used as laborers by local farmers.

After the first two days of harvest, Adock said about 100,000 pounds of cukes had been shipped from his shed. "The cukes are coming in mighty slow right now but next week we should really be in the swing," Adock said.

At Brown-Miller processing shed, Clovis Potest, manager, expected his first load of pickles Wednesday afternoon. "We'll be pretty well underway in another week," he stated.

Reports were favorable all around the Olton area concerning the cotton, grain and vegetable crops' outlook.

Local farm supply dealers reported a few area farmers have sprayed cucumbers and cotton for insects. "It was mostly lice they were spraying for on cotton and spraying has slowed up from what it was two weeks ago," one man said.

Harvesting of the approximately 650 acres of potatoes in the Olton community is about "half through," according to J.B. Williams, manager of a local potato shed. Yields have been "fair" and prices "a little better than last year," Williams said, and "the weather slowed maturity of the crop."

Marcus Breland, Billy Wayne Clayton, Archie Sorley and Delmer Givens are a few of the local farmers raising potatoes this year.

Williams, who farms five miles north and five west of town, said, "Crops out in this area look good this year."

"We started picking Monday and he (her husband) seems to think the cucumbers are going to be real good. He was real pleased with this first picking," said Mrs. Lee Simmons, whose husband farms 1 1/2 miles west of Olton.

"The grades are getting better as we go along," she added.

Cucumber harvest also began early this week at the Raymond Durham farm, six miles northwest of town.

"If a person lives in Olton, or in any town, for that matter, it's his responsibility to be interested," Johns said Wednesday.

"I just believe one should have enough courage to live up to his responsibility," he said.

Johns and his wife, Jackie, and five children, Lisa, Nina, Eben, Jari and Josi, are members of the First Baptist Church.

Hereford Hits Jackpot

Olton May Be In For Share If Beet Bonanza Pans Out

The Olton area could be in for part of the sugar beet bonanza which could come from an application the Texas Sugar Beet Growers Association has filed with the United States Department of Agriculture.

The application requests that sugar beet acreage reserves established pursuant to provisions of the new Sugar Act be distributed to new farms and growers in this area and a portion of eastern New Mexico.

This could make possible erection of a new sugar beet processing facility near Hereford on a site, the rights to which have already been acquired. The facility is planned to be in operation by the Holly Sugar Corporation not later than the fall of 1965 and possibly by the fall of 1964.

This action was prompted by the new national Sugar Act signed into law by President Kennedy July 13.

Both the Olton Sugar Beet Association and the Lamb County Sugar Beet Association have worked hand in hand with the state association to gain sugar beet quotas for this area.

Capacity of the projected facility would be such as to require the use annually of acreage at least equivalent to the entire reserve, which is understood to be, under terms of the new law, sufficient acreage to produce at least 65,000 tons of sugar annually.

The Holly Corporation also requested additional marketing allotment, in accordance with the new law, to permit it to distribute sugar produced at the proposed new factory.

Merrill E. Shoup, president of Holly, and James W. Witherspoon, representing the Texas Sugar Beet Growers Association, both stated that they hoped prompt and favorable action would be taken by the Agriculture Department on the applications.

"We have made an exhaustive study of the West Texas-Eastern New Mexico area which would be served by the proposed new facility near Hereford," Shoup stated, "and we are convinced that the potential for a successful operation is here. We must depend, however, upon favorable action by the Government on the applications submitted to assure sufficient annual acreage to support an economic unit in the area under consideration."

Holly Sugar Corporation is one of the nation's two largest beet sugar companies, currently operating 10 factories--five in California, two in Montana, two in Wyoming, and one in Colorado.

Co-Op Gin Moves Up In LL Play

Olton Co-Op Gin pulled out of the cellar this week in Little League standings by bagging its third victory over Ed Thompson Implement 16-14, while the Thompson team slid into the bottom slot by losing its last two games.

Olton State Bank needs just one more win to clinch the league championship and can lose both of its remaining games and still tie for first, according to Coach John Schenck.

In action Tuesday night the bank team raced past the Co-Op sluggers 17-2, to nab their eighth win, as compared to two losses. Other action that night saw Farmers Gin beat Halfway 20-4.

Mike Gullett was the winning pitcher for the bank and Donnie Fancher for Farmers Gin. Tony George bombed a home run for Farmers Gin. The same night Farmers Gin played-off a game with Halfway and also took this tilt 9-6.

Under the lights last Thursday night Farmers Gin defeated the league leaders 4-3, paced by Fancher, the winning pitcher. The Ed Thompson team lost to Olton Co-Op the same night 16-14.

The previous Tuesday night, the Thompson team lost to Halfway 8-4, while Olton Co-Op scored a 13-10 victory over Farmers Gin. Garland Huguley was the winning pitcher, and also homered with two men on base, to spark the Co-Op team.

Little League play will end next Thursday, July 26. Action this week set for tonight at 6 p.m. schedules Olton State Bank vs. Halfway, and Farmers Gin vs. Ed Thompson Implement.

Games originally set July 21, will be played Tuesday, July 24, according to John Schenck, coach of the Olton State Bank team. This night the bank will play Thompson Implement and Halfway will clash with Olton Co-Op Gin.

In the final games July 26, the Co-Op will meet Farmers Gin and Thompson Implement battle Halfway.

An All-Star team will be selected from the Little League teams and an All-Star game played at the end of this month, according to Schenck.

Pioneer Gas Gives Its Side Of Story

"We are confident that our present rates for irrigation service and to other customers are fair and reasonable," C.I. Wall, Pioneer Natural Gas representative, has said in reply to a letter from David Burgess, who is president of the Plains Gas Users Association. In a previous letter, Burgess had proposed a reduction in gas rates that would allow the company a 7.2 return based on "fair value."

Here is the text of the letter in which Wall replied to the request:

Acknowledgment is made of your letter dated June 8, 1962 and received by us on June 13, 1962 wherein you propose that the rates charged for irrigation gas service by Pioneer be reduced in the high consumption brackets and incorporated in a five-year contract.

You state in your letter that the proposed rates would provide a return of 7.2 per cent on "fair value." We do not agree. Our rate consultants have made a test of the rates proposed in your letter. They found that the rates proposed by you fall far short of providing this rate of return on the fair value of facilities realistically and properly allocated to irrigation service. Previously, Mr. S.C. McIntosh, who recently retired as Director of the Public Utilities Division of the Railroad Commission of Texas, had advised that the allocation of facilities and expense to irrigation service should be considerably more than the amounts used by you in arriving at the rate of return quoted in your letter.

It is evident that the real benefit of your proposed rates would be only to large users. The last two brackets of the proposed rates are below the cost to us of a large volume of gas we purchase for irrigation service and the sale of such gas would result in a direct loss that would, of necessity, be borne by smaller irrigation users.

You also state in your letter that the Railroad Commission has never allowed more than a 6.5 per cent return on fair value. As you know, this rate of return has been applied to domestic and commercial service. The Railroad Commission has never determined a rate of return applicable to irrigation service but it most certainly would be commensurate with the risks involved and one that would provide sufficient return to attract adequate capital for expansion and improvement of service. To quote Mr. McIntosh, "A business supplying in each year an indeterminate and greatly fluctuating demand and supplying such demand for a number of years which cannot be determined due to the probable partial or complete exhaustion of a natural resource and possible future economic changes in competitive positions is subject to greater risks than normal utility service and in my opinion is entitled to a higher Rate of Return."

Through the year as Pioneer has worked closely with the farmers in our service area in a sincere effort to furnish them a more economical fuel than was otherwise available. All requests for the extension of our facilities have been thoroughly investigated and honored, if at all reasonable. The job of supplying and delivering gas for irrigation service, which often has a very radical change in demand from one day to the next, requires extreme flexibility of facilities and operations—very much different from the handling of domestic and commercial service. The risks involved in the wide fluctuation in requirements from year to year are borne by Pioneer since there is not the compensatory annual minimum which is often charged by others. It is only reasonable and right that the earnings from irrigation should be sufficient to cover the risks incurred.

I have hoped that representatives of Pioneer and the Directors of your Association could sit down together and work out our common problems as was done with many of our irrigation customers in providing gas service to their wells, and, as is being done today, to provide service to wells and areas not presently served.

Your representatives have stated to us that our rates are too high for irrigation service and are too low in the cities we serve. As I stated to you and your Directors, it has been and will continue to be our policy to provide dependable gas service to our customers at reasonable rates and we are confident that our present rates for irrigation service and to other customers are fair and reasonable.

Baptists Schedule Film

Evangelist Billy Graham's newest feature-length dramatic film, "Shadow Of The Boomerang", will have its Olton showing July 23 at 8 p.m. at The First Baptist Church.

Starring vivacious Georgia Lee and television's Buffalo Bill, Jr., Dick Jones, "Shadow Of The Boomerang" is an outdoor action picture with all of the excitement and breath-taking scope of the land, "Down Under". Setting for the screen drama is Australia's "Outback", the continent's vast interior region where some of the world's largest cattle stations are located.

Filmed against the backdrop of the Billy Graham Australian Crusades, "Shadow Of The Boomerang" seeks to underline the Godly reaction to human crises and conflicts. Spokesman for the Christian position is Billy Graham, seen in dramatic Crusade footage photographed at the site of the Evangelist's record-breaking crowds in Melbourne and Sydney. An authentic landline relay meeting which shared the big city Crusades with the stockmen of the "Outback", is used as an effective dramatic device in the story climax.

Sunflowers May Develop As Cash Crop For Area

Farmers throughout West Texas may be growing sunflowers as a cash crop in the near future, if scientists at the High Plains Research Foundation are successful in their attempt to breed improved varieties for commercial use.

The sunflower plant, which was being used by the Indians when the earliest European explorers discovered North America, offers considerable promise as a potential cash crop for West Texas. Of particular importance is the fact that it is a drought tolerant plant well adapted to our soil and climatic conditions. It can be grown with less water than most other crops such as corn, grain sorghum, soybeans, cotton, and castorbeans.

Several hundred plant types from Russia, Canada, Chile, Columbia and South Africa are under study at the Foundation. Dr. Earl Collister, chief agronomist, and Barry Love, assistant agronomist and Paul Belcher, technician, are conducting the plant breeding program. Superior plants are being self-pollinated for use in developing high yielding varieties adapted to complete mechanization. The goal of the breeding program is to develop varieties that can be harvested with a regular grain combine. The sunflower seed could be marketed as an oilseed crop to oil mills, sold directly to feed mills, or consumed on the farm as feed for poultry and livestock. The whole seed in an excellent feed for poultry and livestock. It contains a higher percentage of total digestible nutrients, protein, and fat than many other feed crops, particularly corn, oats and wheat.

Sunflower seeds contain approximately 30 percent oil or fat, which is classified as a very high quality semi-drying oil, and approximately 22 percent protein.

The oil is used in the manufacture of drugs, shortenings, salad dressings, oleomargarine, and liniments. The meal or flour from the sunflower seed is an excellent source of protein, minerals and vitamins. It contains above 50 percent protein, is unusually rich in calcium, an excellent source of thiamine or vitamin B-1, and particularly outstanding in its supply of niacin. From the standpoint of nutritional value, sunflower meal would be a very desirable ingredient in human food products.

Commenting about the future of sunflowers as a crop for the future, Dr. Collister stated, "Sunflowers could be an

Eight Rural Accidents Investigated

The Highway Patrol investigated eight rural accidents in Lamb County during the month of June according to Sergeant D.S. Lawson, Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These wrecks accounted for one person injured and an estimated property damage of $4,675.00.

The rural traffic accident summary of Lamb County from January through June of 1962 shows a total of 79 crashes.

As a result of these crashes there were three persons killed and 54 persons injured. The estimated property damage amounted to $60,360.00. This compares with the first six months of 1961's total of 65 rural crashes killing four persons, injuring 38 persons and causing an estimated property damage of $41,250.00. In a statewide comparison the total number of traffic fatalities are practically the same as they were this time last year.

Organization Lists Films Suitable For Children

What movies are "suitable" for children? Which ones should be discouraged from seeing? According to Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine, a national group has been organized to help solve this common problem for families.

An article in the current issue of the magazine reports that every week representatives of the group, "The Film Estimate Board of National Organizations," are provided private showings of new feature films prior to the general public release.

"Opinions are exchanged and compared in an effort to arrive at a composite judgment as to film content, suitability of the movies for different types of audiences, based on characterizations, interest and good taste," the article states. "No attempt is made to rate movies as inherently 'good' or 'bad' or 'right' or 'wrong.' No censorship is intended or applied." Films are rated for adults only (A), for mature young people (MY), for young people (Y), for the whole family (F), and for the children (C). "The sole object," says Changing Times, "is to furnish a means for selection through an unbiased description of a film."

Members of the board are the American Jewish Committee, American Library Association, Federation of Motion Picture Councils, Inc., General Federation of Women's Clubs, National Congress of Parents and Teachers, National Council of Women of the U.S.A., National Federation of Music Clubs, National Society Daughters of the American Revolution, Protestant Motion Picture Committee, Schools Motion Picture Committee.

Safety Tips For Fishing

Don't let an accident spoil the fun of fishing. Fishing is one of the nation's favorite outdoor sports. It offers relaxation, mild exercise and a welcome change from the everyday routine. But, as every fisherman knows, there are several built-in hazards to fishing that bear watching.

"Sidewinders" (fishermen who swing their arms in a wide arc on the cast) are responsible for many of the hook accidents, says Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association. If you are a sidewinder, be sure your field is clear of other fishermen before casting.

In removing a hook from a fish, hold the fish under the gills so only its body, not its head, can flop and wiggle. Trying to grab a slippery fish and remove the hook at the same time is an easy way to get hooked.

Lures and hooks left lying on the floor of a boat or on the dock are inviting trouble.

Never try to pull a hook out if one becomes imbedded beneath the skin. Your physician will snip off the back end of the hook and push it through the wound. If necessary he will administer antibiotics and tetanus toxoid.

Save your muscles from strain by avoiding excessive rowing or exercise. Protect yourself from sunburn and heat prostration.

563 In County On Govt. Payrolls

A comprehensive survey of public employment in the United States reveals that the number of Lamb County residents on government payrolls is relatively small.

There are fewer people so-employed locally, per 1,000 population, than is the case in most sections of the country.

Taken into consideration were all those employed in a civilian capacity by the Federal government, by the States and by counties, municipalities and other branches of government.

Because government, at all levels, is playing an ever-increasing role in the lives of people, there is heightened interest in the growth of public employment and in its rising cost.

The facts and figures are brought out in a series of reports issued by the Department of Commerce, based on data gathered in the 1960 census.

They show a total of 563 persons in Lamb County who work for some agency of government, not counting those engaged in agricultural administration and control. Of this number, 311 are men and 252 are women.

In terms of the entire working force, it amounts to one government employee for every 8 workers locally.

Specifically, 12.7 percent of the total are listed as government employees, compared with 13.0 percent in the rest of the United States.

The local ratio was lower, also, than that in the West

South Central States, 14.8 percent.

Much of the expansion in personnel is occurring at the municipal level, notes the International City Managers Association, as cities strive to meet the constant demand for more police protection, better sanitation and roads, public welfare and other services.

In a period of seven years, it points out, city employment has risen 20 percent and municipal payrolls have increased 59 percent.

Throughout the United States, the number of civilians employed by all governments, Federal, State and local, is now approximately nine million, equivalent to 46 for every 1,000 people. In the State of Texas, the ratio is 44 per 1,000.

The committee is composed of 13 young adults, both men and women, one from each of the 13 districts in Texas. They were recommended for appointment to the committee by TFB board members.

An organizational meeting was held June 28 at the Texas Farm Bureau headquarters in Waco. The committee voted to meet again July 24 at Corpus Christi in connection with a young peoples conference at the annual TFB training institute for county leaders.

"Purpose of the committee is to evaluate needs and interests of young farm people in Texas, to develop programs in Farm Bureau to meet these needs and to implement those programs," J.H. West of Bishop, president of TFB said.

Check-Ups Prevent Cancer Deaths

Ever since the first spark of life appeared on this earth, cancer has been one of the most fearsome, most enigmatic diseases mankind has had to contend with. But we know more about it than is generally realized. We know enough, in fact, that a diagnosis of cancer need not be considered a sentence of death.

We know that all types of cancer are different since they affect different tissues of the body. We know cancer has no respect whatever for age, although it does occur more frequently after 40. Conversely, we know it ranks high as a cause of death among children.

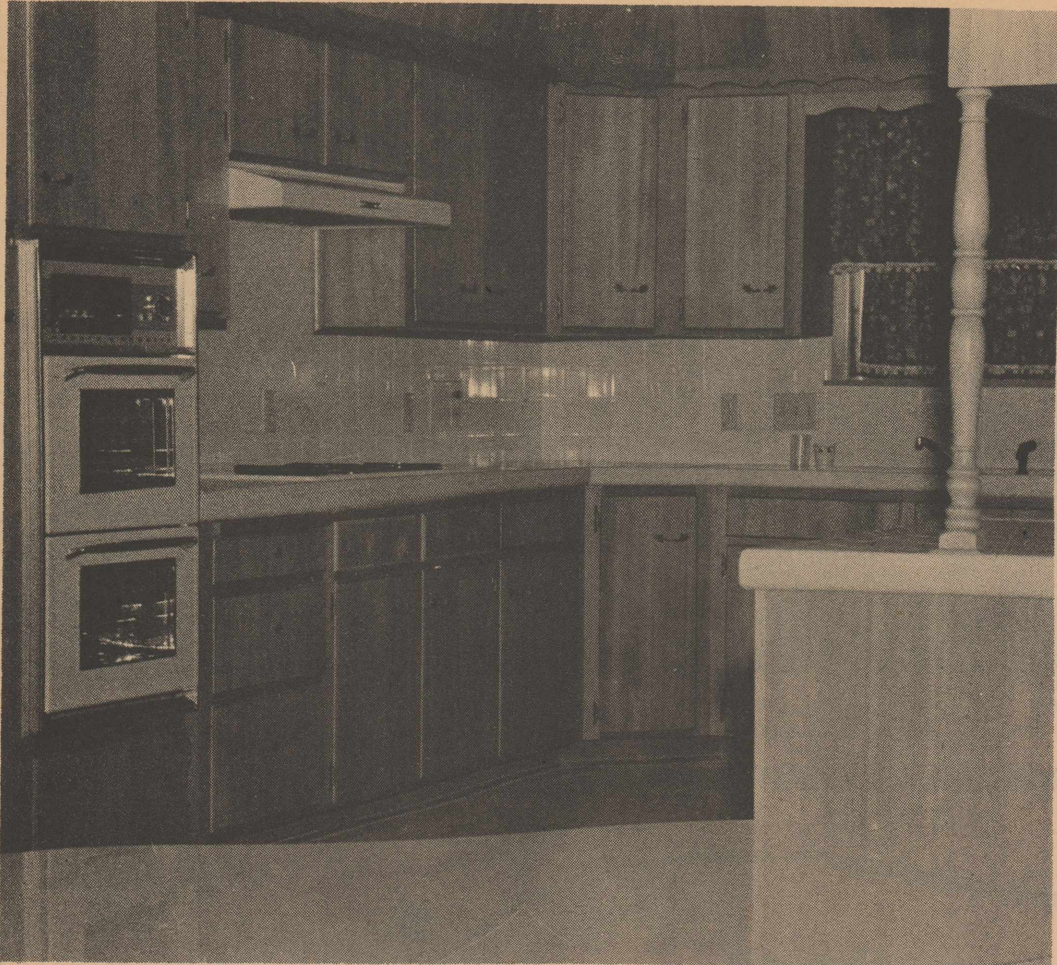

Cancer is not inherited, although a tendency towards cancer sometimes occurs in families.

We know that cancer is not contagious or communicable from one person to another. We know that certain agents or conditions will cause certain types of cancer or are factors in causing cancer. For example, exposure to sunlight over long periods of time (farmers, seamen) is known to cause skin cancer. Certain chemicals such as aniline dyes may cause cancer in experimental animals.

An injury or prolonged irritation of the mouth or lip area such as sometimes comes with habitual pipe smoking is also a factor in causing cancer. Prolonged exposure to x-ray or radium may also cause cancer of the skin or other parts of the body.

Perhaps the most important thing we know about cancer is that many cases can be cured by early removal by surgery or by irradiation with cobalt, x-ray, or radium or a combination of these techniques. Rapid strides are now being made in treatment of certain types of cases with chemical compounds.

Since it can be cured, why do more than 10,000 people die in Texas with cancer each year? Because by the time the disease is recognized it is too far advanced for effective treatment. Many of these persons

A WOMAN'S WORLD---This new modern room contains almost everything a woman could want in a kitchen. It's complete with built-in oven, range, refrigerator, garbage disposal, dishwasher, intercom, and plenty of cabinet space. This was the kitchen planned by Mrs. Dan Gregory in their new home at 1107 W. 8th.

New Blue Flame Home Will Open

The first "Blue Flame" home to be erected in Olton will be open to the public Sunday from 1 to 7 p.m. by C & C Construction of Plainview.

Located at 1107 W. 8th, the new structure is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Dan Gregory. The exterior of the home is Alamo brick, accented by cedar shingle gables.

Primary appliances in the home, which has 2,300 square feet of living area, are fueled by gas. The double garage adjoins the house. The house is constructed on a 100 foot lot.

It is designated a "Blue Flame" home by Pioneer Natural Gas because of its all basic major gas appliances.

The rambling home faces north. It has four bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths, a utility room, a 12 x 15-foot basement, kitchen-den combination and ample closet space.

A French Provincial decor, featuring gold and white coloring is featured throughout the house.

Center of attraction in the structure is the kitchen-den combination, which features Sakar wood paneling and Armstrong corlon floor covering. This area, which Mrs. Gregory noted as the "family room" has an air of comfort and practicality.

Included in the kitchen conveniences are a dishwasher, garbage disposal, refrigerator, and O'Keefe and Merritt built-in range and oven. These appliances are white, to accent the bone-colored ceramic-tile cabinet top and sink.

The Sakar cabinets form a semi-circle around the upper walls of the kitchen, as well as being dotted along the floor line. One end of the cabinet is terminated by a planter, which leads to a large, table-height, snack bar, whose curvature extends into the den area. The other end of the cabinet is ended with a Sakar hutch located on a den wall.

After stepping down into the sunken den from the kitchen, there is an opposite wall featuring a fireplace, bookshelves and desk combination, picture window and a door opening onto the patio.

A white acoustical material, secured by broad, slanting Sakar beams, covers the ceiling in this room. The master control of the intercom is located in the den. Two antique, bronze chandeliers are suspended from the ceiling. The four bedrooms and hallways are carpeted with a golden, nylon covering. The intercom system is installed throughout the house except in the bathrooms and utility room. Speakers also are at the front, back and garage entrances to the home.

A likely place to be the favorite "party-time" area for the Gregory's four children is the patio, which will have a large lawn behind it. On the patio there is a gas-grill, which is connected to the fireplace, thus enabling the two facilities to use the same chimney. Separating the rectangular patio from the lawn on the other end is a 2 x 10-foot planter. White wrought-iron porch posts extend to the roof from the patio.

Bone-colored textone walls enclose the spacious master bedroom, which has a 6 x 9-foot, walk-in closet. Also located at the same end of the room is a bath, decorated with yellow ceramic tile.

Yellow bath fixtures and an oval, ceramic lavatory carry-out the color scheme. Above the four feet of yellow tiling on the walls, is wallpapering, with a white background, featuring a green and blue floral design.

All other three bedrooms have Sakar four foot paneling around the walls, with textone covering the remaining wall area and ceilings.

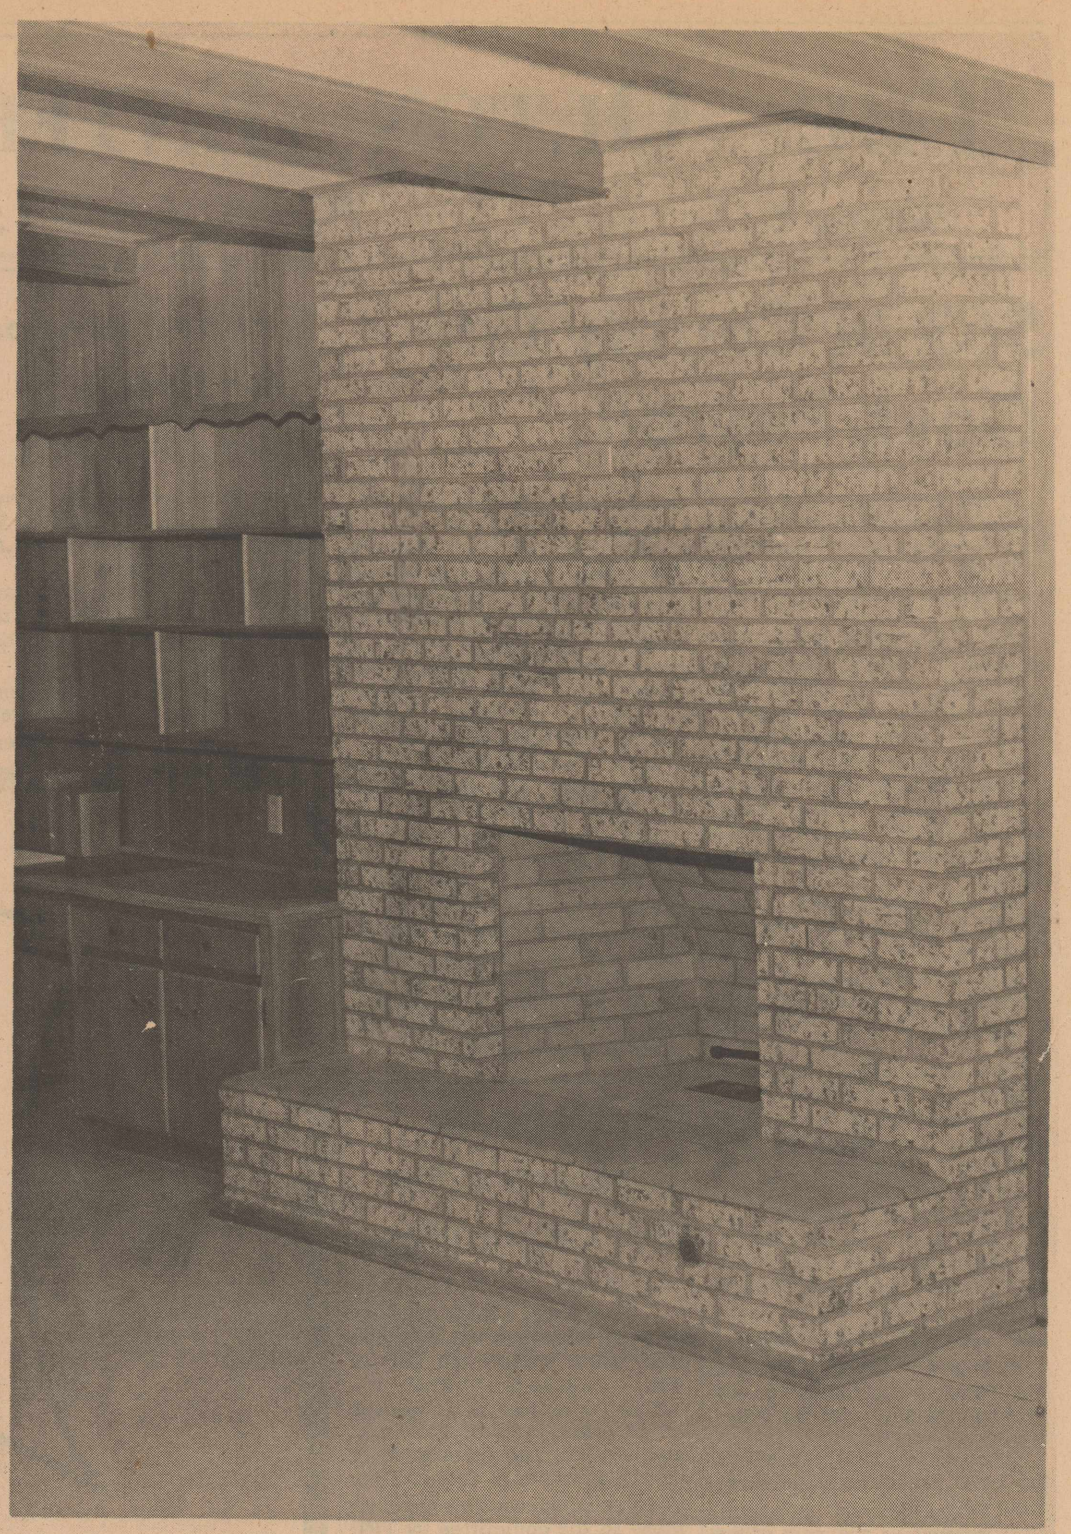

In the north bedroom, which will be shared by the Gregory's two youngest sons, Curtis, 8 1/2, and Greg, 5 1/2, an eye-catching feature is a spacious self-area in one end of the room. This is to be "shelve play things and later perhaps for bookshelves," according to Mrs. Gregory.

The textone part of the walls in this bedroom are white, and gold draperies match the gold carpet.

Sandra, the Gregory's 12-year-old daughter, will enjoy the comforts of her bedroom which has a walk-in closet and white draperies to match the white textone walls.

In 9 1/2-year-old Gary's bedroom, blue curtains bring out the coloring of the light blue textone walls. He also will have a walk-in closet containing a storage cabinet and shelves, like the other bedroom closets.

A spacious bath divides Gary and Sandra's rooms. This bath has Armstrong floor covering and blue ceramic fixtures are surrounded by oatmeal-colored tile, which extends four feet up the walls, and covers the dressing-table surface. A blue floral designed wallpaper covers the upper part of the walls, and curtains are designed to match the paper. Colorful tile blocks are dotted throughout the tile wall covering. The utility room, which may be entered from the garage or den, is arranged for "convenience" asserted Mrs. Gregory. It also features Sakar wall paneling, an Armstrong vinyl pattern covers the floor, and a green, oval, ceramic lavatory is installed beneath a large mirror on one wall.

This room will house a washer and dryer and has a storage cabinet. A half-bath is located at one end of this room, as is a door leading to the basement.

Void of none of the luxury conveniences of the other rooms, the basement has an intercom and telephone. It has an acoustical tile ceiling and plaster walls. It is to be used for a game room according to Mrs. Gregory. The Gregorys plan to move into their new home next week. Since moving to Olton in February of 1960, Gregory has managed United Elevators.

Gas Heats And Cools

Fingertip climate control is the hallmark of the modern gas-equipped home.

The dual personality of gas makes it the ideal fuel for heating or cooling on a year-round basis. In the cold of winter, gas units put moisture in the air to prevent dry, parching heat. In sizzling summer, they reduce excess water vapor to provide relief from humid, sticky weather.

Thus, gas makes possible true comfort by providing the mechanical means for controlling the climate inside the home every day in the year. The same ducts and pipes which carry warm air to all parts of the house can now be utilized to circulate cool air during hot weather. Because the air is filtered, dust, pollen and other impurities are removed. Constant, but imperceptible movement of the air results in a draft-free, fresh-air atmosphere.

Today, gas air conditioning is the modern means of controlling the weather inside the home. And it does it efficiently, dependably and economically.

Gas Heats Water Best

As the demand for hot water increases, the need for heaters that will keep an abundant supply on tap at all times becomes urgent. This is why family-rated gas water heaters are being installed at the rate of 3,000,000 a year.

Gas solves the hot water problem quickly and economically because gas offers really fast recovery. This is the ability to replenish hot water as fast as it's used. And family-rated gas heaters are designed to meet extra demands as well as normal use. This means that when a family grows in size, adds a bathroom or installs automatic appliances requiring large amounts of hot water, the heat will meet these new demands with the same speed, efficiency and economy.

In addition to being fully automatic, family-rated gas water heaters offer these additional exclusive features:

1.--A steady year-round supply of 160-degree water for laundering, dishwashing, bathing, cleaning, and every household need.

2.--A quality constructed heater bearing the American Gas Association's Blue Flame Seal of Approval which identifies the appliance as having passed exhaustive tests governing safety, durability and performance.

3.--The lowest cost automatic hot water service to be had.

4.--A water heater that is completely automatic, under-fired, and insulated with a protected tank and a minimum recovery capacity of 30 gallons per hour at a 100 degree temperature rise.

Jury Duty Said To Be Interesting Experience

Jury duty is an experience everybody ought to have.

In a criminal case 12 jurors have a duty to do justice as each one sees it, and yet be unanimous. In most trials both sides have much to say, and the evidence is conflicting. The twelve jurors vary in their ability, temperament, character, education, and their experience in the world, and in the question at stake.

Yet a jury made up of both sexes, with wide age and educational differences, jobs and origins must all come up with the same verdict. Upon their verdict much depends--the life or liberty of others, and the public good. So it may take them days of talking among themselves, all to agree.

Jury duty calls for insight, common sense, courage, tact, fairmindedness, patience, (especially toward the jurors who disagree with you), good humor, tolerance, balance, willingness to hear others out and change one's mind, readiness to go over and over the facts to find something to bring agreement.

More and more women share civic duties, especially as jurors.

Time was in Texas, when women could not serve on juries. They still cannot in four states.

A jury finds facts. It hears and weighs evidence and then comes to a verdict. It does not make the law--the legislature does; and the judge "charges" or instructs the jury concerning the law applicable to the particular case it is considering.

The judge will tell you not to find the accused guilty until he is proved so under strict rules of evidence. If you have any "reasonable doubt,"--not imaginary or far-fetched--acquit the accused.

Civil cases do not demand a moral certainty, merely the "preponderance" of what you regard as reliable and believable evidence.

The accident on the V.J. Carlisle place occurred when the young girl jumped from a porch onto a coffee can and seriously cut her foot.
