NUMBER 31

A number of Knox City's business men met at the Central Cafe Monday afternoon to discuss what day to close for the Fourth of July this year. A number wanted to close Saturday, the Fourth, and a few wanted to close Monday.

They voted to close Saturday July Fourth.

The men were very optimistic and voted on closing Labor Day, Thanksgiving, and Christmas and New Year's, all at one meeting.

Prospects for the farmer in this area couldn't look brighter so far, as he has harvested a bumper wheat crop (in most instances), and the maize crop looks great. We've heard that when we make a good wheat crop we make a good cotton crop, too. If this holds true, the farmer should have a good living and be on speaking terms with his banker again this year.

David Counts and Bob Harrison told us their respective businesses showed an increase over last year. . . Dave said he had heard a lot of complaints last year and had made up his mind that this year would be better, and it HAS!

As a man thinketh in his heart so is he—could be the solution.

Bob believes business is a matter of attitude, more than anything else.

You can't argue with success and starting today we're gonna change some of our thinking and a whole lot of attitudes.

PROOF! — Recently we pointed out the assets of having a column in the paper in order to write about things that would otherwise be left out of print because of the nature of making a justifiable story out of some happenings around our fair city. Folks here at home can sympathize with us in our dilemma to give accurate accounts of the news here at home but what about folks not so well acquainted?

We have a story in mind this week that would look sorta odd to folks not acquainted with KC and its people, so we feel obligated to "editorialize" a little in order to make the story newsworthy. . .

During the golf tournament over the week end Sammy B. White was asked if his son could pick a number for the winner of the Ben Hogan Irons the Ladies Golf Assn. had solicited contributions on recently. Naturally it was OK and the two and a half year-old boy drew one out of the pot.

Sammy B. Junior picked the winner and you might guess who he was. . . Yep, Pop!

Sammy assured us the five-billion to one shot was on the square, so that makes it all right. Also in his favor he didn't win the tournament, nor get a hole-in-one—but just you wait till Sammy Jr., gets big enough to walk through the sand traps!

This isn't the first time this has happened. . . Wesley Garrison was the emcee at the Little League ball park three years ago when a new Remington autoloader was given away. Ole Wes was stunned when he read his name as the recipient.

And, just to prove that accidents can happen three times we will remunerate something that happened to us. Our name was drawn twice in succession at the Lions Club last year for two pairs of hose, and the third accident, was that we got there to receive them.

If that double talk confuses you we intend it to. We learned it from one of the best editorial writers ever hired by the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

Last week we left the by-line off the feature story on mail-carriers. The only reason anyone ever puts his name on a story is so he can editorialize just a little, it isn't that he is proud

NATIONAL FARM SAFETY WEEK

"Safer American Families Everywhere" is the theme for National Farm Safety Week. President Lyndon B. Johnson in a special proclamation has designated July 19-25 as the period when all persons, especially those working agriculture, should unite in a strong and purposeful effort to reduce rural accidents.

"Notwithstanding the fact," said the President, "that hundreds of thousands of volunteer leaders and members of rural organizations actively participate in community, state, and national safety programs which have proved effective in reducing the number and rate of accidents among farm residents, accidents still cause thousands of deaths and nearly a million disabling injuries to farm people each year. This loss of human and economic resources causes a significant adverse impact upon the economy of the nation and must be viewed as a matter of national concern."

"I feel that the many public spirited persons responsible for past and present farm safety efforts should be commended for their notable achievements and that these efforts should be given renewed public recognition and support. In addition, I urge that vigorous new efforts be made to eradicate, insofar as feasible, all of the reasonably foreseeable causes of farm and rural accidents. Accomplishment of that objective should be the goal of National Farm Safety Week, 1964."

For many years the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council has played a major role in farm and home safety efforts and will again support activities planned for the week in Texas. The Texas Agricultural Extension Service through its 4-H and ad-

FHA Members Attend Course At Texas Tech

Three Knox City Future Homemakers of America members attended a leadership training course held at Texas Tech June 16-18. Girls attending were Belle Burnett, Jan Sutton, Becky Howell; they were accompanied by chapter advisor Mrs. Vera Newton.

During the three day workshop the students attended varied types of meetings.

They heard discussions on the processes and best procedures of working with a group. Beth Rothman noted charm school director gave many hints on posture, grooming and how to be a charming person. Her most consistent point was that true beauty or charm must come from within.

The students also attended work sessions which pertained to their individual offices. These sessions helped the girls to be familiar with the duties of their office. They also received many ideas on how to improve the local FHA chapter.

The meeting was concluded by a general session Thursday morning.

Huckabee Wins KC Invitational

Ronald Huckabee, the 29-year-old head basketball coach at Hale Center and the father of three, won for himself a big Father's day gift here Sunday afternoon by downing the co-medalists in medal play and posting a one-stroke victory in the second annual Knox City Invitational golf tournament played at the Country Club.

Huckabee shot a 37-34-36—107 over the par 35 nine-hole course to shoot two-over golf and win the title in a 24-hole final. His 107 edged out by one stroke co-medalist Bill (Skip) Moss, who shot a 37-36-35—108, and was two ahead of co-medalist Hagen Edmonds of Anson who fired 36-36-37 for a 109 total.

Ableman Joe Michie, who completed the foursome final, had trouble all afternoon and had to settle for a 42-40-39 total of 121.

Huckabee took the lead on the eighth hole of the second nine when Edmonds, the leader until that point, had a double bogie on the par-four 451-yard hole. It was his second three-putt of the second nine, and pushed Huckabee into a one-stroke lead with Edmonds and Moss tied for runner-up.

Edmonds started to move sixth hole of the final nine with a birdie three on the 325-yard hole. It narrowed Huckabee's margin back to one stroke after he had sunk a 30-yard putt on the second hole of the last nine to move ahead by two strokes.

However, on the seventh Edmonds' tee shot went out of bounds, and he had to take a couple shots to hit the second ball, finishing the hole two over par and a shot back of Moss who had a birdie to move into second.

All golfers had to battle a strong wind and the heat which covered the course on the first day of summer.

Michie had trouble all afternoon with his putts and tee shots while both Edmonds and Moss had trouble with their putt shots hanging on the lip of the cups.

Lubbock's Jim Moon had an 18-hole 74 to win the championship consolation, while a pair of Knox City golfers—Jeff Graham and Charles Reese—finished in a deadlock for runner-up honors with 76's.

J. B. Kempton and Bill Voss handed the Key City its only victories. Kempton downed Ike Nelson of Dallas, 3-2, in the semifinals and topped Haskell's Bob Dulaney, 1 up for 19 holes, to win the second flight match play. Voss beat Goree's Gary Green, 2-1, and then topped Stamford's Gary Grissom, 1 up, to win the fourth flight championship.

Andy Wall of Dallas won the first flight, while Casimiro Dimas of Hale Center won the third flight.

Huckabee played good golf Sunday, but just did make the finals in Saturday's second round. Moss and Edmonds fired one-under par 69's in Friday's qualifying round to tie for co-medalist honors.

Wichita Falls' Hugh Rixford was the defending champion, but he has entered the service since winning the title last year and was not back to defend his rating.

YOUNG FARM FAMILIES ONE GOAL OF FARMERS HOME ADM.

Farmers Home Administration's goal is to see that every farmer is succeeded by his son or some other young farmer in order to keep family-type farming communities going.

"The family-type farmer is the type that will help support schools and the other projects of a community that will improve economic and social conditions in rural areas," said L. J. Cappelman of Temple, State FHA Director.

He spoke in connection with a two-day meeting of FHA officials Thursday and Friday in the Windsor Hotel in Abilene.

The group gathered from approximately 20 West Central Texas counties.

"Should the Johnson Administration's anti-poverty legislation become law, the federal agency will play a major role in rural aspects of the program."

It is now the duty of the FHA to assist farm families by lending money and urging them to modernize and make more efficient their farm operations.

If the anti-poverty program is adopted, Cappelman said, the FHA will step up its assistance to elderly citizens in their housing problems. The major work, however, would be to help young farm families.

"We would want to help them, probably in groups, get firmly established in some kind of agricultural pursuit rather than seeing the young men have to move into cities where they might become wards of those cities or where they might become common laborers."

Streams In Desert Places

Ozelle Stephens

The Holy Ghost Anointing gives spiritual fullness when He comes in to abide. He satisfies the deepest needs. David said, "Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies; my cup runneth over." (Ps. 23:5).

Streams of blessing come unto you as you yield yourself and will to His command to bring all your tithes into the Kingdom work. He will open the windows of heaven and pour you out a blessing that there shall not be room enough to receive it (Mal. 3:10).

It is a most wonderful thing to fully rest in God's love and be led by His spirit. While waiting upon him your mind will become clear, your nerves steady, and your spirit in tune with His spirit. Fullness of joy and strength will be yours.

Improvements Are Planned For Texas Highways

More safety and less congestion for 2,067 miles of Texas highways was the objective today of a $166 million improvement program authorized by the Texas Highway Commission.

The biennial Consolidated Highway Program is beamed at correcting traffic problems on parts of the Primary Highway System of U.S.-and State-numbered highways in Texas.

The Highway Commission called the 2-year program "vital to our keeping pace with a traffic explosion that is increasing five per cent a year." In view of the diffusion of Texas' 22 metropolitan areas—more than any state — "these city-connecting highways must continue to be systematically upgraded for the good of the cities they serve, as well as the safety and convenience of the through traveler," the commission said.

The 25,000-mile Primary Highway System carries a bigger burden of the state's 50-billion-mile-a-year traffic load than all other systems combined, commissioners pointed out. Yet some 20,000 miles of the Primary system are considered obsolete by contemporary standards, they said.

Of the amount authorized for the Consolidated improvement program, $151 million is earmarked for construction and about $15 million for right of way. The program will be funded from state gasoline tax revenue, license fees and federal grants in aid. About 65 per cent of the cost will come from state funds.

Under the new program, heavily-traveled Primary highways will be upgraded, some to four-lane standards. Widening of bridges, paving of shoulders and other improvements for AUSTIN — U. S. Supreme Court's decision ordering both houses of state legislatures be selected on strict population basis will have a far-reaching effect on the Texas Legislature, particularly the Senate.

In the upper house, no county presently is entitled, by the Texas Constitution, to more than one senator. Lt. Gov. Preston Smith noted that under the new ruling of the heaviest populated counties would be entitled to 112 of the 31 state senate seats, leaving 19 senators for the other 249 counties. This would create some senatorial districts 300 miles wide. Senate districts now vary from 147,454 to 1,200,000 population.

"The high court's laudable aim of equal representation for all citizens cannot be maintained in such circumstances," the lieutenant governor said. "Equality will be theoretical only. No senator could serve such a great area as adequately as three or four senators (or even one) can serve a single county."

Lt. Gov. Smith promised to ask other lieutenant governors to petition Congress for a review and "practical relief." A similar resolution may be brought before presiding officers of House of Representatives by Texas House Speaker Byron Tunnell. However, it is doubtful how Congress could intervene except by submitting a constitutional amendment spelling out authority for states to have real bicameral (two-house) legislatures if they want to.

A Texas Legislative committee already is at work determining how best to comply with a prior Supreme Court decision ordering congressional districts be formed on the basis of population only. Its work may be expanded to include a look at legislative districts as well.

OIL PRODUCTION ROLLED BACK — July oil production will be cut back to the lowest level since March, 1963, by order of Texas Railroad Commission

In response to purchasing forecasts by 13 major companies, the Commission set July maximum production at 27 per cent potential or 2,788,685 barrels daily, compared with the present 2,845,371 barrels.

President of five Texas producers associations declared the decision, "regrettable," and said it would hamper attempts to get the U. S. Congress to effect a "very substantial reduction" in oil imports.

Commissioners also scheduled a July 16 hearing on the 1947 yardstick for fixing oil field allowables. HIGHWAYS — Texas highways are now valued at $4,500,000,000, Chairman Herbert C. Petry Jr., of the Highway Commission announced.

Petry said every effort must be made to maintain a balanced system of highways, from farm-to-market roads to the interstate highways, to serve all sorts of traffic.

TAX REVISION RECOMMENDED — Texas Research League proposes the state's unemployment compensation tax on employees be more closely related to benefits paid former employees.

Benefit payments to unemployed have exceeded revenue for five of the last six years, league study for Texas Employment Commission shows. However, the Texas Trust Fund, from which payments are made, cannot go broke, because a surtax is imposed on all taxpayers any time the fund drops below $225,000,000 on October 1.

League recommends extending "experience rating" of employers to lessen the threat of having a flat rate surtax applied.

SECURITIES SALES HIT PEAK — Issuance of permits for sale of securities in Texas reached a high peak for 1964 during May, with $37,062,966 authorized to 58 corporations by the State Securities Board. This was the highest monthly total since November 1962, when $42,510,619 worth of permits were granted.

TOURIST RECORD SET — Large Texas cities attracted a majority of the record-breaking number of tourists who visited the state in 1963, Texas Highway Department reported.

Out-of-state visitors totaled 11,700,000, some 26 per cent over the previous year. They spent $532,200,000 to show a 12.8 per cent increase over 1962.

Dallas was the stated destination of some 15.8 per cent, while 14.1 per cent were heading for Houston-Pasadena; El Paso drew 9.8 per cent and San Antonio 9.6 per cent.

Highway Department recently released this information in a colorful 16-page brochure available to the public. The booklet described results of the annual survey on the Texas Tourist Industry, and the cover depicts scenes from the states outstanding recreational areas.

SCHOOL RULING — School boards have the right to make rules about students' clothing, State Education Commissioner J. W. Tdgar ruled in an appeal against an Andrews school board policy.

Mrs. Kenneth King of Andrews made the appeal which led to the ruling.

Mrs. King contended that her to protect her health.

In upholding the school board however, Edgar advised that the policy be clarified, and that clear provisions be adopted so the clothing regulation could be suspended for a student whose doctor prescribed trousers for medical reasons.

COMMISSION STUDIES Plan to Beef-up Industry — Texas Industrial Commission and the Agriculture Economics Department of Texas Tech have made a contract to study the feasibility of increasing the meat packing industry in Texas, with the hopes a solution can be found to alleviate beef import problems faced by Texas producers.

Findings will be available in the fall of 1965.

HARDIN COUNTY MAY Have Key—Texas Water Commission, releasing a report on untapped ground water resources in Hardin County, said use of that water may be a key to future industrial expansion, as it has been in the heavily industrialized Houston area.

"Geology and Ground-Water Resources of Hardin County," a free publication, says the potential here for further development is "tremendous."

CIVIL SERVICE SCHOOLS

—Austin Postmaster Oliver Bruck advised the public against paying fees to civil service schools. It costs nothing to compete in civil service examinations, he said.

There is no school operated in connection with civil service by the Federal Government, and no school is given advance information which is not available to the public without cost, Bruck stressed.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

Water Attracts Children

Owning a swimming pool is becoming rather common in Texas and it places some legal duties on the owner. Your main duty hinges on the "doctrine of attractive nuisance" under which you become legally responsible to young children who trespass on your land.

As a rule you owe no duty to trespassers. They must take your property as they find it; if dangerous, that is their tough luck. Not so for children who wander on your land. The attractive nuisance doctrine says that if you have some man-made things on your land which entice youngsters you have a legal duty to make your land safe for them.

A high tension line, an old mineshaft, a railroad turntable, a pool of clear acid may be irresistible to children. If they are likely to be attracted and unable to grasp the dangers, you have an "attractive nuisance," and you must make your premises safe.

Recently a court held that a swimming pool may be an attractive nuisance. In this case a toddler drowned in Jones' pool. Jones and the boy's parents lived across the street from each other. About 30 feet from the street, the pool was fenced but with openings through which children could enter. On week ends the Jones were not home, only the Jones' children. Animals often played near the pool.

The pool and the animals could attract a youngster; he could not grasp the water's danger. The Joneses could have had a locked gate. A jury properly held Jones responsible for the drowning.

How young is the child? Can he appreciate the dangers? How easy is it for the owner to make the place safe for children?

There are times when an older child should appreciate dangers. An older child playing on a scaffold should appreciate the dangers of height. In another case a twelve year old boy tried to jump on a train which was moving along a public street. When he fell he could not get damages for his injury. He should have seen his danger. Besides how could one put up a barrier along a public street which could keep out twelve year old boys?

A land owner may have other duties to trespassers. He cannot set a "trap" on his land, create hazards on his land on purpose; he cannot put a pit on his land where people frequently trespass, but in spring guns, or other traps to harm trespassers.

Sometimes a condition on your land may be a trap to children but not one for adults. The adult may grasp the danger of slippery algae growing in a partially drained pool, but not a child. But even with a trap on your land the attractive nuisance doctrine will not apply without some allurement or enticement to bring children to trespass on your land. Such attractions are, in effect, an implied invitation to enter. Check your place for such attractions, and in any event consider measures, such as insurance, to cover harm that may come from things on your land. And above all, keep your place safe. For all the money may not undo the harm.

(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

FARMER IS FACED WITH MANY PROBLEMS BESIDE PRODUCTION

The main emphasis on many farms these days is to increase production. Today's farmer is aware that he must increase output on his farm, if he is to cover rising costs at steady prices for agricultural products.

In fact, production and market conditions by their very nature these days seem to be geared for increasing agricultural output.

A goal of many farmers is to have the highest yield in the county on their wheat and cotton. To some extent, this is a worthy goal, but it has two implications that are not favorable to farmers. First, the individual farmer is striving to maximize production per acre by pushing resource use further than is economically practical. Secondly, expanded output per acre tends to add to the already abundant supply of agricultural products and further depress market prices or increase the severity of government acreage controls.

One result is that the public image of agriculture is unfavorable. The public assumes that farmers are producing more at the expense of tax payers and are expanding the federal budget for agriculture.

The goal of many research workers, technicians and advisors is to increase agricultural output. The result is that we develop better agricultural chemicals and become more proficient in their use.

We develop new uses for agricultural products or make them more competitive with substitute products. One example is bulgur, a new product made from wheat which is highly palatable to consumers in rice eating countries. Another new development coming along is a treatment known as "wurlanzing" which prevents shrinkage of woolen fabrics, thereby making wool more competitive with synthetics.

New products which offer expanded markets for farm products are good news to farmers but improved markets and prices resulting from new products are soon swallowed up by the agricultural Goliath. Long run benefits in the form of lower prices and abundance.

Even the policy of the federal government in their agricultural programs seems to be geared to increasing output per unit on or acre on farms, the end result is higher levels of output in agriculture. The real emphasis on the farm needs to be reoriented in the direction of maximizing dollar returns per acre over the entire farm instead of maximizing yields from one crop.

Maximizing dollar returns per acre on farms is in line with American tradition and our competitive system. It calls on farmers to seek the optimum economic use of resources in present lines of production and finding and developing new and more profitable uses for resources. Examples that this is presently occurring are illustrated by increased production of specialty crops on farms and trends toward farms with enterprises catering to urban recreational needs.

The importance of the success story of American agriculture to consumers was well stated by Philip B. Dvoskin, of the Economic Research Service: "If food prices had increased in the postwar years at the same rate that other components of the cost of living index, such as transportation, labor and rent, the American consumers would have spent, in 1961, $10 billion more than they actually did. When you compare this amount with the total cost for our farm program for 1961 ($5.2 billion) or cash receipts from farm marketings for that year ($34.7 billion) it is obvious that the farmer has been unfairly stigmatized in the postwar years.

Army Band To Hold Auditions

The auditions will be held at the Army Recruiting Main Station in Abilene, and anyone who has prior experience in high school or college bands is welcome to try out.

Young men interested in fulfilling their military obligations as a member of the Army Band should contact their local Army Recruiter SFC Maurice A. Wilson at Vernon.

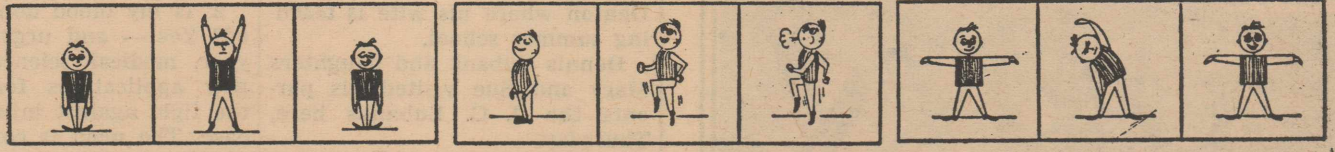

SPENDS WEEKEND AT HOME

Mrs. J. G. Hawkins and Don spent last week end at home after having spent the last two weeks attending the Stamps School of Music in Dallas. Lynn and Merri Clarke returned to Dallas with them Sunday afternoon for the last week of the school.

VISITS IN McHAM HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Tucker, Dwayne and Marty of Lampasas, and Mr. and Mrs. Loraine Johnson and Lorie of Haskell spent last week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. L. McHam.

Regular Exercise Can Provide Both Physical and Mental Tonic, says AMA

Stretcher (4 to 10 times). Reach high, rise on toes. High-stepper (10 to 20 steps). Run in place, pumping knees and arms. Side Bender (6 to 15 times). Raise first one arm then the other straight over head.

Push-up (6 to 15 times). Men on hands and toes; women on hands and knees. Starting in raised position, with trunk and neck straight, lower trunk to two inches from floor and return. Curl (6 to 15 times). Starting on back with knees bent, hands behind head, tuck chin and "curl" as far forward as possible, aiming elbow to opposite knee. Stride Squat (6 to 15 times). Hands behind head, stride forward deeply with right leg. Keep left toe in place, left knee off floor. Return and exercise opposite.

Compressor (6 to 15 times). Lie spread-eagled on back. Roll onto hip and with leg and arm straight touch toe to opposite hand. Return and exercise opposite. Twister (6 to 15 times). Sit with legs and arms extended straight. Touch fingers to opposite toe. Return and exercise opposite.

ISOMETRIC EXERCISES

The following exercises do not involve movement, but rather muscular contractions. One of their advantages is that many can be done at times and places where normal exercise would be impossible, such as in the office. Hold each contraction forcefully for six seconds. Repeating is not necessary.

(1) Organ Grinder. Push hand against hand, then pull hand against hand.

(2) Thinker. Push forehead against palm, then push back of head against palm(s).

(3) Bird. Put back of hands against door jambs, then push palms in the same manner.

(4) Sampson. Push palms against door jambs, then straighten arms high against jambs and push again.

(5) Siesta. Sitting with back against one door jamb, push foot against other side, then push other foot in same manner.

There's more to physical fitness than mere muscles, but you can't be truly healthy and a bundle of flab at the same time.

To be physically fit you must be both medically fit and dynamically fit. The two don't necessarily go hand in hand, points out Raymond L. White, M.D., director of Environmental Medicine and Medical Services for the American Medical Association.

"Medical fitness means body soundness. This can be determined only by a medical examination. Dynamic fitness or 'action capacity' is a measurement of strength, agility and endurance," he said.

"A person who shuns activity may get a 'clean bill of health' from his doctor but if he can't endure even slight exertion, he's hardly physically fit. On the other hand, neither is the athlete with a chronic or undetected health problem."

In a sense it seems silly to be concerned about strength and endurance in a push-button age.

But the fact is, the human body was not designed for push buttons but for work, said Dr. White. "The absence of dynamic fitness through lack of physical exertion is a detriment to health. Furthermore, muscle tone, or lack of it, can be a factor in your whole outlook on life."

Strength and endurance, developed through regular exercise, leads to skill and agility and adds to poise and grace. Not only do daily tasks become easier, you also look better and so feel more at ease in social situations.

Even more evident, however, are the benefits to physical health, Dr. White pointed out.

Since exercise is a factor in weight control, it indirectly aids in preventing degenerative diseases, such as diabetes and arthritis, which are more prevalent in the obese.

Evidence indicates that exercise also may help prevent heart and blood vessel diseases. Active people have fewer heart attacks and a better recovery rate when such attacks do occur.

The best exercise is enjoyable exercise. Activities such as hiking, swimming, skiing, tennis or gardening along with their physical benefits can provide relief from tension, thus serving as a safe, natural tranquilizer.

When there is no opportunity for taking exercise in such form, however, a daily walk and series of calisthenics can provide much the same tonic.

Above are a few examples of scientifically sound exercises, taken from the AMA pamphlet, "Physical Fitness." Used daily, they will help to increase muscular strength, body suppleness and motor reaction, and to improve circulation and other body functions.

Start out slowly, Dr. White warned, and gradually work up to the point where you can do all of these exercises quickly without stopping.

Fire can destroy the Bond... but not your savings

All that the owner of this charred U.S. Savings Bond has to do is mail the remains to the Treasury Department, with as much more information as he can give—serial number, and date and place of issue. He'll get a fresh Bond to replace it. No charge.

The Treasury has grown accustomed to providing this sort of service. In the past 20 years it has replaced over 1,300,000 Savings Bonds that have been lost, stolen, burned or mistakenly tossed out with the trash.

Every U.S. Savings Bond sold is registered in the name of its owner, and a microfilm record made. So the government can check when, where, and in whose name a Bond was purchased—even if there isn't a burned crisp to send them.

This assurance against loss is another of the many reasons why Americans now hold over $47 billion in Series E and H Savings Bonds. The money they're saving is providing for their personal security. And it's also helping to build the strength of America at a time when the enemies of freedom are stronger than ever.

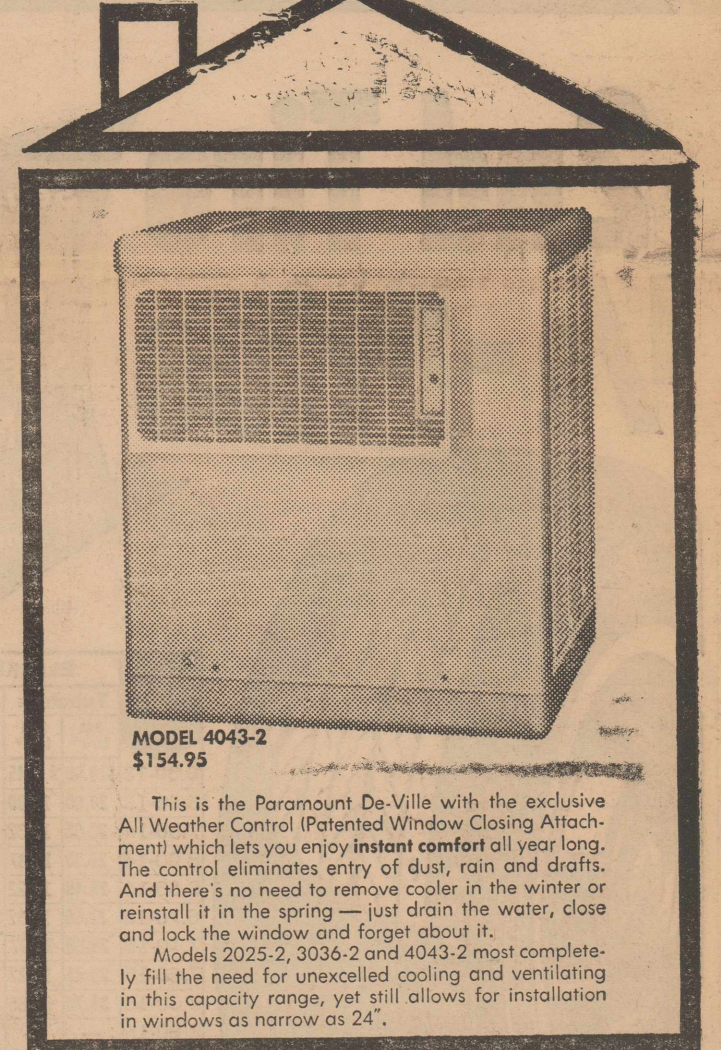

U.S. Savings Bonds are a good way to provide for your future. Buy them where you bank or work.

Keep freedom in your future with
