Cookies And Bulldozers

What does a high school girl baking cookies in a home economics class have in common with a burly bulldozer operator working on a state highway?

Chances are that both are beneficiaries of a federal grant-in-aid, according to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Home economics vocational education and highway construction are two of some 45 federal grant-in-aid programs. Under these programs, the federal government contributes funds to state and local governments. The cost of these programs to federal taxpayers; a whopping $7.3 billion a year, one sixth of all non-defense spending by the federal government.

Now the Administration is seeking an increase in the limit of the national debt. What about looking for ways to cut unnecessary expenditures?

For example, how about Congress passing a law making grant-in-aid programs subject to periodical review and justification? Legislation to this effect has been introduced.

Unless programs are reviewed regularly, how can we know if they are still worth their cost? (Some have endured for decades.)

Termination of outmoded grant-in-aid programs would contribute toward balancing the budget, keeping taxes from rising, and checking inflation.

Quite A Picture

In 1960 there were 2,254 human lives battered, smashed, torn and strewn upon Texas streets and highways. This is comparable to wiping out a town slightly larger than Olton.

Another 127,980 were sent to doctors and hospitals, some of these injured or maimed for life. Some 400,000 automobiles were damaged or demolished. Our economic loss came to an astounding figure of $350,022,500. Our liability and collision insurance premiums came to a sum in excess of two hundred and thirty million dollars.

If the 2,254 dead traffic victims were stacked in a pile, the dimensions would be about 2 1/2 miles in length, 3/4 of a mile in width and 4/10 of a mile in height. The dimensions for the 127,980 injured would be 139 miles in length, 41 miles in width and 20 miles in height. The dimensions of the some 400,000 damaged or demolished vehicles would be 1,330 miles in length, 500 miles in width and 379 miles in height.

Now for a descriptive look at the three hundred and fifty million dollars cost of the traffic accidents. The playing area of a football field measures 300 feet by 160 feet, or 48,000 square feet. United States currency measures about 2 5/8 inches by 6 1/8 inches. If a football field was completely covered with one dollar bills, then a layer of two dollar bills, then a layer of five dollar bills, then a layer of ten dollar bills, then a layer of twenty dollar bills, then a layer of fifty dollar bills, then a layer of one hundred dollar bills, then a layer of five hundred dollar bills and on top of these eight layers of paper money, dump 1,595 tons of silver dollars, this would represent the economic loss we suffered in Texas for the year 1960.

The three hundred and fifty million dollars would have bought 10,000 homes at $20,000 each; 10,000 refrigerators at $400 each; 10,000 cooking ranges at $350 each; 10,000 TV sets at $350 each; 10,000 dishwashers at $300 each; 10,000 automobiles at $3,000 each; 10,000 central air conditioning units at $1,400 each and furnish the head of each of the 10,000 households with a bank account of $9,202.

thru our Lions Club to rejuvenate "I Am An American Citizen" Observation Day. Sincerely, J. T. Jones Goldthwaite, Texas

Dear Sir: Your editorial was brought to my attention and I was highly impressed. It sounded like you were thinking out-loud and it was some good thinking. Whether you approve or disapprove of the entire John Birch program makes little difference to me. What impressed me was the fact that you were thinking for yourself and stating your own opinions and stand.

I have been a member of JOHN BIRCH for quite some time and don't mind telling the world-which I do. I support quite a few of the Anti-communist organizations and my ideas and stand is about the same as theirs although I think we all think and read enough to know what is right and what is wrong without being told.

I read a great many newspapers such as the New York Times, Daily Worker, Washington Post, Denver Post, Tulsa Herald, Wall Street Journal, Amarillo, Lubbock, and a few others. It is not hard to trace the words and editorials from Pravda and the Worker down to the N.Y. Times and Washington Post and then to the Tulsa Herald. The editorials written seem to come right down using the same words such as "Birchite", "Extremist, etc. When I go through some of the smaller newspapers such as yours I find it to usually be original thinking and sincere opinions. I suppose that if the smaller newspapers were allowed to prevail the thinking of America would be quite changed.

I do know that the battle is not just between Capitalism and communism, free enterprise and socialism, and all that we are told. The real battle is being fought between Christianity, morality, truth, and all that we think are good things and a One World religion based on all that is opposite such as a religion with the devil as head. Our people seem very confused by the use of words such as: Peace in communist talk means "non-resistance to communism". Right to them is "what is right for the party". Our people want to make themselves believe that coexistence with communism is possible. If it were possible to coexist it would not be communism at all. That is like talking about red hot snow.

When meeting Anti-communists you will find that they differ greatly. Some will think that one phase is important while another will think something else is of much greater importance. Personally, I believe that if we can hold on to our Churches and strengthen them and raise the morals and thinking of America we will win. I have studied the fall of Czechoslovakia and am convinced that America will fall the same way unless we change things right now. Czechoslovakia fell without a shot being fired. The infiltration worked perfectly so that it only took a few hours when the time came. Their country was more like our country than any nation I can think of at that time. The people are beginning to think and care and wonder. I'm not trying to recruit you to JOHN BIRCH - I am more interested in hearing you think out-loud. That may save our nation.

Sincerely, Ken Kenneer Lubbock

Production Credit Assn. Sees Good Year For 1962

An excellent outlook for agricultural credit in 1962 for an eight-county area of the High Plains has been forecast by an official of the Plainview Production Credit Association, in a report of 1961 activities of the agricultural credit organization, made this week.

"Credit outlook for 1962 is excellent," Olan Alexander, general manager of the Plainview Production Credit Association, stated. "Our farmers in this area made one of the best crops in history and are in the best financial position they have been in a long time."

Alexander said that most of them are investing profits in land and new equipment and expanding their farming operations. "We are expecting to loan between forty and forty-five million dollars during 1962," Alexander said.

The Plainview Production Credit Association, the nation's largest in loan volume, had one of its brightest years in 1961. Loan volume totalled $37,000,000, which was then an all-time record for the association.

Number of loans increased from 1,385 in 1960 to 1,589 in 1961. Association stockholders increased from 1,685 in 1960 to 1,742 in 1961.

The association has loaned $206,912,900 to area farmers and ranchers in its 28-year history.

The home-owned and operated Plainview Production Credit Association provides short and intermediate-term agricultural credit in Lamb, Parmer, Castro, Swisher, Briscoe, Bailey, Hale and Floyd counties. Alexander pointed out that the $37,000,000 in loans made by the association in 1961 represents new money put into circulation in the area, providing a healthy boost to the area's economy.

Ample loan funds are available from the nation's commercial money market through the Intermediate Credit Bank in Houston, discount agency for all 36 associations in Texas. "Our association has but one reason for its existence and that is to serve as a dependable agricultural credit source," Alexander explained.

He pointed out that the association's directors, two of whom are members of the loan committee, are farmers and ranchers themselves, are thoroughly familiar with agricultural conditions and problems throughout the area.

"We want to help each of our borrowers make more money in his operation through the application of sound credit practices," he said.

1961 State Cotton Yields Second Highest On Record

The past year wasn't what cotton growers in many Texas counties would classify as a good one, but for the state as a whole, lint yields were the second highest on record, 348 pounds an acre. Thus, low yields in some areas were offset by record yields in others.

Fred Elliott, extension cotton specialist, in his 1961 annual report highlights some of the past year's achievements. He said the 7-Step Cotton Committees, working on all levels, continued to be a major factor in the progress made by the producers of the state's most important crop. Since the program, initiated 16 years ago by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, has been operating, lint yields have climbed from 134 pounds an acre to 1961's 348 pounds. But perhaps of equal or even more importance have been the changes in production and harvesting, ginning and soil management practices.

The specialist reported that an estimated $68 million plus was saved last year in harvest costs through the use of machines -- 33,089 stripper harvesters and 4,782 spindle pickers. Harvesting machinery doesn't come cheap, the specialist said, as verified by the expenditure of over 432 million in 1961 alone for new picking and stripping machines.

Growers saved another $27.7 million in labor costs through the use of 50,605 rotary hoe equipped tractors and chemicals for weed and grass control. Spot-oiling of Johnsongrass was used on approximately a quarter million acres of cotton in 163 counties and spot-spraying of the same pest with water carried chemicals was used on 136,700 acres. Lateral oiling saved up to $25 an acre on hoe bills and was used on more than 86,000 acres in 75 counties.

Defoliants or desiccants were used on 61,555 farms in 170 counties to prepare cotton for machine harvesting. The use of moisture meters, a recent introduction, expanded rapidly and 136 were used in 41 counties as an aid in quality improvement.

Last year, county agents in 207 counties assisted producers with all phases of the 7-Step Program. County program building committees were also active in planning county work and emphasis in many counties was placed on the use of cotton burs for soil improvement and to reduce fire hazards. Burs were spread on 17,306 farms in 126 counties. A few years ago burs were commonly burned as waste. A ton of burs contains about $7.50 worth of plant nutrients and their application has raised lint yields by as much as 25 per cent.

A team of extension specialists -- cotton, entomologist, cotton gin, and at times others -- was used to carry educational information to the counties. The team conducted 157 meetings attended by 13,252 producers. County agents in their follow-up work held almost 2,100 meetings with an attendance of approximately 53,000. County agents and committees also enjoyed the cooperation of newspapers, radio and television stations for getting needed information to producers and supplied them with more than 2,100 stories, 2,250 radio and 39 television programs.

Cotton is still the state's most important crop and the progress made has materially aided the entire economy of Texas, the specialist concluded.

Post Office Plans Underway At Springlake

Construction on the new post office at Springlake was further advanced yesterday with General J. Edward Day that a contract has been awarded to E. E. Watson, Box 206, Springlake, to build and lease the building to the Post Office Department.

"We are continuing to build new post offices where they are needed," Day said, "but we are constantly re-assessing our lease construction program to determine whether present buildings can be altered or remodeled to take care of our expanding volume of mail."

The construction program is being concentrated in those areas where the need is urgent and suitable space cannot be obtained except through new construction.

"We now have about 45,000 post office locations throughout the country, handling a volume of 65 billion pieces of mail a year. By 1970 it is expected to rise to 90 billion. It is clear, therefore, that we must redouble our efforts, not only in expanding our capacity but also in devising new postal techniques to meet the demands of our growing population."

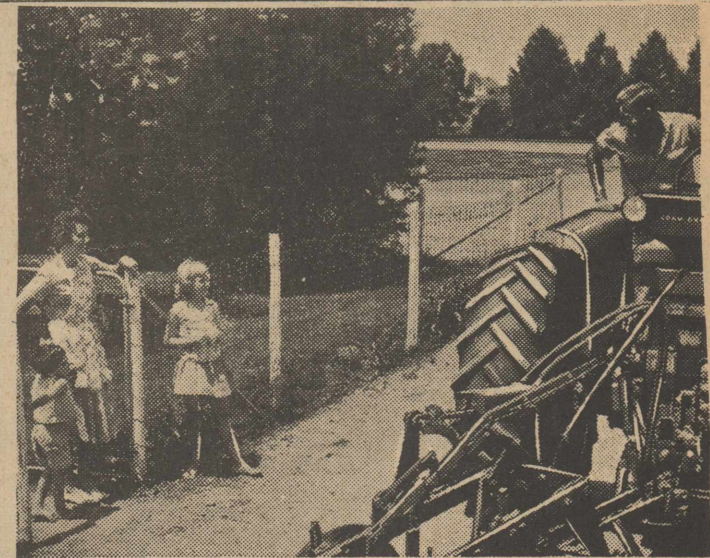

Under the Department's lease construction program the contractor, Watson, will construct the new building at the south side of Highway 70 between Brazos Avenue and Colorado Avenue, and lease it to the Department for five years, with one 5-year renewal option.

The Department's capital investment is limited substantially to postal equipment, while the building remains under private ownership, with the owner paying local real estate taxes. "This formula" Day said, "utilizes the resources and investment funds of private enterprise for needed postal buildings."

The new post office building will be constructed on a site containing approximately 6050 square feet, and is expected to be completed around July 1, 1962. It will have an interior space of approximately 1000 square feet, with an area of over 5000 square feet for parking and maneuvering. Space which the post office now occupies will be made available for other purposes.

WATER SOLUBLE PHOSPHORUS improves NITROGEN EFFICIENCY in COTTON

Adequate nutrient availability and uptake (especially nitrogen) is important during the period of maximum fertilizer use if high yields of cotton are to be obtained. This period of maximum fertilizer use corresponds to the period of heaviest fruiting.

Recent studies by the Arizona Agricultural Experiment Station* indicate that during this period the uptake of nitrogen can be increased by early phosphorus fertilizer application. Additional data obtained from chemical analyses of cotton plants receiving various fertilizer treatments are given in the following table.

Fertilizer Treatment	Per Cent of Total N in Plant Found in Bolls	Pounds Lint Produced Per Pound of N in the Plant	Pounds Lint Produced Per Acre
Nitrogen only (100 lbs. per Acre)	48	1.8	702
Phosphorus only (276 lbs. per Acre)	75	6.0	751
Nitrogen and Phosphorus (100 lbs. N 260 lbs. P ₂ O ₅ per Acre)	75	2.3	964

The data show that the advantages of using nitrogen and phosphorus in combination are:

- (1) To increase the yield of lint cotton produced per acre.
- (2) To increase the per cent of the total nitrogen that was used in the production of cotton bolls.
- (3) To increase the pounds of lint cotton produced per pound of nitrogen.
- (4) To decrease the pounds of nitrogen required to produce a bale of cotton.

Depreciation Is Big Item In Figuring Income Tax

COLLEGE STATION-- Depreciation takes its toll from farm machinery, buildings and other farm investments every year. It's just simple economics that capital goods lose value as they age. There is a bright spot, however, because farmers can deduct this depreciation from their income tax, says C.H. Bates, extension farm management specialist. Sesame Breed Results Told

One thousand and ten strains and varieties of sesame were planted in the sesame breeding program at the High Plains Research Foundation in 1961. These strains made a total population of approximately two hundred and forty-three thousand plants.

One hundred and eighty-five plants were selected from the 243 thousand in the breeding nursery during October 1961. A few hand crosses were made in the nursery during the summer between desirable shattering plants and paper shell nonshattering types. Seed from these crosses will be planted in the 1962 nursery.

Seed from eight sesame strains and varieties were sent to the atomic energy laboratory at Oak Ridge, Tenn. in the spring of 1961. Each strain was irradiated at three different levels of Cobalt 60. The objective of this program is to induce genetic mutations that might be desirable. All irradiated seed were planted in nursery plots June 1, 1961. A few strains from this group that had outstanding plant characteristics were selected for use in the breeding program.

A new greenhouse, a gift of the Jim Hill Estate at Hereford, will permit acceleration of the sesame breeding program is to develop high yielding, non-shattering varieties that can be harvested with a grain combine. Dr. Earl H. Collister, Chief Agronomist at the Foundation said.

Health Record Is Beneficial

Sooner or later, everyone needs a family health record. Dr. J.E. Peavy, state health commissioner, suggests you start yours now if you aren't already keeping one. Kept accurate and current, it can be of permanent value for the children's school records, for insurance data, and for your family doctor's use, the health official says.

A school note pad makes a good record book, but don't use it for anything else. And remember it has to be carefully kept if it is to be of full value.

You can start by jotting down the basic information you already have at hand concerning the injury and illness history of each member of your family.

Start it off with a brief listing of family history. Enter the date and place of birth of each person, and the place and date and cause of death of any deceased. Also enter pertinent information and the medical facts about each family member, such as the presence of chronic illness or physical handicap.

Next, start a section for dates of immunizations, being sure to provide space for each member of the family. Allow room for entering dates of immunizations against whooping cough, polio, smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, and typhoid fever. Don't forget to include the dates of booster shots.

In a section of general information, list such things as the type of blood each member of the family has, and the drug sensitivities or special allergies of each. If the RH blood factor is known to be present in anyone, be sure to record it prominently.

The health record ought to include a check list of who in the family has had the more common diseases of childhood--chicken pox, measles, mumps, whooping cough, scarlet fever, diphtheria. Most of these are diseases of childhood, but sometimes an adult is exposed. German measles is a serious threat to expectant mothers, and mumps is a dangerous disease in any adult.

Dates of physical examinations, with a line or two for notes of special advice or instructions that followed the check-up should be noted in the health record. So also should illnesses requiring hospitalization, listing the nature of illness or injury, name of physician and hospital, dates of entry and discharge, length of illness, and type of surgery, if any.

Finally, list the family's health and accident insurance information for quick and easy reference when needed. (A weekly feature from the Health Education Division, Texas State Department of Health.)
