

Hart Newspapers Consolidated

Little Hart, Texas, for years languishing on the irrigated Plains without a newspaper to call its own, woke up to find two newspapers claiming Hart as their home last week.

The papers were called The Hart Beat and The Hart Dispatch. They were organized by Bill Turner of Olton and W.H. Graham Jr. of Farwell. This week Graham and Turner are announcing consolidation of the publications. This is the first issue of the consolidation.

For some time Turner published a section in The Olton Enterprise called The Hart

Beat, in which appeared news and advertisements from this community. The Dispatch, on the other hand, was brand-new.

The Olton and Farwell newspapermen got together last week and both agreed that it would be uneconomic to attempt to publish two newspapers in a community of Hart's size.

Hart's newspaper will be published by Turner and printed by Graham at his plant in Friona.

"Both of us realized that we could not serve the best interests of Hart with two competing papers," Turner said.

Graham said: "We believe that the consolidation will result in a fine newspaper for the Hart community."

Both Mrs. Ena Bowden and Mrs. Virginia Reed will work for the newspaper and the office originally set up by The Hart Dispatch will be maintained.

HEY, LOOK WHAT WE FOUND---These two lads seem to be debating whether or not to pick the prize pumpkin they found in their great-grandmother's garden. They are Frank, left, and Wayne Bauman, 3 and 5-year-old sons of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bauman. Their great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Keenom.

Hart Couple's Garden Used By Many In The Community

No one in Hart should go hungry this fall, that is, unless he can't eat vegetables.

It seems a Hart couple, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Keenom, are eager to give away to their friends, most of the tasty products from their large garden, just as they have done for the past 12 years.

A vegetarian's paradise, the widespread plot is described as the "Biggest garden in Hart," with its wide assortment of vegetables.

A display of plant fertility, the mass of vines crawl along the once naked earth forming leafy designs, covering the ground almost solid, except for dotted intervals. The plants' spreading runners interweave and feel their way among the towering stalks of corn.

"It guess it's about as big a garden as anybody has got in Hart. . . we give away more out of it than we use," said Mrs. Keenom, smilingly.

The good natured Mrs. Keenom recalled that she and her husband have planted a garden every year since they moved into Hart 12 years ago from a nearby farm.

When asked what first inspired her to plant a garden, she laughingly said, "We had to have something to eat and food just tastes a whole lot better when you grow it."

Neighbors are welcome to stop by anytime for a visit and

Special Rate Still In Effect

How does the consolidation of The Hart Beat and The Hart Dispatch affect your subscription?

After the two newspapers came out last week with their first issues, many paid for subscriptions during the first few days.

Some bought The Hart Beat at the special introductory rate of 49 cents plus one cent tax. Others purchased The Hart Dispatch, at $3 plus 6 cents tax.

To avoid confusion, the newspaper is returning subscription checks written to The Hart Dispatch. This is being done to allow these people to subscribe at the special opening rate of 50 cents, if they so desire.

Subscriptions already taken at the 50-cent rate will stand.

Those persons in the Hart area who have been regular subscribers to The Hart Beat in the past, through the Olton Enterprise, will continue to receive both The Hart Beat and The Enterprise, through the remainder of their current subscriptions. It is not necessary for them to subscribe separately for The Hart Beat.

The special introductory rate of 50 cents is limited to a one year subscription and will be in effect until Aug. 1. After that, the rates will go up.

Regular subscription rates for the newspaper will be $2.50 plus five cents state tax in Castro and adjoining counties. Subscriptions mailed to other parts of Texas will be $4 plus eight cents tax. Elsewhere, the rate will be $4.

Rains Hit Hart Area

Rains which came to Hart late Tuesday totaled a half-inch in the community, it was reported Wednesday morning.

However the moisture was much heavier to the south. One farmer, Buster Aven, reported 1.50 inches Wednesday morning. Aven farms four miles south and a half east of Hart.

R.C. Bailey, five east, received .70 of an inch, while Paul Brooks, four east, reported .20.

Hart FFA Outlook Reported "Promising" For Next Year

Lanny Tucker, Hart FFA instructor, reports a "very promising" outlook for next year's FFA.

He said that members presently have 18 steers and 17 lambs on feed for the spring stock show circuit. Approximately 25 barrows are on feed and will be exhibited at the State Fair of Texas in October.

Barrow prospects for next year are looking good with approximately 20 litters of pigs.

During the past four years, chapter members have exhibited at least a breed champion at every show entered.

At the Hereford show, members have exhibited grand champion barrows, five breed champions, five reserve champions of breed and reserve champion lamb.

At the Castro County Show, they have exhibited the grand champion barrow four successive years, the reserve grand champion barrow three years, the grand champion steer one year, the reserve grand champanion steer three years, the grand champion lamb one year and the reserve grand champion lamb one year.

In the Plainview show they have exhibited the grand champion barrow and two breed champions.

They have had one champion at both the State of Texas fair and the South Plains show at Lubbock, two biggest and roughest barrow shows in the state.

A good outlook is also reported for leadership and judging teams. All members of district first place chapter conducting teams return as members of first place Area I.

Most of the land judging team will return, including second and third high individual in the entire area. Livestock and dairy cattle judging teams will have most members back, including the sixth high individual in Texas Tech contest. Two members of the meat judging team will return.

Baseball Boys Are Honored

The baseball boys were honored with a watermelon feast Monday night after the game at the ball park. Hosts were sponsors of the team.

Attending were Dimmitt and Hart ballplayers, coaches, managers and several guests.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Mr. and Mrs. Miles Cox lived in Hart in 1934 and then moved to Liban, where they lived until 1952, when they moved back to Hart. They are both members of the Baptist Church.

Mrs. Cox loves to cook for her friends and relatives and usually has company over for Sunday dinner. The Coxes have no children of their own but love for their nieces and nephews to visit with them.

Mrs. Tommie Simpler, Mrs. Cox's mother, makes her home with them.

Mrs. Cox said the following recipe was given to her by a good friend, Mrs. Bertie McLain, and she had found it to be a "real good recipe."

FRUIT COCKTAIL CAKE

1 1/2 cups sugar
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 eggs
2 cups fruit cocktail (1 can)
Mix with spoon (not mixer).
Pour into greased and floured loaf pan, 13 x 9.

Sprinkle on batter before baking:

1/2 cup brown sugar, 1/2 cup nuts. Chopped and mixed.

ICING

1 stick melted oleo
3/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup canned milk

Boil 2 minutes. Remove from fire and add 1 can coconut. Mix well and pour on cake while both are still hot.

Mrs. Brown Is Honored At Birthday Party

Mrs. Fannie Elizabeth Brown celebrated her 100th birthday Sunday in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Hugh Counts. Mrs. Brown has three living children, Mrs. Counts, Mrs. Draper of San Antonio and Mrs. Dona Harper of Modesto, Calif., 19 grandchildren, 13 great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Brown is the grandmother of Dwane Brown of Hart. Mr. and Mrs. Wade Cox and Mr. and Mrs. T.B. Cox of Hart attended the celebration.

- But some of us don't see the biggest bargain of all — the dividend we draw from buying at home.
- Statisticians tell us that a home-spent dollar will turn over an average of three or four times in the community before it moves on to some other area. That means $3 or $4 or more local trade volume for every dollar we spend here. Which makes the "$3 for $1" sign not too far-fetched after all.

Rural Residents Urged To Observe Farm Safety Week

A special week to alert rural residents to the hazards of farm life has been set by the President and the Governor, and an intensive campaign is being conducted in Texas to call public attention to this serious problem, according to Sherman Clark of Houston, president of the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council.

The week of July 22-28 has been designated "National Farm Safety Week" by President Kennedy and "Texas Farm Safety Week" by Governor Daniel. Many county judges over the state will issue proclamations calling for countrywide observance of the week. Theme of this year's observance is "Family Safety--At Work and Play."

Clark said the observance is coordinated on the national level by National Safety Council and the U.S. Department of Agriculture and on the state level by the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, the Texas Farm Bureau, and the Extension Service.

Kennedy, in his proclamation, calls for all persons and organizations allied with agriculture to "join together in a strong effort to reduce the number of farm, home and highway accidents."

In proclaiming the state observance, Daniel said, "Texas cannot afford the loss in human life, the misery of human injury, nor the economic costs resulting from farm accidents and others involving farm families."

Daniel noted that traffic crashed involving Texas farm families in 1961 resulted in more than 170 deaths, more than 600 injuries and more than 1,600 non-injury mishaps. He urged all Texas farm families to "acquaint themselves with the hazards of their specialized occupation and encourage all interested Texans and Texas organizations to take an active part in this campaign for greater farm safety."

Each day of the special week will have a different theme emphasized, Clark said. Beginning Sunday, July 22, they are: Reverence for Life; Safety Begins at Home; Agricultural Chemicals; Prevent Falls; Highway Safety; Farm Machinery, and Recreation Safety.

Clark pointed out that in one year, accidents of all types kill about 11,300 rural residents and injure about a million. Nearly half of the deaths are caused by traffic mishaps.

Postmaster Examinations Scheduled

An examination for Postmaster at Hart, Texas, $5370 a year, will be open for acceptance of applications until August 14, 1962, the Commission announced today. This examination has been announced under revised qualifications standards recently agreed upon between the Commission and the Post Office Department.

Competitors must have at least one and one-half years of experience (education above high school level may be substituted for 9 months of experience) showing that they have the ability to conduct and manage the community's postal business efficiently and to supervise employees so that customers are satisfied with the service.

Competitors must also show that they are of good reputation and that they can deal with the public agreeably and effectively.

Applicants must take a written test which will be given at Plainview. Those who pass will be assigned final ratings on the basis of this test and on their experience, and fitness for the position. They must have resided within the delivery of the office for one year immediately preceding the closing date of the examination. In addition, they must have reached their 18th birthday on the closing date for acceptance of applications. Persons over 70 years of age cannot be appointed.

Complete information about the examination requirements and instructions for filing applications may be obtained at the post office. Application forms must be filed with the U.S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D.C., and must be received or post-marked not later than the closing date.

load of fresh "roostnears" asserted Mrs. Keenom. "Got any fresh corn today?" a friend called to Mrs. Keenom as she looked over her garden.

"Shore, just help ya'self," she replied.

"Last year we didn't sell a thing out of it, just gave it all away," the grey-haired gardener remarked, with a gleam in her eye.

But she doesn't take all the credit for the care of the large garden plot with its thriving vegetables, that are encircled with a winding row of assorted flowers. "I help plant it and pick the vegetables, but my husband does most of the rest," she said.

No scarecrow ever was needed to keep away unwelcomed pests; "I don't put up anything to keep out the birds, I just stand out there and that's enough," she laughed.

"We've raised some awful big mushmellons before, and last year we had a turnip that weighed over a pound and a quarter," she said.

The neighborhood kiddoes know they don't have to sneak into the Keenom watermelon patch. "Gordon always just gives the kids some melons... the children around here always have been awful nice," she said.

If the neighbors didn't come for a visit and stock up on some of her fresh vegetables, Mrs. Keenom said she would "just go throw a rock through their window and invite them over."

The spry great-grandmother has a "never-give-up" spirit. Last year her garden was hailed out three times and she "just kept redoing it, and got a lot out of it."

A list of numerous vegetables are grown in the Keenom garden. Among these are okra, peas, beans, beets, carrots, lettuce, squash, cantelopes and pumpkins.

"I had a row of dewberries that I picked 17 gallons of of this year and some of the biggest strawberries I've ever seen grow," she said.

A couple of rows of peanuts can always be found each year in the Keenom garden, according to Mrs. Keenom. "We just pull'em and put them in a sack and let hem dry," she said. "Then they give them to us neighbors for seed," Mrs. Lester Richburg added.

"We'll probably just keep planting a garden as long as we live here, because we got plenty of space for it and we might as well use it. Besides working out there keeps a person happy and from worrying so much," Mrs. Keenom said.

The Keenom's two great-grandchildren, Wayne and Larry Bauman, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bauman, have been eagerly eyeing the ripening watermelons in the patch.

The Keenoms have four children and 13 grandchildren. Two of the grandchildren, Mrs. Bauman and Wayne Brown, live in Hart.

DON'T LET CARELESSNESS REAP A GRIM HARVEST OF COSTLY, FATAL ACCIDENTS ON YOUR FARM!

Every year, thousands of lives are lost and thousands of persons are injured in accidents on the farm. These accidents cause suffering, disabilities and financial hardship to the families involved, as well as reducing the productive capacity of our farm industry. No farmer can afford not to practice farm safety!
