Reagan suffers 'limited setback'

By JAMES GERSTENZANG Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Reagan developed a fever which hit 102 degrees Friday, a "limited setback" which poses a remote potential for pneumonia, while FBI officials concluded toxic explosive material in the bullet that hit him had not leaked into his body.

The president's chest surgeon discounted the rise in temperature — which later fell to near-normal levels and then rose again — and said Rea-gan still is likely to be sent home to the White House early next week. His doctors disclosed in a statement issued at the White House that after the president's temperature rose late in the day, they discovered bronchial plugs — hardened tissue and mucous — and "dormant blood" — blood clots that had been expected to form - and removed them in a "fiberoptic-bronchoscopy.

Under that procedure, tiny lightcarrying tubes were inserted through the president's mouth and throat and into his damaged left lung, and other tubes were used to remove the mate-

They said Reagan was once again receivng antibiotics he had received following surgery, as a result of Friday's procedure. The antibiotics had been halted for more than 24 hours.

The FBI raised the possibility that a toxic chemical contained in the "devastator" bullet which struck the president may have seeped into his body.

Kelleher said the White House had been notified of the ballistics finding, which confirmed that the slugs which hit Reagan and three others were explosive rounds which contained lead azide. Kelleher said he preferred to leave it to medical authorities to assess the potential danger of the chemical, but "while it's not healthy material, it's not extremely toxic."

The official said the bullet dug from Reagan's chest - an apparent ricochet which did not explode-had lost about one-eighth of its original weight, raising the possiblity that some of the chemical remained in his place. Dr. Dennis O'Leary, of the George Washington University Hospital staff, said in a telephone interview that "all the lead in a bullet" would not be "sufficient to create a detectable blood-level of lead" in the president's

Other doctors concurred with Dr. Benjamin Aaron that the president's fever, which dropped to 99 degrees later in the day, was a normal postoperative occurrence. Meanwhile, the president got out of his bed for the second straight day and conferred with two senior Cabinet members about to leave on foreign trips.

The president received Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. and Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger, who reportedly got embroiled in an argument in the White House situa-tion room within hours after the president was shot.

Aaron said at a mid-afternoon briefing that the 102-degree fever indicated that part of the preident's lft lung was not functioning as it should be. Normal body temperature is 98.6 degrees. He called the development a "limited setback," adding that there is no evidence that infection has set in. Fevers are common after major chest or lung surgery, the physician

Cable, property tax issues on some state ballots

Many Texans will vote Saturday on who they want to run their cities. what to do about cable television and how much property tax they don't want to pay.

San Antonio residents are expected to vote in record numbers in the municipal election in which Henry Cisneros hopes to become the first Hispanic mayor of a major U.S. city. Cisneros has been seeded the favorite to win the eight-man mayoral race. Incumbent mayor Lila Cockrell decided not to seek re-election. Cisneros, reared in the Prospect Hill region of the predominately Mexican-American westside, and wealthy insuranceman John Steen have spent a record stockpile of funds wooing the voters while vying to become mayor of the nation's ninth-largest city. Dallas Mayor Robert Folsom also announced he would not seek office again, and eight candidates have jostled and elbowed their way through the crowded field trying to replace him. Jack Evans, who has served as chairman of the Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport Board and president of Cullum Companies, was considered Dallas voters in a referendum forced by one of the losing contenders.

A negative vote would send the matter back to the city council, which then would have to start the selection process from scratch. If the council's decision is ratified, the first Dallas homes could be hooked up to cable by early next year.

Fort Worth Mayor Woodie Woods is expected to successfully battle three challengers to stay in office.

In McAllen, Mayor Othal Brand faces challengers Mike Frost, a city commissioner, and Dr. Ramiro Casso.

Brand denied trying to cover-up misconduct in the police department

Austin voters will name a seven-member council, including mayor, that would include at least three new members.

Controlled future growth of Austin was a dominating campaign issue in most of the races. Challengers to incumbents, aided by environmental groups, claimed past councils endangered the city's green space beauty by encouraging real estate sprawl.

In the chief race, Mayor Carole McClellan, 41, faces her stiffest challenge since 1977 from 54-year-old Jack McCreary, business-man attorney, and former council member 36-year-oldd Bob Binder. McCreary was narrowly defeated by Mrs. McClellan in 1977.

Also on the ballot are three propositions concerning the formation of a taxing district to suport Austin Community College, which is now governed by Austin public school trustees, with authority to levy property taxes not to exceed 4 cents per $100 valuation for maintenance and 7.5

cents for building bonds. Supporters estimate the maintenance tax would cost an owner of a $50,000 home about $20 annually and the building bond tax about $37.50 a The hotly contested race for mayor in El Paso, also with eight contenders, has centered around the issue of a proposed referendum that would limit the amount of property tax the city could levy.

Polls open from 7a.m. to 7 p.m. Council, school board, hospital seats as stake

Doors at the seven polling places in Midland County will crack open at 7 a.m. today for citizens to pull the levers for their choices in the city, school and hospital election. Those doors should swing shut at 7 p.m. and results should be known by about 8

To be decided are three places on the Midland City Council, two on the Midland Independent School District board of trustees and three seats on the Midland County Hospital Dis-trict board of directors. Also at stake is the future growth of Midland schools as voters will turn thumbs up or down on the $6.6 million school

That issue calls for construction of two elementary schools — one in North Midland and one on the east side to replace De Zovala Elementary

Midland high schools.

Vying for Place 1 on the City Council are Giffert Alstrin and Jesse Hatfield. Gordon Marcum II is unopposed for a third term to Place 2. Incumbent Carroll Thomas is being challenged by John Phipps and George Veloz for Place 3.

Battling for Place 3 on the Midland hool board are Ann Page and Dickie Gatlin. Seeking Place 4 are Gary Hopper and Michael Butler.

Going after the three at-large seats on the hospital board are Wanda Mohr, Ed Magruder, Tom Ingram and Dr. Henrie Mast.

In Greenwood the school board races involve Owen Mobley, Charles Gardner and Jane Vaughan for Place 5; James Brooks for Place 3; Bobby J. Coffee for Place 4; and J.D. Hanson for Place 7.

Persons having questions about the election or where to vote may tele-phone City Secretary James McCullough at 683-4284.

Inflation rate jumps to 16.2 percent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Surging energy costs in the wake of President Reagan's lifting of oil price controls and a new rise in food prices pushed inflation at the wholesale level to an annual rate of 16.2 percent in March, the highest mark in eight months, the government reported Friday.

Unemployment, meanwhile, remained unchanged from February.

Yugoslav leader says rioters fired on police

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — The leader of Yugoslavia's troubled Kosovo province charged Friday that ethnic Albanian rioters fired on security forces during recent nationalist demonstrations in the impoverished region, the official Tanjug news agency reported.

Yugoslav officials banned travel by reporters to the province adjacent to Albania, but statements by provincial leader Fadilj Hodza indicated the unrest was continuing.

Hodza, who like 85 percent of the province's population is ethnic Albanian, did not say if any police or demonstrators were killed. He vowed the protesters "will be punished in a most drastic way."

The province, the poorest part of this ethnically diverse nation, has seen three weeks of violent protests against the government in Belgrade. At least 35 people have been injured and more than a score arrested.

In a speech to Communist Party members in Kosovo's capital of Pristina, Hodza described the demonstrators as "a handful of wretched traitors, some of whom even dared to shoot at our police." Te demonstrations began March 11 with young people's protests against the quality of student food, but were reported to have then taken on politi-cal overtones. Albanian activists in Kosovo have long sought more autonomy, with some urging secession from Yugoslavia and union with Alba-

Hodza called on students and pupils Friday "to return to their schools and lessons," indicating that the unrest

Tanjug reported in an earlier dispatch that the nation's top two leadership bodies, the state and Communist Party presidencies, met in an emergency session Thursday night to dis-

In their statement, the leaders charged that the riots were organized by separatist "enemies to cause instability and threaten the territorial integrity of Yugoslavia."

The statement said measures taken by authorities and police "were justified to liquidate riots and re-establish peace, order and normal conditions in Kosovo." The statement did not specify what "measures" were taken.

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) -Prime Minister Prem Tinsulanonda urged the Thai people Friday to forget the coup and return to work after his forces put down a military revolt that left two dead, the first fatalities in 30 years of traditionally bloodless Bangkok uprisings.

A Thai army tank takes up position outside the royal palace and Buddha Friday, as the three-day-old coup against Prime Minister

Prem Tinsulanonda appears to

"Everything is all over. The matter has been settled peacefully...I will give a fair judgment to all. Let us forget what happened and look to the future, and continue to work for our country," he said .

The statement was issued in Korat, the northeastern military stronghold where Prem, King Bhumipol Adulya-dej, Queen Sirikit and the rest of the popular royal family took refuge and denounced the coup leaders.

The leader of the rebellion, Gen. Sant Chitpatima, was reported by military sources to have fled by helicopter to Burma, and all his top aides either gave up or were captured.

Their capture alive and an expected policy of leniency toward them was in the tradition that started with a coup against the absolute power of the monarchy in 1932. There has been no planned violence in a Bangkok revolt since 1951 when a boat in the harbor was bombed, and the latest coup was the closest to a battle since then

Wednesday, was crushed almost without resistance in less than three hours Friday, when Prem sent thou-sands of troops rolling into Bangkok. They closed the airport, occupied radio and TV stations and took over all government buildings. The only setback was when about 300 rebel soldiers at army headquarters refused to give up.

They held out for more than an hour. Then, to the cheers of thousands of people who had gathered in the area, they filed out, climbed into trucks and returned to their barracks unescorted.

There were only two brief shooting incidents reported — a civilian was accidentally shot in the head when rebel troops at the royal palace fired at government troops.

Four rebels were also wounded and one died later. Two other rebels were slightly wounded as they tried to run a roadblock later in the morning.

Otherwise, the operation went smoothly. Most of the rebel soldiers simply faded away, abandoning their Sources in Korat and Bangkok said that the two sides had been talking overnight Thursday, trying to end the crisis peacefully. However, they said, Sant refused to yield.

About 5:30 a.m., Prem ordered his troops to begin moving. Some were reportedly flown to the civilian airport on the outskirts of Bangkok, where loyal air force officers at the adjoining military airport had taken

Meanwhile, the 21st infantry, known as the king's bodyguard, moved in from their base 50 miles to the south, and military units that had been in the capital throughout the coup but had taken no active part were ordered to help.

Fear of quake prompts

HONG KONG (AP) — Panicky Chinese are fleeing to Hong Kong out of fear a major earthquake is about to hit Guangdong province on the mainland's south-ern coast. But Chinese authorities deny a big quake is about to strike, and the Hong Kong government says the refugees have to go home.

Some 90 junks carrying nearly 4,500 fishermen and their families sailed into choppy Hong Kong waters Tuesday and Wednesday from the Chinese coastal counties of Hai Fung and Lu Fung, and the government of this British colony warred. ment of this British colony warned

"If they don't leave when the weather is clear, they will be taken ashore and sent back to China by train

The ultimatum followed a report from Peking saying: "There is no possibility in the foreseeable future of a disastrous earthquake in Guangdong's

China's domestic news agency said although slight tremors were recorded on Feb. 29 and March 15 in Hai Fung and Lu Fung counties, seismological studies show no indications of a major earthquake hitting the area, and "the panicky sentiments caused by these tremors are completely unwarranted."

However, most of the refugees said quake wzrnings were issued by public securities officials of the two counties. Some said the officials informed them a severe earthquake was likely to hit the area between March 31 and April 10.

India police intensify search for bandit queen

NEW DELHI, India (AP) - Some 2,500 security men fanned out across a rugged valley in central India Friday searching for Phoolan Devi, the nation's sexually-tormented bandit queen.

The 25-year-old woman, whose name means "flower goddess," escaped a 15-hour shootout with police Wednesday that left five members of her all-male gang dead, authorities

Police describe her as attractive, five feet tall with short black hair and having a taste for pantsuits. One newspaper said she also likes to see members of her gang "rape women before her own eyes.

Authorities have accused her of ordering 20 villagers massacred Feb. 14 - St. Valentine's Day in the West because she suspected them of harboring two men who murdered her lover then raped her.

She and her men, who reportedly wear stolen police uniforms, have roamed the rugged hills and deep ravines of the Chambal Valley region, 270 miles southeast of New Delhi, on horseback and on foot for months.

Reports from the troubled area say that there is a flourishing illegal arms industry and that the major gangs there are armed with semi-automatic weapons and hand grenades.

The gangsters reportedly have seized some of the arms from policemen slain or wounded in frequent clashes in the narrow, winding gorges and isolated hamlets of Chambal.

Reports from the area say that Devi turned to a life of crime after a broken marriage and family divisions.

Married off by her family to a man much older than her when she was only 11, she frequently quarrelled with her husband, Putti Lal. According to one account, the exa-sperated Lal finally returned the rebellious girl to her parents, who own a little farm in Uttar Pradesh. A report in the Sunday Standard newspaper said she had "innumerable affairs" and when she finally returned to Lal, "she found he had taken a second wife who ill treated

In November 1978, bandits raided the home of Phoolan Devi's rich uncle who accused her of passing on information about his wealth to the attackers. She was implicated in the case and arrested on charges of possessing looted property in January, Freed after about eight weeks in jail, Phoolan Devi was kidnapped by members of Vikram Mallah's gang.

Mallah eventually became her lover.

But Mallah's rivals killed him last August, kidnapped Phoolan Devi and took her to a village where they reportedly raped her. She escaped, returned Feb. 14, lined up 20 villagers and had them shot, authorities said.

In the race for the Place 1 City Council seat, our choice is Giffert Alstrin. Both he and his opponent, Jesse Hatfield, are longtime Midlanders and both were graduated from Midland high schools. Alstrin was a leader in establishing the Palmer Drug Abuse Program here, a plan for helping young people who have become involved with drugs.

We believe Alstrin's strong interest and concern in this area are needed on the council. Drugs are a serious threat and should concern all Midland leaders.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. hopes during his trip to the Middle East to rally pivotal nations behind a Reagan administration strategy to block Soviet aggression in the region, U.S.

Part of that strategy is to promote an active defense, coordinated through a so-called "strategic consensus," in a string of nations stretching from Egypt on the west to Pakistan on the east.

One challenge for Haig will be to reassure some of those nations that an expanded U.S. military presence against Soviet aggression in the re-gion doesn't pose a threat to them as well. Saudi Arabia is authoritatively said to be concerned on this point.

Haig headed Friday for a 10-day trip to eight nations, including Egypt, Israel, Jordan and Saudi Arabia. He also will visit Spain, Britain, France

Five Taiwan spies reportedly arrested

PEKING (AP) - Five spies for Taiwan's Nationalist Chinese Party have been arrested in south China's Guangdong province in the past three months, Canton newspapers say.

The papers said the Nationalist Party — the Kuomintang — had sent spies to gather intelligence, develop spy organizations on the mainland, spread "reactionary propaganda," "poison people's minds," create disturbances and wreck China's modernization efforts. modernization efforts.

Identical reports appeared Tuesday in the Yang-cheng Evening News, the Canton Daily and the Nanfang Daily, all seen in Peking on Friday. The Nationalists fled to the island of Taiwan after the Communist takeover of the mainland in 1949. The papers said Chung Chieh-fu was arrested in Canton Jan. 27 after gathering intelligence on China's military affairs, economic readjustment and the trial of the "Gang of Four" ultra-leftists, led by Chairman Mao Tse-tung's widow, Jiang Qing. They said Yen Ming-hui, who had escaped to Hong Kong in 1972, had recruited Chiu Ching-jung, a worker in Shaoguan, to gather intelligence and both were arrested in that city in mid-February.

British colony under state of emergency

BELIZE CITY, Belize (AP) - Soldiers armed with anti-riot gear patrolled this tense city Friday as most government workers stayed out on strike to protest an independence agreement for this British Caribbe-

British Governor James Hennessy imposed a state of emergency late Thursday — including a 9 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew — in an effort to stem the rioting and looting that disrupted the city for three days this week. Public meetings were banned.

The workers and the Chamber of Commerce called the strike Tuesday to demand an immediate popular vote on an independence draft-proposal worked out by Premier George Price with Britain and Guatemala, the neighboring nation which for a century has claimed Belize is Guatemalan territory.

Under the outline settlement, Guatemala will drop that claim and get free land and water access to the Caribbean through Belize.

Price's government has agreed to a referendum but wants to wait until final details are settled. The opposition wants the referendum held before the agreement is concluded.

The still-secret draft agreement would also assure that Belize would not be used as a base for forces hostile to Guatemala.

Britain retains control of the foreign affairs, de-fense and internal security of this otherwise self-ruled colony — formerly British Honduras. In London, The Foreign Office said there is no present plan to postpone the independence talks scheduled for Monday here, Price and the opposition party leaders were to fly to the British capital Sunday. Squads of Belizian soldiers, backed by a few British troopers, patrolled the streets of Belize City, Belmopan — the capital — and other communities in jeeps and on foot. They were armed with submachine guns, clubs, and riot guns designed to shoot The only acknowledged fatality this week was a Belizian policeman killed when his gun accidentally went off during a riot Wednesday, authorities said. Unconfirmed reports said three more people were killed and several more injured, but the government refused to confirm this.

Roaches traveled in style

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — The cargo holds of treasure ships sailing between Spain and Mexico in the 1550's carried more than gold pieces of eight. Tucked away beneath the treasure were a few six-legged cockroaches, says a Texas A&M University archaeologist.

Dr. Don Hamilton, an expert on artifact preservation who has studied objects from the famous 1554 Spanish treasure fleet that sank off Texas' Padre Island, said remains of roaches were found in concrete-like encrustations that formed around cannon, anchors, coins and tools.

Remains of both New World and Old World varieties of the insect have been found in 16th century wrecks, proving the ships were taking part in an unwitting cargo exchange of pests, Hamilton said.

He carried out preservation on the 1554 wreckage while working at the University of Texas at Austin. Relics from the Spanish fleet on which Hamilton worked underwent an extensive tour of Texas last year.

Submarine construction planned

WASHINGTON (AP)

Navy Secretary John

Navy is considering working with the United Kingdom to develop a new class of Trident submarines capable of firing a missile 6,000 miles.

"The U.K. is going to build a Trident. It may be possible to develop a submarine jointly with them," Lehman said.

During an appearance Thursday before the House Armed Services seapower subcommittee, Lehman said the new class of Tridents would be capable of carrying the D-5 Trident missile, an improved version of the Trident I missile that has a range of 4,600 miles.

Last month, Navy Vice Adm. John G. Williams Jr. said a Trident submarine force equipped with the D-5 missile "would be a much more cost effective force."

The Trident, the nation's most sophisticated submarine, is 560 feet long and has 24 longrange strategic missiles. Each missile has 17 war-

The Trident submarines are being built by the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp. at shipyards in Groton, Conn. and Quonset Point, R.I. The Navy estimates one Trident costs $1.2 billion.

The division has contracts for eight Trident submarine, the first f which is expected to be delivered late this year.

Lehman said the Navy plans to start negotiations within several weeks with Electric Boat for the ninth Trident which has been authorized. "If they want to stay in business, they'd better negotiate in good faith," he said.

The Reagan administration has requested funds for a 10th Tridentin fiscal year 1982.

Lehman said the Navy would like to see three Tridents delivered every two years. The first Trident, the Ohio, already is two years behind sched-

Real estate officials meeting for finance session

Benny McMahan

The president of the Texas Association of Realtors, Benny McMahan of Dallas, will be among the real estate executives presenting a creative fin-ancing-legal update session in Mid-land Monday at the Hilton Hotel. Realtors from Big Spring, Odessa and Andrews will join Midland, the host board, for this meeting.

McMahan, past president of the Dallas board and past chairman of the Texas Real Estate Research Center Advisory Committee, will first meet with the board officers at 9 a.m., followed by the general session from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

"Jerry Starr of San Antonio will begin at 1:30 p.m. after lunch and present innovative financing ideas which can benefit prospective home-buyers in Texas," McMahan stated. "I want to encourage TAR members to come hear Starr address 'Mortgage Financing for the '80s,' which had had a great reception at regional meetings thus far. Starr's ideas can't solve all housing problems, but can surely help in getting at what financing resources are available.

Fred C. Gage of Odessa, TAR vice president, will be presiding at the meeting. Along with McMahan's reporting on the recent TAR and National Association of Realtors' legislative meetings in Austin and Washington, D.C., Fort Worth attorney Bob Carter will review legislative developments affecting the real estate pro-Betty McDearmon of Midland, local board president, and Midland's Patsy Bohannan, member of the TAR executive board, will be among the many local Realtors welcoming the genial TAR president. Larry Pick, president of the Big Spring Board; George Schlemmeyer, Odessa's president; and Larry Ken Holder, Andrews-Gaines County's president, will be joining McDearmon

El Paso will be hosting such a meeting on April 8. James T. Sawyer of Austin, TAR executive vice president, will be accompanying the McMahan team on these presidential

'Good life' keeping us from long life

CHICAGO (AP) — If people followed basic rules of good health they could look forward to living for 90 to 100 years, according to the American Medical Association. Avoiding overindulgence in food and drink, stressful situations and cigarettes is a key to good health, AMA officials said Thursday. Getting enough exercise is also important, as is getting prompt medical attention

We have the knowledge "right now to produce an average life span of 90 to 100 years," said Frank Chappell, science news editor for the AMA, pointing to strides made in combating cancer, heart, kidney and other diseases: "But the industrialized world we live in — the 'good life' — is what helds in hear." what holds us back."

Roger Olin, director of the AMA Program on Aging, said few people exercise regularly and vigorously. He pointed out that about one-third of the country is 20 percent overweight and that between 70 million and 80 million Americans smoke.

Chappell added that heart disease remains the nation's leading cause of death. "You can reasonably reduce heart disease by clean living, although I don't think very many of us are likely to live the clean life," he

Levels of health, indicated by reduced disability from diseases and an increase in overall ability to function effectively, have risen at all

Manufacturer explains firm's exploding bullets

By DICK PETTYS Associated Press Writer

ATLANTA (AP) — A manufacturer of exploding bullets like those used in the attack on President Reagan said Friday the ammunition was developed to enable sky marshals to shoot hijackers without having the bullet also penetrate the outer wall of an airplane.

And Sandy Brygider, president of Bingham Ltd. in the Atlanta suburb of Norcross, also said that since the bullet that hit Reagan did not immediately explode, there never was any danger it would detonate inside his body while surgeons removed it.

There was no danger of exploding inside unless there was excessive heat," said Brygider, whose company was identified by an FBI spokesman as the only manufacturer of exploding bullets known to federal authorities.

Initial indications are that all six bullets fired Monday in the attack in Washington were of the exploding type, said FBI spokesman Roger Young. The bullet that hit press secretary James Brady did explode, authorities said.

Asked if he could rule out the possi-bility that the bullet which lodged in the president's lung could have blown up as surgeons worked to remove it, the FBI spokesman replied, "I can't say that...it could explode on the

Brygider said the bullet was available only in .22 calibers and was developed for the Skymarshal program to provide a round that could be ired aboard high-altitude aircraft to fell skyjackers, but without the risk of penetrating the aircraft's "skin" and causing rapid decompression of the

He said he has been questioned about the ammunition by agents of the FBI and the federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms.

The bullet was manufactured and distributed nationally for about one year until tooling and other problems forced the company to cease production in March 1980, he said.

Brygider said he did not know how many rounds his company produced. The ammunition was marketed to police agencies, but was also available commercially nationwide at licensed firearm dealers, he said.

"Commercial sales would be for defensive purposes, that would be really the only use it would have. They are very expensive, number one. It is not something you would plink at tin cans with. Police liked it very much for undercover work, where firearms had to be small," Brygider said.

He said the bullets he manufactured were hollowed at the tip and filled with an explosive similar to that used in a normal gun cartridge. They were intended to explode upon impact, he said.

'This was developed in an era of hijacking of aircraft. At the time, there was a definite requirement for a type of ammunition which would be effective and offer a margin of safety," he said.
"At high altitude, you have a high danger of using a firearm, in that the bullet can penetrate the outer skin of the aircraft and cause rapid decompression. This was a round designed to incapacitate a person with as non-serious a wound as possible, as op-posed to being a deep, penetrating wound," he said.

By exploding upon impact, the bul-let was designed to fragment and scatter shards of metal in the victim's body, penetrating less deeply than a normal round, he said.

But if the explosive failed to func-tion, he added, the projectile acted like a normal bullet.

Among the things likely to cause the bullet to fail to explode, he said, was contact with any one of several com mercially available gun cleaning sol-

"That could deactivate the ignition element," he said.

In Capistrano Beach, Calif., meanwhile, a ballistics expert said he doubted FBI reports that a devastator bullet lodged in a Washington D.C. policeman wounded in the assasination attempt on Reagan could have exploded at any time.

"I do not agree with that. Once they're at rest they're not likely to explode, and it would take quite a sharp concussion to set them off," said Dean A. Grennell, editor of Gun World Magazine.

Psychic's prediction disputed by Las Vegas studio officials

LOS ANGELES (AP) - A psychic who claims she accurately predicted an attempt on President Reagan's life on a television talk show taped in January actually taped the program the day after Reagan was shot, the program's director said Friday.

Director Forrest Owen of Las Vegas TV station KTNV said Los Angeles psychic Tamara Rand was not in the studio on the day she and talk show host Dick Maurice say the show was originally taped.

Maurice's explanation is that the remarks were videotaped on Jan. 6, but the tape was reused and no longer exists so the show was re-created on

He was not immediately available to answer Owen's allegation that Ms. Rand was not even present Jan. 6 at the show's taping.

Two petworks broadcast the Los Angeles woman's prediction Wednesday and Thursday, presenting it as having been recorded Jan. 6. Both NBC and the Atlanta-based Cable News Network said they had believed the tape had been broadcast previously

Both networks said Friday they were still investigating the mix-up, but NBC News Los Angeles bureau chief Arthur Lord said there were grave doubts about its authentic-

CNN spokesman Arthur Sando said CNN spokesman Arthur Sando said WTBS, the Atlanta station that told CNN Ms. Rand appeared on a Maurice show broadcast March 28, now says the show broadcast that day did not contain a Reagan prediction.

Maurice's Jan. 6 show was scheduled for broadcast by WTBS on Jan. 17, but was pre-empted. It was never viewed by the station's personnel, CNN said.

Cwen, who directed the Jan. 6 taping at KTNV, was interviewed after Maurice on Friday. He said Ms. Rand "wasn't here in the studio on Jan. 6 at Crew members said the segment they saw Thursday on NBC's "Today" show, in which Ms. Rand predicted "gunshots" and a "thud" in Reagan's chest "the last few days of March," had been recorded Tues-

Apparently, NBC superimposed 'Taped Jan. 6, 1981' over the picture. Owen said KTNV had not done so.

Asked how the crew felt about taping a prediction after the event had already occurred, Owen said: "We were told it would be used on a future show and that she went into detail on what she supposedly had said on one of his (Maurice) radio shows.

"We didn't question it," Owen said.
"We were a little curious about it at

While both Ms. Rand and Maurice said Tuesday's taping was a re-enact-ment, Lord said Ms. Rand purported that the tape had been recorded Jan. 6 when she took it to KNBC in Los

"She (Ms. Rand) was back on the show on the 31st to talk about her predictions. We also taped her for a special I'm doing," said Maurice, who also is host of a syndicated radio show.

Maurice said Friday that the Jan. 6 tape with Ms. Rand making the Reagan prediction was telecast on KTNV in January.

KTNV general manager Ed Quinn said it never has been shown, and Ms. Rand said Thursday on the CNN program, "Freeman Reports," that her segment was deleted when the Jan. 6

Fears on bullet bypassed

By JAMES H. RUBIN Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Hours after raising the possibility that a toxic explosive material might have leaked from a bullet into President Reagan's body, the FBI laboratory concluded Friday night that the substance was removed along with the bullet.

"FBI laboratory analysis has concluded that the lead azide cannister in the bullet which struck President Reagan is intact — mutilated but intact," said FBI spokesman Jim Price. "We believe no leakage took place, and the President's doctors have been notified of that."

Assistant FBI Director Thomas Kelleher had told a Friday afternoon news conference that White House officials had been notified there was a chance that the toxic and explosive lead azide had leaked into Reagan's body.

The FBI officials said they have confirmed that the bullets used in the assassination attempt on the president, in which three others were wounded as well, were explosive cartridges known as "devasta-

Lead azide is the explosive charge designed to make the bullet fragment on contact.

The FBI officials said the round recovered in surgery from the president's chest was flattened out and had lost approximately one-eighth of its original

Asked if it was possible that some of the material is still in the president's body, Kelleher said "we cannot tell if there is any" there. "We're not certain if any of the material leaked out."

The FBI officials said they were not certain why the bullet that wounded Reagan and two of the three other victims in the attack did not explode on contact. They said that a fourth bullet which pierced the brain of White House Press Secretary James S. Brady appeared to have exploded.

But Brady's surgeon, Dr. Arthur Cobrine, said Friday there was no evidence that he would see that the bullet exploded. He said the bullet removed from Brady's head had fragmented but that that was normal for a bullet piercing the skull. He said it appeared to be an ordinary bullet.

Dr. Benjamin Aaron, Reagan's surgeon, and Dr. Neofytos T. Tsangaris, who operated on Secret Service agent Timothy McCarthy, zsaid the bullets removed from those men appeared to be ordinary bullets and showed no evidence of having exploded. A bullet also was removed from the neck of the fourth man wounded in Monday's attack Monday,

District of Columbia police officer Thomas Delahanty. That was done in emergency surgery late Thursday night after the FBI said it believed the bullet was the explosive kind and that it was feared it might explode in his body.

Kelleher said that "the laboratory can say with containty that the rounds obtained from (Beagan and certainty that the rounds obtained from (Reagan and two of the other wounded men) are all devastatortype rounds." d The bullet which struck Reagan apparently ricocheted off the president's Idmousine first, Kelleher said, adding that the impact against the car was at an oblique angle and possibly that impact sealed the nose of the devastator, suppressing the explosion.

The FBI said it was also looking into the possibility that for some reason the bullets did not reach the velocity needed to cause explosion of the extra-deadly rounds upon impact.

Kelleher described the failure of the bullets to explode as a "malfunction.

The FBI also said that it had no knowledge of the devastator bullets prior to Monday's attempted assassination of Reagan. d The FBI officials said they noped that within the next few days they could determine what happened to the missing portion of the bullet that was taken from the president.

The devastator is manufactured by Bingham Ltd. of Norcross, Ga., by taking a standard .22 caliber cartridge and hollowing out the nose and inserting a tiny cannister containing lead azide. The cartridge itself is manufactured by another company.

The FBI defended itself against suggestions that it was negligent in failing to report to medical officials until Thursday that the bullets were explosive.

"We received specimens (from Bingham) Thursday at 2 p.m.," Kelleher said. "We first told the physicians attending (District of Columbia police officer Thomas) Delahanty."

The FBI reportedly recovered an empty box of the shells from the Washington hotel where Reagan's would-be assassin, John W. Hinckley Jr., spent the night before the attack on the president. The box was marked "devastator."

15 YEARS OF CITY AND URBAN PLANNING EXPERIENCE CAN MAKE THE DIFFERENCE.

"Midland is growing about seven per cent a year. We're faced with walking that fine line between sound fiscal policies and maintaining and improving city services. We especially need to support our law enforcement services to a greater degree. I am pledged to meeting the demands of growth while restraining tax increases."

We always seem to be running headlong into solving problems that were created years ago. It's time we started planning for the future instead of paying for the past. I can bring to the City Council my 15 years in city and urban planning to improve the quality of life for all Midlanders for today and for generations to come."

'Our streets are in such poor repair that it's going to cost several million dollars to bring them up to standard. I cannot over-emphasize the importance of proper planning and construction in the first place to save tax dollars over the long run."

"We need to expand our parks system to keep pace with the city's growth. I would like to see a regional park developed for north or northwest Midland, and improvements made to the existing parks in south and southeast Midland. We need to consider every available source of funding, including state and federal grants."

Brady still in ICU, but condition no longer critical

WASHINGTON (AP) - White House press secretary James S. Brady, recovering from a bullet wound to his brain, was removed from the critical list but remains in the intensive care unit, a medical bulletin said Friday night.

"This afternoon when Mr. Brady's physician asked him what his job was, he replied, 'press secretary at the White House,' " said the medical report, issued by the White House.

Physicians who saw Brady in the afternoon reported that his condition "continues to improve.... His vital signs are stable and there has been no further temperature elevation."

In the same medical notice, the White House said Timothy McCarthy, the Secret Service agent who was shot in the liver, "continues to do well. His digestive system appears to be func-tionally normal and his chest x-ray is

Brief answers to questions, the ability to count to three, to move a hand, leg or finger in response to a doctor's request, are the best signs to date that Brady may return to full mental capacity from an injury his surgeon said would normally kill eight out of ten

"Under the best of circumstances, he would end up with no (mental) impairment," declared Arthur Cobrine, the neurosurgeon who operated upon Brady. Cobrine said at a briefing late Friday his patient "has gotten brighter every day since his injury" and can now move the right side of his body almost normally - with limited response on the left. Still, said Cobrine, it's "too early to Delahanty surgery prudent'

WASHINGTON (AP) "We felt it would be prudent to remove it, and we did it prudently," said a surgeon who saw his colleagues remove an explosive bullet from the neck of a policeman wounded in the assassination attempt on President Reagan.

Doctors at Washington Hospital Center said Friday that they were not fearful about removing the slug from Thomas Delahanty, but that they treated it with respect.

'We were told that the risk was minimal, but that we should not drop the bullet on the floor or hit it with a surgical instrument," said Dr. Michael Dennis, a neuro-

Delahanty, a District of Columbia policeman, was hit by the bullet Monday in the attempt on Reagan's life. Doctors first thought they would leave the bullet in and not risk trying to take it from the base of the next, just left of the spine. But the FBI determined that the bullet might be an explosive variety and the decision was made to remove it.

"The decision to operate was not based on the probability of explosion," said Dr. Howard Champion, the director of the hospital's shocktrauma program who was in the operating Champion said doctors were concerned that chemicals in the bullet might leak out and have a toxic effect on nerve tissue, he said. They also were concerned with the psychological effects on the officer if he knew the explosive bullet remained in his body, Champion

"He was my patient, it had to come out," said Dennis. "I had no choice but to operate.' The doctors and technicans involved in the operation volunteered for the duty and assembled in an operating room that happened to be located away from nearby

Working with extreme caution, the operating team spent almost three hours removing the slug and trying not to cause any surgical damage to their patient.

The team did not wear flack jackets or operate behind barriers, as reported in some accounts, but they worked cautiously, calmly and occasionally with some numor, say observers.

Gavin chosen

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Reagan has selected actor John Gavin to be the U.S. ambassador to Mexico, the White House announced

Friday Reagan's nomination of Gavin, who had roles in several films including "Psycho" and "Imitation of Life," had been expected for weeks. If confirmed by the Senate, Gavin would replace Julian Nava.

The surgeon estimated he had removed about 20 percent of the tissue on the right side of Brady's brain. on impact.

The latest White House bulletin quoted doctors as saying that Brady's Cobrine confirmed that the bullet which entered Brady's head had frag-mented, but he said he found no evidence that the slug had "exploded."

The FBI said earlier in the day it appeared the gunman had used "devastator" bullets, designed to explode

Baldridge offers Specials Thru 4/5/81 iellybean analysis

By ROBERT FURLOW Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The "psychology of the jellybean jar" tells all when it comes to finding out what President Reagan and his Cabinet are really like, says Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige.

Baldrige, breaking his own vow of inner-Cabinet secrecy, gave his personal tongue-in-cheek analysis of his colleagues Friday, basing it on their approach to the jellybeans at Cabinet meetings.

The president, Baldrige said, "knows what he wants and gets it" while Vice President Cooper Bush wants and gets it" while Vice President George Bush goes all out "but is willing, if necessary, to settle for second choice.

Budget Director David Stockman comes across as preoccupied with numbers, Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger as a calm supply-flow manager and Secretary of State Alexander Haig as more than a little upset by the color red.

Baldrige doesn't dig deeper into what a distaste for such a color might mean for the nation's top foreign affairs spokesman. Nor does he give any clues to his own jellybean preferences.

The details, as furnished by Baldrige in remarks prepared for delivery Friday in New Orleans:

-President Reagan, whose fondness for jelly-beans accounts for their presence at Cabinet meetings, enthusiastically grabs handfuls without looking or interrupting what he's saying. Psychological interpretation: "A very secure leader who knows exactly what he wants - and gets it."

-Bush gently jostles the jar, trying to bring his favorite licorice jellybeans to the top. But if he fails, he'll eat his second choice — chocolate — with enthusiasm. The Baldrige interpretation: "A manwho goes all out for what he wants but is willing, if necessary, to settle for second choice.

-Haig, the former general, "peers with great intensity" into the jar, searches out two red jellybeans which he eats "with an audible crunch as they are completely masticated." Baldrige's analysis: "Evidently a man who just doesn't like the color

-Weinberger takes three jellybeans, arranges them in a triangle, then eats one each five minutes. Analysis: "An organized, methodical manager who likes his supply flow to be secure and steady — a very good attribute for a secretary of defense."

By CHET CURRIER AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market has fared pretty well so far in 1981, but the competition is doing much better.

That "competition" is the money-market mutual fund industry, whose growth since New Year's has made even the rapid pace of 1979 and In the week ended last Wednesday, $3.2 billion poured into the nation's more than 100 money funds, according to the Investment Company Institute, a mutual-fund trade association. That put total assets of the funds at a record $112.26 billion, up from about $75 billion at yearend. Money-fund assets, which stood at only about $10 billion at the end of 1978, grew by about $35 billion in 1979 and $30 billion or so in 1980. In just the first three months of 1981, the expansion of the industry has outstripped either of those totals. Just about everyone involved expects the funds to continue attracting large amounts of money in the immediate future, even though interest raes have ben dropping lately and may

As experience has shown, the funds have a built-in advantage in periods of declining rates. Since their portfolios at any given time typically contain many short-term securities bought several weeks earlier, their yields tend to fall more slowly than the general level of interest rates. Thus at present the typical fund is yielding in the 14 percent to 15 percent range, while coving the 14 percent-to-15 percent range, while savings institutions can offer no more than 12.524 percent on six-month money market certificates. About the only thing that could slow the money-fund juggernaut at present, most observers feel, is some change in the rules. That's exactly what bankers are pushing for, arguing that their deposit base is being eroded by a competing industry that has an unfair edge. The Investment Company Institute reported this past week that North Carolina and Iowa had become the latest states where bills were proposed to make money funds subject to state banking regulatory authorities.

Stockbrokers, for their part, have few complaints about the expansion of the money-fund industry, which is now approaching 10 percent of the size of the stock market itself (about $1.4

trillion, according to the latest available data from Wilshire Associates of Santa Monica

The brokers themselves operate money funds that account for more than half the industry's assets, from the $16 billion Merrill Lynch Ready Assets fund on down. Thus, the business has been a new source of revenues for Wall Street.

And according to many brokers, their moneyfund business has introduced them to hordes of prized, new customers for other types of financial services. Even if money-fund investors are shunning stocks, the market is getting along reasonably well without them. In the past week, despite the shock of the assassination attempt on President Reagan, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials climbed 12.33 to 1,007.11. For the first quarter of 1980, the Dow Jones ndustrials posted a 3 percent gain. The New York Stock Exchange composite index finished the quarter up 4.2 percent, and the American Stock Exchange market value index was up 6.4 percent.

Some stock-market followers like to speak of the cash in money funds as being "parked" there awaiting a better time to move into something like stocks.

One of the financial community's most popular bull-market fantasies is the vision of all that cash flooding out of the money funds and into the sash flooding out of the money funds and into the stock market, sending stock prices sky-high.

However, the history of the money funds suggests that even should interest rates fall a lot further from their present level, that flood might never materialize. In 1976, money-fund yields actually slipped below the 5-6 percent returns available on passbook savings, without producing any massive wave of share redemntions. ing any massive wave of share redemptions.

And some veteran analysts argue that is pretty much a waste of time for stock-market people to get caught up in measuring the amount of "cash

As John W. Schulz at Brean Murray, Foster. Securities Inc. put it recently: "Ordinarily, any effort to identify specific quantities of temporarily sidelined buying power to the stock market is a needless exercise in futility, because there is virtually never any real shortage of such ammunition."

Soviets celebrate 20 years of manned space flight

By BRYAN BRUMLEY Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) - Not to be overshadowed by the planned U.S. space shuttle launch, the Soviet Union is taking the occasion of the 20th anniversary of the first manned space flight, Cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin's 108minute voyage into history, to high-light Soviet exploits in orbit.

Since Gagarin's historic flight on April 12, 1961, the Soviet Union has launched a numerous manned missions in low earth orbit, concentrating on frequent launchings and extended stays aloft.

The main thrust of our program is toward piloted orbiting space complexes which will become increasingly sophisticated," said Sergei D. Grishin, one of a panel of Soviet space officials who spoke to foreign reporters recently. He said the Salyut-6 space station, orbiting since 1977, will be replaced by a more sophisticated station, Salyut-7, to be manned in relays rather than in record-setting

Soviet rockets have launched 52 cosmonauts in Gagarin's wake, 44 of them Soviets and eight from its Cosmonaut Valentina Tereshkova, who orbited the Earth 48 times in June 1963, is the only woman to have flown in space. Alexei Leonov was the fwrst to walk outside a spacecraft, leaving his Voskhod-2 capsule for 12 minutes in March, 1968.

Leonov headed the cosmonaut team on the joint Soyuz-Apollo flight in July 1975, at the height of Soviet-U.S. space cooperation, and the last manned American flight before the shuttle, which is set to lift off April 10.

Soviet cosmonauts have shattered the 84-day space endurance record posted by a U.S. Skylab crew. Vladimir Lyakhov and Valery Ryumin lived aboard the Salyut-6 space station for 175 days in 1979, and Ryumin and Leonid Popov spend 185 days on Salyut-6 in a flight that ended last Oct. 11.

"At no stage in the last 20 years were we seeking prestige or records," Lt. Gen. Vladimir A. Shatalov, head of Soviet cosmonaut training and a veteran of three space flights, claimed in an interview with The Associated Press.

"At the same time, the U.S. program has been proclaimed as vital to the prestige of the country," Shatalov said. "Of course, the United States has made great technological progress, such as landing a man on the moon, but it is a pity this was done not fjr science but for glory.

Despite Shatalov's assessment, Soviet space successes have been used for political effect both at home, where Gagarin is a national hero, and abroad, particularly through the socalled Intercosmos launchings involving spacemen from Czechoslavakia, Poland, East Germany, Bulgar-ia, Hungary, Vietnam, Cuba and, most recently, Mongolia. Romanian and French cosmonauts are training at Star City just outside Moscow. Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev said in February that Intercosmos sgacemen are "not working for science and the national economy alone. They are also performing a tremendously important political Soviet space officials are secretive about future flights, but say they have no plans for manned trips to the moon and planets or for developing a vehicle like the space shuttle, the world's first reusable spaceship.

Western observers who claim Soviet space technology lags behind that of the United States, cite an on-board computer on the latest Soyuz T-4 capsule series, which for the first time allows Soviet cosmonauts to calculate their own maneuvers. Previously, all maneuvering was controlled from the Students airlifted off snowy mountain

LAS VEGAS, N.M. (AP) — Two college students stranded on a mountain for more than three days without food or warm clothing were hospitalized in good condition after being plucked by helicopter from the rugged, snow-packed peak.

"My friend got real hungry — he tried to eat some grass," Francisco Munoz, 18, of Berino, said Thursday from his bed at St. Vincent Hospital in Santa Fe, where he and John Chavez Jr., 19, of Clovis, were listed in good condition.

Munoz said he and Chavez never lost hope they would be found, but grew more desperate as time

They were discovered late Wednesday huddling together in a deep ravine at the 9,000-foot level on the west side of Hermit's Peak, a mountain known for its punishing terrain and sheer cliffs about 16 miles northwest of here.

A four-man search and rescue team from St. John's College in Santa Fe located the two youths after finding footprints in the snow, but because of the terrain and approaching darkness, the group had to spend the night on the mountain with temperatures hovering between 15 and 20 degrees.

The two men were airlifted from the peak by a helicopter from Kirtland Air Force Base in Albuquerque. A cable carrying a rescuer and a litter was lowered down onto a cliff face. One at a time, the men were placed in the litter and hoisted back into

Dr. Gerald Allen, who was with the team that found the two youths, said they were suffering from exposure and mild hypothermia, and Chavez had possible frostbite on one foot.

"We spent a cold, pretty happy night," said Allen. The situation could have been worse if the two youths didn't have matches or if new snow had fallen while they were on the mountain, he said.

Connally shares views on press

By LEE JONES Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Former Gov. John Connally said Friday a "negative" press that loses the public's confidence also risks losing its Harrison Salisbury, former New York Times editor, replied he once lived in a country where news reporting was entirely positive. It was, he said. Russia.

Connally, who served in the cabinets of two presidents and ran a losing race last year for the GOP presidential nomination, keynoted an LBJ Library symposium on "The Press: Free and Responsible?"

He faulted the news media for sensationalism, compressing complicated matters into 30-second television news segments, lack of interest in economics and its failure - in his eyes — to defend the American busi"A responsible press cannot long take the attitude...that the only news is bad news. How long can people be bombarded with the evil, the sensational, the spectacular, the bad, without assuming and believing that we are all rotten to the core?" Connally

He said reporters have little interest in economic news and the media for which they work have failed to defend the American economic system against its critics.

"They exist because of it. They prosper because of it. I'm not prepared to defend this system as perfect, but I think it's a little better than trying to read Pravda every day," the former secretary of the treasury

As examples of "sensationalism." Connally singled out the heavy coverage of the deaths of singers John Lennon — "What had he done?" and Elvis Presley — "He was not someone to be emulated," Connally said the news media's freedom depends essentially upon 'the acquiescence of the American people, the continued faith of the American people...in the news that they get." But, he said, Americans are paralyzed at times when they should act because they believe they are not getting the truth.

"We shouldn't have an energy crisis in America, not at all," Connally said by way of example.

He said he was concerned over the sameness of the network newscasts, which Connally contended resulted from the heavy influence of the New York Times and Washington Post.

"The same stories are almost in sequence on all three networks... because they are basically following the lead of the New York Times and the Washington Post, ...with an occasional breaking story from AP and UPI," he said.

Salisbury was a member of a panel of news people, lawyers and professors who addressed the questions Connally raised.

"I lived and worked for many years in a country where the press published only good news.... It was what you would call a very responsible press.... It published no negative news All the reporters were steeped in economics, of a very particular kind I am talking about the Russian press. I am talking about Pravda and Isvestia," said the former Moscow correspondent.

He said, however, many of Connally's criticisms were sound and agreed that "our economic reporting is very

Haynes says information 'imprecise'

LIBERTY, Texas (AP) - The lawyer for Vickie Daniel charged Friday that a psychiatrist used imprecise information to determine the emotional stability of the woman, charged in the slaying of her husband, former Texas House Speaker Price Daniel Richard "Racehorse" Havnes of Houston said Dr. Kenneth Wetcher failed to ask certain questions which might have explained Mrs. Daniel's actions and so any conclusions he might draw would be based on incomplete data.

Wetcher, of Nassau Bay, returned to the witness stand for the second day to testify in the child custody suit in which Daniel's sister, Jean Daniel Murph, is seeking custody of the two small children born to her brother and Mrs. Daniel in their stormy fouryear marriage Wetcher said in his psychiatric report that Mrs. Daniel, charged with murder in the Jan. 19 shooting of Daniel, that "one wonders why" she remained with Daniel when she claimed to be a battered wife.

Haynes asked Wetcher why he had to wonder about Mrs. Daniel's reasons. The psychiatrist said he did not pursue the matter during his 11/2 hour nterview on Feb. 4.

"If you had asked for her reasons, you could have evaluated those answers and determined if her reasons were justified, couldn't you," Haynes

Wetcher also said Mrs. Daniel made a questionable decision in sending her son Jonathan, 10, to live with her husband because she suspected Daniel had abused the boy. Again, Wetcher said he did not question Mrs. Daniel about her reasons. Wetcher's reports said Mrs. Daniel's reasoning was not clear and could be compulsive. "What if the boy simply wanted to go live with his father in the country,"

Haynes asked. "The reason is not clear because you didn't ask questions? "

"Yes, sir" Wetcher replied.

The psychiatrist suggested that sending Jonathan away was questionable because the child might perceive that it was his own fault that he was

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Poor and middle class Texans will get a "quick trip to the poorhouse" if the Senate passes a bill setting the interest rate limit at 24 percent, consumer activists said Friday.

The bill, which began with a 30 percent ceiling, passed the House on March 26 after a long floor fight trimmed the rate. Senate sponsor Sen. Grant Jones, D-Abilene, called the reduction "ridiculous." His bill retains the 30 percent cap. Gov. Bill Clements said Friday he would sign a 24 percent interest rate bill if it reached his desk. He did not say what he would do with 30 per-

The measure may come up on the Senate floor next week, and opponents say they are gearing up for a fight to lower the ceiling and make other changes.

The bill ties the maximum interest rate to the six-month U.S. Treasury bill interest rate.

"The assumption seems to be that the T-bill rate has some relation to the cost of credit. There is no such relation," said Norton Grubb, a University of Texas economics professor. "The cost of credit has been running from 1 percent to 1.5 percent below

"We're also going to try to do something about the provisions for the variable rate and the small loan rate," said Rebecca Lightsey of the Texas Consumer Association.

"Twenty-four percent rates on an automobile loan will mean that the cost of borrowing will nearly double over the present rates," she said. "A $6,000 four-year car loan currently carries a total interest payment of $1,800. However, under the bill that same loan could cost $3,400 in inter-

Officials fear news coverage hampering child death probe

By JON BIXBY Associated Press Writer

ATLANTA (AP) - News reports of evidence in Atlanta's murdered children case may be prompting a killer to strip his victims and dump them in a river to confuse investigators, a state official said Friday. State Crime Lab Director Larry Howard said recent reports that similar fibers had been found in the clothing of some of the victims may hamper the investigation of the unsolved slayings of 22 young blacks.

"The release of information by the news media has altered the method of operation of the suspect in order to minimize the presence of physical evidence...and that will cause us trouble later," Howard said. 'The best way to minimize the physical evidence is to take the clothes away and put the body where the physical evidence will wash away," he said. Information about the fibers first was made public by investigative reporters for Atlanta newspapers and television stations.

Howard said the news media should have suppressed the information, but he added, "Newspapers must sell papers and be competitive and once they get the information they feel they must get the jump on it or someone else will."

The last two victims, Timothy Hill 13, and Eddie Duncan, 21, were found this week in the Chattahoochee River outside Atlanta clad only in underpants. Two earlier victims also were found dressed only in undershorts.

A Fulton County medical examiner, Dr. John Feegel, said the fact that those victims were left nearly nude "may be strongly suggestive of a sexual motive."

Meanwhile, Fulton County District Attorney Lewis Slaton said authorities want to question Larry Marshall, being held in Hartford, Conn., be-cause he may have known Hill. But Slaton denied news reports that Mar-shall, a black man in his 30s, is a suspect.

Slaton said Marshall will not be questioned by Atlanta officials until he is extradited from Connecticut to face Atlanta charges of attempted armed robbery.

Howard said Duncan's body was so badly decomposed when it was found Wednesday that the crime lab has been unable to determine a cause of death. Duncan, described as retarded and childlike, is the only adult victim in the series of unsolved crimes.

Volunteers in neighborhood searches Saturday will be given pho tographs of the two missing children on the task force list, Darron Glass, 10, and Joseph Bell, 15, a search leader said.

a 24 percent ceiling. The range of loans for which they could get their maximum 18 percent add-on rate would be broadened. Gronouski said an $18 per $100 add-on rate translates into 31.72 percent simple interest. "We surveyed 25 of the nation's largest finance companies, and asked if any knew of a single case where the maximum was not the minimum," he said. "Not one did. The maximum always becomes the minimum." Gronouski said his study showed

He said interest rates on a one-month that a hearing will be loan of $110 would increase from 30 held on 8th day of percent to 157 percent.

"Proponents of the bill say these rates are beneficial to poor persons because they make loans available," he said. "But if the loans aren't made now, it's because the low income can't handle the additional debt.

elson takes 2-stroke lead

Larry Nelson put together a 68 he called "as good a round as I ever played," and moved into a two-stroke lead Friday in the second round of the ,000 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament.

'I can't remember when I've "played this well," Nelson said after posting his 137 total, seven shots under par for two trips over the treacherous, 6,984-yard Forest Oaks Country Club course.

"I'M WORN out," said Nelson, who was bothered by muscle spasms in his back and, like everyone else in the field, by gusty winds, extremely difficult pin placements and slick, sloping

"The pins were as severe as I've ever seen, on mounds and crowns and slopes," Nelson said. "And the greens were as fast as I've ever seen. I they'd been any faster, some people might not have finished - me included.

"On the 14th hole, I had a two-footer for birdie and all I was trying to do was 2-putt. And I had a two-footer coming back."

LEE TREVINO agreed.

"They're the same for everybody, but they were a little too severe," he said. On some of those holes you could have a three-footer and if you miss it you could putt it right off the green. I had a three-footer on the seventh and had to play 21/2 feet of

Mark Hayes held second after a 69 that left him at 139.

Leonard Thompson, who had a 71 despite a double bogey on his 17th hole, and Jay Haas were next at 140. Haas, who shared the first-round lead, matched par-72 in the warm, windy weather.

Trevino, also with a 72, and Jim Dent were next at 141. Dent, one of the last men on the course, bogeyed his last two holes to finish with a 71. Bill Kratzert, tied with Haas for the round and had a 143 total RANCHO MIRAGE, Calif. (AP) -Myra Van Hoose shot a scrambling 1-over-par 73 Friday to keep her lead in the $250,000 Colgate-Dinah Shore tournament, but Carolyn Hill moved to within a stroke of the pace with her second consecutive 70.

Van Hoose, who carded a sparkling 66 in the opening round, stood at 5-under-par 139 through 36 holes of the 72-hole event over the 6,242-yard, par-72 Mission Hills Country Club

Hill, like Van Hoose one of the Ladies Professional Golf Association's most promising young newcomers, chipped two strokes off par on her final nine holes to close on the Jan Stephenson and Jane Blalock were two strokes off the pace at 141 midway through the tournament, the richest on the women's golf tour. Stephenson carded a second-round 72 while Blalock, who won the inaugural Dinah Shore tournament in 1972, fired a 2-under-par 70.

Sally Little and Sandra Palmer were another stroke back with 2under-par 142 totals, while Judy Rankin, Lynn Adams and Penny Pulz

Although winds that had gusted up to 40 mph during Thursday's opening round were much less severe for the second round, scores of the leaders were generally higher. "The wind wasn't as strong, but it was tricky," said Van Hoose, 25, the LPGA's Rookie of the Year in 1980. "It would start and stop and you'd find yourself standing there with the wrong club. "The winds were gusting so much it was difficult to hit close to the pin.' Hill, a 22-year-old who joined the tour last year, said work on her putting game has helped her.

"My putting was horrendous last week at Costa Mesa, and we took some pictures and they showed my club head was a couple inches off the ground on my backswing and I was cutting down on the ball," she explained. "I can hit the ball around the greens; it all comes down to put-

Tascosa Rebels win Relays Midland Lee wins 1600 relay for second place

By TERRY WILLIAMSON Sports Writer

Amarillo Tascosa's awesome scoring machine ran its team victory streak to five straight meets at Memorial Stadium Friday night as the Rebels bumped out 133 points to win the Tall City Relays.

Tascosa won only three events, but showed amazing depth to edge Midland Lee and San Angelo for the title. Lee was second with 126 points while San Angelo was third with a 123. Lee had to win the 1600 relay, the final event of the night, with a 3:27.11 to turn the second place over San Angelo, which finished third in the race.

ODESSA PERMIAN outclassed the girls field with 188 points, an easy victory over Odessa High, who managed 124. Andrews was third with 95 while Midland High's 84 and Lee's 64 brought up the rear.

Odessa High was a surprise winner in the junior varsity division with 130 points while Lee was second with

But it was the varsity division that produced the victories and defeats of major importance.

Midland Lee's Robert Schooler entered the meet unbeaten in both the 3200 and 1600 meter races, but when the dust (and there was plenty of the real stuff) had cleared, Shcooler was second in both events, ending his respected string.

As expected, Schooler battled Tascosa's David Williams in the key 3200 meters early in the meet. The two ran step for step around the eight laps before Williams wore Schooler down on the last 400 yards. Williams produced a 9:24.63, the fourth best time in the state this year. Schooler had his best of the year, a 9: 32.53.

But the duel drained both athletes and San Angelo's Dirk Davis won the 1600 with a 4: 30.78 while Schooler was a distant second and Williams even further back in third.

HOWEVER, LEE did win six events, including both relays, to keep some key streaks alive. David Piccolo remains unbeaten in the 300 intermediate hurdles with his 40.59. Arthur Williams is still untamed in the 200 meters with a 22.21 and Keith Brown is unbeaten in three outings in the shot put with a West Texas best of 57-6. Darrin Williams returned to his winning form with a fast 10.70 in the 100. He has lost only once this year. Lee's sprint relay team posted a season best 42.83 for another top West Texas time.

Brown, however, had a meager 138-3 in the discus for sixth place, far from his best this year of 177-0, a West Texas best.

Midland High finished fourth in the meet with 59 points, but sophomore 800 meter sensation James Beverley did it again. Beverley won his fifth 800 meter race in gusty conditions with a fine 1:58.61, not his best but very good under the conditions. He is still undefeated this year, However, Beverley's victory was the only blue ribbon for the Bulldogs although Robert Crawford did post a 41.12 in the 300 intermediates for a second to Piccolo and Crawford had a third in the 110 highs with a 14.89.

BILLY TAYLOR is still searching for that first sprint victory for the Bulldogs. He had a third in the 100 with an 11.05 and failed to place in the Troy Bush, who had a 6-5 high jump last week, managed only a fifth place 5-10 and Jim Kemper was third in the pole vault with a 12-0.

Lee's Terry Thompson had a third in the shot put with a 53-21/4 and Clyde Smith was third in the discus with a 148-1114, not his best Midland High and Lee came close to winning a few events. MHS' Penny Griffin was second in the triple jump and Paula Simmons was second in the discus while Lee had seconds from Lois Hall in the 400 meters and Butler in the 200.

Tascosa's only victories came from Williams, Mike Lister in the pole vault with a fine 13-0 considering the wind and John Patterson in the 400 with a 49.79, another fine time under the circumstances

San Angelo took titles in the long jump with Paul Hayes, Trent Russell in the high hurdles and Davis in the 1600. Odessa High's Keith Maddox won the discus and Big Spring did not win an event. Lee won three junior varsity titles while Midland High took two events. Lee's Van Gravitt had a winning 46-4 in the shot put and Carl Piccolo won the 3200 with a 10: 34.66. Sam Morney won the 400 meters with a 53.16. Midland High's winners were Mike Carrasco in the 300 hurdles with a 43.27 and Ricky Madrid in the 200 with a

THE MIDLAND High girls captured only two victories, winning both distance races. Trudy Arreguir took the 3200 meter title with a 13:44.11 while Sandy Rodriquez won first in the 1600 with a 6:14.08. Midland Lee did not win an event. Andrews' Tressa Conaway had the best performance in the girls division by winning two events and placing Several coaches complained more about the Memorial Stadium facilities than they did with the weather, but that is a story for another time. Just the record, however, the Midland stadium is not suitable for a major track meet with this type of class

Who's on first no joke to Pirates and Yanks

NEW YORK (AP) - Who's on first? Well, Jason Thompson is for the Pittsburgh Pirates and Jim Spencer for the New York Yankees.

And, while the Pirates indicated they intended to keep Thompson, Yankee owner George Steinbrenner said it "would read like a great mystery nevel" if the slugging first baseman were to wind up with the New York Mets since it was a former Mets' employe now in the baseball commissioner's office who quashed Wednesday's three-way deal

In an off-season deal, the Mets reportedly agreed to send catcher John Stearns to California for Thompson. But the Angels held up that trade to await the results of surgery on

Commissioner Bowie Kuhn approved the first part of Wednesday's deal in which the Pirates obtained Thompson from the Angels for catcher Ed Ott and pitcher Mickey But he objected to the amount of money - $850,000 - involved in the second part, in which the Pirates shipped Thompson to the Yankees for Spencer, minor-league pitchers Greg Cochran and Fred Toliver and cash. The breakdown was $400,000, the Kuhn-imposed limit, as part of the trade and $450,000 to help pay Spencer's $350,000-a-year salary in each of the next three seasons.

"We both thought the deal would go through because of the way it was structured," said Bill Bergesch, the Yankees' vice president for baseball operations. But the Pittsburgh-New York part fell through Friday despite lengthy attempts at restructuring it to Kuhn's liking.

General Manager Harding Peterson of the Pirates said the Yankees accused the Pirates of "not being above board" in the renegotiations, but Steinbrenner praised the Pittsburgh club and blamed Bill Murray, the administrator in Kuhn's office. Murray joined the commissioner's office a year ago after serving as vice president and treasurer of the Mets.

Steinbrenner said the restructuring at one point had the Pirates sending Thompson, another major leaguer and six minor league players to the Yankees for Spencer, Cochran, Toliver and $750,000, with $350,000 as payment for the minor leaguers.

Bill Murray informed us that five of the six minor leaguers were valued at zero, so we were still over the ($400,000) price guidelines," Stein-brenner said. The negotiations cooled, he said, when the Pirates started talking instead about some of the Yankees' prize minor-league pitchers including Gene Nelson, who apparently has pitched his way from Class A to the majors this spring instead of the cash, he said.

"It just got to the point where we had to do so much to satisfy the commissioner's office that we would have had to strip ourselves of our young pitching to make the deal," Steinbrenner said.

"I have no gripe with the commis-sioner on this one," he continued. "I don't feel in any way bitter at the commissioner.

Midland Lee's Keith Brown uncorks a throw of 57-6 Friday at Memorial Stadium to become the West Texas leader in that event. He is unbeaten in three outings this season.

Young hurlers shine in spring performances

Sports Writer

TEMPE, ARIZ. - Midland manager Roy Hartsfield may have inadvertently flashed his trump pitching cards in a 5-2 Cactus League exhibition win in the cozy complex, nestled in the Twin Buttes, against the Seattle Mariners' Holyoke, Mass., Eastern League farm team.

First, there was lefthander Craig Lefferts, who pitched at Geneva last year after helping the University of Arizona to the NCAA baseball cham-

Next, there was another southpaw, Mike King, No. 1 draft choice of the Oakland A's for whom Chicago relinquished major leaguer Cliff Johnson. And if Billy Martin wasn't filthy rich in route-going pitchers, even Johnson might not have been enough to lure the youngster away

AND FINALLY, there was Rob Blyth, the ace of the Midland Cubs bullpen last season with 10 wins and 10 savesm, making his first appearance of the spring exhibition campaign. The former Brigham Young University righthander has been sidelined all spring since injuring his elbow in a freak accident.

the bases empty? However, it is still brought a time-o-day chat from Hartsfield, after which Rob disposed of the Holyokes in short order.

The Cubs broke on top with a three-run first when old-Cub Randy La-Vigne tripled behind a walk to Dennis Webb and a bunt single by swift

Rob pitched only one inning, walking the first two batters, presumable to set the mood. After all, how is a relief pitcher supposed to work with Mel Hall. LaVigne then scored on a pop up when the second baseman turned his back to the plac to make the catch.

LAVIGNE'S HEROICS helped soften the bottom of the first when Holyoke scored a couple of tainted runs of Lefferts. First, LaVigne had trouble going back for a fly ball to right and it wound up as a triple. Then, after a hit batsman, Randy misplayed a fast sinking line single into two bases as another run scored. After that, Holyoke mustered just two hits Lefferts, 9-1 with a 2.78 ERA at Geneva last year, fanned five and walked only one in his five innings stint. King gave up on a bunt single and three walks in his three innings.

Kevin "Hulk" Steger, a righthander from Chicago via the University of New Mexico, gave up only one hit after the first four Holyoke before retiring at the end of five.

BRUIN BREWIN'S Hall, who was invited to the major league camp this spring, will give Hartsfield some options. He's the fastest runner in the Chicago organization—Blyth, who got by on the slider last year, has added the changeup to his arsenal, courtesy of pitching coach Les Moss during the Fall Instructional League—"I don't have full confidence in the pitch yet," says the Oregon native-Former Midland Cub Steve Macko is working out with the mjor league club, "He tires easily and he has to rest," said Brian Roskinski, "but he's out there every day." Steve is battling cancer—Henry Mack, the fastballer who had been with Midland the last two years, underwent knee surgery and will be sidelined indefinitely—George Enright, who started out as a reserve catcher with Midland last year and wound up serving as temporary manager at Iowa, Midland and Quad Cities, has a club he can call his own this year. He'll pilot Chicago's Rookie League team at Sarasota, Flag

HOUSTON (AP) - Kareem Abdul-Jabbar tossed in 27 points and Earvin "Magic" Johnson hauled down 18 rebounds to lift the Los Angeles Lakers to a 111-106 victory over the Houston Rockets Friday night to tie the first round NBA playoff series and revive the defending champions' hopes of a title repeat.

The Lakers, who lost the first game of the best-of-three series 111-107, never trailed and held as much as a 20 point lead over the Rockets, who could only manage to pull to within

The deciding game will be played Sunday afternoon in Los Angeles to determine which team advances to the second round.

The Lakers, seeking to become the first team to win consecutive NBA titles since Boston more than a decade ago, held a 96-85 lead with less than seven minutes to play when Houston made its last surge and pulled to within three points at 98-95 on baskets by Moses Malone and free throws by Robert Reid.

However, Abdul-Jabbar, Norm Nixon and Jamaal Wilkes countered the Rocket rally with key baskets in the final five minutes to put the Rockets away.

Wilkes, Johnson and Abdul-Jabbar exploded in the third quarter to propel Los Angeles to a commanding 20 point lead at 76-56 midway through the period. Houston countered with 12 unanswered points to cut the deficit to 76-68, but the Lakers regained their momentum to take a 84-70 advantage going into the final stanza.

Abudul-Jabbar, who had been frus-trated by Malone in the first playoff game, reasserted his position as the premier NBA center as he tossed in 19 points and pulled down 13 of his 17 rebounds in the first half.

Swimmers do well in TAGS

The City of Midland Swim Team had five individual swimmers and one relay team place in the top eight swimmers during the first day of action of the Texas Tags Age Group Championships being held at Loos Pool in Dallas.

Lori Thompson turned in the best performance of the day for coach Gary Ilman's crew. Thompson finished second in the 200 Intermediate Medlay with a clocking of 2:12.09. Thompson'stime was good enough to qualify her for the junior national swim meet to be held later in the year.

Gretch Koch turned in another fine performance for COM. She splashed through the 100-yard backstroke in 1:10.90, which was good enough for third place. Koch also added a sixth place finished in the 200-yard fly to her day's work. Koch was timed in 2: 13.80 in the fly event. In the 500-yard freestyle, COM's Andrea Freeman was clocked in 5: 15.38. The time was good enough for a fifth place finish. Other COM swimmers turning in outstanding efforts were Michelle

Hasek, fourth in the 200IM in a time of 2:33.24 and Sam Perry who touched for sixth in the 100-yard backstrock with a clocking of 1: 06.43.

The COM's 15-18 girls 400 medley relay placed sixth. Swimming on the relay team was Suzi Simpson, Freeman, Koch and Thompson.

Lee on streak; MHS down

By MIKE CRUVER Sports Writer

Saturday will be the fourth game of the year in the District 5-5A baseball race but Midland Lee and Midland High will be approaching the game with different attitudes.

Lee goes on the road to face Big Spring brimming full of confidence. Since losing the district opener to Odessa High, the Rebels have been on a tear. In their last two ballgames, the Rebs has lashed out 26 hits and scored 31 runs in defeating San Angelo and Abilene Cooper.

DEFENSIVELY, LEE has been as hard as nails. In the two games the Rebs have won, they haven't given up a run and have allowed only nine

Of course, meeting the Steers, in a five-way tie for first in the district, on their home field won't be a cakewalk. Big Spring in capable of scoring runs. In their first three district clashes, the Steers have scored 24 runs in building a 2-1 district mark. Only a wild, wind-swept, 13-11, toss to Mid-land High at home blemishes the Steers district mark.

The Rebels, 2-1 in district, will go into the game with its offensive engine purring like a kitten. As a team, the Rebs are hitting at a .372 clip (34 of 89). The only negative factor facing the Rebs is a lack of power. No Rebel has hit a home run this season, but Lee has collected three triples and crashed out nine doubles.

RON SMEDLEY, catcher, leads the Rebel assault. In district action, Smedley has hammered enemy pitching to the tune of .636 (7-for-11) with four doubles and four RBI. Adding spice to the attack is Bill Dern .444 (5-for-9), Randy Pepper .429 (3-for-7), Alan Koonce .417 (5-for-12) and Randy Velarde .400 on 4-for 10.

Those are the Rebels hitting over 400, you can't overlook the sticks of Ricky Wright (.375) and Barry Blackwell (.333). Berry Corley (.200), Chris Parker (.222) and Kevin Bradshaw (.167) are the only regulars hitting under .300. Of course, enemypitching can't underestamate any of the Reb hitters, as all of them are capable of rapping out a key hit.

Pitching is said to be 90 percent of baseball with defense coming in second. Lee has no problems in either area. The Rebels have depended on the sturdy arms of Koonce and Velarde throughout the district with excellent results. Koonce is 1-1 and has surrender only two earned runs in 15 innings of work. He has also added 19 strikeouts while walking only one batter. Velarde's credentials are just as sparkling. In seven innings of action, Velarde has given up three hits and not allowed a run. He has struck out four and, the only negative pitching stat, walked six as he has complied a 1-0 district mark.

VELARDE IS the scheduled starting pitcher today.

Lee coach Ernie Johnson said, "We have came up with the key hit in our last two games. There is an error, and we have been able to drive the run in." Johnson added, "Big Spring will be tough to beat, especially on their field.

Across town, Midland High are searching for answers to a disappointing season. The Dogs aren't beat yet, but their heads are handing pretty low. Pitching and defense have not exactly been strong points for the Bulldogs to date. Of course, you must take into consideration the injury problems that have plagued coach

Tim Whalen's crew this season. When looking at the mound, Micheal Feldt, Joe Castaneda, Mark Hewitt, Jim Gunnels and Doug McLean have all logged duty there. At times, all of the throwers have been effective, at other times it has been like throwing the Christians to the lions.

WALKS! ERRORS! Those have almost become dirty words on the Bull-dog baseball diamond. In three district games, the Dogs have walked 22 and booted the ball 17 times. Actually, the Purple Pack has outhit its district foes 25 to 17 but the errors and walks have damaged a good offensive ma-

Offensively, the Dogs are banged out 27 hits in 86 trips to the plate. Leading he hitting parade is Jerry Zachery with a .556 mark. Zachery has poled a home run and leads the Dogs in RBI with four. Addition hitting support comes from catcher Frank Garramone at .444 (4-for-9) and Michael Feldt .444 (4-for-9). Sophomore Tim Davis is hitting .417 on five hits in 12 plate appearance. Davis and Garramone have each added one home run to the Bulldog bite.

Behind the quintet of players over 400, MHS' attack drops to the .250 averages of Daniel Castaneda and Teddy Bartley. Wayne Sims is hitting

THE BULLDOGS will get to test their claws today at Memorial Stadium diamond against the most fangless club in the district. San Angelo, a club that has scored only one run in three games and has collected just 59 hits in 268 at bats as a team, provides the opposition today at 4 p.m.

Gary Clare, 2-for-2 in district play, and Tal Jackson, 3-for-8 with two doubles and the lone Bobcat RBI led, the weak-hitting outfit.

Junior righthander Zeke Baron, 2-3 on the season, is expected to be the starting pitcher against the Pack. Barron has pitched 38 innings, given up 33 runs, 22 earned, 50 hits, walked 18 and struck out 26.

Overall the Bobcats carry a 3-8 season mark, 0-3 in district against the Dogs, 6-8 on the year, 1-2 in dis-

In other games, Rick Miller had four straight hits, and the Boston Red Sox won their seventh straight preseason game, 10-2, over the Texas Rangers. Miller's second double of the game sparked a seven-run sixth.

Claudell Washington's run-scoring double off Dan Quisenberry in the eighth inning snapped a 1-1 tie and boosted the Atlanta Braves to a 2-1 victory over Kansas City.

Sixto Lezcano homered, and Tony Scott's two-out double in the fifth drove in the eventual winning run as St. Louis downed the Chicago White Sox 3-1. The victory ended a fivegame Cardinals losing streak.

GLENN ADAMS unloaded a bases loaded single in the first inning, and pinch-hitter Gary Ward added a home run to Minnesota's 15-hit attack, boosting the Twins to a 6-2 victory over the Toronto Blue Jays.

Alex Trevino and Frank Taveras both drove in two runs to pace the New York Mets to a 6-5 victory over Cincinnati. New York scored four of its runs off former Met Tom Seaver, 0-3 in spring starts.

Joe Lefebvre and Ruppert Jones, acquired Wednesday from the New York Yankees, keyed a ninth-inning rally that boosted San Diego over Seattle, 7-6. Lefebvre hit a run-scoring triple to tie the score, and Jones' singled home the winning run. Lefebvre homered earlier in the game.

Jack Clark clubbed a pair of home runs, including a three-run shot in the third inning, to power the San Fran-cisco Giants to their eighth straight win, a 10-2 decision over the Chicago Cubs. Clark's other homer was with none aboard.

Bowlers on target in tournament

Pins were flying left and right as the Midland Bowling Association's Men's City Tournament swung into action last weekend.

The Budweiser team posted a total pin count of 3205 to take the lead at the completion of the first weekend of bowling in tournament.

Sitting just 21 pins of the pace is the Dellwood Lanes team. With two more weeks to go in the city tournament any one of the 13 teams has a chance to take home the first prize. The tournament will conclude the weekend of April 11 and 12.

The teams are battling for a total prize package worth about $7200. For the team winning the team event, about $2700 goes to the victors. For the lucky person finishing on top in the singles event, a check of about $1800. is to be had. The doubles event winners will pocket a prize of about $1800. also. Hawks start hunting coach

ATLANTA (AP) - Atlanta Hawks President Mike Gearon, hoping to re-place fired Coach Hubie Brown by May 1, says the Hawks will be "starting over almost like we did four years ago," when Brown was appointed.

Gearon said many coaches are being considered for the job, including one unidentified high school coach. Talks between the National Basketball Association team and job applicants will begin this weekend.

Among those being considered is Kevin Loughery, former head coach of the New Jersey Nets who resigned last winter.

The 41-year-old Loughery has been "highly suggested," Gearon said.
"We have to get into his background because he's so widely respected by so many people.

Like Brown, Loughery has been known to be explosive at courtside, screaming at referees and throwing chairs in some instances. Unlike Brown, he is said to relent away from the court.

Loughery coached the Nets to two American Basketball Association championships - 1974 and 1976 - but the team has been unsuccessful since losing star forward Julius Erving to Philadelphia when the ABA merged with the NBA.

Several NBA assistant coaches, including Hawks assistant Mike Fratello, also are in the running Gearon said Fratello, 34, "has a lot of pluses" and "with the right staff" could be a fine choice.

Other assistants in the running are Bernie Bickerstaff, 37, with the Washington Bullets; Al Bianchi, 49, a former NBA and ABA head coach who has been John MacLeod's right-hand man at Phoenix since 1976; Chuck Daly, 50, at Philadelphia; and John Killilea, 49, at Milwaukee.

"There are a number of fine college coaches that people have recommended to us," Gearon said. "We've been contacted by a great number of coaches. This is a job that would be widely sought after because of the league, this city and the type of players we have.

Athletes fight wind at Texas Relays

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - NCAA champion David Lee of Southern Illinois fought a 25 mile-an-hour headwind to break the Texas Relays record in the 400-meter hurdles Friday night and Carl Lewis' brilliant anchor brought the Houston Cougars from far behind to take a scintillating 800meter relay victory.

The contract also calls for Hearns to appear on the undercard of Leonard's June 25 meeting at an undeter-

Hearns would receive $400,000 for

been named.

Lee, who loves the artificial surface of Memorial Stadium where he won the NCAA last June in the event in 48.90 seconds, turned in a remarkable 49.20 considering the conditions. He beat the Relays' mark of 49.74 by Kansas' Nolan Cromwell in 1976.

LEWIS TOOK the baton in the 800 meter relay some five yards behind Northwest Louisiana State's Mark Duper and blazed to the tape to give the Cougars a victory in 1:22.37-just two-hundreths of a second off the Texas Relays record.

Lewis, the world indoor record holder in the long jump, is the third fastest in the world in the 60-meter dash. The 19-year-old sophomore passed up the long jump so he could concentrate on winning a first place watch for the Cougar relay team.

Northwestern Louisiana State was second in 1:22.50 and Oklahoma was third in 1:22.77.

Buss in quest of NFL franchise

Copley News Service

Very quietly but very persistently, Jerry Buss is lobbying for a National Football League fran-

To skirt NFL rules restricting owners from being involved in other sports, Buss already has given assurances that he will dispose of his holdings in the Los Angeles Lakers of the National Basketball Association and the Los Angeles Kings of the National Hockey League, according to reliable sources. ly, if at all.

BUSS IS close to Steve Rosenbloom, who lost out in power struggles with both the Los Angeles Rams and the New Orleans Saints, and has managed to cultivate some important NFL friends through him.

The Denver Broncos no doubt were tempting to Buss, but he was beaten to the punch by Canaas Buss owns the Lakers and Kings, he can't close a deal for an NFL club.

BUSS REPORTEDLY would sell the Kings immediately if he could do it without affecting the rental situation at The Forum, which he operates in Inglewood, Calif. According to insiders, Buss is disenchanted with the NHL. He sees a limited future for hockey the market (yet), or an in Los Angeles and virexpansion club. The NFL tually no possibility of reaping pay-TV dividends in the NHL.

HE IS more optimistic about pro basketball, but reportedly would like to see the NBA cut back to no more than 16 clubs and reduce each franchise to 70 games - 35 and 35 - with seasons starting in November. Buss has to know that he has absolutely no chance to accomplish such sweeping changes quick-

What really intrigues Buss is the thought of operating an NFL team in Los Angeles - either the Rams, who aren't on

IN VIEW of the embarassing allegations being directed toward Georgia Frontiere, owner of the Rams, the possibility of the Anaheim franchise going on the block becomes greater every day. Besides his lack of faith in the NHL and NBA, Buss has confided that he doesn't like the travel that goes with operating the Kings, Lakers and The Forum.

ISF investigates alledged illegal kick by Caulkins

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — The International Swimming Federation will investigate allegations that American swimmer Tracy Caulkins used an illegal breaststroke kick at two major meetings earlier this Federation Secretary Robert Hel-mick said today the issue had arisen after reports on Caulkins' swimming method at the Paris international meet in February and a similar meet-ing in Holland two weeks earlier.

"Some swimmers are now using an up-an-down dolphin kick instead of their feet staying on the same level, and this is giving them a decided advantage," Helmick said.

"The FINA bureau is seeking urgent clarification from its technical committee, because such a change could have a big impact on training for this stroke," Helmick explained.

Earnhardt sets mark in qualifying run at Wilkesboro Speedway

NORTH WILKESBORO, N.C. (AP) — Defending NASCAR na-tional champion Dale Earnhardt streaked to the provisional pole Friday with a track rec-ord in the first of two days of qualifying for the $140,000 Northwestern Bank 400 Grand National stock car race. Earnhardt toured the %-mile North Wilkesboro Speedway oval in his Pontiac Grand Prix at an average speed of 114.074 mph.

That barely topped the 114.057 mph lap record turned in by Bobby Allison in April 1980. Cale Yarborough - who passed up the race this year — set the two-day qualifying mark of 113.052 last year.

The unusual qualifying method, used by NASCAR only at North Wilkesboro, takes the top eight cars in the first day's session and has them run against the clock the second day. The top laps from the two days are then averaged, with the fastest average winning the pole posi-tion and a payoff of up to $6,-

Veteran Dave Marcis was right on Earnhardt's heels at 113.820 mph in a Chevrolet Mali-

"We were only a tenth of a second behind him (Earnhardt)," Marcis said with a grin. "I really like this setup because it gives us a second chance to get the pole and the money. And the worst we can do is start eighth."

Ricky Rudd placed third Friday, piloting his Buick Regal to a lap of 113.682. He was followed by Allison's Pontiac LeMans at 113.596, rookie Mark Martin in a Grand Prix at 113.482, Benny Parsons in a Ford Thunderbird at 113.322, Darrell Waltrip in a Regal at 113.134 and Harry Gant in a Grand Prix at 112.861.

Earnhardt, a 29-year-old from nearby Kannapolis, N.C., won five races a year ago. But he's gotten off to a slow start this season, finishing as high as third only twice in the first six Grand

However, he started second on the grid last weekend at Bristol, Tenn., and said earlier Friday, "It looks like we're starting to put things together. I think we're doing the right things and it's only a matter of time until they begin to show in the re-

After his fast run, Earnhardt left the track in a hurry, but stopped long enough to say, "I hope my speed holds up for to-morrow (Saturday). If it does, you're going to see one happy

"I don't want any repeat of last year's race," said Ronnie Howard, the umpire of Saturday's race on the River Thames. "There were eight clashes last year."

Brown, 22, the first woman to take part in the famed race in its 152year history, was called before the umpire along with Christopher Wigglesworth, the Cambridge Howard plans to put the rival boats closer together at the starting line at Putney — perhaps just 10 feet apart.

"I think they have been too far apart in the past, and this encourages them to converge," he said. "Ten feet will make the coxes behave.'

Meanwhile, most observers expect Brown, a biochemistry student at Wadham College, to complete her breakthrough into a man's world by steering Oxford to its sixth straight victory. That would be the longest sequence of tri-umphs by either crew this century.

The bookies make Oxford a 3-1 odds-on favortime in Brown, who weighs just 90 pounds.

GOD WANTED NO PUPPETS

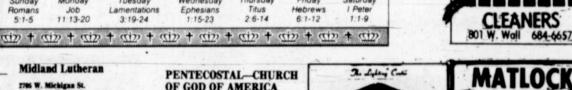

It is called freedom of will. And it is one of the most exciting ideas in man's religious knowledge: we decide for ourselves what we'll believe and how

It is not that God doesn't care about human beliefs and behavior. In the Bible and in the life of His Son Jesus, God had made vividly clear His LOVE and His WILL. But God wanted no puppets. So each of us has been endowed by the Creator with freedom of will. This way our faith is a vital response to God's love not a mechanical reaction controlled by a puppeteer. And our morality is the real-life expression of our Christian convictions — not a wooden uprightness imposed by strings.

RELIGION IN BRIEF

Local church plans special pre-Easter services

The Rev. Richard B. Wilkie, senior minister of the First United Methodist Church at Wichita, Kan., will be the featured guest speaker for the three sessions. Books to his credit include "Tell Me Again, I'm Listening," "The Pastor and Marriage Group Counseling" and "Our Father, The Lord's Prayer For Today."

Wilke graduated with honors from Southern Methodist University, where he was president of the student body and ected to Phi Beta Kappa.

Prior to being appointed to First Church Wichita, he served as district superintendent of the Winfield District.

These sessions will feature congregational singing led by Bob West, director of music ministries at St. Luke's United Methodist Church of Lubbock. The First United Methodist youth, adult and handbell choirs, directed by Ted and Candace Markle, will also participate in the special

On Monday and Tuesday Wilkie will lead a group conversation with emphasis on marriage and family. This session, which includes a 5:30 p.m. dinner, is by reservation only. Reservations may be made in advance for the meal and for child care by calling 682-3701.

Storie youth minister at Greenwood

Jimmy Storrie, a 1980 graduate of Midland High and the son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Storrie, has recently assumed duties as youth minister at Greenwood Baptist Church.

Storrie is currently attending Midland college where he served as president of the Baptist Student Union. Prior to assuming his Greenwood duties, he served as youth associate at First Baptist Church of Midland. He was recently licensed to the gospel ministry by the Midland church.

He plans to attend Howard Payne University this fall,

The public is invited to attend the special pre-Easter services planned for Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the sanctuary of the First United Methodist Church, Main Street at Ohio Avenue.

The Chancel Choir of the First United Methodist Church will present Gabriel Faure's "Requiem" at 10:35 a.m. Sunday in the church sanctuary, Main Street at Ohio Avenue. The choir will be accompanied by The Thouvenel String Quartet, a harp and other stringed instruments

Faure, who dedicated this piece to the memory of his father, was one of the founders of the National Society of French Music, a professor at the Paris Conservatory in 1896 and its director from 1905-1920

Faure's music is characterized by subtlety and restraint combined with harmonic originality and resourcefulness. His setting of the "Requiem" is composed for soprano and baritone soloists, four-voice choir, organ and a small orchestra which includes a harp. The public is invited to attend.

Wayne Meyers to speak at fellowship

Wayne Meyers will speak at three services Sunday at Midland Christian Fellowship, 2301 W. Indiana Ave.

More security ordered for pageant

LAWTON, Okla. (AP) - Beefed-up security for the annual Easter Pageant at the Holy City of the Wichitas means that half of the Wichita Mountains Wildlife Refuge will be closed to the public during the Easter weekend,

Bob Karges, refuge manager, on Wednesday said the entire western section of the refuge will be closed to campers from noon, April 16, until 8 a.m. April 19. In addition, that half will be closed to through traffic beginning at 5 p.m. that Saturday until 8 a.m. that Sunday, he said "The reason for the change in security is to assure that the public has the opportunity to participate in the Easter Pageant proceedings without the worry of a disruption," Karges said. "We have taken adequate precautions and are prepared to manage any type situation that might arise. Earlier this year, organized atheists announced plans to demonstrate against the pageant, which has been held for years on the federal land.

Later, a group of Oklahoma Ku Klux Klansmen announced plans to trate. That brought an announcement from the atheists calling off their plans for a demonstration. Karges said the last announcement by the atheists "has reduced the concerns that developed, but it doesn't preclude the possibility of a demonstration spontaneously developing onsite during the pageant by any group or persons.

'We just don't have the manpower to keep the entire refuge open and

Law enforcement officials, including representatives of the FBI, the Oklahoma Highway Patrol, the Comanche County sheriff's department and other local agencies, met Wednesday to discuss the situation.

Karges told the meeting that despite the closure of the western por-

New temple to serve Texas, Oklahoma

DALLAS (AP) — The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints has chosen Dallas as the site of its newest Mormon temple to serve church members in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana, church officials said.

The exact location of the temple - one of 37 planned or existing tem-ples in the world — has not been determined, a church spokesman said.

Judge rules man doesn't have to pay abortion cost

NEW YORK (AP) — A Family Court judge has ruled that an unmarried woman cannot force her lover to pay for her abortion, since no child was born and, therefore, no "mother" or "father" existed.

Judge Elrich A. Eastman said Thursday that the state Legislature did not intend "to extend to fetuses the protections bestowed upon children born out of

The judge said his decision was based in part on the fact that "the state's highest court has deferred to the Legislature resolution of the issue" of whether

A section of the Family Court Act allows a woman to recover pregnancy-related medical expenses from the father when a child is born out of wedlock. But Eastman said that law cannot be extended to terminated pregnancies.

In dismissing the suit, brought by a woman identified only as Genevieve L., the judge said, "Parties herein are neither 'mother' nor 'father' ... since no child was begotten and born to them.

In her suit against a man identified as Pierre T., the woman charged that she became pregnant by him between April and July 1979. She had the abortion on July 31, 1979, Eastman said.

The woman, a native of Belgium who works here as a secretary, incurred $15,000 in medical expenses related to the pregnancy, according to her lawyer, Henry H. Foster. He said Pierre T. had promised to pay the doctor bills.

Wargames begin along Texas border

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — About 21,000 troops got a taste of desert warfare Fridayas major war games began along the Texas-New Mexico border.

The mock war, called Border Star '81, is one of four major exercises held this year by the United States Readiness Command, which is responsible for the preparedness of the nation's military.

Air Force Lt. Col. Richard Beaudry. "We give them general missions and guidance and it's up to them to figure out the tactical maneuvers. We don't tell them where, when or anything like that."

The forces involved will include infantry, artillery, tanks and airplanes. Also utilized will be the Hawk ground to air missiles. preparedness of the nation's military.

The different sides in the war games began setting up communications networks Thursday. The actual shooting starts today and will continue through next

Most of the 21,000 troops involved are from nearby Fort Bliss and from Fort Polk, La., but units from all branches of the military will participate.

"This is what's called a free play exercise," said ground-to-air missiles. Beaudry was quick to point out that much of the war is on paper and that few of the exercises will involve live ammunition.

"Safety is paramount," Beaudry said. "You can't teach anybody anything if they're dead."

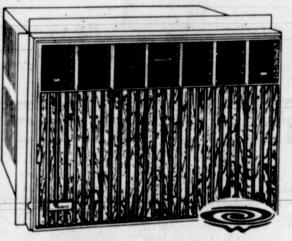

Beaudry said all live fire will be confined to firing ranges where there won't be any troops.
