TO CARE FOR FATHER

City Sec'y Gets Leave

City councilmen approved a 60-day leave of absence for City Secretary Berniece Smith at a special meeting Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Smith requested the leave in order to be with her seriously ill father at all possible times.

The council voted unanimously to grant Mrs. Smith the leave after a brief discussion.

Mrs. James Hall was named acting secretary and the council made plans to employ, temporarily, a part-time helper.

Councilman Bob Gullett was authorized to talk with prospects about the part-time job and report back to the council.

Mayor Pro Tem G. H. Buchenau presided at the meeting. Also present were councilmen Bob Duncan, Fred Thompson and Gullett, along with Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Hall. Mayor M. T. James is away on vacation.

City officials, in addition to action at the special meeting, made these announcements:

1. The city's board of tax equalization will meet Tuesday, Aug. 7.

2. The only candidate to file so far in the election to name a new city councilman is Dr. Basil Johns, Olton osteopath. The election, set for Aug. 21, was called to name a councilman to replace Cecil Galloway, who resigned. Deadline for candidates to file is Aug. 9.

Buchenau opened the council meeting by announcing that Mrs. Smith had requested the leave of absence.

The leave is effective from Aug. 6 to Oct. 6.

that she felt she couldn't handle the full time job adequately under the circumstances, but she offered to help some with tax roll work which is being done now.

Gullett suggested a 60-day leave of absence. After the council agreed that the leave could be shortened or extended later, depending on the circumstances, Duncan seconded and the group voted unanimously.

Northeast Area Rapped Hard By Hail

Olton area farmers, many of them faced with hail-battered crops, awaited clear skies and a warm sun Wednesday, after persistent rains left their fields water-logged.

More than four and a half inches of rainfall has washed across already soaked fields here since Saturday, when a blistering hailstorm stripped crops northeast of town.

This brought the total rainfall to about nine inches in this area in the past two weeks. Wednesday afternoon hazy skies still gave threats of more rain.

More than two and a half inches of rain were reported to have fallen here Saturday in 30 minutes.

Some badly battered cucumber vines showed new signs of life by Wednesday, but gave little indication of much production. "Some of the vines may come back out, but the hail may have ruined enough that it won't be profitable to pick them," said a local cucumber shed operator.

Hail battered crops all directions from town, but played hop scotch through the area, hitting a field, then skipping the next.

About 5,000 acres of crops were damaged by hail. Approximately 1500 acres of cotton was a complete loss, estimated a local farmer.

Little was left of any crops in a strip northeast of town, where hail struck. Most of these cotton fields looked like match sticks, while grain crops were left with broken, twisted stalks. Cucumbers in the hard-hit area looked as if a paralytic agent had hit them.

Most farmers agreed this was one of the worst hailstorms to ever hit this area so late in the growing season.

Lightning was reported to have struck at the Raymond Carson and J.B. Kemp homes. A washer and dryer was ruined at the Carson home, and a pressure pump motor damaged at the Kemps.

A tornado was sighted near the Hopewell community west of here Saturday, but didn't touch the ground.

Many downtown businesses had water blown into them Saturday afternoon as violent winds accompanied the storm.

One cucumber shed operator said he is about 40 loads behind what he had processed this time last year. "One of the main troubles is the mud," he said.

Various alternatives were debated this week, as farmers with heavily damaged crops considered planting black-eyed peas or fall potatoes, plowing under crops, or just leaving them to see what happens.

At the J.A. Boverie farm four miles northeast of town, "the hail shelled my black-eyed peas," said Mrs. Boverie, "and left our cotton like tooth-picks." "That was the worst hail we ever had. Why, when we opened our back door, hail was piled up about a foot deep," she added. She said her husband is considering replanting his fields with black-eyed peas.

Hail damage to crops was reported at the Tom Ross farm three and a half miles northwest of town, and five miles southwest at the W.M. Smith farm. "It hurt about 130 acres of our cotton," said Mrs. Smith. "It was so odd. It hailed on one farm, then right across the road it didn't touch the crops," she noted.

Four miles southeast of Olton crops were destroyed by hail at the R.J. Caviness farm, according to Mrs. Caviness. "The wind blew real hard and the lightning hit our telephone; some of the roads looked like rivers," she said. "We found five little birds that had drowned in the rain," she stated.

Emmett Harper who farms three miles east of town said "I think the hail just slowed up the production of my cucumber vines, and hope by next week they'll really start producing again."

"Some of our cotton was so pretty and now it just looks like match sticks; Jim said he didn't expect it to make anything," said Mrs. Jim Kemp, whose husband farms four and a half miles northeast of town.

Little League Season Ends; Stars Named

The Little league championship title was bagged by the Olton State Bank squad for the second consecutive year in a 9-8 win over Thompson Implement Friday night.

With a 9-2 season's record, the bank finished two games in front of Farmers Gin, who has a 7-4 record.

Four games behind the leaders in third place was Halfway with five wins and six losses. Olton Co-Op Gin has won four and lost seven, putting them five games out of first place, while Thompson Implement finished in the cellar with a 3-8 season's mark.

Olton Co-Op and Farmers Gin still have a game to play, but the results couldn't change the season's standings.

An All-Star team was picked from the five squads, and will play an Earth team here at 8 p.m. today. In a return game Saturday, the Olton All-Stars will play at Earth at 8 p.m.

Little League coaches and dads also will get in some post-season action Tuesday night at 8 p.m. A team composed of coaches will clash with a dad's squad.

All-Stars are Green, Gullett, Schenck, Weaver, Danny Sides, Donnie Fancher, Kenneth Moss, Bobby Turner, Steve Spain, Eddie Hooper, Garland Huguley, Lanny McClain, Dewaine Hooper, Mac Arthur Thomas, Charles A. McClain, Clarence Siesmore and Phil Luellian.

Key figures in leading the effort for establishing the library were A.J. Spain, Mrs. C.S. Silcott and Mrs. Thompson.

Since Mrs. Silcott became a member of the County Library Board six years ago, she had been working to obtain approval for a library here.

Spain and Mrs. Thompson later joined Mrs. Silcott in her attempts to start the library, and their efforts finally paid off.

Some of the aims of the library are to interest readers and supply them with the various types of estimable literature they prefer, expressed Mrs. Silcott.

Regular card-filing and shelving systems will be used in the local sub-station, and the usual check-out requirements observed, according to Mrs. Thompson.

Ladies working in the library will be "orientated on library procedures," Mrs. Thompson pointed out.

Lula Hubbard, County librarian, will be supervisor of the local library.

Deputy Resigns, Smith To Return

O.B. Word, Olton Deputy Sheriff, resigned Tuesday and will assume the same position at Plainview today, according to Mrs. Word.

The vacancy here will be filled by V.L. Smith, who formerly held the position here, before becoming Deputy Sheriff at Littlefield.

Youth Hurt As Car Hits Horse, Flips

An 18-year-old Olton youth was injured about 12 a.m. Wednesday morning when his car struck two horses, then overturned three miles northeast of town.

Eddie Carson suffered neck and other possible injuries when his 1962 Chevrolet Impala skidded almost 100 yards, then flipped, after hitting the Shetland ponies on a narrow muddy road.

He was reported in good condition Wednesday afternoon in a Plainview hospital.

After the impact Carson's car traveled about 50 yards before skidding across a deep ditch, hitting several fence posts, then overturning in a field. The auto came to rest on its top about 100 yards from where it struck the animals, killing them both.

The car apparently overturned after jumping the ditch, and skidded on its top for about 50 yards.

The first thing young Carson says he remembered after the wreck, was that he "was running down the road" about a quarter of a mile from the scene.

Apparently dazed, he walked over two miles to the home of his brother, Wayne Carson, while other houses were nearer.

The horses, owned by J.M. Machen, were standing in the road and he couldn't dodge them, noted Eddie. A small hill in the road near the scene could have blocked the lad from seeing the animals, until they were almost in front of him.

Wayne Carson said it "looked as if one of the horse's heads went through the windshield."

Investigating officers were called to the scene about 2 a.m. They were Harvey Castleberry, night city officer, and O.B. Word, Deputy Sheriff.

"That boy's mighty lucky to walk away from this," commented Word.

The youth was taken by his family to Plainview hospital following the accident. Doctors said he had a vertebrae injury and cracked bone in his neck and other possible injuries, according to H.B. Carson, Eddie's father. He remained in the hospital Wednesday.

Olton Sub-Library Approved By County

A six-year effort to establish a County library sub-station in Olton finally has materialized.

Approval of the sub-station was made Tuesday morning in Littlefield by the County Commissioners Court.

The library, to be located temporarily in the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture office, should be open within a month, according to Mrs. Fred Thompson, chairman of the project.

About 200 books will be placed in the sub-station from the County Library in Littlefield.

Top Golfers Are Expected

A list of top-name pro and amateur linksters are expected to vie for more than $3,000 in prizes at the Pro-Am and Invitational golf tournaments at the ORC August 10, 11 and 12, according to Fred Pendergrass, pro.

Gene Boyd of Plainview will be returning to defend his title in the Invitational meet. An Andrews linkster, Jerry Dickson, a member of the Odessa Junior College golf squad, could be one of the leading threats to Boyd's crown.

Two outstanding pros from New Mexico have expressed a desire to play in the Olton Pro-Am. They are Jim Campbell, who is playing the golf circuit, and Hardy Lauderdale, an entry in the PGA Open Tournament this year.

Another top pro from Andrews, S.A. Smith, is expected. "These and all the local pros within about a 100-mile area are expected entries," said Pendergrass.

Pendergrass anticipates 30 to 40 teams, with four players to a team, to enter the Pro-Am. Entrance fee for this tourney is $4, and "all the money from entrance fees will go back into prizes," he noted. This should amount to about $450 in prizes.

A $15 entry fee is set for the Invitational tournament. Ladies also are eligible to enter the Pro-Am, and may use their handicaps.

Olton's Annual Krazy Day Set

The third time is a charm for some folks. This should prove true tomorrow for Olton shoppers in the third annual "Krazy Daze" celebration.

As local merchants go wacky, consumers should be able to "charm" them out of all sorts of outlandish bargains.

It may look like an old-time circus just hit town, but it will only be the local folks, looking and acting like clowns in their comic costumes.

Everyone can enjoy the fun, with contests and possible prizes for all ages.

This year the shoppers can get in costume for the hilarious event, with a $15 prize going to the kraziest dressed customer.

Shoppers began filling out tickets this week for chances at prizes. Registration will continue until noon tomorrow.

Drawings for the nutty merchants' free prizes will be at 4:30 p.m. at the city square.

After shoppers have had a chance to browse around stores and nab some of the bargains, two sack races and an onion race will be staged at 2 p.m. A waterfight among local firemen in the afternoon, will add to the kooky antics.

The first sack race will be for boys eight to 11-years-old, and the second one for boys 12 to 16 years of age. Lads from eight to 16-years-old can compete in the onion rolling.

In each of these events first prize will be $3, second place, $2, and third, $1.

Another added attraction this year will be booths set up by various clubs. The Garden Club, Home Demonstration Club, Art Guild, Bykotas and Cub Scouts are planning bargain booths.

Participating merchants and their prizes include: Bizzells, three $5 gift certificates for summer merchandise; House of Flowers, three $5 potted plants; Kelley's, a $5 gift certificate; K's Department Store, a nylon slip and men's sport shirt; Walter's, three $5 gift certificates; Duncans, three $5 gift certificates; Olton Meat Market, five $3 gift certificates.

Others are: Sherman's, three prizes of $100 worth of savings stamps; Whittingtons, three $5 gift certificates; Parson's Furniture, a plate glass wall mirror; Superior Cleaners, $5 worth of cleaning and two $5 shirts; Olton Drug, $10 in merchandise; J.C. Jones, a $7.90 blanket; the Plainsmen, a strolling lawn and garden sprayer; Northside Gift Shop, $10, $5, and $2.50 gift certificates.

More prizes will be: Cashway Food, $7.50, $5 and $2.50 merchandise gifts; Givens Texaco, an oil and filter change and grease job; Whites Auto and thermos jug and 50-foot garden hose; Thomas Beauty Shop, free quickie facial and make up analysis plus a matching set of Revlon nail polish and lipstick; Olton Bowling Center, a pair of bowling shoes; Olton Enterprise, three-year subscription; Thompson Chevrolet, a $25 gift certificate for service work.

Further prizes are: Byrd and Roper Oil Co., a grease job and oil change; Thomas Furniture, a merchandise gift; G. H. Bley, a quarter-inch electric drill and $4.95 Kool Kusion; Hall-Sides Motor Co., floor mats.

ATTEND FIREMEN'S SCHOOL

Three Olton firemen attended the five-day Firemen's School last week at Bryan, Buren Lansford, David Maxey and Tom Smith, firechief, went from here.

Workers and farmers waited for muddy fields to dry, so farming operations and cucumber harvest could resume. For some of these laborers there will be no jobs to which they can return, since hailstorms destroyed some area crops.

Desmond Barry Speaks To Olton Audience Tuesday

Approximately 100 people gathered Tuesday morning in the American Legion Hut to hear an address by Desmond Barry, Republican candidate for congressman-at-large.

Barry, subject of the Reader's Digest article, "The Man The Teamsters Found Too Hot To Handle," spoke on his battle with the Teamsters and stressed a return to constitutional government, freedom of the individual and survival of the free enterprise system.

He said, in effect, that government agencies are making decisions for us that should be left to the individual.

"When this happens, a man is no longer free," he said. "Why is an elephant afraid of a mouse?" he asked. "He's just afraid of being nibbled to death."

President of Galveston Truck Lines of Houston, he was reared and educated in that city and served five years in the Air Force, discharged in 1946 as a lieutenant colonel.

For five years Barry assisted the Mexican Air Force in organizing maintenance shops in Mexico City and as a supplier of aircraft, equipment and other material to the Mexican Government, cancelling this connection in 1951, he engaged in the air-conditioning business in Fort Worth until 1954, when he returned to Houston to head the truck line.

Despite the fact that his employees did not wish to belong to a union, Teamsters union organizers demanded Barry sign a union contract in 1955. He refused, and, with the enthusiastic support of his employees, attacked the Teamsters' boycott of his small business before the National Labor Relations Board, the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Congress, State Legislatures, the civil courts, and the court of public opinion.

Within six weeks, his efforts resulted in the teamsters withdrawing their boycott, but Barry did not let up. He pressed his cause before the ICC and, in 1957, received a unanimous decision of the full eleven-member Interstate Commerce Commission upholding his position. The "hot cargo" clause was also outlawed by a unanimous decision of the NLRB in September 1961 under the terms of the Landrum-Griffin act.

Barry testified before the McClellan Committee in 1958 and was commended by Senator McClellan for his courageous stand to protect his employees' rights. In 1959, after he testified before the House Subcommittee on Labor on the need for legislation to protect union members, a Bill of Rights was included in the Landrum-Griffin Act. He was named "Man of the Year" for transportation by the traffic and transportation clubs of the Houston area in May 1959, and "Man of the Month" by the East Texas Chamber of Commerce. He was also honored that year by the Paul Carrington Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution when it presented him its Good Citizenship Medal.

gifts taxes on the subject of the gift, and income taxes on the income from it.

1. The parent or guardian may want to keep control of the money. If they keep too much control, they may not complete the gift and the expected tax savings will go out the window. The parents' control may allow them to take back the gift, and so it is not really a gift.

2. Property is hard for children to manage. They cannot very well make contracts or buy or sell the property. But it costs too much, as a rule, to set up a trust for each piece of property for each child.

And so to encourage gifts to children, the law has a simple way to make and administer gifts under the Uniform Gifts to Minors Act. This law applies mainly to gifts and stock shares.

Men Will Play While Women Pay In Tourney

Let's play golf Dutch. In fact, let's just let the ladies pay the entire entrance fee. This is what members of the ORC decided about the annual Scotch-Foursome golf tournament to be held Sunday.

Lady linksters will pay entrance fees of $2, then draw for their male partners. About 65 local golfers are expected to play in the tourney. Partners will team up with two other opponents to play the 18-hole tournament. Male entries will try for a good shot, then give their female partners a whack at the ball, thus, alternating golf shots.

About 20 golfers had signed up to play Tuesday, and Fred Pendergrass, ORC Pro, said more men are needed for the tournament.

"I understand there are usually about 100 entries, but about 20 Olton men are leaving for Ruidoso, N.M., to play in the tournament there August 6-9," commented Pendergrass. Olton Women's Golf Association is sponsoring this annual sport's event.

Olton Man Picked To Attend Exclusive NJ Music School

An Olton piano instructor is among the exclusive 16 professional musicians in the United States selected for admission to The New School for Music Study in Princeton, N.J. The outstanding young teacher, Harold Dean Carson, will study at the piano pedagogy and music research center from September through June, 1963.

Carson will study new piano teaching methods and instruct students at the school. "I'll be doing research for new teaching techniques while I'm there," said Carson.

He returned Sunday from a five-day summer study course for piano teachers in Dallas. The course was an extension program of the Princeton music school.

He will be a student in the professional department, one of the school's two divisions, as he and his fellow students instruct the 300 piano students in the school's junior department.

A scholarship also will be given Carson at the school, where he will study teaching methods 6 1/2 hours and teach piano 5 1/2 hours daily, six days a week.

The opportunity was offered to Carson after he inquired about the school last year and officials noted his outstanding music record. He auditioned before a panel of three judges at the school last summer for further consideration of his admission to the school.

His past musical training, teaching record and personal ability were the main areas considered for Carson's admission to the selective school.

Between 450 and 500 students have taken piano lessons from Carson since he began his teaching career 14 years ago. He has taught piano in Olton schools 12 years, following a two-year teaching period at Sunray.

More than 65 percent of the young musician's piano students have received "superior" rating at the National Piano Playing Auditions.

These top ratings were given by a judge from the National Guild of Piano Teachers, who grades a piano student on 37 different aspects of performance.

Some of Carson's students have continued to study music at Baylor, West Texas State,

HAROLD DEAN CARSON

North Texas State, SMU and Wayland.

But not limited to any musical area, Carson also has taught organ lessons and directed several high school girls' singing groups here. While attending Wayland Baptist College 3 1/2 years, he was accompanist for the BSU Choir and a member of a male vocal quartet.

The Princeton school is the "only piano pedagogy school in the U.S.," noted Carson. The field of outstanding teachers at the school will have time to give their 16 music students plenty of individual instruction, with a ratio of two students to each teacher. "Pedagogy is actually just learning to teach what you already know," said Carson.

A semester of study at the St. Louis Institute of Music, St. Louis, Mo., has been made by Carson. He was music director at the First Baptist Church in 1959-60, and the church pianist several years. He now is organist for the church.

Carson is chairman of the National Piano Playing Auditions, sponsored by the National Guild of Piano Teachers. He also is former secretary-treasurer of the Plainview Music Teachers' Assn.

Last year Carson received his certification as a piano teacher from the American College of Musicians in New York. This award was based on his teaching record and audition grades of Carson's piano students, over a five-year period.

Carson's fellow professional students at the school will consist of heads of college music departments and college graduates. Most graduates of the music school are becoming heads of college music departments, where officials want pedagogy methods added to their curriculum, assted Carson.

"By being a student at the school, I will develop better understanding of the problems of music students and better equip myself to meet these problems," said Carson.

After graduation he plans to return to Olton and resume his piano teaching program.

Witnesses Are Vital

By far the most vital people in our system of justice are witnesses. Everyone else in a trial exists to hear what they have to say.

Our courts need witnesses. A jury to find the facts. The judge to apply the law. The lawyer to tell his client's story.

Chances are you worry about stepping up, taking an oath, and telling your story in court.

On some rare occasions you could be called upon to testify about something affecting your own standing in the community.

As a witness you too may have the right, for example, not to testify against yourself in somebody else's lawsuit or crime trial.

Wise lawyers tell their witnesses to obey twelve rules:

1. Go to the place (say, the scene of an accident). Check your memory before you go to court. People forget and get caught up on details. But if you check what you saw and heard you are on solid ground.
2. Visit a court. Hear how other witnesses testify. It will help you see your role on the witness stand.
3. Wear clean, conservative clothes.
4. Don't memorize your story word for word. That is the surest way to sound bad. But think of what you saw and heard.
5. Listen to the questions you are asked with care and answer thoughtfully.
6. Give a simple, direct answer in your own words. Don't be rushed.
7. If you err--and people often do--correct yourself at once. If you can't remember some detail, say so. Don't bluff.
8. Tell the truth. Don't figure which side you may help. Don't identify yourself with either side.
9. Stop when the judge breaks in, and don't try to sneak an answer in before he can stop you. What you might say could end in a "mistrial."
10. Keep cool and don't sass back.
11. If they ask you: Certainly, you have talked to other people--the lawyer, for example; and yes, you may be reimbursed for certain of your expenses incurred in attending the trial.
12. Remember, without witnesses our law would fail to do justice. If you are called, be a good witness.

several trade names, and has been approved as the standard military repellent.

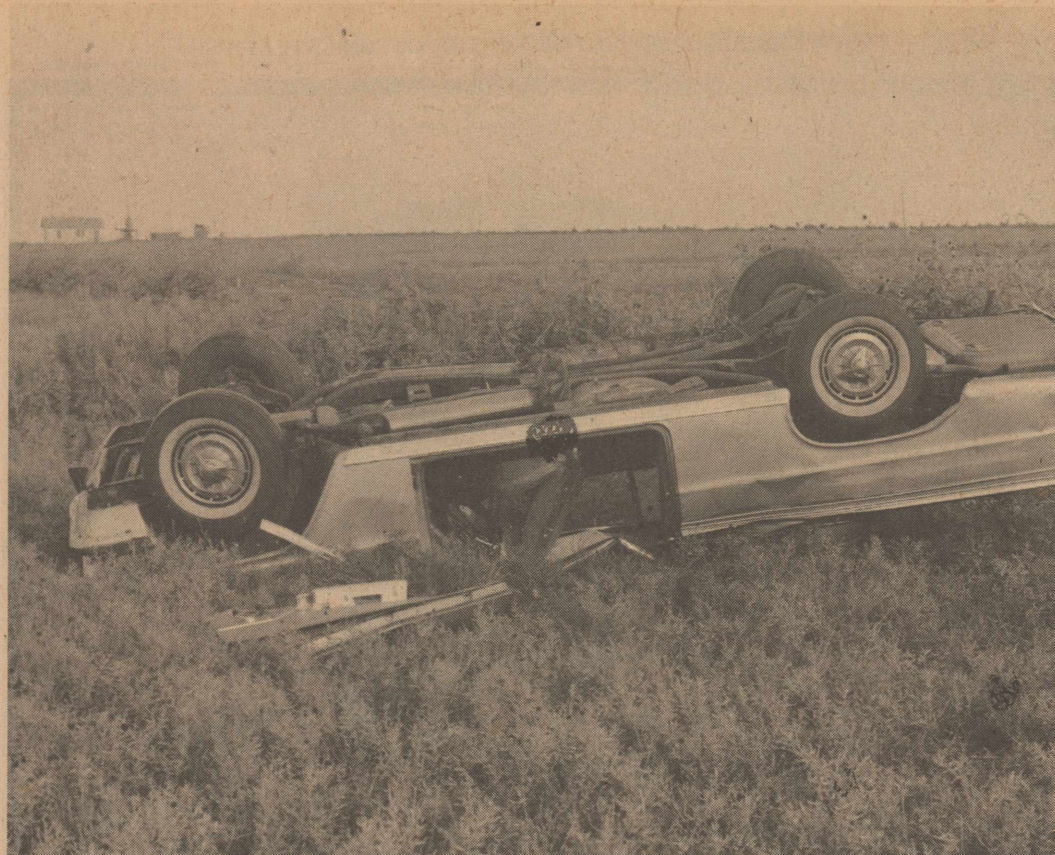

Deet is effective and safe for general use on the skin or on certain kinds of clothing materials. However, instructions covering the use of the repellent should be followed closely, because the chemical may affect certain paints, varnishes and some of the plastic materials. The repellent is safe for use on cotton or wool fabrics if they contain no synthetic fibers.

Smearred evenly on exposed skin areas, deet is effective for several hours. It has little or no odor, and it does not cause a greasy feeling on the skin.

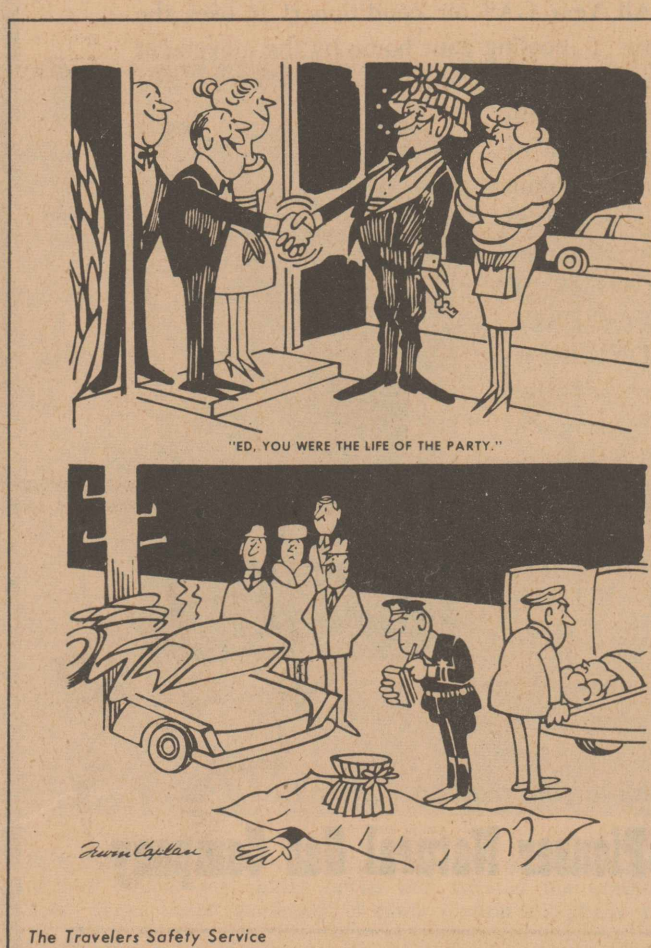

For homeowners who are no longer finding DDT an effective chemical against houseflies, USDA scientists suggest the use of one of the commercial sprays containing pyrethrins. Many products containing pyrethrins are available in aerosol containers.

Almost 60% of the deaths occurred at night.

COLLEGE STATION - You don't have to spend time fighting off insects this summer while you are out-of-doors. The repellent is commonly called deet. Diethyl-toluamide is the chemical designation. It was synthesized and tested by chemists and entomologists of USDA's Agricultural Research Service. It is now available in ready-to-use containers under how cotton crops looked before a hailstorm wiped out about 1500 acres of the local crop here Saturday afternoon. A wide strip northeast of town was hit hardest by hail, as cotton stalks were stripped. Some hail damage was reported though, every direction from town. An estimated 4,000 acres of area crops were thrashed by the storm, as rains also dumped in fields. About two and a half inches of rain reportedly fell in Olton within a 30-minute period the same afternoon.

We don't usually print our news upside down, just wanted to show you how much trouble people will go to read every word in the Enterprise. That's because their local news is important to them. We're making it real easy right now, though, to get that local news every week at a bargain rate. See our ad on page 10.

Proposed Constitutional Amendments Are Explained

In this issue of the Enterprise there appears the full text of seven of the Constitutional Amendments to be voted on at the upcoming General Election (Nov. 6). NUMBER FIVE ON THE BALLOT (HJR 51)--Creates hospital districts and limits their power.

NUMBER SIX ON THE BALLOT (HJR 36)--Authorizes retirement, disability, and death benefits for elected and appointive officers and employees of counties and political subdivisions who have served in such capacity for twelve (12) years or more.

NUMBER SEVEN ON THE BALLOT (SJR 13)--Insures continuity of state and local governmental operations in periods of emergency, resulting from disasters caused by enemy attack, by providing for the prompt and temporary succession to the powers and duties of public office, except members of the Legislature.

NUMBER EIGHT ON THE BALLOT (SJR 7)--Establishes a ceiling of Two Million, Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($2,500,000) per year on the amount that may be paid out of state funds for assistance payments to the totally and permanently disabled.

NUMBER NINE ON THE BALLOT (HJR 70)--Authorizes the construction, equipping, maintenance and financing of a home for the aged in Titus County and permits the Legislature to authorize the creation of two (2) hospital districts in Brazoria County.

NUMBER TEN ON THE BALLOT (SJR 12)--Permits state employees to serve as consultants or on advisory committees, or as members of a Public School Board, provided they are not members of the teaching profession, with a state agency or any political subdivision thereof.
