IMMORTALIZED? — Well, we've been criticized, scandalized, and ostracized, so guess turn about is fair play, anyway Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Graham's children — J. Tom and wife Carmen, honored us with a visit Monday and Carmen will write a thesis on the Herald and the present publisher and editor.

Carmen is writing a thesis for something she is taking in college—she is a history major—and she was interested in our views and writing concerning newspapers and government.

Unfortunately, Carmen didn't have but one week end off, so we were unable to tell her all our convictions!

We feel certain that she went home with the feeling that we should have been a politician—at least a commissioner, for we have told so many so long how to run their business that we should be an expert at running for some public office!

We also pointed out that stories should be unbiased, and impartial. Hard to do, but we feel, necessary to good newspaper reporting.

Beyond a doubt, Jeff has the most talented, most beautiful, smartest, sweetest, daughter-in-law in the whole wide world.

This, by the way is a column, not a news story, so we can say what WE think!

WHEAT SITUATION—We are trying to keep the farmer informed on the wheat situation and the more informed he gets the more in the shade we ourselves get . . . hope he votes right election day. Anyway we are passing on to you all the information we come in contact with, and that we have room to print.

The sheriff's department told us this week that they have had complaints of people selling magazine subscriptions in the county and after receiving a check, marking it up to a higher figure than the donor intended.

We've seen several of the cute young saleswomen running back and forth trying to sell gullible gentlemen a whole passel of magazines so they can win the "prize," but, thank goodness, we missed them!

I say thank goodness, for I doubt if there is anyone any more gullible than I and especially when a cute young thing is working her way through college or Leavenworth.

I am also thankful that I didn't subscribe and have them up my check to ten bucks and have Bruce bounce it!

Each year our school children make subscription drives and being a small town we usually know each and everyone of them—and, we usually announce it in the Herald when they do make the drive.

If you don't know the person—our sheriff's department advice is to pass them by.

My last experience was the time when they sent you the magazine free—all you had to do was pay for the postage.

The postage was a little more than the news stand price, at that time.

We are seriously contemplating selling the Herald on that same basis.

If we remember correctly, it only costs 25 cents to send it to South America.

On a $3.57 a year subscription it is easy to see how one becomes rich in a newspaper.

O. W. Caussey had us going recently when he showed us a stalk of wheat he raised—it was over two feet in length and well headed out.

Unfortunately he didn't have wheat like that all over his farm—but just a few test stalks he was experimenting with.

NEWS—The kind you enjoy most—where someone visits you or you visit someone else is badly needed and as school will be over pretty soon we will need to fill a big gap in that news spot—SO . . . let us know all about you and your visitors—and—the more the merrier call and report—today!

WORK BEGINS — Shown above is the south side of the Knox County Hospital where work began last week to add additional rooms and renovate the existing structure. Work also started on the Courthouse and contractor for the buildings is T. E. Shelburne & Son, Inc., of Snyder. They submitted the low bid of $157,478 for both buildings.

Wheat Referendum Opinions

By C. H. BATES

Farm Management Specialist
A&M College of Texas

We recognize the primary function of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service to be that of education. The background facts and related information presented in other discussions should be useful to individuals in weighing various considerations on the referendum.

My impression is that wheat producers desire to get as clear a picture as possible of their alternatives under any situation prevailing after the outcome of the referendum. Some points on the matter may not be entirely clear, but the Secretary's announcement of March 29 settled several important questions. Under the conditions set out, we can develop sample budgets by which comparative returns may be closely estimated. This is only for the short-run outcome for the crop year 1964.

These comparisons have been made for a representative farm in each of several wheat producing areas. It should be stressed that the materials have been developed with the help of Area Farm Management Specialists in those areas. It should be stressed also that the materials have been developed with other extension staff and wheat producers also. The benefit of budgets developed by the research staff is recognized at this point.

Considerations other than short-run monetary outcome: In some producers' minds the immediate financial returns may not be the only considerations that seem important. Some items off this nature are mentioned here but not with the feeling that these are inclusive.

A. Those considerations which are less desirable to some wheat growers:

1. Reduction of freedom on decisions relating to the production and marketing of wheat.
2. Increased anxiety about the status of leasing arrangements—particularly where landlords raise objections.
3. Change in the status of the "small growers"—those having 15-acre and 30-acre exemptions.

B. Those items which are considered desirable by some growers:

1. Risk of loss from crop failure is reduced—grower will receive certificates that are redeemable from CCC.
2. Penalty on excess wheat may be avoided by storing "excess" under bond. This is some additional "insurance."
3. Change in the status of the cost of the nation's wheat program may improve if surplus stocks are reduced materially.

Freshmen Track Team Places Second In Meet

Knox City Freshman tracksters were second with 49 points at the District 11-B meet Thursday with Rochester winning with 56 points and O'Brien scoring four points.

The Knox City Freshmen won seven first places with Phil Williams being high point man with five firsts.

Rodney Wright won the broad jump with a 17' 4". Williams tied for first in the high jump.

Larry White was second in the 60 yard high hurdles with a time of 10.5.

Bobby Ward was second and Pat Shannon third in the 50 yard dash.

Williams was first in the 100 yard dash with Wright coming in second.

Wright won the 75 yard dash, Ward was third and Shannon fourth.

Williams won the 100 yard low hurdles and White was fourth. Williams won the shot put with a throw of 42' 8" and Ward was fourth.

The 440 yard relay team composed of Ward, Wright, Williams and Shannon was first with a time of 49.5.

The so-called European Common Market is not easy to understand. And it seems, to the average Knox County farmer, to be something far away and for other people.

Yet this new European setup vitally affects the American farmer's pocketbook, exerting a considerable influence on this nation's wheat program particularly.

This is just another reason why we must have a sound grain program. American farmers have been selling approximately 50 million bushels of wheat to members of this new market alliance. How much we can sell in the future is anybody's guess at the present time.

The proposed 1964 wheat program takes these factors into consideration.

American farmers are prone to believe that they alone suffer from government production controls. Yet 38 of the 42 wheat-producing countries of the world have some kind of price support program.

This includes member countries of the European Common Market.

In France, and to a lesser extent in other Common Market countries, production of wheat will be influenced greatly by the level at which prices are set under the Common Market agricultural policy. If the Common Market price levels are set near the German level or nearly $3 per bushel, France is expected to increase wheat production significantly.

The Common Market then would reduce imports and increase exports of wheat for feed. This would adversely affect American markets.

It is easy to see, then, how this new Common Market setup will influence the American grain program, and why Knox County farmers must recognize that fact.

They also should know the effects of a "no" vote on the International Wheat Agreement which has been in effect since 1949. The effects could be disastrous for the world markets.

The same applies to all exports.

Knox County farmers must try to understand this complex problem, because it affects the prices they receive for the grain they produce.

Total U. S. exports, for instance, in 1961 amounted to 716 million bushels, the largest amount ever exported in one year by this country. Such exports are costly, due partly to the export subsidy that must be paid for such wheat, and due also to the inherent costs of shipping grain overseas.

The new program will cut down on surpluses, a higher percentage of wheat can be marketed at home, obviating the extra costs of shipping large amounts of wheat abroad.

That does not mean we want to reduce exports. We simply want to export more wheat without an export subsidy and reduce our need for sales under Public Law 480 in exchange for foreign currencies.

Net result would be more sales for dollars.

Knox County, and other counties in Northwest Texas and in Southern Oklahoma, produce hard red winter wheat almost exclusively. This particular type wheat constitutes 88 per cent of the U. S. carryover of wheat. For export, it is the most heavily subsidized of any other type, with 79 per cent requiring government financed programs, and only 21 per cent representing dollar sales.

We, therefore, are affected more by the export program than are areas producing other classes of wheat.

Now, if all this seems remote to the average Knox County wheat producer, it, nevertheless has an important bearing on the profits he obtains from the production of wheat.

That is why he should understand these factors and their relations to the proposed 1964 wheat program.

He gives us Spiritual insight so we can see and understand Spiritual truths which we are blinded to with out Him. Jesus called Him the "Comforter," the "Counselor," the "Helper," the "Teacher," "the Spirit of Truth." "How be it when he, the Spirit of Truth, is come, he will guide you into all truth: for He shall not speak of himself; but whatsoever he shall hear, that shall he speak: and he will show you things to come.

DOES IT COVER EXPENSIVE PARTS?

Absolutely! It covers the major power train components—the engine block and its internal parts, the automatic transmission and its internal parts, the rear axle. These are parts that would normally cost plenty to replace or repair.

IS IT TRANSFERABLE WHEN YOU SELL THE CAR?

Yes. As long as the car has been serviced at reasonable intervals according to the Plymouth-Valiant Certified Car Care schedules, the warranty can be passed on to the new owner. Think what that will do to the resale value of your Plymouth!

*Your Authorized Plymouth-Valiant Dealer's Warranty against defects in material and workmanship on 1963 cars has been expanded to include parts replacement or repair, without charge for required parts or labor, for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, on the engine block, head and internal parts; transmission case and internal parts (excluding manual clutch); torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints (excluding dust covers), rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings, provided the vehicle has been serviced at reasonable intervals according to the Plymouth-Valiant Certified Car Care schedules.

AUSTIN — Scandal has struck again in Texas. This time on the Railroad Commission.

Revelation by the Dallas Morning News that Commissioner William J. Murray had grossed some $285,000 from oil investments in earnings from a Throckmorton County lease caused the commissioner to resign his post.

Question was a matter of ethics . . . whether or not it was proper for a public official to make investments in an industry over which he exercised control in whole or in part.

Murray's answer was that he grew up in the oil fields, was educated in petroleum engineering and it was the only business in which he had any practical experience.

He admitted his investments and pointed out that they were a matter of record, in his own name, and he had nothing to hide. He stated that he resigned his post as commissioner member because he felt that "harmful publicity" might lessen his effectiveness.

Murray hinted that the investigation into his past investments was prompted by his refusal to call off the East Texas slant-hole well-drilling investigation, in which he played an active part.

Murray's attorney, Les Proctor, submitted the former RR commissioner's personal financial records to Travis County District Attorney Tom Blackwell for checking. They are being examined by Blackwell, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr and State Auditor C. H. Cavness.

State law provides for removal from office of any public official violating the Code of Ethics.

Since Murray resigned that question now has become moot. All that remains is the matter of determining whether any civil or criminal statute has been violated.

Proctor says none has been.

RESIGNATION ACCEPTED—Gov. John Connally accepted Murray's resignation with the comment that "It is regrettable for all of Texas that documented facts made public within the past few days indicated a question of propriety of legality of his outside business transactions in view of his position of authority on the commission.

"Public officials have a sacred public trust. It is imperative to continued confidence in our form of government that their conduct in office be beyond a shadow of a doubt. Anything else undermines the confidence of the people in responsibility and integrity in government."

INVESTIGATION PROPOSED—In the House of Representatives, Rep. George Hinson of Mineola introduced a resolution asking for a thorough study of the sweeping powers of the Railroad Commission by the Texas Legislative Council.

Resolution received prompt committee approval and was sent immediately to the House floor.

Rep. Bob Eckhardt of Houston gained permission of the House to introduce a bill to tighten regulations prohibiting public officials from participating in any private enterprises which might be in conflict with their public duty.

Eckhardt said his bill would amend the Code of Ethics and clarify it. It also would include a section providing that no public official or member of the Legislature could appear before any state board or commission where the office-holder had private interests that might be affected by the agency's action.

HOUSE PROBERS — House State Affairs Committee recommended adoption of a resolution Beaumont that would establish a general investigating committee. Normally one acts only between sessions of the Legislature.

Rep. Ben Jarvis of Tyler said Speaker Byron Tunnell is interested in fast action on the Kilpatrick resolution, which would give the investigating committee broad authority.

Rep. Horace Houston, Repub-

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

Division of Estates Explained

The death of an intestate person (one who has made no will) may give rise to many problems regarding distribution of his separate estate. In the preceding column we investigated the manner of dividing the community estate upon the death of a husband and wife. Now we shall see that, where separate property is involved, a completely different set of rules applies in determining heirship and supporting the estate among the rightful claimants.

It may be well to recall that the separate estate of a husband or wife includes property owned by either before marriage, and that which is acquired after marriage by gift or inheritance. Any other property acquired after marriage is presumed by law to be community property until the contrary is clearly proved.

Now, here is a general idea as to how your separate property will be divided if you do not make a will with contrary provisions prior to your death.

If your husband or wife survives and if in addition, there are surviving children or descendants of previously deceased children, the children and their descendants immediately obtain a full (fee) title in two-thirds of the real estate involved. The surviving children or descendants interest in the remaining one-third of the real property, which passes on to the children and their descendants upon the death of the spouse.

The rule for distributing personal property—cash, stocks, bonds, furniture, or any other items not constituting real estate—is different. Here the surviving spouse gets full ownership of one-third, and the children and their descendants inherit the balance.

Now suppose your husband or wife survives, but there are no surviving children or their descendants. In this case the surviving spouse inherits all of the personal property involved.

With regard to real estate, the survivor obtains full title to one-half, and the other half is divided between your mother and father, if both survive you. If only one of them survives, he or she receives only half of this portion, and the other half (or one-fourth of the entire real estate) will be divided among your brothers and sisters (and their descendants) who survive. If there are no surviving brothers and sisters and their descendants, then the one surviving parent inherits the full one-half.

Where no parent survives, but there are brother and sisters and descendants, the full one-half is divided among these survivors.

And, if there are no parents or brothers and sisters (and their descendants) surviving, then the surviving husband or wife inherits all of the real estate.

Uncle Ben from Benjamin says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Back when I was about 10 year old and the first automobile was showing up in these parts, I recollect me and my Grandpa watching a feller trying to crank one of the things. "He'll never git the fool thing to go," said Grandpa. After a while, when the feller got it going, Grandpa watched it roll off in a cloud of dust and allowed, "He got it started but he'll never git the daddurned thing stoped."

Grandpa was a true prophet, Mister Editor. We ain't got it stopped, and today the automobile is choking the big cities clear back into the bushes. You got branch banks, branch grocery stores, branch everything built out in the county from the cities. It's on account of automobiles traffic running everthing and everybody back to the woods. I see where some cities is barring automobiles from whole sections of the city. It might be the dawn of a new day fer things. And it could help a lot of people's health to walk six or eight blocks to the business section. It's got so a feller, if he can't park his two front wheels inside the store door, sets down and writes a complaint to his Congressman.

What brings all this to mind is a piece I was reading yesterday about a new 3-ton, 3-wheel jet car which has been put on display in Los Angeles. This car, the piece said, was designed to go 500 mile an hour and they aim to try it out in Utah and break the old speed record of 394 mile a hour set by a car 15 year ago. Personal, I think they already got some of these cars around here. They pass me going back and forth to town so fast I can't count the wheels or figger the weight, but I'm almost shore it's one of them jet jobs.

Gitting back to things that is traveling a little slower, the papers is full of items about a big upheaval in education all over the country. One college professor, fer instant, is predicting that in another 10 year colleges will be teaching without books. That's when you'll really see some ball teams, Mister Editor. On the other hand, I see where the President of Yale says that, problems, salaries, fer his professors, football fer his old grads and parking space fer his students.

On the serious side, I see where a feller from Alabama has wrote to Senator John Sparkman wanting the Department of Agriculture to experiment with a vine that'll grow square tomatoes, so the slices will fit pieces of loaf bread. I wouldn't be surprised to see the Congress appropriate $100,000 fer this project come the next session. It seems to me it would be cheaper fer the taxpayers if the Government arrangements to keep this feller supplied during the tomato season with round loaf bread from a Government bakery.

Yours truly,
Uncle Ben
