Girl Scout Cookie Sale To Begin

It's time for the NorCenTex Girl Scout Cookie Sale and these Girl Scouts are ready to start selling their seven great varieties of cookies. The sale will begin March 2 and will continue through March 18. The seven varieties include Samoas; Thin Mints, Do-Si-Do's (peanut butter sandwich); VanChos (vanilla and chocolate cremes); Trefoils (butter cookie); Tagalongs (peanut butter and chocolate); and new this year is the old fashioned Granola cookie. The cookies will once again be selling for $1.25 per box.

The Cookie Chairman for Troop 103 will be Mrs. Jimmy Tankersley, who explained that the money made from the cookie sale will benefit not only the troop in Knox City, but will also benefit the NorCenTex Girl Scout Council so it can provide a better quality program for all girls throughout the council. As well as supporting local activities, cookie money goes to support Camp Stonewall Jackson, a primitive campsite near Holliday and equipment for day camps. It enables NorCenTex Girl Scouts the opportunity to attend resident camps and day camps. The cookie money also helps provide direct services to troops, adult training, counseling to leaders and service units and supporting services.

The money stays in the NorCenTex Girl Scout Council to keep Scouting available to all girls throughout the eleven counties that NorCenTex serves.

The Brownies in Knox City have participated in many of the opportunities that NorCenTex has offered this year. Readers are asked to support the local Girl Scouts by buying Girl Scout Cookies March 2 through March 18.

City of KC Installing New Lines

City employees began Monday of this week installing two blocks of new water lines on East Main Street.

Faye Railsback, city secretary-manager, explained that the new line is replacing the old one that has given the city water department so many headaches the past few years.

A valve for the two block area was being installed also in order not to cause residents too much inconvenience in having their water turned off for long periods of time during the new installations.

Also on the city's agenda is the installation of seven new fire hydrants at various locations, Mrs. Railsback said.

'Doors Open' For Public School Week

The 29th Annual Texas Public Schools Week as designated by Governor Bill Clements is to be observed next week, March 5 through 9, by the Knox City-O'Brien Consolidated Independent School District.

As in the past, parents are extended an invitation to visit the schools during the week, with some of the teachers setting specific visiting times while others prefer that visitors see "school as usual." Parents are asked not to send small children to visit classes unless accompanied by a parent.

Kindergarteners and their teacher, Mrs. Sherry Hacker, welcome visitors any time during the week from 8:30 a.m. until 2:30 p.m.

Mrs. Louise Kemeletz and Mrs. Earlene Austin in the first grade welcome visitors at 2:30 p.m. on Thursday.

Second grade teacher, Mrs. Linda Underwood, also asks that parents come at 2:30 p.m. on Thursday.

Third grade teacher, Mrs. Eula Morris, and fourth grade instructor, Mrs. Karon Yates, invite parents to visit on Friday at 2:30 p.m.

Parents are invited to the math lab at the time when their child is being instructed, according to Mrs. Ann Steckler, who is in charge of the lab.

Principal Charles Reed of O'Brien Mid-School invites parents to visit anytime it is convenient for them during the observance of Public School Week. Parents are also extended an invitation to eat lunch with the O'Brien students on Thursday.

Faculty members in the high school extend a welcome for visitors during the week with the best days being Monday and Wednesday.

Parents are reminded that Tuesday, March 6, is a Teacher In-Service Day, with no classes scheduled for the students.

Anderson Receives Grant

David Anderson, a freshman accountant major at McMurry College in Abilene and son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Anderson of Knox City, was selected to receive a Tuition Equalization Grant, a gift which is awarded to an eligible student from Texas who chooses to attend one of the 40 privately-endowed colleges or universities in Texas.

The current state law allows an amount of up to $600 a year. The grant goes directly under the Texas Commissioner of Higher Education. Grants are awarded regardless of sex, race, color, religious belief or national origin.

David received the TEG last semester. He was salutatorian of his class at KCHS and did very well on his ACT scores which enabled him to receive a Presidential Scholarship as well.

David was featured in the McMurry school publication, ChiefTain, and in the article David commented that he and his parents found it somewhat difficult to meet the expenses at McMurry and had considered transferring at mid-term to a public college. David justified his decision to stay by saying, "It seems almost like a high school in some ways. It's friendly. In a short time, I've made a lot of friends. I'm mainly a sports person and I really enjoy the gym and the intramural sports. Even more important to me is the fact that you can go and talk to professors and really feel like you're communicating with them. I know going to someplace like Tech I would just be lost."

Local cotton prices were steady to lower last week. Prices were stable early, but declined late in the week. Bid prices ranged from 7½ to 9½ cents per pound over loan rates. Most cotton sold at 8 to 9 cents over the loan. Mixed quality lots of cotton sold at mostly 50 to 53 cents per pound. The supply of cotton was heavy, but producers offered only light to moderate quantities for sale. Demand was light to moderate; and trading was mostly slow during the week. Cottonseed prices paid producers ranged from 110 to 130 dollars per ton.

Cotton classed in Abilene during the past week was 73 percent Light Spotted, 17 percent White, and 10 percent

Sales Tax Check Decreases Slightly

AUSTIN -- State Comptroller Bob Bullock said rebates to Texas cities of the local option one percent sales tax are up a whopping 36 percent for February over the same period last year.

However, Knox City's net payment was down at $2,492.05 in comparison with last year's payment of $2,587.64. The town's 1979 payments of $3,592.18 were also down some 16 percent when compared to last year's payments of $4,311.41.

Munday's sales tax check for this period was $1,996.24

ASCS Employee Attends Course

Dorothy Jean Lain, chief program assistant for the Knox County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, has returned from Albuquerque, New Mexico, where she attended a basic supervision training course for chief program assistants.

Mrs. Lain received her nomination from Washington, D.C., to attend the second course offered. The course, designed to increase knowledge and skills, was held at the White Winrock Hotel in Albuquerque and supervised by Lucia Tafoya, training specialist of the New Mexico ASCS office.

There are 390 chief program assistants in the nation, with 87 from the State of Texas. Mrs. Lain was among nine who attended from Texas, with four from Kansas.

while Haskell's totalled $5,929.74.

Other area towns and their payments were Aspermont, $2,209.18; Crowell, $1,100.18; Paducah, $3,426.47; Seymour, $5,918.06; Stamford, $7,225.65; and Throckmorton, $1,264.67.

Bullock said Texas cities will receive a rebate of some $25.5 million this month, compared to a net payment of about $13.7 for February last year.

The 1979 year-to-date payments for city sales tax rebates have climbed to $43.7 million, compared to a two-month figure last year of $32.2 million, an increase of $11.5 million.

Over 909 Texas cities will receive rebates as their share of the city sales tax.

The sales tax is collected by merchants and other sales tax permit holders along with the state sales tax and is rebated monthly to cities in which it is collected by the Comptroller's Office.

O'Brien Happenings

By CHARLENE BROTHERS

Saw my first sun eclipse Monday morning. At first we had forgotten about it and when it started to getting cloudy looking, we just thought the sun was being covered by the clouds. Then Hershell said it was about time for the eclipse, and sure enough it was. We looked at it through some welding helmets, which I read later you should not do. The lenses in the helmet were green, so we saw a green moon. It looked just like a half or nearly half moon to me. Anyone that is around in 2178 or whenever they said the next one would be will have to go through Canada to see it. I'm not making any plans to go.

I wish someone would do something to the streets in the City of O'Brien, I'm on the council but cannot seem to do much good. They are getting to be very rough. In front of our house there are chuck holes that are nearly big enough to jump into. Our grader will not work, it is about like everything else around here, not in very good shape. If anyone would like to help with donations to get it fixed, just say the word and I will come get it or see that someone does it.

We still need someone to sign up to run for the city offices. I think everyone is going to run again, but just have not had time to sign yet, but some of you other people could run and if you wish to, you can get the forms from Veeta Reid or pick them up here at the gin office.

and Susann. Janoma told me she was really enjoying helping with the new twin girls. (I think people have bugged Scott to death asking about them.)

Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Cox of Lubbock and Kim Cox of Fort Worth visited with Mr. and Mrs. A.A. Cox during the weekend.

Loretta Hewitt was in Snyder recently to visit her mother, Mrs. Bert Davis while she was in the hospital. Mrs. Davis is doing better.

The out-of-town people visiting with Mrs. and Mrs. F.D. Emerson and Mr. and Mrs. J.M. Emerson, J. and Justin and attending the funeral for Vicie Pearl Emerson were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hasty and son; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hasty; Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Hasty and daughter; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Grimsley; Mr. and Mrs. Mark Grimsley, Janna and Richard; Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Emerson; Mr. and Mrs. John Williams, David, Florence Ann and John; Ms. Jackie Faye Calhoun, Shelia and Troy; Ms. Chris Rogers; Mr. and Mrs. W.W. Emerson; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Cloud and Lynda; Sgt. Harold Emerson; Russell Emerson and Debbie Lane; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Cloud; Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Cloud; Mr. and Mrs. O.L. Emerson and Pat, Scott Emerson; Mrs. Alan Emerson; Mrs. Lector Thomasson and Mrs. Thelma Grinstead. Also Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Reeves, Gene Spicer and Mrs. Sandra Mayo and Susann, his daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. S.J. Reeves Jr. of Pampa visited with Mr. and Mrs. J.M. Emerson, J. and Justin and also attended the Emerson funeral.

There are a group of men and women around O'Brien and Knox City that have been playing volleyball for quite a while. They entered a tournament at Rochester during the weekend and the men's team won second, winning a very pretty trophy. Members of their team are James Manning, Troy Lewis, Nicky Johnston, Rayland Hayes, Alfred Rios and Bobby Easterling. They had to play about four games to come in for second place, but good luck, you guys. The women's team members are Brenda Correll, Cindy Brothers, Pearce Manning, Pam Lewis, Jill Hayes, Pam Reed, Jan Quintanilla and Teresa Rios, even though she did not get to play in the tournament. These ladies were beat out pretty quick, I think. They told me they placed fifth, now how many teams were entered I do not know. Anyway they are trying, better luck next time.

Corporations Must File By March 15

Corporations ending their tax year on December 31 must file a 1978 federal income tax return by Thursday, March 15, 1979, the Internal Revenue Service said.

Those corporations which need additional time to file should submit Form 7004 by March 15 to receive an automatic extension.

In either case, corporations must deposit at least 50 percent of the balance due in an authorized commercial bank or Federal Reserve Bank when they file their return or application for extension. Federal Tax Deposit (FTD) Form 503 must be used for deposits, the IRS said.

IRS Publication 542, "Corporations and the Federal Income Tax", provides additional information and is available free from local IRS offices.

COACHES COMMENTS

By JERRY LOWREY
Another basketball season has slipped by with the Greyhounds playing their final game of the season on February 13. An analysis of our season would certainly reflect a great deal of success. Our final season record of 16 wins and 11 losses marks some fine play on both sides of our record. We will miss the names of David Walling, Jimmy Rushing, David Benson, David Counts, and Neal Tackitt when we fill out our scorebook for the 1978-80 season. But we do have a good nucleus of players returning for next season.

Sam White and Dwayne Johnson are two juniors who will be back along with sophomores Ricky Gonzales, Tim Roberson, and Adam White. These players along with several junior varsity players will be bearing the banner for the Hounds next season. Junior varsity players who will be battling for varsity positions next season will be Chuck Hutchinson, Jay Rutherford, Chuco Magana, Andy Barnard, Kelly Boone, Scott Lynn, Daniel Alsides, as well as several others. The junior varsity members completed their season with an 11-5 record with two of their losses being to varsity teams.

This year's Greyhounds gave up the fewest points per game of any since my nine years at Knox City. The Greyhounds were rather stingy holding their opponents to only 46.26 points per game. Our leading scorer was senior David Walling, who nudged out Tim Roberson by two points with a 12.8 average. David and Tim tied for the leading rebounder with 10.6 per game. David Walling was our leading percentage shooter both from the free throw line (60%) and from the field (43.8%). Dwayne Johnson was the assist leader with 4.4 per game and Roberson led the team in steals with 2.2 per game. Complete statistics are listed below. I feel the real key to success next season will be to generate a little more offense; somewhere around 60 points per game or better. This year's group averaged 52.96 per game somewhat off of some of our previous teams' output.

The Greyhounds and coaches express their appreciation to the parents and fans who followed and supported us throughout the season. Coaches also appreciated the cooperation and support of the faculty and especially our administration Mr. Reed, Mr. Holcomb, and Mr. Baker.

Former Benjaminite Wins Denver Contest

Former Benjamin resident, Mrs. Jim Pults of Olney Springs, Colorado, was notified during the month of January, that she was a winner of Denver station KBTB Channel 9 contest "9 Who Care". In receiving this award, $1,000 was presented to the organization of the recipient's choice while the individual received an additional $1,000. Mrs. Pults states, "Of course, the money will be given to 4-H, where my life has been."

Presentations were made during a televised awards banquet hosted by ABC sports broadcaster Frank Gifford Monday, February 12, at the Marriott Hotel in Denver.

The life-long 4-H worker, who was one of 600 entries, was nominated for the "Who Cares" contest by the Youth Extension Agent in Pueblo.

Included in the resume of Mrs. Pults' volunteer work was the fact that she has been involved in 4-H or Home Demonstration work since she was 10 years old or 57 years. She is beginning her 26th year as a 4-H leader in Colorado. Before that, she was a 4-H leader in Texas.

Her nomination was also based on her first aid work. She is a qualified instructor and has taught many classes in first aid including law enforcement officers, firemen and business personnel in Pueblo. She was one of only three persons qualified to give first aid at Pueblo Army Depot, with more than 3,000 employees, during her 20 years of employment there. She is also a certified Emergency Medical Technician.

Also listed were the many hours of volunteer work Mrs. Pults has given to the Senior Citizens and Nutrition programs in Crowley County.

At his time, Mrs. Pults is Organizational 4-H Leader, Chairman for Leaders in District Seven, and Chairman of District Council of Nutrition Program for Otero, Crowley and Bent Counties. She has worked with the ceramics class for Senior Citizens in Olney Springs, having charge of molds, instructing classes, loading the kiln and firing.

A production crew from Channel 9 was in Olney Springs recently to film Mrs. Pults, her family, friends and activities. Included in the filming was an improvement first aid situation. Olney Senior Citizens enjoying a nutritious meal provided by the Nutrition Program, a visit to the Senior Citizens Ceramics Class and a tour of Olney, a community of about 300 persons, and meeting with Mrs. Pults' 4-H group, Best in West from Pueblo and other 4-H'ers from Crowley County.

Mrs. Pults said she wouldn't have been able to devote the many hours to 4-H and other activities if it hadn't been for her good husband, Jim. "Throughout the years while I have been busy filling out 4-H records or involved in some other volunteer project, he has been fixing the meals, doing dishes or cleaning the floor," she said.

The couple has reared a family of five, and, of course, all five finished their full time as 4-H'ers. They are J.G. Pults, a construction worker in Denver; Donald Ray Pults, production manager of Rock Wool Insulation in Pueblo; Ruth Duncan, a Pueblo housewife; Bill Pults, owner of The Country Store in Fowler; and Guinn Pults, who has a lawn spraying service in Pueblo.

Mr. and Mrs. Pults were guests of honor at the February 12 banquet, which was televised. "When I'm asked, 'Why have you devoted so many years to 4-H work?' I always answer, 'Because 4-H is the greatest program for young people in this day and time. No other teaches and develops young people like 4-H,'" said Mrs. Pults.

When Carrie Pults finds a worthwhile project instead of a helping hand, she has extended both of hers.

GRAZE OR HARVEST?

During the next few weeks, producers will be making the decision to pull their stockers off their wheat and harvest for grain or graze it out. This decision will be based on the moisture content, expected grain and price prospects in the next few weeks.

About 65 days of grazing time occurs after the time cattle must be pulled off wheat to permit harvesting for grain. On years with normal conditions, cattle will usually gain at a rate of about two pounds per head per day. Carrying capacity depends on growing conditions, fertility, etc.

The amount of beef produced and the level of cattle prices at sale time influences how low the price of wheat must be for the graze-out venture to be profitable. Generally speaking, the additional expense of keeping wheat pasture cattle during this time of year will be minimal. Labor, feed, interest, etc. will not exceed $6 or $7 per head. After adjustments are made for additional cattle cost and the harvest cost of grain, a breakeven price for wheat can be determined.

For example, if a producer feels he can run one calf for 65 days and sell it for 45 cents, wheat would have to sell for $3.07 per bushel or less if he harvested 20 bushels for graze-out to be profitable. Running 1½ head at 45 cents, wheat must bring $4.52 and two head at 45 cents means wheat must bring $6.00.

Of course every producer must make up his own mind using his situation. After all, he is the one that must live with the decision after it is made.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Billye,

There may be a time when you need a space filler for your paper and we have a lot of information about the Nursing Home industry. These things are best said while there are no John Hill Task Force or scandals making the headlines.

The next time one of those horror stories about nursing homes comes out of Washington, Austin, or wherever, scaring almost to death those who are in nursing homes and the readers who ought to be in nursing homes, alarming the families who have residents in our Home, then we want everyone to know and be able to say, "It's not happening here." Come to our Home, talk to the residents, talk to our staff, sample our food, answer any doubts you may have. The nursing home industry has nothing to hide and couldn't if we wanted to.

With both Congress and State legislature in session, experience teaches us to expect a great cry for reform and a rash of proposals by State and Federal bureaucracies for more and more regulations. The nursing home industry favors all action to improve quality care for residents. Our Association, for example, supported Senate Bill 9 which provides punishment for personnel who abuse patients in any manner. We believe if the public were better informed about current conditions under which nursing homes were operated, they would not want to see restrictive rules piled upon the perfectly adequate ones that already exist. Rules and regulations, if kept to a minimum, are a must, but when you try to handle regulations from County, State, Federal and Life Safety Code, all with conflicting requirements and interpretations and the reams of paperwork attached, patient care is going to suffer. I don't mean to criticize anyone and am not going to say the system is perfect. Obviously there is room for improvement, but the constant decrying of nursing homes and more and more red tape is not the answer.

I believe the vast majority of people who work in nursing homes discover it is more than a job. Those who do not have the patience or interest never seem to last. Benefits and wages are a minimum in this industry and we get our reward from the affection and confidence that our patients place in us. I have seen employees visit residents on their day off, provide personal items out of their own income, take clothes home to mend, bring presents for birthdays and Christmas, nurses pool resources to buy insulin and medication that the patient cannot afford. I see them cry when a patient dies and spend their evening off at the bedside of a man dying of emphysema, holding his hand. These are the positive things of a nursing home - the things the general public never sees and never reads about and the inspectors never know because we do not sit down and document them.

Dear Billye Bess,

We're coming home to stay! Hank will retire February 24 so we will be in Knox City permanently around March 1.

Had meant to come in and change our address before I left January 24, but left a week earlier than I had planned so some things didn't get done.

Thank you so much for keeping up with us all these years. The paper certainly contributed to our decision to retire in Knox City. We pray that we can, in some way, contribute to the wonderfully warm and friendly little community of Knox City.

Most Sincerely,

HEW's Rights Of The Handicapped

by
Eddie Bernice Johnson
Principal Regional Official
U.S. Department of HEW
Dallas

One of my greatest concerns is the manner in which the handicapped are treated in this nation and what can be done to improve their lives. In the last few years, the administration and congress also have become concerned. As we begin a new year, it's timely that we review the rights available to disabled persons.

It is a new day for the disabled. Although many may be greatly surprised by the next few paragraphs, I hope this information will benefit you.

If you are disabled or the parent or guardian of a disabled child, federal law is on your side. As a physically or mentally disabled person, you have the same rights as anyone else to education, employment, health care, senior citizen activities, welfare, and any other public or private service that U.S. tax dollars help to support.

To put it briefly, if you are otherwise qualified for a job, college, welfare, or other service or activity, your disability does not count. That's the law! Specifically, it is Title V, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 (PL 93-112).

You should remember that, as a disabled person, your rights are protection by Section 504 if your employer, school, college, hospital or other service provider receives federal assistance. That means federal money, services, or property.

If you are not sure your employer must comply with Section 504, ask your supervisor if the activity receives federal assistance. If the answer is "yes", your rights are guaranteed. The same would be true for your college, hospital, social service agency, or many other places.

If you are the parent or guardian of a physically or mentally disabled child, you have the right to DEMAND that your federally-assisted local public school system provide a free education appropriate to your child's needs.

That's the law also, in fact, it is two laws: Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act and the Education for All Handicapped Children Act (PL 94-142).

Again, federal assistance is the key. If the public school district in which you live benefits from the use of federal funds, services, or property (and nearly all do), your disabled child's right to a free appropriate education is assured.

Up to this point, I have talked in broad generalities, but now let's get to some specifics.

You may wonder whether your disability is covered by these laws and regulations. Well, in the Section 504 regulation, HEW identifies a handicapped person as anyone with a physical or mental disability that substantially impairs or restricts one or more such major life activities as walking, seeing, hearing, speaking, working, or learning. Even belief by the individual or by others that a person has such a disability, whether it is so or not, also is recognized as a handicap by the regulation.

Handicapping conditions include, but are not limited to such things as alcoholism, cerebral palsy, deafness or hearing impairment, diabetes, drug addiction, epilepsy, heart disease, mental or emotional illness, mental retardation, multiple sclerosis, muscular dystrophy, orthopedic, speech or visual impairment, and perceptual handicaps such as dyslexia, minimal brain dysfunction, and developmental aphasia.

Regarding your right to employment, as a disabled job applicant or employee, you have the same rights and benefits as non-handicapped applicants and employees. Your ability, training and experience must be considered. Your disability MUST NOT be considered unless it keeps you from doing the job adequately. An employer receiving federal assistance may not discriminate against you in recruitment, advertising, or processing of applications for employment. You can not be required to take a physical examination before the job is offered. You may be required to take a physical examination after the job is offered if the examination is required of other applicants.

Further, an employer receiving federal assistance may not discriminate against you in hiring, promotion or demotion, transfer, layoff, or rehiring, job assignment or career ladders, leaves of absence, sick leave, training programs, and other fringe benefits. Once hired, your employer is required to take reasonable steps to accommodate your disability unless they would cause the employer undue hardship.

The accommodation requirement could include such things as supplying a reader if you are blind and the job includes paperwork, an interpreter if you are deaf and the job requires telephone contacts, adequate workspace and access to it if you use a wheelchair, or minor adjustment in working hours if you are required to visit a methadone clinic daily.

Among your rights as a handicapped person is the right to health care. Hospitals are the largest group of health care providers affected by the Section 504 regulation.

As a disabled person, you are entitled to all medical services and medically related instruction available to the public. Hospitals receiving federal assistance (including Medicare payments) must take steps to accommodate your disability.

Among other things, hospitals must provide an emergency room interpreter or make other effective provisions for deaf patients, treat the physical injury of a person under the influence of alcohol or drugs, admit disabled persons to natural childbirth, anti-smoking, or other public service programs of instruction.

Meanwhile, federally assisted long-term health care facilities may operate separate programs for different physical disabilities and mental disorders. For example, a sanitarium for patients with lung disease is not required to have a mental health program for a patient with lung disease and an emotional disorder. On the other hand, the institution may not exclude a person with lung disease who also has other handicaps.

If your disabled child is in a long-term health care facility, the facility and the local public school district are jointly responsible for providing a free appropriate education for your child.

If you are a Medicaid patient, your private physician must have an office physically accessible to you, treat you in a hospital or your home, or if this is not possible, refer you to another physician whose office is accessible, after conferring with you on the matter.

Services provided to you as a Medicare patient in a federally-assisted hospital are covered under Section 504, while services provided by a private physician are not.

Another major right handicapped persons have is to social and rehabilitation services. As a disabled person, you have the right to participate in vocational rehabilitation, senior citizen activities, day care (for your disabled child), or any other social service program receiving federal assistance on an equal basis with non-handicapped persons. For example, you may not be denied admission because you use a wheelchair and need access to classrooms, recreation areas, or buses. Neither can you be excluded from vocational training because you are blind, mentally retarded, or paralyzed and may need more training for paid employment than students with other disabilities.

As a disabled young person or adult, you have the same right as anyone else to go to college or enroll in a job training or adult post-high school basic education program. Your application must be considered on the basis of your academic and other school records, and your disability may not be a factor.

Insofar as your disabled child's right to education is concerned, your state and local school district must, no later than the 1978-79 school year, provide under Section 504 an appropriate elementary and secondary education for your physically or mentally disabled child. The cost to you must be no more than to the parents of non-handicapped children. There are many other provisions and requirements under the Education for All Handicapped Children Act, as well as under other laws. To insure federal buildings comply with the law requiring physical access to and use of federal buildings for disabled citizens, the federal Architectural and Transportation Barriers Compliance Board had launched a major field survey of facilities under its coverage. The surveys will be conducted by A & TBCB staff, regional staff from the ten regions of the country, and handicapped citizens from the local areas. Data gathered by the surveys will form a crucial information base to help each agency know its problems and to set timetables to correct them. Anyone deserving copies of various brochures and other

17th District

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The main responsibility of a Congressman is to represent the best interests of the people who elected him. To do this requires the wearing of many hats and the performance of a myriad of services. So that you will have a better idea of just what kind of assistance we can offer you, we have prepared a list with the names of employees in my Washington, D.C. office and have provided information as to the type of help they can provide.

LOIS AUER is my legislative assistant. Her work involves drafting new legislation in the District's interest and keeping me informed of the status of pending legislation. She also researches and responds to incoming letters pertaining to governmental affairs. Previously, Lois worked for Mr. Burleson for 5 1/2 years as legislative aide.

ROCCHINA CASALE came to Washington in September 1977, to work on the staff of Omar Burleson, where she was employed until his retirement in January of this year. At that time, she began working for me. Her duties include basic secretarial and stenographic work, along with varied case work.

ROBERT DYER recently moved to Washington from Cisco, Texas, where he previously worked as a farmer-rancher. He is a graduate of Hardin Simmons University with a degree in mathematics. He brings with him an extensive knowledge of two key industries of the 17th District - energy and agriculture. Bob is serving as my adviser for energy-related matters.

JOHN HAUGEN works on Social Security, Medicare, welfare, and related matters. He previously served on the staff of Omar Burleson for 2 1/2 years.

SONNY LEE of Snyder, Texas, is my press assistant as well as adviser on foreign affairs and foreign agriculture. He is a graduate of Western Texas College and is presently attending American University School of International Service, where he is a Presidential Scholar.

M.S. degree from Texas A&M in Agricultural Economics, and a law degree from the University of Texas. He will use his extensive knowledge and experience as my agricultural adviser.

MADELINE SCHNEIDER, Typist, works on typing projects, having worked for Congressman Burleson in the same capacity.

CAROL ANN SENTENA is a native of Abilene, Texas, where she graduated from Abilene High School in 1973 and received a B.A. in Political Science from Hardin Simmons University. She is involved in secretarial duties and responding to constituent requests.

CLAUDIA SIPE, Executive Secretary, has worked on Capitol Hill for approximately 26 years; 22 of these years have been spent working for former Members of the Texas Delegation. Among the myriad tasks which she performs are assisting constituents with military and veterans problems together with handling telephone requests.

KEN WALTER, from Abilene, Texas, previously worked as an aide to Omar Burleson. He has a B.A. degree in accounting from Texas Tech University and is a Certified Public Accountant. Ken is an assistant legislative assistant. His duties include working on matters dealing with the Post Office and Civil Service Committee and also business-government relations.

A Congressional Office is moving on a number of planes. At any given time, we (Congressman and his staff) can be involved in formulating a legislative idea and drafting a bill, responding to constituent requests, handling casework, and attending committee meetings. I believe I have a staff that is capable and certainly willing to assist you whenever you need help dealing with your government.

Six Flags:

Piles Of This And That To Become Heaps Of Fun

Phyllis and Gale Nixon of Andrews announce the arrival of a baby daughter, Amanda Kay, born Friday, February 23, at 10:20 a.m. in Permian General Hospital in Andrews.

The young miss weighed seven pounds and one and one-half ounces and measured 20 inches in length.

Helping welcome the baby home was big sister, Jodie, who is three and one-half years old.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Tankersley of Knox City and Mr. and Mrs. James Nixon of Lubbock are paternal grandparents.

Mrs. D.W. Williamson of Clovis, New Mexico, is the great-grandmother.

WHEELER VISITORS
Weekend visitors in the home of Mrs. E.H. Wheeler were Bill Wheeler of Odessa and H.M. Wheeler of Garland.

prepared for the coming season.

General Manager Howells commented, "In three months, we simply have to do the impossible, but, somehow, it always seems to get done. To an outsider it must look like utter confusion, but our people make it happen every time."

"Sometimes," he added, "it's not what you'd call a piece of cake. For example, this year we've had some pretty severe winter weather. For a while it looked as though the cold and rain would really hurt us on a couple of new buildings. But, someone came up with the idea of moving the jobs 'indoors' to get them finished. They pitched circus tents over both sites, installed heaters and went on their merry way."

"People are always asking what we do during the off-season. Well....."

YUK! OPEN WIDE — All is not glitter at Six Flags Over Texas as the theme park readies for its 1979 opening. At left, a worker finds out what happened to a stool that vanished last season. It's stuck in the goo of what is normally a serene canoe ride lake which is drained during the off-season for removal of debris ... like stools. The big-mouthed character at right is actually the entryway to the Lost Temple of the Chisos where visitors seem to defy gravity as they make their slanted way through a simulated archeological dig.

ARLINGTON - What is it they say about Six Flags Over Texas? It's what you wish the world could be?

If that were to become a reality this week, the world would smell like asphalt, wet paint and fresh-cut wood. And, it would vaguely resemble London, right after the Blitz.

February is traditionally the "month of the ugly duckling" at Six Flags.

The Arlington theme park is in the midst of its annual refurbishing, with activity becoming more frantic by the day as the March 3 opening date gets closer.

General Manager Dan Howells says, "It's a lot like Cheryl Tiegs in curlers. The end results are going to be beautiful."

"As is our tradition, we're investing a couple of million dollars to assure that the park is fresh, fascinating and different. We've been doing it for 19 years, but it's always an adventure."

Six Flags wound up its last season the final weekend in November. The very next day, dozens of landscape gardeners began ripping away at acres of flowerbeds.

Thousands of large tropical plants were unceremoniously dug up and temporarily planted in peach baskets which were hauled by the truckload to huge greenhouses for the winter.

Within a matter of days the planting areas were the hiding places for thousands of tulip bulbs, covered over with a blanket of fledgling pansy plants.

If Mother Nature meets her usual schedule, the beds will be a blaze of color come March.

Elsewhere monstrous machines were digging up mature trees and hauling them to new "homes" to make way for the dozens of construction projects which suddenly dotted the leafless landscape.

An entire row of buildings in the park's familiar Texas section fell to bulldozers. In their place, 1979 visitors will find an entirely new development of "old" buildings, including a two-story frontier hotel facade.

"Sometimes," said Howells, "our projects are a little frustrating. Every year we find ourselves having to tear down buildings which have outlived their usefulness, and replacing them with brand new buildings which look exactly the same as the ones we tore down. It costs a ton of money, and chances are nobody will notice that anything has changed. The better job of restoring we do, the less likely anybody is to spot the new construction."

"There's a gosh awful temptation to put up signs that say 'This old, familiar building is a brand new building,' but of course, you can't do that."

"It's the same way with curbing. Over the past few years we've replaced hundreds and hundreds and hundreds of feet of plain concrete curbing with a far prettier curb with an exposed pebble finish. Nobody actually knows what we have done. It just looks - for some mysterious reason - a lot nicer and neater."

Just after closing each year, the park's mechanics stage what has come to be known as the "Six Flags Gran Prix." That is the day when the modern and antique miniature cars are driven in a noisy procession to the maintenance garages.

Seats come out and head for the upholstery shops. Bodies come off and are hauled to the fiberglass area. Then the mechanics tackle the remaining chassis and motors.

Weeks later, after bodies and wheels have traveled through the park's paint shops, the parts meet again and chug back into the park in mint condition. In a chilly steel room 200 feet above the ground, technicians totally overhaul the sophisticated winches and computers which control the famous Texas Chute Out parachute ride. Others put the ride's miles of steel cables through rigid safety tests.

Still other computer experts are at work on the controls of the Shock Wave double loop roller coaster. And, the coaster's tremendous cars are hauled away, taken apart and tested piece-by-piece.

The huge steel rails of rides like the Shock Wave, Runaway Mine Train and The Big Bend are subjected to strenuous scientific testing. In many instances the testing is as precise as that given components of a jetliner.

All the while painters are swarming over the sprawling complex. Workers empty store shelves. The shelves are repaired and repainted. Then, back on the shelves go the thousands of gift and souvenir items.

While the shelves are being restocked, the building exteriors get their annual coat of paint and, frequently, a new roof.

Restaurant buildings and equipment get a scrubbing, repairing, painting and general sprucing up.

Literally tens of thousands of signs must be repainted. Signs are the unspoken language of a facility as big as Six Flags.

Behind the scenes seamstresses work against the calendar to prepare the tens of thousands of individual pieces of wardrobe which, come March, will be used to outfit the park's 2,500 hosts and hostesses. The inventory includes everything from pants and skirts, dresses and shirts to Indian loin cloths and railroad conductors' hats.

There is also an overhaul of the park's own laundry and dry cleaning plant.

In the midst of it all, deliveries begin. First there are a million and a half brochures which will tell visitors all about the park.

Then come such things as souvenirs, paper cups, napkins, tons of cleaning supplies, thousands upon thousands of balloons, frozen fish for dolphins and seals to munch and an almost inconceivable mountain of toilet tissue and paper towels.

Warehouse crews work from "can to can't" preparing for the first of nearly three million guests who will visit the park during its 170-day operating season.

Over the sounds of trucks, saws, paving machines, hammers, etc. there is the sound of music.

More than five hours of shows are in rehearsal. Set designers, lighting technicians, stagehands and others "work around" singers, dancers, puppeteers, musicians and assorted other performers as premiere time races closer.

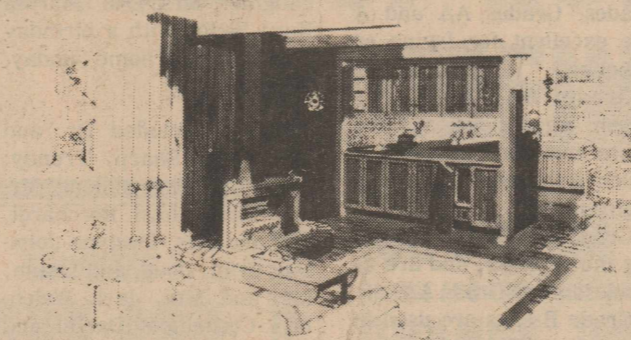

Electronic squawks batter the ears as the park's elaborate radio communication systems are

Cook Up A New Kitchen Plan

Because the kitchen is usually the most used room in the house, families want it to be as efficient, pleasant and up-to-date as possible. Fortunately, remodeling yours doesn't have to burn up your savings, if you're sharp about the changes you make.

While some aspects of kitchen remodeling require the help of professionals, much of the work can be done by the homeowner. Generally, if there are no changes in the plumbing or electrical work, the competent do-it-yourselfer can upgrade his kitchen with little or no assistance. A spectacular look is easy to achieve, with the aid of prefinished panelings.

When you put up the paneling, be sure to follow the manufacturer's directions, or get a good do-it-yourself project manual.

A CHEERFUL PLACE TO WORK, relax and entertain, this family room-kitchen was remodeled without the help of a professional. Easy-to-install and easy-to-maintain paneling gives it a casual, inviting look.

Lions Club News

By Z.I. SMITH

At Wednesday's meeting Lion vice president David Lorenz took over and presided in absence of the Boss Lion. There was discussion and assignment sheets of team captains were given out for the donut sale on March 2. Everyone was reminded to wear their Lion vest for all projects.

Lion J.C. McGee introduced Mrs. Claudia Tidwell from Munday, who is employed by the Haskell-Knox Consortium to teach handicapped students in the 14 to 21 age bracket. This consortium covers ten schools and they bus students to the workshops-classes at O'Brien and Haskell. Each class is held with approximately ten students for two hour sessions.

Mrs. Tidwell teaches practical application methods for these students with special equipment adapted just for their abilities. These special tools were demonstrated by her and offered for Lion inspection. Whenever Mrs. Tidwell feels a student has advanced their abilities, she assists them in finding jobs or parttime jobs with local merchants. This has proven beneficial for both parties.

Mrs. Tidwell states that this very needy program still has the same funding allowance that it started with seven years ago and that there are times when there simply is not enough money to fill the needs of the students.

Various Lions offered help to this class if the needs can be brought to their attention. Community service is the Lions' big goal.

KEEP SYNTHETICS WHITE

Keep white synthetics white through proper laundry procedures.

DISCOLORATION CAUSES
Some causes of yellowing, dinginess and graying are chlorine retention, soil build-up, improper sorting, inadequate detergent amount, iron content in water, or silt, sand or clay deposits in water.

Normal aging of fibers also causes yellowing, but this process cannot be prevented.

To retain whiteness, use proper bleach for fabric with each wash.

Use chlorine bleach on many synthetics, such as polyester, acrylics and most nylons.

Do not use chlorine bleach on garments containing spandex, acetate, triacetate, wool or silk.

To check if fabrics, such as nylons, are chlorine bleach safe, test fabric on an inconspicuous place with a dot of bleach solution - one tablespoon bleach to one-fourth cup water.

If the spot turns yellow, do not use.

PREVENT FADING

To prevent fading of other colors on whites, wash only whites and very light colors together.

Once colors are absorbed, whiteness is hard, if not impossible, to regain.

DETERGENT

Proper detergent amount for water hardness, load amount, and degree of soil will prevent fabric discoloration.

Launder white garments frequently before soil sets in fabric using as warm a water temperature as possible for the fabric.

REMOVING DISCOLORATION

To remove graying, yellowing and dinginess caused by too little detergent and soil build-up, soak clothes overnight in the warmest water appropriate for the fabric with four times the normal amount of detergent, plus one cup of non-precipitating water conditioner.

After draining this water from clothes, launder on regular cycle with no detergent and one cup water conditioner.

Rinse until all detergent is removed.

To remove discoloration caused by hard water, wash clothes in as hot a water temperature possible for the fabric with one cup of non-precipitating water conditioner and no detergent.

Repeat procedure until no suds appear.

IRON, SILT, SAND, CLAY DEPOSITS

If iron, silt, sand or clay in the water caused yellowing, have water supply coming into the house checked.

To prevent future yellowing, install a water filter and use a water conditioner in wash cycle.

To remove discoloration, launder in bleach appropriate for the fabric.

If iron stain remains, use a chemical rust remover if safe for fabric and carefully follow directions for use.

AN EGG IS AN EGG

Through the years many myths have developed about eggs. Some were based on personal preferences and others on incorrect names.

Many consumers may spend twice as much as they have to and still get a carton of eggs that is no more nutritious than the less expensive one.

The term "organic egg", as used by the health-food industry, is a misnomer. Technically, all eggs are composed of organic material.

The name "organic egg" general refers to an egg produced by a hen that is fed "natural feed", not a commercial mixture. "Natural feed" is usually cracked corn and whole grains.

These eggs are no more nutritious than eggs from hens fed with a commercial mixture, yet cost substantially more.

Food value of eggs will be basically the same, regardless of the hens' diet.

Depending on the part of the country where you live, brown-shelled or white-shelled eggs may be favored. There is no way to tell the difference in a brown- or white-shelled egg after cracking. The color is only shell deep.

Shell color in eggs is determined by the breed of hen laying the egg. A Rhode Island Red lays brown-shelled eggs and a White Leghorn lays white-shelled eggs.

Prices may vary slightly, depending on preferences, but the eggs are the same.

There is no difference in food value in fertile or infertile eggs. Very few fertile eggs are found now, except in health food stores.

Often there are complaints about eggs today having a lighter yolk compared to the eggs many people knew on the farm. The reason is that most hens in earlier days ran free in pastures and farmyards. The green forage and yellow corn available to them caused the darker pigment.

Vitamin A content is the same, regardless of the yolk color.

There ARE differences in eggs you should know when purchasing them at the store.

Eggs are sorted and graded by trained government graders. USDA, in cooperation with state agencies, grades the eggs.

The greatest use of the Federal-State grading program is in the grade labeling of individual cartons of one dozen eggs to inform consumers of the quality.

The grade mark used on official grade labels is contained in a shield design. It

Students Invited To Tech March 2

LUBBOCK - As many as 1,200 high school students, and maybe more, are expected at Texas Tech University March 2 to learn about college life, roam the campus and end the day with a free swimming and dance party at the Aquatic Center.

While most students will be coming for personal advice on college choices, there will be planned activities for fun as well as ongoing university events open to the visitors.

Students from throughout Texas and as far away as Connecticut and New Jersey have indicated they will attend the fourth annual University Day at Texas Tech, beginning with registration at 8:45 a.m. and a general assembly from 9:30 to 10 a.m. in the University Center Theater.

Capacity of the theatre is 1,000, but Admissions Officer John Edwards said that response from high school counselors indicates there could be an overflow crowd "if the weather is good for travel."

Lubbock merchants, working through the Lubbock Visitor and Convention Center, are assisting with party food for the swimming and dance event beginning at 8 p.m. There will be live music there. For the price of admission students can choose to watch mime Keith Berger performing at the University Center Theatre or hear Don Sanders playing the guitar and singing at the University Center coffeehouse in the "Storm Cellar."

contains the following information: (1) the letters USDA, (2) the grade and size, and (3) may contain a phrase such as "Federal-State Graded".

The grade mark may be printed on the carton or on the sealing tape. If the egg size appears on the main panel of the carton, the size designation need not be shown on the seal.

The date of grading must be placed on the seal or elsewhere on the carton.

There are three USDA grades. Grades AA and A are excellent for frying or poaching. Grade AA, or Fancy Fresh, eggs have a thick white and won't spread out much in the pan. The yolk is high and firm.

Grade A eggs don't spread out much either, and are as wholesome as Grade AA.

Grade B eggs are used in general cooking and baking. They are just as wholesome as Grades AA and A, but the white is not as thick.

Eggs are sized by weight. A dozen extra large eggs must weigh at least 27 ounces. A dozen large eggs must weigh at least 24 ounces and medium eggs must tip the scale at 21 ounces per dozen. Small eggs must weigh 18 ounces per dozen.

There are two other sizes of eggs that aren't seen often. They are Pee Wee, which must weigh at least 15 ounces per dozen and Jumbo which weigh at least 30 ounces per dozen.

As with the swim and dance party there is no charge for the daylong continuous running videotape, "Henry David Thoreau: The Captain of Huckleberry Party," or campus bus tours.

Throughout the day students can roam and browse in the University Center ballroom where there will be booths representing organizations and student services on campus. In addition, in recognition of Engineers' Week, the Engineering Student Council will have special exhibits in the University Center.

Other plans will help high school students learn more about higher education, whether they intend to enroll in Texas Tech University or some other institution.

Dr. Robert H. Ewalt, vice president for Student Affairs, will welcome guests. Honors Program students will participate in the welcome also.

From 10:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. each of the university's six colleges will provide advisement programs to acquaint the high school students with possible majors in agricultural sciences, arts and sciences, business administration, education, engineering or home economics.

"Students who take advantage of these sessions," Edwards said, "should be able to make better career choices when they enter college. Because this is an important part of the day's programs, advisers will assist students on an individual basis during the day. Some colleges will repeat the formal advisement programs."

For more information contact John Edwards, Office of Admissions and Records, Room 101 West Hall, Texas Tech University, Lubbock, area code 806: 742-3661.

UNSUNG HEROES OF AMERICA

Your School Board

About 95,000 men and women are working on ways to make sure your child gets as much as he or she can from school. Who are they? They're the members of your local school board.

These people are public education officials who, across the nation, usually serve without pay. They're dedicated to the idea that America's youth deserves the best education the community can provide.

YOUR SCHOOL BOARD gives you a chance to have a choice and a voice in your children's education.

As the legal agent of the state, the local board is the only organization in your community responsible for establishing school budgets, setting goals, hiring personnel, providing facilities and equipment, approving contracts, and many other matters involving school policy and operation.

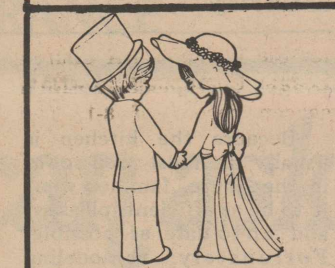

School board members are not professional educators. That is the role of superintendents, principals and teachers who are hired by the board.

Board members themselves come from all walks of life. But they have one characteristic in common: they are laymen in education, just like the citizens in the community they represent.

That's the way our Founding Fathers wanted it. They felt that non-professionals should be responsible for the education system in the community. It's a principle that has worked.

School boards, in fact, are often referred to as the purest form of representative government.

In most cases, school board members are elected and, as elected officials, they must be receptive to the needs of the community.

Bureau Recruiting Employees

The U.S. Census Bureau has a number of temporary jobs open during the next few weeks in Knox County to help prepare address lists for use during the 1980 census.

Temporary census workers usually will work

Dressing Up An Old Favorite

Dressy enough to serve to guests, Mincemeat Rice, from the Rice Council, is quick and easy to prepare. Since you probably have your favorite kind of rice on your pantry shelf, perhaps all you need to buy is a package or jar of mincemeat. In no time at all, you can present a superb holiday dinner accompaniment with a minimum of effort.

MINCEMEAT RICE

1/2 cup chopped onions
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 cups cooked rice
2 1/2 cup prepared mincemeat
2 tablespoons brandy, optional

Cook onions in butter until tender but not brown. Add rice, mincemeat and brandy. Blend and heat thoroughly. Serve as accompaniment to poultry or meat. Makes 6 servings.

three to four weeks each and will be paid on a per-address collected basis. For an eight-hour day, the average worker will earn $27 to $30 per day plus 17-per-mile for any driving done in a private vehicle. Applicants for the jobs must be 18 years old or over, a U.S. citizen, and pass a written test.

The work involves driving or walking to compile lists of addresses of each dwelling unit in designated areas of the county. These address lists will play a vital role in taking the 1980 census. They will be used to produce mailing labels for the census questionnaires to be sent to each household in America on March 28, 1980. Then, a few weeks following the April 1 Census Day, census officials will use the address lists to determine which households have not returned their completed questionnaires. Census takers must then be sent to each non-responding household to collect the information required on the census form.

The 1979 address collection activity in the county is part of a Census Bureau program involving 35,000 temporary workers nationwide to compile lists containing approximately 30 million addresses. Another 50 million addresses have been purchased from commercial mailing list companies.

The Census Bureau is an equal opportunity employer.

BACKGROUND ON BUSINESS

Little Known Facts

You probably know, in a general way, a lot about Canada. But specifics—about Canada's most industrial and populous province? Did you know...

The Province of Ontario, bordering on four of the Great Lakes and Hudson and James Bays handles about 25 percent of all cargo loaded and unloaded in Canada.

Ontario accounts for close to half of Canadian investment income. The Province grew (gross product) at an average compound rate of 14.7 percent (1971-75).

The largest electrical utility in Canada, Ontario Hydro, is second in North America only to the TVA in dependable peak capacity and energy made available.

Ontario has one of the world's largest known reserves of uranium. Ontario Hydro is a world leader in the production of electricity from nuclear energy.

Ontario produces agricultural products with a gross value of $2.5 billion, and manufactures over 80 percent of Canada's steel.

Including the University of Toronto, Canada's largest, there are 22 institutions of higher education in Ontario—the largest number in the nation.

STREAMS IN DESERT PLACES

By OZELLE STEPHENS

"Blessed is he that readeth, and they that hear the words of this prophecy, and keep those things which are written therein: for the time is at hand." (Rev. 1:3)

The times we are living in send men searching for some kind of security, assurance, and a way through. There is only One who can give the satisfaction and peace you need. If you want to have a supreme spiritual moment with your life enriched, just take time to read the complete sayings of Jesus. His very WORDS are full of power, love, wisdom, understanding, comfort, peace, contentment, joy, and grace.

You will have a moving and unforgettable experience - an awesome feeling of actually being in the presence of Jesus. Reading His sayings produce a strangely compelling identification with the sounds, sights, and atmosphere of the times the Lord's actual presence became profoundly real to man on earth. As you read and believe His words you, too, can find the kind of assurance, security and a way through the days we are living in. Streams of His strength and power will anoint your life as you obey some of His last words, "Come unto me."

STRENGTH...

...comes from pulling together!

Individually, as a farmer or rancher, you have little influence on factors beyond your fence row that affect your operation. Yet, government decisions and economic forces have a great effect on your net income.

By pulling together, farmers and ranchers can magnify their efforts many times. Political leaders and other groups respect numbers.

As a farmer or rancher, you cannot attend every hearing that affects you. Nor, can you personally contact your legislator on every major political issue. Farm Bureau can represent you in both instances.

Farm Bureau is an organization you can count on. That's why four out of five farmers and ranchers in the nation are members of Farm Bureau.
