Budget may not balance until 1984

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan says he still hopes to fulfill a campaign pledge to balance the budget in 1983 even though White House economists are conceding privately it is unlikely the federal deficit can be erased before 1984.

"We're taking a shot at 1983, we hope," Reagan told reporters as he left a private dinner Thursday night. "If we try for '83, we're sure to get it by '84.

Earlier Thursday, in a possible preview of how the administration would explain backing down on Reagan's bullish budget forecast, White House press secretary James S. Brady said the "economy inheritance" from former President Carter was "much worse than anyone thought it would be.'

Several sources, who asked not to be identified, said officials now are indicating that 1984, is probably the earliest the budget can be balanced. One congressional aide briefed by the administration said of a balanced budget in 1983: "I don't think that's realistic at this time."

The administration's latest thinking on wiping out the federal deficit emerged as Reagan continued a series of meetings with Cabinet officials to discuss budget cuts he will propose next week.

The president is expected to propose spending cuts of about $10 billion to $15 billion for the current year and deeper cuts of up to $50 billion for the 1982 fiscal year.

The administration program also is expected to call for 10 percent-a-year personal income tax cuts for the next three years and a business tax cut through increased depreciation allowances

Indications Thursday that the goal of a balanced 1983 budget was slipping came one day after reports that the administration had lowered its

At the same time, the White House was said to be backing off an earlier prediction of 7 percent economic growth in 1982 in favor of a smaller estimate of 4 percent.

In a paid campaign television address last Oct. 24, Reagan reiterated his call for spending and tax cuts and said, "The fact is, this program will give us a balanced budget by 1983, and possibly by 1982.'

But sources say the latest forecasts are for a relatively small budget deficit for 1983.

Murray L. Weidenbaum, Reagan's choice to head the White House Council of Economic Advisers, said at the White House it is still his "personal hope" that the administration can produce a balanced budget by 1984.

Asked about the prospect of balancing the budget by 1983, Weidenbaum said, "I suppose you could conjure up a scenario," but it would depend on the state of the economy and how deeply Congress cuts into federal programs.

Treasury Secretary Donald T. Regan, in testimony at his confirmation hearings in January, said he thought a balanced budget could not be achieved until 1984. Recanting, he said later he thought it possible to eliminate deficits by 1983.

Meanwhile, with the president's economic speech to a joint session of Congress scheduled for next Wednesday, Brady said Reagan is about 95 percent finished with his budget review. So far, none of the department heads has "gone to the mat" over proposed program cuts, which are 'being discussed in a team manner." Brady said.

In addition to Reagan's sessions with his Cabinet members, budget director David Stockman and aides met with congressional experts Thursay to discuss the timetable Congress will adopt for dealing with economic

Water solutions drown in controversy

By ED TODD Staff Writer

A roundtable confab to air problems surrounding Midland's rising water table and to grope for solutions made the proverbial "full circle" Thursday, when city and county officials tried to strike harmony

Too, the running-over effluent and possible leaks from Midland's sewage treatment plant and questions of health and disease drew much comment from the city council members and county commissioners.

But solutions to a possible crisis were drowned in controversy.

"We have a pretty good picture of what is going on," said hydrologist Ed Reed, who has been monitoring the rising water table for years. "The problem with Midland Draw is a complex one.

Not all agreed with Reed at the meeting that involved Midland County commissioners, County Judge Bill Ahders, Midland City council members and Mayor G. Thane Akins in The First National Bank.

County Commissioner Charlie Welch offered pat solutions to the problem which increasingly is pitting the city against the county.

CRITICS OF THE CITY, such as Welch, maintain that Midland's daily volume of effluent from the city sewage treatment plant is contributing to the rising water table, is polluting the underground watertable, is seeping into the sanitary landfill and causing potential health hazards, and is helping turn Midland Draw into a stream

Reed stressed that he is not prepared to unequivocally say, "This is the solution, and the solution will have this effect."

Welch, however, was.

'We'd be glad to spread the water out," said the commissioner, who said he has been monitoring the water flow and water table in the county for years. Welch proposed that the effluent be pumped far away from Midland and into other agriculture, oriented areas which could use the water for irrigating crops and pastures

Reed agreed that the farther the effluent is removed from Midland, "the better off you will be." But he said that much of the water will be recycled and returned to the water reserves.

"It's not a solution," Reed said. "It may be a temporary stopgap, but it'll bite you back later on.

Increasingly, Midland has been vexed by Odessa's dumping of its effluent into Monahans Draw. The treated sewage waters meander down that drainage basin, which flows eastward and merges with Midland Draw in far east Midland County. That channel then runs into Beals Creek in Howard County and spills into the Colorado River.

MIDLAND COUNTY residents east of town have been increasingly aggravated by Midland's effluent, which percolates from the holding ponds and on occasions overflows and runs into Midland Draw, and, according to Welch, into the sanitary landfill

"It's in violation of all the (Texas state) health statutes," Welch accusingly said of raw sewage waters supposedly seeping into the landfill. "I think that it's time that something should be done. They (the city of Midland) are in violation of the permits, and they're running raw sewage" into the draw.

'I think immediate action should be taken," said Welch. "Turn on those switches (to pipe out the water). Then you can study the 'liver' out of it." Reed rarely agreed with Welch, who, in addition to being commissioner of Precinct 2, is a water-well drill-'Not all the water you see in the draw, Mr. Welch, is from the ponds,"

Reed said. Effluent in the oxidation ponds is held for about 25 days before is transferred to a larger holding tank from its on what its economic recover package could achieve by the end of next year.

Sources said Wednesday the administration is forecasting inflation of slightly more than 8 percent in 1982. up from an earlier estimate of 6.5 percent.

One congressional aide said the administration was being urged to send specific legislation to Capitol Hill as early as possible. The administration had been expected to wait until the second week in March to deliver some proposals.

hired commandos to spring two employees from an Iranian prison, has won another round against Iran - a court ruling that part of President Carter's deal to free the hostages was unconstitutional.

U.S. District Judge Robert W. Porter issued the ruling Thursday in granting a temporary injunction blocking the transfer of $20 million to Iran.

In the first major challenge to the executive order that was issued as part of the U.S.-Iran accords that led to release of the 52 hostages, Porter said Carter's action to unfreeze Iranian assets was an "unwarranted intrusion" into the judicial branch of government Perot's request for a temporary injunction was not the only court challenge te Carter's order. However, Justice Department lawyers have said they believe the case unique among 388 pending suits seeking compensation from Iran since a judgment already had been given before the Iranian accords were reached.

Carter's decree swept aside court orders and lawsuits involving the Iranian assets. Perot's computer company, Electronic Data Systems Corp., had been granted the $20 million by Porter in an earlier breach-of-contract suit EDS filed against the government of Iran.

'The United States in general and the State Department in particular hamper U.S. companies around the world to a degree that's just unique," Perot said Thursday.

EDS attorney Thomas W. Luce III declined to speculate whether the decision would affect other companies suing Iran.

"The judge dealt only with EDS issues," said Luce. "He said the president did not have the constitutional right to interfere with EDS' suit against Iran."

The Justice Department had no comment on Porter's decision.

EDS sued Iran for defaulting on a contract in which EDS agreed to computerize Iran's national health, welfare and social security records.

Last May, Porter found that Iran was guilty of breach of contract and owed EDS $20 million. The judgment was upheld by two appeals courts. The government of Iran is appealing the amount of the judgment to the 5th U.S. Circuit of Appeals.

Testing recommended for water problems

The Midland Draw Committee established by the Human Relations Council has recommended that the city of Midland, aided by hydrologists Ed L. Reed & Associates, perform "such tests as necessary to gather information concerning possible sewage leaks and the rising water table" in and around Midland.

That recommendation was announced Thursday by Kimberly Modisett, HRC executive director, at a joint meeting of the Midland City Council and the Midland County Commissioners to discuss the localized rising watertable and Midland's sewage treatment plant.

The Midland City Council last month hired Reed to study the ground water in and around Midland and to detect leaks, if any, from the sewage treatment plant or its holding tanks.

Those participating in the "roundtable discussion were Midland Mayor G. Thane Akins, and city council members Steve Davidson, Tom Sloan, Carroll Thomas, Doris Howbert and Gordon Marcum II; County Judge Bill Ahders and commissioners Durward Wright, Charlie Welch, C. DeWayne Davis and Win Brown; hydrologist Ed Reed and Joe Reed; Jim Brown, city manager; Joe Nuessle, city attorney; Fred Baker, director of public works; Fred Poe, assistant city manager; John Lowe, director of utilities; and Jewel Smith, chief sanitation for the Midland City-County Health Department Also at the meeting were Midland County Clerk Rosenelle Cherry and June Ocker, secretary to Ahders. Making up the HRC's Midland Draw Committee are Jon and Ethel Whisler; Joe Jones; Ben Golliday; Pat Anderson, and Welch, Sloan and Ms. Modisett.

John Phipps, vice president and director of Billingsley Enterprises, Inc., has announced as a candidate for Place 3 on the Midland City Coun-

Place 3 currently is held by Carroll Thomas, who hasn't announced his intentions for re-election. Phipps is a former vice chairman of the Midland Planning and Zoning Commission and is seeking his first two-year term.

He formerly was vice president for land development at Citizens Savings & Loan Association and had worked in the marketing division of The Midland National Bank. He manages Billingsley Corporation's residential land development program.

"With the recent deregulation of oil and gas prices, we need to prepare for what could be the most dynamic growth period Midland will ever experience," Phipps said in explaining his reason for announcing his candidacy. "I will take a common sense approach to the city budget, devoting special attention to hos I can improve the quality of life for all Midlanders."

He praised the work of the Objectives for Midland in the '80s, saying, 'I will continually refer to the established objectives in determining how I will vote on a specific item or issue.'

He added that park development is occurring at a much slower rate than city growth. "I will place a high priority on our parks and recreation system," he said.

Looking into another aspect of city government, Phipps said that many primary streets are in need of resurfacing or reconstruction. A high priority would be placed on improving streets and traffic control systems. With a net influx of about 90 families per month, Midland is experiencing a housing shortage, he indicated. We should encourage developers and builders to provide immediately affordable housing, such as small lot townhomes, condos, quadroplexes and quality apartment projects," he said.

Phipps recently completed a threeyear appointed term on the Midland Planning and Zoning Commission. His other civic activities include participation in Leadership Midland and the Objectives for Midland program. He is a member of the Downtown Lions Club, and previously served as a United Way loaned executive and member of the Midland Area Sales Team of the Chamber of Commerce.

Smith said the city is experimenting with the gambusia, a small fish whose diet is exclusively mosquito larvae. At present, gambusia is stocked in the watertraps on Midland golf courses. # Reagan still faced with toughest budget decisions

WASHINGTON (AP) - Work on three departments' spending plans behind him, President Reagan still faces his toughest decisions on how to trim $50 billion from next year's federal-budget and has yet to choose a target date for the 30 percent, threeyear tax cut he will propose.

"You save the hard ones for last," said White House press secretary James S. Brady.

Brady said Reagan had made final decisions on the budgets of the departments of Interior, Agriculture and Health and Human Hervices during meetings with secretaries of those departments Wednesday.

Today's schedule included Labor Secretary Raymond Donovan, Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige and the heads of independent agencies. The series of meetings, which continues Friday, is giving Reagan "a chance to cross-examine" the Cabinet members about their budget requests, Brady said.

made on an effective date for the tax cut, which would lower income taxes across the board by 10 percent a year for each of three years, Brady said, 'It hasn't.'

He said that decision would be made before next Wednesday, when the president will address a joint session of Congress and release details of the spending and tax cut proposals that aides have said will be sweeping.

DO YOU WANT TO CATCH A LOT OF FISH?

One day as Jesus was preaching on the shore of lake Gennesaret, great crowds pressed in on Him to listen to the Word of God.

He noticed two empty boats standing at the water's edge while the fishermen washed their nets. Stepping into one of the boats, Jesus asked Simon, its owner, to push out a little into the water, so that He could sit in the boat and speak to the crowds from there.

When He had finished speaking, He said to Simon, "Now go out where it is deeper and let down your nets and you will catch a lot of fish!"

"Sir," Simon replied, "we worked hard all last night and didn't catch a thing. But if you say so, we'll try again."

And this time their nets were so full that they began to tear! A shout for help brought their partners in the other boat and soon both boats were filled with fish and on the verge of sinking. When Simon realized what had happened, he fell to his knees before Jesus and said, "Oh, sir, please leave us--I'm too much of a sinner for You to have around."

For he was awestruck by the size of their catch, as were the others with him, and his partners too -- James and John, the sons of Zebedee. Jesus replied, "Don't worry! From now on you'll be fishing for the souls of men!

And as soon as they landed, they left everything and went with Him.

Welcome, journalists!

The Midland Reporter-Telegram is privileged and honored to be hosting the Mid-Winter Meeting of the West Texas Press Association here in the Tall City this weekend.

Congregating for the meeting will be a distinguished array of community journalists from throughout the West Texas region. Numerous dignitaries from Midland and elsewhere also will be on hand for the event.

Press association meetings are always interesting and exciting events. They give journalists the opportunity to get together to socialize, "talk shop," share information on the trade and - for a day or two, at least - to forget, to a degree, about deadlines and the other trials and tribulations of newspapering.

And these meetings give editors and publishers the opportunity to take their families along on something akin to a "mini vacation."

A hearty welcome to all the newspaper people and dignitaries in Midland for the West Texas Press Association meeting. We're glad you're here and we hope you'll come back often.

Worrying about crime

Concern about crime, according to a federal report, is stimulated by the news media, despite the fact that violence in the nation is not increasing significantly.

"Grim details" of murders, rapes and robberies, the Commerce Department said in a Census Bureau study of the quality of American life, make it difficult for the public to accept the fact that crime rates have been fairly constant for several years.

But newspapers and broadcasters simply report facts and it is not bad necessarily that Americans worry a little about their #### personal safety.

And the report concedes that while increases in the rate of crimes per 100,000 population are not great, a 375 percent increase in the cost of police protection over the last quarter-century apparently had little impact in curtailing crime.

The government's case against the media is not persuasive. We print stories about crime, it's true, but we also report on the reports such as those by the Census Bureau.

Crime is what makes people worry about crime.

"I KID YOU NOT "

Our experts believe the Soviets' aim in El Salvador is more devious than a straight-out victory for the leftist rebels. What they hope to do is create enough turmoil in Central America to divert U.S. attention from the Russians' activities in Afghanistan and elsewhere - and maybe sucker us into another Vietnam.

The Kremlin "would like nothing better" than to see the United States get deeply involved in the Salvadoran

I have talked with the man who offers the best hope in 20 years for ridding the Cuban people of Fidel Castro and he offers a common sense prescription for what the United States should and shouldn't do to Charley Reese The man is Hubert Matos, an authentic hero of the Cuban Revolution, the leader of the famous Column Nine might set it off before the rest of the world is ready to support it.

What he would like the U.S. to do is to work with other free nations to be ready to neutralize the 20,000 Soviets who are protecting Castro. Matos believes that if the West shows a united front, the Soviet Union will stand aside; if the West waivers, the Soviets within Cuba will crush the rebellion.

He told me he would like permission from the U.S. to set up radio transmitters for broadcasts into Cuba. This we ought to do. Castro broadcasts into the U.S. and even Radio Moscow now transmits from Cuba into the U.S. with a signal so strong it crowds some U.S stations off the air in Florida. Our one-sided neutrality has to stop.

Third, Matos says the CIA should be kept out of the business. This makes sense, too. Not only would CIA involvement queer things inside Cuba, but the CIA's record in liberating Cuba is worse than its record of finding out what the Soviet Union is up to, and that's dismal.

Fourth, Matos said it would be a mistake for the U.S. to recognize a Cuban government in exile. This would make it too easy for the communists to tell Cubans that the remnants of the Batista government were preparing an invasion.

Finally, Matos would like a little help with facilities. For example, he said the FBI was kind enough to warn him that Castro's assassins were after him, but they offered no protection. Worse, local lawmen arrested his private bodyguard for carrying a

This man represents the best chance in two decades to deprive the Soviet Union of a military base in the Carribbean. He represents a Godgiven opportunity to reverse the red tide in the Carribbean and it would be a sin to ignore it.

Just by inviting Hubert Matos to the White House, President Reagan would make Fidel Castro sweat yellow. The invitation would send a message not only to Castro and his Soviet employers but also to all the liberty loving people of Latin America.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND Right-wing takeover feared in El Salvador

Today is Friday, Feb. 13, the 44th day of 1981. There are 321 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On Feb. 13, 1689, the English Parliament adopted a Bill of Rights.

On this date: In 1633, Italian astronomer Galileo arrived in Rome and was detained by the Roman Catholic Inquisition. In 1741, Andrew Bradford of Phila-

In 1920, the League of Nations recognized the perpetual neutrality of Switzerland. And in 1945, Allied forces captured Budapest, Hungary, during World War II.

Ten years ago: South Vietnamese troops were driving into Laos and seizing large stores of communist arms and supplies.

Five years ago: Soprano Lily Pons died of cancer at the age of 71.

One year ago: Yugoslav doctors released a medical bulletin sparking fears that President Josip Tito was on the brink of death.

the administration's fear of a communist victory in El Salvador may blind it to what they see as an even likelier possibility: That the centrist junta may be overthrown by rightest elements who want a return to the old military-landowner oligarchy.

Allies like Mexico and West Germany, meanwhile, tend to be less fearful of the Salvadoran leftists than of what they regard as a return to the days of U.S. imperialism in Central America.

In the hope of persuading European leaders that U.S. fears of a leftist victory in El Salvador are not just anti-communist hysteria, the State Department is considering the idea of sending a team of intelligence experts to brief Western leaders. As the team's mission is described in a secret document, it would be to "show them evidence in our possession ... (to) clarify and support our statements and actions vis-a-vis El Salvador."

In West Germany, the intelligence team "would, of course, hope to make presentation to leadership of the Socialist Party, given their apparent support of the Salvadoran revolutionaries," the document states.

Following the team's visit to Bonn, the intelligence would be made

- The leftist rebels have received several tons of arms from the Soviet bloc, including 57-millimeter rifles and other anti-tank weapons.

- Many of the communist weapons smuggled to the Salvadoran guerrillas come from the stocks that the Americans left behind in Vietnam.

- Despite Soviet attempts to avoid direct complicity, some Russianmade arms are also getting into El Salvador. For example, a shipment of Soviet hand grenades, still in their original crates, was recently captured from the rebels.

- As many as 300 guerrillas at a time are being given military training in Cuba.

conflict, said a diplomatic source. The growing communist activity in Central America could also threaten Mexico's vast new oil operation in the Gulf of Mexico.

SBA SHENANIGANS: In the final days of the Carter administration, officials at the Small Business Administration made a covert - and improper - attempt to expand a pilot project. Fortunately, the skulduggery was stopped.

But investigators for Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., new chairman of the Senate Small Business Committee, have discovered several questionable contracts within the pilot program itself. One in particular was a $7.2 million contract with the Univox-California Co., a Los Angeles electronics manufacturer.

The General Accounting Office reported that the award had been made in March 1979 "despite the fact that this firm had continously experienced financial difficulties due to questionable financial practices."

In fact, in February 1979, the SBA's district office in Los Angeles had recommended that Univox be barred from certain agency programs. Univox insists the GAO ignored evidence presented in the firm's favor.

WATCH ON WASTE: Government inspectors have found an interesting conflict of interest at the prestigious National Science Foundation: A scientist was awarded a $180,000 research grant and was then hired by NSF on a temporary basis. He was named director of the program that funded his research project. Not surprisingly, the research program was given a $60,000 "extension" once he left the foundation.

Most of the provements grew out somebody deciding there ought to be a better way.'

MARK RUSSELL SAYS

Cowboy bars, with their cowboy suits and mechanical bucking broncos, are said to be the latest trend in adult entertainment. When I was a kid we called it riding on the merrygo-round.

You give a guy a 10-gallon hat and a pair of boots, put him on an electric bull, and he thinks he's a cowboy just as the child on the ferris wheel pretends he's an astronaut.

These days, you're never sure if a cowpoke in dusty levis, tying his halfton pickup to a hitchin' post, is really an insurance broker from New Haven.

Cowboy bars will never go over in Washington, D.C. Most of the leather here is attache cases, and a typical western item found on a government worker might be a calculator made by Texas Instruments.

- Federal sanctions against employers who knowingly and repeatedly hire illegal aliens.

- A work-eligibility identification card for all persons to show to employers when applying for a job.

- Stepped-up enforcement of immigration law along the border and in the interior of the United States.

- Amnesty (immunity from deportation) for all illegal aliens, regardless of the total, who have established residence in the United States and are self-supporting. "The people of America will buy legalization (amnesty) if they know it won't happen again," Simpson said, adding that the number of illegal aliens who would be eligible for amnesty is not important.

Simpson also favors the establishment of temporary worker programs with Mexico and other nations to meet the legitimate needs of short-term employers in the United States "pro-

Simpson stressed he is not advocating a resumption of the bracero program, a World War II system that brought badly needed farm labor into the United States and lasted until Congress killed it in 1964.

"I saw braceros exploited in Wyoming, and it offended me as a young ment of some kind of work-eligibility identification system will be the most politically difficult part of what he views as the basic four-part package of immigration reform.

"I have no great problem with a card," he said, but he acknowledged that the concept sets off alarms in some political quarters, most notably among legislators and others concerned with infringements upon civil liberties.

"Personally, I think it's just a lot of smoke," he said of the criticisms leveled at the card concept.

Simpson would want a system established so employers could be required to verify a card's authenticity through a telephone call to a government computer, much as retailers verify credit cards.

Simpson's education on the immigration and refugee issue began shortly after he arrived in Washington as a freshman senator assigned to the Judiciary Committee, of which the immigration panel is a subcommittee. Simpson was one of two committee Republicans named to the Select Commission on Immigration early in 1979.

Also named to the commission were two Senate Democrats, and two Democratic and two Republican members of the House Judiciary Committee.

In addition, the Cabinet secretaries heading the four federal departments involved in immigration matters and four citizens selected by President Carter rounded out the panel.

The commission's recommendations would rewrite a disjointed collection of immigration laws, some of which have not been changed in a quarter-century.

Authorities allow suppressed movie to come to light strong for the authorities to accept at

WASHINGTON (AP) - A documentary film by director John Huston on the recuperation of shattered, shell-shocked GIs of World War II is being released 35 years after the government suppressed it as being too revealing.

The ban was lifted Wednesday in response to a campaign to release the film and after bootleg prints were shown in New York City and Los Angeles in recent months.

The hour-long Army Signal Corps picture, "Let There Be Light," will be available through the National Archives to theaters, libraries and film scholars

It was shot in a stateside Army hospital at the end of World War II and documented the recovery of a group of returned veterans who arrived barely able to function. The purpose was to convince employers they could safely hire ex-GIs who had to undergo psychotherapy before they could be discharged. In Huston's narration, these war victims were called

"casualties of the spirit." The film depicts the amazingly rapid recovery of a group of soldiers suffering from a variety of mental wounds. One can barely speak; an-other can't walk unaided, though he is physically uninjured; another has lost all memory of everything in his life that preceded the horrors of combat in Okinawa.

Each is cured with applications of sodium amytol, hypnotism or psychiatric paternalism. In eight weeks they are playing softball and discharged into civilian life.

The film reflects the era's unquestioning faith in psychotherapy. It carries no suggestion that the soldiers'

wounds could reopen

Its candor must have been shocking in 1946 but no longer is; audiences have seen many intimate portraits of psychoneurotic suffering since then. The Defense Department objected to release of the picture so strenuously that military police once seized a print when Huston tried to show it to friends at the Museum of Modern Art in New York, according to Variety, the show business newspaper. The Pentagon argued that the film was unsuitable because it invaded the patients' privacy, even though they had signed releases. In relenting, the Army insisted that scenes in which soldiers spell out their names be edited out.

Release came after Variety and Jack Valenti, president of the Motion Picture Association of America, crusaded for making the film public and after the Los Angeles County Museum of Art exhibited a bootlegged copy during a Huston retrospective last November and a commercial theater in New York City showed the film for a few days last month.

The showing in Los Angeles qualifies the film for consideration for a 1980 Oscar, Variety said.

The National Archives said prints will be available for sale and rent from its Audio Visual Center here and the public may see it on request at the Archives building in Washington. Its chief appeal probably will be to film buffs.

Last living 5-star general celebrates birthday

EL PASO, Texas (AP) - Aides say General of the Army Omar Nelson Bradley, the nation's only surviving five-star general, plans nothing spe-cial today to mark his 88th birthday.

But a private birthday party is set for Saturday night to honor America's highest ranking military officer. He was born in Clark, Mo., Feb. 12, 1893

Aides say Bradley is in good health despite a minor viral infection that forced him to spend two days in the hospital last week.

A spokesman at Fort Bliss, where Bradley lives with his wife Kitty, 58, said the general plans to report today, as usual, to his office where he spends a few hours daily.

Bradley, who led an Army group of 1.3 million U.S. troops during World War II - the largest body of American soldiers ever to serve under one field commander - and then became the nation's first chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in 1950, no longer gives interviews to news reporters.

But he still speaks at ceremonies and occasionally addresses soldiers or officers attending leadership classes at Fort Bliss.

Although he has arthritis in his legs that confine him to a wheelchair most of the time, Bradley takes frequent trips, and attended President Reagan's inauguration last month.

Army spokesman Ed Starnes said Bradley's arthritis was one reason he moved here from Beverly Hills, Calif., in 1977.

"It was the dry climate here, the good hospital, and he said he wanted to 'get back to the troops,"' Starnes said.

Bradley, the son of a schoolteacher in rural Missouri, was known as the "GI's general" during World War II because of his concern for the welfare of his men. He stormed ashore alongside his First Army troops during America's invasion of Normandy in 1944 and later led his soldiers to victory against the Nazis in the Battle of the Bulge.

Five years after the war, Bradley was elevated to five-star rank, joining Douglas MacArthur, George Marshall, and a West Point classmate, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

When Eisenhower died in 1969, Bradley became the only living fivestar general in the nation. He remains on active duty because of an act of Congress that exempts five-star officers from retiring.

Counting his days at West Point, Bradley has more than 69 years of active military service, the longest of anyone in U.S. history.

His first wife died in 1965 and in 1966 he married Kitty Buhler, a screen writer who authored scripts for television's Dragnet, The Untouchables and My Three Sons.

Midland man to serve six months in prison

The 35-year-old Midland father of seven children was sentenced to one year in federal prison and was fined $2,000 Thursday by U.S. Federal Judge Lucius D. Bunton after he admitted he was trapped in an anti-tax protest movement and failed to file a proper federal income tax return for 1975.

"Well, I got started into this (by) external pressure," the defendant, John Frank Cunningham, told the judge Thursday just prior to sentencing. "(And) after I realized what was going on..., I didn't figure out how to get out ... without a hassle."

Cunningham was a member of the Midland-founded, but now disbanded, United Tax Action Patriots.

Last July 20, Bunton sentenced the leader of the band, Dr. Austin B. Tibbits, an osteopath, to five years in prison and fined him $2,000 after a jury convicted Tibbetts of tax eva-

Cunningham told the court he now "can't say truthfully that the tax (protest) movement was justified...A lot of it was wrong." But he speculated said that President Ronald Reagan's administration may correct any ills in the tax system.

"I do know I'm sorry I got into it," Cunningham said of UTAP. "It'll never happen again .... It was wrong. I had no excuse ....

His attorney, Thomas Kendrick of Amarillo, who also was one of Tibbett's co-counsels, said that Cunningham's case was "tragic." He was misled by people more educated than he in some ways and too late was he aware of the implications of his involvement in the anti-tax group.

Kendrick suggested that Cunningham, a diesel mechanic, was "not well equipped to evaluate the motives of the tax protesters."

Bunton agreed that the case was tragic.

"It is a tragedy that some in a society are misled by others," the judge told Cunningham. "You have been misled...I have utmost sympathy for your seven children."

"I certainly hope that you have seen the error of you ways," Bunton admonished the ex-protester, "and in the future you will not be misled." He said the tax-protest route "is not the way to make the changes."

Afterward, the judge levied the one-year sentence, ordered Cunningham to serve six months in prison, suspended the remainder of the term and ordered him on a five-year probation once he is out of prison. He is to report to the U.S. deputy marshal March 16 to carry out his sentence.

Small leak may force balloonists to abort misssion

By The Associated Press

The balloon "Jules Verne" was drifting toward the Arabian Sea today, crippled by a small leak that could force its two American pilots to abort their attempt at the first nonstop balloon flight around the world, trackers said.

At 7:30 a.m. EST, the tracking station in Bedford, Mass., reported the balloonists had not been heard from since midnight, but they were not alarmed and considered the balloon still airborne.

Tracker Bob Rice said a satellite locator was picking up some "spurious" signals, "something that has happened in the past," and the balloon "is in a very difficult communications area, and we anticipated that. There's no reason to believe the balloon is in any danger.

Co-tracker Jim Mitchell said the flight might have to be aborted in less than 48 hours, but held some "outside hope" the leak could be contained or fixed.

'If the leak is low in the envelope (the tall balloon filled with gas) mostly air would leak out and it wouldn't make any difference," he said. "Or it could be in the valve in the top of the envelope, and that could be opened and shut, electrically. Something like that could fix a leak there.

"Those are longshots, but a possibility," he said.

Mitchell said earlier "the balloon is in no immediate danger and can fly for a number of hours.'

If necessary, he said, balloonists Maxie Anderson of Albuquerque, N.M., and Don Ida of Boulder, Colo., "will apparently have the option of landing on the Arabian Peninsula, in the Arabian Sea between the peninsula and India or in India.

The 20-story-high balloon, named for the author of "Around the World in 80 Days," took off Thursday from Luxor, Egypt, and at midnight EST, after 19 hours in the air, it had flown about 850 miles, Mitchell reported.

He said at that time it was 210 miles due south of Riyadh, the capital of Saudi Arabia, traveling at an altitude of about 20,000 feet and at a speed of about 50 mph.

Its track was carrying it well south of Iran, whose revolutionary, anti-American government refused to give Anderson and Ida permission to pass through its air space. If the winds pushed them too far north, they could run the risk of being shot down, Anderson, a mining-investment executive, piloted the Double Eagle II from Canada to France in 1978 in the first successful crossing of the Atlantic Ocean by a manned balloon. With his son, he last year claimed the first successful crossing of North America.

He and Ida, who operates tree nurseries in Colorado, plotted a course that would carry them south of the Himalayan Mountains, across China and Japan and into the north Pacific, where temperatures could dip to 60 degrees below zero.

From there, the course passes near the west coast of Alaska, sweeps southeasterward across the United States, then crosses the North Atlantic and Europe to Egypt.

Plans made to avoid repeat of accident

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) - The Tennessee Valley Authority plans to use more written orders in the Sequoyah nuclear plant's control room to avoid another accident like the one which drenched 14 employees with radioactive water, TVA says.

Jim Green, TVA's director of nuclear power operations, said Thursday the error of an assistant plant operator, who misunderstood a verbal order and opened the wrong valve, was to blame for Wednesday night's accident.

Green told reporters that the accident did not threaten the public or the operations at the federal utility's $1.9 billion plant about 15 miles north of Chattanooga. The reactor was not operating ue to maitenance.

TVA estimates that 100,000 gallons of water fell on the employees inside the plant's sealed reactor building. Green said eight of the workers suffered skin contamination when the water penetrated their protective clothing.

They took showers to wash off the contaminants and health examinations indicated no measurable radiation on their bodies, he said.

Four charities angered with Reagan decision

WASHINGTON (AP) - Four national charities said today they were "most disturbed" that the Reagan administration was trying to recover $4 million in federal money they had been given to distribute to needy people to pay their heating bills.

"It is simply inconceivable to us that the government could renege on its agreement," the four charities said in a letter to Energy Secretary James B. Edwards. They said the funds were expected to help 100,000 people pay heating bills this winter.

However, Reagan administration officials said the funds had been improperly disbursed by DOE Special Counsel Paul Bloom on Jan. 19, his last day in office Conference of Catholic Charities, the Salvation Army and the Jewish Federation - said much of the money had already been disbursed to hundreds of local affiliates across the country.

The summary freeze of our prior agreements with the government is unethical and is creating extreme difficulties for our agencies," officials of the four organizations said in the letter.

Senate approves part of anti-crime package

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Compromise - not confrontation - enabled the Senate to approve an important part of Gov. Bill Clements' anti-crime package, says the bill sponsor.

The Senate on Thursday sent to the House on a 28-0 vote a bill by Sen. Bill Meier, D-Euless, that would continue the Criminal Justice Division in the governor's office.

All seven Senate Republicans sought to give Clements sole authority to approve criminal justice grants recommended by a 21-member advisory board, but the attempt failed, 17-11.

House OKs spending for retarded juvenile care

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Rep. Buck Florence asked the House on Thursday to reject a non-controversial money transfer bill as a "message" to U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice

All he got for his trouble was a "red board" — lit up by votes against his motion — and a few hoots of "Way to go, Buck.

The bill, passed 128-8 and sent to Gov. Bill Clements, allows the Texas Department of Mental Retardation to partment to move 14 juveniles from Rusk to the Fort Worth State School, but the current state budget allows expenditures on the juvenile program only at Rusk Florence tried to talk the House into tabling the bill.

"I for one as a member of the Legislature am sick and tired of the judiciary of the federal government usurping rights of this Legislature and legislatures of all the states," said Florence, D-Hughes Springs. Justice recently ordered bilingual education for all public school stu-dents who need it and also found the Texas prison system violates the U.S. Constitution in several respects.

"I just resent the dickens out of having to follow the edicts of a federal court," said Florence, a lawyer.

"Let's send a small message to the federal judiciary that we want to be legislators," he said.

Florence said he also objected to the cost of treatment for the retarded delinquents, which he pegged at $100 a day for each of them.

His motion to table the bill failed, 11-122.

"Would it be out of order to recommend Mr. Florence for the Emmett Whitehead award for humanitarian efforts?" asked Rep. Matt Garcia, D-San Antonio.

Special task force reshuffled

ATLANTA (AP) — For the third time in seven months, Atlanta police officials have reshuffled the leadership of a special task force created to solve the slayings and disappearances of 18 black children since the summer of 1979.

Public Safety Commissioner Lee P. Brown announced Thursday that Deputy Chief Morris Redding will replace Maj. W.J. Taylor as head of the 35-member task force.

Taylor will remain as administrative coordinator of the group, Brown said. Before joining the task force, Taylor was head of the police bureau's Community Relations Section. In addition, J.R. "Robbie" Hambrick, a 15-year veteran of the Georgia Bureau of Investigation, was and had not heard any news reports about the police named investigative coordinator for the task force.

Mayor Maynard Jackson and Gov. George Busbee announced the appointment of Hambrick at an afternoon news conference. Both officials denied community pressure for action in the investigation resulted in the decision to call in the veteran state investiga-

The 18 cases under investigation by the task force include 15 slayings and three disappearances. All of the victims have been black and between the ages of 7 and 15.

The missing persons unit of the Atlanta police department searched Thursday for a 15-year-old black youth who was last seen Wednesday afternoon. But the youth, Lorenzo Henderson, returned home unharmed Thursday night.

His mother, Patricia Henderson, said her son told her he had been at the home of his father's girl friend investigation of his disappearance.

In announcing the task force shakeup, Brown said the changes were made "to utilize to the maximum extent possible all of our resources to carry out our No. 1 priority, that is the apprehension of the persons responsible for the missing and slain children."

Dunlap named 'Woman of the Year'

Aida Dunlap was presented the Lucy Mashburn Memorial-Woman of the Year Award for Community Service Thursday at the seventh annual awards dinner of the Altrusa Club of Midland, Inc.

The affair, which was held at Ranchland Hills Country Club, was under the direction of the club's community service committee, chaired by Mrs. Barry L. Dyer.

Mrs. Dunlap, who was nominated by the Midland Society of University Women (MSUW), is a homemaker. She and her husband, Leslie, have two children, Glenn, a senior at Texas Tech University, and Tom, a junior at the University of Texas.

MSUW felt that Mrs. Dunlap should be honored with the annual award because she is very interested in various cultural activities of the community and is interested in helping others improve their lives.

A native of Peru, Mrs. Dunlap came to the United States to attend college in Montana, where she obtained a degree in English and Spanish. She became a loyal and dedicated American citizen and is a firm beliver in the democratic system of government, according to MSUW.

Mrs. Dunlap's sponsorship of Roger Mendoza, a seven-year-old boy from Peru who was badly burned and disfigured when he was three-yearsold, is a main reason MSUW cited in nominating her. Permission was obtained for Roger to come to America to the Shriner's Hospital for Crippled Children and Burns Institute in Galveston.

She is president of Literacy and English as a Second Language. This position involves teaching English as a second language to adults and children who are illiterate and/or functional. She also trains other adults to teach English, giving them the tech-niques and methods to use.

Mrs. Dunlap is a member of the First United Methodist Church. She is a member of MSUW, Republican Women's Club, Green Thumb Garden Club and is a patron member of the Symphony Guild. She serves as a volunteer at the Cerebral Palsy Center, helped organize Casa de Amigos and has been on the Board of Community Concerts Association. She is also a member of the Permian Basin Geological and Geophysical Association.

In selecting Mrs. Dunlap for this award, the Board of the Altrusa Club said they were impressed with the fact that the activities she is engaged in now will have far-reaching effects into the future for those people she serves.

The Lucy Mashburn Memorial Award was established in 1975. Mrs. Mashburn was a teacher in the Midland school system for many years and was a past president of the Altrusa Club.

Other nominees for the award were Lotta Williams, Gladys Griffin, Elaine Pirkle, Patsy Yeager, Mari Tidmore, Janet Kirkpatrick, Bonita Pitts, Jane Ramsoure and Maria Spencer.

Mrs. John Reid was the first recipient of the award. Other winners were Mrs. Jack Samples, the late Mrs. Joseph H. Mims, Mrs. E.A. Culbertson, Mrs. Jack Glenn and Mrs. Abbott B. Jenks.

Lois Carter, member of the community service committee, introduced Helen Reid, 1975 recipient of the Lucy Mashburn Memorial Award as speaker for the meeting.

Mrs. Reid spoke on love, more spefically, God's love. She told about the effect God's love has had on her life, illustrating her point with anecdotes about herself and her family.

Mrs. Reid closed with the saying, "Love is not put in your heart to stay, Love is not love until you give it away."

Session on teenage pregnancy slated

Public is urged to attend the Thursday morning session of the Fifth Annual West Texas Perinatal Conference at The University of Texas of the Permian Basin Founders Building in Odessa. This session, which deals with teenage pregnancy, will be from 8: 30-11: 30 a.m.

The two-day conference (Thursday and Friday) is primarily for medical professionals, hospital administrators, social workers and other healthrelated professionals. However, the conference sponsors feel that the Thursday morning session deals with a subject of interest to the general public. There is no charge to those wishing to attend this session only.

According to Margaret Purvis, a conference spokesman, statistics show that there were 1,372 births to persons 19-years-old and younger in the Permian Basin in 1979. She said that this represents 20.1 percent of all live births in the Permian Basin that

The afternoon schedule will be from 1-4 p.m. and includes workshops on various aspects of teenage pregnancy. Those interested may also attend the workshops free of charge.

I'd like to make it a very appealing and airy room that's inviting and comfortable for our regular visitors. How might I create this type of atmosphere without going to great lengths and hiring a carpenter? -E.B.R.

A. Consider creating architectural detailing with stock molding and carefully selected wall coverings. When these are combined, the results can be stunning and very personal.

Install a chair rail around the room with one wallpaper above the rail and another design below. To call attention to the bed, eliminate the molding over the bed and instead wallpaper the section in one design with side panels of fabric at each side of the bed, giving the illusion of a modified

Make a bedspread of a coordinated fabric - perhaps repeating the design in one of the papers. Repeat the same pattern once again in draperies and-or curtains at the windows. The use of patterned wall coverings offers a wide variety of looks that are appealing and attractive.

If space in the room permits and windows are located conveniently low, construct a window seat with matching fabric pad.

Q We have a large opening between our living room and dining room. Both rooms are fairly large and it would be much better if they were separate rooms. However, it would be too expensive to have a wall constructed. In addition, the house is old and the woodwork around the opening is really quite charming.

I'd like to figure out some way to close off these room when we are entertaining so I can get everything ready in the dining room without being seen. Do you have any ideas? -R.W.

A. Probably the simplest and least expensive solution for you would be tall screens that you could make and either paint or cover with fabric or wallcovering to blend with your living room and dining room.

For the heaviest, most substantial screen, use hollow-core doors and attach with piano hinges. Cover with fabric, using braid or gimp where you wish to conceal seams. The screens could be stretched across the opening to divide the rooms and opened partially for a walkway.

Q. We have a basement room that's quite dark, has dark wood painted floors, a fireplace and rather poor quality wood paneling. I'd like to spruce the place up.

I'm planning to buy a game table and four upholstered chairs and have our sofa recovered. What would be a warm color scheme that would be lively and yet harmonize in this cozy, rather dark room? - I.P.M.

A. Why don't you paint the wood paneling a deep red. Purchase your game chairs with red Naugahyde upholstery and recover your sofa in a green, red and white plaid fabric. Plan for plenty of artificial light so the room will come alive.

NEW HYDE PARK, N.Y. (AP) - A recent nationwide survey of more than a thousand U.S. companies indicates that more than 85 percent of these firms use temporary help, and nearly a third use such help on a year-round basis.

The data shows a growing shift away from use of temporaries as replacement for ill and vacationing employees to a planned and budgeted use of temporaries for peak periods as orders for new business arrive.

Of the companies studied in the survey, commissioned by Uniforce Temporary Services, 47 percent use temporary help for longer periods than previously. An average temporary assignment now lasts from one to two weeks rather than just a few days, and is directly connected to the peak-period hiring concept.

Dear Al: You jokingly suggested that we all use a solar clothes dryer to save energy. However, I think it's a good idea and decided to go back to using the old outside clothesline. In examining it, I found that in the several years since it had been used it had badly rusted. Rather than get new wire, I sanded away all the rust spots and the painted the wires. I used leftover paint and applied it with a sponge that let me coat the entire wire as I ran the sponge along. That should protect the wire from any scum remover to be used on shower doors and tile walls. Rather than use straight kerosene as you suggested, I pour about a half cup in with my detergent and water solution and clean the walls without having a kerosene odor. - N.E.

A SUPER HINT - Not long ago I talked about the various types of pliers you might wish to own. I wondered out loud why they call it a pair of pliers when it's just a single tool. Paul Riley of Prentice-Hall (you remember them as the folks who published my new book, "The Super Handy-man's Do It Quick but Do It Right Home Repair Hints") tells me why. He says many years ago the word "ply" meant "to bend." Hence each half of the tool is a plier, and since it takes two to bend anything, they are correctly called a pair of pliers.

HUSBAND NURSES, BUT NO LONGER SEEMS TO CARE

DEAR ABBY: My husband's sister, age 78, has been in a nursing home for nearly two years. Mary became senile, and her husband, whom I'll call Hal, could no longer care for her at home. (They were a happy, devoted couple, married 54 years.)

We live 100 miles away, but keep in close touch by phone. My husband and Mary have always enjoyed a loving relationship. Hal is 76, but looks much younger. He's handsome and personable and is still active in his own business. Hal goes to the nursing home twice a day to feed Mary and keep his eye on things.

A few months ago a 58-year-old widow who lives in Hal's apartment building invited him to dinner. He then reciprocated by inviting her out. We understand that Hal is lonely for companionship and we're trying to keep an open mind, but we hear they see each other quite often. Naturally it bothers us some, but we've never mentioned it to Hal as it's none of our business.

Last week my husband called Hal and invited him to join us for an anniversary celebration. He was shocked when Hal asked if he could bring this woman. My husband said he'd have to give it some thought, but he felt bad for his sister. After all, she's not dead yet. Would my husband be out of line if he asked Hal not to bring this woman? - ANONY-

DEAR ANONYMOUS: No.

DEAR ABBY: Please help me. I don't have anybody else to ask about this and it's tearing me apart. I have recently been through a very emotional time. I lost my husband a year ago and did some stupid things. I seemed to have lost control.

I was recently picked up for shoplifting a $2.50 article I didn't need or want, so now I have a record. I am so ashamed and embarrassed, I can't stand myself. I have lost all self-respect.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Now I want to go back to work - selling - but I am worried about this shoplifting offense being on my record. Do companies check into a person's background thoroughly to find out something like this? Can this keep me from getting employment? I need to know. I need to work not only to support myself, but to help me keep my sanity. I am 50. - NO NAME, NO TOWN

DEAR NO NAME: The chance that this single offense will prevent you from getting employment is very, very small. Put it out of your mind, apply for work and forget it. Should you be questioned about the incident, explain that it occurred while you were under stress.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend I'll call "Fran" who is NEVER on time for an appointment. I realize it's possible to have a legitimate reason for being late once in a while, but Fran is ALWAYS 25 to 30 minutes (or more) late. It is positively maddening because I am always prompt. I'm not the only one she keeps waiting. Fran has a reputation for always being late, and her friends have come to accept it. What makes a person act like this, and is there a cure for it? — HATES LATENIKS DEAR HATES: Don't look for any deep psychological reason for chronic tardiness. It's a combination of inconsideration, lack of organization and a touch of conceit.

The "cure" is simple. Give the "latenik" fair warning that you'll only wait 10 minutes, after which you will leave. Then do it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO E. L. IN CHICAGO: Cheer up. If you want a place in the sun, you've got to put up with a few blisters.

Marijuana cigarette blamed for fire

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) - Police were searching today for a mysterious man they knew only as "Joe" after Philip B. Cline told them he accidentally touched off the deadly Las Vegas Hilton fire with a marijuana cigarette while engaging in a homosexual act with the man, authorities said.

Cline, 23, a room-service busboy charged with arson and murder in the blaze, made the statement to authorities Thursday, a day after his arrest, police said.

Police said they were "satisfied" Cline set Tuesday's eighth-floor blaze, which along with three smaller fires killed eight people and injured 198. Authorities "certainly will attempt to locate" his homosexual partner, "if he exists," said Lt. John Conner, chief of the Metropolitan Police Department's homicide division.

Police said Cline had been a busboy at four other Las Vegas Strip hotels since coming here in January 1980. They included the Silverbird, El Cortez, Caesars Palace and the MGM Grand, where a fire Nov. 21 killed 84 people and injured 700.

Officials at the MGM Grand said Cline left work there 20 days after being hired last May.

There is no indication at this time that he was involved in the MGM fire,"said Detective Sgt. Bob Hilliard. "We will investigate anything arson-related to this individual."

Meanwhile, assistant Sheriff Larry Ketzenberger told lawmakers in Carson City that investigators were studying a number of recent blazes on the Las Vegas Strip to see if they were linked to the Hilton blaze.

Cline began work at the Hilton five days before the fire, Conner said.

Cline "indicated he had been on the eighth floor (of the hotel)...and was engaged in a homosexual act when the draperies were set on fire next to the elevator," Conner said.

"He says it was lighted by a marijuana cigarette," Conner said.

The blaze rocketed up the elevator shaft, roared out of eighth-floor windows and climbed the outside of the east tower to the roof of the 30-story hotel.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) - A newly appointed state fire safety commission, hoping to prevent any more "horrendously tragic" high-rise in-fernos, has recommended tough new requirements for buildings in Nevada.

The recommendations came Thursday, two days after suspicious fires in the Las Vegas Hilton hotel left eight people dead and 198 injured. Less than three months earlier, 84 people died and more than 700 were injured in a blaze at the MGM Grand hotel

Man charged in brutal Haltom City child killing

HALTOM CITY, Texas (AP) - A Haltom City man was being held in lieu off $500,000 bond today after being charged with the brutal slaying of a 21-month-old boy in what police dubbed the final installment of 18-months of child abuse.

Douglas Ashby, 24, was apprehended Thursday at a truck stop at Big Spring in West Texas and then escorted back to Haltom City, said Big Spring Police Sgt. Jimmy Hensley

Police at the Fort Worth suburb of Haltom City issued an all-points bulletin for Ashby Wednesday, after the child's mother quoted him as saying, "I killed the baby.

Nicholas Lane had been beaten, scalded and yanked by the hair early Wednesday morning, police said. Haltom City detective John Huffman said the apparent cause of death was "massive blows to the head and body."

The mother of the child was released Thursday pending a grand jury investigation, police said.

LIBERTY, Texas (AP) - The sister of the late Price Daniel Jr. is scheduled to enter a Liberty court today to try to wrest control of any of Daniel's personal property that might be in his widow's possession.

But court sources say Vickie Daniel's submission of a sealed file of correspondence now leaves little significance for the hearing.

Mrs. Daniel, who is charged with the Jan. 19 shooting death of the former Texas house speaker, handed over a file containing letters, cards and other written material of her late husband's, with instructions that its contents not be revealed before she goes to trial.

Attorney Andrew J. Lannie of Baytown Wednesday asked the 253rd Criminal District Court for a protective order to preserve the correspondence as evidence for the defense. Lannie has said that Mrs. Daniel returned everything except personal correspondence District Clerk Joy McManus said no hearing had been set on the motion.

Lannie said he expects to file papers today formally contesting another civil action in which Jean Murph - Daniel's sister - is seeking to gain custody of Daniel's two young sons.

Price of roses not what used to be States taking steps against drought

DALLAS (AP) - Faces of the romance-minded may turn rose-red this Valentine's season when they learn a dozen of the largest, longstemmed beauties now cost as much as $75.

"Roses are just like gasoline," said Al Cooper, manager of Carren's Flowers in Dallas. "They've been going up almost daily for the past month." Prices for a dozen large roses vary from $50 to $75, while smaller roses with shorter stems sell for $35 to $50 a dozen.

Area florists blamed inflation, the rising price of natural gas, the Rose Bowl parade, the rain in California, the freeze in Florida and supply and demand for the price increases.

Some florists said they've been hit with four price increases during the past week from their wholesale suppliers.

"I've been here 10 years, and the prices go up every Valentine's," said an employee of La-kewood Florist. "The suppliers don't give us a reason, they just give us the price. And every morning, the price is a little bit more." "It's just inflation," said Harvey Schwartz, owner of Your Florist, Inc. He blamed the weather in other parts of the country for "a lack of roses."

"A lot of that has to do with the really bad rain they had recently in California," Schwartz said.

But Floyd McVey, owner of Reed Floral Co., disagreed.

"The weather? It didn't have anything to do with it. It's supply and demand," he said.

"Our wholesaler-to-retailer cost is twice what it was a month ago. This always happens at Valentine's. It will hold a while at the present level, then go down when the holiday is over," he said.

"There are so many roses used for the Rose Bowl parade in California. Millions are used for that," said Judy Hofmann, owner of The Flower Affair.

Majors to cut off gas supplies

By LYDIA CHAVEZ The Los Angeles Times

In the little more than two weeks since President Reagan abolished oil price controls, two major oil companies have notified 64 distributors that their gasoline supplies will be cut off and credit policies will be tightened.

Phillips Petroleum Co. said Thursday that it has told 27 wholesalers in 10 northeastern states that their supply will be terminated on Feb. 28. The distributors sell about 100 million gallons of gasoline a year to some 300 retail service stations.

The same day that Reagan announced the end of controls, Atlantic Richfield Co. stopped delivering gasoline to Lerner Oil Co., based in Gardena, Calif., Arco confirmed. Lerner sells gasoline to 106 service stations in Southern California.

Separately, an Arco spokesman said Thursday, the company has told six distributors in the Pacific Northwest that their credit had been canceled and that they must now pay for gasoline on delivery. And the Los Angeles-based oil company told 30 distributors in 14 Midwestern states that their supply of gasoline is only assured for one more year.

Before decontrol, these distributors had been assured under government regulations of a steady allocation cf gasoline at a set price and under fixed credit terms.

With gasoline supplies plentiful, none of the distributors is expected to have a difficult time finding a new supplier. But industry sources said that the distributors might not be able to secure long-term contracts in the new unregulated environment and that they could find themselves without gasoline to sell in the event of any new oil shortage.

While some oil companies and refiners distribute their products directly to retail stations, the major portion of the gasoline consumed in the United States is sold through a nationwide network of more than 22,000 independent distributors.

It was in part to protect such independent companies from being cut off by the oil companies in the event of such disruptions as a Mideast oil embargo that the government started allocating supplies

While no other major oil company said it had plans to change supply contracts, some independent oil analysts said that they expect more such actions, at least on a regional basis.

Lerner refused to comment on the supply cut off, but the company had depended on Arco for nearly 50 percent of the 100 million gallons of gasoline that it sold each year.

Jay Cole, a lawyer for Arco, said that Lerner and Arco have had an agreement to end their business relationship since 1977 but that federal regulations had prohibited Arco from cutting off Lerner's supply. "We expected Arco to tighten up our credit, but not to end it altogether," said Forest Tower, the owner of Portland-based Tower Oil Co.

Tower, which owns 31 service stations in Oregon, was one of the six independent distributors in the Pacific Northwest affected by Arco's credit policy change.

"It's going to be tough and I'm going to have to raise my prices a couple of cents to pay for a bank loan," he said.

Arco's Cole argued, however, that the policy change simply put the Northwest distributors on the same payment basis as the rest of its gasoline wholesalers.

Phillips said that its wholesalers in the Northeast have known for a year that their supplies would end as soon as the president lifted gasoline controls.

"Some of our wholesalers there found new supplies on their own," said Don Johnson, Phillips East Coast manager. Johnson said that Phillips does not produce enough gasoline at its own refineries to supply all of its distributors. In the past, he said, Phillips has had to buy gasoline on the open market to supply its customers in the Northeast.

Cole said that the 30 distributors affected by Arco's 14-state pull out have also known since 1976 that the company intended to withdraw from that market as soon as permitted under federal law.

The basic appeal of his plan, Parr said in an interview, lies in its simplicity.

He said it basically involves three units: a series of three large floats that support an air compressor and a flywheel, an underwater waterwheel and a generating plant on land.

The center float in the series rises and falls with the ocean swells, he said, and is attached to the compressor and flywheel by a series of me-

Looking even further into the future, Leary said his group already is contemplating the construction of similar plants off Alaska and Southern California.

The Sonoma County project, he said, will be much larger. The compressor cylinders will be 10 feet in diameter with a stroke -- the plunger moving in and out -- of four feet. The entire float structure, he said, will be about 60 feet in length. This can be expanded or shortened, Parr said, through some wave sensors so that the floats always will ride on the crests or troughs of the swells, thus increasing the system's efficiency. The flywheel, he said, will be 10 feet in diameter and the waterwheel 100 feet in diameter.

The entire system, Parr said, would require some 80 such units covering almost 10 acres of ocean surface about a mile offshore.

Such a system, Parr said, should be able to produce the equivalent of 150 megawatts of electricity -- a megawatt is a million watts -- enough to service the needs of about 200,000 homes

An added touch, he said, is that new laws would require public utilities to buy up any excess energy, further reducing costs.

STAMFORD, Conn. - Conoco Inc. has announced a record progrm of $7.5 million for financial aid to education and philanthropic grants in 1981. The sum represents an increase of 49 percent over 1980 contributions. The budget includes $4.5 million for Conoco's philanthropic program which provides funds to cultural, medical and charitable organizations and institutions, and $3 million in aid to education.

Some 250 colleges, universities and other educational institutions will participate in the aid-to-educaton program, which includes grants, fellowships and undergraduate scholarships.

The budget also includes a program to match, 2 for 1, employee gifts to higher education, and a scholarship program for children of Conoco employees.

AMARILLO - Pioneer Production Corp. announced the test results of two discovery wells, a gas discovery in Red River Parish, La., and an oil discovery in Brazoira County.

The gas discovery, the No. 1 Justin L. Teer, is completed in the Cotton Valley formation, with perforations from 12,001 to 12,017 feet. It produced at a rate of 2.8 million cubic feet of gas per day through an 8/64-inch choke, with a flowing tubing pressure of 8,480 pounds per square inch. # IMCO expanding barite operations

HOUSTON - IMCO Services, a division of Halliburton Co., is sigificantly expanding its domestic barite operations to meet growing industry demands for barite products. Three new processing facilities representing a capital investment of more than $12 million increase IMCO's annual production capacity by 200,000 tons.

A barite beneficiation plant near Mineral Point, Mo., came onstream in late fall 1980. The company's Missouri operations are being expanded this year to include another mine and washing plant. When this plant is completed in late 1981, it also will have an annual barite concentrate of 75,000 tons.

The Houma facility went into full scale production in April 1980. In addition to increasing IMCO's production capacity by 100,000 tons per year, it provides a convenient distribution point for servicing South Louisiana onland and offshore operations with finished barite.

To further expand its barite supply operations, another grinding plant started up in November 1980 in Brownsvill, prosesses ore delivered from Nevada or Mexico by rail or from other countries by cargo ships. The plant will service the South Texas and Mexico offshore operations with a 100,000 ton per year capacity.

The new plants supplement the company's operations in Battle Mountain, Nev., and Houston, Texas. IMCO also has two operations in Mexico where crude ore is produced exclusively for IMCO's domestic grinding plants.

In sentencing the pilot, the judge immediately focused on the apparent crux of the Foreman's part in the scheme: greed.

Hispanic group wants to join Organization of American States

WASHINGTON (AP) - A Hispanic organization in search of a higher international profile is asking for affiliation with the Organization of American States.

If accepted, the League of United Latin American Citizens would become the first such Hispanic-American group to establish a formal tie to the OAS.

"The whole issue of Latin American affairs is of great interest to Hispanics in this country," Ruben Bonilla, national president of LULAC, said about the approach to the inter-American organization. "It will place us in a new forum of policy formulation.

Bonilla, of Corpus Christi, Texas, said he is hopeful that LULAC will be accepted as an affiliated organization but he has had no confirmation.

The OAS has 27 member nations from the Western Hemisphere. A number of countries are recognized as observers, including Austria, Canada, Egypt, France, Israel, Italy and the Netherlands. The Vatican and the United Nations also are observers.

The tie that LULAC is seeking, called "cooperative status" by an OAS official, has been granted to about 75-100 groups ranging from U.N. agencies to

Doctors keep wary eye on premature quints

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) - Tiny quintuplets whose combined weight is about that of a healthy newborn were in critical condition today as doctors closely monitored their second day of life.

The babies were born Thursday, three months prematurely, to a 28-year-old woman who took a fertility drug and knew for five months she would bear quints, doctors said.

The three boys and two girls, who weigh about two pounds each, were placed in the neo-natal intensive care center immediately after delivery by Caesarean section at the University of Oregon Health Sciences Center.

The infants were suffering from hyaline membrane disease, a lung ailment common in early births, hospital spokesmen said.

"There are several doctors watching them," said a woman who identified herself as the hospital's admitting coordinator.

The babies had not been named by Thursday afternoon. Doctors said they were known as "A, B, C, D and E.

Names of the mother and father were not released at their request.

"The parents don't want to be harassed," said Dr. John Yount, chief pediatrician for the babies. "This is a very difficult time for them. It's uncertain how well we'll be able to sustain the babies."

Under normal conditions, the babies would have about a 50-50 chance for survival, but a special drug used by the mother over the past week might have improved those chances. Yount said.

He said the next four to five days will be critical to the babies' survival. Babies generally do not survive if born more than 14 weeks early, Yount added.

international professional organizations. The OAS official, who asked not to be named, said an informal hold has been placed on all applications while the entire affiliation system is examined. "There are an infinite variety of relationships with organizations," he said. "We're trying to get the standards set."

Apparently the ties mostly are useful for public relations but contribute little of substance. Organizations are able to exchange information and attend some, but not all, meetings of the OAS.

The tie became politically controversial last fall when the Council on Hemispheric Affairs, known for supporting human rights causes, was rejected when it applied for cooperative status.

Running scared Chaps continue to roll Apprehension fades as Midland College blasts Amarillo Badgers

By TED BATTLES Sports Editor

Midland College had squeaked by Amarillo College once by two and again by three in the last two meetings between the Western Junior College Conference rivals, and even some of the Chaparrals expressed some apprehension before the game. Maybe that's why Midland blew the Badgers out of the Chaparral Center, 88-62. Thursday night...the Chaps were running scared and it showed. In fact, it had ceased to be a contest long before Junior Miller, the Atlanta Falcons' Pro Bowl tight end, had even finished autographing pictures in the fover.

ALTHOUGH THE Chaps missed seven of their first eight shots from the field and trailed 6-2, the game, for all practical purposes, was one for the history books with nine minutes still left in the half. MC, by this time had taken charge 25-13 and held sway 37-23 at half.

The game deteriorated into a foul shooting contest in the second half, an

JOHNSON LED the Chaps with 15 points, hitting seven of nine from the field, while Puntus Wilson scored 14. Every Chap crashed the scoring column with Ernie Tate and Raleigh Freeman each contributing 10.

For AC, Tom Sewell was 8-for-10 from the floor and 6-for-6 from the line for 22, but he was the only Badger threat.

Midland College, 10th ranked in the nation, raised its record to 24-2 for the season and 12-2 in WJCC, running its winning streak to seven since a pair of two-point losses. And only Clarendon and NMJC have managed to come as close as 14 points of the Chaps during that stretch.

Amarillo slumped to 14-13 and 6-8 with a loss that a serious blow to their Region V tournament hopes.

Stone, of course, was referring to Monday's game at Big Spring against Howard College...

By TERRY WILLIAMSON Sports Writer

The Midland Lee Rebels are at the cross road of the District 5-5A basketball season, needing every victory they can muster, as they head to the Chaparral Center today for an 8 p.m. clash with the Abilene Cooper Eagles.

Realistically, the district race is over for the Rebels if they fall in this one because Midland High, who travels to Abilene High tonight, would

But Lee has more on its mind for this game than just the district race. In the first half schedule, the flu-ridden Rebs fell to Cooper by a 56-44 margin. Coach Paul Stueckler thinks his team is better than that showing indicated. "We were a sick team in that game, but I don't think it should have made that much difference," he said a big 57-43 margin in Midland. The Rebels are hitting better and competing better.

Both Lee and Cooper are hanging over the cliff going into this one. Both own 1-1 second half records. Lee is 12-17 for the year and Cooper is 13-13. The game may be heard locally on KBAT-FM Radio.

MEANWHILE, the Bulldogs of MHS, who have thus far dominated 5-5A play with nine straight confer-almost awesome basketball in their last three outings, winning by wide margins over Lee, Odessa Permian and Big Spring. But there is a built-in danger for this meeting with the 0-2 and 15-12 Eagles. The 'Dogs travel to San Angelo Tuesday for a meeting with the Bobcats, who carried MHS to three overtimes in the first half before finally losing.

beating AHS in an easy 71-51 romp. But Abilene High has some talent and is capable of destroying the Bulldog momentum if they aren't ready to play.

IF MHS defeats Abilene High tonight, the San Angelo-Midland High matchup Tuesday could very well be for the second half title.

San Angelo, who has had close calls to both Cooper and Lee in the second half, is tied with MHS at 2-0 in the second half round. They should maintain that pace tonight when they meet Odessa High, winless in league play and 4-24 on the season.

Odessa Permian and Big Spring meet in the other matchup, and the loser can forget about any title shot.

Drugs crumble Henderson

DALLAS (AP) - Thomas Henderson's failure to make it in professional football was due, in large part, to a $1,000-a-day cocaine habit which he is now trying to cure in an out-of-state hospital, the Dallas Times Herald reported in a copyright story today.

"Drugs have been a major contribution to my downfall," the former Dallas Cowboys linebacker told the newspaper after checking into the hospital's drug rehabilitation program under an assumed name.

Henderson, who gave himself the nickname "Hollywood" during his rookie year with the Cowboys, told Times Herald staff writer Frank Luksa he had been using narcotics in one form or another for the past 14 years, and since 1975 had begun to use a half-ounce of cocaine a day.

"I found myself past the point of doing drugs. Drugs were doing me,' he told the newspaper. A Dallas narcotics officer contacted by the newspaper said buying that much cocaine on the streets here would cost about $1,250 a day and Henderson acknowledged his habit was costing a staggering amount of money.

"Drugs almost forced me into bankruptcy," he said.

In the past 15 months, Henderson was kicked off the Cowboys, waived by the San Francisco 49ers and rejected by the Houston Oilers who failed to offer him a new contract.

His marriage has broken up, he was a defendant in two lawsuits and his north Dallas home, now vacant, is for sale, Henderson said.

"Drugs just got me. When a person realizes he has a problem - well, it's like if your arm stinks. You offend yourself first. I was doing it but I hated myself. I was beginning to be two people - the straight Thomas and the high Hollywood.

He told the newspaper he decided to seek professional help last month, the Monday after Super Bowl XV, and called Charles Jackson, assistant director of security for the National Football League.

That led to arrangements for his hospital commitment 10 days ago, and he could spend his 28th birthday - March 1 - still in the facility, he said.

"I decided whatever the cost or risk I would put myself in a drug rehabilitation program," he said. "I'm trying to be bigger than this.

Henderson said his drug use tripled

after Cowboy coach Tom Landry

Then, in Houston, Henderson got "I'd like to ask people to pray for into a fight with teammate Mike me. I need their prayers. I'm in a bad Stensrud: way but I'm hanging in there."

Oilers.

"I was coming down from drugs and he called me a 'dog.' I told him not to again, he did and I hit him."

Sutton may blow relaxed atmosphere of Houston Astros

If you think the Houston Astros are a low-keyed organization, just wait for the 1981 baseball season -Don Sutton is now wearing the splattered Orange.

Free agent Sutton came from the Los Angeles Dodgers to the Astros in December after signing a fouryear contract for in excess of $3 million, and if the 35-year-old pitcher proved anything during his Midland visit Tuesday, it was that Houston better be prepared to change its image.

Oh, Sutton never said that Houston needed an image change, but he has played under the lights of Hollywood so long that it doesn't take long to get the message.

I mean Sutton signed with the Houston Astros and he doesn't even know who is on first base, and at this point, the Astros probably don't know either. It was reported recently that all first base candidates were taking boxing lessons just in case they become well known. And Sutton, knows he's going to be lonely on the mound because Dodger manager Tommy Lasorda was left back in L.A. and Astro manager Bill Virdon certianly isn't going to trek to the mound every inning or two to check out the TV camera angles.

"Yea, I played in Los Angeles for 15 years and I learned a few things. You don't ever, and I mean ever, punch a Steve Garvey (the popular Dodger first baseman). And you don't ever take Lasorda out to lunch if you don't want to pick up the tab," Sutton said.

THIS IS the personality with the famous fists and arm who is leaving the big lights for the big bucks. But how long can Houston stay out of the limelight with a Don Sutton in town?

"I put in 15 years with the Dodger organization and I hated to leave," Sutton revealed, "but it really wasn't my decision. It was their decision. They decided. I would have stayed if they had come up with the money

"But I would play in Wink for the money Dr. (John) McMullen is paying me.

But why the Astros, Don? You even confirmed that Houston wasn't among the top two offers.

"Well, hindsight is great, but as I look back on it, Houston was my only real choice. Houston is a contending team and I didn't want to play for a loser. The Astrodome is a pitcher's ball park and I've been known to give up a homer or two during the course of the season (an average of 25 a year). They have an agressive defense and an excellent bullpen. I never did mind not getting the victory, but I hate to take a loss. And the atmosphere is more relaxed than in L.A. or New York.'

What's that again, Don? You really want a relaxed atmosphere? "I'm serious. I always wanted to retire to Texas. When we were negotiating with teams last December, we were to stop in Houston first and then to meet with New York (Yankees) and Montreal. We never left Houston and that made George (Steinbrenner, owner of the Yankees) very mad. He gets mad when he can't buy what he wants.

"L.A. had the Hollywood atmosphere and every game was like a grand opening. You can get tired of that after a while. I know I'll like Houston because I can pitch and not worry about that kind of stuff."

BUT SUTTON has to go back to L.A. (he always refers to Los Angeles as L.A.) and play now that he is with the Astros. Does that present a problem?

"Pitching again in L.A. is a scary thought," Sutton says without flinching. "I want to pitch against them in the opening series, but I don't want to start on opening night. I know one thing, that's all the writers will be writing about when the Astros get out there and I can understand that. After the first inning, I know I'm going to end up in the Dodger dugout. It's so natural to make that right-handed turn off the mound. I'll probably be right there with Lasorda with every TV camera in the world recording the event and I won't even know the difference.'

Sutton said he is goal oriented, but he also said that he has not formulated his goals for 1981. But he doesn't sound like he doesn't have any goals.

"I want to start 35 games and average seven innings per start. I have 230 victories and I would like to win 300 games before I retire. They will have to scrape me off the mound before I quit," he starts. "I've been in the World Series four times and four times I've had to go to the winning dressing room and tell them how great they are. Just once, I would like somebody come tell me how great I am."

If Sutton gets his wish, he's going to blow that relaxed atmosphere. And Virdon may have to quit baseball and start coaching football with Tom Landry to keep his straight-faced image. And if that happens, look for Lasorda to become a free agent and headed for Houston. He knows all the camera angles.

MHS girls recover from slow start to down AHS, 50-44

By MIKE CRUVER Sports Writer

For the first ten minutes of the Midland High-Abilene High game Thursday night the Bulldogs played as if they were trying to set girls' basketball back 50 years before rallying to take a 50-44 District 5-5A win in the MHS gym.

MHS scored the first two buckets then went into a slump. Handling the ball like it was a hot potato and rebounding like they were glued to the floor, the Purple Pack fell behind 17-6 with 6:04 left in the half.

WITH 5:38 left in the half, Lucy Miller grabbed an offensive rebound and stuck it back in. The play seemed to arouse the slumbering Bulldogs as they proceeded to rip off eight unanswered points to whittle the Eagle's lead to 17-14.

Stephane Jones dropped in a free throw to break AHS's scoring slump. MHS was not done vet.

Diane Hogan hit a jumper in the lane to cut the margin to 18-16. Shelia Christian made a great steal and hit Connie Caton for an easy two to knot the ball game at 18. At the intermission the game was even at 22. In the third quarter, Abilene's Sonya Roberts netted three straight points to give the Eagles a 33-30 advantage with 3:05 left in the quarter.

AGAIN THE Pack came back. With Christian, Hogan, Lucy Miller and Caton hitting buckets, MHS outscored the Eagles 8 to 1 to take a 38-34 lead into the final period.

Hogan hit two quick buckets and Christian added another as the Bulldogs stretch the lead to 42-35. The Eagles won't through and battled back to within three,

42-39, with 4:45.

Hogan's play on the offensive end of the floor and the team's defensive play kept the Eagles at bay as the Bulldogs escaped with the win.

Janice Littlefield led the Bulldogs with 14 points while Hogan tossed in 12. Tracy Hubbard netted 16 points and Sonya Roberts added 13 tallies for the losers. Midland High hit 23 of 54 from the floor, including a chilly 3 of 13 in the opening stanza.

The Purple Pack raised its second-half district mark to 4-2 and season ledger to 15-16. Abilene slips to 3-3 in the district

MIDLAND HIGH will be looking to even its season record at .500 in the season finale Monday when the Bulldogs host Big Spring. Despite the win, MHS was eliminated from the district title race since Midland Lee defeated Abilene Cooper Thursday. The Bulldogs' junior varsity kept its second-half district record unblemished with a 59-40 win over the Eagles.

Brenda Mitchell's crew was led by Becky Caton with 14 points while Sharon Mendenhall added 13 and Lisa Bowers netted nine plus playing a strong floor game. Sharla Gilmore paced the Eagles with 15 points and Lizzie Morris added 11 in the losing effort.

ABILENE - The Midland Lee girls basketball team all but nailed down the second half District 5-5A cage title here Thursday night with a 46-37 victory over the Abilene Cooper Cougars.

Lee now owns a perfect 6-0 second half record and a 19-10 season mark. The Rebel gals need only a victory over hapless Big Spring Monday to take the second half title and Big Spring has not won a league outing in 13 tries.

San Angelo won the first half title with a 7-0 mark, but will have to face Lee in a district playoff battle later next week if Lee beats Big Spring Monday to see which team would enter the state playoffs. #### James Silas guns down Atlanta with last shot SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - Everyone in He- in," the relieved Silas said later.

misFair Arena, including the Atlanta Hawks, was expecting the San Antonio Spurs to go to James Silas for the winning shot.

Two Hawks jumped in Silas' face at the critical moment, but with seven seconds left he connected on a 15-footer anyway and the Spurs won a 110-109 squeaker that kept alive a 16-game homecourt victory streak.

"The key shot of the game was Silas'," said Hawks guard John Drew, one of two defenders unable to stop the Spurs' captain. "We were all over him and he still put it in. We played a great game tonight. What made the difference was Silas' last shot."

"I got the kind of shot I wanted and I was surprised when Drew ran at me, but fortunately the shot went

"It was a very even game," said Atlanta Coach Hubie Brown. "Silas made that big shot on our double team.'

But Brown was upset that the referees did not whistle a foul on last-second shots by Drew and Steve Hawes that could have given Atlanta the triumph had they gone in.

"We got a big shot from Hawes with two seconds left in the game. He was definitely fouled and everyone in the arena knew it," Brown complained

Referees Ed Middleton and Bruce Alexander, however, were not bashful with their whistles throughout most of the physical encounter, sending players to the line for 84 foul shots. Atlanta

Atlanta battled back to take one-point leads twice in the third quarter, but San Antonio held on for an 86-81 lead entering the deciding period.

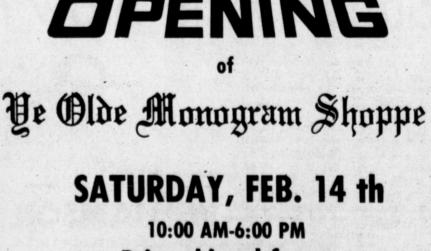

San Antonio led by six midway through the final period, but the Hawks whittled away the lead until Eddie Johnson canned an 18-foot jumper to put Atlanta ahead 107-106 with 1:51 left. Mark Olberding gave the Spurs the lead back with a 15-footer 49 seconds later.

Wes Matthews countered with a 10-foot jumper with 21 seconds left to put Atlanta ahead 109-108 and set the stage for Silas' heroics.

Silas and Olberding scored 19 points apiece, and Ron Brewer came off the bench to add 18 as San Antonio upped its Midwest Division-leading record to 39-21.

Matthews paced Atlanta with 19, Hawes had 17 and Johnson wound up with 16 as the Hawks lost the ninth of their last 10 road games.

Nance pulls CMSU team off cage floor

WARRENSBURG, Mo. (AP) - Central Missouri State University basketball Coach Lynn Nance hopes his players won't be intimidated by a disturbance at Charleston, Ill.

A brawl broke out during the Mules' game at Eastern Illinois University Wednesday night. Nance pulled his team off the court with 6:46 remaining and EIU ahead 59-51.

The game was declared a forfeit, and dropped Central's record to 17

"I certainly think it could be a factor in the future from the standpoint of intimidation," Nance said Thursday. A CMSU statement said he left "in view of the physical safety of his athletes."

'Anytime you go on the road to play in athletics there is always the possibility of the home team and the crowd intimidating you and you not being able to play the way you're capable of playing," Nance said.

Norton gains

Avon semifinals OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) - Beth

Norton finds herself in unfamiliar surroundings today: the semifinals of a major tennis tournament.

The 23-year-old woman fought past Pam Teegarden 7-5, 6-3 Thursday, winning the first quarterfinal match in the $125,000 Avon Championships of California

No. 2 seed Andrea Jaeger continued her advance as well, bombing Sweden's Nina Bohm 6-4, 6-2 to win a quarterfinal berth against Britain's Sue Barker tonight

The seventh-seeded Barker was forced into three tough sets to beat Odessa's Sandy Collins, winning 4-6, 7-5, 6-4.

It was the first time the former top-ranked U.S. amateur has reached the semifinals of a major tournament, and Norton had to do it the hard way, starting with a qualifying round victory over Lea Antonoplis and a firstround upset of No.4 seed Kathy Jordan

"I began changing things around about a year and a half ago, including the switch to a two-handed backhand," she said. "It took a long time but things are turning out for the better now.'

Hot rounds produce different thoughts

HONOLULU (AP) - Bruce Lietzke ot 66, was tied for the first round ad in the Hawaiian Open and was just as pleased as could be.

Tom Watson shot 66, was tied for the first round lead in the Hawaiian Open and wasn't pleased at all. "It's pretty incredible, but it's fun," Lietzke said Thursday after running his string of consecutive rounds at par or better to 15.

"I'm just going to continue to keep on playing and see how long I can run this streak."

AND, WHILE Watson had the same score, his reaction was the other side of the coin

"I played like a clown," said the man who has led the PGA Tour in money winnings and been named golf's Player of the Year for the past four seasons

"The results were great but the execution was poor. "Nothing is working in my swing. I don't really know what it is. I think it's tempo. I'm too fast. It's just something I have to work out.

Oregon State becoming efficient scoring machine

By The Associated Press

Coach Ralph Miller believes his undefeated Oregon State Beavers have reached a peak, and they appear well on their way to becoming the most efficient scoring machine ever in college basketball.

The Beavers hit 72 percent from the floor, including nine of their first 10 shots, Thursday night to beat Oregon 78-61.

In other games involving Top 10 teams, fifth-ranked Arizona State downed Southern Cal 77-61, sixthranked Utah beat San Diego State

In addition, 6-foot-101/2 senior Steve Johnson is taking aim at a pair of individual marks. Johnson, who paced the Beavers with 20 points against cross-state rival Oregon, is hitting field goals at a rate of more than 76 percent, five points better than his NCAA record of 71 percent. set last season. And he currently has a 67.2 career percentage pace that threatens to beat Bill Walton's record of 65.1 "I think we have progressed as far as we can," Miller said nonchalantly, adding he was particularly pleased with the play of Jeff Stoutt, who hit eight of nine field goal attempts for 18 points. "The only weak link we have, we have had for some time. That's Jeff, and he's come back out of the doldrums.' The victory gave Oregon State a 20-0 record, 12-0 in the Pacific-10 Conference. The Beavers hit nine of their first 13 shots of the second half to lead 53-36 with 14 minutes to play. Felton Sealey topped Oregon with 12 points.

"It's one of those things that you go through. All you can do is work on it and hope it doesn't last too long." Tied with Lietzke, a two-time winner already this year, and Watson were Jay Haas, Scott Simpson and Jon Chaffee, also at 6 under par on the 6,881 yard Waialae Country Club course that Watson said "played about as easy as it can. I'm just surprised the scores weren't even lower.'

A SINGLE stroke off the lead at 67 were Don January, Terry Diehl, Pat McGowan, Doug Tewell, Bill Kratzert and Terry Mauney.

The big group at 68 included Hale Irwin, Ben Crenshaw, John Mahaffey, Ed Sneed, Jim Simons, Leonard Thompson, Don Bies and Bruce Douglass.

Andy Bean was another shot back at 69, 3 under par but well off the devastating pace he set last year when he shot a tournament record 22 under

"If the weather stays like this, the record is in jeopardy," said Watson. And the weather was near-perfect, warm and sunny with gentle trade winds scarcely strong enough to ruswater on the third hole, made double bogey and struggled most of the rest of the way, including a 25-foot parsaving putt on the 17th.

"I WAS very fortunate to shoot 66," he said. "If I continue to play like I did today, it would take a miracle for me to shoot another one.

Lietzke, on the other hand, didn't have a bogey. He reeled off three consective birdies early in the round, all on putts of less than two feet, picked up two more off wedge shots that stopped close to he flags and closed out with a 20-footer on the final

"I got it going early with those three birdies and it kind of took the pressure off," Lietzke said. "I just want to keep it going."

Two of baseball's best catchers are on the receiving end of some good news.

Carlton Fisk won his fight for free agency with the Boston Red Sox and Rick Cerone won his salary arbitration with the New York Yankees Thursday.

The results mean more money for both.

After the ruling by arbitrator Ray Goetz, the Red Sox promised "an all-out effort" in trying to re-sign their veteran backstop, a longtime favorite in Boston.

'We will make an effort, that's the bottom line," said Red Sox General Manager Haywood Sullivan. "I think we've still got a pretty good chance to sign him ... he wants to stay here and we want him here. Hopefully, we'll get together very soon.

The 33-year-old Fisk would have become a 10-year veteran with the Red Sox during the 1981 season. However, he sought free-agency after the Red Sox mailed him his 1981 contract last Dec. 22, two days after the deadline. Don Fehr, counsel for the Major League Players Association, said it was his understanding that Goetz ruled Fisk a free agent because the Red Sox missed the deadline.

The Red Sox recently offered Fisk a multiyear contract that would have paid him, including incentive clauses, nearly $500,000 a season. While Fisk was winning his freedom, Cerone was winning arbitration that will result in a salary of $440,000 for 1981. The Cerone award was the highest this year, topping the $395,000 won by California first baseman Jason Thompson earlier.

The Yankees had offered $350,000 to Cerone, who batted .277 with 14 home runs and 77 runs batted in last season.

The Red Sox, meanwhile, signed five players, including Glenn Hoffman, who is expected to replace the traded Rick Burleson at shortsop. The Red Sox also signed outfielder Gary Hancock and pitchers John Tudor, Bruce Hurst and Keith MacWhorter. In other baseball developments, the Angels announced that seven players had either signed or agreed to terms: infielders Butch Hobson and Dickie Thon, pitchers Steve Renko, Don Aase, Chris Knapp and Mike Witt and outfielder Tom Brunansky.

Infielder Junior Kennedy signed a one-year contract with the Cincinnati Reds, thus avoiding arbitration that was scheduled for Thursday. The Chicago White Sox announced the signing of second baseman Tony Bernazard and catcher Marc Hill.

Right fielder Ellis Valentine, coming off an injury-plagued season with the Montreal Expos, agreed to terms for 1981. The Pittsburgh Pirates announced that outfielder Mike Easler signed a multiyear contract.

The Times saluted its new owner, a 49-year-old Australian, as "the most powerful figure" in Fleet Street, the hub of Britain's newspaper industry. He already owns the country's biggest daily paper, the tabloid Sun, and its biggest Sunday paper, the News of the World.

Murdoch, who also owns the New York Post and a string of Australian papers, announced Thursday night that he was going ahead with the purchase of the papers and three weekly supplements from Lord Thomson of Fleet, the Canadian press magnate whose father bought them in 1966. Thomson put them up for sale last October after years of union wrangles and heavy financial losses.

The price, believed to be about $35 million, was to be announced today after the sale was completed. The papers' losses are expected to total more than $46 million in the current fiscal year, with most of that lost by the daily Times.

Murdoch jubilantly announced that the way had been cleared for the purchase by agreements with the printing unions for staff cuts, a threemonth wage freeze, new printing methods within six months and printing the supplements outside London, in a city where the cost will be lower. Attorney Sam Moreau and former Small Business Administration official Bob Perry were found guilty Thursday after 14 hours of jury deliberations in U.S. District Court. The trial lasted nine days. Prosecutors said Moreau made false statements in

Arlington youth wins leukemia fight

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - Doctors call him "Super Trooper," his mother says he is a "miracle boy." But 12-year-old Tony Muller is, moore than anything else, a survivor.

Of the 29 leukemia patients who have had bone-marrow transplants at the Fred Hutchinson cancer research center in Seattle, Tony is one of six still alive.

His doctors say that Tony apparently has beaten the odds in his 3-year fight with the deadly blood disorder.

The freckle-faced, brown-eyed Arlington youth has been clear of cancer for 23 months as of this week, and his prognosis looks good, his parents

"It's been almost two years since the transplant and the doctors don't think the cancer will return," said Mrs. Muller, who refers to her hardy son as "our miracle boy."

But Tony's battle has not been an easy one, although he has taken everything in stride.

"At the time, I didn't know exactly what leukemia was," he said. "They told me it was a blood disorder. It was no big deal, we'd just do what had to be done to straighten it out"

When the disease was diagnosed on April 5, 1978, doctors started chemotherapy immediately. Tony was in and out of Children's Medical Center in Dallas until that May when a bonemarrow test was performed and doctors announced that the boy had gone into full remission.

But in January 1979, the darkhaired youngster relapsed and doctors gave his parents three alternatives - take him home and make his last few months as comfortable as possible; start chemotherapy, although his resistance was so low that infection would probably set and and kill him; or take him to Seattle for a bone-marrow transplant at the Hutchinson Center, where the process was pioneered.

The Mullers checked into the research center in Seattle February 1979, where Tony's sister Teresa, now 14. was to be the bone-marrow donor. The match was perfect, except for blood type

After four days of radiation and two days of cytoxin injections to kill all cells in the bone marrow, Tony un-derwent a complete body blood exchange changing his blood type from O positive to A negative, with the white blood cells coming from his father.

After 2 days in the hospital and another 60 days in an apartment on the hospital grounds, Tony and his mother returned to Arlington. But two days later he was in Children's Medical Center with CMV - transplant pneumonia.

When he was released 14 days later, Tony had, become the fourth known survivor of the rare CMV disease. But the boy's problems didn't end there. He contracted hepatitis in September 1979, lost all his hair as the result of a raging 105-degree fever and couldn't take any pain medication because of his existing liver problems.

Then in November, a liver biopsy confirmed GVH - a sign that his liver was trying to reject the cells from his sister.

The family returned to the Seattle research center in October 1980 and test results showed no cancer and no sign of cell rejection

Today, his parents say, there are still no signs of cancer, but Tony is still fighting the liver ailment. Throughout the ordeal, Tony has kept his head up, his mother said. "He's never been taken up with his illness. He's never been down in the dumps," she added. "His attitude has always been very positive and he " wouldn't let those around him get down."

His courage earned him the nickname "Super Trooper," from doctors, nurses and those who treated him at Children's Medical Center.

And in spite of the leukemia, Tony has remained a fairly typical 12-yearold boy, his parents said. He wiggles and fidgets and harasses his sister about the amount of time she spends on the phone.

Before leukemia was diagnosed, he played football and soccer. But doctors have told him that contact sports are now out of the question. Chemotherapy made his bones too brittle.

But the seventh-grader hasn't given up.

CDC inspects bra plant after mysterious illness

BUFORD, Ga. (AP) - Experts from the national Centers for Disease Control converged today on Lovable Co.'s bra manufacturing plant here to seek the cause of a mysterious illness that struck 41 workers.

Officials said the plant would be closed until the cause of the illness is determined

"We have just about ruled out natural gas or formaldehyde," Gwinnett County Fire Chief Ray Madison said Thursday night. One fireman also became ill while checking out the plant, he said.

Madison said he believed the problem was some form of chemical, rather than a bacterial, agent. He said most of those affected improved quickly when taken out of the plant and into fresh air.

Five of the 31 who became ill Thur day remaine hospitalized overnight, according to John Hughes, administrator of the Gwinnett County hospital system. The others were treated and released.

The employees complained of head-aches and dizziness, said Oscar Price, director of human resources for the Gwinnett County Hospital System.

The plant employs about 515 work-ers, officials said.

Thursday marked the second time in three days that workers at the plant have been hospitalized.

On Monday, more than 10 employees were treated for inhalation of a substance thought to be natural gas, Price said. All but one or two of those hospitalized Monday have been released, he said.

The employees were overcome after a forklift punctured a heater inside the plant, said Jeff Diefenderfer. company comptroller.

Schools preparing notices on new lunch program rules

Public schools in the district are now preparing notices for hundreds of parents and guardians who no longer qualify for free and reduced-priced meals under new federal regulations enacted in January

Effective March 2, the price of a reduced lunch will double from 10 to 20 cents. Reduced breakfast prices will remain the same at 10 cents, but many parents who formerly qualified for the program will no longer be eligible Hardship cases which included high housing costs, medical, special education and disaster costs have been removed as reasons for qualifying for a free and reduced-price lunch and breakfast.

Under former eligibility standards, students from one-parent/one-child homes whose income was $6,900 or less qualified for free meals, and reduced prices were available for one-child/one-parent families with incomes from $6,900 to $10,760. Under the old rules, annual family income could range as high as $26,440 for families with eight or more members.

New guidelines have changed the lower income range for free lunches for one-parent/one-child families to $5,700 and the reduced lunch for oneparent/one-child families to $8,350. Families with as many as eight members can now qualify for free lunches with an income of $16,370, while reduced-price lunches for such a family will be available only to those in the $16,370 to $25,000 income group

New guidelines are designed to help those in greatest need, says Food Services Director Vivian Busley. She added that all families involved in the change will be sent a letter of notification.
