Planes collide; 5 persons die

LOVELAND, Colo. (AP) - Fifteen people were killed and four skydivers parachuted 8,000 feet to safety Friday afternoon when a twin-engine commuter airplane and a smaller craft collided in clear, calm weather near the Loveland airport.

Four men on the smaller plane, which carried skydivers from a para-chute center, bailed out after the collision and floated to the ground. Two skydivers were apparently killed when the planes hit, although their parachutes opened as they fell from the crippled aircraft, and all 13 aboard the commuter plane were killed, authorities said.

Robert Baxter, a duty officer with the Federal Aviation Administration in Denver, said the commuter plane was an Air U.S. twin-engine Handley-Page turboprop bound from Denver to Gillette, Wyo. He said the plane was carrying 10 passengers, a pilot, a co-pilot and a flight attendant when it crashed near Loveland-Fort Collins Municipal Airport, about 40 miles north of Denver, at about 4 p.m. MST.

Steve Kinnett, one of the four survi-vors who were abound a Cessna 206 from the Skys West Parachute Center, said, "All of a sudden, it seemed the plane just exploded. I was sitting next to the pilot and when I looked back, I didn't see the back end of the plane. The two guys in the back were no longer there."

The plane was carrying five sky-divers and a pilot, all equipped with parachutes. Kinnett, a medical student who lost a leg to cancer 10 years ago, said he opened his chute only after free-falling several thousand feet to avoid debris and other skydiver.

Air U.S. officials in Denver confirmed a collision involving their Flight 716, scheduled to leave Denver at 3:30 p.m. MST for Gillette, in north-eastern Wyoming. Air U.S., which flies routes in Colorado and Wyoming, said the flight was due at the Campbell County Airport in Gillette at 5 p.m. and was then to continue to Sheridan, Wyo.

"I noticed that there were two planes that seemed to be coming together," said eyewitness David Pickett, who was at the parachute center, "First I thought it was an optical illusion until the smaller of the two planes ... just exploded when the wing of the twin engine plane hit it.

"And the next thing you knew there was just nothing left of the small plane and the larger twin engine plane was spiralling into the ground," Pickett said. "And there were im-mediately six 'chutes."

Colorado State Patrolman Jay Sherlock said he helped find the two skydivers who were killed.

"Six came down in parachutes," he said. "Two of them came down limp." He said they had suffered head injuries, "like they had hit somethingmaybe like a wing." Gary Mucho, a National Transporbe found alive were dashed with the recovery of the body of Kelly B. Greene, 25, of New Castle, from a pool of water 1½ miles from the entrance to the Dutch Creek No. 1 mine. The other 14 had been found in two groups 1,000 feet apart hours earlier, said Robert Delaney, vice president and general counsel for the mine operator, Mid-Continent Resources Co.

Word of the discovery of the bodies reached some of the victims' families as they huddled around campfires near the gate at the mine road entrance: Someone ran up shouting, "They're all dead! They're all dead!

Later Friday, the families gathered to share their grief at Glenwood Springs, a community 30 miles north of Redstone. Leaning on one another for support as they entered St. Stephen's Parish Center, they heard Delaney discuss funeral arrangements and possible, viewing of the bodies. They departed without talking to the news media.

A special service for the dead miners was scheduled for 3 p.m. Easter Sunday at Glenwood High School.

Marvin Meyers, personnel director of Mid-Continent Resources, said the mine office would be closed until Monday. Schools in Carbondale, Basalt and Glenwood Springs also were closed in observance of the miners'

what happened

Delaney said the explosion, which occurred about 4:15 p.m. Wednesday, apparently killed all the miners instantly. But Pitkin County Coroner Don Davis planned autopsies to determine the exact cause of death.

Officials of the Federal Mining Safety and Health Administration closed the mine pending completion of its investigation after the last body was removed, and Delaney said that it might be months before the mine is reopened. An agency spokesman in Arlington, Va., Noel Milan, said such action was routine when mine deaths occur

While officials would not say what caused the explosion, there was speculation the miners might have hit a methane gas pocket, which triggered the blast. Nine miners were killed in a methane blast at the mine in 1965.

Charles Corey, president of the Redstone Workers Association, the miners' local union, said the company was cited by the Federal Mining Safety and Health Administration as recently as April 8 for exceeding the legal amount of methane gas in that same area of the mine. Federal agency officials would not comment on the report and Delaney said he had no

You may find yourself on a waiting list for life

By LOUISE COOK Associated Press Writer

I'm waiting for life.

Waiting for the doctor. Waiting for the bus. Waiting in the supermarket. Waiting on the telephone. Waiting for the elevator. Waiting for the light to change.

A new government survey made public Friday shows the average wait for a doctor's appointment is one week. Then there's half an hour in the waiting room once you get to the doctor's office.

It's no surprise.

We are often reminded that we spend one-third of our lives asleep - eight hours out of every 24. Studies by the television industry indicate the average person spends 6.7 hours a day watching the tube.

That leaves more than nine hours to wait.

Wake up in the morning. If you're the nervous type, you may lie there for a minute or two before the alarm goes off - waiting for the bell to ring or the buzzer to buzz.

Want some coffee? There goes another minute or two, waiting for the water to boil

Into the shower. Wait a few seconds until the temperature's just right. If you want a bath, you'll have to wait for the tub to fill, Five minutes maybe.

Once you're dressed - there shouldn't be any waiting there - it's off to work. If you live in an apartment building, you'll have to wait for the elevator. It's always going up when you're going down.

Do you drive to work? In winter you'll wait for the car to warm up. In summer, you'll wait for the air conditioner to cool things off.

In a car pool? Is there ever a morning when you don't have to wait for someone? Or a day when all of the lights are green?

Do you ride mass transit? Wait for the train, the subway, the bus, the trolley car. Ten minutes - if you're lucky.

At work, another wait for the elevator. You have either just missed it or the car is coming down when you're going up.

Then there's the telephone. You pick up the ringing phone. "So and so is calling. Please hold on." Or you make a call and get one of those announcements: "All of our representatives are busy. Please wait and someone will be with you in a minute." Click. Five minutes of recorded music.

Looking for a little relaxation after a hard day's waiting? Thebest movi probably has a line half way around the block. If there's no line, it's because you got there at the wrong time and you'll have to wait for the next howing bered was hanging out the door and bailing out," Mucho said.

Sheriff's Capt. Rod Bottoms of the Larimar County Sheriff's Office said one of the surviving parachutists was severely injured and another was slightly hurt. He said all aboard the commuter plane were dead.

Larimer County Sheriff Jim Black identified the four survivors as pilot Dave Vigen, 44, of Windsor and parachutists Rick Levan, 18, of Longmont, John Escquelle, 42, of Weld County, and Kinnett, 24, of Denver.

"The guy next to me got out, then I got out, and I went by him in a free fall, making sure I was clear of debris before I opened my chute," said Kin-nett, describing the frantic seconds after the collision. "John (Escquelle) said he saw the plane, but had no chance to say anything — then im-pact. I mean impact. When I realized what had happened, my mind switched to a different mode and I just did what I had to do. Skydiving had nothing to do with it. We were just lucky we could get out of it with parachutes."

"I plan to jump tomorrow," he added, "so I won't be as scared."

Another eyewitness to the plane crash, Bill Truettner, said he was on his way to the parachute center when he saw one plane "shooting out of the sky." "It was in a nose dive and smoke was coming from the craft," he said. "I couldn't see the actual crash but I saw the explosion coming up."

The crash occurred 21/2 miles southeast of the Loveland airport and east of Interstate 25. Traffic on the highway was reported to be backed up near the scene.

Ira Furman, a spokesman for the NTSB in Washington, said the agency planned to send an investigatie, newsmen said only two women had en waiting for the flight at the airport. The flight board listed an Air U.S. flight due in Denver, but the women said that when they asked about the flight, an airline employee replied, "It isn't in the computer."

Pope leads Good Friday ceremonies

ROME (AP) — Pope John Paul II heard the confessions of 20 of the faithful in St. Peter's Basilica as part of Good Friday rites that include a torchlight procession through Rome's pagan ruins to the top of the Palatine Hill, symbolically retracing Jesus' steps up the hill of his crucifixion.

Early in the day the pontiff, dressed in red robes and white miter and assisted at the altar by two cardinals, presided over a liturgical service before 15,000 foreign visitors and pilgrims in St. Peter's Basilica to commemorate Jesus' death. John Paul did not wear the papal ring for Good Friday, as a sign of mourning.

A light rain ended several weeks of sunny weather and dampened spirits of tourists who lined the route of the way-of-the-cross procession on the Palatine Hill overlooking the Colosseum.

In a speech prepared for the Way of the Cross ceremony at the Colosseum, the pontiff called attention to Christians who suffer "humiliation, dis-crimination, imprisonment and tor-ture" because of their faith.

The pope praised the religious dewhich he visited in February.

larity between thd way of our bothers and sisters in those distant territories and the way of the first generations of martyrs that passed here, following Christ unto death," the pope said in the prepared remarks.

Earlier Friday John Paul slipped into a confessional booth in St. Peter's and listened to confessions for an hour, as he did last year on Good Friday. He said the gesture was aimed at stressing the importance of confession. Last year marked the first time a pope had performed the sacrament in St. Peter's.

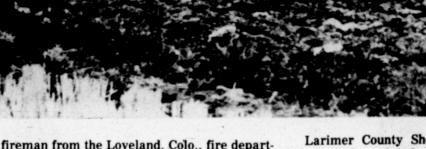

The pontiff ordinarily celebrates Mass on major Roman Catholic holi-days, but ne celebrated a liturgical service on Good Friday because it is the only day of the year when Mass is prohibited.

The papal preacher, the Rev. Raniero Cantalamessa, said in a homily at the service that Jesus' death in first-century Palestine has been blamed on both Jewish religious leaders and Roman political rulers there.

But Cantalamessa stressed the Christian belief that "Christ was put to death for our sins ... We are all implicated in his death."

On Saturday evening, the pope will preside over Easter Vigil in St. Peter's.

Midland, area towns get late afternoon rain showers

Rain showers pelted the Tall City beginning late Friday afternoon, but the probability of additional precipitation will drop to 20 per cent today and tonight, according to the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport.

Midland received 0.08 of rainfall by late Friday, while surrounding cities also reported showers. This brings Midland's rainfall for April up to 1.15 inches and to 2.94 inches for the year.

Under overcast skies, Midlanders were greeted with a high temperature Friday of 72 degrees - far short of the record 97 set six years ago. The low, meanwhile, dipped barely into the 50s with a 58 degree reading, compared to the alltime low for the date of 37 set last year.

Thunderstorm activity should subside by early Sunday, when the high should reach the mid-80s, according to the weatherman. Meanwhile, the mercury tonight should drop into the

Some street and stream flooding was reported in Del Rio, while late afternoon thunderstorms rolled as far east as Abilene and Austin.

Scattered showers fell near Toledo Bend in East Texas and in parts of North, South and Central Texas.

Afternoon temperatures ranged from in the 60s across rain-soaked areas to the 80s in the Panhandle, East Texas and along the coast. Scattered showers and thunder-

Six die in Kansas City fire

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - Fire swept through the lobby of a 10-story apartment building classified by fire offi-cials as "non-combustible," filling it with choking smoke and panicking residents Friday. Six people were killed in the blaze which authorities said was deliberately set.

At least 28 people were injured, most of them elderly. One was in critical condition and three others were listed in serious or poor condition. Nearly all were suffered smoke inhalation. A few had cuts and bruises

"We just had a panic situation there, with all the dense, heavy black smoke," said police department spokesman Sgt. Jim Treece. "It could have been a hell of a lot worse."

Smoke filled nearly every corner of the structure. Two open stairwells carri smoke upward "like a furnace flue," Treece said.

Kansas City Mayor Richard Berkley said Friday evening that author-ities had classified the fire at the midtown apartment building as arson. Officials said it was the highest death toll from arson in the city's history.

Calling arson "one of the most despicable crimes," Berkley pledged that the city would do everything in its power to apprehend whover started the fire.

A list of apartments at the 180-unit Westport Central building showed 172 residents.

Late Friday, authorities said 25 residents of the building had been relocated by the Red Cross in a local hotel. Others were allowed to return to the apartment building.

Police and firefighters arrived at the five-alarm blaze just after 2 a.m. and began bringing residents down ladders. The smoke and heat wereso intense they couldn't enter the building at first, said Harold Knabe, fire department spokesman.

A 10th-floor resident, 26-year-old Randy Alexander, said he was awakened by sirens and groped his way through the smoke to a stairway leadinto the roof. The door was locked.

"I thought it was over then," Alexander said. "Then, I remembered I had an ax in my room. I went back and got it, and I grabbed a lady who

At least 7 persons injured in West Virginia windstorm

ELIZABETH, W. Va. (AP) - At least seven people were injured Fri-day night when high winds whipped through the western part of the state and tore their trailer home "almost to pieces," officials said.

There were no immediate reports of injuries resulting from a separate windstorm in Huntington, where police said a tornado hit.

The National Weather Service was unable to clock the winds or determine whether there actually was a tornado because the only available radar equipment in the area was not operating when the storm raced through around 6 p.m.

Five of the people injured in the storm here were treated for cuts and bruises at Camden-Clark Memorial Hospital in Parkersburg, a hospital nursing supervisor said. Two others were being treated for possible broken arms, she said.

The nursing supervisor, who did not want to be identified, said the patients said their mobile home in rural Wirt County had "really been torn apart almost to pieces.

through the city's east end, police said, and one wall of a nearby building was ripped from its foundation.

out on the root." Alexander and the woman waited on the roof untilthe smoke cleared and firefighters helped them down.

Fire prevention chief Veodist Luster said the building was classified as being of non-combustible construction and exempt from a city ordinance passed last December requiring smoke detectors in multi-family dwellings.

The buildings walls are concrete and brick, with steel supports, Luster said. There was no fire damage outde the first floor lobby, where carpeting, wood paneling and fixtures burned. "It's the smoke that killed people," Luster said.

The president of the management company which operates the building, Larry Haith, said he decided earlier this year not to install smoke detectors after being told they weren't required. "If I had any idea this could happen, I would have done it (already), Haith said, breaking into tears as he stood in front of the building's warped metal front doors.

Midland house fires cause heavy damage

Midland Fire Department Friday afternoon fought two house fires which resulted in heavy damage to portions of the structures.

Between 2:16 p.m. and 3:17 p.m. firemen pumped 350 gallons of water on a fire that raged through a house owned by Flo Essemen at 1218 E. Hamby Ave. A bedroom sustained heavy damage and the rest of the home smoke damage, according to a fire department report.

At 3: 11 p.m. a fire unit responded to a reported blaze at a house owned by Raymond Olgin at 1302 S. Marshall. Fifty gallons of water were used in extinguishing the fire, which did extensive damage to a carport, storage room and rear portion of a 1975 vehicle.

Drought not over for Northeast, mid-Atlantic

By The Associated Press

Two reservoirs in New Jersey and Connecticut are overflowing, and the Potomac River has more water than usual, but federal and state officials warn that the drought is not over for the Northeastern and mid-Atlantic states

Gail Stewart, a spokeswoman for the U.S. Geological Survey in Reston, Va., released statistics Friday showing that increased rainfall during the first half of April raised streamflow throughout the East.

"A lot of showers in the first half of April boosted a lot of the flow of eastern streams," she said, "but in the long run it's not expected to make a lot of difference."

For instance, she said, the Potomac was carrying five times as much water through Washington, D.C. on April 15 as on April 1, and its streamflow was above normal for the first time since registering its lightest flow ever in January.

But she warned that the Potomac could easily drop back to below normal' streamflow if rainfall does not continue at above average rates into the warm summer months when water usage is at its highest.

She said freshwater inflow to the Chesapeake Bay, still 59 percent below normal for this time of year, is a better indicator of water conditions over the 65,000-square mile area from New York to Virginia.

New Jersey state officials Thursday lifted mandatory water rationing which had been in effect for as long as six months for 55 communities, but kept them in effect for 137 other cities and towns.

A reservoir serving Jersey City, N.J. was overflowing, with officials estimating 30 million gallons of water a day lost into the Long Island Sound, but authorities refused to lift Jersey City's rationing because its second reservoir is only two-thirds full.

"We are entering the warm weath-er season with substantially less water in northern New Jersey reservoirs than we had a year ago," Dr. Saul Fenster, chairman of New Jersey's state task force on water management, said.

"We cannot tell whether this summer will bring a repeat of abnormally hot, dry conditions which prevailed last summer. We have to assume thiscan happen again. Therefore, those areas removed are required to have standby rationing plans." Officials in Rye and Port Chester, N.Y. and Greenwhich, Conn., which has another overflowing reservoir, removed the rationing which had limited residents to 45 gallons of water a day - less than half what the normal household of four uses daily just to flush the toilet.

The Geological Survey said the streamflow of the Delaware River near Montague, N.J. had doubled, from 1.2 billion to 2.4 billion gallons of water a day during the first half of April, but still remained far below the normal streamflow of 7.8 billion gallons a day. Bill Schaefer, a Geological Survey water specialist, said levels in the three major reservoirs serving New York City were up slightly, but were still only at 68 percent of capacity compared with the normal 95 percent capacity for this time of year.

Little panda paw patter postponed again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chia-Chia is returning to London in disgrace, his reputation as a world-class lover dashed by failure to make headway with Ling-Ling at the National Zoo.

Zoo spokesman Michael Morgan, bowing to international diplomacy, said the pair "didn't hit it off excep-tionally well."

More bluntly, the giant pandas made war, not love.

Their only encounter Tuesday night left Ling-Ling too bruised, sore and stiff to try again. She was even too battered for officials to try artificial insemination.

And now the moment has passed. Ling-Ling went out of heat Friday.

"It was a fairly rough experience for Ling-Ling," said Dr. Robert Hoage, special assistant to the Na-tional Zoo director.

It's not unusual for giant pandas to have a little spat before they get together, but the encounter between Chia-Chia and Ling-Ling was more than a little spat.

Part of the problem was that Ling-Ling went into heat a little earlier than expected and the pair didn't have as much time to get acquainted and accustomed to one another's scents as handlers had hoped, Hoage said.

Consequently, there was "very aggressive" interaction between the pair when they were placed togeth-

Chia-Chia, here for six weeks, will be flown back to London as soon as arragements can be made, probably in a week or so.

"It was a breeding loan," said Hoage, "We want him back in London

"Anything is possible," Hoage said: "At this point it's too early to say what we're going to do next year." as soon as possible. After all, he's a very popular fellow."

Zoo offcials remain undaunted. Yes, we're disappointed," Hoage said. "But hopeful too. Each year, we are eternally hopeful.'

Something good may come of the 1981 experience, yet.

When Ling-Ling was feeling a bit better Thursday, keepers let her get a glimpse of the London beast who had manhandled her two nights earlier. She growled.

The mood changed when she caught sight of Hsing-Hsing, her Platonic cage buddy for the past eight years. She bleated and chirped.

Hsing-Hsing bleated and chirped

That's what pandas do when they like each other.

All in all it was an encouraging sign to keepers, who have been saying wait until next year every spring since Hsing-Hsing and Ling-Ling were given to the zoo eight years ago by the people of China.

There's certainly time. Ling-Ling is 11 years old and pandas can breed up until their late teens, Hoage said.

The problems breeding the pandas at the National Zoo are not uncommon. Only one giant panda has been born in captivity outside China, and that one died, Hoage said.

The female remains in heat only about five days every year, during which there is a 36 to 48 hour "con-ception window" when she is most likely to conceive, Hoage said.

Pot treatment results puzzling

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) - Some 100 cancer patients in New Mexico, most of them terminally ill, have smoked marijuana over the past two years to ease their chemotherapy-caused nausea and vomiting. Doctors still don't know why it works - or why it fails with other patients.

"I see the drug as being useful, but not a panacea," said Dr. Dan Dansak, assistant professor of psychiatry at the University of New Mexico. "There are still a number of patients who don't respond too well to it and we don't know why.

"More work certainly needs to be done to see why people respond and why they do not - we still need something for those who do not respond."

On Jan. 16, 1979, New Mexico became the first state to begin giving cancer patients marijuana or its active ingredient, delta-9-tetrahydrocannabinol or THC, to combat the side effects of chemotherapy.

Dansak is one of three members of a review board, composed of a psychiatrist, a cancer specialist and an ophthalmologist, that reviews applications of cancer patients to receive marijuana.

The Legislature had been urged to adopt the marijuana program by a 28-year-old cancer patient from Albuquerque, Lynn Pierson. On Feb. 21, 1978, then-Gov. Jerry Apodaca signed into law the Controlled Substances Therapeutic Research Act. The state received approval from the Food and Drug Administration Dec. 1, 1978, for use of marijuana by cancer patients.

Pierson died in August 1978. Seven months later,

Appetites, sometimes seriously curtailed by chemotherapy, are occasionally revived by marijuana, Dansak said. "We have some patients who get appetite stimulation. They maintain their weight better with marijuana. It's a very small number of patients - three of four at the most - but it's gratifying to see it."

There have also been adverse effects.

There was one who had panic attacks," Dansak said. "The individual thought he was going to die at the time, which he wasn't. We have people thinking beneficial effect to diminish the nausea and vomiting is considerably less than to get a high," he said.

Gov. Bruce King repealed the 1978 law and established a permanent program — the Lynn Pierson Therapeutic Research Program.

Since then, Louisiana, Illinois, Florida and Wash-ington state have started similar programs and at least a dozen other states have enacted laws modeled after the New Mexico statute, Dansak said.

Dr. Edward Deaux of the New Mexico Department of Health and Environment said that among the New Mexico patients, the marijuana in cigarette form seems to work better than the THC in capsule form.

"The inhaled version works better than the oral version," Deaux said. "It could be the absorption is different. It could be the drug gets into the blood faster through smoke. It could be that different drugs used in chemotherapy react differently."

The eight patients currently in the program declined to discuss their experiences for reasons of privacy, Dansak said.

'They have concerns about neighbors and how the neighbors will receive them, concerns about ... how churches and relatives will receive them," he said.

The marijuana used in the New Mexico program is grown at the University of Mississippi and distributed by the National Institute on Drug Abuse. It comes pre-rolled in tins of about 300 cigarettes each, with each cigarette containing 141/2 to 15 milligrams of THC.

The capsule form of THC is mixed with sesame oil and comes in gelatin capsules of five to 15 milligrams.

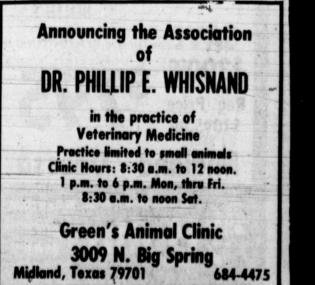

The cigarettes or capsules are administered every 4-to-6 hours over two-day and five-day cycles, he said.

Dansak said roughly 60 percent of the patients who have been in the program have had positive responses and 40 percent have had negative responses.

"Older women don't seem to respond as well to the drug as younger women, and younger women seem to respond as well as older and younger men. I think use it. ... They might be a little more adventurous," he said. in general, male patients are a little more willing to

"And there are religious reasons that people are reluctant to take it."

Marijuana relaxes some patients, while others get giddy, he said. Still others seem completely unaffected.

Communist government agrees to Polish farm union

WARSAW, Poland (AP) - In an emotion-charged ceremony heralding further liberalization of Polish life, the Communist government signed an agreement Friday paving the way for registration of an independent union of private farmers by May 10.

Some 40 farmers, many embracing and weeping for joy, joined government negotiators in signing the pact in the headquarters of the United Peasants Party in northwestern Bydgoszcz, where demonstrators held a month-long sit-in to press for registration of their union

A spokesman for the independent union Solidarity said the agreement. seen as a major victory in the farmers' five-month struggle against government and Communist Party opposition, would end sit-ins in Bydgoszcz and neighboring Inowroclaw.

This is a milestone in the development of farmers' unions in the socialist countries," said the spokesman for Solidarity, the first labor federation in the Soviet bloc free of Communist Party control. Solidarity claims to represent 10 million of Poland's 18 million industrial workers.

Leaders of the "Self-Governing, Independent Union of Individual Farmers," as the new labor group is called, said they represent some 800,000 of Poland's 3.5 million private farmers, who own much of the agricultural land and produce 80 percent of the nation's food.

One Western observer said registration of the farmers' union will create a "free enterprise" organization since most Polish farmers are self-employed. In contrast, most members of Solidarity, formed during labor unrest last summer, are employed by state-run enterprises.

Another observer said the signing - which followed a recommendation by a parliamentary commission that legislation be amended to allow legalization of the union - signifies a new independent stance by the Polish Parliament, previously regarded as a "rubber stamp" for government and party initiatives.

Holy Shroud to undergo elaborate dating test

VATICAN CITY (AP) - Roman Catholic Church authorities will submit the Shroud of Turin to a sensitive dating test if scientists assure them the venerated cloth will not be damaged, a top Vatican expert on the shroud said Friday

The shroud, the length of linen believed by many to be Christ's burial cloth, is wrapped in red silk and kept in a silver chest in a Turin church.

"It is our position that if proper scientific guarantees are given, the authorities concerned will give permission for a dating test," Monsignor Giulio Ricci said in an interview.

Asked what he meant by scientific guarantees, the 68-year-old cleric said: "A test that will conclusively show the age of the Holy Shroud with the least possible damage (to the shroud from the test), not exceeding one square centimeter.

Ricci emphasized that tests can show that the shroud might have been used as a burial cloth in the first century, but they will never be able to prove it was used to bury Jesus of Nazareth.

"All we can say is that a series of tests done on the shroud over the years proved that it is not a fake." Ricci said. "If something is not a fake, it could mean it's genuine, but we are not getting into these scientific arguments.

The U.S. scientist who led the team that examined the shroud in 1978 said evidence suggests the three-dimenbut Ricci said he understands "such an instrument or procedure is still in the final stages of development, and not yet ready for practical use."

Among the U.S. experts often mentioned as candidates for carrying out the test are the Rev. Robert Dinegar, an Episcopal priest at New Mexico's Los Alamos scientific laboratories, and Harry Gove at the University of Rochester in New York.

The Roman Catholic archbishop of Turin, Cardinal Anastasio Alberto Ballestrero was also quoted as saying in a recent interview that he will consider releasing the shroud for the test if he feels assured the test is credible and no damage would result Ricci suggested church authorities would like any new test to be tried on another piece of old linen before it is used on the Holy Shroud.

"There are linens more than 2,000 rears old at Louvre Museum," he said

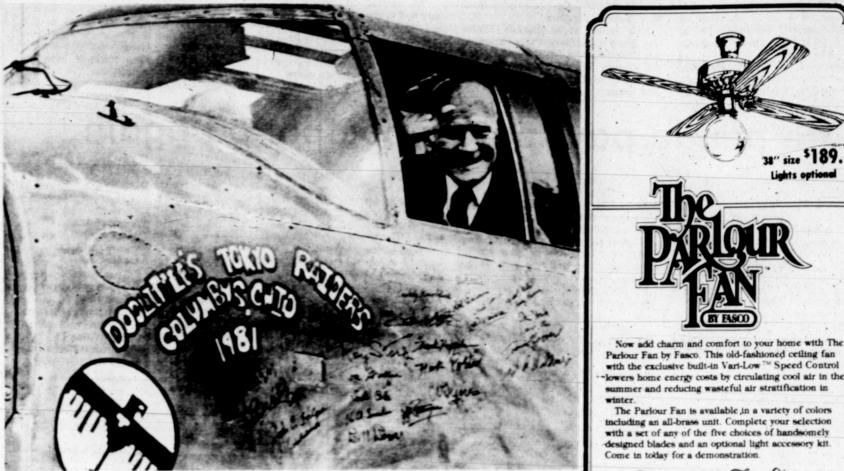

Before permission for a new test could be given, the archdiocese of

The accord also represents a further rebuff to Communist Party leader Stanislaw Kania and other senior officials who opposed the farmers' union, saying organizations suited for factory workers had no place in the countryside

Communist reformers took jabs at Kania's leadership at a meeting in Torun earlier this week. They urged the Central Committee to oust members who lack popular support, to explain the "true situation" in Poland to neighboring Warsaw Pact states, to allow delegates from the rank-and-file to attend the committee meeting as observers, and to broadcast the session live on television next week.

The signers of the farmers' pact included the minister for trade union affairs, Stanislaw Ciosek, the deputy agriculture minister, Andrzej Kacala, the head of the farmers' union, Jan Kulaj, the leader of the Bydgoszcz farmers, Roman Bartoszcze, and the head of the Bydgoszcz chapter of Solidarity, Jan Rulewski.

Rulewski was one of three union activists beaten March 19 when police removed Solidarity members and farmers from an adjourned government meeting calledto discuss th Bydgoszcz sit-in. The incident sparked a nationwide warning strike and a threatened general strike, cancelled at the last moment after a union-governent accord. Brtoszcze is the son of Michal Bartoszero one of the three beaten unionists.

Pilgrims follow traditional path of Jesus in Jerusalem

JERUSALEM (AP) -Thousands of pilgrims, many burdened by heavy wooden crosses, labored along the Via Dolorosa on Good Friday in the traditional path of Jesus as part of Easter observances that have filled this ancient city with Christians from around the world.

Under a brilliant spring sun, Franciscan friars led a procession heralded by Moslem dragomen guides thump ing silver-tipped staffs. Priests and monks lec the faithful along the narrow, twisting path to Calvary, singing hymns in a dozen languages at each of the 14 Stations of the Cross.

The devout walked from the site where tradition says Pontius Pilate condemned Jesus, to the marble mausoleum at the Church of the Holy Sepulcher, where he was believed to have been crucified and entombed. Many pilgrims paused at the Third Station of the Cross, where tradi-tion says Christ fell the first time. They lingered at a spot that has recently been paved with stone blocks believed to have lined the Via Dolorosa in Christ's time.

The sound of Christian monks chanting through bullhorns mingled with the cries of the muezzins in the minarets calling the Moslem faithful to prayer on their Sabbath. Passover coincides with the Easter season

Mrs. Lucas, 50, didn't know she was pregnant until 11 days before Luke was born.

Little bundle of joy was a surprise

CHICAGO (AP) — Luke Lucas wasn't planned, and he was barely expected. His 50-year-old mother says she only found out for sure he was coming 11 days before his birth. Now he's "big, fat and sassy" and although life is different around the Lucas home, what with diapers and 4 a.m. feedings, Therese Lucas says she's "having a ball."

"I was a mother at 17 and I'm a mother at 50, and boy, there's a difference," said Mrs. Lucas, who with her husband, Arthur, 57, also has three grown sons and five grandchildren.

Mrs. Lucas said she felt ill last spring and went to her doctor, a general practitioner, who diagnosed a possible hernia. And although she was gaining weight, Mrs. Lucas said she didn't worry because she had always been heavy.

Menopause, she believed, was sev-eral years behind her.

But after repeated trips to the doctor and months of medication, Mrs. Lucas decided she might be wrong about being unable to conceive. At her urging, her doctor examined her with a fetal monitoring device.

"He ran it over my stomach and he got white. He said, "Therese, oh my God,' and he screamed for the nurse,' Mrs. Lucas said.

Eleven days later, on Dec. 22, 1980, some 33 years after her first child was born, Mrs. Lucas gave birth to Luke, her "miracle baby" and fourth son. Mrs. Lucas said her obstetrician

Machine exposed patients to high radiation

DALLAS (AP) - A mobile X-ray unit still operated by the Dallas affiliate of the American Lung Association exposed patients to nearly seven times the amount of radiation produced by a conventional hospital chest X-ray in 1973, the last time the unit was inspected by Texas health department officials, agency officials said Friday.

The "unusually high" reading is one of the highest on record at the health agency's Division of Occupational Health and Radiation Controlwhich is responsible for inspecting hospital and mobile X-ray machines in Texas, said James Sands.

Sands supervises the state's radia tion inspection program, which, because of manpower shortages, is able to inspect mobile X-ray vans only sporadically, agency officials said.

State inspectors discovered a radiation dose of 72 millirems per X-ray when they screened one of the Dallas lung organization's two mobile vans in 1973, Sands said. The second van produced an exposure reading of 30 millirems, slightly below the 44-millirem average for such equipment as calculated last year by a federal research council.

The average exposure dose from a chest X-ray administered on stationary equipment such as that found in a hospital is 10 millirems, said Dr. Alan K. Pierce, chairman of the Texas Thoracic Society, the medical branch of the state lung association. A millirem is a standard unit for measuring radiation.

The Dallas reading was more than double the federal standard of 30 millirems for a chest X-ray administered in a federal hospital or other health facility, including mobile vans. The federal ceiling was adopted in 1978 and is being reevaluated by the Food and Drug Administration, which expects to issue a new standard later this year, said Litsey Zellner, the FDA's radiation control officer in Dallas.

Lung association employees said Friday they could not specifically re-call the inspection or the high read-ing. Records of both are on file in the Occupational Health and Radiation Control Division's Austin office.

"I've never had a reading of that type," said Harry Wells, director of the Dallas association's case-finding services. Wells later said the reading may have come from an aging X-ray van that the Dallas group obtained from the North Texas Lung Association in Fort Worth in 1978.

"It wasn't in very good shape," he recalled. "We had to overhaul it before we could use it on the road.'

But state records indicate that the reading came from a similar machine that was already in use by the Dallas group when it obtained the van from its Fort Worth affiliate, Sands said.

The unit in question, along with two other mobile vans, is still in use at the Dallas association office. One of the units is stationed at the office, while two others are used to provide mobile TB screening services in a 10-county area surrounding Dallas.

The disclosure of the state inspection results comes in the midst of a flap between the Dallas lung organization and the state and national affiliates of the American Lung Association over the continued use of the given the Dallas group until April, 1982 to discontinue the vans' use or face the loss of its charter as an American Lung Association affiliate.

The state group says X-ray screening for TB unnecessarily exposes pa-tients to ionizing radiation and to possible adverse health effects. The Dallas affiliate is the only one of 164 American Lung Association chapters in the United States that routinely uses a mobile X-ray van to screen for tuberculosis, according to the ALA.

The Dallas mobile units administered 32,000 chest X-rays last year, most of them to public employees, food industry workers and nursing home personnel.

Without pesticides, Brown told a news conference, food production would drop 40 percent and food costs would soar by up to 80 percent.

Brown said he could not think of "anything more sad or depressing than a mother who looks down at the face of a baby crying for milk and bread."

With the aid of others, Brown said, the state Agriculture Department wants "to try to be sure that no baby starves in this world."

He said he had called the conference during the growing season to enlist the news media in educating year Texans about the safe use of chemicals.

"A lot of people are worried to death," Brown acknowledged. "The anxiety about chemicals is causing more problems than the chemicals themselves.

Brown pointed to a cartoon poster of a backyard gardener, who was smoking, with a beer bottle at his feet, as he sprayed a tree, and said, "The tool is safe, but it's this ol' boy we're worried about.

He said a careless consumer might read directions calling for a teaspoon of a pesticide for 200 square feet, then say to himself, "Well, if that'll work a teacup ought to kill the hell out of them."

Greater Ideal Baptist Church holding Gospel Extravaganza

The Greater Ideal Baptist Church, 411 S. Tyler St., is holding a Gospel Extravanza today at 7:30 p.m. featuring choirs, soloists and groups from Midland.

Another concert is scheduled for 2:30 p.m. Sunday featuring Betty Pil-son of Odessa and Elroy Dedorce of San Angelo. Performing from Midland are Cora Jones, Patricia Johnson and Barbara Pertile, This program is sponsored by the Pastor's Aid No. 1. The public is invited to attend.

Jerry and Pokey Langley of Houston will conduct the 6 p.m. service Sunday at First Alliance Church, 1610 W. Wall St. They will be joined by "God's family," a gospel group whose local mem-bers are Judith Robinson and Roy and Mary Mahuren.

Langley, a 20-year-old speaker and youth minister, has spoken to churches of many denominations. He serves as a Core member for the Prayer and Share of Dickinson, a young adult inter-denominational group. His mother, Mrs. Langley, is a gospel singer and songwriter. Both are former Odessa residents. The public is invited to attend.

HE LITERALLY SWEAT BLOOD!

Jesus asked the disciples. "When I sent you out to preach the Good News and you were without money, duffle bag, or extra clothing, how did you get along?" "Fine," they replied. "But now," He said, "take a duffle bag if you have one, and your money. And if you don't have a sword, better sell you clothes and buy one! For the time has come for this prophecy about Me to come true: 'He will be condemned as a criminal!' Yes, everything written about Me by the prophets will come true."

"Master," they replied, "we have two swords among us." "Enough!" He said and went as usual to the Mount of Olives. There He told them,"Pray God that you will not be overcome by temptation."

He walked away, perhaps a stone's throw, and knelt down and prayed this prayer; "Father, if You are willing, please take away this cup of horror from Me. But I want Your will, not Mine.'

Then an angel from heaven appeared and strengthened Him, for He was in such agony of spirit that He broke into a sweat of blood. with great drops falling to the ground as He prayed more and more earnestly

At last He stood up again and returned to the disciples -- only to find them asleep, exhausted from grief.

"Asleep!" He said. "Get up! pray God that you will not fall when ou are tempted."

HOLINESS

UNITED

Three men died on Calvary Hill. One of them was the Galilean!

Business as usual in Jerusalem. Unless we understand the whole significance of what is happening we pay little attention ....

Do you understand what happened that Friday? Do you realize WHO hung on that central Cross? Do you know WHY He died? And FOR WHOM?

There is nothing more necessary in our lives than the deep, personal knowledge of what happened that Friday ... and the Sunday following.

Easter Sunday marks the first service for Tall City Baptist Church in its new auditorium located at the corner of Anetta and Thomason streets. Most of the construction work was done by members of the ongregation.

In 1969, the beginnings of this congregation met for he first time in Carpenters' Union Hall.

A year later the group organized into a New Testament Church and bought the current property where an initial church was built. In 1979, the church voted to expand its facility. This expansion project is now complete.

Astronauts still not down to earth

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) - Astronauts John Young and Robert Crippen""are still in orbit and I don't know when I'll get them back to Earth," says the official directing their debriefings on the maiden flight of rocketship Columbia.

'They're really exuberant; it's unbelievable how excited they are," George Abbey, director of flight operations at the Johnson Space Center said in an interview Friday.

The astronauts are in their third day of reporting on the flight, a debriefing period that will last another two weeks and set guidelines for future space shuttle missions.

Abbey said that so far the sessions have turned up no surprises.

"It's reassuring to the whole system that the vehicle performed so flawlessly in every phase," he said. "John and Bob both feel pretty good about that.

Young and Crippen piloted Columbia, the world's first reflyable spaceship, on a remarkable 21/4-day test trip that ended Tuesday with a center-of-the-runway landing on the hard-sand desert at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.

The spacecraft is still at Edwards, undergoing post-flight inspection and being prepared for a return to the Cape Canaveral, Fla., launch site, carried there on the back of a modified Boeing 747 jetliner.

The work is taking longer than anticipated, so the National Aeronautics and Space Administration has delayed Columbia's arrival at the Cape from Wednesday until next Friday. Abbey said the flight practically assures that the spaceship can be launched again in September as planned. That will be a four-day flight, with a pair of rookie astronauts, Joe Engle and Richard Truly, at the controls

"There are a lot of things we've got to get done before that," Abbey said. "There are some planned modifications to be made to the vehicle. and there are some minor modifications we'll have to make as a result of what we learn from this first flight."

The debriefings so far have mainly involved five people - Abbey, Young, Crippen, Engle and Truly.

Abbey said Young and Crippen started from the beginning - with the computer problem that delayed the launch two days - through the liftoff, in-orbit performance, landing and post-flight activities.

He said the re-entry phase received a lot of attention since it was one of the major unknowns about the trip. Never before had a winged vehicle returned from orbit to an airplane-like landing on Earth.

"There was a lot of uneasiness about that phase prior to the flight, and having the system perform so well right through a regime where we hadn't really been before made everyone feel good," Abbey said.

'John certainly felt good about it," he said. "From what Bob tells me, from the moment the vehicle stopped rolling on the runway, John was jumping up and down in the cockpit before he started jumping up and down when he got out. And he's still jumping up and down.

'In John's mind, this is the most outstanding flight he's ever participated in, and that includes his two Gemini flights and the two Apollo trips he made to the moon," he stated. "For John to say that, that's quite a compliment.

For Crippen, who made his first space trip, the flight was "fantastic," Abbey reported. "He keeps repeating that word. He had no problem at all adjusting to the space environment, and he really enjoyed it."

Young and Crippen will complete their written pilot reports on the mission by Tuesday, meet with NASA management officials Wednesday and hold a news conference Thursday. Then they will have another week of debriefings with individual systems experts before a round of public appearances that might include a visit to the White House and a trip to the Paris air show in June.

Return of shuttle may be Thursday

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) - The space agency on Friday bumped back to next Thursday the scheduled return of the space shuttle to the Kennedy Space Center at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

And in the meantime, technicians are working around the clock to get the revolutionary spaceship ready for its piggy-back ride, atop a specially designed Boeing 747, back to Florida.

They want to get it back there as fast as possible to get it ready for the next flight," which may come as early October, said Sharon Wanglin, a spokeswoman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. But the date and the scheduled 7 a.m., PST, departure time "could slip again," she said, adding that the original plan for a Tuesday departure was "a little optimistic."

Reagan may soon signal end to grain embargo

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Reagan is likely to signal within two weeks his intention to lift the grain embargo against the Soviet Union if the Soviet threat to Poland continues to ease, U.S. officials say. One official suggested that the administration also will disclose its readiness to begin talks with the Soviets aimed at limiting deployment of nuclear weapons in Europe, although actual talks might not begin for some time.

In both instances, the actions would be linked to recent Soviet good behavior in Poland. Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. has softened his criticism of the Soviets in recent days as tensions have eased in and around Poland.

One high State Department official said Friday that "the defusing of tensions in Poland makes it easier to negotiate" with the Soviets on all issues.

For Reagan, a decision to lift the embargo would be welcome since it would keep a promise he made during the campaign to lift it once in office. Several senior officials have said in the past week that they think the embargo will be lifted soon, and this was reinforced in background interviews with both State Department and congressional sources Thursday and Friday.

The officials offered their assessments only on the condition they not be identified by name.

A well-placed source on the Senate Agricultural Committee said Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., the committee chairman, has made it clear to the White House that it should make up its mind on the embargo by April 27, the deadline for preparing the 1981 farm bill.

"We have explained to the administration what we perceive to be the chances for an administration bill and what it could do to improve its chances," he said. "The central feature is easing of the embargo.

"The convenience of doing it now, would suggest to me this is the time to do it," said the source.

A high State Department official said April 27 is a key date for the administration. "I assume that's the time when pressures will really be building," he said.

However, the official said that rather than an outright lifting of the embargo, Reagan may disclose U.S. willingness to enter into talks with the Soviets on their grain needs.

An existing five-year grain sales agreement with the Soviets expires in September and the focus of the administration's action likely is to be on negotiations for a new one.

Haig had argued persuasively in the first weeks of the Reagan administration that the embargo should not be lifted as long as the Soviets were threatening to intervene in Poland. But those circumstances are now changing. "Sending the signal now would reinforce and give new incentives to the Soviets to withdraw its forces (from Poland) and be less aggressive," said the congressional source. "If the situation in Poland is calming down, the pressure will be enormous to lift the embargo," said the high State Department official. But this official cautioned that with Soviet troops still "in a high state of readiness" around Poland it is too early to conclude the situation has improved dramatically on a long-term basis.

However, Haig said Thursday that the situation is "considerably improved."

Secretary of Agriculture John Block said Thursday he is "very confident that prospects are improving" for lifting of the embargo. And Sen. Roger Jepsen, R-Iowa, a member of the agriculture committee, said this week he thinks the embargo will be tifted within three weeks.

The grain embargo was imposed by

AMARILLO - Phil Nastu came out of the bullpen in the bottom of the eighth inning to blunt an Amarillo Gold Sox rally and perserve a 7-6 win for the Midland Cubs here Friday night.

SECTION B

Nastu relieved Rob Blyth with one out and the bases loaded in the eighth. Nastu quickly disposed of the Gold Sox without giving up a run and then set Amarillo down in order in the ninth to pick up his first save of the year

Joe McClain picked up the win despite being boxed for 10 hits and six runs in his 7½ innings of work. McClain, who had 12 strikeouts, lasted to the bottom of the eighth before the Gold Sox drove him from the mound. Midland manager Roy Hartsfield went to Blyth but Blyth couldn't get anyone out as he walked two batters and allowed a hit. This set the stage for Nastu's appearance.

It was a come from behind win for the Cubs. Amarillo led 4-2 after six, but in the seventh inning the Cubs used an error by the Gold Sox second baseman Jerry Desimone and runscoring singles by Jack Upton and Bill Morgan to take a 5-4 lead.

Rockets pull another upset

Houston's Calvin Murphy sparks win with 42 points

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - The giant killer Houston Rockets continued their march through the National Basketball Association playoffs Fri-day night by throttling San Antonio 105-100 behind a brilliant 42-point shooting exhibition from gnat-size shooting exhibition from gnat-size guard Calvin Murphy. Murphy bombed the Spurs with 19 of 28 field goal attempts and hit all four of his free throws to end a seven game series without a miss in 23 trips to the free throw line.

The Rockets also crashed the boards and out-rebounded the Spurs for the first time in the series, 43-40. By downing the defending world champion Los Angeles Lakers two games to one in a mini series and beating the Spurs 4-3 in the conference semifinals, Houston became the first NBA team since the St. Louis Hawks in 1966-67 to enter the Western Conference finals with a losing record in regular season play. Houston finished the regular season

MILWAUKEE (AP) - Mickey Johnson scored 22 points and Bob Lanier added 20 as the Milwaukee Bucks beat Philadelphia 109-86 to even their best-of-seven National Basketball Association playoff series at 3-3 Friday.

The Bucks, taking the lead to stay in the third quarter, forced a Sunday showdown in Philadelphia in the Eastern Conference semifinals. The series winner advances to the conference finals against the Boston Celtics. Lanier hit a three-point play with 11:18 left in the third quarter to put Milwaukee up 47-45. A tip-in by Philadelphia's Julius Erving tied it 47-47, but Lanier's layup put the Bucks ahead to stay.

Mickey Johnson, who had 10 points in the quarter, followed with a bank-in jump shot and layup as the Bucks expanded their lead to seven points on Quinn Buckner's layup with 6:56 left in the period.

We were just fortunate and I feel for them because I've been in that position myself," said Murphy, a 10-year veteran from Niagra.

'This series was unbelievable," said dejected San Antonio Coach Stan Albeck. "The finish of it also was unbelievable."

Murphy, who was the oldest and shortest player on the court, took up the slack for Houston center Moses Malone who was ill Friday and scored only 21 points in the victory. The two teams battled on even terms through the first period with the lead changing hands six times and the score tied eight times.

Murphy, starting his first game of the series, scorched the nets for 16 points, including the last two baskets of the period, that staked Houston to a 34-30 lead after one quarter.

But San Antonio came out running in the second period and opened with eight unanswered points to go ahead 38-34. # Cats stun Steers in key 5-5A game

BIG SPRING - The San Angelo Bobcats ruined Big Spring's hopes of tying for the first-half erown in the District 5-5A baseball race by knocking off the Steers 6-5 Friday afternoon here. The win, second in a row for the Bobcats, leaves Big Spring in second with a 4-3 mark while San Angelo finishes the first half at 2-5.

Abilene High and Abilene Cooper share the first-half crown at present with 5-2 slates. But Midland Lee could move into a tie for the first half with a win over Midland High Thursday in a makeup game at the Memorial Stadium diamond Johnny Ross opened the scoring for the Bobcats with a three-run homer in the top of the fourth. Waine Ship-man, Steers' losing pitcher, had not allowed a runner until he walked the lead off hitter in the fourth. An infield hit and Ross' homer gave the Cats a 3-0 lead.

Big Spring bounced back with five runs in the bottom of the fifth. Dickie Wrightsil tripled in two runs and Mark Warren and Rusty Hayworth had run-scoring singles as the Steers moved back in front 5-3.

The Bobcats answered with three more runs in the top of the sixth. With two out, Kel Crain was safe on a fielder's choice. Ross and David Ramirez followed with back-to-back singles to score Craine and moved to third and second on a play at the plate. Scott Duba followed with a drive up the middle that Steer second baseman, Beef Armendariz, got his glove on but the ball trickled into shallow centerfield. By the time Armendariz recovered the ball, both Ross and Ramirez had scored.

Big Spring had one final threat in the sixth. With two outs and two on, Mark Warren hit a looper to left that Ramirez made a diving catch on to preseve the Bobcats win.

Longhorns nip Baylor, 6-4

By The Associated Press

Rady Richards went 3-for-4 and scored two runs to lead the Texas Longhorns to a 6-4 victory over Baylor in a Southwest Conference baseball game Friday: Houston and Rice were other SWC winners Friday.

Texas starter Tony Arnold shut out the Bears through the last five innings to take the win and give Texas a 12-1 SWC mark. Baylor drops to 5-11 in conference play.

RICHARDS STARTED scoring for the SWC leading Longhorns with a second inning solo homer off Baylor starter Vic Salvino. But the Bears countered when Jim Mick singled home Jay Jeffrey to tie the score.

Both teams scored single runs in the third, but Texas hit three runs in the fourth off reliever Jerry Arnold. Baylor scored two runs in the fourth on two Texas errors, but the Longhorns picked up their final run off Arnold in the eighth to seal the victory.

HOUSTON'S MARK Lavespere and Mike Minturn each blasted two-run homers Friday to give the Cougars a 5-3 victory over Arkansas.

Houston is 9-6-1 in the SWC and in second place, while Arkansas is in fourth place with an 8-8 record.

The Cougars came out gunning in the first inning as Chuck Shirley tripled home a run off losing pitcher Scott Tabor and Minturn followed with his fifth homer of the year to give the Cougars a 3-0 lead.

Tabor, now 8-2 on the year, retired 7 consecutive batters and did not allow another hit until the eighth inning when Brett Baker singled. Lavespere got his sixth homer of the year to make it 5-1.

The Razorbacks got back into the game in the bottom of the eighth when Dave McClure scored on a throwing error by catcher Jeff Jacobson. Billy Dees singled home Todd Zacher.

A ninth inning Razorback rally fell short when Keith Longoria hit a soft liner to the shortstop with the bases loaded.

Brent Bentley, who relieved starter Jeff Achilles, was credited with the win. He is 6-0.

MATT WILLIAMS scattered six hits and struck out nine as Rice shutout Texas Christian 9-0 Friday.

The loss drops TCU to a conference record of 7-6, third place in the SWC. Rice moves into a tie for fourth, with a league record of 8-8.

The Owls collected 14 hits off three different TCU pitchers, Glen Pierce, Chris Leiss and Jeff Long. Mike McGee singled to lead off the game for Rice and later scored on a single by Dave Edwards as the Owls scored twice in the first inning.

Catcher Mike Horn drove two players home with a single in the third and scooted home on a TCU error, and Rice led 5-0.

TCU pitcher Chris Leiss held the Owls back through the eighth, allowing just one run on a Frank Dishongh homer. But the Owls collected three more runs in the ninth.

The scheduled game between Texas Tech and Texas A&M was postponed until Sunday afternoon, but they will play today's scheduled doubleheader. All other teams will be involved in twinbills today also.

final standing ovation in Las Vegas receives oe Louis

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) - Joe Louis received his final standing ovation Friday, a tumultuous round of applause from nearly 3,000 people. rathered to pay their last respects to the former heavyweight boxing champion

"Let's hear it for the champion," said the Rey. Jesse Jackson at the close of his eulogy to Louis. "Let's hear it for the champ."

THE CROWD in the sports pavilion at Caesars Palace rose and erupted into applause for Louis, who died Sunday at the age of 66 and will be buried Tuesday at Arlington National Cemetery in the gentle green hills of northern Virginia

Louis' body was to be flown from Las Vegas to Washington, D.C., Sunday morning.

Jackson eulogized Louis as "the black's treasure and the world's champion," an unassuming hero who lifted the spirits of a people beset by racism and of a nation faced with the dark days of World War II. "God sent Joe from the black race to represent the human race," he said in the eulogy

"History put Hitler and his theory of Aryan superiority on trial against Joe Louis and Jesse Owens," Jackson said. "The jury can bring in the verdict now."

Prior to the service, several hundred people viewed the open coffin, sitting on a bier in a boxing ring and flanked by an honor guard from nearby Nellis Air Force Base. On Thursday more than 10,000 people filed past during the day long public viewing, according to mortuary offi-

Jackson shared the services with Frank Sinatra and Sammy Davis Jr. Davis sang a moving version of "Here's to the Winner," his voice breaking at one point, and closed with a quiet "God bless you, Joe"

SINATRA CALLED Louis the "champion of champions who introduced grace and dignity to the sporting square with the ropes around it. "He never boasted in victory nor wept in defeat," said Sinatra. "He apologized not. He knew too well that life had 15 rounds and none of us can win them all.

Sinatra, World Boxing Council heavyweight champion Larry Holmes, former undisputed heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali, fight promot-er Don King and Caesars Palace President Harry Wald were among the pallbearers.

"I'm very sad and grieved," Ali said before the service. "But still you know in the back of your mind we all go out this way." Louis' professional career spanned 17 years and 71 fights, 68 of them he won. He won the heavyweight crown in 1937 and held it for 12 years, longer than any other man. He defended the title a record 25 times.

His greatest victory came on the eve of the war when he knocked out Germany's Max Schmeling in the first round in June 1938, a blow to the Nazi claims of racial inferiority. Schmeling, two years before, had been the first fighter to beat Louis.

Schmeling did not attend the service, but sent a large wreath that stood near the coffin.

Louis' interment at Arlington came on the order of President Reagan, who waived the regulations that would have prevented his burial at, the nation's most historic national cemetery. Although a veteran — he was an Army sergeant and spent the war fighting exhibition bouts for the troops — Louis would not have qualified under regulations imposed in recent years to limit the number of burials at Arlington.

LOUIS CAME to Las Vegas in 1963 and beginning in 1971 worked as a casino host at Caesars. He suffered a stroke and underwent heart surgery in 1977 and although confined to a wheelchair and unable to work after that, became a sort of goodwill ambassador and attended most of the frequent title fights at the Strip resort. His last public appearance was the night before his death, when he at-tended the Holmes-Trevor Berbick title fight in the sports pavilion and received a standing ovation.

Jackson's debut rocks Rangers

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - Reggie Jackson, making his 1981 debut, doubled across the two runs Ron Guidry needed in the first inning Friday night and the New York Yankees held on to defeat the Texas Rangers 2-1 before a near-capacity crowd of 34,333 in Arlington Stadium.

Jackson, who had been nursing a torn tendon in his right leg and was on the disabled list for the first five games, drove a 1-2 pitch from Danny Darwin into the left-center field gap to score Willie Randolph and Jerry Mumphrey. Randolph had reached first base on third baseman Buddy Bell's throwing error and Mumphrey

Jackson, who loves Arlington Stadium where he has hit 19 career home runs, also doubled in the sixth inning but was stranded.

Guidry, 1-1, who lost to the Rangers in New York last weekend, needed relief help from Ron Davis in the seventh and Rich Gossage-in the eighth:

Texas catcher Jim Sundberg hit a solo homer off Guidry in the sixth and Davis came on with one out in the seventh after Bell doubled. Billy Sample was safe at first on an error by third baseman Graig Nettles, but Davis got Johnny Grubb to hit into a double play.

Rich Dauer triggers Orioles' victory

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - Rich Dauer's bases-loaded double triggered a three-run rally in the eighth inning and carried the Baltimore Orioles to a 3-2 victory over the Kansas City Royals Friday night.

Loser Dennis Leonard, 1-1, who retired 16 straight batters in one stretch, gave up singles to Gary Roenicke and Terry Crowley to start the eighth. After Al Bumbry's attempted sacrifice bunt turned into a single and loaded the bases, Dauer doubled home two runs with a line drive into left field, tying the score.

Eddie Murray then tagged reliever Dan Quisenberry for a sacrifice fly to. score Bumbry. Tippy Martinez, 1-0, relieved Steve Stone in the seventh and got the victory.

Willie Aikens staked Leonard to a 1-0 lead with a solo home run in the second inning and Hal McRae rapped an RBI single in the seventh to score U.L. Washington, who singled and was sacrificed to second, giving the loaded, one-out crisis in the seventh. Ken Singleton, after watching the count go to 3-0, drilled a line drive straight at Washington, who doubled Bumbry off second base. The Royals, 1980 American League champs, are winless in three home games this season.

Lansford carries Boston to 8-5 win

CHICAGO (AP) - Carney Lansford blasted four hits including a tworun homer and the longest single of his career and Rick Miller ripped three singles and drove in three runs Friday, leading Dennis Eckerley and the Boston Red Sox to an 8-5 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

"I was just trying to go up the middle with it," said Lansford of his homer which sailed over the center field wall, "and I'll never hit a longer single than that one.

The long single came in the seventh inning with Jim Rice on second and Tony Perez on first. Lansford hit the ball deep to left center but Rice had to hold up since Chet Lemon seemed to have a chance to make a catch. But Lemon and the ball bounced off the wall and Rice could get no further than third.

"I've had four hits a lot of times before but I've never had five in a game," said Lansford.,"That would be nice to get, wouldn't it?"

Lansford also was involved in an odd double play in the sixth inning to check a White Sox rally. Chicago loaded the bases on a walk and a pair of singles.

Jim Morrison then hit a shot to third and Lansford stepped on third for a force and threw home to Gary Allenson who tagged slow running Greg Luzinski for the second out.

Beth Daniel fires 6 birdies

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) - Beth Dan-iel knocked in six birdies Friday to post a 5-under-par 67 for a threestroke lead over Cindy Hill after two rounds in the $100,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association Florida Lady Citrus tournament.

Daniel, the 1980 LPGA Player of the Year, was nine strokes under par after two trips over the Rio Pinar Country Club with a 135. Hill, who has not won a tournament in her two years on the tour, carded a 2-under 70 Friday and had a 138 total.

Daniel, Hill and rookie Kyle O'Brien were tied after the opening round with 4-under 68s.

Jerilyn Britz, the 1979 U.S. Women's Open champion, was in third place at 139 on rounds of 68 and 71

O'Brien slipped to an even-par 72 for a 140 total and was tied for fourth with Sandra Palmer, who posted a second straight 70.

Four players were tied at 141, including Donna Caponi, who set a Lady Citrus record with a 6-under 66 Friday. The previous mark in this 3year-old event was 67, held by three players.

Patti Rizzo, Bonnie Lauer and Cathy Mant were tied with Caponi at RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) -Lee Trevino birdied two of the last three holes for another 5-under-par 67 and opened up a two-stroke lead Friday in the second round of the $300,000 MONY-Tournament of Champions.

Trevino, a four-time runnerup but still looking for his first victory in this elite event that brings together only the winners of PGA Tour titles from the last 12 months, had a 36-hole total of 134, 10 strokes under par on the 6,911-yard La Costa Country Club said the veteran Floyd, enjoying some of his greatest success in his 19th year of tour activity. "For 16 holes it was maybe the best round I've ever played."

Another two shots back at 138 was Larry Nelson, also with a secondround 67.

Curtis Strange, the first-round leader, and Bruce Lietzke followed at 139. Lietzke shot a 71, and Strange went to 73. Bill Rogers, twice tied for the lead over the front nine, fell back with a 38 on the back nine, finished with a 72 and was at 140.

strokes back at the halfway point of the chase for a $54,000 first prize.

Tom Watson, the Masters champion and winner of this title the past two years, was well back. He matched par 72 and was at 146.

"Am I 14 shots ahead of him?" Trevino asked. Told the margin was 12, he repeated his prediction from Thursday.

"Then he's not out of it. I need 14 strokes," Trevino said.

NFL teams ignore Colts on free agent market

BALTIMORE (AP) - Following the general trend, none of the four free agents of the Baltimore Colts received offers from other National Football League teams prior to Wednesday's deadline.

Wide receiver Randy Burke, defensive end Fred Cook, offensive tackle George Kunz and wide receiver Mike Siani were given qualifying offers by the Colts when their contracts expired Feb. 1.

The players had until April 15 to entertain offers from other clubs, but none came. Now, the Colts have until June 1 to inform the players that they will be offered contracts for the 1981 season

back last year after missing two sea-sons with injuries, is expected to retire again.

Seven Baltimore players originally declared free agency. But tight end Mack Alston retired, punter Mike Bragg subsequently signed another contract, and offensive lineman Bob Van Duyne was not given a qualifying offer, which means the Colts no longer have rights to his services.

A total of 137 NFL players declared free agency this year, but a spokes-man for the NFL Players' Association reported that only three or four had received offers from other clubs.

Since the NFL and the players signed a 1977 agreement, only one player, defensive back Norm Thompson, has moved from one team to another under the free agent system which requires compensation for the loss of the player.

Dodgers waive Don Stanhouse

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The Los Angeles Dodgers announced Friday that they have placed relief pitcher Don Stanhouse on irrevocable waivers for the purpose of giving the veter-an right-hander his unconditional release.

Stanhouse, 30, was "designated for assignment" on April 8, meaning that the Dodgers had 10 days at that time. to make a decision on him. That decision was made Friday

This spring, Stanhouse did not pitch well and the Dodgers made the decision to give him his release, meaning they will have to pay him $1,360,000. according to club official Al Campanis. The total is thought to be the largest such payoff in baseball history.

Stanhouse had signed a multiyear free agent contract with the Dodgers prior to the 1980 season after playing out his option with the Baltimore Orioles.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) - "Re-gardless of what I say about myself," Muhammad Ali commented Friday, 'Joe Louis was truly the greatest heavyweight champion in history. "I never thought I was simulating him. He was in his time, as I was in my time, an inspiration to black people Ali was a pallbearer at the funeral for Louis, who died last Sunday. About 3,000 attended the funeral at the Sports Pavilion of Caesars Palace

Sugar Ray Robinson, another of the many ex-champions who attended the rites, said, "I toured with Joe. I was too small, so we didn't box. He was one of the greatest fighters and men I ever saw. Joe and I were in Detroit together. He was a guy I looked up to as a boxer. He got me started and was responsible for my well-being. We lived right down the block from each other.

Louis died at 66 and Robinson, former welterweight and middleweight champion, is 57.

Ali says Louis 'the greatest'

Former heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson said, "Joe was in a class of his own. It was Joe and Muhammad and it always will be. I tried to throw punches as short as Joe did, but I was never that successful. I never saw anybody throw punches as short as he did and knock people out.

Patterson currently is a member of the New York State Athletic Commis-

World Boxing Council heavyweight champion Larry Holmes, who also was a pallbearer, said he had only seen Louis on film, but could tell, "he was very powerful and very strong. He had one punch other fighters don't have. He could knock you out with his right or his left and had the instinct to know if an opponent was hurt.". Singer Frank Sinatra, credited with financial help to Louis when he faced medical problems in recent years, said, "This is a very sad occasion. He was a dear friend of mine. Yes, we did a couple of things for him. Things you do for a friend. Somebody gets in trouble, and you help him out of it. He was a great man."

Sammy Davis Jr., another enter-tainer who sang at the funeral ser-vice, said outside the pavilion, "I take deep and respectful bow in his direction as we all do. I'm happy to be here, but I don't like to be here at Veteran trainer Eddie Futch, who worked with Joe Frazier and now handles Holmes, grew up with Louis. Futch said, "I saw Joe 20 times or more in fights. I think he is the best heavyweight I ever saw. You know, I used to spar with him in Detroit. He had a clean, analytical mind inside. the ropes.

Americans defeat Netherlands, 7-6

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP) — Olympic hockey star Dave Christian scored on a penalty shot with 11 seconds left, his third goal of the game, giving the United States a dramatic 7-6 victory over The Neth-erlands Friday in the "B" pool opener of the World Championships.

The penalty was assessed by Czech referee Vladimir Subrt. The official ruled that the Dutch deliberately had moved the cage as the Americans swarmed around the net in a goal-mouth scramble in an effort to score

Dutch Coach Gustav Bubnik was bitterly upset by the call.

"I saw the American players move their goal several times and there was no penalty," Bubnik said. "Our goal was moved only once. Chuch Huizinga was standing with his arms on the goal and was pushed from behind. He did not deliberately move it."

Bob Johnson, the American coach, said he did not see the incident clearly.

'But our players thought it was a good call," he said. "It counts as two points in the win column." The victory gave the Americans a good start in the

"B" pool, in which they are playing with the Netherlands, Finland and West Germany.

'We scored enough goals to win the game, but we gave too many easy ones away," Johnson said. "After the sixth goal, I had to change the goalie. Ed Walsh was not playing well."

Gregg Moffett took Walsh's place for the last 13 minutes and the Americans swarmed to the attack. But it took the penalty shot in the last seconds to win the game.

Jack De Heer, a Dutch Canadian, jolted the Americans by scoring three goals in the first peri-

The first came at 7:31, and the Dutch held the lead until 17:59, when four goals were scored in less than two minutes. Christian tied the score, De Heer collected two more goals, and Craig Norwich cut the deficit to 3-2.

The second period belonged to the Americans. Wally Olds pulled the Americans even at 1:10, but Walsh failed to stop a shot by Ron Berteling 34 seconds later. Then the Americans forged ahead on goals by Dave Debol at 4:31, Mark Pavelich at 12: 19 and Christian at 17: 21.

Connors moves to semis with victory over Noah

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP) - Tournament favorite Jimmy Connors of the United States swept into the semifinals of the $250,000 Monte Carlo Open tennis tournament Friday with a 6-3, 6-2 victory over Yannick Noah, France's No. 1 player. Connors scored on 70 percent of his first serves in eliminating Noah in 1 hour, 12 minutes in their quarterfinal match.

The American will face Balasz Taroczy of Hun-gary in one of Saturday's semis. Taroczy registered eight service aces, including one at match point, in beating Ricardo Cano of Argentina 6-2, 6-3.

The other semifinal will match Guillermo Vilas of Argentina, the Monte Carlo champion in 1976, against Adriano Panatta of Italy. Vilas blew three match points and was forced to go to a tiebreaker before defeating Tomas Smid of Czechoslovakia 6-0, 1-6, 7-6. Panatta, eliminated by Vilas in a first-round match in last year's tournament, won his quarterfinal match Thursday.

Connors took advantage of Noah's early difficulties en route to his victory over the young Frenchman. Noah doublefaulted twice in the first game to lose service and fell behind 4-1 in the opening set.

Noah, 20, then broke Connors' service in the sixth game and held his own to cut the deficit to 4-3. But Connors broke Vilas beat Smid for the third time in three meetings, including the quarterfinals last year in Monte Carlo.

"I started out well today then lost my touch in the second set," said Vilas. "I was scared and furious with myself in the third set, but I came back in the end."

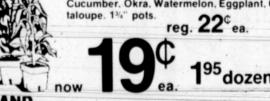

Vilas appeared on his way to an easy victory after winning the first set at love. But Smid turned it around with a strong net game as Vilas remained at the baseline Smid was leading 3-1 in the final set before Vilas fought back with a series of long rallies that kept the Czech from crowding the forecourt.

Arrested gypsies may face federal charges

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) - Eight gypsies arrested last Saturday morning in Greensboro may be facing federal charges.

SECTION C

The group was arrested after a high speed car chase during which an estimated $250,000 worth of silver was thrown from the car window.

The Greensboro Record reported Friday that sources close to the case say an FBI investigation has focused on two startling sets of facts and that the U.S. Attorney's Office may file charges against the group. Those two sets of facts are:

The property seized after the chase may be loot taken in burglaries from residences in at least four southeastern states — Texas, Georgia, Louisiana and Mississippi.

The gypsy participants being held in the Guilford County jail are part of an operation which brings illegal aliens into the Unites States and employs them in roving burglary bands.

U.S. Attorney H. M. Michaux said Friday that FBI agents have linked burglaries across the Southeast to some of the stolen property.

"It looks as though we have a very large ring operating here." Michaux said. "Some of these people haven't been in the U.S. for four months." He said his office is considering charges of interstate transportation or possession of stolen property

Andrew Pelczar, supervisor of the FBI regional office in Greensboro, said Friday that several burglaries now under investigation involve more that $30,000 worth of stolen goods. Sources close to the case have said that the FBI is investigating a New York City travel agency which may be involved in bringing illegal aliens into the country from Germany.

The travel agency photographs and fingerprints the aliens, who are then sent off to join roving gypsy groups.

The eight people, who claim to be gypsies, were arrested early Saturday morning after police received a call about a disturbance at a Greensboro motel.

When four of the accused sped away in a car, Greensboro police chased them through downtown. Two police cars were damaged and two pillowcases filled with silver goods were tossed out car windows during the chase.

Police said there is no evidence that the group burglarized homes in Greensboro. They believe the suspects were only passing through the city.

On Monday the eight made their first appearance in court and ran into a language barrier - they don't speak English.

'Because of the interstate and international aspects of the case, it might be better if the federal government handles the case," Michaux said, adding, however, that in the past the federal government has deferred to the state.

a third student, police said.

Police arrested a 22year-old Detroit man in his dorm room shortly after the early-morning slayings. No charges were filed against him. Arraignment was scheduled Saturday.

Ann Arbor Police Chief William Corbett said authorities were unable to determine a motive for the killings, which occurred as students crammed for final examinations that start Monday. The arrested man "hasn't said a word except that he wants a lawpolice Detective yer, Lt. Dale Heath said.

The man allegedly threw a Molotov cocktail at an unidentified student in a study area just off the sixth-floor hallway of Bursley Hall, said Washtenaw County Assistant Prosecutor Lynwood Noah.

The student apparently was not badly burned by the firebomb, he said.

Moments later, as a fire alarm sounded in the dorm, there was a confrontation between the arrested man and the two other students, Noah said.

As students ran down the hallway from their rooms, the man opened fire with a sawed-off 12gauge shotgun, Corbett said.

At least five shotgun blasts were fired, hitting both students at pointblank range, Corbett said.

"If there was any .. bad feelings, we have not been able to determine that," Corbett said. "We have some witnesses. We have no motive."

The dead were identified as Edward R. Siwik, 19, of Detroit, and Douglas C. McGreaham, 21, of Caspian, Mich., according university spokesman Roger Sutton. "I heard three shots and saw two bodies on the floor," said David Testa, an 18-year-old freshman. "Then there were two more shots. I

NFL teams ignore Colts on free agent market

BALTIMORE (AP) - Following the general trend, none of the four free agents of the Baltimore Colts received offers from other National Football League teams prior to Wednesday's deadline.

Wide receiver Randy Burke, defensive end Fred Cook, offensive tackle George Kunz and wide receiver Mike Siani were given qualifying offers by the Colts when their contracts expired Feb. 1.

The players had until April 15 to entertain offers from other clubs, but none came. Now, the Colts have until June 1 to inform the players that they will be offered contracts for the 1981 season.

It is believed that Siani and Burke will return to the Colts, and that Baltimore officials will try to accommodate Cook by trading his contract to another team. Kunz, who came back last year after missing two seasons with injuries, is expected to retire again.

Seven Baltimore players originally declared free agency. But tight end Mack Alston retired, punter Mike Bragg subsequently signed another contract, and offensive lineman Bob Van Duyne was not given a qualifying offer, which means the Colts no longer have rights to his services.

A total of 137 NFL players declared free agency this year, but a spokesman for the NFL Players' Association reported that only three or four had received offers from other clubs. Since the NFL and the players signed a 1977 agreement, only one player, defensive back Norm Thompson, has moved from one team to another under the free agent system which requires compensation for the loss of the player.

Dodgers waive Don Stanhouse

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The Los Angeles Dodgers announced Friday that they have placed relief pitcher Don Stanhouse on irrevocable waivers for the purpose of giving the veteran right-hander his unconditional release

Stanhouse, 30, was "designated for assignment" on April 8, meaning that the Dodgers had 10 days at that time to make a decision on him. That decision was made Friday.

This spring, Stanhouse did not pitch well and the Dodgers made the decision to give him his release, meaning they will have to pay him $1,360,000, according to club official Al Campanis. The total is thought to be the largest such payoff in baseball history

Stanhouse had signed a multiyear free agent contract with the Dodgers prior to the 1980 season after playing out his option with the Baltimore OriLAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) - "Re-gardless of what I say about myself," Muhammad Ali commented Friday, 'Joe Louis was truly the greatest heavyweight champion in history."

"I never thought I was simulating him. He was in his time, as I was in my time, an inspiration to black people. Ali was a pallbearer at the funeral for Louis, who died last Sunday. About 3,000 attended the funeral at the Sports Pavilion of Caesars Pal-

Sugar Ray Robinson, another of the many ex-champions who attended the rites, said, "I toured with Joe. I was too small, so we didn't box. He was one of the greatest fighters and men I ever saw. Joe and I were in Detroit together. He was a guy I looked up to as a boxer. He got me started and was responsible for my well-being. We lived right down the block from each other:

Louis died at 66 and Robinson, former welterweight and middleweight champion, is 57.

Former heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson said, "Joe was in a class of his own. It was Joe and Muhammad and it always will be. I tried to throw punches as short as Joe did, but I was never that successful. I never saw anybody throw punches as short as he did and knock people out.

Patterson currently is a member of the New York State Athletic Commission.

World Boxing Council heavyweight champion Larry Holmes, who also was a pallbearer, said he had only seen Louis on film, but could tell, "he was very powerful and very strong. He had one punch other fighters don't have. He could knock you out with his right or his left and had the instinct to know if an opponent was hurt." Singer Frank Sinatra, credited with financial help to Louis when he faced medical problems in recent years, said, "This is a very sad occasion. He was a dear friend of mine. Yes, we did a couple of things for him. Things you do for a friend. Somebody gets in trouble, and you help him out of it. He was a great man.'

Sammy Davis Jr., another enter-tainer who sang at the funeral ser-vice, said outside the pavilion, "I take a deep and respectful bow in his direction as we all do. I'm happy to be here, but I don't like to be here at all."

Veteran trainer Eddie Futch, who worked with Joe Frazier and now handles Holmes, grew up with Louis. Futch said, "I saw Joe 20 times or more in fights. I think he is the best heavyweight I ever saw. You know, I used to spar with him in Detroit. He had a clean, analytical mind inside the ropes.

Americans defeat Netherlands, 7-6

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP) - Olympic hockey star Dave Christian scored on a penalty shot with 11 seconds left, his third goal of the game, giving the United States a dramatic 7-6 victory over The Netherlands Friday in the "B" pool opener of the World Championships.

The penalty was assessed by Czech referee Vladimir Subrt. The official ruled that the Dutch deliberately had moved the cage as the Americans swarmed around the net in a goal-mouth scramble in an effort to score

Dutch Coach Gustav Bubnik was bitterly upset by the call.

"I saw the American players move their goal several times and there was no penalty," Bubnik said. "Our goal was moved only once. Chuch Huizinga was standing with his arms on the goal and was pushed from behind. He did not deliberately move it."

Bob Johnson, the American coach, said he did not see the incident clearly.

'But our players thought it was a good call," he said. "It counts as two points in the win column." The victory gave the Americans a good start in the

"B" pool, in which they are playing with the Netherlands, Finland and West Germany

"We scored enough goals to win the game, but we gave too many easy ones away," Johnson said. "After the sixth goal, "I had to change the goalie. Ed Walsh was not playing well."

Gregg Moffett took Walsh's place for the last 13. minutes and the Americans swarmed to the attack. But it took the penalty shot in the last seconds to win the game.

Jack De Heer, a Dutch Canadian, jolted the Americans by scoring three goals in the first period

The first came at 7:31, and the Dutch held the lead until 17:59, when four goals were scored in less than two minutes. Christian tied the score, De Heer collected two more goals, and Craig Norwich cut the deficit to 3-2.

The second period belonged to the Americans. Wally Olds pulled the Americans even at 1:10, but Walsh failed to stop a shot by Ron Berteling 34 seconds later. Then the Americans forged ahead on goals by Dave Debol at 4:31, Mark Pavelich at 12: 19 and Christian at 17: 21.

Connors moves to semis with victory over Noah

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP) - Tournament favorite Jimmy Connors of the United States swept into the semifinals of the $250,000 Monte Carlo Open tennis tournament Friday with a 6-3, 6-2 victory over Yannick Noah, France's No. 1 player. Connors scored on 70 percent of his first serves in eliminating Noah in 1 hour, 12 minutes in their quarterfinal match.

The American will face Balasz Taroczy of Hungary in one of Saturday's semis. Taroczy registered eight service aces, including one at match point, in beating Ricardo Cano of Argentina 6-2, 6-3.

The other semifinal will match Guillermo Vilas of Argentina, the Monte Carlo champion in 1976, against Adriano Panatta of Italy. Vilas blew three match points and was forced to go to a tiebreaker before defeating Tomas Smid of Czechoslovakia 6-0, 1-6, 7-6. Panatta, eliminated by Vilas in a first-round match in last year's tournament, won his quarterfinal match Thursday. Connors- took advantage of Noah's early difficulties en route to his victory over the young Frenchman. Noah doublefaulted twice in the first game to lose service and fell behind 4-1 in the opening set. Noah, 20, then broke

Connors' service in the sixth game and held his own to cut the deficit to 4-3. But Connors broke

Noah's serve a third time and held his own to take the set. Connors raced to a 3-1 lead in the second set and Noah never recovered. "I lost confidence right away, and my nerves were bad," said Noah. Only 42 percent of his first serves were good Friday

Vilas beat Smid for the third time in three meetings, including the quarterfinals last year in Monte Carlo.

"I started out well today then lost my touch in the second set," said Vilas. "I was scared and furious with myself in the third set, but I came back in the end."

Vilas appeared on his way to an easy victory after winning the first set at love. But Smid turned it around with a strong net game as Vilas remained at the baseline. Smid was leading 3-1 in the final set before Vilas fought back with a series of long rallies that kept the Czech from crowding the forecourt.

Legalized use of heroin urged for cancer victims

By ROBERT ESTILL Copley News Service

WASHINGTON - Congress has been asked to legalize use of heroin for thousands of pain-wracked cancer victims who are not aided by morphine and other pain-killers now available.

Spearheading the effort are Rep. Henry Waxman, D-Los Angeles, chairman of the House Health and Environment subcommittee, and Rep. Edward Madigan of Illinois, the ranking Republican on the panel. Each has proposed legislation to allow controlled use of heroin by cancer patients. "It seems unconscionable that any kind of pain-killer that would be advisable in the judgment of the doctor should not be made available to the cancer victim," Waxman said.

"It is possible to go to any number of street corners in Washington, D.C., and buy heroin," Madigan said. "But you cannot get it administered in a hospital to someone who is dying in pain."

Neither Madigan nor Waxman are concerned about cancer patients becoming addicted to heroin. In terminal cases, the point is moot. And they say that heroin is no more addictive than morphine, now a prescription drug.

There was testimony at a hearing on similar legislation last year that a cancer patient who takes drugs to ease pain cannot be compared with a street addict because the psychological dependence is less and the cancer patient is easier to detoxify.

Madigan's bill would limit heroin to terminally ill cancer patients, allow the importation of opium for the manufacture of heroin, direct the attorney general to regulate the program and require the National Cancer Institute (NCI) to ensure that heroin can be distributed for proper use. Waxman's bill would allow heroin for any cancer patient at the discretion of the attending physician. It would be channeled not through the Justice Department but the Department of Health and Human Services, with the expectation that NCI would distribute the drug to hospitals and hospices. The heroin would come from confiscated stock, but opium could be imported if that supply was insufficient.

Madigan introduced a similar bill last year, and it was the subject of a daylong hearing in September. Madigan did not push the legislation then because of the nearness of the election. But the attention given the subject produced 148 letters to Madigan in support of the idea from doctors, ministers, cancer victims and friends and relatives of those who died in pain.

A retired Air Force colonel wrote of how he left his Iowa home and moved to Washington state to try to forget "the terror and horror" of his wife's death after 18 months of surgery and chemotherapy. "We finally 'killed' her legally on the 9th of May after four years of hell, with intensive morphine injections and poisoning from its toxicity, dehydrated and starved her into a coma -- a procedure considered humane, modern and medically acceptable," the colonel wrote.

"We had lived in Europe some 13 years and were familiar with the use of heroin with cancer and other terminal diseases. From observations and studies the success of such usage was undeniably helpful to the patients. Sufficient records exist.

"It seems shameful that almost anyone in our advanced society' can obtain drugs of the 'hard' variety except those that could derive some benefit from them -- to at least allow them to die with some degree of comfort and dignity.'

Madigan received no negative letters, but the hearing did indicate the opposition that Waxman and Madigan face today.

The Drug Enforcement Administration is firmly opposed, contending other drugs can meet the need if marketed in different dosage forms and that DEA would be "hard pressed to control its (heroin's) distribution.

Madigan expects DEA will offer the same arguments this time, but he is not dissuaded.

'The (illegal) import of heroin increases every year, and DEA has to admit that," Madigan said. " do not think that what I am proposing to do would make that any worse. Anyone who wants it can get it now unless they are in a hospital. It is on the street already. I am not trying to put it on the street. I am trying to put it in the hospitals under very controlled circumstances."

The American Cancer Society, which has advocated study of the therapeutic use of heroin in cancer patients, estimates that 805,000 people will be diagnosed this year as having cancer.

New law protects 'whistle blowers'

LANSING, Mich. (AP) - Other states seem to like the tone of Michigan's unique new law protecting

"whistle blowers," a lawmaker says. Rep. James Barcia, a Bay City Democrat, who sponsored the legislation, said Thursday that five states and the Canadian province of Ontario have contacted Michigan about the two-week-old law.

While other states and the federal government have laws protecting public employees from repri-sals for "whistle-blowing," only Michigan extends safeguards to private employees.

Barcia's proposal, which took effect March 31, established the right of employees to report the suspected illegal activity of a superior without fear of reprisal.

The state Labor Department is currently drafting posters which Michigan employers must display to inform workers of their rights under the law.

The legislation was inspired by Michigan's PBB disaster of the mid-1970s, said Barcia, who was then an aide to a special legislative committee investigating the accident.

Employees of Michigan Farm Bureau Services, who knew their company had mixed the industrial fireproofing chemical with livestock feed distributed statewide, testified that they were told by supervisors to keep quiet about it.

They were afraid to go to authorities for fear of losing their jobs, said Barcia.

PBB eventually worked its way into state food supplies and tests show it lingers in the bodies of many people. Its effects on human health remain under study.

'When toxic wastes are being dumped in our rivers ... when a patient in a nursing home is receiving substandard care, someone knows what is happening," Barcia said. "But because they could lose their jobs, because they could be transferred or lose pay increases, they are afraid to speak out."

Any employee who thinks himself a victim of reprisals can use the law as the basis for a suit against the employer.

Such suits were possible before, "but it was a crapshoot, depending on if you got a good lawyer or a good judge," said Barcia aide Lee Schwartz. "Now this is the policy of the state of Michigan. You can go public and you're covered." As remedies, a circuit judge could order the reinstatement of an employee with all lost wages, benefits and seniority, plus compensation for his legal costs.

Seeing the doctor means waiting

By WARREN E. LEARY AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - First it takes a week to get a doctor's appointment. Then there's a half-hour in the waiting room before you actually get in That's typical, says a new government study.

The survey, part of which will be released next week, says waiting for a doctor can be taken for granted in non-emergency situations.

The survey, conducted by the Na-tional Center for Health Services Research, looked at the health-care habits of 37,000 people in 14,000 households around the country in 1977. It was termed the most comprehensive ever done on personal health care in this country.

Up to a point, the survey found, most patients don't seem to mind the wait. But if it takes more than a week to get an appointment or more than 30 minutes to get past the reception area, dissatisfaction goes up fast.

The survey, obtained by The Associated Press, says the average wait for an appointment is seven days. It's shorter, 4.6 days, if there is a specific health problem. But it stretches to 14.2 days for preventive services,

New 'Sister Carrie' makes debut

NEW YORK (AP) - A new "Sister Carrie" will make her debut next week, and she will be sexier, deeper and more complex than the character who became one of the best known women in 20th century American fiction. The University of Pennsylvania Press will publish an uncut edition of Theodore Dreiser's "Sister Carrie" that includes 36,000 words cut from the novelist's original manuscript 80 years ago, The New York Times reported today.

The original version is more sexually explicit and more pessimistic than the edition that became one of the landmark American novels of the 20th century, according to the Times.

The new edition will be published next week following decades of exploration into the personality and writings of Dreiser, who made no

It also took longer to get an appointment at a hospital outpatient clinic, 10.1 days, than a private physician's office, 6.9 days.

After arriving for the appointment, the next waiting period is in the re-ception area. The average wait was 31.1 minutes, and this was shorter in a doctor's office, 29.4 minutes, than in a hospital outpatient department, 45.3 minutes.

Although general dissatisfaction with office waits is low at 13.9 percent, a half-hour is the limit for many persons.

"Where waiting times were longer than 30 minutes, levels of dissatisfaction were much higher," the survey found. "They ranged from 40.2 percent for waits from 31 minutes to one hour to as much as 67.9 percent for waits in excess of one hour.

attempt to resurrect the original version of "Sister Carrie" before he died in 1945.

The novel is the story of a rather innocent country girl facing the harsh urban realities of Chicago and New York. But the book's despair and profanity were deemed to be too much for contemporary audiences and many sections were removed by the original publisher without Dreiser's consent.

In his original manuscript, Dreiser portrayed Carrie as having more emotional depth, conscience and sexuality. And his original ending had a much bleaker world view than the edition which has been read by millions of Americans since it was published in the early 1900s.

The new edition's publishers hope it will out-perform the first one, which sold 456 copies and netted Dreiser $68.40 in royalties.

Armadillo now state mammal

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Although one legislator suggested the creature was half reptile, the House approved a resolution today designating the nine-banded armadillo as the Texas state mammal.

Senators still must adopt the resolution for the armadillo to be elevated from its lowly center-stripe status to the king of the Lone Star State's animal world.

"You sure the armadillo's a mammal, and not a cross between a reptile and a mammal?" asked Rep. David London, D-Bonham.

Administration uses arms sales as diplomatic tool

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Reagan administration is using arms sales abroad to deliver the unmistakable political message that "it pays to be an American friend," a senior State Department official says.

'We are looking at arms transfers as a diplomatic and national security instrument," said the official, who spoke with reporters on the condition that he not be identified.

The new administration also does not intend to be "rushed or stampeded" into arms control negotiations with the Soviet Union before it integrates arms control policy into its overall defense and security strategy, the official said this week.

The official reaffirmed the intention of the United States to negotiate with the Soviet Union on reductions in nuclear weapons in Europe.

But he also made clear that the United States intends to proceed with the deployment of modern nuclear weapons in the European theater to offset Soviet superiority and prod the Soviets into an agreement reducing and restricting those weapons.

The official said that while the Reagan administration's review of arms policies is not complete, it is proceeding against the bedrock idea that "to maintain our credibility and influence and to do business with our allies and friends we have to be a reliable arms supplier."

Four years ago, the Carter administration tackled the same subject with the view that accelerating arms deals with other countries contributed to the possibility of war.

Former President Carter maintained such transfers should be used only as an "exceptional foreign policy instrument."

But his goal of substantially reducing such sales was stymied by the changed situation caused by the collapse of the pro-American regime in Iran and the Soviet Union's military intervention in Afghanistan.

906 quake remembered

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - On Monday, school children and office workers will mobilize to test San Francisco's earthquake readiness. But first, this city is going to party.

Saturday marks the 75th anniversary of the great earthquake and fire that leveled much of what in 1906 was a booming seaport city. It was a catastrophe some scientists think may be repeated within the decade.

The anniversary has been marked in the last few years with a test of San Francisco's ability to deal with a potent quake.

But because Saturday is a day off for many government workers, there will be parties first, drills later.

At 5:13 a.m., the time the 1906 quake rumbled through the city, cele-brants will mingle at Lotta's Fountain, a downtown monument that survived the great quake. The gathering there is at Berkeley, says there is radit Mayor Joseph Alioto, a great quake will strike during his 1968-1976 adin the 1980s. But San Franciscans ministration, turned the event into a picnic. are proud of their resil-

Living sculpture spices up exhibit

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - Michael Kincaid hangs a label on himself and stands motionless at the San Antonio Art Museum, claiming to be a living sculpture

Calling himself, "Self Portrait Ten to Twelve Sunday Mornings - A Non-Commenting Comment," the San Antonio College art instructor says he turned himself into a living, breathing work of art to make his students ponder the true meaning of art.

Many art patrons - who found Kincaid standing motionless next to Duane Hanson's realist sculpture called, "Woman Reading a Paperback" - were startled to discover the woman in the "Real, Really real. Super Real" exhibit was not alive and equally amazed to discover that Kincaid was.

Interacting with visitors, Kincaid claims to be an art work composed of cells, organs, skeleton, muscles, blood arteries, veins, lungs, hormones, brain, central nervous sytem, eyes, ears, nose, larynx, tongue, emotions, cloth, leather, metal, plastic and other "mixed media materials.

An art instuctor at San Antonio College since 1966. Kincaid created his latest "piece de resistance" based on a discussion in one of his design classes.

Posing the question, "If I were standing against a wall in a museum, would I become a work of art or sculpture?" Kineaid got a resounding "no" from his students.
