Tri-City Crusade To Begin Sunday

The week-long Tri-City Crusade will begin Sunday night, August 5, at 8:00 o'clock in Greyhound Stadium after months of preparation. Services are scheduled to continue nightly through Friday, August 10. Theme for the six-day event will be "The Lordship of Christ."

Sponsoring churches are First Baptist of O'Brien, Knox City, and Benjamin; First United Methodist of Knox City and Benjamin; and First Christian and Four-square of Knox City. Each church's respective minister will speak on one of the evenings.

On Launch Night, August 5, Foursquare pastor Stuart Miller will speak on the topic, "Lord in Salvation". The following night, August 6, is to be observed as banner night and John Gillispie of the First Baptist, Knox City, will deliver the message entitled "Lord in Consecration". Derrell Marion of the First Christian will be speaking on youth night, August 7, on "Lord of Youth". August 8, which is family night, United Methodist minister James Patterson will deliver the sermon, "Lord in the Home," with O'Brien Baptist pastor Bill Trice bringing "Lord of the Little Ones," in observance of children's night, August 9. First Baptist minister of Benjamin, Jim Ray, will conclude the crusade with his message, "Lord of All", August 10.

Music evangelists for the crusade will be Allison and Connie Ware.

Conwell (Connie) Ware is a native Texan, born and reared in a well-known Baptist family. He is the son of the Rev. J.W. Ware, long-time honored Baptist minister who was Texas Baptists' "Father of the Year" a few years ago. Connie's brothers are Dr. Browning Ware, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Austin, Broadman Ware, minister of music of the East Grand Baptist Church in Dallas, and Dr. Weston Ware, formerly with the Texas Baptist Christian Life Commission.

After graduation from high school, where he was an outstanding athlete, Connie attended Baylor University, receiving his bachelor's degree in music education. Thereafter, he received the master of church music degree from Southwestern Seminary. Along the way, he studied with excellent Christian voice teachers and received outstanding inspiration from Christian leaders in both music and philosophy.

During Baylor days, Connie worked throughout Texas and in some adjoining states in youth revivals, much of his work being under the direction of the Student Department of the Baptist General Convention of Texas. During 1969, he worked with Dr. Chester Swor in a series of meetings from South Texas to Maryland. He has led music and been soloist in about 200 revivals and crusades. Following his graduation from seminary, he went directly to the First Baptist Church of Waynesville, North Carolina, to become minister of music and youth, in which position he served with much success and happiness.

Connie feels definitely the call of the Lord into full-time music evangelism. Connie has dedicated his life and his rich baritone voice to Jesus Christ, and began his ministry in this field July 15, 1973.

Allison Ware is no stranger to church music. A native of ATTENDING FIREMEN Training School at Texas A&M in College Station last week were these Knox City Volunteer Firemen, Rob Harrison, left, and Roland Marion. Also attending, but not present for the picture, was Craig Williams who is on vacation this week. By attending the training, these men will earn a five percent reduction in the key rate for Knox City next year.

Firemen Return From 50th Training School

By ROB HARRISON

The 50th Annual Texas Firemen's Training School is now history. And what an event it was!

Roland Marion, Craig Williams and I were among the some 2,000 firemen from all 50 states and several other countries who participated in this school.

Roland was the lucky one this year, he took the fire marshal training, and was in a nice cool comfortable classroom the entire week. Craig and I were not so fortunate, in firefighting 101 we spent all of our time outside except for a very short three hours which was the only classroom instruction we had. Nice while it lasted.

We feel as though the time we took to attend this training was well worth it. By attending the school, and passing the test, yes we took tests, the fire insurance key rate should show a drop of somewhere around 5% next year.

Since it would be next to impossible to report the entire week's events in one article, we will tell you all about the 50th Annual FTS in a series of several articles in the coming weeks.

During this week of training, we had at our disposal over five million dollars' worth of equipment to work with. Nearly every major manufacturer of firefighting apparatus either donated or loaned this equipment. Several oil companies donated fuel to use in firefighting classes.

On assigned days, groups fought controlled fires. With safety being the foundation of all training, unfortunately there were several accidents, none of which were severe. All accidents were a result of carelessness on the firemen's part, not of the training instructor. As one instructor put it, "John Wayne is gone, so let's not try to take his place."

In our next article we will take specific areas of training that pertain to the general public and their property and explain them in detail as best we can.

We feel as though we have obtained a great deal of valuable information that will make our fire department better equipped and informed firefighters and will also help us keep you informed of how you can help, not only you and your family, but also your fellow citizens in fire prevention and safety.

We would like to think that the time and money that goes into training is worth it and we hope you will, too. Any comments or questions about this training school are welcome.

Remember: Prevention is the Best Firefighter!

Senior Citizens To Eat At Church

Senior citizens who participate in the nutrition program three days each week at the Community Center are reminded that Friday, August 3, they are to meet in the fellowship hall of the First United Methodist Church.

Baptist To Host Men's Breakfast

Men of the First Baptist Church will be hosts for the monthly Men's Breakfast Saturday, August 4, in their fellowship hall beginning at 7:00 a.m.

All men and boys of the community are invited to attend.

To Be Double-Header

Homecoming Plans Are Now 'Shaping Up'

Plans are underway for the 1980 Ex-Students Association Homecoming, held every five years in the summer. Homecoming will be the July Fourth weekend in 1980.

The Homecoming will be a double-header this time with a Coming Home football game this fall, October 20, at Greyhound Stadium against Monday. Other activities planned for the fall Coming Home are the regular Friday afternoon pep rally, a parade on Saturday featuring candidates for Homecoming Queen (the Queen will also reign next summer), a supper served by one of the high school organizations, the ballgame and halftime activities for crowning the Homecoming and Coming Home Queens and a Coming Home dance held after the ballgame at the Catholic Hall.

Since this is the same weekend as the O'Brien Carney Homecoming, a special invitation is extended to all O'Brien exes to join in the scheduled activities.

The annual Knox City Arts and Crafts Show is scheduled this same weekend as an added attraction.

All official Homecoming activities will be next summer, July 3, 4 and 5.

NEW EXTERIOR SHINGLES add to the beauty of the cream-colored brick elementary school building on the Knox City campus. The shingles not only are decorative, but will help in insulating the classrooms, as well as make them more dust-free.

Campuses Reflect Much Summer Work

In answer to the age-old question, "What do you all do up there all summer?" school officials are inviting interested persons to drive by the campuses and see results of all the maintenance work done during the summer months.

The old elementary building has been completely remodeled, with two of the rooms completed last summer. All six classrooms and two offices now have lowered ceilings, fluorescent lighting, paneling, and environmentally controlled heating and cooling. The hall ceiling was also lowered and new lighting installed. Besides insulating the rooms, all outside windows were covered to help with heating and cooling, and the exterior walls are attractively shingled. Heavy glass exterior doors were installed in the elementary building and cafeteria. Heading up this project were Tommy Sloan, Jerry Lowrey, Matt Harrington, and Tim Robertson. Tim is working through a work program funded by the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) through the West Central Texas Council of Governments.

Water wells have been drilled on campus to cut down on watering costs, and lines were laid for the irrigation sprinkler system. Supervisor for the water system was Troy Brown and helpers, Danny Martinez, also with CETA, and Fernando Castro, employed through Motivation, Education and Training, Inc. with headquarters at Cleveland, Texas. They have also painted trim on the elementary "wings."

All working students are counseled regularly about working habits and are supervised during all working hours.

James Hewitt, head custodian, with Kenny Cornwell (CETA) and John Reynolds (CETA) have mowed, seeded grass, moved irrigation pipe, cleaned and repaired classrooms, stripped and rewaxed classrooms and gym floors.

O'Brien Woman Wins Trip

O'Brien resident Linda Underwood received a very pleasant surprise recently when she was advised by The Abilene Reporter-News that she was the grand prize winner of the Great Moments in the Bible contest, sponsored by the Reporter-News. Her prize? A nine-day Hawaiian holiday for two, but Linda, along with her husband C.H., is expecting their third child in December, and will not be making the trip.

However, the couple's mothers, Mrs. R.H. Underwood of O'Brien and Mrs. Claud Reed of Knox City, will take the super holiday trip.

Linda explained that she really "owed" the trip to her mother, as Mrs. Reed was the one who cut out all the contest daily installments over the nine-week period for the Underwoods to fill out.

"My husband helped me and so did my oldest daughter," she said. They have two daughters - Becky, 11, and Beth, 8.

She said Mrs. Reed had insisted that they try the contest, although "my husband wasn't taking it too seriously." He told her if they did win, they could let her mother and someone else go.

Underwood, a farmer, is a bit too busy right now to be considering a vacation, and Linda, who is really not too disappointed in not getting to go, said she told her husband he could take her someday.

As a part of her winnings, Linda also could designate a church to receive a $250.00 contribution from The Reporter-News in her name, and she chose the First Baptist Church in O'Brien.

The two mothers, who are very excited about the trip, will travel with the Reporter-News Hawaii tour being hosted by Pat Hartsfield, director of advertising at the Reporter-News, and his wife. The group was scheduled to leave Abilene Wednesday, fly non-stop to Hawaii from Dallas/Fort Worth Airport later that day on Braniff International, returning August 9.

Light Rainfall Is Welcomed

Rain showers were welcomed throughout most of the local area Monday evening; however, most of the showers were light leaving folk with a desire of more.

Two-tenths to approximately six-tenths were reported throughout the area.

Lee Smith reported the largest amount to the News office with that of six-tenths.

A little more than three-tenths fell near the Knox City Municipal Airport, north of town, while the local TV scanner on Channel Two reported three-tenths.

South of town proved to be the lightest amount of rain measured with only two-tenths being reported.

Reports from O'Brien were that they measured the amount of three-tenths also.

KNOX CITY-O'BRIEN SCHOOL CAMPUSES

KNOX CITY-O'BRIEN High School building is in tip-top shape for the opening of school, and the school yard shows the care that has been given this summer to the lawns, shrubs, trees, and colorful flowers.

O'BRIEN MID-SCHOOL has had expert care also this summer with the lawns, shrubs, and trees giving the appearance of a country club rather than a school campus.

Moreno, an adult hired through CETA, and Daniel Alsides, another MET worker, have done the usual summer cleaning, repair and yard work, and have the campus looking like a showplace.

Steve McIlhane and some of the students borrowed from other projects have worked on the fieldhouse and painted and polished the football field ready for the Tri-City Revival and first Greyhound games.

Many hours have gone into

"One day as the crowds were gathering, He (Jesus) went up the hillside with His disciples and sat down and taught them there." (Matt. 5:1)

In Jesus' Sermon on the Mount is some of the most profound teaching of God's truths and love that we have. To love and obey them is to find living life with power and victory in every phrase of our life here on earth.

Jesus said, "Happy are those who are persecuted because they are good, for the Kingdom of Heaven is theirs. When you are reviled and persecuted and lied about because you are my followers - Wonderful. Be happy about it. Be very glad, for a tremendous reward awaits you."

Remember God hears your every prayer, and gives you grace and power for every trial. He will help you through every heartache and give you wisdom for every problem. Jesus did give His life for your every and complete victory.

From Flood Damage

Seven Counties To Get Disaster Relief

AUSTIN - State Comptroller Bob Bullock Friday said flood-damaged businesses in seven coastal Texas counties can get disaster tax relief.

Bullock said the counties which were included in Governor Bill Clements' proclamation naming them to natural disaster areas will be granted state tax deadline extensions and other tax assistance.

The counties include portions of Harris County, Galveston County, Brazoria County, Orange County, Jefferson County, Hardin County and Fort Bend County.

Taxpayers affected by flooding may be granted up to 90 days additional time to file and pay state taxes. Penalty and interest may be waived on a case-by-case basis, Bullock said.

"These merchants deserve a chance to pump the water out of their stores before they face their tax obligations," Bullock said.

He said all requests for extensions and waivers for penalty and interest will be handled through the Comptroller's field offices in the affected areas.

Bullock said his department will also provide assistance in restoring taxpayer records in the flood-stricken area.

Slow Pitch Tourney Highly Successful

Taking first place honors in the Knox City-O'Brien Booster Club sponsored Slow Pitch Tournament held last week was the team sponsored by Bobby's Oilfield Service of Knox City. Second place went to the Bayco team from Seymour. Third place honors were won by the Elsie's Hilander team from Haskell. Fourth place went to the David Counts Insurance and Real Estate and Pumpers Supply team.

Receiving the Sportsmanship Award was the Rochester team, and David Anderson won the trophy for having the most home runs in a game.

Presenting the awards following the games was David Counts on behalf of the Booster Club.

The Booster club-sponsored tournament raised almost enough money to purchase the much-needed camera equipment. The group lacks about $300 having enough money for the camera equipment and any donations to this project will certainly be appreciated according to club officials, who expressed their appreciation to the town for such excellent support of this project.

Without such a good turnout and support by the town this project could not have succeeded, officials said.

The Booster Club expressed special thanks and recognition for much hard work to Bobby Vasquez, tournament chairman, who organized and ran the tournament so smoothly. Vasquez and his committee members, Roland Marion and David Counts, did an excellent job, according to club officers.

Special recognition and thanks also went to Sequoyah Reynolds, Sue Marion, Louise Vasquez, Kay Pepper, Elva Gonzales, David Counts Jr., Annette Evatt, Mary Counts, and others who participated for their long hours and hard work in the concession stand and bookkeeping part of the tourney.

Bobby's Oilfield Supply, Pumpers Supply and Counts Insurance and Real Estate each contributed a third of the meat used for the barbecued hamburgers which were cooked by David Counts.

There were four contestants from Knox County in competition at the 1979 Texas State 4-H Horse Show held in Odessa July 24-28.

Brand Cude of Goree, showing Munday Missy, placed sixth in the Cutting Horse contest in the invitational section of the state show. Brand and Munday Missy scored 140 in each of the two go rounds. Brand is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cude.

Also competing in the invitational section of the show were Kelley Boone of Knox City who showed Little Mo in cutting and Leah Boone of Knox City who showed Jay Nip in the Hunter Under Saddle class.

In the regular qualifying part of the Texas State 4-H Show, Brett Boone and Kelley Boone were among the top scoring twenty horsemen from District III who advanced through county and district elimination to state competition. Only the top scoring twenty horsemen from each of the fourteen districts in the state compete in the qualifying show.

Brett, riding his sorrel mare Feather Lite, placed eighth in poles at the state show.

Fifteen contestants with the fastest times out of the ninety who ran in the preliminaries qualify for the finals. The finalists' times in the finals and preliminaries are added together to determine placings.

Kelley showed his red dun mare Little Mo to ninth place in her halter class at the show.

Brett, Kelley and Leah are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Boone.

Judging the state show this year were Jack Kyle of Santa Rosa, New Mexico, and Mike Drennan of Topeka, Kansas.

Hope is scheduled to arrive at Abilene Municipal Airport at 2:00 p.m. where he will be met by the Abilene Chamber of Commerce Redcoats, the Abilene Community Band, the Dyess AFB Color Guard,

Bowen stressed that the general public is encouraged to be on hand to greet the top entertainer in the world. Bowen said, "It would be a most welcomed sight for Bob Hope to see several thousand folks on hand to greet him upon his arrival."

Skaggs encouraged citizens to make placards welcoming this great American to Abilene on behalf of the West Texas Rehabilitation Center.

Hope will speak to the crowd at the airport reception prior to leaving in a motorcade for the Rehab Center and a whirlwind of activities which will culminate in his performance before a sell-out crowd in the Abilene Civic Center Friday evening.

TRI-CITY CRUSADE (From Page One)

Dallas, she was blessed with Christian parents and a Christ-centered home in which she learned early to love the Lord.

Combining her love for the Lord with the musical talent with which He blessed her, she began accompanying graded choirs at Northway Baptist Church in Dallas when she was only of junior age. She continued to accompany choirs at Northway, including youth choir tours for three years, and also accompanied and sang in her high school concert choir.

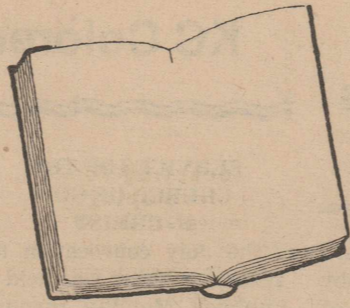

Allison attended Oklahoma Baptist University for two years majoring in music education with a concentration in piano. She then transferred to Baylor University where she graduated with a bachelor's degree in music education with a voice emphasis.

Allison has always felt the importance of using her abilities for the Lord, and she says she counts it a privilege to give her testimony in song for Jesus whether accompanying, singing, or both.

The final meeting of ushers and counselors will be on Sunday, August 5, with a dedication service set at the Foursquare Church at 4:00 p.m. followed by choir practice at the First United Methodist beginning at 5:00 p.m. and then at 7:00 p.m. at the stadium. According to a spokesman for the crusade, choir practice will begin at 7:15 p.m. on weekdays.

Nursery facilities will be provided at the First United Methodist Church, 406 South Second, Knox City.

KEEPING FOOD SAFE

Perhaps you've heard that outbreaks of food poisoning are more common during the summer months. Carrying food long distances on hot days can pose some potential problems. Are you afraid you know too little about picnic planning to avoid food poisoning at your company's outing?

Relax. Here are some suggestions to make your job easier and your picnic safer. Just follow a few simple rules - and make sure others do too.

The most basic food safety rule is: Keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold. At temperatures of 50 to 125 degrees, most bacteria can grow and some produce poisons that may cause illness. Fresh meat and poultry, milk, custards, and dishes made with meat, poultry, eggs, or seafood are foods that should be handled especially carefully.

You don't want these items to be within the temperature "danger zone" for more than two hours, and that includes the time it takes to prepare the food. In other words, when you make your chicken, egg, or meat salad, refrigerate it as soon as possible, and try to prepare it as close to picnic time as you can. Then, keep these foods cold right up until the time you serve them.

For foods that are to be served cold, such as meat or poultry salads, make sure you prepare them with cold ingredients. For example, the cooked chicken for chicken salad should be allowed to cool before it's added to the salad.

Try to include as many "problem-free" foods in your picnic menu as possible. Try these: Fresh fruits and vegetables, bread, canned meat and poultry products (opened at picnic site at serving time), dry meats, cakes and other baked goods which don't have custards or creamy fillings. Let people who live farther away from the picnic area bring these foods that hold up better to hot summer weather.

Thermos bottles can keep soups, stews, or drinks at the right temperature for hours. If foods are poured boiling hot into sterilized bottles, you shouldn't have any problems. Coolers, insulated containers, and foam chests are perfect for keeping food cold, when teamed with ice cubes, dry ice, or reusable gel cold packs. Small, airtight containers and aluminum foil will help keep foods fresh inside the larger containers.

Pack foods in the cooler in the order opposite to using them. This means that the food you'll need last will be packed first, at the bottom. Take out the food only as you need it. Repack the container carefully, and keep it in a shady spot to keep the ice from melting.

You need to use special care when preparing meat and poultry dishes, both at home and in the open air. In their raw states, these foods may have bacteria that cause food poisoning. Fortunately, these bacteria are killed when foods are thoroughly cooked.

"Cross contamination" occurs when cutting boards and utensils used for raw meat and poultry come in contact with the foods after they've been cooked. Bacteria which have been transferred from the raw foods to the boards or utensils, will then be transferred to the cooked foods or to foods not requiring cooking (garden salads, cheeses). The simple way to avoid this at home is to wash all surfaces and utensils carefully between preparation and serving times. At the picnic site, use disposable plates and utensils to prepare and serve your food, since thorough washing is impossible.

One of the joys of picnicking is being "away from it all." But that also means you lose the convenience of the sanitary facilities you're used to at home. Bacteria travel quite easily from fingers to food, so bring a jug of water and paper towels for cleanups, as well as cleanser-soaked "wipes."

Leftovers can be a real picnic problem. What do you do with those extra uncooked hamburgers or unused milk? To avoid waste, try not to bring extra amounts of the foods that spoil easily. In addition, plan to have plenty of ice in the cooler, so you can keep your picnic food cold - and safe - all day.

Ambush

INSECTICIDE

When bollworms or tobacco budworms infest your cotton fields there's no time for half way control measures. That's why thousands of growers rely on a new insecticide AMBUSH for dependable control.

AMBUSH insecticide is applied only when insect pressure begins to build up. So you must check your fields on a regular basis. As you know, each area will vary by climate, soil type, type cotton seed variety—so check with our representative in your area, he will give you instructions on the best method of application for your particular cotton operation.

Here are some of the important advantages you get with AMBUSH insecticide: effective control of budworms and bollworms, healthier plants, earlier maturity and bigger yields. Don't delay, order your supply today.

SSI AND MEDICAID

In Texas, Medicaid coverage is provided for all SSI recipients. The Social Security Administration determines the Medicaid eligibility for all persons who get SSI. If persons qualify for SSI, they also qualify for Medicaid. Persons other than SSI recipients can also qualify for Medicaid - if they don't get SSI, they may contact their local Welfare office to see if they qualify for Medicaid under any other program. Supplemental Security Income is payable to persons who are age 65 or older, blind, or disabled and who also have limited income and resources. To find out if they are eligible for this program, persons should contact the nearest Social Security office. If persons are age 65 or older, they will need some proof of their age unless they have already furnished proof of their age to Social Security. They will also need to prove their U.S. citizenship or proof of legal entry into this country if they are not U.S. citizens.

The Social Security administration will want to know all sources of income and will need documents showing an applicant's ownership of any houses, cars, land or other saleable items, such as an oil and gas lease, for example.

If persons are applying on the basis of disability, the names of their doctors and all other sources of medical treatment will be needed.

People getting SSI are required to report all changes in income and resources. There is also a requirement that each SSI recipient be contacted at least once each year to be sure that they are still eligible for these payments.

The maximum amount payable under this program, effective July 1979, will be $208.20 for an individual and $312.30 for a couple. The amounts are reduced for people with other sources of income.

Persons getting SSI are required to report to Social Security if they change addresses or when anyone moves in or out of the place where they live.

Other changes that must be reported are admission or discharge from a public institution, hospital, skilled nursing facility, nursing home, jail or prison. SSI recipients also need to report marriage or separation from a husband or wife or any change in income of a spouse. Changes to be reported including selling of real estate, car or other personal property, increase in value of a bank account, leaving the U.S. for more than 30 days, receipt of new sources of income, increased income and, for students age 18-22, the date they stop attending school.

If readers have any questions about their reporting responsibilities, they should contact their nearest Social Security office. The Vernon Social Security office is located at 1701 Cumberland.

BY Z.I. SMITH

Visiting Wednesday with Lion L.W. Graham was his grandson, Dr. Doyle Gene Graham of Durham, North Carolina. Doyle Gene revealed the Gonzales method of deciding if a person is really dead or not. Gonzales says stick your finger in the person's nostril. If he is really dead, he won't move. But, if he is still alive, he will raise up and say, "Take your dirty finger out of my nose." Proof positive. Also Richard Hassell with the Vegetable Center in Munday visited with Lion Gary Morris.

The Boss Lion announced that the raffle tickets were going very well and Lion John Crownover had sold 120 tickets so far. We will soon have the money to rework the Little League ball park.

The president has discussed the dining room conditions with the Masons who appointed a three-man committee to decide what is needed. Maybe some day...

For the program Ted Bolze introduced his employee, Ranel Scott, who then presented slides and comments on the Bud Smith Plant Material Center.

Wretha Fitzgerald will be happy to know Lion Alton Fitzgerald was present when his name was drawn today. Free hose. The rest of us gave a low "boo" because Alton was relief tail twister today.

SERVICES OF THE CHURCH OF GOD IN CHRIST

The July convocation for Texas northwest was held in Lubbock Monday through Saturday nights of last week.

The convocation was gloriously blessed of the Lord.

We greatly missed our beloved state supervisor, Mrs. Myrtle Brooks who passed away July 3 of this year.

Presiding over the convocation was Bishop J.E. Alexander, our state bishop, and Mother Andrews of California.

The Lord blessed all of the representing departments to do good jobs.

On Thursday night Bishop Haynes visiting from Texas northeast preached from Romans 10:9, 15, a great message on salvation.

On Friday night Mother Andrews spoke and after the women's department had finished Evangelist Ross preached from I Kings 18:21, "Make a Choice Between the Two."

A state business meeting and a state usher board meeting were held at Ford's Memorial Church on Saturday.

The state choir practice was held at Christ Temple on Saturday evening under the direction of Elder Alvin Pope.

This was one of the best children's department programs ever rendered under the supervision of Missionary McDaniel, and Sister Newsom. The Sunshine Band and purity classes from the various districts did an outstanding job under their leaders. The Abilene District Sunshine Band under the supervision of Missionary Amelee Wilson received second place in their department. The Tulia District won first place. Every district did a lovely job.

On Saturday night Bishop J.E. Alexander's guest speaker was Elder T.L. Young from Texas northeast, an outstanding preacher. He preached a wonderful message from Matthew 16:13, "The Church that Jesus Built."

Act Now To Save Pecan Nuts

Homeowners and orchardists with pecan trees need to take action in the next few days to combat a problem which annually plagues them about this time of year, causing a loss of the pecans.

"Every year in August, there are complaints that full size pecans are turning black and dropping off the trees," said Dr. Robert W. Berry, area plant pathologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "The nut is filled with a dark liquid having a very bad odor."

The problem is stem end blight, sometimes called sticky shuck. And now - the end of July - is the time to combat it, Berry said.

It is caused by a disease that attacks the pecan when the nut is starting to form a shell and the internal part is just a bag of liquid. That should be about July 25 in the Rolling and High Plains, but because of recent cool temperatures will probably be four or five days later this year.

The problem is treated by a fungicide program starting when the nut is reaching this susceptible "water embryo" stage. The fungicide to use is benomyl, which is marketed under such trade names as "Benlate," "Greenlight Systematic Fungicide," and "Fertilome Systematic Fungicide."

Three applications, one every seven days, is needed. The first should be made about July 25 - 28, when the pecan is full of liquid; the second about August 1 - 3, and the final application should be made about August 8 - 10. Users should carefully follow the manufacturer's directions on the label of the brand of fungicide being used.

Bollworm Management Underway

Several cotton fields in Knox County have been checked on a regular basis the past few weeks to determine the extent of insect infestation and damage. The latter part of last week fields showed high levels of beneficial insects with numerous lacewing eggs present. Cotton bollworm eggs were present in only slight numbers in one irrigated field north of Knox City.

As reported earlier, the peak bollworm egg lay will occur August 6 with number of eggs increasing until this date. Producers should be continually inspecting fields throughout this period. Bollworm eggs appear on the leaves near the terminals and some on the young squares. These appear as small light colored eggs that have a definite ribbed look when viewed under a magnifying glass. These should not be confused with lacewing eggs that are small white eggs attached on the end of a hairlike pedestal.

County Agent Tommy Antilley said, "Cotton is squaring very well and if we can get by this peak egg lay without spraying we will be in excellent shape the rest of the season."

4-H Program Is Aimed At Education

The purpose of 4-H, as a youth development program, is to educate young people.

4-H is a program for youth between the ages of 9 and 19 and is administered by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service of the Texas A&M University System.

4-H can help youth develop intelligent behavior by providing them information or knowledge, a positive self-concept, and an awareness of their social setting.

Without information or knowledge, a young person has no basis on which to act. Just a list of rules and facts will not satisfy personal or social needs. Instead, an effective youth program focuses on relevant knowledge and the development of a knowledge-getting process. When a 4-H'er identifies what 4-H project he wants to do and how he wants to do it, he is learning how to learn.

Along with information and a knowledge-getting process, a young person must feel that he or she is capable of solving a problem. When he does feel able or capable, he has developed a positive self-concept. In contrast, when a youth has a negative self-concept, or feels inadequate, he will not act even if he has the necessary knowledge to solve the problem confronting him.

In any youth program, the interaction of a young person with an adult leader and other youth allows opportunities for praise, encouragement and rewards. This kind of feedback can strongly influence the way a youth thinks about himself.

Living in a social setting also lends to the development of intelligent behavior. A youth's behavior is motivated by his needs. For a newborn, physical needs such as food and comfort are a main concern. But the older the youth, the more his behavior will be motivated by acceptance from his peers.

As a youth learns through trial and error the kind of behavior that is expected of him, he also learns the acceptable values, beliefs and goals of society.

Through individual projects, group activities and adult volunteer leadership, the 4-H program attempts to help boys and girls acquire skills that will lead to self-directed and lifelong learning.

Keep Track Of Farm Business Expenses

COLLEGE STATION - Correct income tax accounting requires separation of farm business deductions from non-business ones. This means keeping good records of all expenses throughout the year.

"Since much of the 1979 work and labor-expenses lie ahead, Texas farmers and ranchers should give particular attention to proper accounting procedures," says Dr. Ashley Lovell, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

For instance, if there is a true employer-employee relationship, a farmer's children may be paid reasonable wages or other compensation which is a business expense and therefore tax deductible.

"Wages paid for construction of buildings should not be deducted as ordinary business expenses but should be capitalized as part of the building cost. Treating such wages as ordinary expenses would violate IRS instructions and would distort taxable income," notes Lovell.

The economist explains that any loss from a closed hedging futures transaction is deductible as a necessary business expense. In addition, the broker's commission and interest paid on funds to meet margin requirements would be deductible.

"Costs of items purchased for resale, such as stocker calves, are deductible only in the year they are resold," says Lovell. "In case of a death loss, costs would be deducted the year the loss is discovered."

He emphasizes the need to keep track of miscellaneous expenses during the year, such as farm organization dues, farm magazine subscriptions, office supplies, advertising, account books and services, small hand tools and farm business travel.

Farmers may deduct the actual cost of pickup use or can choose the standard mileage rate for calculating deductible expenses.

Module Is Godsend To Cotton Producers

MEMPHIS, TENN. - It looks like a giant trash compactor. But the module builder is a Godsend to Texas-Oklahoma cotton producers.

Developed jointly by Cotton Incorporated and engineers at Texas A&M University, the module builder speeds up harvesting by as many as 15 days and frees the cotton grower from dependence on the cotton gin.

It's a huge machine that makes neat stacks of cotton which are left in the fields until gin time. And because the module builder is capable of holding up to nine bales of stripper cotton, which is then loaded onto a special flat-bed truck, cotton trailers which have been used for years to haul cotton to the gin have almost become obsolete, according to many growers.

In the past, if a farmer used trailers to get his cotton to the gin, then his whole harvest operation was often dependent upon the supply of available trailers. The module builder has helped separate the ginning and harvesting operations so that growers can keep on harvesting even though the gin may be backlogged or down for repairs.

Since properly protected modules can be left in the field for weeks at a time without any noticeable damage to the cotton, a grower can harvest his cotton at the most convenient time for him and not have to worry about the progress at the gin.

And what are other advantages to the grower using the module builder system?

According to Ray Adams, vice president of sales with Bush-Hog Continental Gin Company, a leading manufacturer of module equipment located in Prattville, Alabama, moduling can be an advantage because ginning has become such a problem for growers.

"The cost of ginning cotton has increased many fold in the last decade and we have every reason to believe that it is going to continue to increase," he said. "There has been a trend to have fewer and fewer cotton gins each year.

"As the number of cotton gins gets smaller, the volume of these gins increases. But it also is becoming more difficult for the farmer to get his cotton ginned immediately. The expense of owning cotton trailers is getting to be too high and the economics the module system provides makes it an ideal operation to turn to."

Randy Eiland, a grower from Lamesa, Texas, switched to module builders to avoid losing cotton to the unpredictable West Texas weather.

"We have a lot of bad weather in this area at times, and before we got module builders our stripping depended on how many trailers we could get to the gin," Eiland said. "Since we have gotten the module builders, our strippers can just run continuously to keep building modules. We don't have to worry about getting trailers or being out of trailers."

"Module builders help make a grower money because a crop can be lost, in this area, by leaving cotton on the stalks. By stripping continuously and putting cotton in modules, you can completely avoid this happening. We can't store it on the stalk in West Texas. You can lose too much of it too quick."

Harold Worrell, a grower from Altus, Oklahoma, has been impressed with the efficiency module builders have allowed him in his harvesting operation:

"I had heard about module builders," he said, "and I had decided they would speed up my harvesting operation. I farm about 2,500 acres of stripper cotton, and I was having problems keeping all my trailers loaded and getting them to the gin and emptied so that I could keep on stripping. I was filling those trailers up nearly every day. Module builders made me think I could get by a lot easier."

"Module builders save me a lot of wear and tear on hauling cotton to town and it saves a lot of labor tromping it on trailers. I don't know if it's much cheaper, but it's a whole lot faster."

And how does this remarkable machine work?

Dr. Milton L. Smith, a professor of Industrial Engineering at Texas Tech University, who has worked extensively with module builders, explains:

"Initially, when the basket on a cotton stripper gets full, the load is dumped into the module builder. It usually takes two or three dumps before there is enough cotton to pack. Once there is a sufficient depth to pack, then the module builder goes into operation.

"The tramper compresses the cotton as it moves from front to back and back to front of the module builder. This operation constantly compresses the cotton and will occur many times throughout the process of building a module. With each successive dump, the tramper will first of all level out the cotton in the module builder and will then start to pack the loose cotton. And this continues until the module is fully formed.

"At that time, the operator will raise the back gate on the module builder, and a tractor pulls it forward, leaving a module that is free-standing to sit there in the field until it is ready to be moved."

One of the key developers of the module builder was Lambert H. Wilkes of Texas A&M University. Together with J.K. "Farmer" Jones, a researcher for Cotton Incorporated, they completed work on the first module builders in 1971 and 1972. Research on the module builder was funded jointly by Cotton Incorporated, and Texas A&M.

The result of their research has not only saved the grower valuable time and dollars with his cotton operation, but has significantly improved ginning techniques.

"I feel that the research and promotion carried on by Cotton Incorporated, such as that on the module builder, is very important to growers," said Dr. Smith. "There are many developments that I believe may have occurred without Cotton Incorporated's support and funding, but I think on many projects it would have been ten or fifteen years before they would have occurred otherwise. So, I definitely think Cotton Incorporated has helped cotton producers."
