Her shoulder-length veil was attached to a satin band.

She carried a colonial bouquet of white mums atop a white Bible.

Chemicals And Machines Cut Cotton Costs

The use of chemicals and machines for cutting production costs continued to gain favor with Texas cotton growers in 1964.

In a year-end report, Fred C. Elliott, Extension cotton specialist at Texas A&M, said that despite a drop in the state's harvested acreage of cotton in 1964, more acres were treated with chemicals for weed control and harvest preparation than ever before.

The greatest jump in chemical usage was registered by growers who used preemergence and post-emergence chemicals. They used pre-emergence chemicals on 407,084 acres in 1964 compared with 174,265 acres in 1963. The number of acres treated with DSMA (Disodium Methylarsenate) rose from 99,976 to 273,469 acres in 1964 over 1963.

Number of cotton acres on which growers used spot oiling and dalapon for Johnsongrass control remained stable. Elliott said that since cotton acreage was smaller in 1964 the percentage treated was higher than in 1963. Number of farms using defoliant or desiccants in 1964 increased by about 4,000.

These chemicals, Elliott explained, are used to prepare cotton fields for harvesting operations.

Rotary-hoe equipment tractors continued to be popular as a mechanical means for weed and grass control. More than 51,000 were used in 173 different Texas counties during the past year.

Number of spindle-type picking machines increased by about 500 and were used in 85 counties. Some 2,000 more stripper-type harvesters were in use in 1964 than in 1963. They were used in 191 counties compared with 168 counties in 1963.

Elliott's programs in cotton work are conducted as a part of the 7-Step Cotton Program, initiated by the Agricultural Extension Service in 1946. He said the program continues to play an important role in the agricultural economy of Texas and in keeping late information flowing to cotton farmers.

Seven Paths To Physical Fitness

As Ponce de Leon sought the fountain of youth, so we today seek the quick, easy route to good health.

Unfortunately, neither of these exists.

But there are ways to keep your mind and body physically fit.

Take a look at the seven paths to fitness.

One essential is proper medical care. This means preventive services — periodic medical examinations and an immunization schedule. Give your physician your confidence, follow his advice and obtain prompt care when you are ill.

Nutrition is an important part of fitness. Gorging yourself one day and going without food the next is not the way to become fit. Your daily food needs include meat or meat substitutes, milk and milk products, bread and cereals, (enriched or whole grain), fruits and vegetables, plus other foods to complete meals.

Proper dental care is important not only for good appearance and better health, but to permit proper chewing of food and to prevent distress and pain. Visit your dentist every six months or oftener as he advises. Brush your teeth properly, as soon after meals as possible—or if you can't brush, rinse your mouth with water. And go easy on the snacks, particularly those high in sugar, between meals.

Regular visits to your dentist can help prevent dental distress, forestall needless pain and expense, and help to prevent the premature loss of teeth.

And believe it or not, exercise is an important element in fitness. Chose any exercise which suits you — your age, sex and physical condition — and that you enjoy. You need exercise enough to bring on healthful fatigue . . . vigorous enough to tax the power of your muscles . . . and regular participation using all parts of the body.

Exercise improves the action of the heart, blood circulation and breathing function. It steps up muscle tone and helps in weight control. And it gives you an overall feeling of zest and well being.

A person also needs to have a satisfying work, healthy play and recreation, and adequate rest and relaxation.

Measles Definitely Not Harmless

Anyone who thinks measles is a harmless childhood disease is sadly mistaken.

In the first place, "childhood disease" is a misnomer. Any person, regardless of age, who has not had measles may have them. Measles is, however, rightly associated with childhood since 90 percent of our children have it before their 15 birthday. Secondly, measles is not the harmless illness that most mothers seem to think it is.

Although recovery is routine for most children, about 500 children in the nation die every year from illness stemming from it. Or, a side effect can be inflammation of the brain, leading to mental retardation.

Last year 71,629 measles cases were reported in Texas. Statistics show several characteristics of the disease. One is that every two or three years, a reservoir of susceptible children builds up. A measles epidemic empties the reservoir. Nearly all children who are exposed and not protected come down with measles.

Streams In Desert Places

Ozelle Stephens

We find in our study of the Beautitudes that they are concerned with the law of our best good, how we are to think and feel. If our state of consciousness is right our faith reaches out and clasps the truth of God. This keeps us established upon the solid rock.

"Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled." (Matt. 5:6).

The Greek translation of "filled" is "Completely filled." This is a marvelous promise. If we hunger and thirst for being and doing right we shall be completely satisfied, not half-heartedness.

Righteousness includes much more than just good acts and deeds. If your intentions are directed to the right goal, you are certain to win. Progress may be slow but keep heart, you will win for God is with you. He promised to be and He never fails, don't you.

Statistics show several characteristics of the disease. One is that every two or three years, a reservoir of susceptible children builds up. A measles epidemic empties the reservoir. Nearly all children who are exposed and not protected come down with measles.

Another fact the figures show is that February through April is the measles season — that is, more cases occur during this time of the year.

A virus so small that it measures only from two to five millionths of an inch in diameter is responsible for the disease.

A child coming down with measles may seem to have a cold symptom — a dripping nose, watery eyes, wheezing and similar discomfort — about 10 days after exposure. The first sure sign that it is measles is the appearance of 'Koplik spots' — bluish-white specks surrounded by redness in the mouth. A blotchy rash follows on the child's face and body, as the sign most of us recognize as measles. If your child develops any of these symptoms, contact your physician at once.

Today, you can keep your child from having measles and eliminate the possibility of serious side-effects with immunization against measles.

Why take a chance; see your family physician.

AUSTIN — Gov. John Connally served notice on the U. S. Labor Department he doesn't like it's directives that unskilled high school students in War on Poverty program jobs must be paid more than some of their parents make.

Connally, needled by an unnamed Labor Department official, indignantly denied he is scuttling the new Neighborhood Youth Corps job project. But he made clear he won't approve applications of some 23 local school districts for participation in the program until he is sure they know what they are getting into.

NYC offers part-time jobs (10-15 hours a week) around schools and public agencies to youngsters 16-21 who are on the verge of becoming high school dropouts because of financial difficulties. Federal government pays 90 per cent of the cost and local participating units 10 per cent. But next year the cost will be shared 50-50.

Connally spoke out against the Labor Department ruling that students must be paid $1.25 per hour, the federal minimum wage.

The 23 districts, before ruling was announced, proposed to pay rates ranging from 60 cents to $1.20 an hour. Originally, Labor Department had notified the districts wages "should be a little below the prevailing entry rates for in-experienced workers in similar occupations."

The $1.25 order came out after applications were filed.

"This action," protested Connally, "would place local school districts in the awkward and unrealistic position of paying inexperienced school age students of underprivileged families a rate of pay for casual chores that in many cases would exceed that of adult employees working in the same facility, the average earnings of their own parents, and the wages he himself might reasonably expect to earn in the days immediately following school."

Furthermore, Connally noted, a directly parallel program for potential dropouts among college students administered by Department of Health, Education and Welfare pays 75 cents an hour upward.

House of Representatives applauded Connally's stand but specified it did not intend to criticize the President or his War on Poverty program.

COORDINATING BOARD APPROVED — Gov. Connally's number one project of the session—creation of a powerful 18-member coordinating board to supervise all aspects of higher education in Texas — swept through both houses of the Legislature with the speed of a blue norther.

Legislators who opposed it—and there were only a few—had as much chance of stopping it as they would of forestalling a gathering storm.

After being guided through the House by Rep. Dick Cory of Victoria, the bill was picked up by Sen. Bill Moore of Bryan in the Senate, where it went through without an amendment and was passed on to the governor for signing.

Connally has until September 1, to choose the 18 members of the board. They will replace the Texas Commission on Higher Education and will take on the task of directing all higher education institutions from junior colleges through the university systems.

Board will decide what courses are to be offered by each institution. It was given the most far-reaching authority granted by the Legislature since the Railroad Commission was authorized to grant railroad permits. Present college boards of regents will continue to serve. But they will be responsible to the new overall coordinating board.

Another of the governor's education plans, to replace 12 separate boards of regents which govern the 22 state colleges and universities with three boards of university systems, had not yet been introduced when the adopted.

Some legislators feel that the system board plan may have served to lessen the opposition to the coordinating board particularly among representatives from the colleges whose board would be abolished.

PESTICIDE PROTESTED—A cheap poison used against roaches and rats in many homes and in grain storage bins and warehouses can cause loss of hair and mental disturbances, physicians testified in a House committee hearing. In heavy doses, it can kill a person or leave him mentally incompetent, they said.

Doctors appeared at a public health committee hearing on a bill which would outlaw the sale, use or possession of poisons based on thallium compounds.

They said the poison can take effect upon even very brief exposures and that its symptoms are hard to diagnose. Some persons have been interned in mental hospitals before the real reason for their illness was discovered, they said. At present there is no known antidote to the poison except time.

MEDICAL AID PLAN—Strategy designed to quickly pass a medical assistance bill as soon as Congress passes its expected new legislation has been announced by Rep. Charles Wilson of Lufkin. He is sponsor of a House bill to extend Kerr-Mills payments to elderly persons not on old-age pensions.

Wilson asked a House committee to report out his bill quickly so it could be passed on the floor and sent to the Senate. A Senate bill will not be considered until the federal legislation is enacted, he said. In this way, the Senate version can authorize participation in the new federal plans and the details can be worked out to the satisfaction of House members in a conference committee.

Old-age pensioners already are eligible for help on their medical bills through the federal-state program.

LIQUOR, RACING BILL — Hearings Set — Horse racing and "small bottles" liquor bills are expected to turn out some of the biggest crowds at legislative hearings this month.

Bill by Rep. Maurice Pipkin of Brownsville to legalize parimutuel betting on horse races will be heard by House State Affairs Committee on March 29.

Edinburg Sen. Jim Bates' bill to permit sale of two-ounce bottles of liquor by restaurants will get hearing before Senate jurisprudence committee on March 16.

San Antonio Rep. V. E. (Red) Berry has introduced a proposed constitutional amendment of his own to legalize horse racing on a local option basis in Bexar, Cameron, Dallas, Hidalgo, Harris, Galveston, Midland, Tarrant and Webb counties.

Only teacher pay raises attract more mail to lawmakers than parimutuel wagering and liquor-by-the-drink legislation.

This year, there's strong support on, as well as opposition to, both propositions.

"SPENDING" RULE ROW FLARES — Tightening of a

THE KNOX COUNTY HERALD, KNOX CITY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, MARCH 4, 1965

joint House-Senate rule banning consideration of single-purpose spending measures ahead of the general appropriations bill may mean the difference in the type of pay raise teachers get this year.

Senators adopted 22-9 a "compromise" version making the provisions of a stricter House-passed Joint Rule 9-A effective only during the first 120 days of the session. The House is expected to agree.

Opponents say the rule still will prevent even a committee hearing of teacher pay bills until last 20 days of the session—or until the budget is adopted and certified by the comptroller.

Teachers fear the delay will be used to gain support for Connally's long-range, graduated pay bill, which they claim gives them far less than their own $45 a-month across-the-boards raise proposal.

CITIES ASK SALES TAX — Spokesmen for cities urged a legislative committee to recommend that cities be given authority to levy local taxes up to one per cent if citizens vote approval in special elections.

They said they have gone about as far as they can with raising property taxes and need additional sources of revenue to provide necessary services.

Union representatives argued there is still plenty of mileage left in property tax. Also a local sales tax would hit little people harder and lighten the load on those most able to pay.

In House revenue and tax committee hearing at same time, tobacco industry spokesmen said a bill to raise the cigarette tax a penny a pack would be a serious blow to them.

Both bills went to subcommittees.

REDISTRICTING — Legislators got a sampling of public views on congressional and legislative redistricting during a four-hour public hearing before the House Districts Committee.

As expected, they didn't get much help since every plan advanced met opposition from some quarter.

House committee members heard lengthy testimony on four congressional re-apportionment proposals and two bills to realign the state House of Representatives.

Eight more measures remain to be heard. Chairman Gus Mus-scher of Brenham said he hopes to set all of them next week and get the job into the hands of subcommittees as the Senate districts committee already has done.

In the Senate, Sen. Ralph Hall of Rockwall is interviewing individual senators on how congressional lines should be redrawn. House subcommittees are moving into their second week of similar contracts with the 150 representatives.
