Nugent labels oil production 'favorable'

By M.A. JAMAL Oil Staff

Texas Railroad Commission Chairman James E. "Jim" Nugent, in an upbeat mood, informed Permian Basin oilmen Wednesday that an "an eight-year decline in the state's oil production has been halted and favorable oil and gas production returns stabilized."

Nugent, addressing a luncheon marking the opening of Baker Oil Treating sales headquarters in Midland, backed his contention with elaborate colored charts.

He traced the history of the commission and said it "was created to bring the railroads to heel and to serve the public in a reasonable economic position without stifling com-

He added that, in fact, the commission became the depository of all the controversial issues of the day. If anything was too hot to handle, he explained, the commission inherited it. In a tongue-in-cheek remark, he said "everybody loves us. We have never disappointed anyone.'

The chairman detailed the role of the regulatory agency as a go-between for the risk-taker and the bureaucrats in Austin and Washington. His people have been very fortunate, he said, in having an "excellent working relationship with the industry."

As for the bureacrats, it is a different story. Rather than working with them, fighting is the "norm" of the day. Saying that he is always ready for a good fight, Nugent characterized their attitude to "lack of experience and knowledge" of the industry and the "damn Yankee viewpoint of tight sand."

According to Nugent, some of the their arguments center around "erecting six-foot fences around drilling rigs" and efforts to "exclude all drilling from Texas tight sand forma-

Discussing other minerals, Nugent . pointed out Texas was the first state to regulate lignite mining and the biggest in uranium mining in the coun-

Nugent, noting the favorable climate of the oil industry, reviewed the past two years and said that the petroleum industry had moved from "stagnation, confusion and malaise" to "optimism bordering on eupho-

He mentioned a record breaking national rig count, with more than 7,300 drilling permit requests for Texas the first two months this year. That represented, he said, over 180 requests per day, or 50 percent above

But the best news of all, according to Nugent, is the "stabilization of oil production over the five-month period starting last September through January this year." January is the last month for which production figures are published.

Production each month, he said, was around 21/2 million barrels per month. He termed the trend "fortuitous" but cautioned against excessive optimism because the turnaround came when the state's production had been declining at an average rate of 300,000 barrels per month. He attributed this to "common sense" being restored in Washington and the free market forces finally gaining equilibrium over inefficiency and mismanagement after a decade of price and marketing controls. Answering a question from the audience, Nugent said that with drilling rates soaring sky-high and, notwithstanding the fact that his was one of the most important state agencies, "the commission's budget did not match the enormous responsibility thrust upon it."

According to Nugent, the RRC's trained staff is limited, turnover high, morale low and the salaries non-competitive. To rectify this situation, the Texas legislature this month will consider a substantial increase in the commission's budget. Nugent is "confident of its passage."

Returning to his theme of a free and unfettered market situation, the chairman warned the audience not to lower its vigilance because, he explained, in the face of future supply problems, "it will be up to the industry to prove itself, if the nation is to be kept off the panic button of new con-

Participants in the White House meeting spanned 43 years of March of Dimes history. They ranged from the National Poster Child in 1947, when March of Dimes efforts were targeted to defeat polio, to the current 1981 poster child.

Tracy's poster era is carefully documented in family albums detailing his more than 40,000 miles of excursions around the country to pose with politicians, athletes and military

There are several similarities between the two men, the major one being that they grew up in the Tall Election city council

City, both graduating from Midland High School. Alstrin was about two years ahead of Hatfield.

THEY BOTH CAME back to Midland after leaving for college and other work. And they decided almost at the same time that Midland's growth needed guidance.

Alstrin was in Houston and could see the boom coming for Midland when the Arab oil embargo was announced in 1973. The situation, he says, would be similar to Houston's burst of growth. Controlling that growth and being able to shape it in the proper fashion is what prompt-

Back in 1947, Midland was a sleepy town with few paved streets. "Now we're a city and we need to think and act like a city," Hatfield says.

Alstrin is expecting Midland's population to mushroom to 250,000 by 1990 only nine years away. "There's a

Haig doesn't need 'obituary'

WASHINGTON (AP) - Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. said today "the time has now come to get on" with the conducting of American foreign policy, apparently putting aside his differences with the Reagan White House over management of foreign policy crises.

"I have always been and remain in full agreement with President Reagan's substantive approach to foreign policy," Haig told a congressional subcommit-

Reports that he had threatened to resign were "not true," the secretary said, and referring to widespread speculation that he might step down, he added, "As you see, the obituary was wrong."

Haig did say there was some confusion between himself and the president on the naming of Vice President George Bush to head a new crisis management team, and that Reagan didn't notify him until after the decision had been

"I would say there was some confusion with respect to what he thought I knew, and what I thought he knew, but that's a minor problem," Haig told reporters after his appearance before a Senate subcommittee.

The secretary told a House panel Tuesday he had not been consulted about the decision to put Bush in charge of the team and that he had read newspaper accounts of the new system with a "lack of enthusiasm."

Haig's testimony before the Senate Appropriations subcomittee on foreign operations seemed to indicate some reservations about the structure of the crisis-management team. Nevertheless, he said the substance of foreign policy is what counts and declared he would back Reagan completely in his foreign policy actions.

very compatible with the president's, if not identical." Haig said, adding that he could not think of any foreign-policy differences that have Several senators urged Haig to detail further his disagreement with the White House on crisis-management structure, but he refused.

"I think more than enough has been said on this subject," Haig said. "From my point of view, I'm anxious to get on with the conduct of American foreign policy under the arrangement discussed yesterday (Wednesday) by the president. I think it's in the interests of the American people."

Haig also made clear, however, that he won't be excluded from the crisis-management process, saying the president would be the one to determine what kind of crisis should be managed by the new system and "I anticipate I will be bringing him, if it's a foreign policy issue, information on which he will make that judgment.

Tracy's condition is an exception in comparison to most children who have been born with similar defects due to the help of repeated operations to close his spine and alleviate water pressure from his head. "He has done exceptionally well," said Mrs. Greenwood. "Seventy percent of these kids who are born like Tracy don't live. Those that do live, often have only half a mind."

However, Tracy has developed an acute awareness of details and his first trip to Washington is still vivid in his mind, especially his daily discussions with the Lincoln Memorial.

"I wanted to look around in Washington and see some of the places I saw 12 years ago. The Washington Monument and the Lincoln Memorial would mean a lot more to me now,' Tracy said.

Although he now knows the Lincoln Memorial is only stone, perhaps he wanted to recapture his five-year-old possibility that could happen" and the council needs to start planning for that today, he maintains.

"WE NEED TO PLAN for the growth of the city; really take a look down the road," says Alstrin. "Look at Houston's freeway system; the man who designed it had foresight, but not enough.

New ideas for Midland already aren't far behind those being implemented in Dallas and Houston, he says, pointing to one company's request for a helipad on top of a downtown office building here.

Hatfield, too, first looks to the street and traffic problems.

"As a businessman, I feel we need to evaluate better the closing of streets. The city closed Midkiff Road to Dellwood Mall during its key retail season - Christmas. Downtown parking is a problem and we need to look at the traffic situation. We're paying professionals to come in and tell us what's wrong. Now, let's do something about it.

"I would have to evaluate the issue of one-way streets. I know a lot of big cities are going to them," he says.

RELOCATING MIDLAND Air Park should be one of the city's primary undertakings in the near future, in Alstrin's opinion:

"It's a dangerous situation and will get worse. We'll have to put it several miles from where it is, but do it when it's economically feasible. I see more (air) traffic out there increasing. The issue needs to be addressed, rather than ignored."

ston's pessimism.

Growing up on the south side and now living on the north side has given Hatfield a wide knowledge of the city's problems, he says.

Although the Objectives for Midland program last year designated south and east Midland as the target areas for redevelopment, Hatfield believes the city has waited too long to take action.

"I feel we need to encourage more small businesses and offices over there. We need to clean up and develop both areas of Midland," he adds. Hatfield pointed out Midland can't grow much more to the north before it crosses over into Martin County.

"So, we'll have to go east or west. We need to look ahead and plan for that. The city will continue to grow which way will we go?"

Alstrin foresees strong potential for south and east Midland. "Land is getting so high that people will start to look at land on Midland's south and east sides; it's cheaper," he ex-

HOUSING FOR low-income residents ranks as another problem in both candidates' minds. Hatfield, the son of a builder claims builders have encountered difficulties for years in getting land rezoned in south and east Midland. And "housing costs are just ridiculous. How can low and middle income families afford a house? There is definitely a need for low income housing."

Alstrin believes the market dictates the price of housing. "If the market dictates a lower-cost housing, you'll get it. It means smaller, minihousing. If there's a demand for low cost housing, someone will fill that

He adds that he sees a need for housing assistance for some people, but not for everyone. "I want to examine the need first and look at the problem.

Neither man wants to raise city taxes, but money will be needed to provide services.

Inflation, says Alstrin, will raise the taxes some, although the rate may not be going up. "We have a growing situation and you don't need to raise the tax rate. We haven't yet added all these new office buildings and homes to the tax base. And you upgrade the values every year."

HATFIELD CALLS for "fair and equal taxation for all Midlanders. We've got to face reality of fixing the streets and working on the downtown parking problem.'

Claiming to have no "pet peeve about anything specific with the City Council," Alstrin says he chose Place 1 for his campaign because Mrs. Howbert wasn't running again. "It's difficult to beat an incumbent. I had been thinking about running for a long time.

Alstrin's connection with John Billingsley, who is chairman of the board of Western State Bank, has raised the eyebrows of some citizens. They point to Alstrin and two candidates for Place 3 who also are connected to Billingsley, voicing a fear that Billingsley is attempting to influence the council. Calling the fear "ridiculous," Alstrin says, "I'm my own man, I won't let someone tell me what to do. I'm not employed by him, but by a board of directors." And if a Billingsley develpment came before the council, Alstrin says he would abstain. Hatfield says he was studying the possibility of running for Place 1 when Alstrin announced, and that action had nothing to do with his own

"I'm not after anyone; I have no axes to grind," he says. Instead, he believes the city has to become more aggressive.

He points out that the council presently doesn't have a businessman on the panel, with the others involved in the oil industry. "Someone has to represent the business community. But he wouldn't focus just on that segment of the community. 'I'm running to represent all the people," Hatfield says.

Social Security checks to rise 11.2 percent

WASHINGTON (AP) - The nation's 36 million Social Security recipients will get a cost-of-living increase in July, probably of 11.2 percent but possibly a bit more.

The increase, smaller than the 12.3 percent boost predicted by the Carter administration two months ago, would push the average monthly check up by at least $37 to $371.

The exact increase will not be known until the Consumer Price Index for March is released on April 23, but could be 11.3 percent or 11.4 percent if the index climbs at a double-digit pace as it did in Payments increase each July if the increase in the index exceeds 3 percent from the first quarter of one year to the first quarter of the next. Last July, benefits went up 14.3 percent, the biggest jump since Social Security was tied to the index in 1975.

The maximum monthly payment to a retiring 65-year-old worker would climb by at least $76 from $677 to at least $753 — $9,036 per year. If the worker has a spouse, the couple could collect combined payments half again as large, $1,130 a month or

To draw the top benefit, a just-retired worker would have to have been paying maximum Social Security taxes each year since 1959. Last year the tax reached a maximum of $1,589 on income of $25,900 and over; this year the maximum rises to $1,975 on incomes of $29,700 and over.

The average monthly payment to retired workers is now $334. An increase to $371 would make the yearly total $4,452. Again, that would be increased by one-half if the worker has a spouse

The Reagan administration has ruled out any attempt to pare this year's increase as part of its

Mayor tours temporary apartment

CHICAGO (AP) -Street gangs never again will get "the upper hand" at Cabrini-Green, says Mayor Jane Byrne, who is planning a move into the crime-plagued housing project within

And the mayor said Wednesday she was so pleased with her imprint on the area that she wants to get apartments at other troubled housing projects as well.

Preserving the division

The Central Intelligence Agency's original legislative charter, enacted by Congress in 1947, limited the CIA to overseas operations intended chiefly to gather information about the intentions and capabilities of foreign governments. Counterintelligence work within the United States was left to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

That was, and is, a division of labor worth preserving, even if some in the CIA and the Reagan administration would have it oth-

Recently, a proposed executive order that would have authorized domestic counterintelligence activities by the CIA was leaked to Congress and the press. The reaction on Capitol Hill and from no less a figure than Deputy CIA Director Adm. Bobby Inman was swift and wholly negative. Adm. Inman reportedly threatened to resign if the proposal was not repudiated by the Reagan administration.

The White House promptly denied any intention to involve the CIA in domestic operations. That announcement was greeted with applause and relief in Congress, where memories of the CIA's domestic surveillance during the Vietnam era are still fresh.

The draft executive order is now a dead letter, as it should

The members of an interagency study group that drew up the proposed order apparently believed that the CIA's expertise in foreign operations should be put to use in helping the FBI counter the activities of foreign spies and terrorists within the United States. Study group members may also have assumed that the CIA could operate with fewer legal restrictions on the use of wiretaps and other forms of surveillance.

While the threat posed by Soviet and other Communist-bloc agents and by international terrorists is real enough, there is no evidence yet that the FBI, operating within current legal restrictions designed to protect civil liberties, cannot cope with the problem. What may be needed is closer liaison between the CIA and the FBI as both agencies work within their separate spheres toward the same goal - protecting the security of the United States.

Weighing the risks

The Reagan administration and Chairman Paul A. Volcker of the independent Federal Reserve Board agree that inroads will be made this year against inflation.

Volcker expects the increase in the Consumer Price Index to be cut less than the three percentage points claimed as a goal by President Reagan and his advisers. He credits high interest rates for the expected decline.

David A. Stockman, the president's budget director, suggested that administration cost-cutting efforts played a part in a counterinflation trend already in evidence.

Volcker and Stockman share the belief that any progress in halting inflation will make further improvement easier. They also concede that risks are involved for both industry and consumers as a result of high interest rates and radical budget-cutting.

The stakes in the inflation war make the risks necessary - and acceptable.

Air Force without planes like a day without sunshine

One of the major reasons the U.S. armed forces are woefully short of every type of military equipment is that we have such a big heart, and we keep giving it away to countries who claim they need it more than we

If the U.S. military believes that the new Reagan appropriation requests are going to beef up their forces, they're in for a surprise.

I'was at one of the larger fighter aircraft companies, where several Air Force officers were eagerly waiting for the planes to come off the assembly line, when I saw the following scene:

A brand-new fighter came rolling out of the hangar, and one of the U.S. pilots jumped up on the wing.
"What the hell do you think you're doing?" a company foreman said. "I'm just looking over our new plane.

"That plane doesn't belong to you. The State Department has promised the first 20 to Saudi Arabia "When do we get ours?" he said.

The foreman looked over his order list. "After Saudi Arabia, the next 12 go to Chile, 14 have been set aside for Argentina, the following 15 have been allocated for Taiwan, and if we have any left over we're to ship them to South Yemen.

'Wait a minute. We came all the way from the East Coast to pick up these planes. We can't go back empty-

"I don't see anything here for the U.S. Air Force. Are you sure you're supposed to get American fighter planes?"

That was the whole idea of giving the Pentagon more money. Who's in charge around here?

"There's a fellow from the State Department over there. You might talk to him.

The head of the Air Force delegation went over to a man wearing striped pants and a tailcoat. "How come we're not getting any fighter planes from this plant?

"What country do you represent?" Striped Pants asked.

'The United States, dummy." "You don't have to be rude. We have certain priorities when it comes to the allocation of fighter planes. We have to see that our friends get them first."

"I don't get it. I thought the U.S. was trying to play catch-up with the Russians. What are we doing giving all our stuff away?

"If we don't give the Third World our best planes, the Soviets will start supplying them with MiGs. Therefore, it's in our national interest to see that every country in the Free World gets all the military equipment it asks for.

"What are we giving Chile and Argentina planes for?"

They both have military governments and need them to stay in power. With some countries it's a question of defense, with others it's a matter of prestige.

"What about Taiwan?" "We've always sent fighter planes to Taiwan. It's an old American tradition. "Look, fellow, the basis of American foreign policy is to-be able to face up to the Russians anywhere, any place. How do we do it if you keep giving away our new military equipment.

"We're aware of the problem, but no self-respecting military junta will take hand-me-downs. They want only the best military hardware that money can buy. If we gave the U.S. armed forces our newest equipment before we gave it to the Third World, they would be very insulted."

'So where does that leave the U.S. Air Force?"

"I think you'll get yours after Pakistan, or is it Jordan? I know your name came up as a possibility for fighters somewhere along the line."

"Isn't there any way we can get planes before Chile?"

"Colonel, it's absolutely out of the question. Where would we be today if we hadn't given Iran our first-class fighter planes years ago?"

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

'Sexscam' lobbyist's husband planning book

WASHINGTON - Paula Parkinson, the beguiling seductress in Washington's latest sex scandal, "likes to target particularly interesting men mostly those with titles - and then stalk them until she scores."-

This intriguing appraisal was written by her husband, lobbyist Hank Parkinson, in a confidential book proposal he has prepared for publishers. It has been reviewed by my associate Jack Mitchell.

Apparently, she scored with startling frequency. At "truth sessions" with her husband, she blithely confessed "intimate details about dozens of sexual experiences she had with some of America's biggest names" conquests that sometimes were recorded on videotapes that would make the FBI's ABSCAM tapes look like Sunday school materia

Hank describes his wife as a vivacious "live-for-the-moment girl," with a "stunningly beautiful face," who "can make 'please pass the butter' sound like an exciting proposi-

Three years ago he instructed her in the delicate art of lobbying and let her loose on the nation's capital. She would be expected, he explained, to "nail down commitments from lawmakers.

"Oh," she said sweetly, "I'm super at getting commitments." Her unique lobbying methods, as it happened, won the hearts if not the votes of an impressive host of lawmakers. These unhappy dignitaries are now waiting in a cold sweat for the memoirs she has threatened to publish.

A rueful Hank Parkinson has misgivings over what he has wrought. "I unwittingly created a sexual Frankenstein on Capitol Hill ..." he writes. "It's hard to believe a woman who couldn't give a basic definition of lobbying just three short years ago could not only have extracted commitments from some of our top congressmen but could lay claim to video-taping some of them in various sexual antics as well.

A CHANGING WORLD

'Truth of the matter' detailed in Hans Roeper's article

Some newspaper editorial pages these days frequently feature socalled guest columns by college professors and left-wing non-journalists and these writings often are dedicated to denunciation of America and all it stands for.

With such writings as a continuing irritant to this observer, it was all the more refreshing to read recently a piece in the English-language Ger-man Tribune entitled "A Time to Remember the Forgotten Ameri-

What the Tribune did was translate from German a commentary first published on June 5, 1972, in the Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung, and written by the late Hans Roeper, a famed West German journalist of the 1960s and '70s. The Frankfurt newspaper had decided Roeper's story was worth reprinting in 1981, on the 100th anniversary of the birth of U.S. Gen. George C. Marshall, author of the Marshall Plan that enabled all of Europe to recover from the ravages of World War II.

Roeper got directly to the point in his anguish over those, U.S. citizens included, who delight in running down America. "In all countries," he wrote, "there is a widespread inclination to condemn the Americans out of hand. Young people in particular see the United States as the incarnation of imperialism."

U.S. brashness does not escape

unscathed, and Roeper noted that "America, like any other nation, has good and bad points. Yet, nowadays only their shortcomings are pilloried and not a mention is made of their good qualities.

"The American renowned for a generosity and readiness to lend a hand unparalleled anywhere in the world has been completely forgotten ... The Americans have indeed done ever so much to eliminate hardship and shortages all over the world, and they still lead the list of industrialized nations in their aid to the developing world." (This should be must reading for those who rant and rave about inadequate U.S. assistance to both domestic and overseas non-white communities.)

Roeper mentioned American contribution to the military, political and economic stability of Western Europe. "It was the Americans, too,"

he wrote, "who, in the aftermath of World War II, helped a Europe destroyed, hungry and bleeding from countless wounds, to get back on to its feet with the aid of the Marshall

"Even wartime enemies Germany and Italy were included in this generous program of assistance, whereas the Russians ruthlessly plundered the countries they had occupied and annexed. In the Soviet zone of Germany, for instance, the Soviet Union dismantled and shipped to Russia entire factories, even sections of railway track."

Then, with an eye to both foreign and U.S. critics, Roeper wrote, "Now that young socialist zealots are pouring nothing but fire and brimstone on the Americans and have naught but admiration for the Russians, it behooves us to show fairness and gratitude and recall the truth of the mat-

This "truth of the matter" included a total of nearly $40 billion in grants and low-interest loans dedicated to not only the recovery of Europe and other war-torn areas but also a plan for an integrated economic association that eventually became the successful Common Market.

"We must always remember how much America did for Europe, Roeper urged. "In comparison with this generosity and readiness to help, today's carpers and maligners cut a very poor figure. The helpful American, always ready to extend a helping hand, must not be forgotten."

It would have been even more impressive if some New York, Washington or other liberal publication had published observations similar to Roeper's.

In any event, the Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung, which felt the need in these times to publish such a tribute twice, and the German Tribune, which translated Roeper's words for English-language readers, deserve the enduring gratitude of patriotic Americans too often beset by the bombast plus reckless and false charges of leftists at home and

Jane Doe identified

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — The family of amnesia victim Jane Doe positively identified her today as 34-year-old Cheryl Ann Tomiczek, a suburban Chicago woman who dropped out of sight seven years ago, officials said.

Irene and Andrew Tomiczek, of Roselle, Ill., two other children and a Chicago disc jockey met with Miss Tomiczek at South Florida State Hospital in Pembroke Pines four about an hour this morning. "I'm very happy," Mrs. Tomiczek said after the private meeting. "I assured her we loved her.

Hospital spokeswoman Jackie Dale said Jane Doe responded by saying, "I'm very happy that you came. I'm pleased to meet you.

"It's just like a dream," said Miss Tomiczek's brother Robert, 32.

The polite young woman, who became known nationwide as "Jane Doe," had been at the hospital since December when a park ranger found her naked and near death in Fort Lauderdale's Birch State Park.

The Tomiczeks were accompanied by Chicago disc jockey Wally Phillips, whose station, WGN, arranged and paid for the trip.

A park ranger found the woman found naked and near death wandering in Fort Landard less than the state of the state

ing in Fort Lauderdale's Birch State Park in December.

Her ease was reported nationwide and on Feb. 10 she appeared on ABC-TV's "Good Morning America" hoping to be recognized. The news stories and the television appearance prompted hundreds of telephone calls.

Another possible link with the woman's past had surfaced Monday when a man told police that he had lived with the woman for several years in Fort Lauderdale until she suddenly disappeared last summer. Fort Lauderdale Police Chief Leo Callahan identified the man as Charles Greene, a Fort Lauderdale engineer, about 20 years older than Lane Doe

Greene told police he had searched for his girlfriend but assumed she had decided to leave him because they had been having problems.

Officials said Jane Doe gave them some clues to her identity while under the influence of sodium amytal, a drug that can act as a "truth serum." They said she gave hints of a Catholic upbringing in suburban

Reagan's farm bill to be ready next week

By DON KENDALL AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - It will be at least another week before details of the Reagan administration's new farm bill will be ready for Con-

Agriculture Secretary John R. Block had been scheduled to unveil the administration bill today in testimony before the House Agriculture Committee.

The Food and Agriculture Act of 1977 expires this year and Congress is putting together a new package, including basic price supports for major crops and dairy, as well as food stamps and some other programs handled by the Agriculture De-

No specific reasons for tion on a measure scrapthe postponements were given, but Block said Monday there had not been enough time to complete work on the

The crush of budget cutting and other testimony on Capitol Hill lately were chief reasons, Block told a meeting of magazine farm

Block said the bill has 18 major parts or titles and "we just don't have them all done yet, that's

One of the hangups, he said, is the bill's title on dairy programs. Block was not specific on what the problem involved.

The delay raised some speculation that the ad-Congress complete ac-

Bills to skip the April 1 increase are headed for final action in both houses and could be on President Reagan's desk by the end of the week.

However, Block made no linkage between the current legislation and the delay in offering a new farm bill.

"I want to read it and study it and be sure I'm satisfied with what we're taking up there (to Congress)," Block said. 'We're not ready. I want to have it right when we

It has been rumored that the administration bill may include a greater emphasis on U.S. agricultural exports, one of Block's favorite topics before and since he joined the Cabinet.

Also, Block has spoken frequently against the target price concept in the 1977 act, the system of paying farmers subsidies when crop prices fall below certain levels.

Dry weather this winter has brought a surge in the land area damaged by wind erosion in the Great Plains, according to the Agriculture Department's latest survey.

Through the first four months of the current wind season, nearly 4.2 about 34 percent from a year ago, officials said Monday.

Norman A. Berg, chief of the department's Soil Conservation Service, said that through February of last season, wind damaged about 3.1 million acres in the 10-state region.

Hispanic birth statistics differ

WASHINGTON (AP) - Hispanic mothers are younger, less educated and less likely to receive early prenatal care than other mothers, a new survey by the National Center for Health Statistics shows.

The study showed wide differences among Hispanic mothers, depending on whether they were of Mexican, Puerto Rican, Cuban or Central-South American origin.

The report, which was based an examination of 1978 birth certificates from 17 states with about 60 percent of the U.S. Hispanic population, is the first of its kind.

Twenty percent of the Hispanic births were to teen agers. By contrast, 12 percent of the non-Hispanic white mothers and 26 percent of the black mothers were teen-agers, compared with 15 percent of all mothers.

Mexican and Puerto Rican mothers were generally younger than Cuban and Central-South American mothers. Some 21 percent of the Mexican births, 23 percent of the Puerto Rican births, 10 percent of the Cuban births and 9.3 percent of the Central-South American births were to mothers under 20.

The median age of the Mexican mothers was 21.3 years - in other words, half were older than that and half were younger. The halfway mark for Puerto Rican mothers was 22.4 years; for Cubans, 37.7 years and for Central-South American, 27.3 years.

Cuban and Central-South American mothers were more likely to be over 30. Some 26 percent of the Cuban mothers, 28 percent of the Central-South American mothers, 21 percent of white mothers, 18 percent of Mexican mothers and 16 percent of black mothers were 30 or older.

Mother of Hispanic rigin completed fewer years of school than did non-Hispanic mothers. Half had at least 10.8 years of schooling compared with 12.7 years for half the non-Hispanics in general, 12.7 years for half the whites and 12.3 years for half the blacks.

Slightly less than 40 pecent of Hispanic mothers had completed 12 years of school compared with a national average of 79 percent and averages of 64 percent for blacks and 82 percent for whites.

Within the Hispanic community, 34 percent of Mexican mothers completed high school compared with 43 percent of Puerto Rican mothers, 47 percent of Central-South American mothers and 79 percent of Cuban Hispanic babies were slightly more likely to be of low birth weight - 5 pounds 8 ounces or less - than white infants, but much less likely than black infants.

About 6.7 percent of Hispanic origin babies, 5.8 percent of white babies and 12.8 percent of black babies weighed less than 5 pounds 8 ounces Again, there were wide differences among Hispanics. Some 5.8 percent of the Mexican infants were of low birth weight but 9.6 percent of the Puerto Rican infants were. Finally, about 57 percent of Hispanic mother received prenatal care during the first three months of pregnancy compared with 81 percent for whites and nearly the same as the 59 percent recorded for blacks.

But among Hispanics, Cuban mothers were most likely to receive early prenatal care. Almost 76 percent of them did compared with 59 percent of Mexican mothers and 52 percent of Central-South American mothers.

The report included statistics from Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Hawaii, Indiana, Kansas, Maine, Mississippi, Nebrasska, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Utah and Wyoming. It will be expanded to include Florida, Illinois, Texas, New Miexco and Georgia over the next two years.

eather specialist, air controller cooperation urged

WASHINGTON (AP)
The continuing high percentage of airplane crashes in which weather played a role is being blamed largely on fail-ure of pilots to get timely warning of thunderstorms or other hazardous conditions. Officials of the National Transportation Safety Board, the Air Transport Association and the Air Line Pilots Association told a House subcommittee Tuesday that better coordination between weather specialists and air traffic controllers was needed along with continuing improvements in radar and other instruments.

NTSB Chairman James B. King, whose agency analyzes accidents for the Federal Aviation Administration and other agencies, said the percentage of fatal air crashes involving weather has remained "essentially constant" in the United States since aviation was in its infan-

Town will lose city employee

INDEX, Wash. (AP) -Federal budget cuts will cost this Cascade foothills town its entire staff for sanitation, water maintenance, vehicle repair and plumbing. The town thinks it's going to be tough to replace him.

Officially, 24-year-old John Furlong is known as the town superintendent in Index, population

But over the past 18 months, he's done everything from collecting garbage to maintaining the town's water system to servicing the town truck and installing fire hydrants.

When the tank shattered on a park toilet, Furlong even glued it back together to save Index money, says Mayor Maggie Huff.

be anything he doesn't know how to do," the mayor said. "As to replacing him, it would be near impossible.'

Furlong's salary $700 to $800 a month has been paid by the federal government through the Comprehensive Employment Training Act. His term expires at the end of the month, and, because of recent budget cuts, CETA will not provide a replacement.

The town is doing its own budget-tightening, and Ms. Huff said Index cannot afford to pay the superintendent's salary.

Index's primary source of income is revenue from water and garbage bills, she said. Already, the Town Council is discussing a boost in garbage rates to afford a garbage collector who would be paid by the

By law, the mayor says, Index must have someone in its employ who is certified to work with the water system.

"It isn't easy finding manpower here in town, especially knowledgeable manpower," Ms. Huff says.

Index, of course, is not alone in finding itself without the help it believes it needs.

Included in President Reagan's proposed budget was the phasing out this year of CETA's public service jobs programs. Because of that, the Department of Labor has been instructed to freeze those programs' hiring, cut their budgets and prepare to close them by Sept. 30, says Larry Fosmo, CETA re-gional administrator.

While the government has promised relief to CETA recipients who lost jobs, little has been said about relief to the programs which used the CETA employees.

In an effort to get help, Ms. Huff says she has filled out every govern-ment aid form that has come her way.

Furlong, who will leave at summer's end to go to school, says he probably will stay on as Index's by-the-hour garbage collector until then. The CETA program provided him good training and experience, he says:

Testimony centers on box, bag

Daniel custody hearing continues

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ Associated Press Writer

LIBERTY, Texas (AP) — A brown wooden box suspected of containing narijuana and a white plastic bag found in the attic of Price Daniel Jr.'s some have taken center stage in a child custody suit involving Daniel's wo children from his marriage to Vickie Daniel.

Marvin Powell, an investigator with the Liberty County Sheriff's Department, testified Wednesday that Howard Oldham, a former Daniel business associate, told him of the box several days after Daniel was fatally shot by his wife.

Powell, who spent the entire day on the witness stand, said the box contained "very small pieces of a green substance." He said he was looking for marijuana because Oldham had told him some of the weed was located in the Daniel attic.

"He indicated to me he knew Price Daniel very well," Powell said. "He said Price Daniel and his first wife tried marijuana cigarettes once and didn't like it, so Daniel put them in the attic."

Mrs. Daniel, charged with murder in her husband's death, testified earlier in the trial that Daniel and Oldham had smoked pot in the attic. Powell said he did not send the box to be analyzed until at least three weeks after it was found and therefore had not yet received a lab report.

The white plastic bag, containing personal items such as greeting cards, nictures of Daniel's children and a set of keys, was found beneath insulation in pictures of Daniel's children and a set of keys, was found beneath insulation in the attic, he said. Jean Daniel Murph, trying to gain custody of the children, said she recognized the keys as belonging to her father, Price Daniel Sr., but declined comment on the significance of the bag.

She only compounded the mystery by saying, "He (Daniel Jr.) had to keep them there but I'm sure it will all be explained."

Powell also testified that, in addition to the fatal weapon, there were two other firearms in the house the night Daniel died, including a loaded .22-caliber rifle locked in a toolroom and a .410-gauge shotgun elsewhere in

In another development, Family District Judge Sam Emison Jr. said Kimberly and Jonathan Moore, Mrs. Daniel's children from her marriage to Larry Moore, would give depositions Friday. The statements will be made in private.

Kimberly, 12, was in the house Jan. 19 where her stepfather was slain.

Jonathan, 10, was living with his father at the time of the shooting.

The Moore children are considered key witnesses in the child custody suit.

Kimberly Moore lived with the Daniels until the night of the shooting but has made no statement in connection with the fatal incident. She has not discussed the marital relationship between her mother and Daniel or Mrs. Daniel's parenting skills.

It also will be Jonathan Moore's first statement concerning the case.

Letters, lists reveal 'doomed' marriage

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ Associated Press Writer

LIBERTY, Texas (AP) — He didn't like the way his wife cooked, the way she greeted him when he returned from work, or her sweet tooth.

She didn't like being treated "like a peasant with no sense" and warned him that his throne "will crumble one of these days and you're going to need someone who loves you."

It leaked like a marriage doomed to diverse that

It looked like a marriage doomed to divorce — but worse happened.

On Jan. 19, Price Daniel Jr., former speaker of the Texas House of representatives and scion of one of Texas' most powerful families, was shot to death. His second wife, Vickie, was charged with murder.

She says it was an accident, says she remembers firing a warning shot at Price but doesn't remember shooting him.

Details of their stormy marriage are revealed in letters written by the couple to each other. The letters were submitted as evidence in a lawsuit that Daniel's sister, Jean Daniel Murph, filed in an attempt to gain custody of Vickie's and Price's two sons.

Daniel met Vickie while she was working as a waitress at Dairy Queen to support her two children by a former marriage.

The couple was married Nov. 1, 1976, in New Orleans by the Rev. David Murph, husband of Daniel's sister.

During one of the many separations during the marriage, the Daniels each wrote the other a list of items for self-improvement and another list of items for improvement they wanted in their mate.

The letters are undated but were written in 1979. "Always have a pleasant greeting when I come home from work (even if it has to be faked)," Daniel listed as his No. 1 request of Mrs. Daniel.

"I don't mean that you have to be especially dressed, standing in the doorway with a smile from ear-to-ear, but I do expect more than to walk in and find you intently glued to the TV lying on the couch.

"And occasionally, when you see me drive in, come and open the door. If you try to do these things, and don't particularly like them, you will do them anyhow out of habit, not just for me but for anyone."

Daniel apparently was quite meticulous about his meals, asking Mrs. Daniel to make weekends special.

"I would like a good, hot meal Saturday noon and a hamburger with two pieces of cheese Saturday night, or vice versa," Daniel wrote. Daniel chided Mrs. Daniel for spending too much of her grocery budget on sweets.

"Try to go to the store without buying any candy, cake mix, jelly rolls, pie mix, cookies, popsicles, cake mix, jelly rolls, pie mix, cookies, popsicles, etc.," he said. "Instead, buy more carrots, raisins, celery, apples, grapefruits, etc.

"Similarly, quit completely, stop absolutely forever and ever, stopping at Sonics, Dairy Queens, etc.

er and ever, stopping at Sonics, Dairy Queens, etc. for Cokes and ice cream. It's not only a waste of money, it's a bad habit."

By contrast, Mrs. Daniel admitted she could do better as a cook.

"I could possibly learn to cook the way you would like to, but with children around, I'm not sure I could be to be the could be attention as you would like."

ever give you as much attention as you would like,"
Mrs. Daniel wrote.
Mrs. Daniel also had a complaint about Daniel's eating habits.

eating habits.
"I think your should eat at the table, and not have me serve you in the playroom," Mrs. Daniel wrote.
"I'm not a waitress anymore, I'm your wife."

Mrs. Daniel's No. 1 complaint about her husband was that he belittled her.
"Never make fun of, or put me down," she admonished. "Kid, yes, joke, yes, but no snipes."

It was suggested during the custody suit that Daniel teased his wife by calling her "Dairy Queen" in reference to her former occupation.

Daniel noted he would try to avoid put-downs.

In a list of things he should do to improve the marriage, Daniel wrote: "Do not lose my temper. Do not retaliate or try to get back. Try, Try, Try to avoid what Vickie calls put-downs, especially when they are being interpreted by her as being mean or bad."

Mrs. Daniel, talkative and outgoing, was a contrast to Daniel's silent stiff upper lip approach to

"Let me in on a few things that you do," she said.
"Tell me about deals you make at the office (personal) so I don't hear about them from somebody else," she wrote. "If you want anything from me, ask. Don't expect me to know your every thought."

Daniel pledged to improve his communications. "Show my feelings more openly and communicate more freely," he continued on the list of things he should do. "Quit always being in such a hurry. Try to contain the nervous energy that prevents me from watching a whole TV show, sitting still, talking for more than five minutes at a time."

more than five minutes at a time."

Oil overcharge probe will be hurt

WASHINGTON (AP) - Some House Democrats say the Reagan administration insults the intelligence of the American people by arguing that an 80 percent budget cut will not destroy the government's effort to prosecute law violations by major oil companies.

The charge was made Wednesday by Rep. Tom Lantos, D-Calif., after

R. Tenney Johnson of the Energy Department told a House subcommittee the proposed cut in DOE's en- policy implication in such a deciforcement budget would not stop efforts to pursue illegal overcharges by oil companies

"You insist on insulting the intelligence of this committee, and you simultaneously insult the intelligence of the American people," Lantos said.

Oilmen say contributions were a show of thanks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some of the oilmen who agreed to contribute thousands of dollars for refurbishing the White House say they were showing appreciation for President Reagan's policies, particularly his favorable attitude toward the oil industry.

But they say the money was not intended to gain Reagan's favor. And the top aide to first lady Nancy Reagan says the donations were solicited independently, without the president's knowledge.

The contributions were sought by

ENERGY OIL & GAS

Holmes Tuttle, a member of Reagan's "Kitchen Cabinet," in trips to Texas and Oklahoma just four weeks after the president's Jan. 28 order decontrolling oil prices. That decision was worth an estimated $2 billion to the oil

At the time, the administration also was actively considering other proposals with major economic interest to the oil industry - decontrol of natural gas prices, cuts in the synthetic fuels program and budget cuts that would reduce Energy Department efforts to investigate past oil price overcharges.

The oilmen alone gave more than the $200,000 originally sought by Mrs. Reagan to redecorate the White House living quarters.

"I don't want anything in return," said Dudley C. Sharp, a retired manufacturer of oil field equipment who admitted to being "a little taken back" by Tuttle's request for $10,000 donations.

But Sharp added: "I was anxious to do anything I could to make the Reagans more comfortable."

Jack L. Hodges, owner of Core Oil and Gas Co. of Oklahoma City, expressed similar sentiment.

'The top man of this country ought to live in one of the top places," said Hodges, whose $50,000 donation was one of the two largest personal contri-

"Mr. Reagan has helped the energy business," Hodges continued. "The way he's gone about it, I think, is the best way in the world to go. I suppose that may be one of the reasons why he got so many donors in Oklahoma. ... We're an energy state and we're enjoying a real good business.

Carl Anderson, president of An-Son oil company in Oklahoma City, said Reagan has shown a more favorable attitude than former President Carter toward the energy industry.

we're rejoicing at the demise of the Carter administration," said Anderson, who hosted the Oklahoma City fundraising luncheon at Tuttle's request.

'Of course, we don't know what all Mr. Reagan will do, but he has given lip service at least to getting Washington to (relax) all the regulations which are stifling our industry," Anderson said. "We like the change and the idea of supporting the country and the new direction, and if it means getting the White House up to snuff, that's what we're interested in."

Anderson said Tuttle had set $100, 000 as the goal to be raised from Oklahoma contributors.

Last week, the White House reversed an earlier decision against releasing the names of contributors and said a total of $735,912 had been raised for the project in tax-deductible donations.

Twenty-three individuals associated with the oil industry contributed a total of $270,000 to the White House Historical Association redecorating fund. All but two of them came from Oklahoma and Texas, where Tuttle personally solicited donations at receptions attended by Reagan back-

Peter McCoy, Mrs. Reagan's top aide, said Tuttle, a millionaire California car dealer, was acting on his own and was not an "official representative" of the White House fundraising drive.

"I can tell you right now that the president was not aware" of Tuttle's efforts, McCoy said.

Tuttle, who recently underwent surgery, was unavailable for comment. But his administrative assistant, Mary Lee Van Dyke, confirmed that he was involved in extensive fund-raising for the White House project.

"It was something he was happy to do," she said. "The response was phenomenal at $10,000 a shot."

Tuttle solicited money from Reagan backers in Oklahoma at a reception at the Petroleum Club of Oklahoma City on Feb. 23, Anderson said.

On Feb. 24, Tuttle made a similar pitch to wealthy Reagan backers in Houston at a reception organized by banker James E. Lyon and petroleum engineer Michel T. Halbouty. Lyon, chairman of the River Oaks Bank & Trust Co., said that while some of the dozen or more Republicans who attended the Houston reception had links to the oil industry, others did not. "It would be most unkind to suggest that the oil industry paid for the rehab of the White House," Lyon said.

On Jan. 28, in one of his first acts as president, Reagan removed all remaining price controls on domestic crude oil, prompting an increase in gasoline and heating fuel prices.

The Energy Department estimates that Reagan's decision to lift the controls six months before they were scheduled to expire will add $2 billion to $3 billion to oil industry coffers.

Reagan has been considering other actions of interest to oil companies.

In early March, high-ranking administration officials said a plan to decontrol natural gas prices was also under review. Opponents claim such a step would cost consumers $626 billion over the next five years.

On March 10, Reagan backed off a proposal by budget director David A. Stockman to cut $5 billion from $17.5 billion that Congress had appropriated to encourage private development of synthetic fuels

Teacher must explain why she refuses to give student reporter's name

MILLVILLE, N.J. (AP) - A Millville High School teacher is refusing to tell a grand jury the name of a student who interviewed a drug dealer for the school newspaper because of free-press guarantees and the risk of endangering the student, the school's attorney says.

Jack Lee, faculty adviser to the

"Tattler" newspaper, must appear before a Superior Court judge today to explain his refusal. Judge Phillip A. Gruccio said he will decide whether Lee should be compelled to testify about the student's identity. Lee and Principal Larry Miller appeared before a Cumberland County grand jury Tuesday after the school paper featured a front-page interview

This candy wins money

By CECILY BROWNSTONE Associated Press Food Editor

Well, who would believe it. After over 25 years, Mamie Eisenhower's very own favorite recipe has won new glory. Ike called her recipe, "my wife's million-dollar fudge" and Americans have taken it to their hearts. The recipe appears in innumerable cookbooks. Two good reasons: it is easy to make and tastes

Now Gloria Ward of Yuma, Ariz., has won $1,000 for a version of Mamie's fudge

Ward entered a contest. She used Mamie's main ingredients but added new flavoring. She calls her offering cause coffee is one of the new flavorings. In Italy Cappuccino is espresso served with steamy frothy milk - therefore the new candy's name. The results of the cooking contest (one seeking ways to use marshmal low creme) were announced in March in New York City. Ward's entry won the prize in one of the four categories of the contest; there were three other first-prize-winning recipes in three other categories of $1,000 each and one overall grand prize winner of

If you are interested in trying this winning candy, clip the following recipe now. It's been given exclusively to this food writer - for a while.

Those cooks who are interested in gastronomic history may like to know that I found the earliest original recipe for Mamie's Million-Dollar Fudge in a cookbook, "Who Says We Can't Cook!" published in 1955 by the Women's National Press Club of Washington, D.C. If you have a copy of the book, hang on to it. It may become a collector's item.

GLORIA WARD'S CAPPUCCINO CANDY

2 cups sugar ½ cup margarine 1 cup evaporated milk One 12-ounce package semisweet chocolate pieces One 7-ounce jar marshmallow creme 1 cup chopped nuts 1 tablespoon grated orange

rind

1 tablespoon instant coffee granules

2 teaspoons orange flavoring or orange juice 2 teaspoons brandy flavoring

Combine sugar, margarine and milk in heavy 2½-quart suacepan. Bring to a full rolling boil, stirring constantly. Continue boiling 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; stir in chocolate pieces until melted. Add marshmallow creme, nuts, orange rind, instant coffee and flavorings; beat until well blended. Pour into greased 13- by 9-inch pan. Miss Texas USA enjoys her Texas travels

By NANCY LORD Lifestyle Writer

Diana Durnford has traveled extensively since she was crowned Miss Texas USA last August. She has been to England, Scotland, France, Hawaii and California, but she said the traveling she has enjoyed most has been right here in

"It's all so beautiful and so different," the El Paso native said of her home state.

Miss Durnford visited Midland Wednesday as part of a five-week promotional tour of Texas for Dillard's, one of her

The 22-year-old brunette said she spends about 95 percent of her time traveling. Diana will compete for the

Miss USA title on May 21 in Biloxi, Miss. The winner of that contest will go on to the Miss Universe competition. She won the Miss Texas title on her second attempt at the crown, having been named second runner-up in 1979.

"If I had never won, it would have been worth it," Miss Durnford said. She looks upon the contest as a learning experience. "Even being in a pageant can help you learn something," she noted.

The contest has three phases of competition worth one-third each. They are evening gown, * swimsuit and personality inter-

Miss Durnford said that the swimsuit competition is not designed to find the girl with the most curves, but to find the girl who is the best shape physically. Diana stands five-feet, seveninches tall and weighs 108 pounds. She eats only one meal a day and jogs daily to keep physically fit. She noted that there is not a talent portion in the contest. She said this is because pageant officials feel that different types of talent shouldn't be judged on the same level. For instance, a dancer shouldn't have to compete against a singer. She also pointed out that many people have non-performing talents such as cooking.

Diana said that the personality interview is an important part of the contest. "It's a talent to be able to talk to people," she said. She said that this talent is especially important since talking to people is one of the main duties of the winner.

Miss Durnford won approximately $40,000 in gifts and prizes, including her wardrobe, when she was named Miss Texas. The Texas pageant is one of the best in the country, according to Diana.

Diana was born and raised in El Paso. She said her two older brothers and her parents were especially supportive of her attempts in the pageants.

"I consider my family as my greatest asset," she said. Before winning the title, Miss Durnford had been a student at

The University of Texas in El Paso for two and one-half years. She was studying mass communications and planned to go into broadcasting or public relations after graduating.

She plans to resume her education when she can, but now she's not sure if she will continue in mass communications. "So many doors have been opened for me," she said, "and I'm considering other fields."

When she's not traveling, she lives in the official Miss Texas apartment in El Paso. She enjoys tennis, racquetball and dancing. She also likes to cook for other people, especially new and different types of food.

Although she realizes that pageant competition is not for everyone, she thinks it can really be a learning experience for a lot of girls. She advises prospective pageant entrants to "Be yourself, but more importantly, go into it to try to learn something.

"Always believe in yourself," she said. She also said it is important for people to continue to try to improve themselves.

'I've grown up a lot," she said of her reign so far, "and I'm having the time of my life."

DEAR ABBY

Man has rude landing after falling in love

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 33-year-old man in the process of being divorced. I recently met a very bright and attractive businesswoman. Joyce is 29, divorced and in real estate. She's very money-oriented, lives well, and I think she's much better off financially

We fell in love, and Joyce agreed to marry me as soon as my divorce is final. Then she asked me to sign a premarital agreement stating that I had no legal right to her present assets or anything she earns or inherits in the future. (Her family has

I was stunned and refused to sign the agreement. I walked out, and that's the last time I saw Joyce.

Abby, if two people love and trust each other, why do they need a written agreement to protect themselves against being taken advantage of?

I still care for her, but I just can't see myself signing that agreement. If the situation were reversed, I would never ask her to sign one.

Am I wrong? Should I reconsider? Or should I try to find a woman who doesn't demand a premarital agreement to protect her from a man who is after her money? - SECOND

DEAR SECOND: With one out of every two marriages ending in divorce, a premarital agreement makes sense - particularly when one of the partners is much better off financially than the other. It matters not who has what. The time to worry about what happens should the marriage end is before it begins. (P.S. But don't sign anything until your lawyer sees it.)

DEAR ABBY: To the man who switched to boxer shorts and begat four children, I would like to point out some figures:

So far he has nine grandchildren, but if his four each have four offspring as he did, it will be 16. Adding this up, we have 20 more people on earth. To carry it further, if the 16 each have four, that is 64; if they have four, that is 256; and if THEY have four, that is 1,024 more persons.

If we go around one more time, we reach 4,096! Adding up the figures, we now have 5,460 more people on earth. All that humanity just because one man dropped his drawers! - PRO JOCKEY SHORTS IN OREGON

DEAR PRO: Before we drop the subject, can you stand one more let-

DEAR ABBY: Your boxer shorts letters intrigued my wife and me because we had been trying to conceive a child for some time. After reading a number of your articles about boxer shorts, we also decided to give it a try. A number of months prior, we had also put our name with an adoption agency.

The next time my wife went shopping, she purchased three pair of boxer shorts for me. On the third day of the third pair of shorts; we received a telephone call from the adoption agency informing us that they had a 1-day-old baby girl for us. We were ecstatic!

I don't think anyone's boxer shorts ever worked so fast. All three of us want to thank you and your readers for such a fast-working idea. -PROUD DADDY IN STATEN IS-

She said that it has become an integral part of Americana, and is being used more in today's decoration of rooms, as well as furniture and small items.

"Early day painters earned a living painting barns, portraits and wall stencils, and by 1800, stencilling had made its way to the Texas frontier" she said. "The Clark home in Galveston, Bayou Bend Museum in Houston and restored early German settlers' homes in Winedale have preserved examples of early stencils.

The Texas Room at the DAR Museum in Washington was damaged as a result of heavy snow and rainstorms, and is in the process of being redecorated, she explained. She said that it would reflect the bedroom of a German settler's home of 1858-1870 and will be furnished with antiques of that period. The walls will be stencilled in authentic designs found in a cabin in East Texas which had stencilled walls done in the middle 1800's. The walls have never been remodeled or repainted. Two well-known Texas historian-artists, Louise Jones and Miriam Jordan, will reproduce the wall stencils in the Texas Room.

GREENTREE COUNTRY CLUB BRIDGE CLUB

Peggy Barry and Lu Roudebush were hostesses to the Greentree County Club Bridge Club recently.

High scorer was Barbara Fleetwood. Helen Murcurio won second high, and Ms. Roudebush was the bingo winner.

Hostesses for the April meeting will be Euince Dersch, 697-2419 and Anna Marie Vogler, 684-5395.

over guest day, and welcomed guests Annie Lee Scott, Alverta Strametz and Jean Noah, former member. Evalyn Witt was welcomed as a new member.

Mrs. Burkett explained the concept of free enterprise and gave a report on the free enterprise seminar held at Midland College. Members discussed some of the evnts in federal government and their effect upon the economy. Members agreed that citizens should be in contact with their elected officials who represent them in Washington D.C.

Mrs. Vance Hendricks, TFWC Western District president, said that the district convention is to be held in Big Spring at the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum:

Mrs. Carl O. Hyde and Mrs. H. H. Redding were hostesses.

All about the care of laminated kitchen counter tops

Let's talk counter tops. Most of us have laminated counter tops that are so easy to care for — no grooves, hills or valleys to clean between - just a nice, smooth surface. If we don't have laminated counters, we more than likely have a table with a laminated top on which we eat our family meals, play games, or use for other various projects. We preferred this type of finish because of its easy care and durability. Sadly, a lot of us have given the laminated surface improper cleaning care and now have a dull, drab, and scratched counter or table top.

No amount of cleaning or polishing seems to bring back the original shine, and you can tell right where most of your kitchen work was done because of a big, dull

The number one culprit that more than likely damaged your pretty counter surface is powdered cleanser. It sure removes those stains in a hurry, but it also removes the protective finish. And it doesn't take long either - not like on your porcelain sink,

And when it comes to no matter what the stain, baking soda will remove it nearly every time. Baking soda is non-abrasive and not only cleans your cabinets, but the countertop as well.

Features to look for in a chain saw

Copley News Service

When looking to buy a gas-powered chain saw, don't just consider price or appearance.

The Homelite division of Textron Inc. - a manufacturer of chain saws - suggests you check for the following features before buying a chain

1. Protection against kickback. Does the chain saw have a safety chain, chain brake or protective safety tip? Kickback can occur when the top of the chain saw guidebar touches an immovable object. The resulting force throws the chain saw upward and backward toward the operator.

2. Rubberlike coating on the handlebar to give the operator a good grip and help prevent slip-

3. Throttle interlock, which prevents the throttle from being advanced unless the operator has a good grip on the rear

4. Vibration isolation system to minimize vibration forces transferred into the user's hands, thus making the chain saw more comfortable and less tiring to use. 5. Large, noise-reduc-

By CLARE BARRETT Copley News Service Omelets and other egg entrees are the dietary mainstay of many new vegetarians, but a large number of these eventually eliminate eggs entirely from their daily menu, or eat them only rarely, perhaps at restaurants.

For some, their reason is a humane issue: they object to the way chickens are raised in the modern world. Instead of the traditional farmyard scene with a henhouse, strutting rooster and chickens pecking in the dirt, virtually all layers today are intensively reared indoors, in cages, often with a shocking degree of overcrowding. (For details, consult the book "Animal Liberation" by Peter Singer or

"Animal Factories" by Jim Mason.) There are "freerange" eggs availabe at some health food stores and groceries or directly from small farmers who keep chickens in the oldfashioned way, but the vegetarians who eschew eggs claim that for health reasons, they're better off without. The cholesterol theory, indicting that fatty substance of which the egg yolk is the richest source, in hardening of the arteries, is still technically a theory but many cardiologists do agree with it and limit the egg consumption of their patients.

Because eggs are "hidden" in so many prepared foods (mayonnaise, pancakes and waffles, candy and baked goods), keeping egg con-sumption down to two a week can be difficult. Powdered and frozen egg substitutes are widely available but these (primarily made from egg whites) are somewhat expensive and not every one is fond of their taste. There are, however, completely egg-free alternatives.

The "holding power" of an egg in baking can be had from a mixture of one teaspoon each soy flour and arrowroot flour mixed in one-third to one-half cup warm water to stand in for one egg in Another binder or emulsifier is soy lecithin, one-half to three-fourths teaspoon per pound for baked items. One tablespoon flaxseed soaked for an hour in cold water and simmered 20 minutes, then strained and refrigerated until chilled, forms a gel which beats somewhat like egg white, although it won't hold up if heated in the oven. A powdered egg replacer available in health food departments works remarkably well. For actual eggless edibles, though, try these:

Flailing stages of career search

By ERMA BOMBECK

From age 13 to 19, your teenagers will go through the seven stages of Career Searching. Why, do you ask, does he or she vacillate between one profession and another? Because it is the first time he has faced the realities of how to make a living.

Stage I (age 13) - He has learned to sign his name and can sign it just as well as Bill Walton. Bill Walton gets a million dollars a year for signing his name. Besides, coach says if he keeps growing this summer he might "start" in the fall. Stage II (age 14) - Has not grown enough to dunk higher than Walton's knees. Decides sports is for jocks who don't want to grow up. Did an article for school paper and discovered Katharine Graham, publisher of the Washington Post, earned in excess of $375,000 in one year. Getting out the paper is all work after but it's worth it. Journalism gets in your blood

Stage III (age 15) — New girl with nice-smelling hair called Shelly wanted to be walked home every night after school. He let someone else get the stupid paper out. Besides, stupid faculty censored everything. Shelly thinks he should go into law like her father. Chief Justice Warren Burger makes $84,700 a year. Besides, all those years in law school would give them a chance to mature.

Stage IV (age 16) - Shelly took shorter time to mature than he thought. He decided after she dumped him that girls are overrated. He said she'd be surprised when she hears he's going to become a priest. They don't make a lot of money, but you get a lot of people looking at you and saying, Wonder why he never got married. He has such charisma and can reach people.'

Stage V (age 17) — Son decided he didn't need religious life when he discoverd the hours. He said if he wanted to work Sundays he'd be a realtor. With all the charisma people said he had, he figured he'd go into politics. After all, the mayor of New York City makes $80,000 a year.

Stage VI (age 18) - Charisma bombed out at student council level. Is undecided about career, but seems to have narrowed it down to either game show contestant who won $132,000 by knowing Butterfly McQueen was the maid in "Gone with the Wind," or a plumber who took 27 pounds of his hair out of the hall drain and makes $53,000 a year.

Stage VII (age 19) - Enrolled in liberal arts at local college. Works summers for minimum wage scale at firm selling roofing over the phone.

Seven rare koala bears arrive in U.S. today

By NORM CLARKE Associated Press Writer

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Seven koalas were on their way to California today to double the size of the only boala colony outside Australia

Rarer in captivity than pandas, the seven koalas — six females and one male - left Brisbane, Australia, for a 17½-hour flight to Los Angeles in the passenger section of a Qantas Airways jetliner.

The cuddly-looking marsupials with black button eyes and furry ears will be making their home at the San Diego Zoo, joining five others after a 30-day

Once they've adjusted to their new surroundings, the six females will be mated with San Diego's four males - Kough Drop, Gum Drop, Waltzing and

Zoo officials are hoping the arrival of the females will spark the faltering sex life of 6½-year-old Matilda, who for the past five years has been the colony's lone female. She has been rejecting the advances of her male zoomates for three years since the birth of Koobor, the only koala born outside Australia. The koalas were scheduled to arrive a month ago but were delayed by a

Qantas Airways flight attendants' strike. The San Diego Zoo started its koala colony in 1976 when the Australian government sent four animals as a bicentennial gift. That marked the only time koalas have been sent outside Australia since an export ban was imposed in the 1920s to protect koalas, duckbill platypuses and lyre birds from extinction. The ban recently was lifted, and this is the first shipment since then. Koalas dwindled in number as a result of being hunted for fur and a shortage of eucalyptus trees — their chief food source.

Australia's parliament ended the export ban last fall, but with specifications. To qualify for the koalas, zoos must have a year-round supply of eucalyptus koalas eat only the tender tips of the tree's leaves — a staff veterinarian and a temperature range between 50 and 86 degrees.

To meet the koalas' needs, the San Diego Zoo plants 10,000 eucalyptus trees a year and harvests 100 a day, according to zoo publicist Jeff Jouett.

FOLLOW THE MAN WITH THE WATER PITCHER!

And now the Passover celebration was drawing near--the Jewish festival when only bread made without yeast was used. The chief priests and other religious leaders were actively plotting Jesus' murder, trying to find a way to kill Him without starting a riot--a possibility they greatly feared. Then Satan entered into Judas Iscariot, who was one of the twelve disciples, and he went over to the chief priests and captains of the Temple guards to discuss the best ways to betray Jesus to them. They were, of course, delighted to know that he was ready to help them and promised him a reward. So he began to look for an opportunity for them to arrest Jesus quietly when the crowds weren't

Now the day of the Passover celebration arrived, when the Passover lamb was killed and eaten with the unleavened bread. Jesus sent Peter and John ahead to find a place to prepare their

"Where do You want us to go?" they asked. And He replied, "As soon as you enter Jerusalem, you will see a man walking along carrying a pitcher of water. Follow him into the house he enters, and say to the man who lives there, 'Our Teacher says for you to show us the guest room where He can eat the Passover meal with His disciples.' He will take you upstairs to a large room all ready for us. That is the place. Go ahead and prepare the meal there."

They went off to the city and found everything just as Jesus had said, and prepared the Passover supper. Luke 22:1-13

DR. NEIL SOLOMON Ridiculous situation

Dear Dr. Solomon: I am employed in a residential treatment center for emotionally disturbed adolescents, many of whom have been in trouble with the law. One of the cottage parents on the staff recently informed me that some of the youngsters routinely take cough medicine, and by "routinely" I mean every day. When I checked the bottles, it soon became obvious why they did so: the preparation had a high alcohol content. Do all cough medications contain alcohol? I would not want to see any of the residents of the center deprived of needed medinnnnare, but it seems ridiculous to provide a youngster with a preparation that is being abused rather than used to treat a medical condition. Do you have any suggestions? — Marty.

Dear Marty: The situation you describe is more than ridiculous; it can be downright dangerous. Some over-the-counter cough medications contain as much as 25 percent alcohol. These preparations should not be taken routinely, and certainly not by anyone at any time with a history of alcohol abuse. Moreover, I would wonder why the residents of the center apparently have such ready access to these medications. Isn't control over the dispensing of these preparations exercised by the cottage parents or some other member of the staff?

While most over-the-counter cough preparations are from five to 10 percent alcohol, many contain less than one percent or are completly alcohol-free. The person responsible for purchasing these items should either ask the center physician to recommend a cough preparation, or be certain to check the labels on the bottles very carefully. Dear Dr. Solomon: I am employed as an accountant during the day, and teach accounting at a local community college two evenings each week. On the nights that I teach, I take along a large briefcase filled with books and papers for use in the class. Recently, I became aware that the angina for which I am being treated comes on much sooner on the nights that I teach. Would you have any explanation for this? — Alex

Dear Alex: Without knowing a great deal more about your medical history, your present condition, and your daily acitivities, I can only speculate. One possibility is that your briefcase is to blame. Carrying a briefcase or attache case or a similar weight while walking, for example, can cause angina in a much shorter period of time than if you were want to try leaving the briefcase at home one day, and see how soon the agina comes on.

Dear Dr. Solomon: Is it true that a talking thernometer has been invented? A friend of mine mentioned this to me, but I suspect he may have been pulling my leg. If the story is true, what possible value could it be? - Bruce

Dear Bruce: A manufacturer has indeed introduced a talking thermometer. While they may be too noisy for use around a hospital, they could prove valuable in biofeedback programs in which a patient learns to control his or her temperature.

Prospector finally finds gold strike

TOKYO (AP) - Equipped with nothing more than a hammer and the conviction that "there is gold out there somewhere," Kanichi Mishima has been chipping away at the mountainside of his home town of Fukuyama for the past 30 years.

The 65-year-old prospector says he has finally hit a gold vein "hundreds of meters long" with deposits estimated to be worth nearly $9 million at today's

"My tenacity has finally borne fruit," said Mishima, who staked a claim in January after unearthing nuggets in a ravine at the foot of 1,682-foot Mount Kasagi in the Hiroshima prefecture of western

"Some people said 'you'll never find it,' but I never Mishima's quest for gold began in the summer of 1952 when "glittering stones" were found at the construction site of a primary school in Fukuyama, 440 miles west of Tokyo. Every day since then he has scouted the area, a one-hour taxi ride from his home, for geological signs of the precious metal.

In a telephone interview today, Mishima told The Associated Press that in three months he has dug out nearly $48,500 worth of gold. The vein apparently is unusually rich, containing an average of 18 grams per ton of ore mined. That is more than twice the average for Japan's 14 other gold mines.

"It was a tough job," said Mishima. "Maybe my intuition was just very good. I was born and raised in the area so I'm familiar with the environment.

In the last century Fukuyama was a copper and tin mining town. Today, because of its access to the Inland Sea with its port cities, the area has become a major seat of the chemical industry.

NOUAKCHOTT, Mauritania (AP) - A firing squad today executed four army officers convicted of heading an abortive coup attempt March 16, official sources said. The condemned men were executed at dawn, less than a day after their appeals were rejected, the sources said. The officers were Lt. Cols. Abdel Kader and Ahmed Salem Ould Sidi, the alleged leaders of the coup, and Lts. Moustapha Niang and Mohamed Doudou Seck. Five other soldiers were sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor.

Radio Nouakchott said Wednesday that President Lt. Col. Mohamed Khouma Ould Haidalla had rejected clemency for the condemned plotters and ordered the executions carried out "immediately." The four had been charged with "high treason, desertion, murder and intelligence with the enemy, the radio said.

The officers led a group of men that came into this West African nation in jeeps from neighboring Sene-gal and attacked the presidential palace, the prime minister's office and the national radio station.

Loyal troops fought them off and an unspecified number of people were killed. Haidalla accused Morocco of fomenting the coup, bringing an immediate denial from Rabat.

Talks continuing in new labor crisis

By THOMAS W. NETTER Associated Press Writer

WARSAW, Poland — Negotiations to end Poland's grave new labor crisis continue today with both sides talking optimistically.

However, the government's chief labor negotiator warned Solidarity leaders that elements of the independent union want a "holy war" against a government that is Poland's "last chance."

Despite his grim words, Deputy Premier Mieczyslaw Rakowski told Radio Warsaw he believes the nationwide strikes the labor federation has called Friday and next Tuesday can be averted.

However, panic buying of food was reported, and Solidarity chapters began moving their headquarters into factories for better safety and organization. Branches of an independent stdents' association announced they would strike if the union did.

Solidarity chief Lech Walesa had no immediate reation to Rakowski's warning. He emerged smiling from a 90-minute meeting Wednesday with him and said the talks were adjourned for the night to await the results of the government's investigation into the union's charges that police beat up 23 union leaders a week ago in Bydgoszcz, an industrial center 170 miles northwest of Warsaw.

"Since there were no conclusions, there was no reason to sit 12 hours or so," said Walesa. But he added: "There would be no talks tomorrow if there had been no results today."

Solidarity has called a four-hour warning strike Friday and a general sit-in strike by its 10 million members next Tuesday unless the government meets its demands, chief of which is the dismissal of officials it blames for the Bydgoszaz incident.

It is the first major strike threat since Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski, the defense minister, became prime minister last month and appealed for a 90-day moratorium on labor protests to give his government a chance to forumlate and launch an economic recovery plan.

The union's angry response to the reported police brutality has plunged Poland into its worst crisis since the nationwide strike wave last summer, It has also raised new threats of military intervention by troops of the Soviet Union and other Warsaw Pact nations, who are holding maneuvers now in Poland and neighboring countries.

Solidarity charges that the union leaders in Bydgoszcz were beaten by some 200 police who evicted them after they refused to leave a provincial government meeting. Three of the unionists were hospitalized.

Rakowski told Radio Warsaw that the incident was regrettable and those responsible would be punished when the evidence was assembled. But he said law enforcement officials must protect other government officials.

"The facts prove that in Solidarity there are forces who want to declare a holy war against the people in power. They forget that they are also declaring it against themselves," Rakowski said.

But "despite all the setbacks, I still believe that tensions and conflicts can be eliminated through arduous negotiations. ... I believe in a victory of common sense," the deputy premier said.

The Communist Party Central Committee scheduled a meeting Sunday to discuss the situation.

In addition to immediate punishment for those

In addition to immediate punishment for those responsible for the Bydgoszcz incident, Solidarity is demanding permission for farmers there to form their own independent trade union, an Act of Abolition that would close cases still pending against people arrested for political opposition to the communist regime since 1976, guarantees of the security of union members and annulment of a government decree giving only half-pay to workers on strike.

President's party wins majority

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — President Chun Doo-hwan's Democratic Justice Party racked up a hefty majority in South Korea's new 276-seat National Assembly, fulfilling most pre-election predictions.

Today's official tally of the popular vote put the DJP in first place, with its candidates taking 90-seats in Wednesday's balloting. The first place finish entitled the government's political organization to 61 more seats, or two-thirds of the 92 seats allocated under a system of proportional representation, for a total of 151 seats.

According to today's returns, the Democratic Korea Party got 57 seats in the popular voting and 24 in the proportional representation division for a total of 81 seats in the single-house legislature.

of 81 seats in the single-house legislature.

The Korea National Citizens Party ran third with 18 and 7 for a total of 25 seats.

Eight other seats were divided among five splinter parties, but none got the five places necessary to qualify for a proportional representation share. Independent candidates won in 11 contests.

The legislature is expected to convene next month.

Election officials said 78.5 percent of the nation's 20.9 million eligible voters turned out despite a chilly rain. That was slightly more than the 77.1 percent who voted in the last assembly elections in 1978. The previous assembly was formally dissolved last fall.

Chun, a former army general, rose to power in a coup that followed the assassination of President Park Chung-hee Oct. 26 1979. He was elected overwhelmingly to a 7-year term as president last month in an electoral college vote.

Prior to the balloting, the 50-year-old Chun stumped the nation seeking a legislative majority to give the country what he called the stability to carry out promised reforms.

Before and during the campaign, he banned some 400 former opposition and dissident activists from engaging in politics,

ATLANTA (AP) - Atlanta's teachers will be turning from instruction to investigation under a plan by FBI agents who hope some school child may provide a clue to the slayings and disappear-ances of 22 blacks chil-gle in the killings. dren over the last 20 months.

The teachers in Atlanta and suburban DeKalb County schools are to question more than 100,-. 000 children, officials in the two school systems confirmed Wednesday.

The plan is based on the theory that whoever is responsible for the 20 slayings since July 1979 may have approached some children who didn't go along with him.

Meanwhile, police in Beacon, N.Y., said a New York City man arrested in the alleged abduction of a 9-year-old boy will be questioned by FBI agents in connection with the child slayings.

East Fishkill Town Police Chief Andrew Criscola said the man, Frankie Edmonds, who is black, was driving a van rented in Georgia when he was arrested Sunday.

The special police task force investigating the Atlanta cases was notified of the arrest Chriscola said, and the FBI office in New York called to say agents would be arriving to question Edmonds.

There have been no ar- us. rests in the 20 slayings and two disappearances.

In another development, the New York Daily News reported that dog hairs have been found in the hands or fingernails of at least three of the slain youngsters, giving investigators a link between some of the killings.

Basing its report on sources close to the investigation, the Daily News reported in today's editions that the hairs came either from a husky or a chow. The News says Atlanta police have enlisted the help of New York City detectives and the American Kennel Club in an effort to identify the animal and trace its owner While refusing to specify which victims were involved, the sources said the hairs matched in all three cases, the newspaper reported.

Murderer gets life sentence

DALLAS (AP) -David Pecina Lopez thanked the state district judge who sentenced him to life in prison after a jury found him guilty of murdering a 6-year-old

Lopez, 25, who had pleaded self-defense, said, "Thank you" to State District Judge R.T. Scales when the judge assessed the maximum sentence Wednesday.

Assistant District At-torney Mike Wilson had asked for the life sentence, saying Lopez was "the personification of evil" and had "forfeited all rights to live in a free society" because of the brutal way he killed young Ralph Luna.

The boy was found Jan. 6 in his west Dallas home with 15 stab wounds in his chest. A pathologist who performed the autopsy had testified there were also signs that a blunt object had been forced into the boy's rectum.

The skull has not been positively identified as that of a human but the outline of teeth was visible, according to officials overseeing the excavation at the rural home of a man convicted of sexually assaulting a minor.

The skull was uncovered Wednesday afternoon when a backhoe scooped an inch of dirt from a shallow hole about a yard from the trailer owned by William Mansfield.

Police said it was unclear whether the skull was that of a third victim or belonged to one of the two young people whose bones were found earlier.

Anne Armstrong to be named 'Texan of Year'

NEW BRAUNFELS, Texas (AP) - Former Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworksi will present Anne Armstrong, former Ambassador to Great Britain, the Texan of the Year Award at 7:30 p.m. today to open the 15th Texan Legislative Conference at the new Braunfels Civic Center.

Jaworksi, a Houston attorney and former winner of the award, will make the presentation recognizing contributions Mrs. Armstrong has made to Texas and the nation.

Previous recipients of the award include Judge Robert W. Calvert, Jaworksi, Lady Bird Johnson, former Gov. Dolph Briscoe, Rep. George H. Mahon, former Gov. John B. Connally and former Baylor University President Abner V. McCall.

Briscoe will be principal luncheon speaker at the conference on Friday, directing some of his comments to President Ronald Reagan's economic package and its effect on Texas if implemented, according to John Chunn, arrangements committee chairman.

Court OKs Oral Roberts Hospital

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) - The City of Faith Hospital, the controversial project that received a financial boost from Oral Roberts' "vision" of a 900-foot Jesus, has won the approval of Oklahoma's highest court.

"We're grateful to God, and we're grateful to the state Supreme Court," said Richard Roberts, the evange-

The court's decision Tuesday means the hospital - where Oral Roberts says he will combine "the natural and the supernatural" in the healing process - will be eligible for Medicare, Medicaid and other federal reimbursements. Far fewer patients would be able to afford hospital care without such reimbursements.

The court ruled 6-3 that despite bitter opposition from other Tulsaarea hospitals, the Oklahoma Health Planning Commission acted properly in granting a "certificate of need" for the $120 million hospital on the Oral Roberts University campus.

The 1978 OHPC order had been overturned by a Tulsa County judge.

The Tulsa Area Hospital Council contends Tulsa already has too many hospital beds. Officials say the City of Faith - scheduled to open Nov. 1 with 294 beds and space for 777 beds - will make health care more expensive by reducing the patient load at other hospitals, forcing the competing facilities to charge more.

The council's lawyer, Rick Ford, said Tuesday the ruling is "a decision we believe the U.S. Supreme Court might well want to review.

The hospital is part of a three-tower complex that contains the tallest building in Oklahoma. There is the 30-story hospital, a 20-story research tower and a 60-story clinic tower. A 60-foot-tall pair of hands is the center-

Outside the massive structure Tuesday, Richard Roberts said, "It's a great day for Tulsa. It's a great day for the state of Oklahoma and for the partners of this ministry.'

The "partners" are the financial supporters. Last September, in a letter to followers, Oral Roberts said he had a vision of Jesus Christ, 900 feet tall, and that Jesus assured him through the "partners," the hospital would be finished.

The letter drew $5 million in donations within a month. Skeptics said he was bilking his public, but Roberts said, "I've got to have a big Christ because I've got big needs."

Roberts also solicits donations. through his television program, "Sunday Night Live."

Richard Roberts said the decision came when his father was out of Oral Roberts' early days as a minister featured services in which worshippers said they had been cured of various illnesses after Roberts placed his hands upon them and directed they be healed by divine power.

In reinstating the certificate of need, the Supreme Court noted Roberts' contention that "the laying on of hands by touching the patient is a method of transferring concern and compassion."

It said the other Tulsa hospitals do not provide the combination of expert medical treatment and healing prayer that Roberts says his facility will provide.

The court said the planning commission had determined there would be no problem in filling the hospital because of the widespread following of the evangelist.

"OHPC found that the existence of a constituency was apparent from the receipt of OHPC of approximately 400,000 hand-written letters from people who believed that their medical and physical needs cannot be met in other hospitals," Hodges wrote.

Ford contended it is unlawful for a public health planning agency to approve a hospital "based on the religious beliefs of people who want to use

Snyder's WTC outlaws bring Tulsa NIT title

NEW YORK (AP) — They were refugees from junior college — some called them outlaws — but Tulsa basketball Coach Nolan Richardson, himself a refugee, molded his players into winners of the National Invitation

"If I have a chance to shoot, I shoot. They say junior college players are outlaws," said Golden Hurricane forward Greg Stewart, "but I don't believe it. Junior college players might be quicker; they're usually smaller."

Stewart, a 6-foot-9 junior center, is one of four players Richardson brought from his national junior college championship team at Western Texas College in Snyder when he departed after last season for Tulsa. The others were guards Phil Spradling and Paul Pressey and forward David Brown, all starters this season for Tulsa.

Western Texas went 37-0 last season, and Richardson's transplanted team compiled a 22-7 season record with a second-place finish in the Missouri Valley Conference tournament. Still, the Golden Hurricane was ignored by the NCAA tournament's selection committee, but Richardson hopes Wednesday night's 86-84 overtime victory over Syracuse for the NIT title is a sample of great things to come.

"This is one of the highest points in Tulsa basketball history," Richardson said. "In the dressing room, I told the guys if we can win one more game, it would be a grand slam of sorts. If we can win the junior college title, the NIT and the NCAA next year, I quit."

Stewart, named the NIT's most valuable player, scored a team-high 23 points. He capped off a 12-point run that started midway in the second half with seven straight points, giving Tulsa a 69-65 lead with 7:03 to play, and he hit the winning basket with 30 seconds left in overtime. The Golden Hurricane finished the season with a 26-7 record.

Syracuse, winner of the Big East Conference tournament, battled back behind Tony "Red" Bruin and Erich Santifer, taking a two-point lead, 71-69, with 5:53 to play on a tip-in by freshman Sean Kerins. After again falling behind, however, Syracuse sent the game into overtime when Santifer hit a short jumper at the buzzer.

The Orangemen, 22-12, went into the overtime, however, without any of their starting front line. Center Dan Schayes had scored just four points when he fouled out with 7:03 to go, giving Stewart a three-point play that capped his run of seven points. Then, with 2:17 to play, Bruin fouled out with 25 points, and Leo Rautins, Syracuse's other forward, exited 1:01 later.

"It was tough to play with so many fouls on us," said Rautins, a native of Toronto. "I was kind of upset that we lost but happy with our effort."

Neither team scored in overtime until 2:54 was left when Brown was fouled by Santifer and hit both free throws. Thirty-six seconds later, Kerins, a freshman reserve, tied it for Syracuse with a pair of free throws. The two teams played keep-away, Spradling missing a short jumper and Syracuse committing a turnover, until Stewart found himself under the basket for the winning points with 30 seconds left.

Stewart rolled around a defender and was alone to take a pass from the right corner for the layup. Brown added 17 points for Tulsa, and guard Mike Anderson, Richardson's sixth man, scored 17. Santifer topped Syracuse with 29.

In the consolation game, Purdue (21-11) defeated West Virginia (23-10) in overtime, 75-72. Drake Morris scored 18 points for the Boilermakers of the Big Ten Conference, including a pair of free throws with 17 seconds left in overtime that gave Purdue a 73-67 lead. Russell Todd and Vic Herbert each had 16 for West Virginia.

Tall City Junior Relays starts Friday at stadium

The Tall City Junior Relays should keep Midland's track fans happy Friday and Saturday at Memorial Stadium as they wait for the high school version next weekend.

The girls will take over the Memorial Stadium track Friday to kick off the junior high and freshman meet. Competition in seventh, eighth and ninth grades will be held with all local public schools joining with Trinity to go against the San Angelo teams of Lake View, Lincoln, Lee and Glenn. Action begins at 2:30 p.m. Friday with running preliminaries and field event finals. Running finals are slated for a 5 p.m. start.

Saturday's action will feature the boys competition. The Midland public school teams from seventh through ninth grades will host Trinity, all Odessa schools and San Angelo Glenn.

Saturday's field events will begin at 9:45 a.m. with running preliminaries to start at 10 a.m. Running finals are slated for a 1:30 p.m. start.

HBO competes for major fights

An AP Sports Analysis By FRED ROTHENBERG AP Sports Writer

As a logical extension of its starstudded movie programming, Home Box Office has stepped into the boxing business with a galaxy of glittery headliners. This Saturday night, instead of seeing Hollywood's prettiest faces, HBO will be offering boxing's most attractive mug: Sugar Ray Leonard.

Leonard, the World Boxing Council welterweight champion, will meet Larry Bonds, the sixth-ranked contender, at Syracuse, N.Y. For Leonard, the fight is little more than a tuneup. For fight fans, it's a tune-in, the first time a Leonard match has been live on home TV since he toyed with Davey "Boy" Green nearrly a year ago.

In the interim, Leonard, who grew up on the commercial networks, took his act to the closed circuit theaters for two historic bouts against Roberto Duran. The home TV fight fan was blacked out while Leonard made a fortune

OTHER UPCOMING live fights for HBO subscribers only will be: Larry Holmes-Trevor Berbick, Gerry Cooney-Ken Norton and Marvin Hagler-Vito Antuofermo. The HBO-connection is the latest twist to boxing's on-again, off-again romance with the small screen.

"They're getting our rejects and some pretty good fights for money the networks won't spend," said Mort Sharnik, who oversees quality control for CBS' boxing matchups. "HBO has become the third world in boxing. Now there's CBS, ABC and HBO. NBC just doesn't compete any more with the same kind of money."

The man who carries the moneybags is Seth Abraham, vice president of sports for HBO. The soft-spoken Abraham, who used to work for major league baseball, smokes an occasional cigar, his only outward link to the smoke-filled rooms that decide boxing's big business.

"We're into boxing because of our policy that HBO Sports should be event-oriented," said Abraham. "We don't need continuous series, and the fights are perfect because they're single events. Movies are still our lifeblood, so we can be very selective on sports. We don't have to program to fill every Saturday-Sunday, like the networks."

WHEN ABC or CBS goes after a prime time fight, HBO can't compete. But for a quality fight, which the networks offer to show in the afternoon, HBO is a real alternative. "We pay $50-75,000 more than the networks do for weekend fights," said Abraham

HBO offers several other advantages to any promoter. HBO's fights are at night, which is prime time for watching TV and a better time for some fans to go to the arena. If the fight is good, the promoter can sell rebroadcast rights to a commercial network, as was the case when HBO did the Holmes-Mike Weaver heavy-weight title fight live in 1979 and ABC aired it nine days later.

But the down side for fight fans is that HBO has only 6.2 million subscribers, even if it claims 35 percent of those homes watched the Hagler-Fulgencio Obelmejias middleweight title fight earlier this year in Boston. HBO claims to also have gotten 1,300 new subscriptions in the Boston area, Hagler country, before the fight.

One reason HBO is in the fight business is to attract new subscriptions, which is why it won't black out the local area for its bouts. "That's how we got Cooney-Norton," Abraham said of the May 11 fight in Madison Square Garden in New York.

Cooney-Norton, the salvaged part of MAPS' ill-fated multi-million dollar "This Is It" card, was offered to the networks, but they balked at the $2 million-plus asking price. The networks also wouldn't do a fight with the New York market blacked out.

IT WAS learned that HBO is paying $550,000 for Cooney-Norton, which sources say CBS will televise later on tape delay. "We could have had Cooney-Norton in prime time. Our marketing people were more interested than our boxing people," said Sharnik. "I would have loved to buy it as an afternoon fight."

Cooney-Norton figures to be a better matchup than HBO's last Cooney fight, when he knocked out over-the-hill Ron Lyle in one round. The networks rejected the Lyle fight, and rightly so. "If you care about quality, you don't buy Cooney-Lyle," said Sharnik, a highly respected expert who used to cover boxing for "Sports Illustrated." "I'd like to see them become more tasteful in their selections."

Abraham said last year's Lyle fight didn't hurt HBO's credibility. "I would take it again," he said. "Cooney was top-rated and Lyle was the best fighter he had met. It was a higher level for Cooney.

"Our litmus test is different than the networks. A good Saturday-Sunday afternoon fight for them might not be good for us. Last week, the Randy Cobb-Michael Dokes fight was good for fight fans, but, in prime time, it wouldn't do well against entertainment programming."

But HBO will find out soon enough that mismatches won't fare that well against entertainment shows, either. If people tune in to see Leonard, they will tune out as quickly as Bonds does.

OF COURSE, HBO has a counterargument to this, and the folks there sing it like an anthem. "Remember Holmes-Weaver," they say.

"I was wrong about Holmes-Weaver," said Sharnik, who was joined by the experts at ABC and NBC who also passed the fight in which the unheralded Weaver almost dethroned the WBC champion.

"The networks made a big mistake on that one," said Abraham. "After that fight, the relationship between HBO and the fight world really changed. We didn't have to bang on doors anymore."

The networks weren't interested in Holmes-Berbick, and promoter Don King was so eager for TV money and exposure that he let HBO pick the date of April 11 to coincide with a big subscription drive.

Thomas Jefferson nips MHS, 10-9

By MIKE CRUVER Sports Writer

Dallas Thomas Jefferson took a 7-2 lead over Midland High after the first two innings and hung on to nip the Bulldogs 10-9 in a non-district baseball game Wednesday at Memorial Stadium baseball field. The loss dropped MHS to 5-7 on the year while TJ's record goes to 14-3.

Doug McLean made the start for the Purple Pack, but because of a bad hamstring, he was unable to bend over. As a result, McLean couldn't throw his curve and couldn't get much velocity on his fastball.

THE FIRST five batters to hit for TJ got on base. Tim Doss opened by walking, Jeff Tousa reached on an error and Jim Jones doubled into left for one run. Bobby Jones walked to load the bases and Wayne Simmons followed with a solid single up the middle to produce two more runs. Rex Beene was retired on a fly to center before Doug Baum chased home the last two runs of the inning with a single to left.

TJ added two runs in the second. Doss opened the frame with a double, Tousa walked and Jim Jones struck out. While pitching to Bobby Jones, McLean reinjured his hamstring and had to leave the contest. Jim Gunnels came in to strike out Jones, but Simmons lashed a single into left for an RBI. Tousa scored the second run of the inning on a passed ball.

MHS struck for two runs in the bottom of the second. Jerry Zachery hit a towering drive to right that John Carpenter went back on, hit the fence and toppled over it and the ball landed just out of his reach for a homerun. Frank Garramone reached on an error and came around to score on a single by Joel Castaneda and a bloop double by Kyle Davis.

GUNNELS KEPT TJ at bay in the third inning but wildness and a couple of hit batters allowed TJ to score single runs in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings.

In TJ's half of the sixth, Gunnels gave up a run and was in trouble with runners at second and third with one away. Coach Tim Whalen went to the bullpen and Joe Delagarza came in to finish the inning. The first batter Delagarza faced grounded out, Chris Lewis walked but Delagarza ended the threat by whiffing Carpenter.

Going into the bottom of the sixth inning down 10-4, the Bulldogs erupted for four runs. After Garramone grounded out, Peter Galindo pinch hit for Daniel Castaneda and walked, Joel Castaneda singled and David Bledsoe, pinch hitting for Ford, blooped a single to left to load the bases. Teddy Bartley, pinch hit for Wayne Simms and walked and two runs came home when Faustino Garanda, pinch hitting for Fabian Ramos, laced a single to right and Tim Davis hit into a fielders choice to score Bartley. The inning ended when Tim Davis tried to move from first to third on an error by the third baseman but was tagged out at third.

THE PACK wasn't through yet. Zachery led off the bottom of the seventh with a single, stole second, but Frank Garramone struck out before Daniel Castaneda delivered Zachery with a single. Bobby Jones then struckout Joel Castaneda and David Bledsoe to end the game.

Zachery was the offensive leader for the Dogs as he went 3-for-4 and drove in three runs.

Coach Whalen said, "We played aggressively and with some competitive spirit. I am real proud of them. We could have just given up but we kept battling back. A few breaks here and there and we could have easily won.

Losing pitcher McLean said, "I've had this hamstring problem since early February and I just can't seem to get it completely healed up."

McLean joins Eddie Portillo and Mark Hewitt on MHS' injured or sick list as the Bulldogs get ready for their second District 5-5A game of the year. Saturday MHS travels to Big Spring to face the Steers.

LPGA chooses up sides

By WILL GRIMSLEY AP Special Correspondent

Sex exploitation has become a raging issue among female golfers with Jan Stephenson and Jane Blalock firing barbed shots at each other across the continent while their contemporaries are choosing up sides.

It's the most intriguing controversy over women's attire since Gorgeous Gussy Moran's lace panties were barred from Wimbledon's sacred Centre Court back in 1949.

"Quasi-pornography," fumed Blalock after seeing Stephenson photographed in Fairway Magazine, an organ of the Ladies Professional Golf Association, reclining on a bed in a slinky, revealing white dress.

"Is our organization so unaware of the real glamor and attraction staring it in the face that it must resort to such trash?" she complained in a signed article for the Miami Herald. Stephenson responded sharply, using the Los Angeles Times as the

The Midland High and Midland Lee golf teams will host the first tournament of the District 55A golf campaign Friday at Ranchland Hills Country Club.

The teams are scheduled to tee off at 9 a.m. Friday at the RHCC course and fans are invited to watch play.

Both Midland High and Lee golfers must get off to a good start since they are playing the first tournament on a home course. Other teams will have an advantage in the other tournaments.

San Angelo and Abilene Cooper are considered the strongest teams in the district this year. The top two teams and individuals after the district tournament circuit will earn region playoff berths.

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Out-fielder Gary Matthews of the Atlanta Braves was acquired by the Philadelphia Phillies Wednesday in a trade for pitcher Bob Walk.

Financial terms of the agreement were not disclosed.

In announcing the deal, Phillies personnel director Paul Owens cited a little give and take on both sides.'

It has been rumored that the acquisition of Matthews would pave the way for a Luzinski deal, possibly to the Chicago White Sox.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) - A special memorial service will be held tonight for Douglas A. Smith, believed to be the the first Rutgers University football player to die since the sport began at the school 112 years

Smith, a 20-year-old prep school transfer, died after sustaining head injuries at a spring workout Tuesday, said Robert Smith, Rutgers' sports information director.

"Such an untimely death leaves us all stunned. This will remain with us for some time," said coach Frank Burns at a special team meeting Wednesday.

liminary reports indicated Smith died of a brain hemorrhage which did not result from contact at the practice. And he informed them of a special memorial service at 8 p.m. tonight at the Voorhees Chapel on the Douglass College campus of the university.

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) - Detroit's Tim Corcoran slammed a ninth-inning home run Wednesday, leading the Tigers to a 4-2 exhibition victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates in a game marred by a bench-clearing free-for-all in the fourth inning.

WITH THE Pirates leading 1-0, Candelaria, the Pittsburgh starter, knocked down Detroit catcher John Wockenfuss with a pitch in the fourth, but there was no trouble.

On the first pitch in the bottom of the inning, however, Bailey hit Pirates' first baseman Bill Robinson in the mouth with a pitch and Robinson headed for the mound.

Robinson, who suffered a cut lip, a chipped tooth and a loose tooth, was restrained by plate umpire John McSherry But Pittsburgh infielder Kurt Be-

Red Sox power comes from Evans

By The Associated Press

Dwight Evans has made a big jump in Boston's batting order ... and so has his average. A lifetime .262 batter, mostly from the lower part of the lineup, the power-hitting right fielder raised his spring average to .390 Wednesday with a home run, double and single in the Red Sox' 8-4 exhibition victory over the Montreal Expos. "I don't care where I bat just as long as it isn't 10th," quipped Evans, who at 6-foot-3 and 205 pounds is somewhat larger than your average leadoff hitter.

Manager Ralph Houk assured one and all that won't happen.

'Evans is going to bat first, second or third depending on the situation," Houk said. "His batting average isn't great but he has a good eye and gets on base a lot. I think he'll hit much better up high in the lineup. The eighth and ninth spots are the toughest to hit in because they can pitch around you so much.

"Up high, Evans is going to get a lot better pitches to hit. They're going to pitch to him with the big men such as Jim Rice, Carl Yastrzemski, Tony Perez and Carney Lansford following

Rick Manning and Von Hayes drove in three runs apiece to pace a 24-hit attack and lead the Cleveland Indians to a 14-5 victory over the Seattle Mariners Silvio Martinez pitched five scoreless innings as the St. Louis Cardinals beat the New York Yankees 3-1 while the Minnesota Twins scored all their runs off rookie Billy Smith in the sixth inning to defeat the New York Mets 5-3. The Mets completed a triple play in the first inning.

Mike Caldwell, Chuck Porter, Balor Moore and Rollie Fingers combined on a six-hitter and Don Money tripled home the only run as the Milwaukee Brewers nipped the Oakland A's 1-0.

Mario Soto pitched six no-hit innings to lead the Cincinnati Reds to a 3-2 victory over the Baltimore Orioles. Soto, who struck out eight and walked two, has not allowed a run in 14 innings this spring.
Mike Tyson and Steve Henderson collected three hits apiece in the Chicago Cubs' 6-5 victory over the San Diego Padres while two-run singles by Harold Baines and Jim Essian in a six-run third inning and homers by Rusty Kuntz and John Hanley carried the Chicago White Sox past the Toronto Blue Jays 10-7.

Classic boasts seven-footers

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) - A full house is expected at the Capital Centre tonight for the eighth, and possibly last, McDonald's Capital Classic game.

The Classic brings together the best high school basketball players in the nation against their counterparts in the metropolitan Washington area.

Three seven-footers will be featured in this year's game, a first in the annals of high school basketball.

Patrick Ewing, a seven-footer from Cambridge, Mass., who has says he will attend Georgetown University in Washington, D.C. next year, will play with the local team as an at-large

The U.S. squad will include sevenfooters Greg Dreiling of Wichita, Kan. and Stuart Gray of Granada Hills, Calif.

Dreiling is expected to enroll at Wichita State next fall. Gray, who averaged 31 points and 17 rebounds a game as a senior, will take his considerable basketball talents to UCLA.

The local players include De Matha forward Adrian Branch and 6-foot-5 guard Jeff Adkins, both headed for the University of Maryland.

Two Midland teams gain Governor's Cup finals

PALM DESERT, Calif. - The United States Polo Association Six Goal Handicap Governor's Cup here recently had the largest field ever with 18 teams from all parts of the United States and Canada, but it was two young Midland teams that surfaced in the finals during the five day tourna-

The Y-Bar-O Ranch team, consisting of$captain Jimmy Yarborough and the three "flying" Galindo brothers, Alonzo, Carolos and Hector, won the championship with an exciting overtime period, 7-6, victory over the Midland team, which had won the first place trophy four times in the last five years.

The losing squad consisted of captain David Gonzales, Rob Roenisch and the Beal brothers, Spencer and

The Y-Bar-O team was spotted one goal due to the handicap system and was able to maintain that lead until the closing minutes of the fourth chukker when Midland tied the score

Carlos Galindo had an amazing game with three goals, despite the fact that he hurt his knee in the semifinals against a team from Hawaii and had to be helped on and off his mounts. The 17-year-old Hector Galindo made the winning goal three minutes into the overtime period for the final 7-6 margin.

But the fact that Midland produced the two top six goal handicap teams in the country, is a feat in itself. Polo is played daily at the Midland Polo Grounds and is open at no charge to the public. Those interested in playing polo may call the Midland Polo Club at 684-6493.

Dutfitter schools don't teach it all

It seems that every dedicated hunter, at one time or another has the burning urge to become a professional big game outfitter and guide. It's easy to feel jealous of the time the professional outfitter gets to spend in the mountains hunting the big bears, the huge bull elk or the majestic mountain sheep. It is a romantic ideal. And I agree that for some persons the life of the full-time outfitter is just the ticket. A good, top-notch outfitter can live a good life - rugged but full of quality - if he is willing to sacrifice and really put his mind and body to the task.

Those who have accomplished this goal and who have established themselves, recognize the fact that many hundreds of persons throughout the country long for the chance to be in their boots come opening day of big game season in the high country.

THIS LONGING has opened the door for the proliferation of new guide schools throughout the mountain west. The ads read "Train to be a guide," "Go into business for yourself," become a "professional outdoorsmen." The advertising copy make the schools sound super to the city-bound person who has an inclination for the outdoors.

I have been a licensed guide and outfitter in both Arizona and Montana and the outdoor experience is super. But when the best of the hunting seasons is open, the outfitter is in the woods with his clients. The outfitter doesn't have that much opportunity to be a hunter for himself. I opted for personal hunting time and after several years let my license drop.

But to get back to the professional schools and what they can offer a student. The schools are only as good as their instructors and as a result some are far superior to others. Smoke Elser, for example, has done a good job preparing his students. Some of his students are life-long residents of western Montana who want to horse pack for themselves to get away from the growing crowds of roadside hunters. They have no interest in becomming working guides or outfitters.

OTHER SCHOOLS in that country don't do such a good job. Many of their ex-students became good loan customers of mime when I was in the pawn business in Hamilton, Mont.

As a conversation piece, I kept an old enameled metal male urinal on a shelf behind the counter of my pawn shop. It occupied a space just below the lighted sign which proclaimed my place was the home of the Bitterroot liars club

The urinal looked official with its fancy lettered label "Montana Elk Bugle." Over the years, the bugle attracted more than its share of chuckles, curious comments and embarrassed faces. There were always a few very naive people who would attempt to get the appropriate call of a lovelorn bull elk to emit from it. They would puff and blow and always fail. As good naturedly as possible one of my regulars — a member of the liars club - would point out to the bugler the mistake they were making.

magazines knows, there are a number of professional guide training schools in Western Montana. The schools attract greenhorns and transform them into knowledgeable, boot-leather tough big-game guides in a matter of a month of so.

Early one afternoon a grizzled, bewhiskered young man came in with several of his cronies. After carefully examining the selection of traps, knives, pelts and other outdoor necessities displayed, one especially savy appearing new graduate of a guide school asked to hold and examine my 'Montana Bull Elk Bugle.'

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) -Bobby Knight's coaching credentials never have been questioned. But he often is perceived as a volatile field general in Big Red plaid who thrives on controversy and intimidation.

MIKE MIDAY, who transferred to Bowling Green, said he "could not stand the way he treated me as a human being ... My knees were shaking. I usually have confidence in my playing, but every game I went out there, I was playing in fear of him."

Since coming to Indiana from Army in 1971, Knight's teams have won 229 games and lost only 68. The Hoosiers have either won or shared six Big Ten Conference championships, won the 1978 National Invitation Tournament, won the 1976 NCAA tournament, finished third in the 1973 NCAA tourney and have reached the Final Four in this weekend's NCAA windup at Philadelphia.

Twelve of Knight's former players went on to the NBA, and seven still are on NBA rosters - including the starting five from the Hoosiers' 1976 NCAA championship team.

Knight also coached the winning U.S. team in the 1979 Pan American Games at San Juan, Puerto Rico, site of his well-publicized skirmish with a policeman during an argument over who had rights to a practice court.

It's simple. The introduction of the striped bass in Texas freshwater lakes and reservoirs has taken the fishing limelight in the past several years. But look out, there's a new little exotic introduction game fish that has been introduced into Texas waters that will add a lot of new angling spice to the creel.

The introduction of the smallmouth bass across lakes in Texas might be the fish story of the 80s.

The agressiveness, the determination, the fight, the smallmouth bass

THE TEXAS Parks and Wildlife Department people have stated that the smallouth bass will be the most significant of all non-native game fish introduced into Texas waters, and that in a few years Texas will be the number one state in the nation for smallmouth bass fishing. They will certainly be the top in a lot of the lakes in the western sectors of

More rocks and less vegetation is the reason. Smallmouths prefer entirely different habitat than the largemouths. They have different habitat preferences, with very little overlap of habitat between the two.

Smallmouths prefer rocky areas of lakes and swift-flowing streams. They are generally located in clear, deep water, around rocky points, drop-offs and channels. Largemouths like shallower water and stay closer to shorelines, logs and thick aquatic vegetation.

There are exceptions as smallmouths will move into shallow, rockstrewn areas to spawn, and largemouths are sometimes found in deep holes and channels, particularly in the winter and very early spring.

A SMALLMOUTH can be distinguished from a largemouth by several features. The mouth, as you might suspect, is smaller, with the upper jaw extending only to a point beneath the center of the eye. On a largemouth, the jaw plate extends well past the eye.

The most striking difference is the dark lateral band or stripe running down the side of the largemouth. This is absent is smallmouths, which instead have dark blotches that sometimes form irregular vertical bars on

The coloration is also different, although water and light conditions cause a variation in both fish. Smallmouths, however, usually have a strikingly gold-green hue and brilliant red eyes, which help separate them from the more greenish large-

So, distinguishing a smallmouth from a largemouth is not difficult. However, in some areas, like Amistad, the Kentucky spotted bass can add some confusion to identification efforts. The spotted bass has a small mouth and side markings similar to smallmouths, but also they usually have the characteristic horizontal bar seen on largemouths.

SMALLMOUTHS also grow at a much faster rate in Texas, say fisheries experts, than in the northern part of the United States where the fish originally came from. Texas fish attain a 20-inch length in less than six years, while an authority tells how it takes four years for northern smallmouths to reach nine inches and up to 10 years to attain the 20 inches to compare with the Texas-grown bass. In the north, males nature at three years of age while in the south they've matured in two years.

Smallmouths are deep water fish most of the time. This could be 20 to 30 feet during the warmer weather and spawning fish in five to 15 feet of water. When the weather starts cooling off in the fall, you can find them in 10 to 20 feet of water.

Water temperature and oxygen content have a tremendous effect on these fish. They thrive in rivers where. there are rapids or other structures which create an abundance of oxygen. Rocks, gravel and sharp, quick drop-offs are excellent spots for smallmouths. In rivers they hang to rocks, on the edge of the current, and behind logs and other bottom

Finding these fish isn't the easiest thing to do; and once you find them, catching them can be just as diffi-

SMALLMOUTHS, apparantly like crawfish more than any other food source, and any lure that imitates this natural bait will potentially produce. One good lure, since smallmouths are predominantly bottom feeders, is the Jig fishing for smallmouhs differs from using them for other fish in that the bait should be drug slowly along the bottom, not continually hopped in erratic fashion. You're trying to simulate a crawfish scurrying along the bottom kicking up little spurts of sand or detritus.

Anglers have caught these fish using a fast retrieve, but most experts say your chances are better using an ultra-slow retrieve. to get a small crankbait down to the bottom, some anglers attach a jig or weight a couple of feet above their bait. We've also seen an angler take a new Rebel crawfish deep diver and where it has a hole near the end of the long lip, take a small split shot and flatten in the hole with pliers. It seemed to work

STRUCTURE IS important to a smallmouth bass, and you've got to remember that. The fish definitely prefer the deeper structures, the sharp cliff-type drop-offs or the short step-like structures. That means that on bars, sunken islnds, humps, etc., the secondary shelves and drop-offs are generally best for smallmouths.

Some of the best smallmouth lakes in Texas currently are: North Fork Lake, Amistad, Possum Kingdom, Meredith, Mackenzie, Travis, Marble Falls, Stillhouse Hollow, Canyon ad Town Lake in Austin. There's other lakes in Texas that have been stocked, but are at the fledgling

The smallmouth in Texas should be very interesting. They may be the salvation to some lakes which are not suited for largemouth bass popula-

Hendricks gets award

NEW YORK (AP) - Linebacker Ted Hendricks, who led the defense for the Super Bowl champion Oakland Raiders, has been named the outstanding defensive player in the National Football League in the Seagram's Seven Crowns of Sport com-

Dallas Cowboys defensive lineman Randy White was second, while Hendricks' teammate, defensive back Lester Hayes, finished third. It marked the first time in the sevenyear history of the $5,000 award that two players from the same team finished in the top three.

The award is based on mathematical analysis of ratings by eight NFL assistant coaches. Hendricks received a total of 104 points, White 87 % and Hayes 81.

Hendricks had 60 unassisted tackles last season, sacked opposing quarterbacks nine times, knocked down 15 passes, recovered four fumbles and blocked two kicks.

Gustafson leads the pack

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Cliff Gustafson of the University of Texas tops the 1981 edition of college baseball's "Top Twenty Coaches" for the second year in a row with a winning percentage of .806.

Gustafson's teams have won 575 victories while losing 138 since the former Texas star took over as head coach in 1968. As an infielder, the Kennedy, Texas, native helped the Longhorns win the NCAA championship in 1950 and he captained the 1952 team.

Under Gustafson, Texas has won the Southwest Conference championship 11 times in 13 seasons.

While Gustafson has the best winning percentage, Rod Dedeaux of Southern California has won more games than any coach in NCAA history. Dedeaux' teams have won 1,044 games and he helped win 110 more as co-coach with Sam Barry in 1942 and However, Dedeaux only ranks fourth on the percentage chart, trailing Gustafson, Jim Brock of Arizona State and R.C. "Itchy" Jones of Southern Illinois. In nine seasons, Brock has compiled a 471-131 won-loss record for a percentage of .782. Jones is 415-122, .773 in 11 seasons while Dedeaux' record in his 33 years as Southern Cal's sole head coach is 1,044-363, The "Top Twenty Coaches" is developed annually in baseball, football and basketball by Elmore Hudgins, director of public relations for the Southeastern Conference. Under Hudgins' formula, he determines the 20 coaches active at Division I institutions who have won the most games and then ranks them in sion I and only records at four-year colleges against other four-year schools count.

White Sands able, willing to witness shuttle landing

New Mexico missile range providing alternate runways

By PAUL STEVENS Associated Press Writer

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M. (AP) - The desert here is laced with history. Billy the Kid, the outlaw, and Geronimo, the Indian leader, roamed the sands, the rocket age was born nearby and the atomic era dawned wit a roar a a site dubbed Trinity.

Now the U.S. Army's huge desert missile range is ready and able to witness the first "runway" landing of a spaceship. Millions of dollars have been spent, and Very Important People have been invited.

Trouble is, if all goes well, the shuttle will land 800 miles away from the white gypsum sands of New Mexico, at around April 10 from Cape Canaveral, Fla., and return to earth 54 hours later at Edwards. However, if weather conditions or technical problems. make the Edwards landing impossible, touchdown could take place on one of two seven-mile runways smoothed out on a dry lake bed called Northrup Strip. Although Northrup Strip is only an alternate site, preparations continue at a steady pace — both at the strip and at the headquarters for the missile range, 45 miles to

Directed from a yellow control tower dwarfed by the great bed of white sand, hundreds of training missions have been conducted at Northrup Strip, lately averaging

Flying Gulfstream II executive jets, modified to handle like a gliding shuttle, the training astronauts — including John Young and Robert Crippen, the Columbia crew - fly to within 10 feet of the sand, the point where touchdown would occur if they were flying the shuttle. Then they fly off to make another approach, and then another.

White Sands is the primary landing site for an "abort once around mission," which would occur if the shuttle fails to reach the orbiting stage and the astronauts are forced to circle the earth once before landing.

Northrup could also be designated as the "end of mission" landing site if Edwards does not dry sufficiently Al Paczynski, NASA project engineer at White Sands, said he personally would be disappointed if the shuttle didn't land there, but "for program reasons, I guess I would prefer it land at Edwards. They have more capabilities there." NASA spokesman Ken Senstad candidly described White Sands as "minimally equipped.

Paczynski estimates that construction and training at White Sands has cost $2 million. He calls the expenditure "good insurance," explaining that each day's delay in the shuttle launch date costs several hundred thousand dol-

"If you land here as opposed to waiting a month for Edwards to dry out, that's a considerable savings," he said. "Time is money, especially in the space pro-

The first three shuttle flights are to terminate in a lake-bed landing, Paczynski said. White Sands is scheduled to back up the first four shuttle missions, with an option on two more. "We have a very good chance that at least one" of the landings will be at Northrup Strip, he

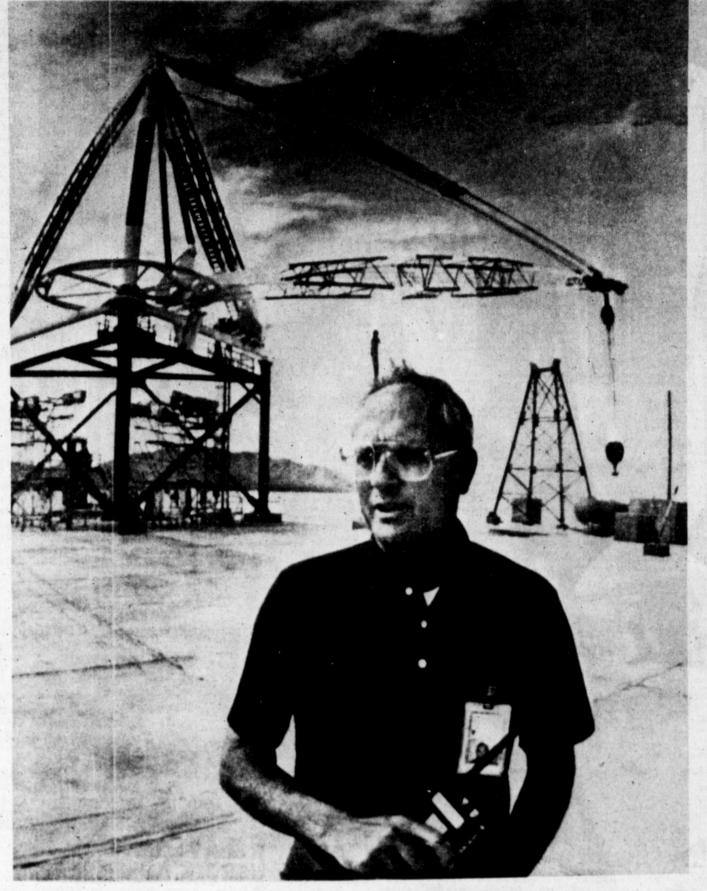

This land was prime ranching country until the Army opened White Sands Proving Ground on July 9, 1945. One week later, the world's first atomic bomb was exploded on the range at an area now known as Trinity Site, about 40 miles north of Northrup Strip.

Just west of the range, near Roswell, Dr. Robert Goddard developed the first gyro-controlled rocket guidance system. Goddard, who in 1926 flew the first liquid-fueled rocket, was eventually flying rockets faster than the speed of sound and at altitudes up to 7,500 feet.

Today, the range is a multi-service facility used for testing missiles, weapons components and energy projects related to defense. It employs about 8,000 military and civilian personnel.

If the shuttle does land at Northrup Strip, there will be plenty of witnesses.

A group of 300 area leaders, including Gov. Bruce King, the state's congressional delegation and the mayors of Las Cruces, Alamogordo and El Paso, is being invited to Northrup Strip if the landing takes place there.

The two fueling tests were ordered as a result of damage to installation panels on the outer surface of the tank in a similar operation in January. The current tests are designed to check the $2.6 million repair job on 32 of the insulation tiles that will protect the spacecraft from the heat of re-entry into the Earth's atmosphere.

The huge tank was loaded Wednesday under pressure designed to put greater stress on its insulation than during an actual launch. The tank was then drained in preparation for Friday's test.

The tank has the 122-foot orbiter Columbia clamped to its back and will feed the Columbia's three main engines until it is jettisoned shortly before the craft goes into orbit, with astronauts John Young and Robert Crippen aboard for a 54-hour orbital jaunt.

The tank is expected to burn up in the atmosphere, with some pieces falling into the ocean.

The first shuttle launch already has been delayed more than two years by a variety of problems. The launch suffered another potential setback last week when a technician died of lack of oxygen in a freak accident.

The shuttle is the first spacecraft designed to ferry equipment and astronauts into space and then land again like an airplane.

NASA project engineer Al Paczynski says he would be disappointed it the space shuttle lands in California rather than the alternate site at White Sands Missile Range, N.M., but for program rea sons prefers it lands there. Paczynski estimated that $2 million has been spent at White Sands preparing for a possible landing, much of it for the stiff leg derrick in the background that would lift the shuttle to the back of a 747

"There was nothing disgusting or dirty in what we did," George (Jim Salners) tells Doris (Colia Morrow) in a scene from the upcoming Midland Community Theatre production of "Same Time, Next Year." The play opens Friday and runs through April 11. Reservations may be made by calling 682-4111.

Bernard Slade's smash comedy featured at Theatre Midland

"Same Time, Next Year" opens Friday at Theatre Midland. The cast, Jim Salners and Celia Morrow, are not new to the Midland Community Theatre stage. They have charmed area residents with their many past community theatre productions.

In theater it is said that "professionalism is an indication of the quality of endeavor and not a criteria for payment."

Such was the case with the last two presentations at Theatre Midland. Both "After Magritte" and "The Collection" were well-cast excellent productions. Those who have seen the rehearsals for "Same Time, Next Year" are predicting the same results for this production.

Bernard Slade's smash comedy hit has provided a delightful and challenging showcase for the talents of any actors who play the roles. Tracing the growth and development of an extramarital relationship over a 25-year period, the play offers the opportunity for the thespians to gradually mature onstage from rather insecure, youthful individuals caught up in a spur-of-the-moment fling, to thoughtful and caring human beings involved in a meaningful and lasting relationship.

Charles Grodin and Alan Alda won rave reviews as George in the stage and screen versions, respectively. Ellen Burstyn, who played Doris in both versions, won a Tony for "Best Actress" and an Oscar nomination.

Ms. Morrow, the daughter of Sue and Sam Conner, has lived in Midland since she was 12, with time out to earn a bachelor of fine arts degree from Oklahoma University. Active at MCT for the past 11 years, Ms. Morrow has been seen in, among others, "Fiddler on the Roof," "Anything Goes," "The Oldest Living Graduate" and last season's 'Mame.'

Ms. Morrow, who is married with two children, teaches drama to sixth through ninth graders at Trinity School. She also is active in Junior League and is a docent at the Museum of the Southwest. Salners grew up outside of Chicago and attended Carnegie Technological University where he majored in chemical engineering with an acting minor. He studied under reknowned acting teachers Mordecai Lorner and Ward Baker and worked in the wellknown "Scotch And Soda Reviews" with Stephen Schwartz of "Godspell" and "Pippen" fame.

Graduating as a chemical engineer in 1971, Salners moved to Midland and is now vice-president of operations of GMW Oil Company. He has been active at MCT since his arrival in Midland and has been in almost 20 shows. Among his favorite roles have been Professor Harold Hill in "The Music Man," El Gallo in "The Fantasticks" and his outstanding performance in 'Butterflies Are Free.

Performances are scheduled through April 11 and reservations may be made by calling the box office at 682-4111 or by going by the theater at 2000 W. Wadley Ave.

The exhibit will be on display through April 15. McCormick Gallery will be open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Friday.

Mrs. Gilstrap holds bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Oklahoma. She has five years teaching experience in public schools and two years at The University of Texas of the Permian Basin. She began teaching at Midland College in 1975 as an adjunct instructor and became a full-time faculty member in 1977. She has won numerous awards for her work in fibers, ceramics and jewelry. Currently she is working on a special commission to design and create a large architectural fiber piece for the new Midland Center.

Captain Kangaroo pushed around By PETER J. BOYER

AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) - First Walter Cronkite, and now Captain Kangaroo. It's open season on icons over at CBS.

Actually, the Captain has only been nicked - for now, at least. Bob Keeshan's early morning province, long coveted by CBS News, will lose half an hour to "Morning With Charles Kuralt" next fall. If Kuralt's show begins to act like a serious ratings competitor to ABC's "Good Morning America" and NBC's "Today," CBS likely will go to a two-hour morning news and Captain Kangaroo probably will be consigned to some afternoon corner, if he stays on the air at all.

It's tough to see the Captain getting pushed aside. For one thing, he's the world's only human being immune to aging (maybe it's the haircut). Besides, it is an irrefutable fact that stuff from my childhood was good and worthy of permanance, better by far than stuff that came later. Right?

On the other hand, I don't know that the Captain Kangaroo who is getting bumped by "Morning" is exactly the same Captain Kangaroo I used to know, which is to say, the REAL Captain Kangaroo. I sampled a show recently and was shocked to learn that the Captain Kangaroo theme song was miss-

I had just assumed it would always be there jauntily rhythmic and inviting - and if not for a fortuitous circumstance (a whistling colleague with a good memory), it might have been lost to me forever.

Worse, there was no Mr. Moose on that morning of unhappy discovery. No Mr. Greenjeans ambling about. The Captain didn't stop for a chat with Grandfather Clock, nor did he feed carrots to Bunny

Tom Terrific, the cartoon kid with the upside-down funnel hat, and his mighty dog Manfred weren't there, either. In fact, the show seemed depressingly. up-to-date, completely absent that charmingly patronizing tone — patently pre-"Sesame Street" — that didn't mean to do much but idly amuse.

An emergency call to my sister, whose home is equipped with a TV-watching child, brought assurances that Greenjeans and the gang were still around the last time she checked, although Tom Terrific seemed to be permanently AWOL. Anybody seen a wandering stick-figure with a funnel on its head? I suppose if the Captain must eventually vanish, it's better that we lose him a half-hour at a time than all at once, as long as he's not suffering. And if his place is to be lost to the networks' morning news war, it's best that the occupying soldier is Charles

Indeed, it occurs to me that Kuralt is rather like Captain Kangaroo, in an adult way - he's easy to take in mornings, and expert at idle amusement. I wonder how he'd look in a funnel hat...

Audience enjoys strange performance

By MARY CAMPBELL Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - The Merce Cunningham Dance Company, appearing at the City Center through Sunday, presented a premiere Tuesday night of a work danced to what seemed to be shooting, pneumatic drills, colliding billiard balls and escaping steam.

The company, known for its unusual electronic music, started the evening with "Fielding Sixes," which had its local premiere last week, and which is danced to electronic barndance fiddles counterpointed by cacophony. It was sounds one could imagine an insane person hearing inside his head.

The new work is titled "Channels - Inserts." Cunningham created it during the winter with filmmaker Charles Atlas, for video. He has rechoreo-graphed it for the stage. Fourteen dancers appear, usually in couples, a few couples at a time. There is constant motion, as one pair moves heads side to side while taking traveling steps, a man is lifting his partner and other couples are exiting and entering.

There doesn't seem to be much "build" to this: movements going on near the end of the half hour are much the same as the movements near the beginning. There are individual shallow leaps for distance, lifts, spins. As we were thinking this all was without humor, women walk on one by one to sit and watch as the men, in succession, take front and center solos. The women shortly get up and walk off but the men keep taking solos. That drew a laugh and was a high point in what looked to us a rather dry exercise. The new work received considerable applause, however.

CBS owes much to Dixie for 'Palmerstown' revival

By PETER J. BOYER AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) - It's very nice to see the Alex Haley-Norman Lear creation, "Palmerstown," back on television for the CBS spring season. Prime time, and CBS especially, owe Dixie this much.

I sometimes wonder whether young viewers outside the South grow up believing that region to be a sort of living cartoon peopled by Yankee Li'l Abner types who say YOU-all instead of y'all. The Southerner according to "Flo," "Dukes of Hazzard," "Concrete Cowboys," "Enos" (CBS) and "Lobo" (NBC) is a boorish lout whose time on this planet is spent in pursuit of the loudest whoop and longest screech of tire.

But "Palmerstown," which returned to the CBS schedule for a limited run last week, is a different place. It's a small-town South of enduring strengths and values, a place of manners and passions and life's lessons, mean and gentle; a real place, a place to grow up in - home.

The central characters in the story belong to two families, one black, one white, who co-exist in a gray region surpassing neighborliness but only approaching unqualified friendship. It's a favorite theme of Haley's, who rediscovered in his "Roots II" research that special relationship between blacks and whites in the South that is the sweet reverse side of the region's grim

More, "Palmerstown" is simply good TV, entertaining family television of the sort that "The Waltons" served up for all those years. A fine cast helps: Beeson Carroll and Bill Duke play the near-friends, sometime-antagonists, W.D. Hall (the town's white grocer) and Luther (the proud blacksmith).

Jermain H. Johnson, who portrays Luther's boy Booker T. is far and away TV's cutest kid. You might have been sold on young Johnson - I was - by his performance in the two-hour "Palmerstown" that began the series last

That episode had young Johnson and Brian Wilson, who plays W.D.'s young on David (Brian G. Wilson), stumbling in anger over inherited prejudices. Suddenly discovering "the difference" between yourself and your closest childhood pal is one of a young Southerner's bitter rites of passage, a stinging memory from Haley's own youth that led directly to the creation of this Little Jermain Johnson cried and swore and clenched his fists when he and his pal tripped over the race line, but mainly he conveyed hurt. It was nice.

Anyway, this season's first episode employed TV's favorite tools - sex and violence - to uplifting ends. W.D.'s teen-age boy Willie-Joe, ennobled by love, offered to marry the pregnant daughter of his Daddy's longtime enemy, even though he's not the father of the expected child.

Pioneer changes name to Energas Company

By SUE FAHLGREN Staff Writer

Officials of Pioneer Natural Gas Co. today announced plans to change the utility's name to Energas Compa-

In a press conference at the Region 18 Education Service Center at Midland Regional Airport, K.B. Watson, president and chief executive officer of the parent Pioneer Corporation, said the change was necessary to differentiate between the parent company and its six subsidiaries.

"For the past year, the corporation has engaged in a study of internal operations and external operation,' Watson said. He said the result of the study was "streamlining management and to measure accuracy and clarity of the corporation."

Besides a general reorganization within the company, the study pointed to the name change as a way of overcoming "the conflict between the corporation and the utility," he said.

'For Pioneer Natural Gas customers, the only noticeable change will be the new name," he said. "Energas Company signs will begin appearing on company property during April and, after April 2, checks for bill payments should be made to Energas Company."

The total changeover should take several weeks, but Watson said the majority will be completed by mid-April. He said trucks in the Midland-Odessa area will begin carrying the new name and logo on Monday. Pioneer Natural Gas Company currently serves 72 cities and communities in Northwest Texas, covering about 50,000 square miles and serving about 275,000 residential, commercial and irrigation customers. Watson said Energas Company will serve almost all of the customers previously served by Pioneer Natural Gas.

Transmission of gas to the Energas system will be handled by another new company, Westar Transmission Company. Both Energas and Westar are divisions of Pioneer Corporation,

"The name change will be useful for almost everyone," Watson said. 'Customers and the public will find 'Energas Company' a convenient name to remember and use, and an appropriate description for a company that supplies energy from natural gas. What is more, the utility division will now be easily distinguished from the parent corporation, an obvious advantage for both companies and for anyone who deals with them.

Watson also announced that the board of directors of the Pioneer Corporation has elected three veteran officials of Pioneer Natural Gas as senior officers of Energas.

Charles K. Vaughan, 43, will be president of Energas Company and a vice president of the Pioneer Corporation. A 23-year veteran at the company, Vaughan had been vice president of Pioneer Corporation and in charge of the utility division distribution system since October 1979.

"Pioneer Natural Gas has a long history of service and growth in West Texas," Vaughan said this morning. "Energas has a commitment to continue this service to our customers. 1981 will mark 75 years of business growth in West Texas. Energy supplies and rates are no longer a minor consideration to us (in business and home); they are major considerations," he said.

Other officers of Energas Company include Vernon Clem, vice president in charge of the West Texas Division, and Harry Neel, vice president in charge of the Amarillo Division.

Vaughan and Neel will be based at Energas headquarters in Amarillo, while Clem will be in Lubbock.

The establishment of Energas ends more than 25 years of operation under the Pioneer Natural Gas Company name for the utility. Pioneer Natural Gas was formed in 1954 by consolidation of four gas utilities.

The parent company began in 1906 as the Amarillo Gas Company, becoming Pioneer Corporation in 1975. Besides Energas and Westar, the parent company now has six principal operating subsidiaries engaged in oil and gas exploration and production, extraction of natural gas liquids, contract petroleum drilling, oil field equipment sales and fabrication, uranium exploration and production and sales of heavy construction equip-

Department of Corrections. At that time, Ward said, Pickett claimed McOscar had given him the keys to the van and told him to "take it to Big Bend and trade it for some keys (kilos of marijuana). He said then that McOscar got 15 "keys," and that the others kept 75 "keys" and that McOscar flew "up North" to sell his share of the contraband. Ward stated Pickett said that McOscar was "into the stock market, and he was hurting very bad financially, if I understood it right, and he was going to take the marijuana up North...'cause we was like getting it for a quarter of what they could sell it for up there.'

Three years ago, an ounce ("lid") of mediocre marijuana in Midland was selling for about $10.

But in a deposition taken last Jan. 9 in Fort Worth, Pickett testified that had lied in Ward and made a statement because he "just harassed me about it.

"I probably told him several different versions of the story, but I just told you the true story, true ver-

Under the "true version," Pickett testified that McOscar got none of the marijuana and that his friend Lettner had kept and sold it. But he still maintained that McOscar was party to the scheme to have the van "stolen" and to trade it for marijuana.

"At that time, Joe (McOscar), he smoked pot; Ronnie (Lettner) smoked pot; I smoked pot," Pickett

Under the "true version," Pickett also said that Lettner had traded TransAm and Corvette sports cars for marijuana.

McOscar, however, testified that the van indeed was stolen and that he was not a party to any scheme to swap his van for a "haul" of marijua-

IN CLOSING ARGUMENTS, insurance attorney Schorre told the jurors not to let McOscar's attorney, Lashford, "lead you down 'rabbit trails' or something that's unimportant.

...We're talking about whether or not Mr. McPeters was involved in the sham theft of his van," said Schorre

"In fact, he was a party to it...Mr. McOscar had hedged with you every step of the way (in his testimony)....He's turned against his 'friends,' too...'

Lashford, speaking calmly and without haste, countered his adversary attorney's contention.

"I disagree very vehemently with what Mr. Schorre said: "'They're dopers; they're no-good." The insurance company's attorneys used "a lot of innuendo — not facts smut... "It might help to check out both sides of the story," Lashford said.

"They made a big 'to-do' that he (McOscar) purchased this policy right before the van was stolen, Lashford said. "He already had insurance; he just changed companies." Lashford also noted that "no (criminal) charges have ever been filed" in connection with the McOscar case.

GM says import limits not enough

DETROIT (AP) Even if Japan voluntarily limits auto exports to the United States, this alone will not solve the "competitive problem" facing U.S. automakers, General Motors Corp. Chairman Roger Smith

"I believe it will happen soon," Smith said Wednesday of voluntary limits. Speaking to the Flint Industrial Management Association, he said, "The pressure of unemployed Americans and red ink is too great for Congress."

But Smith noted that GM, the No.1 automaker, needs "more competitive labor costs" in addition to better product design, quality and higher productivity in order to compete with Japanese imports. Smith said high hourly wage rates and too much time off with pay, coupled with absenteeism, have caused labor costs

And, repeating a position taken previously by GM as well as Ford Motor Corp., he called for reopening the current contract that expires in fall 1982. The alternative, he said at a press conference, would be more layoffs of United Auto Workers union members in the already hard-hit indus-

Officer seeks to break crime cycle

poor, sprawling clan with a record of more than 150 arrests over three generations. Now a police officer determined to "break the cycle of crime" is trying to take at least four of the family's youngsters away from their parents in a case that could set a startling legal precedent.

"My judgment was based on the parents being criminal role models," said officer Tom Corey. "Extrapolated to its extreme, this case could mean that the government has the authority to drive up and down the street and say, 'You're not an appropriate role model, so we'll take your kids.

"But at some point, there's got to be a way to break the cycle. It's up to the judge to decide that.'

The case began last fall when Corey, assigned to the Pasadena Youth Services Division, noted a report that two cousins - aged 8 and 9 - had been caught shoplifting $3.97 worth of toys. The report said the children had no prior record and required 'no further counseling."

Then Corey noticed the children came from the "Wilson" family. Wilson is not the family's real

"These minors," the 35-year-old former teacher wrote in a report, "spent their formative years in a family environment in which it was the norm for family members to be arrested and incarcerated their fathers in prison, their mothers both serving three sisters in their 20s lived on welfare and shared 90-day jail terms this year, nearly all the adult a two-bedroom house with their mother, their chil-

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The "Wilson" family is a members of their immediate family have doubledigit arrest figures, and even their great-aunt was arrested twice this year.

Corey has placed three of the children in protective custody. Next month, the county Juvenile Dependency Court will determine whether at least one other child in the third generation of Wilsons — a family led by a 46-year-old woman and her 14 children should be removed from their homes.

Court observers say Corey's action could break new legal ground and could redefine what constitutes an unfit home.

"It's possible the county will try to keep chipping away until finally, any parent with a criminal background can have his kids taken away," said one of the Wilsons' court-appointed attorneys, Ron Marks.

One member of the Wilson family - 23-year-old Billy - says police helped him "a lot." He became involved in a petty theft 10 years ago, and officers got him tutoring, counseling and a place in a scouting progam. Now he runs a janitorial business that employs three of his brothers.

But he said the department is prejudiced against his family

"They can't say the Wilson family ever hurt anyone," he said. "The only thing they can say is we stole clothes or food because the welfare wasn't enough for 14 of us."

Corey's 18-page report on the family described how dren and their mother's other children - 10 youngsters ranging in age from 14 months to 18 years.

The report also cited a "lack of proper guidance, control and supervision due to the Wilsons' unwillingness to abide by the law." Research correlating the criminal activity of children with their parents is virtually non-existent. "Our ability to predict behavior is very limited." said Hunter Hurst, director of the National Center for Juvenile Justice.

Said Dorothy Otnow Lewis, research professor of psychiatry at New York Medical Center: "I might point out that it's hard to know if you wind up doing more harm by putting children in foster homes where there's no attachment.'

Corey attributes more than 150 arrests to 17 members of the Wilson clan, from disturbing the peace to attempted murder and drug sales.

"The parents are criminals. Their kids are criminals. And the kids' kids are just starting to become criminals," he said. "It's a criminal family.

"If we lose this case, I'll bet four months of paychecks those kids will end up in juvenile hall before they're 18."

Jury still debating Enquirer verdict

By LINDA DEUTSCH Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The judge in Carol Burnett's libel suit against the National Enquirer has decided to let the jurors deliberate one more day today, then he'll bring up the possibility of a hung jury, the tabloid's lawyer says.

uperior Cout Judge Peter Smith summoned lawers for both sides to his chambers Wednesday as the 11 jurors spent a second full day deliberating.

William Masterson, who is defending the Enquirer, said the principals discussed the possibility of a deadlock. He said the judge was inclined to let the jurors deliberate again today, then question them on their progress if they have not reached a verdict by late in the day.

The jurors are trying to determine whether Miss Burnett was defamed by a 1976 gossip column item accusing her of boisterous behavior at a Washington restaurant. The Enquirer later retracted the item as

After the jurors asked to go home early Wednesday afternoon, reporting that they were tired, Mas-terson said, "I think there's a good chance they are

He speculated the panel may be having trouble determining whether the Enquirer showed "reckless disregard for the truth" in publishing the disputed item. Such a determination must be made in a libel case involving a public figure.

Masterson said he was encouraged by the long deliberations and felt a deadlock would be a victory for the Enquirer.

Miss Burnett's attorney, Ed Bronson, said he's not convinced the jury is deadlocked.

"It doesn't bother me that it's taking this long," he said. "Although the case went fast, we had 15 witnesses. We gave them a lot of evidence and a lot

He said there had been no report of arguing among the jurors. "I can see these people being just very conscientious in talking," he said. "I'm sure they're all very much impressed with their responsibility.'

The jury's early departure Wednesday afternoon caught Miss Burnett unaware, and she did not follow her custom of returning to the courthouse to see the

The jurors have been asked to determine three basic issues in the case — whether the Enquirer item accusing Miss Burnett of boisterous behavior in a Washington restaurant was false and defamatory; whether it was published with "actual malice" on the part of the Enquirer, and whether Miss Burnett is entitled to a monetary damage award.

On Wednesday, Miss Burnett said awaiting the decision was like "waiting to have my children." But Masterson said, "It's not like having a baby. It's like waiting for my draft notice."

Prison bill headed for conference

By LEE JONES Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - State prison director W.J. Estelle's proposed work-furlough program is a 'power grab" and legislators ought not to fund it, a lawmaker says. Estelle's program, which Gov. Bill Clements opposes, would allow 2,500 inmates to return to their homes and hold jobs while reporting to field supervisors from the Texas Department of Corrections. He said the program is designed to reduce overcrowding in the state's prisons, which U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice has ruled violates inmates' constitutional rights. Clements' solution to the overpopulation problem is construction of prefabricated steel dormitories to house 2,880 inmates, most of whom now sleep on floors of two-man cells that hold three inmates. Senators had amended the governor's $35 million emergency prison construction bill, giving Estelle $250,000 for the work-furlough program, due to start

But Rep. Bill Hollowell, D-Grand Saline, persuaded the House to reject the amendment and insist on a conference committee to talk over the difference. "I think Mr. Estelle is making a power grab that is far greater than the one Judge Justice made,'

He said that while Estelle is "an honorable man," giving one person power to send inmates home could lead to "all kinds of chicanery. "If you grant Mr. Estelle the power to be a czar over the prison system, you are placing him above every judge in Texas, every jury in Texas, the Board of Pardons of Paroles, the Legislature and the Governor," Hollowell said. Estelle says an obscure state law gives him the authority to create the work-furlough program. Rep. Bill Presnal, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said he had advised Estelle to request money for the work-furlough program by means of a separate bill but Estelle had never done

An attempt to block Hollowell's call for a conference committee failed, 37-103.

Elusive young men hard to catch

WASHINGTON (AP) The director of the Selective Service System says it will be difficult to catch and punish young men who do not register for the draft as long as a standing court decision bars use of Social Security numbers to track them down. In testimony Wednesday before the House Armed Services personnel subcommittee, Bernard D. Rostker said the court ruling, which is being appealed, has forced the agency to check for violators "in a passive way.

He explained that about all Selective Service officials can do is check registration records for the names of the several hundred young men who have been reported, from various lated the Privacy Act, About 95 percent of the sources, as having failed to register last year.

'If we find that the person is not on file, we are forwarding those names to the Department of Justice" for further investigation and possible prosecution, Rostker said.

Failure to register carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine upon conviction.

Rostker said that under the draft registration system that expired in 1975, registrants had to give their Social Security numbers.

But after then-President Carter revived the mechanism last year, draft opponents argued successfully in court that such a requirement vio-which governs access to federal records of individuals.

"If we cannot undertake a full program of computer-matching Social Security and Selective Service records, it would be very difficult to identify those who have not registered," Rostker

Rep. Bill Nichols, D-Ala., subcommittee chairman, said he thought "remedial legislation may be necessary" if the government does not eventually win in the courts.

Nearly 5.5 million men have registered since the program began last summer, but more than 450,-000 others, by some estimates, have not been accounted for

Man kills self over DC-10 crash

TULSA, Okla. (AP) - Two years after the crash of a DC-10 in Chicago, the nation's worst air disaster has claimed its 274th victim — an airplane mechanic who apparently had nothing to do with the accident but who took his own life because he felt responsible, his wife says.

"He was a casualty of that crash," Marilyn Mar-shall said after Earl Russell Marshall, 47, apparently asphyxiated himself with auto exhaust. Marshall was to give a deposition about the plane on Wednesday, but American Airlines spokesman Art Jackson said the mechanic "was not involved" with the plane that crashed.

His name "never appeared in any part" of the legal maneuvering that has taken place since the accident that killed all 271 people aboard the American Airlines jet on May 25, 1979, Jackson said. Two people on the ground also were killed in the crash. But Mrs. Marshall said her husband, a supervisor at American's maintenance facility here, felt somehow responsible for the crash. "He had very bad guilt feelings," Mrs. Marshall said, "and the accident gave him something to attach his feelings to." The crash occurred when an engine fell from the wide-bodied airliner as it took off from Chicago's O'Hare International Airport, causing it to roll over and dive to the ground. All U.S. DC-10s were grounded for 37 days afterward. A federl report alled into question maintenance procedures at the Tulsa plant. The procedure, in which a forklift was used to support an aircraft engine and pylon during maintenance removal, apparently caused a crack in a supporting bulkhead flange, the report on the crash said. Mechanics testified they had received little training in the removal procedure before the crash, according to the report.

McDonnell Douglas Corp., which manufactured the aircraft, and American are involved in determining the degree of liability for the crash. Some 118 lawsuits brought by families of the victims are pending in federal court in Chicago.

Marshall was one of nearly 150 American employees notified by McDonnell Douglas attorneys they would be asked for depositions concerning the crash,

APRIL 15 DEPOSIT DEADLINE

If you haven't already made your 1980 contributions to your Individual Retirement Account — or even if you haven't opened one yet — you still can at First Savings and Loan in Midland through April 15.

To take advantage of your tax shelter for 1980, you must open or add to your IRA before you file your tax return.

And remember, we pay the maximum interest permitted on all IRA tax sheltered accounts. If you are not now covered by any other retirement plan and invest 15% of your annual salary (up to a maximum $1500 each year) you will not have to pay any federal income taxes on your ' IRA, or the interest it builds, until you retire or begin withdrawing the funds.

Not only can you reduce your income tax, if you also happen to be under 35 years old now, you could, by the time you retire, be a quarter-millionaire! Social Security might not be so bad with a quarter of a million dollars to ease over the rough spots!

Stop by First Savings downtown at 500 W. Wall or in San Miguel Square and open or add to your IRA account before time runs out. The few minutes it takes now can make a world of difference when you retire.

Stock market gains

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced slightly in active trading today, after climbing Wednesday to its highest level in eight years. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which jumped 19.09 Wednesday to its highest close since Jan. 23, 1973, added 1.35 to 1,016.57 by noontime today.

The Dow's record closing high of 1,051.70 was reached on Jan. 11, 1973. Advances outnumbered declines by a 7-6 margin among New York Stock Exchangelisted issues.

Analysts noted some residual enthusiasm over the Dow Jones industrial average's clean break Wednesday through the 1,000 level.

But they also said many investors were taking a cautious view of how much further the market's recent advance might go.

Interest rates have stopped declining lately, posing some questions about the likelihood of any further sustained drop in borrowing costs.

K mart led the active list, up 1/8 at 19%. A 130,-300-share block traded at

191/4 and another of 100,-000 changed hands at

Oil issues were generally strong, with Phillips Petroleum up % at 49%; Standard Oil of Ohio up 1% at 53%, and Gulf up ¼ at 37½. The NYSE's composite index rose .26 to 79.08. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up 1,67 at 363.70.

Volume on the Big Board reached 31.07 million shares at noontime, against 21.53 million at the same point Wednes-

Opening lead: Three of ♡.

Here's another opportunity to see how well you handle your assets. Cover up the East and West hands with your thumbs and decide how you would play six spades after a low heart lead.

You were a trifle ag gressive in the auction. Partner was a passed hand, so the jump to slam was rather optimistic. However, now that you are in six spades, all you have to do is make it.

You win the ace of hearts. Before reading any further, tell me how you intend playing the diamond suit?

There is only one correct answer: "I don't know!" How you play the diamonds depends on whether you have one or two club losers. Once you realize that, the correct line is easy to find. At trick two, enter your hand with the ace of spades and lead a low club toward the queen. If West has the king, you have only one club loser, so after drawing the remaining trump, you lead a diamond to the queen. If the finesse wins, you make your

As the cards lie, however, East will capture the queen of clubs with the king. Now you have a second club loser to worry about. Your only hope is that East has both missing diamond honors, so that you will be able to discard one of dummy's clubs. Assume East returns a club-as good a defense as any. Win the ace, enter dummy with a trump to the ten and lead a diamond to the queen, then discard your club loser on the ace of diamonds. Crossruff the rest of the hand for twelve tricks.

I hope you didn't start off by drawing two rounds of trumps, because now you will be a trump short in dummy to ruff both your fourth diamond and third club.

How do you choose the best opening lead? Charles Goren has the answer. For a copy of "Winning Opening Leads," send $1.85 to "Goren-Leads," care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 259, Norwood, N.J. 07648. Make checks payable Newspaperbooks.

been scrapped.

- A group of former Green Berets reportedly assembled this month in Florida to launch a mission into Vietnam and bring back "at least one" American prisoner of war to prove POWs still are being held by the Vietnamese.

The Sentinel Star newspaper of Orlando reported the plan, which it said was to be carried out without the support or knowledge of the U.S. government.

It said the mission has since been scrapped.

The team of former Army Special Forces veterans, led by Lt. Col. Beauregard Gritz, assembled in Central Florida's Lake County for what was to be several weeks of intensive training followed by deployment to an undisclosed location in Southeast Asia, the Sentinel Star said in today's editions.

From that base, the team was to conduct a raid into Vietnam to rescue "at least one" of the American prisoners to prove to the world the prisoners still are being held in the Southeast Asian nation.

Gritz said he had contacted members of families of prisoners of war and troops listed as missing in action and that they gae him thir blessing because "if even one came out alive, it would be worth it. The code name for the rescue operation was "AVA — Actions Vital to America."

The newspaper said there was no relation between the Vietnam rescue operation and the arrests last week of 13 men dressed in camouflage gear and armed with commando-type weapons on a ranch near a nuclear power plant at Crystal River in westcentral Florida. Those men said they were practicing jungle warfare as part of a twoweek, $350 survival course.

The Sentinel Star said it had been aware of the rescue plan since Feb. 26 but had agreed to withhold the story in order to avoid compromising the mission.

The newspaper said it had received inquiries from the FBI concerning details of the rescue mission and that FBI officials had said the mission would have violated U.S. law concerning launching of operations from U.S. territory

Blacks barred from club

BASTROP, La. (AP) - Two black teen-agers may sacrifice their spots on a high school golf team so their teammates can play in tournaments at whites-only private clubs, says the father of one of the boys. "Right now, I think they're going to turn it said Learles Lloyd. "It's best that they just get off the team."

Detran Lloyd and Leslie Williams, members of the St. Frederick High School golf team in Monroe, were not allowed to compete last week in a 12-team high school tournament held at the Moorehouse Country Club in Bastrop, a private golf course.

Lloyd and Williams are black, and the club does not admit blacks, said Learles Lloyd, who is Detran's father and Leslie's uncle.

The two black youths were not even allowed to watch the tournament, the elder Lloyd said Wednesday

Armand Mathews, athletic director at St. Frederick, said his golf team dropped out of two other recent golf matches for the same reason and was about to drop out of the 12-team tournament when Williams and Lloyd objected.

"I told them I thought we should go home, but the blacks wanted the team to compete," said Mathews. "They thought it was dumb to call the whole tournament off and send 12 teams home."
