

Duster Pilot George Houston is still in serious condition in the Purcell, Oklahoma Clinic Hospital, and a George Houston Hospital Fund is being collected in his behalf at this time. Donations may be left at Hoge Pharmacy or the Herald to forward to George.

Mrs. Houston said the many telephone calls, cards and flowers, had helped more than anything to boost his morale. Visitors would also be welcome.

A long stay in the hospital, plus extensive skin grafts don't look too bright, so a small token of love will certainly be appreciated by the Houstons.

Pilot Pat Leroux flew to Purcell as soon as word was received about George's mishap and stayed over a week to try to catch up on George's obligations to the Oklahoma farmers. He was a week late in leaving for his own obligations in South Dakota. Henry Mallette, Munday duster, went down to take his place.

The men should be commended for their loyalty to their profession and to each other.

Cigarette smokers were burning Tuesday after another three cent sales tax seemed inevitable on each pack of weeds. This will make an 11-cents a pack tax rate—the highest in the nation.

If politics and politicians were of the caliber they should be the most logical move, and one that would bring in more money would be a tax on beer and whiskey.

Cigarette smokers and the industry is far behind on lobbyists and payola, it would appear.

Vending machine prices are expected to run around 50 cents per pack. This will no doubt boost sales of cigarettes in the surrounding states.

Letter to Editor: -- Benjamin Eighth Grade Graduation Exercises Held At School Friday Night

Dear Mr. Hill:

Among some old family photo's in my possession I note the attached with interest. In 1906 I made a trip from Freestone County to Haskell County in a covered wagon. We settled on the Bettis Ranch northwest of Weinert.

The enclosed picture is of my father and his team of horses in a Knox City parade about 1908. If my memory is correct he came home with a sack of flour, sugar and other groceries as a prize for the best team of horses in the parade.

I am just curious to know if the same firm is still in business and if any old timers among your acquaintances recognize the occasion.

I think I still have relatives in Knox City. The Messer family.

Signed: F. P. Read of Ketchikan, Alaska.

Junior College Needed Here

By HARLEY PERSHING
Fort Worth stands at the threshold of a vast new era filled with mighty challenges in science, education, industry and commerce.

If the door to this exciting chapter of man's development is to swing open, new instruments, new tools and new concepts will have to be provided. Development of the F-111 bi-service fighter plane (PFX) at General Dynamics, Fort Worth, and increased production at Ling-Temco-Vought Corporation Chance Vought Division at Grand Prairie are merely part of the allowances for this area in the immediate future.

Calanization of the Trinity River from the Gulf of Fort Worth, now close to realization, could help spark new life into many fields of industry and commerce.

Increased emphasis on electronics brought about through daily advances in engineering and space vehicles will open many new avenues.

How can Fort Worth provide the new instruments, new tools and new concepts to meet these challenges?

The answer lies in this area's ability to train its manpower to accept the challenges, to move into the past unknown future with adequate training, skills and confidence.

One big step is being taken already. It is the proposed development of the Graduate Research Center at TCU.

But is this enough? Some of Texas' leading educators say it is not.

A junior college, designed and operated as a school to serve the community, is the answer.

This comes from the top junior college exponents in Texas—men like Dr. C. C. Colvert, University of Texas professor in charge of junior college training programs, and B. W. Musgraves, assistant commissioner of Texas Education Agency in charge of junior colleges.

Both men and others in the field of education recommend location of a public community college in the Fort Worth area. They are joined by the Commission on Higher Education, an official state agency supervising Texas' college programs.

All are mindful of the existence of TCU, Arlington State College, Texas Wesleyan College and Fort Worth Christian College in Tarrant County.

A junior college offering a full range of programs to meet the needs of this metropolitan area would not conflict or compete with the existing colleges, the educators say.

They advocate a multi-purpose program offering:

1. Regular two-year college work leading to a degree at a four-year school.

2. Two years of college training for those students who desire no more than that.

3. A vocational-technical program attuned to industry in this area, industry such as aircraft, electronics, communications, instruments and aerospace vehicles.

4. A community service program for adults.

5. Adult education programs.

For years this area was served by Arlington State as a fully state-supported junior college. When the school was elevated to four year status in 1959, it retained many of its junior college programs.

This included a two-year terminal program in aeronautical technology, civil technology, electrical technology and secretarial science.

Arlington State's role as an engineering-scientific school is gaining more and more importance because of the heavy demands for engineers in the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

In fact, the demand for highly trained engineers and scientists for this area is so great that the school may have to turn to a graduate school to keep pace.

The Commission on Higher Education made such a suggestion in a report to Gov. John Connally earlier this year.

Here's what the commission said:

"It appears quite likely that . . . (Arlington State College) will need to expand its offerings at the master's level in order to meet the needs for graduate work in a number of areas.

"Particularly" is this true in the scientific and industrial fields which are so important to the economic life . . . (of the Dallas-Fort Worth metropolitan area)."

On the other hand, the commission recommended that ASC's technical training program be continued until a satisfactory replacement can be found.

A community junior college appears to be the needed replacement.

Top management officials at General Dynamics and Ling-Temco Vought Corporation's Chance Vought Division agree with this.

Both groups had high praise for the role played by Arlington State in providing technicians for the two big plants. They readily agree that without Arlington State the task of finding technicians would be almost insurmountable.

They had equal praise for TCU and SMU in turning out engineers and scientists for their plants.

These officials are concerned, however, about the growing demand for technicians in the various fields of engineering, science and electronics and the need for additional facilities to train them.

J. B. Andrasko, industrial relations manager at Chance Vought, and Marvin Taylor, the firm's personnel placement manager say the number of jobs that will be open for men and women with junior college training virtually will be unlimited during the next few years.

More than 350 classifications of jobs calling for technical training in chemistry, electronics, communications, engineering, metals and aerospace will be open. Salaries for the technicians after experience on the job range from $7,000 to $9,000 a year.

The need for a junior college in the Fort Worth area was the topic of a discussion among top management leaders at General Dynamics-Fort Worth.

Participating in the discussion Ralph Wagner, chief of educational services; Ralph Fuhrer, chief of manufacturing engineer; Kenneth Dunn, head of the network planning division; F. F. Gignilliat, chief of employment; Howard Huggins and Hoyt Clark educational services supervisors; Joe Ellis, industrial relations administrator, and E. J. Horton, engineering administration group supervisor.

All agreed that Fort Worth needs a junior college and that the plant offered many opportunities to students with junior college training.

Acting as official spokesman for the group, Gignilliat said: "During the next few years, General Dynamics-Fort Worth expects that more than 2,000 additional people will have to be trained for jobs in its tooling, fabrication and factory departments.

"Two years of vocational and technical training in a junior college or elsewhere would be desirable for most of the people needed for these jobs.

"In addition, the plant's engineering department will need a sizeable number of employees with specialized training at the junior college level. Also, programming in some of the plant's battery of electronic computing machines could be handled by men with two years of special training in college."

Gignilliat expressed his desire for a junior college in another way:

"I wish the college were open today and graduating its first class. We have room for the technicians."

If you've heard that GAS central air is out of your reach, don't believe it!

Get the facts. Call Lone Star Gas for a free estimate!

Don't be fooled by "horseback estimates" on costs! Get a bona fide air conditioning price from Lone Star Gas and compare with the price of the same size electric unit. You'll find the little extra per month to buy a gas unit buys you a lot more air conditioning over the years.

There are two types of gas systems for homes: a combination cooling and heating system and an add-on cooling system.

LOW DOWN PAYMENT, AS LITTLE AS $25/MO. FOR 2.8-TON UNIT

This new gas unit for medium-size homes both cools and heats . . . puts the world's finest year-around air conditioning in reach of everyone.

HOW GAS UNITS CAN LAST TWICE AS LONG AS ELECTRIC

Gas cooling for homes has no compressor. A simple gas flame is the heart of the cooling cycle—with few moving parts to wear or need repair. No wonder the life-expectancy of gas air conditioning is double that of compressor types!

IF YOU HAVE CENTRAL GAS HEAT, IT IS LIKELY YOU CAN USE THE SAME DUCTS FOR GAS COOLING

You may have half of a gas central air conditioning system installed in your home! Just add the gas cooling system (takes up no extra floor space) and start enjoying year-around gas comfort and economy!

GAS ECONOMY PAYS OFF YEAR AFTER YEAR AFTER YEAR

You save in operating efficiency, low maintenance, amazingly long service. The combined heating and cooling costs with gas average about 15% lower than for electric heating and cooling. Add to that the savings in maintenance and replacements and you'll see why gas is your best home air conditioning investment.

FARM and RANCH Notes

JOE W. DOBY COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENT

This year many farmers are considering the possibility of feeding wheat instead of selling it.

For feeding hogs, wheat is slightly superior to corn. In 23 experiments, pigs fed ground wheat as the only grain, with an efficient protein supplement, gained a little more rapidly than others fed corn in place of wheat.

Wheat generally gives excellent results when fed as the only grain to hogs. For fattening beef cattle, better results are obtained by mixing it with other grain because of the tendency to go off feed when fed as the only grain.

Several experiments have shown that on such mixtures as one half wheat by weight and one half of other grains, the gains were fully equal to those on corn. Also, the cattle have good appetites throughout the fattening period, are not apt to bloat and do not tend to go off feed.

Dr. Dixon Hubbard, Extension Livestock Specialist, Lubbock, figured the following comparative values for wheat and milo. If milo is selling for $2.10 per cwt, then wheat is worth $1.26 per bushel; $2.00 milo, $1.20 for wheat; $1.90 milo, $1.14 wheat; $1.80 milo, $1.14 wheat; $1.70 milo, $1.02 wheat, and $1.60 milo 96 cents wheat.

In other words, if milo is $2.10 per cwt. and wheat is $1.26 per bushel, you could take your choice as to which one to buy. If milo is $2.10 per cwt. and wheat is less than $1.26 per bushel, then it would pay to buy wheat.

To put it another way, if wheat is $1.30 per bushel then you can pay $2.17 per cwt. for milo, if wheat is $1.25 then milo is worth $2.08.

The time is near for spraying cotton for insect control. If it hasn't been done before, the sprayer should be checked and calibrated. Nozzle screens may be clogged or rollers need to be replaced in the pump.

A sprayer should be calibrated to determine how much liquid is being applied per acre. The nozzle tips may be worn to the extent that more material will be applied than is necessary. Wettable powders are very abrasive and commonly used brass nozzle tips can be quickly worn so that discharge is increased and the application rate changed. If wettable powders are to be used, then stainless steel nozzle tips should be used.

The tank should be checked, too. Stainless steel and fiberglass do not deteriorate rapidly but where steel drums are used, it is a different story. The flakes of rust from these are ideal for clogging screens and wearing pumps.

Pecan trees should be checked very closely this weekend for casebearer eggs on the tips of the small nutlets. When these are found, it is time to spray. Pecan trees have set a heavy load and prospects are good if the pecan nut casebearers can be controlled.

The following materials are recommended: 3 pounds 50 per cent wettable DDT, or 5 pounds 40 per cent wettable toxophene, or 3 pounds 25 per cent wettable malation or 2 pounds 80 per cent wettable Sevin. These are to be mixed in 100 gallons of water. Mr. DT, Dioxaphene and Sevin have longer residual action while malathion is quicker acting so a combination is a good practice. I would recommend for Knox County that 2 pounds of zinc Sulfate be added for control of rosette.

Quacks Extort Millions With Phony Cure-alls and Gadgets, Says AMA

Today there are thousands of quacks promising quick cures for every disease known. They extort millions of dollars annually from their gullible patients.

Yet, the quack's promises, cure-alls and gadgets are as phony as a fixed gambling wheel or a "con man's" schemes, said F. J. L. Blasingame, M.D., executive vice president of the American Medical Association.

"Healthy people usually laugh at or ignore the quack," he said, "but sick people may grasp at anything that offers a quick cure. Indeed, almost anyone can be fooled unless he knows how quacks operate."

Machines can be a blessing or a curse to medicine. In the hands of a skilled physician, certain machines are useful in arriving at a diagnosis or charting a method of treatment.

But some machines are a threat to your health. Any quack who passes off his device or gadget or "system" as a cure-all is cashing in on your limited knowledge of science.

Doctors of medicine are trained for years in reputable schools and hospitals. They are licensed only after they meet high medical standards. The legitimate doctor does not limit himself to a device or instrument or to any one "system." He does not limit himself to manipulations or adjustments.

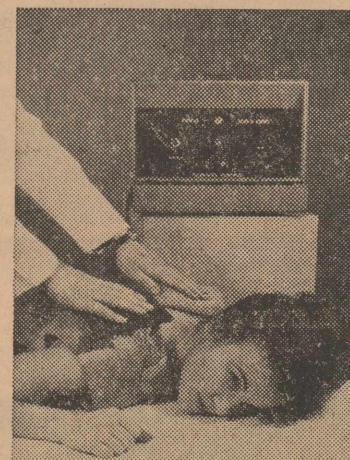

Not so with the quacks. The quack pretends to medical skill. He invents a machine, device or scheme to defraud the public. He advertises that he has the one and only "cure."

He may even purchase a phony medical diploma. All the quack needs is someone to believe him. And some sick people are easily impressed. One alleged "doctor" testified he received four degrees from a "drugless practitioners college" he said he had attended for one year. He claimed to be a doctor of chiropractic, naturopathy, herbal materia medica and electro-therapeutics.

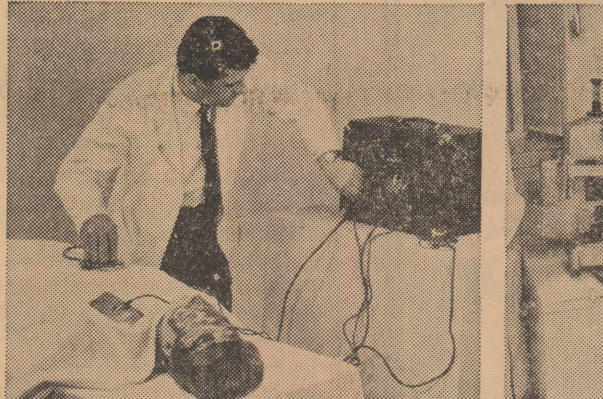

Another "practitioner," who came here from India, advertised that he has at least 15 degrees, including an "honorary M.D." He started the Spectro-Chrome Institute about 1920 and did a flourishing business until the Cup, sape and empty box were supposed to supply "orgone energy" with which a person could cure himself of many afflictions. No such energy exists, but thousands were deluded before this myth was exposed.

This device was supposed to cure cancer by playing silently a recording of "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes." Units sold for up to $500.

The lady in the glistening mask is supposedly being treated via short-wave radio. The machine, according to the gadgeteer who invented it, could neutralize the evil radio vibrations emanating from the diseased area. The device proved to be immensely profitable—for its inventor.

Micro-dynamometer, which sold to chiropractors for as much as $275 each, was billed as a device for diagnosing patients' ills. Actually, the only thing the device was capable of measuring was the moisture of the skin. Federal courts ordered it off the market.

the term ended he was reported to be working again.

Some quacks are also licensed to practice a "healing art." Some cultist groups lobby powerfully for license recognition in various states. Well-meaning citizens often help to pass laws permitting limited practice, but this does not protect the public.

A woman chiropractor in Los Angeles was given a chance to demonstrate her alleged ability during tests made at the University of Chicago. According to the university's official report, she claimed she could diagnose illness from a drop of blood of a person who wasn't there. She "diagnosed" that the person had cancer, abnormal blood pressure and a very poor chance to recover. The spot of blood, the university reports, was taken from one of its staff physicians in the best of health.

Fantastic? Not at all. Each year thousands are fooled by quacks using phony machines. "The American Medical Association," explained Dr. Blasingame, "does not bring charges against these quacks, nor prosecute them. Such action is the responsibility of law enforcement agencies."

You can best protect your health, he advised, by avoiding devices like the ones pictured here and, even more important, by relying on the advice of your family doctor.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Tabulation of the activities of the Texas Legislature reveals that the current body has produced more new laws than any of its predecessors.

This is a remarkable achievement in view of the pressing time-taking demands of redistricting and increased spending, as well as the controversy on raising the pay of teachers and increasing taxes.

REDISTRICTING—State lawmakers have faced up to their most painful job of the session—legislative redistricting.

In a tension-charged atmosphere, senators performed self-surgery (under federal court order) which in effect will cut off seven rural incumbents and transfer their places to major population centers.

Somewhat more peacefully, the House placed the heads of 16 of its members on the chopping block.

Under the Senate plan, 13 incumbents will be jammed into six districts. They are:

Sens. Dorsey Hardeman, San Angelo, and Pete Snelson, Midland, (Dist. 25); Walter Richter, Gonzales, Culp Krueger, El Campo, and Bill Patman, Galveston (Dist. 18); Louis Crump, San Saba, and J. P. Word, Meridian (Dist. 12); Jack Strong, Longview, and Galloway Calhoun, Tyler (Dist. 2); Jack Hightower, Vernon and Andy Rogers, Childress, (Dist. 23); and Bill Moore, Bryan, and Mrs. Neveille H. Colson, Navasota (Dist. 5).

Senate reapportionment measure would assigne Harris county four senators, plus a share in two more. Dallas gets three, plus a share in one. Bexar gets two, plus a share in one.

Tarrant County retains a single Senate place and shares in another district. El Paso area will have its own senator.

House races where incumbents are combined with one to be eliminated, if all seek re-election shape up like this:

Reps. J. E. Miller Jr., Burkeville, and Emmett Lack, Kountze; Neal Solomon, Mount Vernon and E. M. Edwards, Pattonville; John Allen, Longview and John Mobley, Kilgore; David Crews, Conroe, and Cameron Hightower, Liberty; Vernon Backham, Denison, Don Hefton, Sherman and Bill Dungan, McKinney; Bill Hollowell, Grand Saline, Jim Markgraf, Scurry; Bill Satterwhite, Ennis, and Ronald Roberts, Hillsboro; Lloyd Guffey, El Campo, and Otha Birnkner, Van Vleet; J. C. Hallmark, Dalhart, and Fritz Thompson, Borger; Hudson Moyer, Walter Knapp and J. M. Simpson, Amarillo; Jack Woods, George Cowden, Dick Cherry, all of Waco, Travis McClinton, Coryell County; Charles Wheeler and Glenn Johnson, Temple, and Gene Fondren, Taylor.

House bill would give Harris County 19 representatives; Dallas 14; Bexar 10; Tarrant eight and El Paso five, or a total of 56 of the House's 150 seats.

Congressional redistricting remains to be unraveled.

BUDGET BILL TO COMPTROLLER — A record $3,600,000 state budget bill, major business of the session, finally is in the hands of the State Comptroller for certification, after agreement on corrections and last-minute additions by resolution.

Independent estimates calculate the $623,400,000 general fund appropriation would leave a surplus of $700,000 if no other spending measures are passed.

But other spending bills are almost certain to be passed. Tax bill authors are taking that into consideration in writing a revenue-raising measure which will pay for the $70 million (state share) teachers' salary boosts and the other pending requests for funds.

TEACHER PAY COMPROMISE SET — Teachers and Governor Connally reached a compromise in their pay dispute.

Teachers will get raises ranging from $90 for beginners to $1,100 a year for M. A. degree holders with 18 years' experience. Local school districts must share about 20 per cent of estimated $101 million biennial cost.

LOAN BILL STYMIED—Rep. W. Reed Quilliam Jr., of Lubbock tried without success to spring his bill to reduce interest rates on "small-small" loans of less than $100. Currently it runs about 320 per cent, according to Quilliam. His bill would permit approximately 120 per cent.

Bill, introduced early in the session, has been buried in a subcommittee.

Quilliam asked for a vote to "instruct" the committee to report the bill out of committee for a vote on the floor of the House. By refusing to do so, the House, in effect, killed the bill.

SPECIAL ELECTION CALL — Governor Connally has

DID YOU KNOW THAT?

During the past 25 years Texas Forest Service tree nurseries have produced almost 400 million pine seedlings. Such a quantity is sufficient to plant a strip of land 100 feet wide, almost twice around the earth at the equator. Both pine and hardwood seedlings are sold to Texas landowners at a nominal cost each winter. They are made available only for reforestation and windbreaks.

called a special election for June 26 in District 78 to elect a successor to Rep. Ed J. Carpenter, of Coahoma, who died May 11.

District is made up of Martin, Howard, Glasscock, Sterling, Coke, Reagan, and Irion counties.

Candidates may file up to 30 days before the election. Secretary of State Crawford C. Martin says applications for ballot must be in his office by May 27.

OIL ALLOWABLE UP LITTLE — Railroad Commission decided state oil production should be held to 28.1 per cent of potential during the next month.

That would set the June allowable at 2,900,000 barrels daily. May production, under 27.2 per cent order, was maximum of 2,800,000.

NAVIGATION BILL PASSED — House members passed a bill to create a Deep East Texas Navigation District, to build an 18-mile canal linking Sam Rayburn and Toledo Bend reservoirs.

Canal would promote barge traffic from East Texas to the Gulf of Mexico.

Highway Commission, meanwhile, let contracts for two highways to serve recreational facilities on north side of Rayburn Reservoir.

NEW COLLEGES VOTED — Texas' 23rd and 24th state senior colleges are about to be designated, subject to approval of the higher education coordinating board.

Both houses approved a senior college at Odessa, Texarkana college bill was passed by the Senate and promptly approved by House committee.

CRIMINAL CODE BILL PROTESTED — Revised code of criminal procedure has passed both houses but it is in conference committee.

Newsman have protested a House amendment which would prohibit law enforcement officials from making public any information which may "prejudice a jury." Newspapers maintain that the amendment would restrict freedom of the press and ask that the amendment be deleted.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES — Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr held as unconstitutional a budget bill rider to provide for mandatory retirement at age 70 of statutory officers are employees of the state.

In other opinions, Carr held: 1. Signer of an election petition for local option sale of alcoholic beverages may not withdraw his signature after 30-day time limit for filing.

2. Seawall Commission for Matagorda County will no longer be an effective body after September 1, 1965.

3. Travel expenses of task groups of the Emergency Planning Committee can be paid when properly approved.

4. Bill regulating purchasing procedures of gas and electric companies in Bexar County is unconstitutional as a local and special law.

PESTICIDES BILL ADVANCED — Bill to regulate pesticide applicators through an advisory committee in the office of the State Commissioner of Agriculture cleared the Senate.

But was sent back to the committee to draw up licensing requirements and requires annual registration under bond.

Streams In Desert Places

Ozelle Stephens

In our land today we find many hearts burdened and broken with sorrow, sin and trials of life. How we need to abide in the secret place of the Most High, let our hearts thirst after the living God.

Let His Word live in our hearts and minds. As we listen to the words of David in a time of trouble we hear him saying:

The Lord hath always been mindful of His people. He will bless them that fear Him, both small and great. The Lord shall increase you more and more.

He raiseth up the poor out of the dust, and lifteth the needy out of the dunghill that He may set him with princes. The heavens are the Lord's, but the earth hath He given to the children of men.

Trust Him who turneth the rock into a standing water and the flint into a fountain of water. Let His abiding love dwell in your heart in all the ways of life and you shall not be moved.
