

Government probing Britain's weekend riots

By ED BLANCHE
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Home Secretary William Whitelaw today announced a major government investigation of Britain's worst race riots since World War II and rejected blacks' demands that he pull out more than 1,000 police sent into the Brixton ghetto during riots this weekend.

Black leaders in the south London ghetto called for a mass rally this Sunday in support of 200 blacks arrested in the weekend clashes, which injured more than 200 people and caused an estimated $2 million damage.

Whitelaw, who is in charge of the nation's law enforcement, told Parliament, "The police will continue to do their duty to maintain the law on the streets of London." He said an appeals judge, Lord Scarman, will head the government investigation into the "most serious disorder" in the black slum.

Scotland Yard said 204 people were injured — 149 police officers, 40 rioters, 12 firemen and three ambulance crewmen — as rioting snowballed in South London's impoverished Brixton district.

Hundreds of black and white youths fought the police with bottles, bricks and gasoline bombs, looted stores and burned down more than 30 buildings, witnesses said.

A spokesman said Scotland Yard was investigating reports that large supplies of homemade gasoline bombs were on hand an hour after the start of Saturday night's clashes. He also said the British Broadcasting Corp. called the Yard's press office nearly two hours before the trouble erupted saying it had been told there was rioting in Brixton.

Police Commissioner Sir David McNee said there were indications the violence was not spontaneous. He said troublemakers from outside Brixton gathered there before it started.

Leaders of the black community said the trouble had its roots in the poverty and unemployment among blacks. But they blamed the violence on "heavy-handed tactics" by the predominantly white police force.

"I saw no evidence of outside political extremists," said Courtney Laws of the Brixton Neighborhood Community Association. "But I wouldn't be so naive as to say that none of these young people were not politically motivated."

"This is not against the white community but against the police. They treat us like dirt," said one of the rioters, a 21-year-old black.

"This has set the cause of race relations in South London back 20 years," said Rene Webb, a West Indian and former community relations chief in south London. "It will not end here."

The National Council for Civil Liberties, an independent body, said it feared "further incidents unless the government takes immediate steps to end the harassment and discrimination against black people caused by racist immigration laws and practices and increasing unemployment among black people."

'Better late than never': Shuttle sails through tests

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The astronauts of Columbia, their rocketship sailing along like a "champ," tested control systems today for Tuesday's searing re-entry after sources said photographs indicated the underbelly heat shield — crucial to survival — is apparently intact.

On Flight Day Two, "everything's working just fine," a mission director said today. "There's nothing remotely resembling a problem."

For Day Three, the forecast at the Rogers Dry Lakebed landing strip in California calls for clear skies and little wind. "That's ready made to order," said Shuttle Control. "Sounds good," agreed Columbia commander John Young.

Young and Crippen were awakened from a chilly night's sleep in orbit by a country-western tune that celebrated their "mean machine." They began testing Columbia for the dramatic landing that will conclude the mission that thrust the United States back into the space race.

Cabin temperatures overnight were in the 60s, a few degrees below normal and Crippen said, "we got about ready to break out the long undies." Shuttle Control quickly resolved that by dumping water out of a heat exchanger.

The song, "The flight of the Shuttle Columbia," warmed their spirits. It said, in part, "Many, many hours went into this thing. A job well done by the shuttle space team."

Following breakfast, Crippen and Young plunged into a day of extensive testing of spaceship systems — working well except for minor "anomalies." A remarkably clear telecast showed Young testing the ship's flight controls.

"The vehicle is performing just beautifully, much better than anyone ever expected on the first flight," Young said Sunday.

"It's performing like a champ," Crippen reported.

The astronauts relayed their praise nine hours after Columbia vaulted spectacularly off its launch pad at Cape Canaveral.

Today, flight director Neil Hutchinson said, "It's absolutely amazing, the machine is operating so well; we have nothing that's a real show-stopper. There's nothing remotely resembling a problem."

Of the tiles, National Aeronautics and Space Administration spokesman Charles Redmond said, "We are very interested in understanding what went on, but there is still no concern. If you define a major problem as one where we think there might be danger to the lives of the crew members, no, this doesn't come anywhere near being a major problem."

The maiden flight of the world's first reusable spaceship is a test flight, and Young and Crippen were to do just that today. Nothing glamorous like landing on the moon. Just dogged checking and rechecking of all the systems, as they did Sunday after launch.

Today's work schedule: The pilots evaluated the accuracy of ship flight controls, assessed the small steering jets that guide their orbit and their descent, troubleshoot a minor cabin pressurization problem, adjusted Columbia's startracker alignment (navigation control) and did more test operations by remote control on the ship's cargo doors.

Reagan resumes restful schedule

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, out of the hospital but under doctor's orders not to work in the Oval Office yet, is staying upstairs in the White House with no immediate plans for public appearances while he builds up his strength.

Reagan met today with his top three aides and received a written national security briefing, said deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes.

He also was meeting today with Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. and Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger to hear reports on their recent overseas trips. Both meetings were scheduled in the executive mansion's second-floor living quarters.

Speakes said Reagan was not likely to make a radio speech on his economic proposals this week but said it may be done later.

As he recuperates at home from the bullet wound in his left lung inflicted by a would-be assassin two weeks ago, Reagan also may telephone members of Congress for a progress report on how his economic plan is faring, Speakes said Sunday.

But the president planned to spend most, if not all, of the week secluded in his upstairs living quarters. First lady Nancy Reagan has redecorated the rooftop solarium for Reagan's use during his convalescence.

After being released from George Washington University Hospital on Saturday, Reagan spent a quiet weekend with his wife and their daughter, Patti. Aides agreed not to disturb him.

On Sunday he arose early to watch the launching of the space shuttle Columbia on television. "It's a spectacular sight," his personal physician, Dr. Daniel Ruge, quoted Reagan as saying.

After visiting the president, Ruge reported through Speakes: "He's in great shape. He looks great." Reagan is taking penicillin orally to ward off infection.

Ruge visited Reagan again this morning and said later his patient was "doing extremely well." Speakes, who relayed Ruge's assessment, said there were no plans for any other doctors to see the president.

Speakes said Sunday that Reagan's senior staff made a "conscious decision" to "leave him alone and give him some time with his family" after he returned from the hospital.

To a large extent, Speakes said, the president will follow his hospital routine at home. His top three aides, counselor Edwin Meese III, chief of staff James A. Baker III and Michael K. Deaver, will visit him in the mornings "to discuss whatever matters come up," and daily national security briefings will be in written form.

Bush will begin 'backing down'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President George Bush will gradually relinquish his responsibilities as President Reagan's stand-in as Reagan's stamina returns.

With Reagan back in the White House, Bush likely will no longer preside over meetings of the Cabinet or the National Security Council as he did after the president was felled by a would-be assassin's bullet March 30.

Reagan, who returned home Saturday after 12 days of hospitalization, probably will want to run those meetings again, said Peter Teeley, Bush's press secretary.

Bush will continue many ceremonial jobs of the president, such as greeting White House visitors, and will preside over sub-Cabinet groups.

"I'll be doing that all the time 'til he (Reagan) gets back, but it will get gradually de-emphasized," Bush told reporters Sunday as he flew to a speech in Alabama on the plane that normally carries the president.

In his speech at Tuskegee Institute, Bush told a largely black audience that doubts expressed by some black leaders about the administration's commitment to the protection of minority rights were "totally unfounded."

He also indicated he no longer would substitute for Reagan at the daily meeting of senior White House staffers.

Bush will substitute for the president at fund-raising events in Los Angeles on April 23 and in Hartford, Conn., the next day.

Asked if he would give away the president's daughter, Maureen, at her April 24 wedding in California, Bush said with a grin, "I'm not going that far in my stand-in responsibilities." The president is going to be unable to attend the wedding.

When Reagan was discharged from the hospital, "he was a little tired," Bush said. "The tendency will be to push too much in on him, and I think his tendency should be to resist that," the vice president added.

Bush sought to play down lingering reports of a dispute between Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger and Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. over who was in charge while Bush was flying to Washington from Texas after Reagan was shot.

He said he was unaware of any confusion in the White House situation room and said that overall "I think history will record it all worked pretty darn well...a limited degree of confusion."

Bush flew to Alabama to substitute for Reagan at the Founders Day and Centennial Celebration of Tuskegee Institute, a predominantly black school founded 100 years ago by Booker T. Washington to teach former slaves and their children.

Cancer machine testimony opens

By SUE FAHLGREN
Staff Writer

AUSTIN — Representatives of Odessa's Medical Center Hospital began testimony this morning at the Texas Health Facilities Commission in favor of the application for a 6 Million Electron Volt Linear Accelerator for the 351-bed hospital.

Testifying in behalf of the hospital was Dr. Merrick Reese of Dallas, who said the hospital's application would decide "if we can continue with a relatively outdated piece of machinery, or should we, because of this, continue to ineffectively treat a patient."

Supporting replacement of a 10-year-old Teratron 80 Cobalt Unit, Dr. Reese, a member of the Medical Oncology group from Sammon's Cancer Center in Dallas which is affiliated with Baylor Medical Center in Dallas, said "it (the 6MEV) is a better way of delivery for the therapeutic modality. There are technical reasons that it (6MEV) is better (than the cobalt machine). It's a better mouse-trap."

The Sammons Center provides the cancer treatment services for the Odessa hospital.

Reese was one of three persons testifying in behalf of Odessa Medical Center in the morning session at the THFC.

Midland Memorial Hospital and the Allison Permian Basin Cancer Therapy Center, which are opposing MCH's application for the 6MEV, were expected to present their case before the THFC this afternoon or Tuesday.

Reese admitted "HSA (Health Systems Agency) 12 is underserved at the moment. With the opening of the Allison Center there will be adequate services to serve the patients of that area."

"I don't look at this (application) as a duplication," Reese said. "(MCH) is maintaining the status quo at Medical Center Hospital, but they will be able to do it better (if MCH gets the 6MEV)."

Reese testified that the Odessa radiation program currently serves about 400 patients a year. Members of the Sammons Cancer Center appear in Midland about once a week to conduct radiation services for area cancer patients.

"It would be my opinion that this (current program) is an effective program, but not yet an ideal program," Reese said. He went on to say an ideal program would include a "full-time, geographically-based medical oncologist."

Reese said Medical Center Hospital is treating an average of 45 cancer patients a week, 15 percent of which come from Midland County.

Eisenhower press secretary dead at 71

BRONXVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — Funeral services were scheduled Tuesday for James C. Hagerty, who was press secretary for President Dwight Eisenhower for eight years.

Hagerty, 71, died at Lawrence Hospital Saturday after suffering a severe hemorrhage. Hagerty, who suffered a stroke several years ago, had gone to the hospital Friday complaining of stomach cramps.

A native of Plattsburgh, Hagerty was an ABC vice president before his retirement in 1975 after 14 years with the company.

He was an Albany correspondent for The New York Times when he was hired by the late Gov. Thomas E. Dewey as an executive assistant and then press secretary in 1943.

At the urging of a group of reporters, Eisenhower hired Hagerty as press expert during his 1952 presidential campaign and then appointed him White House press secretary in 1953.

It was Hagerty who reassured the nation of Eisenhower's physical condition after a heart attack in Denver in 1955. He made history, at Eisenhower's orders, by revealing complete details of the president's condition.

He instituted the practice of regularly scheduled presidential news conferences and abolished the long-standing policy of requiring special permission before directly quoting the president. In 1955, he pioneered the admission of newsreel and television cameras into presidential news conferences.

Ohio congressman dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tennyson Guyer, a five-term Ohio Republican member of the House of Representatives who apparently died in his sleep, will be buried Thursday in his home town of Findlay, Ohio.

Joseph Jansen, Guyer's press secretary, said Sunday at the district office in Lima, Ohio the congressman's wife, Mae, told him she was unaware of anything wrong "until she awoke this morning and discovered him."

The cause of death was not immediately known. Guyer, 67, had suffered heart attacks in 1963 and 1976, the aide said.

"Losing Hair? Try This At No Risk"

HOUSTON, Texas— If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss... and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done". But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss... but is really growing hair!

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in the family," it is certainly not proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Hair loss caused by sebum can also run in your family, and many other conditions can cause hair loss. If you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair... now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days—at their risk—if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail. Adv.

HERE'S OUR MINT NEW PENNY WITH A FIGURE THAT MEANS SOLID GOLD

Dear Pat Walker's,

For years I made excuses for my large arms, saying it was because I'd used crutches for a long time. That was a real crutch! Now I have slender arms and a size 3 figure.

I really do and...I lost a total of 50 pounds and 80 inches in 1 1/2 years and maintained it for 2 1/2 years. That changed my looks, wardrobe, attitude and career. Now I keep up easily with my 2 live wire sons and as an executive in a large international corporation.

And does Ken, my husband, care? I'll say! Now instead of practical 'house' gifts I get very personal pretties, like my diamond ring in an 'S' shape, for 'Sexy.' Thanks Pat Walker's. We love you.

Homosexual ex-convicts included in child slaying probe

ATLANTA (AP) — A task force investigating the slayings of young blacks is checking the whereabouts of homosexual ex-convicts, according to a newspaper report, although authorities say there's "no evidence" of a homosexual link to the killings.

The Atlanta Constitution reported today that the special task force investigating the 23 deaths and two disappearances here in 21 months is using computers to determine if any former prison inmates classified as homosexuals lived near the victims.

The newspaper, quoting unidentified sources, said such former inmates found to live near the victims could face questioning.

There was no official comment on the report, but Public Safety Commissioner Lee Brown said last week that the task force has "no information that would lead to the conclusion that the killings we are investigating are homosexually related."

"That is speculation ... We have to look at all possibilities, but there is no evidence that we should single out homosexual involvements any more than any other factor," he said.

Meanwhile, the stabbed body of an unidentified black man, aged 20 to 30, was found in a vacant lot. Police said the case had no connection with the 23 other slayings.

In another development, police reported that fear of the incidents and a curfew seem to be keeping children from Atlanta's streets.

Some of the victims have disappeared at night, however, despite the 7 p.m.-6 a.m. curfew for children under 15 imposed Feb. 2. The American Civil Liberties Union has said it may take legal action against the city if the curfew is renewed after its May 3 expiration.

"We share the same concerns everybody else does about the safety of our children," said Gene Guerrero of the ACLU of Georgia, "but we can't just curtail the liberties of a certain group of people because there is trouble."

According to police statistics for March, officers checked 4,670 juveniles during curfew and took 116 home. They arrested 23 for violating the curfew and arrested 31 others for other offenses.

Deputy Police Chief Eldrin Bell said police "have seen the number of youth out on the street late at night dwindle considerably" since the curfew went into effect.

"The curfew provides an element of safety from the possibility of a child turning up on the murdered and missing list, but also helps curtail robberies, burglaries, assaults and other crimes," Bell said.

The head of a citizens' patrol said she also has noticed a drop in the number of unaccompanied youths out after dark.

"When we first started patrolling, we would find 30 to 40 children out late at night," said Grace Davis of Atlanta Youth Against Crime. "We are finding very few children out now."

The ACLU's effort to end the curfew would be a "disservice to this city," Mrs. Davis said.

"Sure children have rights," she said. "They have the right to live, too. They have a right to grow up into productive citizens."

In another development, the Rev. Jesse Jackson, civil rights leader and head of the self-help group Operation PUSH, charged there is a "cultural conspiracy to kill black people ... The nation cannot ignore this problem and dump it in the lap of Mayor Maynard Jackson and the public safety commissioner." Jackson declined to speculate on the race of the killer or killers, saying "these bizarre episodes point to a deeper, cultural malady — a crisis of national violence."

The 23 slayings have occurred since July 1979. All but two of the victims have been between the ages of 7 and 16. The other two were young adults described by police as small in stature and mentally retarded.

About 100 volunteers turned out Saturday to search for the missing children — 15-year-old Joseph Bell and 10-year-old Darron Glass — but their efforts failed to uncover any new evidence in the cases.

Shooting victim may be transient

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Police say they have few leads concerning the recent activities of a man who was shot in the head and stuffed in the trunk of his car, which then sat for 80 days at Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport.

The victim, tentatively identified as Larry V. Vejrosta, 69, is thought to be a transient whose last known address was Hot Springs, Ark. An autopsy showed he died after being shot in the head with a .22-caliber pistol.

Officials said the car, which was parked at the airport when passersby noticed a bad odor and called police open the trunk, was registered in Omaha, Neb.

The man's body was stuffed inside a cardboard box which had been sealed with duct tape, officials said.

Fires still blazing in Florida Everglades

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — A portion of the Everglades was closed to everyone but fishermen today as wind-fed fires continued to burn the environmentally sensitive South Florida swampland.

Fire officials said Sunday that the fires probably would burn another 1,000 to 1,500 acres before firefighters could get them under control. More than 40,000 acres already have been destroyed since the fires erupted a week ago, they said.

Officials have blamed the fires on hunters trying to drive out wildlife. No one has been arrested.

Crews laid another fire line Sunday after the blaze jumped one line before it was completed, said Jim Hunter of the Division of Forestry here. He said brisk winds of about 15 mph and dry brush complicated the firefighters' job.

"The wind carries burning embers across the line and sets them down on the other side. It's so dry out there it doesn't take much to start it up," said Hunter.

Firefighters won a battle Friday night against a 3,500-acre blaze on the south side of the Alligator Alley — which runs across the Everglades from Fort Lauderdale to the state's west coast. The fire north of the highway has burned about 27,000 acres, Hunter said.

Hinckley may have visited Sen. Tower's office

WASHINGTON (AP) — John W. Hinckley apparently made a visit to the office of Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, before he went to the Washington Hilton two weeks ago to wait for President Reagan to finish speaking before a labor group.

FBI agents found on him a pass — with Tower's stamp on it — allowing him to gain entrance to the U.S. Senate gallery. He also had a pass for the gallery overlooking the floor of the House of Representatives, but it was obtained from a non-Texas congressman.

Anyone going to either gallery must first walk through a metal detector passage, so officials said Hinckley would have been unable to make it either place with a weapon.

Since Hinckley was known to have arrived in Washington by bus on Sunday night, March 29, he could have obtained the gallery passes only the following morning, a short while before the assassination attempt.

Rep. Kent Hance, D-Lubbock, was stunned by a description he read last week in the Washington Post about the South Plains city and about Texas Tech, where he graduated and where he was on the faculty for a while.

In an article tracing the life of Hinckley over the past several years, the Post suggested Hinckley obviously fell short of the standards achieved by his brother and sister.

His brother went to Vanderbilt, "often referred to as the Harvard of the South," the Post said, and his sister was elected cheerleader at Highland Park High School, a prestigious honor.

But Hinckley, the story said, went in 1973 to Lubbock ... "a dusty, windswept college town in West Texas ... (to) Texas Tech, an engineering oriented university that accepts 99 percent of its applicants."

Hinckley bought a hand gun from a Lubbock pawn shop while attending Texas Tech, the story continued, adding:

"A penchant for guns hardly strikes anyone as ominous in free-wheeling Lubbock, where some university students carry guns to class and the pistol-packing frontier Texas tradition runs deep and long."

Bill McAllister, mayor of Lubbock, shared Hance's ire.

"I resent the comment and ... slur made by the article. I would tend to believe the person who wrote the article has never been to Lubbock, and I would certainly invite that person or persons to come to Lubbock and see what the city is really like," said McAllister, who owns a Lubbock television station.

Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Stamford, will join Rep. Arlan Stangeland, R-Minn., for hearings on the proposed new farm bill in Abilene on April 20, Lubbock on April 21 and Amarillo on April 22. They will be joined by Hance in Lubbock and Rep. Jack Hightower, D-Vernon, in Amarillo.

Hightower also plans to attend hearings on the MX missile that are planned for Amarillo on April 20 and Dalhart on April 21.

Stenholm, Hance and Hightower will be feted at a barbecue in Tulla the night of April 21, sponsored by rural electric cooperatives in the area.

Rep. Sam B. Hall Jr., D-Marshall, is headed for hearings scheduled by the House Judiciary Committee for Tuesday through Saturday in San Diego, Calif., on immigration problems, particularly those involving Mexican aliens crossing the border.

Rep. Richard White, D-El Paso, had to re-arrange some speaking engagements because of the death of General of the Army Omar N. Bradley, an El Paso resident. White plans to attend Bradley's funeral in Washington Tuesday and then return to Texas for visits around his district.

Rep. Henry Gonzalez, D-San Antonio, chairman of a housing subcommittee, will remain in Washington this week for more hearings.

An elusive consensus

During recent years, trips to the Middle East have become almost unavoidable rites of passage for U.S. secretaries of state. Quite properly, Secretary of State Alexander Haig has lost no time in making the expected rounds to Egypt, Israel, Jordan and Saudi Arabia.

The limited purpose of his week-long visit was to define Reagan administration policy priorities and "the establishment of a warm relationship with the leaders of the four countries." It was, in brief, a base-building mission.

But whatever else Mr. Haig may have learned from these personal contacts, he must have returned to these shores with a better understanding than before that building a U.S. policy base on the shifting sands of the Middle East is next to mission impossible.

In that broadly defined region stretching from North Africa to the borders of India, it is sobering to contemplate three little hot wars and one big undeclared one. The war between Iraq and Iran drags on. The Soviet Union has found it necessary to send 20,000 more troops to combat growing guerrilla resistance in Afghanistan. And new fighting has erupted in a battle-ravaged Lebanon between rightist Christian forces supported by Israel on one side and militant Moslem, PLO and Syrian peacekeeping troops on the other.

The historic conflict between the Arabs and Israelis goes on, for the moment, as an undeclared war. Moreover, Syria has become, in effect, a powerful Soviet military base with as many as 10,000 Russian advisers, 3,000 tanks and 400 combat aircraft.

So much fighting around the edges of the world's greatest store of oil is like nothing so much as uncontrolled fires around a gigantic gasoline dump.

The U.S. role, as Secretary Haig sought to make clear, is not so much that of a bulldozer as it is that of a fire department to dampen the flames, prevent explosions and keep out Soviet arsonists.

Unlike the Carter administration, which concentrated on the Arab-Israeli conflict to the neglect of the Soviet threat to the Persian Gulf, the Reagan administration seeks an anti-Soviet security screen — "a consensus of strategic concern," that stresses globalism over regionalism.

To underline this broadened strategic concept, the White House has promised to sell Saudi Arabia air-to-air missiles and extra fuel tanks to enhance the offensive capability of the 62 F-15 jet fighters ordered from the United States. And it has tentatively decided to provide the Saudis five AWACS electronic surveillance planes and seven KC-135 tankers.

But, in an exasperating rebuff to the United States, the Saudis, along with the Jordanians, advised Mr. Haig and the world that, as far as they are concerned, their primary enemy is Israel — that Israel, not the Soviet Union, is the chief threat to peace in the Middle East. Thus, under this fallacious premise, U.S.-supplied arms to the Arabs seem destined to be pointed and possibly used against Israel.

For the moment, Israel is in limbo awaiting the outcome of its national elections on June 23. Moreover, the Camp David peace process with Egypt is likewise on hold. By the time Prime Minister Menachem Begin learns whether he has been voted out of office or will remain, the Reagan administration should be better organized to respond more effectively to the numerous fire alarms sure to be sounding in the Middle East.

MARK RUSSELL SAYS

Greyhound, that venerable old company, has stamped the running doggie trademark on its own brand of computers. Realizing that a company must continue to grow, I nonetheless find this distressing. I mean, would you buy a communications satellite from Trailways?

On second thought, in the future, it would be nice to arrive at an orbital bus depot, have your picture taken in a little booth, use the shoeshine machine and give a quarter to a space age wino.

Greyhound computers means that, one day, man possibly will be propelled into space in an orbital ship bearing the name — "Sears."

Which is as it should be. No corporation should be stereotyped. Who knows — someday we might see the dawn of Dr. Pepper Cognac.

INSIDE REPORT

Effort to 'control Al Haig' hampering his effectiveness

WASHINGTON — Despite the stated resolve of President Reagan's senior aides for ending their campaign to cut down Secretary of State Alexander Haig, the continuing deterioration of his position — aggravated by the White House — is attested by two new items of evidence.

Item No. 1: The obscure occupants of a secondary Cabinet office, Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block, publicly fumed at Haig for ignoring him about a French wheat sale to Moscow. The White House did not publicize the fact that although Haig failed to tell Block about the deal, he informed Ronald Reagan.

Item No. 2: Word has seeped out of the White House that among Republican foreign policy heavyweights in regular contact with presidential chief of staff James A. Baker III is Chicago industrialist Donald Rumsfeld, a superb intriguer in many former incarnations, including secretary of defense. That has persuaded one influential Western ambassador that Rumsfeld might soon replace Haig.

The White House campaign to bring Haig to heel in a self-styled "collegial" atmosphere is out of control. Like a whispering campaign, the effort to tame Haig's ambition and limit his power cannot now be stopped by the high presidential advisers who started it. That alarms foreign diplomats here and their home offices, who had hoped for a return to stability in U.S. foreign policy.

Evans

Novak

What angered Block was week-old word that French Ambassador Francois de Laboulaye had been given a green light March 27 by Haig to sell wheat to the Russians despite the U.S. grain embargo. Block told reporters he was "furious" at Haig and raged to the White House to complain.

In fact, the French ambassador simply informed Haig that France was considering a sale, neither asking nor expecting any response. Word leaked by the Agriculture Department that Haig had failed to inform the White House was inaccurate. On that same March 27, Haig told the president.

Baker's conversations with Rumsfeld, however innocent in reality, take on a sinister tone in connection with statements coming out of the White House. A senior presidential aide has confided: "We will get this man (Haig) under control." A lesser White House aide predicted to newsmen that Haig would "be gone" by June 1.

'WHERE'S THE REST OF IT?'

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

IRS 'Mamelukes' victimizing taxpayers

WASHINGTON — A small businessman in Portland, Maine, was stunned last June when without any warning the Internal Revenue Service seized $9,000 from his bank account.

The besieged businessman, Richard Dyke, had been the innocent victim of an embezzlement which, in turn, had caused a $20,000 tax delinquency. He had received permission from IRS officials to pay off the debt in monthly installments of $2,000.

He had kept up the payments faithfully for several months. Then suddenly, the IRS descended on his bank account and grabbed $9,000 to pay off the balance of the bill.

In some ways, Dyke may have been luckier than Maurice Bishop, a Michigan businessman who had also been victimized by an embezzler and wound up owing the federal government $40,000 in taxes as a result. The IRS slapped a lien on property worth $400,000 to assure payment of the delinquency.

Bishop paid off $20,000 of the tax debt in cash; the IRS refused to release any of the lien. Even after the balance was paid off early last July, the tax bloodhounds took their sweet time getting the lien erased from court records, tying up Bishop's $400,000 worth of property for several months.

Incredibly, both the seizure of Dyke's money and the crippling lien against Bishop's property were perfectly legal under IRS regulations and the enormous discretionary authority Congress has given to the tax masters.

Like the Mamelukes of ancient Egypt — the class of bureaucratic slaves who eventually came to control their royal masters — IRS officials have become the rulers of the American public they are supposed to serve. Though most of them exercise their awesome power reasonably and responsibly, the potential for capricious enforcement becomes a temptation that some revenue officers can't resist.

It's arguable that Ronald Reagan's most effective campaign pledge was his promise to "get the government off our backs." And it's also arguable that many businessmen and ordinary taxpayers consider the petty despots of the IRS the government representatives they'd most like to get out from under. In the sacred cause of extracting every dollar due Uncle Sam from the taxpayers, the revenue officers often come down like the wolf on the fold.

Why is this? One reason seems to be the attitude drilled into IRS employees. Susan Long, a Princeton visiting fellow who has studied IRS training, said, "They're taught that 'most people cheat' and 'you're hated,' which puts you on the defensive from the start."

This, of course, is nonsense. Most people don't cheat — the income tax system is a marvel of voluntary, honest "self-incrimination." And it's the frightened taxpayer, bewildered by IRS regulations and intimidated by the auditor's accusatory demeanor, who is on the defensive in most situations.

But the paranoid mentality of

CHARLEY REESE

People, not guns, are cause of assassination attempts

Since with my uncanny sense of timing, I wrote an anti-gun control column the day the president was shot, and since the shooting has produced the usual amount of anti-gun hysteria, let us put the situation in perspective.

There is a pattern to the reactions. First, there is the instant classification of the assassin as a nut. This is circular reasoning. You may think anybody who would shoot a president is crazy, but that does not make him so. There is no evidence that Reagan's would-be killer, or Lee Harvey Oswald or Sirhan Sirhan, is psychotic.

Anyway, as soon as the human being is dismissed as a nut, the public attention focuses on the inanimate object he used as a weapon. This indicates to me that more than SAT scores have been declining in the United States. Primitive man often worshiped or feared inanimate objects, and attributed all sorts of magical powers to them, but you would think Americans in 1981 would be less superstitious.

There are about 40 million gun owners in the United States. One of them shot at Reagan. Do you think the problem is with the 40 million or with the one who shot Reagan? Which do you think is the more significant decision: the decision to kill the president or the decision on what to do with?

The grossest failure of reasoning comes from those who cry out against the so-called "Saturday Night Special." I think you have to be naive to believe that once a person arrives at a decision to commit murder that he or she is going to be deterred by the cost of the weapon.

We can all be thankful, by the way, that John Hinckley Jr. bought an inexpensive .22-caliber pistol. If he had done what the anti-Saturday night crowd wants and purchased a more expensive, larger caliber weapon, Reagan and probably three others would be dead. We can even be thankful he chose a handgun. A rifle or shotgun would also be far more lethal.

I also should point out that a criminal justice system which cannot effectively protect society by enforcing laws against murder and violence is certainly not capable of protecting society by adding more laws to the books. If you can't understand that the problem is with the people, not with the tool, then you have a larger problem.

The only near-reasonable argument of the anti-gun nuts is the case of more or less unpremeditated homicides which result from arguments, usually between relatives or lovers or friends. Here again the real problem is the people. The great majority of people who have divorces, lovers' quarrels and arguments do not resort to lethal violence even though they have the same access to weapons. Obviously, the lethal difference is in the people, not in the accessibility of objects. Forty-nine percent of the homicides are committed by blacks even though they are only 13 percent of the population. If you are interested in reducing the murder rate, then you should look at that statistic even at the risk of being called a racist.

Finally, more perspective: The United States ranks 11th in the world, not first, in both crime rate and homicide rate. Less than half of the homicides are committed with handguns, less than a fifth of aggravated assaults are committed with guns of all types.

I don't expect any of these facts to dampen hysteria. When one is confronted with a difficult problem involving the human mind and soul and value systems, it is easier to blame inanimate objects. Perhaps we should fly over all gun manufacturing plants and sprinkle them with ground-up bat wings and monkey blood.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Today is Monday, April 13, the 103rd day of 1981. There are 262 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On April 13, 1743, the author of the Declaration of Independence and the third president of the United States — Thomas Jefferson — was born in Albemarle County, Virginia.

On this date: In 1598, King Henry IV of France signed the edict of Nantes, granting a large measure of religious liberty to the Protestant Huguenots.

In 1776, Gen. George Washington arrived in New York to prepare the city's defense in the Revolutionary War.

In 1961, the United Nations General Assembly condemned apartheid.

And in 1964, Sidney Poitier became the first black to win a Hollywood Oscar as the best actor.

Ten years ago: A government scientist reported that rocks brought back by the Apollo 14 astronauts had dashed hopes that any life existed on the moon.

Five years ago: A munitions plant explosion in Finland left 45 dead and seven injured.

One year ago: Militants at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran announced they would allow members of the International Red Cross to visit with the American hostages the following day.

Today's birthdays: Perennial presidential candidate Harold Stassen is 74 years old. Writer Eudora Welty is 72. And singer Al Green is 35.

Thought for today: It is not enough to help the feeble up, but to support him — William Shakespeare, English playwright (1564-1616).

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY: You share this birthday with such distinguished members of the acting profession as John Gielgud, Bradford Dillman, Rod Steiger, and Julie Christie. Those born on this day are more interested in the broader picture than details, but it is careful attention to detail that will mean the difference between moving ahead and standing still this year.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Stay out of the limelight today and let others take the lead. Mail will bring welcome news. Family members need tender loving care. Shower them with affection! Expend restless energy on hobbies.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): A favorable day for traveling or contacting those overseas. Limit the amount of money you spend at sales. Allow plenty of time to get to appointments. An early night is indicated.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Track down an elusive individual to advance your career, business plans. Heart-to-heart talk will relieve tension, prevent misunderstandings. Be thorough in all that you do. Small mistakes are costly now.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Routine work goes well today. Colleagues are helpful. Real estate dealings can be a source of special satisfaction. Do what you can to speed the signing of contracts, papers. Romance looks much more promising.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Tackle complex projects with lots of details early in the day. Others may ask personal questions. Speak out if it will not embarrass loved ones. Your batteries need recharging. Visit home this evening.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Certain recent worries will sort themselves out now. Concentrate on creative projects to boost profits. You will have to get in touch with the experts if seeking specialized information.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Give careful consideration to co-workers' suggestions. It is possible to get a better return on your investments now. Perform more services for yourself to help beat inflation. Buy in bulk whenever practical.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Tap your sources to come up with the support you need. Information from behind the scenes can help you clinch an important financial deal. Write letters that say exactly what you mean.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): A good day to give and receive advice. Difficult person sees you in new light. Be alert to changes in attitudes, priorities. An ability to move with the times is the key to success.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Diplomacy helps you straighten out a delicate situation. Pressures ease. Teamwork is favored. Your intuition is at an all-time high. Use it constructively. Long-range goals move closer to becoming reality.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Be leery of those who shower you with flattery. Follow your instincts. Sign contracts, agreements only after conducting an extensive investigation. Something that appears to be a bargain could actually be a gyp.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): News from afar will please you. A trip abroad is a real possibility. Renew passport if necessary. Now is the time to set new goals. Share innermost feelings with loved one.

Q.1—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠QJ108752 ♣Q72 ♦Q53
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South
 1 ♦ 1 ♠ ?
 What do you bid now?
 A.—You have tremendous playing strength but virtually no defensive tricks. Someone at the table must hold a lot of spades because partner is unlikely to have more than four. You must do all you can to shut out that suit. Jump to four hearts. You would make the same bid had East not entered the auction.

Q.2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠AQJ10854 ♥AJ63 ♦6 ♦4
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1 ♦ 2 ♣ Pass Pass
 2 ♦ 3 ♦ 3 ♥ 4 ♦
 4 ♥ 5 ♦ Dble. Pass ?
 What action do you take?
 A.—Defensively, your hand is bound to be a disappointment to partner. However, if he has no more than six hearts to the king and a singleton spade, you have a good play for five hearts. In any event, you won't get hurt badly. Since there is no guarantee that you can beat five diamonds, pull to five hearts. We don't like overruling partner, but this is one of those cases where you should bid one more "for luck."

Q.3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠6 ♥AQ872 ♦J5 ♦109863
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 ♦ Pass 1 ♥ Pass
 2 NT Pass 3 ♦ Pass
 3 NT Pass ?
 What action do you take?
 A.—You have already told partner that you are not enamored with a no trump contract, yet he has persisted. Obviously, he has spades well stopped, for the auction has pinpointed that you have spade shortage. Pass, and hope that your values are sufficient for partner to make game.

Q.4—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

GOREN BRIDGE

♦832 ♥5 ♦98 ♠AQ108763
 Your partner opens the bidding with one no trump. What do you respond?
 A.—Don't count your points. Count the number of tricks your club suit will produce for partner at a no trump contract—at least six. Unless the opponents can collect five fast tricks, you are an overwhelming favorite to make a no trump game, so jump to three no trump.

Q.5—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠A87 ♦KJ10732 ♠AQ63
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1 ♦ Dble. Pass 1 ♦ ?
 What action do you take?
 A.—The auction and your holding suggest that partner should be short in spades, and his hearts were not good

Stock market loses

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market pulled back today amid fresh concern over the interest-rate outlook.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks dropped 5.40 to 994.87 by noon.

Losers outnumbered gainers by more than a 2-1 margin in the mid-morning tally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Late Friday the Federal Reserve reported a larger-than-expected $3.2 billion increase in the basic measure of the money supply.

Analysts said that raised new concerns about interest-rate prospects, even as the bond market was struggling to stabilize following a week of wild ups and downs.

Several Chicago banks today raised their prime lending rates from 17 to 17 1/2 percent, matching an increase posted Friday by Chase Manhattan and Manufacturers Hanover of New York.

The NYSE's composite index lost .57 to 77.21. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was off 3.84 at 364.66.

Volume on the Big Board totaled 21.93 million shares at noontime, against 28.38 million at the same point Friday.

Hostages to receive medals today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The former American hostages in Iran are getting together again, 12 weeks after their release, to be honored for "exceptional personal bravery and perseverance" and to undergo checkups on their readjustment to freedom.

About 40 of the former hostages were to receive the State Department's Award for Valor from Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. at a noon ceremony today and then head for a West Virginia resort to meet with a team of government doctors.

Board will meet on Wednesday

Midland College board of trustees will meet at 4 p.m. Wednesday instead of Tuesday, as reported in Sunday's Reporter-Telegram.

The meeting will be held in the MC board room.

On the agenda are selection of an auditing firm, a request from the Shriner's Club and an executive session.

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat No. 3 hard red winter 3.65/ton Monday. No. 2 soft red winter 4.10/ton. Corn No. 2 yellow 3.46/ton (upper) 3.28/ton (lower). Oats No. 2 heavy 2.13/ton. Soybeans No. 1 yellow 7.11/ton. No. 2 yellow corn Friday was quoted at 3.25 (chopper) 3.34 (box).

Cotton

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures No. 2 were mostly lower in midday dealings today. The average price for strict low middling 1-1/4 inch spot cotton advanced 110 points to 83.44 cents a pound Friday for the nine leading markets, according to the New York Cotton Exchange.

Midday prices were $2.00 a bale lower to 1.25 higher than the previous close. Odds seem to favor landing in California

By ROBERT LOCKE
AP Science Writer

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Air Force weather forecasters, who are predicting near-perfect weather for Tuesday's scheduled touchdown here of the space shuttle, have the odds in their favor.

Edwards boasts of good flying weather at least 350 days a year, and Lt. Col. Winston Crandall said Sunday that winds are typically "calm to light in the morning then they pick up in the afternoon."

He said normal winds are from the southwest, which send them straight up the landing strip, a dry lakebed.

"We're looking for conditions to be very favorable for a landing here," said Crandall, commander of Detachment 21, 2nd Weather Squadron at this sprawling desert base. "We don't see any disturbances. We feel fairly confident about this forecast."

Looking out a window at the detachment's weather station alongside Rogers Dry Lake, where the Columbia is to land about 1:30 p.m. EST Tuesday, Master Sgt. Chris Summerell smiled as blue holes appeared in the high thin clouds that had covered the area.

"That's the kind of sky we're looking for," the station chief said. "The more blue we see, the better off we are. Once this stuff moves out, we should be clear."

But the forecast for New Mexico's White Sands Missile Range, where Northrup is the Columbia's backup landing site, is less optimistic.

"This strip of cirrus (clouds) is moving east," Crandall said. "It's going to be over Northrup strip at the approximate landing time Tuesday."

At NASA's Dryden White Research Center here, meanwhile, the 18-vehicle convoy and ground crews that are to meet the Columbia relaxed Sunday afternoon after standing in readiness since about 3 a.m.

The shuttle, because of its position in orbit, can land at Edwards between about sunup and 1:30 p.m. PST each day of the 54½-hour mission. The crews, who will check the shuttle for dangerous, leaking gases, cool its electronics and cleanse its fuel lines, were heading back to their posts early today.

Weather conditions at the 44-square-mile lakebed here are being examined about as carefully as any spot on earth.

But Summerell said, "Other than that the world is looking at us, we're just doing our normal job with expanded hours."

Weather forecasting for the mission includes military and government agencies around the world. The Air Force Global Weather Central at Offutt Air Force Base, Neb., is even supplying data on solar storms and flares that might affect the shuttle's radio communications.

Astronauts' families spend flying weekend

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — For the families of shuttle astronauts John Young and Bob Crippen, it was a most memorable day.

They watched the long-awaited, frequently delayed and decidedly spectacular launch of the spaceship Columbia that Sunday hurled America back into the manned space program.

Then the wives, kids, mother and others climbed aboard a pair of blue-and-white NASA airplanes and flew from Florida to a small welcoming reception at Ellington Air Force Base near here.

Arriving tired but happy, Susy Young and Virginia Crippen boarded separate vans for the short drive to this Texas space community, where they joined officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and ground controllers monitoring the historic 2½-day flight.

The timing could hardly have been better. Soon the astronauts appeared on the giant television screen to praise their revolutionary spacecraft and thank those who contributed to the flawless launch.

Neither woman had any comment. Relatives of America's space explorers usually talked with reporters following Cape Canaveral launches — dating to the Mercury, Gemini and Apollo flights.

Mrs. Young, married to the Columbia's commander, all but hid behind a large, hand-held pot of flowers and tripped as she descended the steps of the aircraft that brought her here.

Young's children by his previous marriage, Sandy, 23, and John, 22, touched down at Ellington 10 minutes earlier on a separate flight from the Cape. Sandy was accompanied by her husband, Thomas Gay.

They also had no comment. The assemblage also included Crippen's mother, operator of a tavern in Porter, a tiny hamlet north of Houston.

Crippen's three teen-age daughters, Ellen Marie, 18, Susan Lynn, 16, and Linda Ruth, 13, flew back with their mother.

Crippen is a space rookie, but the Youngs have been through this before. Young, 50, a veteran of both Gemini and Apollo, was off on his fifth voyage into space.

He piloted the first manned Gemini mission in 1965 and commanded the next-to-last Apollo moon landing venture in April 1972. He has spent more than 550 hours in space flight.

Space agency spokesmen said the families intended to fly on to California for Tuesday's scheduled landing at Edwards Air Force Base. Their travel plans were unknown Sunday night.

Texas Democrats show some signs of revival

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Along with the arrival of spring there are some signs of the revival of the Texas Democratic Party.

"We are still reeling from last November's elections but we are a long way from dead," said Dwayne Holman, executive director of state party headquarters.

Under the new direction of State Democratic Chairman Bob Slagle, the party now has about 52 Democratic clubs scattered over the state with about 100 members each, Holman said. In addition there have been a large number of workshops showing interested Democrats how to operate effectively as a political party.

In the near future, there will be a Dallas Democratic Fun Fest, followed by similar events in Houston, San Antonio and Austin.

"These will be carnival-type, family-oriented and strictly for fun," said Holman.

"We want to get Democrats to come out and talk together, instead of fussing and fighting as we have in the past."

Harry Hubbard, president of the Texas AFL-CIO, told a recent labor gathering in Port Neches that "unless the working people and Democrats of this state get together, we are going to continue to suffer under elections like Bill Clements' and Ronald Reagan's."

"We have to get organized together on where we are going or we'll get down to the election and not decide," Hubbard said.

Slagle was enthused last week over the decision of Sen. Jack Ogg, D-Houston, not to push his bill for a five-state presidential primary in March 1984, separate from the May general primary elections.

"This decision promotes unity and harmony within the Texas Democratic Party," Slagle said.

Ogg's office said he decided to "back off" his presidential primary bill because it was too controversial and because he had received little encouragement from Democrats in adjoining states.

A surge of activity by Democratic candidates in preparation for the 1982 elections is helping the party organization also.

There will be an April 23 fund raiser in Abilene sponsored by U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Texas.

Big-time money raiser Jess Hay, Dallas banker, is arranging a statewide fund raiser in Dallas on April 28 with all present and would-be state officials expected to be present.

There will be a more or less routine meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee in San Antonio, but the main purpose will be to showcase the recent election of Henry Cisneros as mayor of San Antonio. He is the only Latin American among the mayors of the nation's largest cities.

Holman says state headquarters is bringing up to date its computer listing of Democratic voters in the 5,800 precincts throughout the state. The printouts already show how the reaction of voters in past primaries and general elections.

Now, the lists are being brought up to date with the 1980 census data on the age of voters, their racial characteristics and any shifts in political populations.

When the Legislature completes its job of drawing new boundaries for the 181 legislative districts and the 27 congressional districts, this information will go into the Democratic files.

These lists and information will be available to all Democratic candidates when the state party plans an all-out war in 1982 against Gov. Bill Clements and any other Republican party holders in Texas.

"November shocked a lot of party members," Holman said, "but we are bouncing back."

Bills ready for debate in Texas Senate, House

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Senate calendar is filling up with heavy-weight bills, including a proposal to repeal the "prevailing wage" law that is so important to organized labor.

House members were scheduled to vote today on Gov. Bill Clements' bills on public school curriculum reform, penalties for possessing drug paraphernalia and creation of a State Personnel Standards Board.

An aide to Sen. Bill Meier, D-Euless, said Meier's wage bill would repeal the "little Davis-Bacon" law that has been in effect since the Depression.

The law says workers on state construction jobs must get the "prevailing wage" paid construction workers in the area.

Meier aide Doug Richnow said, "Usually this means union scale."

He said the General Accounting Office had recommended repeal of the federal prevailing wage law, estimating that it raises the cost of construction projects by 10 percent.

Meier needs a two-thirds vote of the Senate to get the bill up for debate, and Richnow said, "Frankly, we're one vote short."

Also ready for Senate debate are bills that would legalize oral confessions and would require the embalming of corpses that remain unburied for 24 hours or more.

The embalming requirement was eliminated last year, and undertakers have lobbied hard to have it restored. Consumer groups say bereaved families should have a choice and insist that undertakers view embalming as a way to guarantee the traditional open-casket funeral.

Later in the week, the House will take up Speaker Bill Clayton's constitutional amendment dedicating the state treasury surplus to water projects, bond retirement and an emergency fund.

House and Senate budget writers worked late last week and Sunday to finish the $26 billion general appropriation bill for 1982-83.

The House Criminal Jurisprudence Committee is expected to decide Wednesday on a wiretapping bill to send to the floor for full debate. Clayton predicted "rough sledding" but used his influence to get it out of the subcommittee where it had been bottled up for a month.

Clements made the wiretapping bill the cornerstone of his anti-crime package, saying electronic surveillance would help catch kingpins of the drug traffic who have managed to elude prosecution.

A bill repealing the state's "blue law," which lists 46 categories of merchandise that cannot legally be sold both on Saturday and Sunday is expected to win House Business and Industry Committee approval on Monday.

The committee took a preliminary vote last week and endorsed blue law repeal, 5-3.

For Cooks and Craftsmen

Easter Crafts

from the kitchen

Some of our most distinctive Easter traditions and decorations come to us from other countries.

We can all remember sugar eggs of Easters past. Add a Swedish influence to this tradition and you have egg halves with buttercream flowers hanging from budding birch branches, or in this case, flowering quince. Eastern Europe offers us cheese-filled Babka, a rich, hearty breadfilled with raisins and cream cheese perfect for your brunch table. Its crusty covering blends warmly with the subdued hues of a French country setting.

You'll find that traditions combine easily with the contemporary. Children will enjoy making chicks and bunnies from sugar modeling clay, an easy-to-make dough with a clay-like consistency.

These distinctive easy-to-make examples of international traditions can all be made with most ingredients commonly found in your kitchen.

CHEESE BABKA

¼ cup water
½ cup butter, cut into pats
1 envelope active dry yeast
½ cup granulated sugar
2 eggs
½ cup wheat germ

Heat water with butter until melted. Cool to lukewarm, between 105 and 115 degrees F. Stir in yeast until dissolved. Stir in sugar, 2 eggs, wheat germ, salt, almond extract and raisins. Mix in about 4 cups flour or enough to get a tender dough. Turn out on lightly floured surface and knead 1 or 2 minutes, working in enough remaining flour to get a dough that does not stick to the board. Place in oiled bowl and cover bowl with plastic wrap. Let rise in warm place for 1 to 1½ hours or until nearly doubled in bulk.

To shape loaf, turn dough out of bowl and cut off ¼ dough. Divide larger piece of dough in half and put half into bottom of greased 2-quart (7-inch wide) souffle dish. Distribute an even layer of Chees Filling over it. Top with other half of dough. Divide the

½ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoon almond extract
½ cup dark seedless raisins
About 4½ cups flour
1 egg, beaten with 1 tablespoon water
Apricot jam, sieved small piece of reserved dough into 3 parts. Shape each part into an 18-inch rope.

Braid ropes and place in ring on top of bread. Brush bread with egg and water mixture. Let rise in warm place for 45 minutes or until dough reaches top of dish. Bake at 325 degrees for 1 hour or until done. For even browning, cover top loosely with foil after 35 minutes of baking. Cool 10 minutes then loosen sides and gently remove bread from dish. Glaze with sieved jam and serve warm or cooled.

CHEESE FILLING: Blend 3oz. cream cheese (at room temperature) with 2 tablespoons sugar and 1 egg yolk.

Makes one loaf.

SUGAR EASTER EGGS

3 cups granulated sugar
2 tablespoons water
Buttercream Icing
Tiny decorations (figures or artificial flowers)

Sugar Mixture: Combine sugar and water in bowl, mixing with fork to get consistency of wet sand.

Shaping egg: Pack into half-egg shaped mold (plastic or metal)*. Cut through sugar about 1-inch in from narrow end and gently scoop sugar out to make window. Hollow out sugar from center of egg with spoon, leaving ¼ to ⅓ inch-shell. Firmly smooth flat (window) end of egg. Gently invert onto baking sheet, tapping mold lightly to release sugar shell from mold. Note: if shell breaks during shaping process, pick up sugar mixture and repack. Also reuse all scooped out sugar to make additional eggs.

Bake in a 200 degree oven 10 minutes or until surface feels firm and dry. Remove from oven and gently scrape out loose sugar inside egg with spoon, leaving a thin unbroken wall. Return to 200 degree oven 10 minutes or until completely dry to the touch. Cool. Gently scrape bottom of egg shell to get a flat base.

Decorating: Pipe Buttercream Icing into bottom of egg shell. Arrange tiny decorations inside, pressing into Buttercream to secure. Use Buttercream to secure egg halves together.

Pipe Buttercream on outside to decorate around seam and window and to make flowers on top as desired.

BUTTERCREAM ICING: Cream ½ cup softened butter with 1 pound (4 cups) unsifted powdered sugar, alternately beating in 1 to 3 tablespoons water to get a piping consistency. Divide into individual bowls and color each as desired.

SWEDISH EGG DISPLAY: Follow directions for sugar eggs but don't cut windows or assemble as whole eggs. Pipe Buttercream Icing into eggs and fill eggs with artificial flowers and leaves. Hang in ribbon "sling" from budding branches.

*Egg molds can be found in specialty or department stores that feature cake decorating equipment. Egg shapes are available in variety stores, generally used for holding candy or for Easter displays. May also use plastic hosiery containers.

Makes 3½ cups sugar mixture: a 6-inch whole egg takes 2 cups; 4-inch whole egg takes ½ cup; 3-inch half-egg takes ¼ cup.

SUGAR MODELING CLAY

3 large egg whites
1 pound powdered sugar
¼ cup light corn syrup
1 tablespoon glycerin (available in drug stores)
About 2 cups cornstarch

Beat egg whites with sugar, corn syrup and glycerin until smooth. Gradually add 1½ cups cornstarch. Beat until smooth and satiny. Stir or knead in enough of the remaining cornstarch to form a clay-like dough. Break off portions at a time and mold into desired shapes, keeping remaining dough wrapped in plastic wrap to prevent drying. Set on foil-lined tray to dry at room temperature for at least 24 hours or until hard. Paint figures with diluted food color as desired. NOTE: Dough may be wrapped well in plastic wrap and kept in refrigerator for a week or two until ready to use. Let warm to room temperature before shaping.

Easter centerpiece

What would Easter be without bunnies, woolly lambs and colorful candy eggs?

This year, why not create a fun centerpiece incorporating all of these symbols, that can be admired on an Easter brunch buffet or at a children's party, then eaten as dessert with great enjoyment.

Peter Cottontail, made of popcorn and marshmallows, will preside over the centerpiece, of course. Surround him with tiny marshmallow lambs whose wool is made of coconut, and glistening marzipan eggs tinted in the family's favorite colors.

The best part of this project is that the whole family, including the littlest members, can have fun with it. All that is needed to get started is popcorn, marshmallows, both standard and miniature, marshmallow creme, coconut, cinnamon candies, a couple of pipecleaners to decorate the animals, and food coloring for the eggs.

The marzipan eggs are deceptively easy to make — no cooking is required, and no exotic ingredients are needed. Marshmallow creme is the "secret ingredient" here, giving easily workable texture as well as delicious flavor. Decorate your eggs with petite flowers made with slice of miniature marshmallows, then let the eggs stand overnight to dry.

POPCORN BUNNY

1 10-oz pkg. (about 40) marshmallows or 4 cups miniature marshmallows
½ cup margarine
½ teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon salt
3 quarts unsalted popped corn

Melt marshmallows with margarine in saucepan over low heat; stir occasionally until smooth. Stir in vanilla and salt. Pour mixture over popped corn; toss lightly until well coated. With hands slightly moistened with water, shape 3 cups of the mixture for body and 2 cups for head. Shape 1 cup of mixture for each ear and remaining mixture into ball for tail. Join together with toothpicks. Create face features and buttons with miniature marshmallow slices and cinnamon candies. Use pipe cleaners for whiskers.

EASTER LAMB

For head, cut a crosswise slice from end of marshmallow. Use toothpick to fasten rounded side of head to rounded side of second marshmallow. Thread two miniature marshmallows on each of four toothpicks. Attach to rounded side of marshmallow for legs. Create tail and face features with miniature marshmallow halves and whole cloves. Spread lamb with marshmallow cream and coat with coconut.

MARZIPAN EASTER EGGS

½ cup margarine
1 7-oz. jar marshmallow creme
Dash of salt
1 teaspoon almond extract
4 cups sifted powdered sugar
Food coloring

Cream margarine; blend in marshmallow creme, salt and extract. Gradually add 2½ cups sugar, mixing well after each addition. Knead in remaining sugar. Divide mixture as desired; tint with food coloring as desired. Knead in addition sugar if mixture becomes sticky. Shape into eggs. Let stand overnight until dry.

Confections symbolize joys of Easter

With the joys of rebirth that Easter commemorates, children and adults join in the spirit of the occasion in a number of traditional ways.

These may include the new spring wardrobe for the fashion-minded, flowers or plants for the household and, for the children, Easter baskets filled with colorful confections.

The link between these confections and paschal traditions is vague, though there are connections with antiquity. The jelly eggs probably arose from the practice of giving genuine eggs as presents on Easter Sunday, since they were forbidden during Lent. The concept of the egg as symbolic of rebirth extends back to ancient pagan religions, later becoming interpreted by early Christians as representing resurrection.

The eggs figure predominantly in Easter celebrations world-over. Young and old participate in egg-rolling contests or in banging the ends of eggs together to see whose will crack first. Jelly eggs — those now famous "jelly beans" — traditionally produced in fruit flavors plus licorice, are now available in a kaleidoscope of colors and almost every flavor imaginable, from peanut butter to chocolate-banana, from watermelon to daiquiri.

Decorating eggs for the holiday has been a tradition for thousands of years. The beauty of these colorful eggs was probably what prompted manufacturers years ago to begin producing attractive foil-wrapped chocolate eggs. These delightful confections are believed to have originated in Germany and are now enjoyed in the United States and throughout most of Europe. But not everywhere — in France, children are more likely to bite into chocolate fish; while in Czechoslovakia, the chocolate is formed into roosters, hens and chicks.

The Easter rabbit and the basket of candies find their origins in a Germanic spring festival called Oster, which was observed concurrently with Easter. The legend holds that the "Easter bunny" (also signifying renewed life) secretly set eggs in specially-prepared nests for the children to find. The grassy nest was the precursor of the basket.

Offering confections is only one of many established paschal customs. Yet, Easter does have one variable:

It's date. This year it will fall on April 19. In 1980, it was April 6. In 2000, it will be April 23. And in 2100, Easter will be celebrated on March 28.

There is, however, a formula for determining each year's observance. In 325 A.D., the first council of Christian Churches at Nicaea, Asia Minor, decided that Easter Sunday would follow the first full moon after the vernal equinox.

But no matter what its date, Easter will always be a time of exultation. And confections will always echo the jubilation.

T-shirt ban raises royal tiff

By ROBERT GLASS
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — British manufacturers, looking forward to millions of dollars in souvenir sales from Prince Charles's wedding, are upset about a palace edict that forbids the printing of royal faces on T-shirts.

The faltering British textile industry said it will suffer because foreign manufacturers will ignore the ban, issued this week by Buckingham Palace.

A Labor member of Parliament demanded an official investigation. Manufacturers in Britain, Taiwan, Hong Kong and elsewhere are hoping to make millions from a range of souvenirs marking the July 29 wedding of the heir to the British throne and Lady Diana Spencer.

In Britain alone, souvenir and gift manufacturers expect 115 million pounds (nearly $260 million) in sales by the wedding day, according to Michael Montague, chairman of the English Tourist Board.

Last month, Prince Charles and his mother, Queen Elizabeth II, approved a temporary relaxation of the strict guidelines over the commercial use of royal portraits and insignia. For example, products may carry the prince's full coat of arms or one of several other royal decorations not normally allowed.

Still the souvenirs must be in good taste and of a "permanent kind," according to Lord MacLean, the Lord Chamberlain, head of the queen's household.

Thus, the happy faces of Charles and Lady Diana will beam from countless mugs, commemorative plates, jewelry and tea towels.

But not from T-shirts or, for that matter, any clothing except headscarves, the most popular royal accessory.

"Apart from headscarves or wall hangings, textiles are excluded and do not qualify for the privilege of using royal insignia," said the Lord Chamberlain in the palace ban. Tea towels for drying dishes narrowly escaped by being classified as wall hangings.

A palace spokesman said the ban had no legal force, but added: "Manufacturers have always complied with our wishes in the past."

He conceded that "foreigners don't always abide by the rules, I'm afraid."

Colin Purvis, assistant director of the British Textile Confederation, said, "It would be an intolerable situation if T-shirts with pictures of the royal couple were being imported."

He said the industry would "not lightly ignore" the royal family's wishes but said no decision had yet been reached.

Michael Meacher, a Labor Party member of Parliament, called for an inquiry into the royal ruling.

"British firms will be forbidden from using the royal insignia while having to face imports which will use them with impunity," he said.

Meacher wrote to Industry Secretary Sir Keith Joseph, demanding that he tell the hard-pressed textile industry to ignore the ban.

Study links pill to breast cancer in certain women

By KEVIN MCKEAN
AP Science Writer

ATLANTA (AP) — A preliminary study has linked birth control pills to breast cancer in women whose families have a history of the disease, a researcher said today.

The study, by scientists at New York Medical College in Valhalla, N.Y., said women whose grandmothers or aunts had suffered breast cancer appeared slightly more likely to get the disease themselves if they used oral contraceptives.

Earlier studies have shown no link between the pill and cancer, although women using oral contraceptives run a small increased risk of circulatory problems, particularly blood clots.

Breast cancer is the most common cancer among women, striking one woman in 15.

The scientists, led by pathologist Dr. Maurice M. Black of the college's Institute of Breast Diseases, said their "preliminary studies" must be duplicated by others to be confirmed.

"But in the meantime I think the data are strong enough to warn women who had either a grandmother or aunt with breast cancer not to take the pill," Black said in an interview Sunday night.

There was no apparent link between the pill and cancer in women for whom only a mother or sister had suffered the disease. Breast cancer in these "first-degree" relatives is a well-established sign that a woman may be more likely to get cancer. But it does not appear to enter into any added risk from contraceptives, he said.

The results of the study were to be presented today at the annual meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology.

The six-day FASEB meeting, which opened Sunday, is described as the largest scientific meeting in the world. More than 5,300 papers will be presented.

Black's study was done in collaboration with Drs. Stephen Kwon, Henry Leis Jr. and Saul Pilnik of New York and Dr. Thomas Barclay of the Saskatoon Cancer Foundation in Saskatchewan, Canada.

They studied 503 women with breast cancer, 1,917 with other breast lesions and 586 healthy women who served as "controls."

The researchers found that women whose grandmothers or aunts had suffered breast cancer were about four times as likely to get the disease themselves if they used birth control pills as if they didn't use the pill, Black said. But the risk went down if women stopped using the pill, he said.

Women with no family history of breast cancer were actually slightly less likely to get cancer if they used the pill, Black said.

When family history was ignored, there was no association at all between use of the pill and cancer. Black said that was in line with earlier studies that exonerated the pill as a possible cause of cancer.

Birth control pills contain two kinds of female hormones, estrogen and progesterone. These are known to influence the growth of breast cancers and are often used in therapy.

Black said his study may show that an inherited response to the forms of these hormones that are used in the pill may influence the chances of getting cancer in the first place.

The fact that women with no family cancer history seem to stay healthier on the pill may suggest a way to control the disease, he said.

Special Mother's Day cards

NEW YORK (AP) — A way to broaden the significance of Mother's Day greetings through CARE's special gift cards has been announced by Dr. Philip Johnston, executive director of the international aid and development agency, which marks its 35th anniversary this year.

"Contributions to CARE in honor of your mother and other women dear to you," Johnston explained, "will reach around the globe to provide destitute mothers and their families in over 30 developing countries life-saving food, medical aid, nutrition and health education."

"Also the equipment, materials and training to break through the vicious cycle of poverty. To grow more food. To build schools and sanitary water systems. To set up rural mini-industries, for sorely needed income. To work toward a better, self-supporting life for themselves and their children."

Donations — minimum $3 per name — can be sent to CARE Mother's Day Plan, Box 570 A, New York, N.Y. 10156, or to any regional CARE office, Johnston said.

A card will be sent to each woman honored notifying her of the thoughtful tribute. If preferred, the cards will be sent to the donor.

"Your gift will make a world of difference," Johnston said. He cited a few examples: $5 serves a thousand glasses of milk to malnourished children; $10 supplies hand tools for a poor farm family; $15 trains a health worker for six weeks; $25 provides clean water, year after year, through construction of a community well.

DEAR ABBY

Son proud of parents

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I would like to share my own experience with PROBLEM CHILD, whose parents' fighting keeps him awake.

I had the same problem with my own parents 35 years ago. In a few months we will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary, and I hope they will hold off fighting until after the guests leave. It took me a long time to realize how wonderful my parents are in every other way. They have been very loving to their children and grandchildren (if not to each other); prouder parents do not exist. They are generous far beyond their modest means.

It may be hard to understand, Abby, but beneath their quarreling lie hearts of gold. — LOVING SON

DEAR SON: That you are able to accept this one unpleasant part of your parents' behavior while appreciating to the full their more admirable qualities says a great deal for your maturity and understanding.

DEAR ABBY: I was very upset by the letter in your column from the young man who has Herpes Simplex. From his letter, one would assume that only "loose" women have this disease. Well, I'm a "nice" girl who has it.

I have been with only one man in my life, and he's my husband. I didn't have sexual relations until I was 20. I'm 28 now and have two children. My husband is not the kind to sleep around, so I'm sure he didn't bring it home to me.

Please print this, Abby. There are other "nice" women who have Herpes Simplex who may resent being told they have a venereal disease. — A NICE GIRL

DEAR NICE GIRL: You undoubtedly have Herpes Simplex 1. Herpes Simplex 2 (which is a venereal disease) is vastly different from Herpes Simplex 1 — a virus that causes cold sores or fever blisters. They are two different diseases caused by two different viruses. It is unfortunate that they bear the same name with only a number to differentiate them.

(Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple "do-your-own-thing" ceremony, get Abby's new booklet. Send $1 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped (35 cents) envelope to: Abby's Wedding Booklet, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.)

Portrait of a homemaker

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Full-time homemakers say they are being pressured by society to take paying jobs, but they also indicate they do not feel any sense of inferiority because of the lack of a career.

Those are among the findings of a new study by the advertising firm of Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborne, which warns that marketers may be making a mistake if they assume the non-working woman is unhappy with her lifestyle.

Feminists have long complained that women are not portrayed accurately in commercials. The feminists say working women are ignored; they scoff at advertisements which show women who seem to be concerned with nothing more than a clean shirt or a polished floor.

Now, says Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborne — popularly known as BBDO — advertisers seem to be in danger of going to the other extreme, and the agency says that companies which "set up the working woman as the prototype of the 1980s admired female will be off-base."

Statistically, working women today outnumber full-time homemakers. The Department of Labor says that 52 percent of all women 16 and over were in the labor force as of February 1981.

BBDO says its study "indicates the professional homemaker is a happy woman. She feels good about herself and her ability to stick to her decision to remain at home, even under strong societal pressure to find an outside job and, thereby, supposedly find herself."

The agency based its conclusions on telephone interviews with a sample group of 300 women, all of whom had children under 18 living at home and had no plans to go to work for at least five years.

The women cited their children as the major reason for their decision not to work. Asked why they had chosen to stay at home, 54 percent of those interviewed said it was because of the youngsters.

The women were asked whether they thought there was more pressure on women in today's society to work or to stay at home. More than two-thirds — 69 percent — said there was more pressure on women to work outside the home. Nineteen percent said there was more pressure to be a homemaker and 12 percent gave no answer.

Two-thirds of those interviewed said they thought their husbands preferred them to be homemakers. Seven percent said they thought their husbands didn't care or left it up to them; and 9 percent had no answer.

The interviewees were given a list of 12 characteristics and asked how well each characteristic applies to homemakers and to working women. The characteristics most frequently applied to homemakers were: family-oriented, busy, faithful to spouse, energetic, fun-loving and intelligent. The characteristics most often cited for working women were: busy, fashion-conscious, self-confident, energetic, materialistic and intelligent.

The homemakers generally thought they were sexier than their career-oriented colleagues. Twenty-six percent of those questioned said the characteristic "sexy" applied to homemakers; only 17 percent said it applied to working women.

Homemakers said the biggest advantage to their lifestyle was having more time for their families and for the household chores. They said the biggest advantage for working women was an income of their own.

The importance of money was evident in the answer to another question as well. Asked under what circumstances they would go to work, 55 percent of those interviewed said they would look for a job if inflation gets worse.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Butt out to prevent fires

DEAR HELOISE:

Many fires could be prevented if there were fast rules in every home for the disposal of cigarette stubs. Needless fires are caused by careless disposal.

Someone comes along and dumps the ashtrays in the wastebasket, not noticing that a live one is in the tray. If this happens before going to bed, a fire can occur, perhaps after everyone is asleep.

I just emptied a wastebasket into a trash bag. It was filled with butts and any one of these could have had a spark in it when dumped and could have destroyed a house and even a family.

Shouldn't all cigarette butts be flushed down the commode? — Wake Up

Not if you have a septic system because I'm told the cigarette stubs will not decompose readily. Perhaps on a city sewage system it would be permissible but, rather than take a chance, why not just place them in a covered metal can?

At any rate, butts should be treated as the potentially highly dangerous objects they are.

Fires are much too prevalent for anyone to be careless with hazardous or combustible materials, and that includes cigarette stubs. Thanks for the reminder. — Heloise

DUSTPAN DUTIES

Dear Heloise: To pick up sweepings off the floor when you don't have a dustpan (at least handy), wet the edge of a newspaper and press it to the floor.

Works great! — Mrs. Barbara Burke

PLANT PLANTER

Dear Heloise: I use old or discarded plastic foam ice chests or buckets for potting plants.

The plants grow beautifully and you can't beat the price for the pots. — Jenieve Hudson

GLOVEMENDER

Dear Heloise: For some time, I've had a perfectly good pair of driving gloves, but two of the leather fingers came unstitched.

I put off mending them until I thought of the idea of using my daughter's curling iron. I placed it inside the finger, thus making the job of sewing the leather back into place a very simple procedure. — Kathryn

BAG TRICK

Dear Heloise: I have always had difficulty opening plastic garbage bags. I have the same problem with plastic produce bags in the supermarket, and usually end up tearing them.

The other day, I was in a rush trying to open one and for some reason started rubbing the top of the bag between my thumb and fingers. It came open quickly with hardly any effort.

Imagine how many bags I could have saved using this little tip. — Ella R.

LETTERS TO STUDENTS

Dear Heloise: I have several children in college and enjoy keeping in touch with them, so when I write to each one, I enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

They really appreciate this as it is not always convenient for them to take the time to buy stamps. (Also, I always receive a reply!) — Martha Nelson

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise: Recently, my mom had two boxes of a spice and wanted to use the freshest one.

She quipped, "When you want to know which product is the oldest, just check the price on the box. The highest price will always be the newest box." — Joan Lay

A foolproof test alright. Guess it's better to laugh than to cry, at least in this case, so thanks for a giggle. — Hugs, Heloise

FILING POT LIDS

Dear Heloise: After

struggling for years with the clutter and clatter of my pan lids piled in a large box, I finally found a way to organize them.

I purchased a large dish drainer and set up each lid in a separate rack space.

I put the largest lid in the back and graduated the rest in size, bringing the smallest to the front.

The drainer fits on a cupboard shelf and can be easily pulled forward to reach the back lids.

I have thus eliminated the irritation of searching for the desired lid, which more times than not, was at the bottom of the pile. — H.B.A.

Dear Heloise: In response to the column you wrote asking for baby and children hints from young mothers, here is a good one which my father passed on to me...

When diapering my baby, using cloth diapers, I run the sharp end of the pins through my clean hair, close to the scalp.

The natural oils from my hair lubricate the pins so that they slip through the layers of the diaper with no effort at all.

I really enjoy reading your column and I hope I have helped some frustrated mother somewhere. — Debbie Price

Don't hoard a good giggle — send it to Heloise care of this newspaper. She can't answer your letter personally but she will use the most amusing anecdotes received in her column.

Music chain convicted in counterfeit

NEW YORK (AP) — Attorneys for one of the nation's largest music-store chains say they will fight the conviction of Sam Goody Corp. and a vice president on charges of selling more than $1 million in counterfeits of such albums as "Grease" and "Saturday Night Fever."

A jury in U.S. District Court in Brooklyn returned the verdict Thursday after deliberating for 42 hours over five days.

The corporation could be fined up to $95,000 on three counts of copyright infringement and two counts of interstate shipment.

The prosecution said the company bought 105,000 phony eight-track and cassette recordings for as little as $2.60 each and sold them for $10 each, a bit more than the price of the genuine item.

Along with the best-selling movie soundtracks, the bogus tapes contained recordings by Olivia Newton-John, Paul McCartney, Eric Clapton, Barry Manilow, and Billy Joel. Joel was brought to the stand in the trial as a government witness.

Lucky Parker, Broken Spoke's singing waiter, sings "Tiny Bubbles" as he offers a diner some of the "bubbly." It's all part of the fun at Broken Spoke Restaurant at 3305 West Front Ave. in Midland.

Broken Spoke is place to dine, drink and dance

Midlanders should know that while Midland has never been known as the night-spot capital of the world, there is a place to go where there is a full bar, music, fine dining and lovely atmosphere. There are two banquet rooms, and they cater to private parties, receptions, business meetings and the like, as well as to friends who are simply wanting a pleasant evening. The Broken Spoke Restaurant can seat 225 downstairs in comfort.

The very popular noon buffet is served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., each weekday. One may have homemade soup, salad or the full buffet meal.

Dinner service is from 5 p.m. to 11 p.m., Monday through Saturday. Entertainment, featuring Jim Whitted, guitarist and vocalist, is provided from 6 p.m. until closing.

Chef Abel Duran is known as one of the fine chefs of the Southwest. He prepares many luscious dishes for the buffet and his way with steaks, lobster, shrimp, red snapper and other delicacies for dinner should be experienced to be fully realized.

D.M. Williams, manager of the Broken Spoke, has been a Midland restaurateur since 1953. He is assisted by Lillian Wallis, floor manager, who is also well-known in the area.

There is more than an acre of well-lighted parking in the rear of the Broken Spoke Restaurant.

Call 697-7141 for a reservation if you want to be assured a table and prove to yourself that Midland does, indeed, have a nice place to spend a relaxing and pleasant evening.

It is 3,600 feet northeast of No. 1 M. Baxter drilled and abandoned location and 1 1/2 miles southwest of No. 1 Fred Phillips, a lone producer and opener in Fusselman pay. Both these probes were drilled by R.K. Petroleum Co.

Sam Church, president of the United Mine Workers Union bangs his gavel as he and officials of the union meet at UMW headquarters in Washington Friday to discuss the coal strike. To his left is union official Wilbert Killion.

Officials say industry must give in

By The Associated Press
United Mine Workers officials say coal operators must give in on three key issues when they return to the bargaining table Tuesday if they expect union miners to go along with any new contract proposals.

Number one, says the president of Charleston, W.Va.,-based District 17, is reinstatement of the $1.90 royalty on non-union coal processed by UMW companies.

The Bituminous Coal Operators Association also must agree to strengthen the language dealing with mine leasing and drop a 45-day probationary period for new employees, Jack Perry said.

Unless the BCOA's chief negotiator, B.R. Brown, makes those changes, Perry said, resuming bargaining talks "will be an exercise in futility."

"Meeting and negotiating are two different things," Perry said. "There might be exchange, but whether it's fruitful or not would be another matter. The proposal sent down was rejected in a fashion that indicates changes need to be made."

The renewed talks, which will be held in Washington, D.C., will represent the first progress in resolving the strike since March 31, when rank-and-file miners voted down the first proposed contract by a 2-1 margin.

Brown said over the weekend that he had agreed to go back to the bargaining table after UMW President Sam Church told him he had several issues to discuss, but he refused to speculate on how the talks would go.

"I won't have any idea until I see what he's got to say," Brown said.

Brown did say he wasn't optimistic that the strike, which entered its 19th day Monday, would end soon, and Bill Compton, president of Local 2264 in Pike County, Ky., agreed.

"The miners want the right working situation. They're not going to settle for the stuff that came back last time," Compton said.

But he predicted that negotiators would be able to come up with a tentative settlement by April 27 and that miners would return to work by May 5.

Researcher says little U.S. oil still undiscovered

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — America already has burned most of the crude oil it's ever likely to coax from the ground, and what's left won't last more than a few decades at current production levels, according to a Rand Corp. report released Saturday.

"The situation is not grim or desperate, but it definitely means changes will have to be made... and we have enough (oil left) to give us time to make those changes," said political scientist Richard Nehring of the private research group based here. "But we can't just sit back and say there's nothing to worry about anymore."

Some in the government and industry have suggested that vast pools of oil remain undiscovered in the United States.

In his debate with President Carter last Oct. 29, Ronald Reagan said, "There is more oil now in the wells that have been drilled than has been taken out in the 120 years that they have been drilled."

The Rand study, while not addressing such assertions explicitly, said it "is likely that more than half of the conventional petroleum reserves that will ultimately be produced have been produced."

Nehring said in an interview: "People who have been saying there's a whole lot still to be discovered are wrong. There's not a lot left other than in Alaska and a few places offshore."

Jury has awards $22.5 million to two companies

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal court jury has ruled two companies should receive $22.5 million for land condemned for the Strategic Petroleum Reserve.

The Friday ruling in favor of Dow Chemical Co. and Freeport Minerals ended a three-week trial before U.S. District Court Judge Woodrow Seals, who still must enter a formal judgment.

Testimony indicated the two firms had been offered $13 million for the property the Department of Energy needed for start of the Bryan Mound storage project near Freeport in 1977.

Dow held a 100-year lease on the 499 acres owned by Freeport Minerals and Dow had developed the salt dome caverns now holding crude oil for the government's emergency storage program.

Many states raising gasoline taxes

By SCOTT KRAFT
Associated Press Writer

With America's highways ever more pitted, pocked and potholed, 29 states are considering taking the bumps out of the roads by boosting their gasoline taxes by up to a nickel. Three states have already approved gas tax increases.

It's not that federal, state and local governments haven't been repairing the roads. But reduced gasoline consumption has nibbled away at the traditional source of maintenance money — the fuel tax. And the cost of making road repairs has soared.

Fifty-three percent of the paved road network, or about 1 million miles, was cracked, buckling or otherwise in disrepair last year, compared with 42 percent the year before, says the Road Information Program, a research organization funded by the motor vehicle industry.

Those bumpy roads cost drivers $20 billion in wasted fuel and an additional $6 billion in car and tire damage — or an average of $184 for each motorist, according to the research group.

State and local treasuries will spend about $600 million more than they will take in this year for highway construction and repairs, the U.S. Transportation Department has estimated.

The South Dakota Legislature raised its gas tax from 12 cents to a national high of 13 cents a gallon, effective April 1. Utah has increased its tax from 9 to 11 cents. A bill raising Idaho's 9 1/2-cent tax to 11 1/2 cents on July 1 was signed into law last week.

State gasoline taxes range from 5 cents a gallon in Texas to South Dakota's new 13-cent rate. Most states are in the 9- to 11-cent range.

Some states want to change from a set per-gallon levy to a tax based on a percentage of the price at the pump, tying the tax rate to the rising price of gasoline.

With conservation and higher-mileage cars, there's less money going into state highway funds. But there are more highway maintenance needs than ever," said Jerry Bastarache, spokesman for the Highway Users Federation in Washington, a lobbying group funded by highway construction contractors and automakers.

A select committee of the Arizona Transportation Department says the state will need $6 billion to $10 billion to meet highway construction and maintenance during the next decade. For the same period, revenues from the state's 8-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax will amount to about $2.2 billion.

And Arizona legislators are considering a proposal to replace the 8-cent a gallon fuel tax with a 10 percent tax on the average retail price of gasoline and diesel fuel. With pump prices for gasoline at $1.3 a gallon for example, the tax would be 13 cents a gallon.

In Florida, Gov. Bob Graham is proposing to extend the state's 4 percent sales tax to gasoline — on top of the 8-cent gas tax now being levied. A blue-ribbon panel estimated the state would need $2 billion by 1985 to maintain and complete construction on interstate highways in Florida.

Most states are considering increases ranging from a 1 cent to 3 cents, but in Wisconsin, Republican Gov. Lee Dreyfus has proposed a nickel increase, to 14 cents a gallon. Leaders in the Legislature, where Democrats have a majority, say they doubt that high an increase will be approved.

Motorists will be paying more for gasoline if gas tax increases are passed, but they'll be paying more in repairs and wasted fuel if the nation's highways aren't repaired, transportation officials say.

Last year, all levels of government collected $38.4 billion earmarked for highways, $3 billion less than they spent, the DOT says. The department estimates 1981 receipts will be about $40 billion, thanks in part to higher state gas taxes.

Tom Watson, winner of the 45th Masters Golf Tournament at Augusta, Ga., keeps his eye on the ball as he hits from the sand on number two hole Sunday. Watson's ability to get out of trouble helped him win his second green jacket by two strokes over Jack Nicklaus and Johnny Miller.

Tom Watson is master of golf world

By The Associated Press

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — The Sunday spring outing in the splendor of Augusta belonged to Tom Watson, champion of the Masters golf tournament.

The green jacket fit perfectly, unlike 1977 when it was baggy.

The color matched nicely, with his green pinstriped shirt and solid green pants.

And the victory was quite fitting, too. It matched his position in golf. At the top, alone.

The Masters was won by Watson. It was lost by Jack Nicklaus. It was won by the best player in golf today, lost by the best player the game has ever known.

And the strains of Watson's winning song at the expense of Nicklaus seemed oh, so similar to the requiem for Arnold Palmer, played by Nicklaus almost two decades ago.

"It feels great to beat the top player in the game for the last 20 years," said Watson. "I'd be lying to you if I said it didn't. Of course, it does."

Watson assaulted Nicklaus' kingly position twice in 1977 — in the Masters, and again in the British Open.

In the Masters that year, Nicklaus and Watson were tied for the lead after 17 holes in the final round. Nicklaus was playing in front of Watson, and stood poised on the 18th for his second shot.

Suddenly, a thunderous roar erupted from the 17th green. It meant only one thing. Watson had birdied the hole.

Nicklaus promptly hit his shot in the bunker, took a bogey on the final hole and lost the tournament by two strokes.

The British Open finale was even more dramatic. Watson and Nicklaus were paired the final two rounds. Each fired 65s in the third round, setting the stage for one of the finest golfing moments in history.

Nicklaus shot a 66, a tournament record, and still lost. Watson shot a 65.

The dawning of the Tom Watson era had arrived. The passing of the Jack Nicklaus era had begun, slowly perhaps, but nevertheless passing.

The changing of the guard had occurred.

Nicklaus was not to win another major tournament for two years, until 1980 when he silenced whispers of erosion of his stature with victory at the U.S. Open and the PGA.

Nicklaus is 41 now. He stands between Palmer at 51 and Watson at 31. Their ages span three decades.

Palmer failed to make the cut in the 45th Masters at Augusta National Golf Club, where tradition and dogwoods and azaleas and stately pines abound.

Nicklaus soared to a 4-stroke lead with a 65 in the second round, then proceeded to blow it with a 75 on Saturday.

He shot even par 72 on Sunday, a round he was not particularly proud of.

"I hurt myself the same way today that I did yesterday," he said. He bogeyed No. 7 and No. 9 both days.

Watson, nervous yet cool, under pressure that never intensified, fired a one-under 71.

The confrontation everyone expected never really developed.

Nicklaus dropped three back at one point, then rallied but never threatened the slight, sandy-haired Watson.

"Indescribably delicious," said

Watson. "It's better the second time around."

Why? "I was fighting myself," said Watson, who was a non-winner this year.

In 1977, he had been a two-time winner prior to the Masters.

Watson said he never put two bad shots together in the final round. "Nobody made a real solid move on me. I kept up the pressure on the rest of the field," he said.

Pressure that no one could bear, even the best player the game has ever known.

Watson, unlike Nicklaus, dwells on immediate goals. Nicklaus gears his thoughts primarily on the major tournaments.

'Brown Bomber' dies of heart attack at age 66

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis, the "Brown Bomber" who dealt a blow to Hitler's racial doctrines with his victory over a German prizefighter and helped open the sport to other blacks, has died at the age of 66.

"Joe was a boxing genius," Max Schmeling of West Germany, defeated by the Alabama-born fighter in a 1938 rematch, said after Louis died Sunday morning at Desert Springs Hospital here.

Louis' wife Martha, and other relatives were at his side. Not long before the attack, Louis had attended Saturday night's World Boxing Council heavyweight title fight between champion Larry Holmes and Trevor Berbick at Caesar's Palace.

In 71 professional fights over 17 years, Louis won 68 and lost just three. Of his wins, 54 were knockouts, 12 coming in the first round.

He held the heavyweight crown for 12 years and fought off 25 challenges after taking the title — a record for successful defenses.

A 6-foot-1½, 200-pounder, Louis impressively, relentlessly and gracefully stalked his opponents. When he struck, it was with a quick, jolting jab and rapid, powerful combinations. And when the opponent went down, Louis would move indifferently to a neutral corner and wait for the referee to end it.

Louis was born Joseph Louis Barrow in Lafayette, Ala., on May 13, 1914, and was raised in a Detroit ghetto. At 23, he won the title by knocking out 31-year-old James J. Braddock in 1937.

In 17 years as a boxer, he earned nearly $5 million. But he lived in high style, always picking up the checks, and had little left when he was through. He was in constant income tax difficulty.

"I really don't know how much I owe the government," he said in 1960. "When that income man said $1 million, I stopped listening."

He retired from the ring on March 1, 1949, but 27 months later, pressed for money, he came out of retirement to fight reigning champion Ezzard Charles and was defeated.

"I'll never fight again," he said. But two months later he was back in action with a string of victories. His career ended at 37, when Rocky Marciano, 28, knocked him out in the eighth round of a Oct. 26, 1951, bout.

Louis remained extremely popular, even after a stint in professional wrestling dictated by his tax troubles: "It's an honest living and it's better than stealing."

He may be best remembered for his victory over Schmeling, who defeated Louis in a stunning upset in 1936.

On June 22, 1938, in Yankee Stadium, Schmeling crashed to the floor three times before the rematch was stopped in the first round. The United States rejoiced at the victory, which was of international significance because of Hitler's racial doctrine of "Aryan supremacy."

O'Grady wins title

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — The fighting O'Grady has claimed the World Boxing Association lightweight title for Oklahoma and Ireland.

Sean O'Grady, 22, polite, cheerful and as all-American as his native Oklahoma, was none of those in his brutal 15-round triumph over Hilmer Kenty for the WBA crown Sunday.

O'Grady, a sophomore pre-med student at Central State University, sports a shamrock on his green trunks and even green bubble gum in his mouth.

Sean's father, Pat O'Grady, a character seemingly off the streets of Dublin with 123 fights of his own, worked Sean's corner and later thanked the luck of the Irish and the skill of his son for the victory.

Important games on tap in 5-5A baseball race

By MIKE CRUVER Sports Writer

The first half of the District 5-5A baseball race comes to a close Tuesday afternoon with three very important games on tap.

Abilene will be the site of the most important clash. Abilene Cooper, leading the loop with a 5-1 mark, plays Abilene High, 4-2 in district and tied with Big Spring and Midland Lee for second. An Eagle win plus victories by Big Spring over San Angelo (1-6) and Lee over Midland High (3-3) would leave the Rebels first-half race in a four way tie for first. In the only loop game not carrying some importance to the first-half race is Odessa High (2-4) playing Odessa Permian (1-5).

The Rebels go into their game with Midland High on the Memorial Stadium field at 4 p.m. buoyed by the confidence of a 10-0 win over Abilene High Saturday. MHS will be trying to recover from a disappointing 14-12 loss to Cooper in the Key City.

When the Rebels and Bulldogs get together at 4 p.m. Tuesday, fans can expect to see some fireworks. Both teams are come hit the ball. Midland High is hitting .358 (57-for-159) as a team while the Rebels carry a .385 mark into the contest.

Jerry Zachery leads MHS with an astronomical .733 (11-for-15), one home run and six RBI. Michael Feldt adds hitting support with his .556 average.

Zachery also leads the Purple Pack in RBI with six while Frank Garramone has netted five. MHS has cracked out four home runs in district play, one each by Feldt, Zachery, Garramone, and Tim Davis.

Ron Smedley leads the Rebel in hitting, .579, RBI, 9, and shares the lead in home runs, 1, with Randy Velarde, Alan Koonce, Kevin Bradshaw and Barry Blackwell.

Blackwell and Koonce are second on the team in RBI with seven each.

Velarde's .526 is the second best mark on the club.

Defensively, the Rebels have the edge. In six loop contests, Lee has committed eight errors. On the other side of the field, MHS has bobbled the ball away 27 times in six outings. Of course, in their last game, the Bulldogs only had one error.

Pitching is said to be 75 percent of baseball. If this is true, Lee should have a slight edge on the mound. Koonce is to start for Ernie Johnson while MHS' coach Tim Whelan hasn't come to a decision. Whelan can pick from Mark Hewitt, Doug McLain, Joel Castaneda, or Michael Feldt.

The Rebels need the win and a loss by Cooper to tie for the district's first-half race. Midland High needs the victory as a springboard into the second half race.

Jackson, El Paso winners

By The Associated Press

In other Texas League action, Jackson defeated Tulsa, 6-3, and El Paso edged Amarillo, 6-5.

Al Pedrique singled home two runs to spark a six-run second inning as the Jackson Mets downed Tulsa 6-3 on Sunday.

Tulsa's Ron Gooch and Tracy Cowger each had homers for the Drillers.

Brent Gaff, 1-0, was the winning pitcher. The loser was Ted Davis, 0-1.

Al Manning's two-out solo homer in the sixth inning was the difference as the El Paso Diablos edged the Amarillo Gold Sox, 6-5.

Jerry Jenkins was the winning pitcher. The loser was Bryon Ballard.

Blackwell and Koonce are second on the team in RBI with seven each.

Cubs play terrible baseball

Lose to SA, 34-8

By TED BATTLES Sports Editor

Thank goodness for Ross Jones. He didn't get his first hit for San Antonio until the ninth inning. Up until then, he was about the only one four Midland pitchers and a catcher-turned-pitcher could get out as the Dodgers lambasted the Cubs, 34-8, that's right, 34-8, Sunday in a Texas League fiasco at Cubs Stadium.

But what's really bad is that it happened on a relatively mild West Texas night. When these things happen, they are usually blamed on the spring winds, but this was just terrible baseball. As Midland Manager

Roy Hartsfield put it later, "We couldn't have played any worse if we had tried."

AND AFTER 34 runs and 27 hits, 12 walks, three wildpitches and not a dirty Dodger uniform in sight, San Antonio outfielder Mark Bradley got hit in the back with a pitch and precipitating two bench-clearing incidents. The first after getting hit and the next when elusive second baseman Craig Kornfeld niftily sidestepped his flying tackle on a force play at second.

Catcher Mike Shepston, who finished up the final two innings on the mound, hit Bradley in the back with a pitch after a tattoo of five ninth inning singles. "I knew I had to come inside on someone if we were ever to get home. I wanted to get out of the game," Shepston admitted later, as he soaked his arm in ice. It was the first time Mike had pitched since high school, six years ago, when he was a pitcher-shortstop.

BELIEVE IT or not, Midland actually led 4-0 at one time and San Antonio tied it with four runs in the third without the aid of a hit when starter Carlos Gil issued three of his six walks (The Cubs walked 12 in all) and third baseman Carmello Martinez made two of his five errors.

But after that, San Antonio didn't need much help. Tom Beyers cracked out five hits in six trips, including two doubles and batted in seven runs.

"No, I never even came close to a game like this one," Beyers said.

The Sax brothers, Steve and Dave, each hit three run homers in the 10 run seventh and Mike Zouras poled out a two-run job in the eighth. Steve Sax is now 11-for-16 in the series, with two homers, while Beyers is 10-for-14 and 10 RBI.

AND JUST think, Cubs fans get two more nights of this rowdy bunch. Tonight at 6 p.m. it will be lefthander Norman Churchill pitching for Midland while Steve Narsden will go for the Dodgers.

Actually, there were some bright spots for Midland Sunday. Kornfeld not only displayed fancy footwork around second, but collected four hits while Tom Grant lashed out two doubles and a single for four RBI, but somehow they were left in the carnage.

The Cubs played without centerfielder Mel Hall, who pulled a muscle sliding into second in Saturday night's 5-4 win.

Fitzsimmons surprised at playoff success of Kings

By The Associated Press

Even their coach, Cotton Fitzsimmons, is surprised at the success of the Kansas City Kings.

"I'm not going to kid you, I sure am surprised that we're leading 3-1," said Fitzsimmons, whose Kings held off the Phoenix Suns 102-95 Sunday to move within one victory of wrapping up their best-of-seven western conference semifinal series.

In the other west semifinal, the San Antonio Spurs edged the Houston Rockets 114-112 to even the series at two victories apiece. In the east, the Boston Celtics beat the Chicago Bulls 109-103 to complete a four-game sweep while the Milwaukee Bucks defeated the Philadelphia 76ers 109-98 to tie their series at 2-2.

The Kings have taken the play away from the Pacific division champion Suns despite having lost one of the best starting backcourt tandems in the National Basketball Association, Phil Ford and Otis Birdsong, because of injury.

Their replacements, former reserve Ernie Grunfeld and converted forward Scott Wedman, combined for 48 points in Sunday's victory, the Kings' sixth in nine games against the Suns this season. And it was the fifth time in seven playoff games that Kansas City has held its opponent under.

The Kansas City defense, led by Grunfeld's three steals, capitalized on 15 Phoenix turnovers, while the Kings lost the ball just nine times.

Grunfeld led the Kings with 27 points, including a 12-foot jumper that gave Kansas City a 91-80 lead with 5:52 to play. Phoenix came as close as three in the final minutes, but two free throws apiece by Wedman and Sam Lacey locked up the victory.

Grunfeld contributed three steals for the Kings, who slowed the tempo of the game and committed only nine turnovers. Wedman and forward Reggie King scored 21 points apiece while Len Robinson led Phoenix with 23.

Spurs 114, Rockets 112

George Gervin scored 33 points to lead San Antonio over Houston in their Texas shootout.

The Spurs led 100-87 but Houston rallied and nearly tied the game, but a driving layup attempt by the Rockets' Robert Reid fell off the rim at the buzzer. Reid, who led Houston with 33 points, claimed he was fouled on the play.

SPORTS

"I tried to stuff it and just got kicked out of my rhythm," said Reid. "When I put my foot down to go up I was tripped. It made me go up too early. I tried to lean forward and put it through but I couldn't do it."

James Silas and Mark Olberding added 21 points apiece for San Antonio, while Houston center Moses Malone, a dominant factor earlier in the series, was limited to 17 points and nine rebounds.

Celtics 109, Bulls 103

Larry Bird scored 35 points, including eight in the final 2:19, as Boston wrapped up its series.

Chicago grabbed a 103-102 lead with just under one minute remaining when Reggie Theus hit a pair of free throws, but Bird countered with a layup to put Boston ahead to stay. Cedric Maxwell followed with a free throw and Bird added four more from the foul line in the final seven seconds to finish Chicago off.

The sweep left Bulls center Artis Gilmore in awe of the way the Celtics go about their business.

"You can't beat the system," said Gilmore, "and they've got the best. They know when to pass and when to go to the boards. They knew when to run and when to get back on defense. And the most important thing is, they know what almost everybody is doing at all times."

David Greenwood led Chicago with 24 points and Gilmore added 19 and a game-high 15 rebounds.

Bucks 109, 76ers 98

Marques Johnson shot 16-for-25 and scored 35 points for the Bucks, who built an 18-point first-half lead and held off a rally that saw Philadelphia pull within one in the final period. But Johnson scored three baskets off offensive rebounds down the stretch and teamed with center Bob Lanier to dominate play inside. Lanier scored 11 of his 23 points in the fourth quarter and induced 76ers center Darryl Dawkins to foul out.
