Polish farmers may cultivate association

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — The Polish Supreme Court ruled today that Poland's private farmers could form an association but not the Rural Solidarity independent trade union they had sought.

It was not immediately clear what effect the ruling would have on the farmers, who had appealed to the Supreme Court after a lower court denied them a union charter. They had spoken of boycotting food supply centers if their demand was not met.

Thousands of farmers massed outside the court building, waving banners and cheering as independent trade union leader Lech Walesa arrived before the ruling was announced.

The court ruling came after Warsaw Radio announced the end of the general strike in Jelenia Gora and the suspension of walkouts scheduled in the Silesian coal mines. There was also a government shakeup Monday with Defense Minister Wojciech Jaruzelski, a general regarded as a moderate, replacing Premier Jozef Pinkowski

Meanwhile, Communist Party chief Stanislaw Kania warned Soviet patience was wearing thin and appealed to the Polish army to "guard our independence" and to the workers to "stop the anarchy." He urged farmers to ignore te call to unionize and "frustrate the designs of those who want to break agricultural self-government."

Warsaw Radio said the strike in southwestern Jelenia Gora was called off after the government agreed to lease a sanitorium for arty and government officials to provincial authorities for use as a public hospital until a new provincial hospital is opened.

As many as 100,000 members of Solidarity, Poland's big independent labor federation, were reported to have staged sit-in strikes Monday in their plants and offices in Jelenia Gora, demanding that the sanitorium be turned into a public hospital.

Meanwhile, coal miners in southern Poland had threatened to strike today unless their five-day, 37½-hour week was extended to administrative workers in the mines. But Warsaw Radio quoted Solidarity representatives as saying the walkout was called off "in consideration of the national interest, Solidarity leader Lech Walesa's appeal, and the announcement of the changes in the government."

Pinkowski was replaced at a Central Committee meeting Monday, forced out after only six months by the continuing labor crisis. The new premier, Jaruzelski, was reported to have advised against using force against the strikers last summer. Parliament on Wednesday is expected to approve him, and he probably will relinquish the defense minister's Pinkowski's predecessor was Edward Babiuch, whose announcement of an end to meat price subsidies July 1 triggered the nationwide strike wave last summer that produced the independent labor movement. He was replaced by Pinkowski Aug. 24. In the next week, an agreement to end the strikes was reached; Solidarity, the first union free of party control in the Soviet bloc, was established, and party chief Edward Gierek was replaced by Kania.

Despite the agreement to end the summer strikes, Poland's labor unrest continued and the nation's private farmers began pressing for an independent union. Kania addressed the Central Committee Monday. So did Politburo member Kazimierz Barcikowski, who said the Politburo saw no justification "to express approval" for a farmers' union.

He accused Solidarity leaders of "pushing our community toward anarchy by arbitrary actions,"

Cynthia Dwyer arrives in Dubai

DUBAI, United Arab Emirates (AP) — American writer Cynthia Dwyer, convicted of espionage and deported from Iran after nine months in prison, flew to freedom today in a plane packed with Iranian workers and peasants. She landed in this Persian Gulf shelkdom on her way home and was whisked away in a police car, declining to talk to reporters.

Mrs. Dwyer, 49, flew to Dubai, 700 miles south of Tehran on a regularly scheduled Iranair flight after Iranian officials delayed her departure nearly 24 hours. Markus Hirsiger of the staff of the Swiss Embassy in Tehran escorted her, the Swiss Foreign Office said.

U.S. Ambassador William Wolle and the U.S. consul to Dubai, Tom Dowling, met her at the airport.

"Mrs. Dwyer is well, and has expressed a desire not to meet the press," said a U.S. Embassy spokesman. "She has no itinerary, but she is on her way home."

Reporters were not allowed near the plane, but passengers said Mrs.

Dwyer sat among the Iranian workers on the jetliner. The plane arrived more than an hour late because of delays at Tehran's Mehrabad airport.

One passenger said Mrs. Dwyer was wearing a skirt and blouse and her head was covered by a scarf.

At the departure from Tehran, Swiss diplomat Flavio Meroni said Mrs. Dwyer was enroute to Switzerland.

Officials in Dubai said they did not know what flight Mrs. Dwyer would be taking out of the country. There are departures to Paris, Amsterdam and Frankfurt later today. There is also a flight to New York Wednesday, airport sources says.

In Washington, State Department spokeswoman Sue Pittman said she knew of no government plans to hospitalize Mrs. Dwyer or debrief her, as was done with the 52 American hostages freed by Iran on Jan. 20.

Mrs. Dwyer, 49, had been scheduled to leave Tehran on Monday on an flight to Austria, but Iranian officials stopped her at the airport. Swiss Ambassador Erik Lang said she was delayed because of the "lack of a travel document." Other sources reported the Iranians said her American passport could not be found. It had been seized when she was arrested

It was believed that Mrs. Dwyer spent the night at the airport. A spokesman for the Swiss Foreign Office said she stayed there while the "problem with her papers" was straightened out, and two Swiss diplomats remained with her. A chauffeur for the Swiss Embassy told reporters he saw her there at 6 p.m. But Swiss officials refused to say where she spent the night.

However, Welch did admit that their restraining from discussing county-related business was somewhat difficult, though self-enforced, since the county is the officials' common bond.

Library, annex changes studied

By ED TODD Staff Writer

Midland County commissioners, who sometimes haggle over what's the best solution for a given problem, are soliciting advice on what to do about two quandaries.

The propositions: (1) how to enlarge and enhance or build a new Midland County Public Library and (2) means to build a new courthouse annex and better utilitize existing courthouse space.

And the four commissioners, after some bantering, decided to appoint a "blue-ribbon ad hoc" committee to make suggestions on the library and on a courthouse annex.

Commissioner C. DeWayne Davis, who said that committee proposal was his "idea," allowed that "I'm taking the credit one way or another."

"Please do," encouraged Commissioner Win Brown.

Davis, now in his first year on the Commissioners' Court, has not been privy to library-annex talk which the commissioners have taken up from time-to-time over the past several years. "I think this (committee) is essential to get citizen input to share the responsibility with us," Davis said.

Veteran Commmissioner Durward
Wright, who seemed comfortable with the committee's looking into the courthouse annex dilemma, didn't seem equally receptive to the inquiry into the library.

"THE LIBRARY has a very capable (advisory) board, and Friends of the Library are very well represented by the citizens," Wright said. "How much of a camel are we going to build (with a third committee)?"

Wright said the county already has paid-for advice from an architect and a land appraiser on a design for a new library and a plot on which to build

"We've reached the point where we're right at the kick-off (of a new library)," Wright contended in an apparent effort to keep the ad hoc committee out of the commissioners' library business. "Mr. Wright," countered Davis, a

Budget cuts continue, aides say

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration may target foreign aid, farm support and federal rent subsidies for billions of dollars in budget cuts beyond the $26 billion in proposed reductions now being circulated on Capitol Hill, congressional aides say.

In all, sources said budget director David Stockman is hoping to propose cuts of $40 billion to $50 billion in the federal budget for the fiscal year that begins Oct. 1. Proposed cuts for the current fiscal year may be less than $15 billion, sources estimated.

The congressional aides, who asked not to be identified, said Monday the proposals discussed so far don't include cuts in several areas where they have been told to expect them, including foreign aid, farm support payments and Interior Department programs. Modest cuts in portions of the defense budget also are expected, these sources said.

Some more cuts may be forthcoming before President Reagan's scheduled Feb. 18 address to a joint session of Congress. But aides said full details of the cuts proposed for the current fiscal year and the following one may not be known until formal legislation is sent to Congress on March 10 or later.

While Stockman's notebook of more than $26 billion in proposed cuts circulated in Congress, White House press secretary James Brady said Reagan has made no final decisions. He said documents purporting to show proposed cuts are "working papers" subject to change.

He said the only instructions Reagan gave the budget-cutters is "reject the business-as-usual approach and don't be timid."

Brady said Reagan will preside over daily budget-cutting strategy sessions before going to Camp David with Stockman and Treasury Secretary Donald Regan next weekend to make final decisions.

Congressional sources said proposals for more cuts are likely in these programs:

—Price supports for dairy farmers, which Stockman has publicly criticized.

Tobacco subsidies.
 Federal rent subsidies for the elderly and the poor.

—Interior Department programs, possibly including the politically popular water projects that former President Carter vainly tried to cut four years ago.

—Certain health programs, such as community health centers and health maintenance organizations. The National Institutes of Health is another target for spending cuts, sources said. "I do not think even Dave Stockman knows himself what the exact figures will be," one source said.

Health officials dig deeper into meningitis outbreak

HOUSTON (AP) - Negative blood samples and throat cultures from students and teachers at a Houston elementary school have forced health officials to dig deeper in their investigation of a meningitis outbreak that has killed 10 Texans.

More than 1,500 throat cultures and 150 blood samples were taken last week from students, relatives and teachers at Dodson Elementary School, where one student has died from meningococcal meningitis and five more have been stricken.

Health investigators had hoped the tests would pinpoint the source of the deadly and contagious disease. However, results returned Monday showed nothing unusual, said Dr. Ralph A. Feigin, chairman of pediatrics at Baylor College of Medicine.

"Blood samples showed there are no more positive cases and the throat cultures indicated that 10 percent of those sampled are carriers," Feigin said. "That's no greater than is seen in a normal population.

Feigin said health officials must conduct a "detailed investigation of the bacteria of the ill students" in an effort to determine whether one person transmitted the disease.

Local doctor to do 'jailhouse rock'

By ED TODD Staff Writer

The sheriff did some "horse trading" Monday afternoon, and wound up with a jailhouse doctor on the county payroll.

"I'd like to horse trade with him," Sheriff Dallas Smith told Midland County commissioners, as he was trying to get Dr. Patrick Leung at a bargain rate for maximum part-time medical services.

The general practitioner, who has been checking out inmates for $30 per patient, agreed to make house calls on the 60-inmate jail "at least twice a week" and to be available for emergency calls at all hours for $1,000 a month plus $100 to cover insurance for his family. The physician's private practice would take up the remainder

THE JAIL, which takes up the fifth and top story of the downtown courthouse, can accommodate 88 prisoners in regular cells and additional inmates in padded cells.

As a county employee, Leung would be enrolled in the county's retirement program, although he said he now has two similar programs. The county would deduct 7 percent of his monthly salary toward retirement benefits. In making his case for a jail doctor, the sheriff had presented two work options to the Commissioners' Court:

-Hire the physician for $1,000 per month for regular "sick call" and emergency jail visits. The visits would include Leung's checking ailing and complaining inmates and other in-jail medical treatments. The physician also would instruct Jail Capt. Richard Sexton and the jailers on use of medical equipment. The physician would charge for hospital emergency-room calls and routine hospital rounds in checking sick or wounded inmates.

-Hire the physician for $1,600 a month. Services would be the same as those in Proposition No. 1, but there would be no additional charge for hospital rounds or emergency room calls on inmates. The fee would include surgery and medical care.

In the "horse trade," the commissioners agreed to hire Leung at a monthly rate of $1,100, which includes the $100 for his family's insurance premiums, for the $1,600 Proposition No. 2 services.

THE SHERIFF seemed more than pleased with the jail-doctor set-up. "We've had somewhat of a haphazard approach in the past," Smith

Also in the past, Leung charged $30 per prisoner per visit, and one month,

$1,000. And a recent surgery on a prisoner's ruptured spleen cost the county $1,500 for the lead surgeon's fees, plus cost of Leung's assistance and charges for hospital room and nursing services. That operation and one on a prisoner's broken jaw and Leung's fees in noted Sexton, Leung's bill came to one month already have gouged $5,000 to $7,000 out of the sheriff's $15,000 medical budget for 1981. Leung, a Hong Kong native who recently moved to Midland from Canada, has been making jail "house calls" since late last year. In 1980, when the jail boarded an average of 45 prisoners a day, medical costs were about $7,100. In 1979, when the daily average was 38 inmates per day, medical costs were $12,409. "Thirty-eight cost more than 45," quipped Commissioner Charlie "Healthier bunch (in 1980)," tacked on Commissioner Durward Wright.

THE SHERIFF'S jail captain supported the concept of a jail doctor, daily "sick call" and an in-jail "sick bay."

"I'm trying my best to keep up with the jail standards," Sexton said.

The sheriff, thanks to the influence of Republican Commissioner Brown, has been named by Gov. Bill Clements to the nine-member Commission on Jail Standards. His sixvear term expires Jan. 31, 1985. Smith surmised that the in-jail physician "could take care of cuts, examinations, skin disorders. It would save us the hospital trip." The county would also install an electrocardiograph (EKG) in the jail's sick bay and would have a supply of prescription drugs and medications purchased through Leung at wholesale costs.

Leung's contract with the county is to begin March 1, and after six months, the physician and the commissioners are to review the medical

"We've been happy with his services," said Smith, who noted that the "quality of (Leung's) workmanship" has been more than adequate. Medical services would not include dental and eye care.

"Nobody's worried about justice in jail," Smith said of the prisoners. "They never worry about their teeth, hemorrhoids, or anything else until they get in jail."

After the commissioners unanimously voted to hire Leung at the $1,100 rate for $1,600 services, the physician, who apparently was learning some horse-trading techniques from the sheriff and commissioners, jestingly offered to sell his EKG electrocardiograph) to the county for $600 "and buy an expensive one

Brady not worried of radium in water

BRADY, Texas (AP) - Residents of this Central Texas town are not exactly swimming in fear about reports their water supply contains more radium than the federal government's minimum daily allowance.

"That's just a lot of poppycock," said a resident who asked to remain anonymous. "We've lived here for 40 years, and I'll tell you one thing: The water here couldn't be any worse than San Angelo's water.'

The Texas Department of Health, prodded by the Environmental Protection Agency, found the town's water contains seven picocuries of radium, two more than the level allowed by the EPA. A picocurie is a measurement of radiation.

is to name the chairman of the blue-ribbon ad hoc group. For several years, the three veteran commissioners — Wright, Brown and Charlie Welch — have been laboring over "what to do" about additional needed space for a courthouse staff that has outgrown the five-story, including the fifth-floor jail, downtown courthouse and the two-story Courthouse Annex.

The courthouse, built in 1930, was renovated and enlarged in 1973-74. And about 10 years earlier, in 1964, the county purchased the old Superior Oil Co. building for $125,000.

Both the courthouse and annex offer restricted parking space.

As a solution, the commissioners have proposed selling the annex for a $1 million or more and using that money, plus additional county funds, to build a more spacious annex on Baird Street between Texas and Illinois avenues. Too, the commissioners, have proposed merely "trading" the old annex to the general building contractor and applying the agreedon value of the old annex toward paying for the new annex.

Another proposal has been the renting, leasing or buying of an abandoned Midland department-store building to house county functions not to remain in the courthouse. That proposal seemed unlikely to turn into PROPOSALS for the library have been far more secretive and, much like discussion on the courthouse annex, have been in executive meetings and in the commissiners' Monday-morning's "informal conference" hour twice a month.

"There's no decision on that (moving the library)," said Brown, "but things are progressing right along. We've already got a lot of input from the library.'

Rock star Haley dead

HARLINGEN, Texas (AP) - Bill Haley, who skyrocketed to fame with what was considered the first big rock 'n' roll hit and faded into obscurity as fans crowned Elvis Presley king of the new era, has died, apparently of a heart attack.

Haley's "Rock Around the Clock" blared from jukeboxes in the 1950s as teens discovered a new beat and a new, defiant identity

Friends and police in this Rio Grande Valley town where Haley lived in semi-seclusion for the past several years said the man credited with inspiring the term "rock 'n' roll" died a private man, perhaps lonely and confused.

Haley was pronounced dead at 12:35 p.m. Monday in his two-story wooden house. A friend had found him lying fully clothed on a bed.

Justice of the Peace Tommy Thompson ruled that the death was from natural causes and said he assumed Haley had suffered a heart attack about six hours earlier.

The former rock star was 55 according to a July 6, 1925, birthdate on his Texas drivers license. Music reference books listed his birthdate as March 1927, which would make him

The funeral home in charge of arrangements said Monday that Haley's widow had banned release of any information, including the names of his survivors.

In the five or six years he lived here, Haley refused interviews and denied his identity to reporters.

"He tried to keep a low profile," said Police Chief Guy Anderson. Haley became acquainted with several policemen, who frequently picked him up wandering alone at night and took him home. "He was friendly with me but he was not an outgoing individual," Thompson said. "He had problems."

Hope to have Valentine's Special

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Hope may be TV's biggest star — as popular today with millions 'round the world as he was more than 30 years ago, when he first took his act to the then-fledgling medium. And yet, for all of his success, you're not likely to see Bob Hope in that most common TV mode — the rerun.

With my stuff, there's not much residual value," the comedian says. "This is my 31st year on television, and the monlogues have always been so topical, if you go back and look at shows we've done before, you really can't use most of them a second time." That's good news for Hope's fans - something new every few weeks, it seems. And the man himself doesn't mind the condition, either.

"It's a new challenge every time you go on," he says. "It's a great mental challenge to me, and I love

Hope's next appearance - he's done well over 300 television shows for NBC since Easter Sunday, 1950 - comes Wednesday evening at 9 EST in a pre-Valentine's Day special.

Three of TV's current stars - Barbara Mandrell from "Barbara Mandrell and the Mandrell Sisters" on NBC, Charlene Tilton from CBS' "Dallas," and Cathy Lee Crosby from ABC's "That's Incredible" join Phyllis Diller as Hope's guests for the hour-long

'Valentine Special." "The date we got from NBC was right around Valentine's," Hope says, "and that's a pretty good springboard. We've got a good cast and some entertaining material, and I think it's a pretty good

Hope, who will be 78 in May, spends countless hours on each show he does, reworking sketches and honing his monologue, often right up to taping. The primary objective, he says, is to keep the material

"One of the secrets of my longetivity," he says, "is that we do different things all the time. That's why I would never do a series. You get stuck doing the same thing over and over."

For his "Valentine Special," the innovation is "Dear Bobby," an advice to the lovelorn column. "Bobby" Hope, with help from Dr. Joyce Brothers, the psychologist who writes an advice column of her own, answers letters from his guest stars.

The "Valentine Special," like most of Hope's television shows, was taped before an audience. The entertainer says he wouldn't have it any other way. "It helps with the timing," he says. "No matter how hard you try, you can't dub a show without missing a beat or two. And the audience at home knows that the guy on stage is doing his thing live. You can't fake that chemistry." Hope appears several times a year on NBC, generally to high ratings. His "Bob Hope Christmas how," broadcast annually in January or February during the war in Vietnam, was the year's highestrated program on several occasions, and his specials normally rival the Super Bowl and the Academy Awards show in the audience sweepstakes.

His tradition of performing for the troops began during World War II.

He was host of the "Colgate Comedy Hour" in the 1952-53 season, and starred in "The Bob Hope Show" beginning Oct. 12, 1953.

THIS GOOD NEWS IS FOR YOU!

When Jesus came to the village of Nazareth, His boyhood home, He went as usual to the synagogue on Saturday, and stood up to: read the Scriptures

The book of Isaiah the prophet was handed to Him, and He opened it to the place where it says:

"The Spirit of the Lord is upon Me; to preach Good New s to the poor; He has sent Me to announce that captives shall be released and the blind shall see, that the downtrodden shall be freed from their oppressors, and that God is ready to give blessings to all who come to

He closed the book and handed it back to the attendant and sat down, while everyone in the synagogue gazed at Him intently. Then He added, "These Scriptures came true today!"

All who were there spoke well of Him and were amaze d by the beautiful words that fell from His lips. "How can this be?" they asked. "Isn't this Joseph's son?" Luke 4:16-22

Identical twins not always identical

Dear Dr. Solomon: I recently met two brothers who claimed to be identical twins. Although they did bear a family resemblance to each other, it was certainly a simple matter to tell them apart. Is it possible for identical twins to be so unlike each other n so many ways? - Connie

Dear Connie: Identical twins, as you have learned, are not always identical. Dr. Jack A. Pritchard, professor of obstetrics and gynecology at the University of Texas Health Science Center, explains that although twins may result from the division of one fertilized ovum, that division may not take place evenly. As a result, the two parts are not exactly equal, and the twins not exactly alike. Often such twins may appear identical at birth, but reveal differences as they grow older.

Dear Dr. Solomon: At 60 years of age, I'm not so much interested in living longer, as in living better. If you try to sell me the idea of exercise on the grounds that it will add a few years to my life, you're wasting your time. A few years more or less don't enced. mean that much to me. For example, Dr. Michael Klein, director of the coronary care unit at University Hospital in Boston, reports on one such survey. He studied 65 male corporate executives who participated in a 10-week, three-times-a-week, aerobic exercise program. Their average age was 45.

Dr. Klein found that among those who completed the program, their cholesterol levels, percentage of body fat, diastolic blood pressure, heart rate, and weight all decreased significantly, while their highdensity lipoprotein cholesterol levels increased. Moreover, from a psychological standpoint, the men showed significant decreases in the amount of tension, anxiety, anger, and hostility they experi-

These physiological and psychological improve-ments should assure those who continue to follow an exercise program that they can look forward to both a longer and better life.

A more detailed discussion of the benefits of exercise with some specific suggestions for becoming involved in an exercise program, and the role of cholesterol in the diet, can be found in my book, If you are looking for hard scientific evidence that "Dr. Solomon's High Health Diet & Exercise Plan," Club.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market retreated Monday, with oil issues among the big losers, despite action by a major bank to lower its prime lending rate to 19 percent, the lowest level in two months.

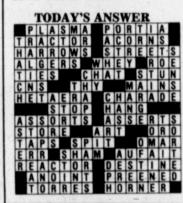

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which opened higher, fell 5.12 to 947.18 by the close of trading. The blue-chip average had gained in each of the four previous trading sessions. Declines outnumbered advances by a 3-2 margin on the New York Stock Exchange. Big Board volume totaled 38.33 million shares, against 45.82 million Friday. Major banks did not move

Major banks did not move to match Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., the nation's fifth largest bank, which lowered its prime lending rate from the 19.5 percent industry-wide level set a week ago.

Monday was also the first trading day since the Federal Reserve Board reported late Friday that the nation's late Friday that the nation's money supply declined sharply in the final week of January, easing inflationary fears.

Standard & Poor's index of 400 industrial stocks fell 1.58 to 146.55, and S&P's 500stock composite index was down 1.33 at 129.27.

Manufacturers group lists favored states

CHICAGO (AP) — Mississippi, North Carolina and South Carolina were named by a manufacturers' group today as the states that maintained the best climate for manufacturing during 1980.

The Conference of State Manufacturers' Associations based its list of best and worst states on a study by Alexander Grant & Co., which cited actions of state and local governments to make business more profitable.

Taxes and government spending were among the factors considered. Availability of skilled labor and proximity to natural resources and markets were excluded by the study. Also excluded were "quality of life" considerations, which the study said were difficult to quantify.

New York, Connecticut, and Michigan were the three worst states. the study said.

South Dakota, No. 13 last year, rose to No.4 this year and Arkansas jumped a notch to fifth place to round out the top five.

Illinois jumped from a ranking of 48th in 1979 to 36th in 1980. The improvement was based on "the attitude of the Legislature in balancing the budget," according to the study.

Illinois' biggest failing, according to the study, was in the area of workmen's disability compensation. High workmen's compensation and rates made Illinois the "worst" state in that regard.

The high percentage of union membership, high taxes and high energy costs also hindered manufacturing in the state, the study said.

Selwyn Price, who headed the study, said, "Business climate, at least in the context of this analysis, is the ability of a state to keep and gain industrial

"(The criteria) represent economic factors that manufacturing industries look for, but don't include every possible item that corporate executives or individuals may look for in deciding where they want to live and work," Price said. When broken into regions, the South ranked most favorable to manufacturing with a score of 11.8, followed by the Midwest with 25.6 and the West

The Northeast was dubbed the worst area in the United States in terms of manufacturing climate, with a score of 35.8.

Fare increases recommended

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Member airlines of the International Air Transport Association recommended today that passenger and freight fares between Europe and the United States be increased by an average of 7 percent, chiefly to recover fuel price hikes, a conference source said.

The source that agreement also was reached on boosting fares on the South Atlantic routes by between 3 and 4 percent, on Far Eastern routes by 2 and 3 percent and on Middle Eastern routes by

YOUR BIRTHDAY TO-DAY: Box office favorite Burt Reynolds was born on this day, as was one of America's greatest inventors, Thomas Alva Edison. Give free rein to your innovative thoughts and this will be a year of both pleasant surprises and substantial successes. Short trips could play an important role in a business triumph. You are more interested than ever in broadening your circle of friends, contacts. Finances can suffer if you are overly modest about your talents, abilities. If you feel you deserve a raise, ask for it! Romance is especially satisfying throughout the rest of February and again in summer. Your willingness to compromise keeps love

ARIES (March 21-April 19): A good day for taking care of routine chores such as bookkeeping. Be wary of accepting offers that have strings attached. Someone new and exciting may walk into your life.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): The work day goes especially well, although a member of the opposite sex may make concentration somewhat difficult. If entertaining this evening, resist an urge to

On many hands declarer can assure his contract by selecting a "sure-trick" line of play. But more often such guarantees are not available. The best declarer can do under these circumstances is to make the percentage play and hope that the cards lie favorably. North's hand revalued to 13 points in support of spades, just enough for a jump raise. With a minimum opening bid, South had no aspirations so he simply went on to game. The defenders started with three rounds of clubs, declarer ruffing the third. A diamond loser seemed unavoidable, so the fate of the contract appeared to hinge on the trump suit. If trumps broke evenly, there would be no trump loser and the contract would be assured. Since there was no point in postponing the inevitable, declarer cashed the ace and king of spades. East's discard of a club was a grievous, but not necessarily a mortal blow. Declarer had spotted that he could still make his
