During Weekend Homecoming

Benjamin Exes Dedicate Center

With more than 500 persons registering for the Benjamin Homecoming activities last weekend, the streets around the square were lined with spectators as the parade got underway at 3:00 Saturday afternoon.

The dedication of the Benjamin Memorial Center followed at 4:00 p.m. with ex-students and guests on hand to listen with pride as a former Benjamin student, Judge Temple Driver of Wichita Falls commended the hometown folk for their spirit, dedication, and hard work in erecting the beautiful building.

He described Jim Bisbee, president of the Benjamin Ex-Student Association, as a man with a dream, determination, dedication, and fortitude who got enough persons to sign up with him to make a dream come true in four years' time.

Bisbee, who returned to Benjamin four years ago, realized the need for such a building to serve his hometown and the surrounding area. Judge Driver described Benjamin not only as a town with a proud and historic past, but also a town looking to the future, as evidenced by the erection of the beautiful Center. He pointed out that it would be hard for a town of any size, much less one the size of Benjamin, to come up with approximately $50,000 but Benjamin rose to the task and donations were received in large amounts of money, time and materials.

The Rev. James Patterson, pastor of the Benjamin-Knox City Methodist Churches, gave the invocation and Supt.

of Schools Kenneth Roberts extended the welcome and introduced County Attorney Bobby D. Burnett who spoke briefly, congratulating the Benjamin exes for a job well done. In fact, the nominating committee felt that officers the past four years had done such a tremendous job that it offered the entire slate of offices for re-election, including Bisbee, president; Julia Propps, vice-president; and Jonnie Williams, secretary-treasurer. Grace Snallum, Joe Barton, and Juanita Burnett are members of the board.

Mrs. Snallum presented plaques to Bisbee and Mrs. Williams for their many fine efforts.

Recognition of classes was conducted by Supt. Roberts. Wade House, member of the Class of 1908, was present for the occasion, along with Mora Moore Ray and Mrs. O.D. Propps, who represented the Class of 1911, and Allie Moorhouse the Class of 1913. Most all the classes were represented up to and including 1978.

Bisbee said that the Center would not have been possible without the donation of money and land by the City of Benjamin and individuals. He also pointed out that many building materials, equipment, and long hours of work were contributed along with the legal work by Bobby D. Burnett and the abstract work by Jonnie Williams. He said too that both the city and county had helped in so many ways and that Benjamin Mayor Vernon D. (Butch) McCanlies, city secretary Vernon (Slick) Benson, County Judge Homer T. Melton, and County Commissioner Bobby Roberson had been most cooperative and helpful.

The Benjamin Ex-Student Association received a $28,000 loan through Farmers Home Administration with the help of Joe Boone, county supervisor, and approximately that same amount was raised by the association.

The huge building, covering 6,500 square feet, houses a 50' x 100' ballroom with stage, and a 30' x 50' wing containing an office, rest rooms, kitchen, concession stand, large entrance hallway, and a conference room.

The Butler metal building has a sand color exterior with a covered porch. Interior walls are paneled with contrasting patterns and indirect lighting adds to the beauty. Ceiling tiles were donated by Tom Brooke and Bobby Frank Hudson. Bobby Frank also serves as decorating chairman and has finished two flower trees that add the perfect touch to the huge ballroom. For the homecoming, the words 'Welcome Home' written from a crepe paper rope greeted the exes across the top of one of the long walls in the ballroom.

A Saturday night dance more than filled the large ballroom to capacity.

Sunday worship services were held in the District Courtroom and a catered lunch at the center followed at noon.

Imagoean Young reigned as Homecoming Queen during the weekend of festivities.

Locals Attend FHA Area IV Workshop

The Area IV Leadership Workshop for the Future Homemakers of America was held June 5 through 7 at Tarleton State University in Stephenville. Area IV Officers from throughout the area were present along with members from their respective chapters and their advisors. Attending from Knox City were Angelia Reid, Area IV President, Gerri Watson, and chapter advisors Vera Newton and Veeta Reid.

The Knox City group got off to a busy start Monday afternoon assisting with registration and arrangements for the meeting. Checking into the dorms was also on the agenda.

The meeting started Monday night with Angelia presiding over the business session. During this session, the officers made decisions concerning the area.

All Texas communities are invited to send selected youths who would not otherwise get a chance to attend a summer camp. The camp Chairman is responsible for selecting the boys. The Service Unit furnishes them with any clothing, toiletries or other items they might need, arranging medical examinations and providing them with $5.00 in cash. It also arranges transportation to and from the camp for them.

The Knox City Service Unit guarantees local expenses in getting the boys ready. The Texas division of The Salvation Army pays all costs of the camp itself, which offers swimming, hiking, athletic contests and many group activities in each of four one-week sessions.

"I will bless the Lord who counsels me; he gives me wisdom in the night. He tells me what to do." (Psalms 16:7)

There is a place of perfect peace and rest where man can be preserved and kept from harm, damage, danger, and all the evils of the enemy. David, in his distress, came to this place in the Lord when the world was crashing in upon him. He found refuge and shelter in time of need.

In our sorrows and troubles we have no other place to go for the help we need. The Lord, Himself is our inheritance and prize. He is our food, drink, health, and highest joy. He guards all that is ours. He sees that we have all that we need, what a wonderful inheritance. He gives wisdom in the night and tells us what to do. (Psalms 17:5-7). "And He Loves You."

O'Brien Happenings

By CHARLENE BROTHERS

Did you read the column in the Abilene paper last Thursday or Friday that J.T. Strith, the farm editor wrote? He was really letting the government have it for taking too much control over some things. Before long they will want to tell us when we can go to bed and when we can't. We do not have any of the candy or Coke machines at our schools they were talking about, but I do not think the government should be able to tell us what our children can eat or not eat. This Ms. Carol Freeman is something else, evidently. I do not know of but one thing that makes me madder than to get some mail and it be addressed to Ms. Charlene Brothers, and that is for someone to lie to me. If I had of wanted to not been called Mrs., I would not have married. All the foods they are saying that they do not include dope, alcoholic drinks and cigarettes? I ask about these things before and was informed that they did not come under the Drug and Food Act., which I think they should.

The couple was married Tuesday, June 6, in Haskell by Justice of the Peace Hubert Bledsoe.

Helsel is employed by Flouranay Drilling Company of Alice, where the couple will make their home.

The new Mrs. Helsel is a 1977 graduate of Knox City-O'Brien High School.

Last week when I mentioned the ones from O'Brien that were moving around, I forgot to mention Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Correll. Sonny, Brenda, Andy, Brian and Crystal moved into their new home in Knox City a few weeks ago. Sorry, about this, Sonny and Brenda but, since you both know me so well, you know how forgetful I can be at times. We hope you enjoy your new home very much.

If the weather gets much hotter, I many not be able to make it through the summer. You have heard the song, Help Me Make It Through The Night, I will probably be saying. Help me make it through the summer. If our electric bills are as much higher this summer as our gas bills were during the winter than last year, I'm sure some of us are going to run out of money before the hot weather is gone. I may be hunting another job to help pay the electric bill. Hope the gin does not run short, during the summer. Of course the way things are going now, I will not have to invent much, as I have enough to last most of the summer anyway.

Every year that goes by, more and more paper work is invented for every business that has one worker or more. Book work and more book work. I like this type of work, so it is not a big problem for me.

USDA To Extend Ban Proposal Time

The U.S. Department of Agriculture will extend the public comment period on the proposal to prohibit the sale of candy, soda water, frozen desserts, and chewing gum in school cafeterias until after the last lunch period, according to Assistant Secretary Carol Tucker Foreman.

Deadline for comments was originally set for June 9. However, the Department continues to receive a large volume of comments from students, parents, teachers, school administrators, nutritionists, doctors, the food industry and the general public. Therefore, the comment period has been extended to June 23.

Ms. Foreman said, "We have to date received over 600 comments representing widely ranging views on the proposal to prohibit the sale of these foods until after the last lunch period. Therefore, due to the complex nature of this issue, we consider it to be in the public interest to continue accepting comments for another two weeks. All such views will be carefully considered in writing final regulations."

The proposed regulations implement a provision of Public Law 95-166, enacted last November, which provides the Department with authority to prohibit the sale in schools of food items that the Department determines do not make a positive nutritional contribution in terms of their overall impact on children's diets, dietary habits and appetites.

Written comments on the proposal should be submitted to Margaret O.K. Glavin, Acting Director, School Programs Division, Food and Nutrition Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, no later than June 23.

The notice announcing the extension of the public comment period is scheduled to appear in the Federal Register of June 9.

TFU Prexy Says Administration Evading Beef Issues

WACO, TX -- The President of the Texas Farmers Union has charged Administration officials with treating increased retail beef prices "as if they were imposed by some demon of inflation out of the clear blue, while the truth is that consumers are suffering more due to the very nature of the boom and bust cycle which the government is perpetuating in all areas of agriculture."

Jay Naman says that the sharp increases in beef prices are neither exorbitant nor surprising when the facts of the past five years are inspected. Naman points to the statistics of chronically low incomes to cattlemen for the past twenty-five years and the most dramatic drop in beef prices in the history of the United States in September of 1973. The glut, he says, caused operators to cut back or liquidate entire herds.

Lower resulting supplies and brisk demand in 1978 have now caused prices to climb, and while cattle numbers can be cut quickly in a matter of a few years, it takes at least five years biologically for rebuilding of cattle available for slaughter. Naman says the consumer would not be hurting now if the cattleman had not been hurting a few years ago and advocates stability for the benefit of producers and consumers. He further lays blame on the Administration for not establishing programs to provide stability and labels a possible increase in import quotas as "a critical mistake."

"It's the same old stuff the Farmers Union has been trying to tell customers for years," says Naman. "Both producer and consumer benefit when prices to farmers and ranchers are stable, which in turn brings stable supplies and prices to consumers. But by breaking the back of the cattle producers for five years and living under the false economy of low supermarket prices while cattlemen cut herds or go broke, you suddenly awake one day to find it all catches up to you."

It's boom and bust agriculture that has haunted us for decades. Rather than moaning about it, consumer groups and others concerned should join with farm organizations and put the bee on the back of the Administration to formulate a national food policy based on price stability on the farm and in the store."

Naman further labeled actions by the Administration irresponsible and warned that increasing meat quotas would only punish cattlemen while evading and failing to correct the boom and bust situation. A false control of prices through imports, he claims, would cause further cutting of herds by domestic producers and only add to the supply and demand problem. Cattle numbers will not be increased in America while high import quotas loom over the industry.

Naman compared such discussions by the Administration to open up import quotas with similar situations in other industries.

"We don't flood the country with imported steel when the big steel companies increase prices. On the contrary, we keep protective tariffs firm. Domestic electronics manufacturers and car dealers would scream if import taxes were lowered or dropped. Restrictions against reduced airfares by foreign carriers protect domestic airlines. But if ranchers begin to recover from a long and devastating market glut and realize a small profit, then the government scrambles to open up imports and see what it can do to force them back into it!"

Referring to recent years in the early seventies when supplies themselves became limited and beef availability at the consumer level started to become critical, the farm leader pointed to the short memory of the consuming public. He commented that the same or worse situation would recur if cattlemen are knocked back into price levels below the cost of production. "It is time that someone tell the truth about this meat situation and all other aspects of the farm economy. American consumers enjoy the lowest food costs of any nation in the world at 16 percent of their average income. That allows for affluence in homes, travel, entertainment, and a vast array of activity that fuels our nation's economy. But to have an inflated economy and keep farm income in the red leads directly to shortages, busted farmers and ranchers, more inflation, and a weaker economy. Until the inflation spiral is leveled, consumers must also stomach commensurate increases in food prices."

Ultrasonic Car Displayed In Area

A new sophisticated $85,000 ultrasonic detector car is now at work on Santa Fe Railway's Plains division and was on display in the Knox City area Tuesday, June 13.

Santa Fe has invested more than $1 million to convert 12 standard Chevrolet Suburban C-20 carryalls into the ultrasonic rail detector cars at the Albuquerque shops.

Internal flaws in steel rail aggravated by today's long heavy trains make track maintenance a top priority mission on any railroad. Santa Fe is in the process of adding these mobile rail detector cars to its system-wide fleet of track maintenance equipment.

Five of the cars are in service on Santa Fe's 12,500-mile system. Detector cars are headquartered at Amarillo, Temple, Fort Worth, and Clovis and Albuquerque, New Mexico.

When all 12 cars are in service later this year, Santa Fe will have the most comprehensive rail testing system of any railroad in the country.

"By building these cars ourselves at $85,000 each, we are saving about $125,000 per car over what it would cost to buy them," Charles Stearns, rail detector car shop supervisor at Albuquerque, said. "And this way we get exactly what we want."

Testing steel for internal flaws with ultrasonics is nothing new. Railroads started using ultrasonics more than two decades ago and now all of the major lines use the method in some form.

Santa Fe is one of the first in the industry to go exclusively to ultrasonic rail testing and the only company to embrace the concept of a large number of highly-mobile, economic units. Most railroads rely on less than a half-dozen cars to cover the whole system. Santa Fe plans to test the main line rail four times a year, twice what system-wide cars have averaged previously.

"The only thing we're giving up with these smaller vehicles is elbow room," said Stearns, who also designed the car. Plans call for each vehicle to test more than 3,000 miles of track per year.

The operator and his assistant "read" the rail test data by watching two standard B-scan oscilloscopes. These two very skilled operators observe the data and adjust delicate controls to obtain highly dependable test results.

Seventy-five per cent of the cost of the test equipment is invested in the many parts designed and fabricated specifically for the Santa Fe detector cars. When the carryall wears out, this valuable equipment can easily be removed and installed in a new vehicle.

The B-scan oscilloscopes are fed information from 16 ultrasonic transducers (eight on each rail) which ride along a film of liquid a hairbreadth from the top surface of the rails. The transducers, about the size of a "C" battery, transmit ultrasonic pulse signals in eight precise trajectories to cover the majority of the rail section. The operator reads the pulse echoes on the screen.

The heart of the test system is the "carriage," the assembly which holds the transducers in place over the rail. Two carriages are attached to the tailgate and manually lowered onto the rails when the car switches from highway travel to rail operation.

The car is equipped with rubber tires and railroad guide wheels for traveling on the highway or track.

Stearns designed the carriage from scratch. At 35 pounds, the three-foot long by six-inch wide assembly allows for 50 per cent more test trajectories. It is smaller, lighter and contains a more comprehensive test array than any similar equipment in the industry.

"This car is highly maneuverable and the design is simple enough for the operator to repair almost anything that might go wrong," Stearns said. Every damageable component will ultimately have backup parts on board or readily available from the Albuquerque shop.

AMERICAN AG NEWS

Sam White, permanent AAM MAN in Washington, reports that more progress is being made in obtaining signatures of the Congressman who pledge to support the Nolan bill HR 12689. One example of the way some Congressmen have changed Majority Leader Jim Wright of Fort Worth. Wright was so against the earlier, but similar, Tower-Dole bill that he utilized 45 minutes downgrading the turn-around and is the co-sponsor of the Nolan bill. AAM action and hard work in Washington is educating many Congressmen about farming and ranching and is being successful in changing the views and attitudes of many. Every concerned individual is asked to write their Congressman and Senators immediately, urging them to support HR12689. White stated that it is imperative that this be done as soon as possible.

ATTEND WEDDING

John and Pearl Clark of Fort Worth and Mrs. J.O. Buchanan were in Lubbock Saturday to attend the wedding of Jo Anne White and Ricky Allen.

Testing speeds vary from three to 15 mph, faster than any previous ultrasonic test car, Stearns said.

Flaws as small as one per cent of a rail cross section have been detected already. All defects detected by the equipment automatically require a 10 mph "slow order" for trains running over that rail until it can be replaced or repaired.

"The biggest limit on the whole process is liquid couplant," Stearns said. No one has perfected a system of ultrasonics which will test through air. There must be liquid contact between the surface being tested and the transducers.

"If we didn't need a liquid couplant we could put this equipment on any vehicle that has the proper wheel width for rail operation," Stearns added. "The load of liquid couplant weighs a half a ton and takes up a lot of space."

Krueger to Host July 4 Picnic

NEW BRAUNFELS -- Congressman Bob Krueger will host a statewide family picnic and rally July 4 at his home here to kick-off his fall campaign for the U.S. Senate seat held by John Tower.

Krueger, who won the Democratic nomination for the Senate May 6, will make a brief speech at the event, which is expected to attract 7,000 of his friends and supporters from throughout the state.

"Independence Day has always been a day of celebration, and I am hopeful to make this July 4 a truly special one by being with all those people from throughout Texas who made our victory May 6 possible," Krueger said. "I invite everyone to attend."

The "Old-Fashioned Picnic and Rally" will be held from 2-6 p.m. in the field opposite the Krueger home. Concessions and games will be available, as will be free watermelon and tamales. Beer and soft drinks will sell for a nickel apiece.

The Comal County Fairgrounds will be used for parking. Special buses will transport people to and from the Congressman's home. Chartered buses for those attending the picnic will be leaving from Dallas and Houston and shuttle services will be provided for those arriving at the San Antonio International Airport.

Anyone needing additional information about the rally and picnic should call the state campaign headquarters in Austin at 512-478-1978.

Lions Club News

By Z.I. Smith

Lion James Patterson was in Abilene on Business on Wednesday and First V-P Bill Baker presided. Lion Baker had Ms. Irene Stewart as his guest. All the Lions had a special treat today. Because his garden had done so well, Lion Baker furnished a large selection of vegetables for the entire club's dinner. A treat like that should happen often. Lion Bill reported on the officers' business meeting and gave out copies of the clubs' present income and expense status. It was evident that with the increase in food costs, the club has needed to increase dues income to meet operating expense. A motion made and passed unanimously to increase each member dues to $12 per month beginning July 1st.

For his incoming administration, Lion Baker pledged to keep the club paying its own way and additionally to completely pay off the swimming pool bonds during the coming year.

Gerri assisted several committees in typing their pages.

Free time for entertainment was available on Tuesday night. The KC group along with many others took advantage of dollar night at the movies. However, according to Mrs. Newton, Tuesday night was not all fun time for if anyone walked down the dorm hall, evidence could be heard of officers and advisors burning a little midnight oil to complete their work. Angelia and Gerri were organizing and typing pages for the guide book that could not be completed until other officers had finished their work. Mrs. Newton also noted that the honor of being president also brings lots of hard work.

The workshop was almost completed as the group met for the final session on Wednesday morning. They worked to assemble the guide book, proof read their section and then each officer presented a report of committee accomplishment.

The meeting concluded with final plans for the National FHA Meeting to be held in Miami, Florida.

Judges included Mrs. H.P. Hodge Jr. and Mrs. Vernon Culpepper, both of Wichita Falls, Gertrude Jones of Lawton, Oklahoma, Bobby F. Hudson of Benjamin, James G. Hudson of Cotton Center, and Sherrie Hacker and Mary Rauch of Knox City.

Best of Show winners also were awarded a gift certificate. Merchants who contributed were The Art Stall, Lady Bug Shoppe, White Auto Store, City Hardware, Jones Pharmacy, Lowrey's, The Hairdresser, and The Knox County News.

A hanging basket planter, made and contributed by Pat Anderson, was won by Shelly Rumley, while the artist's grab bag was won by Peggy McGaughey.

First place winners will have their work on display at the Citizens State Bank for the remainder of the month. Mrs. Smith said that anyone with a hanging item who has not been contacted, should take their item to the bank lobby or contact Melanie Whitley.

The Jaycees, who held a bake sale along with the art show, reported brisk sales. An igloo door prize, donated by KMA Well Service, was won by Sue Arnold.

Mrs. Smith expressed her appreciation to the Jaycees for their help in the preparation of the building and their donation to the Chamber of Commerce of the Arts and Crafts Show sign. She also expressed her thanks to those merchants who displayed show posters and helped to make this year's show such a success.

SAFETY SENSE

Getting The Edge On Safety

If you get edgy taking care of your lawn, an edger/trimmer might trim some of the tedium out of your work. The experts at the Outdoor Power Equipment Institute have some advice for maximum safety and efficiency when using an edger-trimmer.

DRESS PROPERLY - Billowy clothes can get caught in the machine.

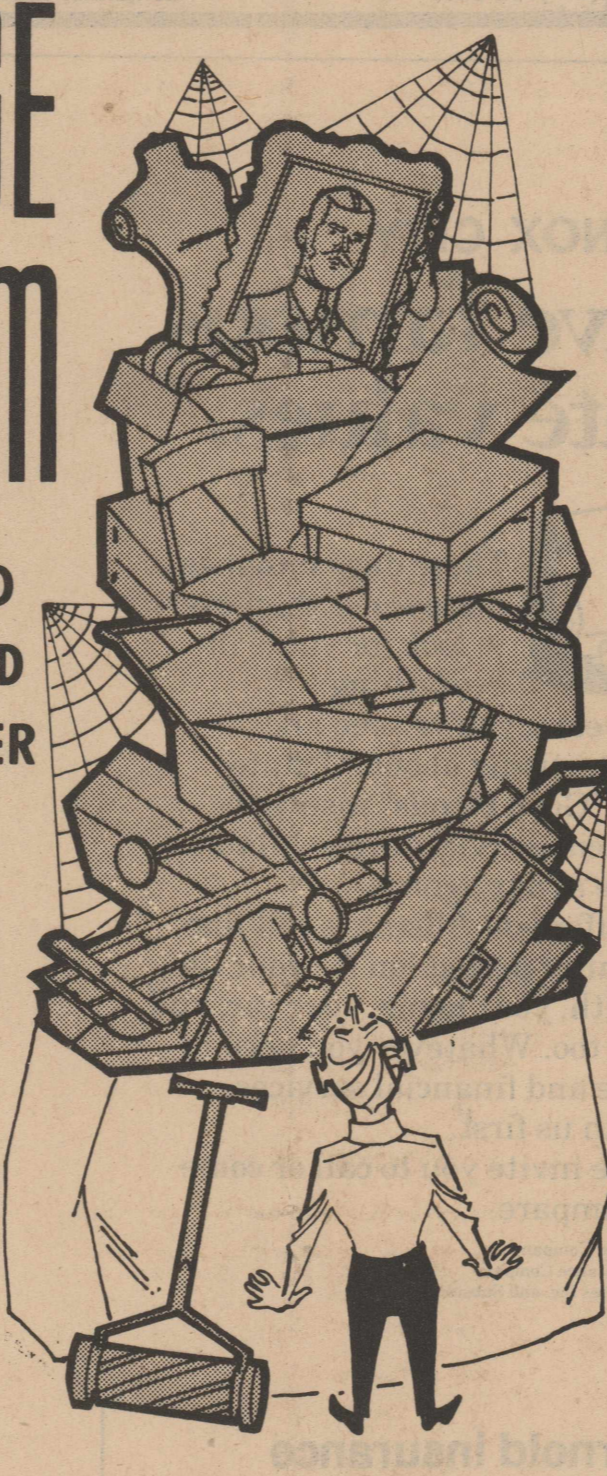

1. Dress properly. Billowy clothes can get caught in machinery. Snug fitting pants and heavy duty boots are best.
2. Clear your work area of children and pets—who might get in the way of the machine or objects thrown by it.
3. Read the owner's manual. It will bring you up-to-date on exactly how to use your machine safely.
4. Stop the engine completely before leaving the machine or making repairs or refueling.
5. The engine should be left to cool for 10 minutes before refueling. Always wipe up spilled gasoline immediately.
6. Always wear safety glasses or goggles to prevent injury from any objects thrown by the blade.

Lab Dedication Set At Scott & White

Dedication ceremonies will be held June 17 for the new 205,000 square-foot Mabee Diagnostic Center, the Scott and White Clinic's new laboratory, research and patient-care structure named in honor of Mr. and Mrs. John Mabee, who founded the Mabee Foundation of Tulsa, Oklahoma.

The Foundation is the biggest single donor to Scott and White Memorial Hospital and the Scott, Sherwood and Brindley Foundation. The Mabee Foundation made a grant of $2.5 million for the Diagnostic Center, which brought its total gifts to Scott and White to $3,125,000.

The Mabee Diagnostic Center begins receiving its first patients on June 5.

Many Scott and White Clinic Departments are the beneficiaries of greatly enlarged facilities in this new structure, built at a cost of $14.5 million.

The Mabee Diagnostic Center initially will provide space for 40 additional physicians, many of whom have come on the Scott and White staff in recent months. Later expansion will provide office space for a total of 200 physicians.

The new building connects to the present Scott and White Clinic on all levels except the sixth floor. The Center is a six-story building plus a ground floor, constructed to accommodate the addition of four more floors to be added if needed.

Departments which move into the Mabee Diagnostic Center include: Ground Floor, Laboratories, Medical Records, Endocrinology, Tumor Registry, X-Ray Therapy; First Floor, Pediatrics, Dermatology, Infectious Disease, Allergy, Community Internal Medicine; Second Floor, Orthopedics and Chiropractic, X-Ray; Third Floor, Gastroenterology, Endoscopy, Fluoroscopy, Proctosigmoidoscopy; Fourth and Fifth Floors, Shelled in; Sixth Floor, Doctors' Lounge, Clinic Administration.

The new Building is equipped with a complete communications system, compatible with that in the existing Hospital and Clinic. Teletiff communications vertically and horizontally carry laboratory items, X-rays and medical records. Of course, there is a nurse call system and a public address system throughout.

With many laboratory and medical support departments moving into the Mabee building, some 35,000 square feet of existing Clinic space in the main building has been renovated for expansion. Office and waiting areas have been redecorated for better patient access and comfort. Radiology and pathology laboratories are expanding into some of the vacated space.

The new diagnostic facility constitutes Phase II of the $25 million Expansion Fund at Scott and White. Phase I brought the Lucy King Brown Special Treatment Center in 1975. These two structures are the most significant single additions to Scott and White since it moved to its present site in 1963.

In 1977, Scott and White celebrated its 80th anniversary of founding. In observance, a special time capsule containing artifacts and memorabilia from those eventful years was sealed and placed in the lobby of the Mabee diagnostic Center (adjacent to the picturesque fountain). In 1997, during Scott and White's centennial ceremonies, the capsule will be taken out and examined. Until then, a chunk of the institution's history can consider the Mabee building as its home.

Burleson Announces CAP Program Grant

WASHINGTON D.C. Congressman Omar Burleson announces the approval of a $36,577 Community Services Administration grant to the Community Action Program, Inc., with headquarters at Abilene. The counties served are Taylor, Mitchell, Stephens, Jones, Kent, Haskell, Stonewall, Knox, Throckmorton, and Shackelford.

The program will weatherize 38 houses of eligible low-income homeowners, thus lowering their consumption of scarce energy supplies.

The effective date of the program is June 1, 1978, and it will run for twelve months.

Pesticide Safety Stressed

BY TOMMY ANTILLEY

Tis' the season when everyone gets into the act of using pesticides. Listed are ten points for safe use.

1. Keep all pesticides in their original labeled container and always avoid transferring to containers ordinarily used for soft drinks or fruit juices.
2. Enforce a "no-play" rule for children when using pesticides. A couple of "No-no's" will certainly be better than the "Oh no!" In fact, there's really no reason for anyone else to be in the area when you're mixing or applying pesticides.
3. Pesticide safety actually starts long before you buy a particular pesticide for a problem at home. It's based on a great amount of scientific knowledge developed by industry scientists, government agencies, fieldmen and many others. All this knowledge is boiled down into the wording you find on the container label. This label is a legal document and the directions must be followed. To fail to do this is taking a needless and perhaps costly chance.
4. Never trust your memory. Before using any pesticide—stop and read the label! If you can't or won't follow directions, you really shouldn't be using any pesticide. Each is scientifically designed to give best results at the exact rate specified on the label.
5. There are many different kinds of pests so it takes many different types of pesticides with specific formulations for proper control. Thus, the homeowner can be selective in choosing—liquids, dusts, granules or powders, depending upon equipment available and the nature of the pest problem.
6. Don't apply the aspirin theory—that if one is good, then twice as much will be better. It simply isn't true with pesticides and could cause poor results or other problems. Use only the recommended amount.
7. When handling concentrated materials, it's a good idea to follow the lead of professionals and wear gloves and goggles. This cuts down on the possibility of contaminating your hands or getting the concentrated material in your eyes.

8. When using a pesticide, apply only to the areas needing treatment and avoid walking through the treated areas as much as possible by spraying slightly to the side. If it is too windy to avoid drift, wait for a calmer time. The label will also tell you whether you should avoid making applications during extreme temperature conditions.

9. Proper disposal of all containers will avoid environmental eyesores and possible damage to the environment and wild creatures. The key to proper use and disposal of containers is in mixing only the amount of material you need to do the job. And remember never to pour unused amounts of any such material down the drain. It could cause problems when it reaches a stream. Rinse empty containers three times and add each rinse to the spray application.

10. Final cleanup is important. Wash and bathe thoroughly and give special attention to cleaning and checking your equipment to make sure it's in good condition the next time you need it.
