Senate Of Texas Passes Resolution In Memory Of Bruce Campbell Sr.

Senator Ray Farabee notified Bruce B. Campbell Jr. last week that in memory of his father, the Senate of the State of Texas passed a Senate Resolution on August 7. 1978.

Senator Farabee said that Mr. Campbell played a vital part in the community of Knox City and many will remember the vitality and joy he carried with him. "Full of good wit and humor, your father lessened the burdens of many, endearing him to them. He was a great civic leader and will not be forgotten.'

The Senate Resolution reads as follows: SENATE RESOLUTION In Memory

of Bruce Burnett Campbell

S.R. NO.133 By: FARABEE WHEREAS, An era on which one man's life left an indelible mark was closed with the death, on January 26, 1978, of one of Northwest Texas' most illustrious and colorful citizens, Mr. Bruce Burnett Campbell, of Knox City; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Campbell, who died at the age of 91, was as fascinating and colorful as the Old West itself: as a child he played with the children of that last chief of the Comanches, Quanah Parker; he survived attempts on his life, train wrecks, cattle drives in the searing Texas sun, and even the great depression's onslaughts on the banking business, and for he was a banker as well as a rancher;

president and chairman of the board; he was an astute businessman and was respected throughout the state for his banking acumen; and

WHEREAS, Civic-minded, as well as brilliant in his business attributes, Mr. Campbell was a member of the Knox City Chamber of Commerce and a director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce: he was a member of the Knox City Lions Club, chairman of Seven County Bankers Association, and had

In a letter to Mr. Baker, dated August 8, from Jerry L. Spence, senior legal examiner with the Railroad Commission of Texas, the request will be presented to the Commission for its decision.

with blindness in one eye and a finger which was crushed in a wagon wheel tire shrinker when he was a boy, he took these handicaps in stride and frequently expressed his gratitude for his longevity, which he ascribed to hard work and luck; and WHEREAS, He was married to Miss Josephine Hooper on November 7, 1916, in Benjamin, Texas, and she preceded him in death on

July 30, 1971; and WHEREAS, His hometown

Senate of the State of Texas, 65th Legislature, 2nd Called Session, commend the notable life of Bruce Burnett Campbell and extend sympathy on their great loss to the members of his family: his two sons, Bruce Burnett Campbell, Jr., of Knox City, and Tom Campbell of Odessa; his three grandchildren; and his great-grandchild; and, be it further

The nutrition program created by Congress in 1972 is designed to serve older persons over the age of 60 (and their spouses of any age) who need nutritious meals in a group setting. The purpose of the program is to benefit the whole person by helping to keep the individual active, healthy and alert in social interaction. This is not a welfare program. The federal funds provided for the project will meet part of the costs but every participant will have an opportunity to pay the cost of the meal or whatever amount he is able to contribute.

You will never believe what we did over the weekend went back to Tucson, Arizona! Just went through there three weeks ago. The second time was no. better than the first. J.O.'s mother wanted to go visit her daughter, Olga Teague, and we took her Saturday and came back Sunday. One thing about trips like this, you do not have time to wonder about what to do. you just go and come. I can probably tell you how many fence posts there are between Las Cruces and Tucson, or something like that.

· If you heard someone yelling last Friday, it was me. I had just received word that the two appraisals I had worked so hard and long on had been accepted by the Institute of Certified Texas Assessors admissions committee and I was clear to take the CTA exam in October, I had worried over this for about two or three months, so was very happy when I received the letter. They do not give you a grade, just that your appraisals are accepted or not. Now if I can just pass the exam, they tell us it is not an easy exam to take, so I may be down there for most of the day on October 7 taking the exam. One thing about this, you find out that day if you passed or not, then you get your certificate that night. This year they are doing things a little different. The TAE Board will have two people there helping grade the exams and if you pass, you will receive your state CTA designation and also be certified by the board as Registered Professional Assessor of Texas. The TA board is the Texas State Board of Tax Assessor Examiners set up by the legislation at the last session last year. All taxing agencies, such as City, Water Districts, etc., are not going to be required to practice what the schools have been required for sometime now, True in Taxation. This will mean more city tax assessors-collectors going to the CTA schools and learning more about the tax work. Some of them are not liking it, but now they see what schools have been going through for

Mr. and Mrs. David Hunt of Midland visited with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. L.A. Covey, Greg, Ava and John Morgan and Mr. and Mrs. E.W. Hunt during the weekend.

I want to take a few lines and say a "thank you" to all the people that helped any way with information I gathered for the two appraisals I wrote. Without this help I would not have been able to complete them and I appreciate all of you for the help in making the passing grade. THANK YOU.

The Lions were happy to see several visitors at Wednesday's meeting. The Lions stood and sang "Happy Birthday'' to Lion James Patterson who claimed to be '39 and holding''. Or was that "49 and holding"?

Lion Hob Smith introduced his quest, Gene Sutton, and proposed him for membership. Lion David Lorenz introduced his guest, Gary Morris, and proposed him for membership. With recommendations like these two candidates received, it was amazing that the Lions voted them in with a loud roar. No program was available. President Baker asked Lion Joe Clonts to give us a late report on the Millers Creek Reservoir. WACO - Instructions from the special tax session that the members of the 66th Legislature meeting in 1979 shall write a formula for taxing farmland on productive values and a substantial increase in the inheritance tax exemption look good. So says the Texas Farmers Union. But there are other questions unresolved according to the statewide organization.

"It appears the real trick to the whole package is distinquishing between instructions to the regular session on what SHALL be done and what MAY be done," says TFU President Jay Naman of Waco. "If voters approve the measure in November, lawmakers must write provisions for a productivity tax on farmland, give homeowners some small relief and further help the aged.'

"After you've whittled away a little from the tax rolls." Naman continued. "you must make up the difference somehow. And without any real reform of the system, you still have the same basic people providing the same revenue by only a slightly altered process. It's critically important that the legislature has set aside $450 millino for reimbursement to districts due to exemptions. But no formula was written as to HOW the state's money will be distributed. Rural school districts must place confidence in legislators to do the right thing in January. It's up to individuals and organizations like Farmers Union to watch over the next session and see to it they do the proper thing.

Texas Farmers Union has been one of the organizations seeking an increase in inheritance tax exemptions, and the increase to $200,000 up to $300,000 by 1985 is praised 'for the ability it will provide farm families to hold onto hard earned equity through generations." TFU spokesmen say they also applaud the exemption on utility sales taxes and the increased relief for homeowners and a freeze on taxes paid by the elderly. "The most disappointing thing," said Naman, "is that large corporate interests, already paying far less than their fair share, hovered over the capitol to assure they, too, had their big bite of the tax relief pie. TFU has opposed the inclusion of large corporations, speculators and huge timber interests in the productivity tax designed for farmers. The farm organization has also simple activities for the child left at home when back-toschool bells ring.

When school age children returnst to classes this fall, a young child may be left at home, points out Dorthy Taylor, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. the Texas A&M University System

The child left behind might get lonely, want parents to constantly play with him, or will become agitating and pesky because he is bored, she explains.

To help remedy this situation, make some ''lesson plans" for the child at home. Select simple activities that entertain and teach basic learning skills without demanding great blocks of time. Look around the room and think about the things the child likes to do in that room. For instance, kitchen lessons for the lonely may include how to make plain gelatin, to prepare a cake mix or to make play-dough. To make play-dough, mix equal parts of salt and flour with just enough water and food coloring to make a stiff colorful dough. Store in a tightly closed container. The child will work while mother supervises. If the television is in the supported suits brought by taxpavers in Gainesville. Leander and San Augustine which claim that all properties (real and intangible) are not being taxed equally. With a clause in the tax package that says the legislature "may" exclude intangible property and erase existing laws that are intended to tax all property, the Farmers Union says it fears that the issue in the lawsuits may be ruled unsupportable.

"There's nothing black or white about this package," concludes Naman. "We need to underline the good in it. We also must see to it that rural school districts benefit on equal terms with urban districts if and when the bits of relief get passed around. But the final measurement against real reform must leave us with the ultimate conclusion that those who hoped that Texas Lawmakers would provide worthwhile tax relief are doomed to disappointment.

WATCH OUT FOR SUMMER AIR POLLUTION Another hazard of summer deserves mention, and that is air pollution. Climatic conditions, along with increased automobile traffic for much longer periods of time, cause increasee eye irritation, conjunctivitis, throat irritation and more frequent attacks of bronchitis and asthma. Patients with respiratory ailments need to be especially cautious during this time of the year, but just about everyone is subject to irritation of one form or another.
