Proposed Postal Hike Explained

An "inherited" postal deficit of $1.2 billion is responsible for the proposal to raise the postage bill for residents of Hart, Postmaster Jewel Brooks said today.

Mrs. Brooks said she had been advised by Postmaster General Winton M. Blount in Washington, D. C. that the record $1.2 billion 1970 deficit compelled President Nixon to seek postage rate increases. Without higher rates the Department will be left with a staggering deficit that would become an added public tax burden.

In addition to increasing letter mail from 6 to 7 cents, as proposed by the Johnson Administration, President Nixon also asked that second and third-class mailers help reduce the large postal deficit which would otherwise be paid by taxpayers, the postmaster said.

For bulk third-class mail and most magazines and newspapers, the rates would be increased 16 percent to 20 percent above today's levels, he noted. These percentages include rate hikes already scheduled by previous action of Congress. The President's recommended increases will reduce the 1970 postal deficit more than $600 million.

The postmaster listed these other details on the proposed increases: First class mail: Letters and post cards would be increased one cent, to 7 cents an ounce a piece, on July 1, 1969. Airmail postage would remain at 10 cents. This will yield $557.2 million in new revenues.

Second-class Mail: A handling charge of 3/10ths of a cent per piece for circulation outside home counties would become effective July 1, 1969. This would yield $15.3 million annually and would represent a 12 percent increase in addition to the 8 percent rise scheduled to take effect January 1, 1970.

Third-class mail: For single pieces, rates would be increased one cent per piece. This would yield $12.4 million. For regular bulk third-class, the minimum would be increased to a uniform rate of 4.2 cents January 1, 1970 as contrasted with the present rate of 3.6 cents. The 1970 increase would lift revenues by $46.8 million annually.

Secretary Of Agriculture To Speak In Amarillo

A 30th anniversary celebration will be held at the USDA Southwestern Great Plains Research Center in Amarillo Saturday, May 17.

The observance will feature an open house of recently expanded facilities beginning at 9 a. m. and a field tour getting under way at 12:30 in the afternoon, announces Dr. B. A. Stewart, director of the Center.

Highlighting the event will be an address by Dr. Clifford M. Hardin, secretary of agriculture, at 10 a. m. He will be accompanied by several congressional leaders, other USDA officials and representatives of Texas A&M University.

A dutch luncheon of barbecue will be served at 11:30 a. m. adds Stewart. The field tour will end the day's activities at about 2:30 in the afternoon. Stewart invited all interested individuals to attend in order to become more familiar with the Center and the wide scope of agricultural research projects presently being conducted. The facility serves a vital function in developing information that can be put to practical use in boosting the agricultural economy of the area.

The Center is located about 12 miles west of Amarillo on Interstate 40.

Improvements Gets O.K.

Texas Highway Commission today authorized contractual agreements with local officials in Castro County to acquire right of way for improvement to US Highway 60.

The right of way will be acquired from the Deaf Smith County Line southwestward to the Parmer County line, a distance of 2.4 miles. The State's share of the estimated cost is $28 thousand.

Hart schools have been approved for an eight-week Head Start program for students starting to school in the fall.

Classes will be held from June 2 through July 25. Parents interested in sending their child should contact Elmer Six, elementary principal.

Children will be bussed to and from school and will be fed a free lunch as part of the services.

Mrs. Willa Seymour has been employed to teach one class and, if enough children register for the program, a second class will be taught by Mrs. Flora Bledsoe.

Mrs. Lois Riley, school nurse, will be employed for the first four weeks to administer health services. Mrs. Birdie Godfrey will be in charge of the lunchroom for the summer program.

The proposed school calendar for the 1969-70 school year was adopted at the regular meeting of the Board of Education this week.

The resignation of Mrs. Nancy Wescott as homemaking instructor for the 69-70 school year was accepted. The following personnel for the school lunchroom were employed, Mrs. Birdie Godfrey, supervisor; and Mmes. Thelma Martin, Ora Richburg, and Violet Sharp.

In other action, the board voted to purchase four new sewing machines for the homemaking department.

The athletic budget for the 1969-70 school year was accepted.

Board members voted to open the school library to the public two hours a day this summer.

Weather Trends Could Predict Season For Farmer

Can weather, the nemesis to many High Plains farmer's profit-book, be charted to indicate trends for what can be expected during the coming farming season?

This is one of the questions that could be answered in the extensive weather recording and reporting data compiled annually by the High Plains Research Foundation.

Weather "record keeper" at the Foundation, Jim Valliant, Soil Scientist, said charted graphs of weather condictions over the past years seem to indicate some patterns that follow similar trends through each season.

"It has been my observation that in years we have a warm February and a cool March, we've had good cotton weather during the summer," Valliant said. If this holds true, this should be a good cotton year due to the snow and cold weather occurring in March.

And if such trends can be accurate, then farmers could plan their farming program and cultural patterns to take advantage of weather.

Among the hardest decisions to be made by the farmer is the proper planting time. Rule of the thumb is when the soil temperature reaches a 10-day average of 60 degrees. However, if the farmer knew approximately when this temperature could be reached, he could plant five days earlier while the average was being set.

Jim Steiert Gets Diploma

Jim Steiert has received a diploma from the North American School of Conservation. The home study course was begun April 19, 1968 and completed with a grade point average of B plus.

The charted temperature graphs from 1962 to 1968 show that the last cold spell for the season occurred between April 26 and May 12 in six of seven years. A study of the weekly weather forecasts during this period could pin-point this last spring cold spell and permit the selection of a more optimum cotton planting date.

Valliant said the weather records could provide a key to weather trends that could pin-point dates of unfavorable weather and farmers knowing this could take advantage of special cultural practices to produce more income.

Editorials

GUEST EDITORIAL

A concentrated effort is now being made in Austin by proponents of the controversial report of the Governor's Committee on Public School Education on behalf of the tax equalization program proposed in the report, now under study in House and Senate sub-committees.

This effort is receiving strong editorial support from metropolitan newspapers, based on the Bartlett tax study made for the COPSE report. This study is based on a highly questionable and disturbing premise that the agricultural economy of the state can afford this tremendous new tax burden. It also purports to prove that city schools are being cheated out of their fair share of school tax money by rural areas.

One recent editorial quoted an example to show that a rural landowner pays much less than the amount of school taxes being paid by an urban resident. Any shirt-sleeved economist can quickly spot the fallacy in these statistics.

Let's look at a city dweller who draws a salary of $12,000 a year and owns a $20,000 home. If his school tax rate is $1.50 per $100 and he is taxed on 50 per cent of market value--or $10,000--his school tax bill will be $150 a year.

Now let's look at a rural landowner who owns a 1,000 acre farm or ranch, with an assessed value of $150 per acre. He cannot by any stretch of the imagination, come close to netting the $12,000 annual income of his city neighbor from his 1,000 acres.

Our rural landowner's tax bill, based on the same rate and assessed value; $1,125, nearly 10 times that paid by the city homeowner.

This is tax equalization? We doubt it.

KITCHEN

KORNER

BY LELA GALLION

I planted a small garden this year for a change. We usually don't use enough to really pay to plant one. Now I watch it everyday to see if everything will come up. Of course the radishes are up and I'm just waiting for the day they will be big enough to eat. Also the lettuce. The salad vegetables are the most appealing to my taste since I'm a salad lover. Here are some salad recipes you might enjoy.

FROZEN COCKTAIL SLICES

2 3-oz. pkgs. cream cheese
1/2 c. mayonnaise

1 No. 2 1/2 can fruit cocktail, well drained
1/2 c. drained maraschino cherries, quartered
2 1/2 c. tiny colored marshmallows
1 c. whipping cream

Soften cream cheese, blend with mayonnaise. Stir in the fruit and marshmallows. Fold in the whipped cream. Tint with a few drops of red food coloring to give a pretty pink color.

Pour into long or square cake pan, or two refrigerator trays. Freeze firm, about 6 hours, or overnight. To serve, let it stand out for a few minutes, then cut in squares and remove from the containers. Trim with cherries. Serve on lettuce, with little crackers.

MOLDED MELON SALAD

1 3-oz. pkg. orange-pineapple flavored gelatin
1 c. boiling water
1 T. lemon juice
1 pkg. (16 oz.) frozen melon balls
Crisp lettuce

Mayonnaise or salad dressing

1. Dissolve gelatin in boiling water in a medium-size bowl; stir in lemon juice.

2. Add frozen melon balls. Stir, breaking melon balls apart with a fork as they thaw, just until gelatin starts to thicken. Spoon into a pan, 8x8x2. Chill 20 minutes, or until firm.

3. Cut into serving-size blocks; place on lettuce-lined plates. Top each with mayonnaise or salad dressing.

Moments OF Meditation

C. T. Cunningham, Pastor of The First Baptist Church

Who of us, when we were small, has not taken a clock to pieces and marvelled at the series of cogs which cause the clock to run and keep correct time. Some of the cogs are large, and some minute; but remove the smallest cog, and what happens? The large cogs cannot run without the small.

In the case of the old-fashioned clock, the source of power is the hand-wound spring. In our modern electric clocks, the source, of course, is electricity. In either case, no matter how the cogs mesh, they will be ineffective unless the power is there and is utilized.

The power is available to all of us, from the smallest to the largest cog. All we have to do is make the proper connection. In George R. Stewart's literary masterpiece, "The Storm" he describes vividly the efforts made by power companies, telephone companies, and others responsible for national communications, to keep their lines of communication in operation during a great storm. In that effort men die and suffer incredible hardship - but the lines are somehow kept open so that the housewife need no longer complain that her iron wouldn't work, and the business mogul would cease to gripe because the telephone conversation which he had been making to a distant city had been disconnected. Stewart quotes the words of the preacher: "The wind goeth toward the south, and turneth about unto the north; it whirleth about continually, and the wind returneth again according to his circuits." Yes, the storms come and go, but the power is still there!

Is your family being buffeted by storms from without and within? Do you feel the winds rising in your personal life? Have the wheels slowly ground to a halt? Check your power-connections!

You say, "I'm not much - I'm just a little cog in the machine!" Then remember these words by Florence Earle Coates:

A narrow window may let in the light,

A tiny star dispel the gloom of night,

A little deed a mighty wrong set right.

A rose, abloom, may make a desert fair,

A single cloud may darken all the air,

A spark may kindle ruin and despair.

A smile - and there may be the end of strife;

A look of love, and hate may sheathe the knife;

A word - ah, it may be a word of life!

But the hands that hold the world, what will you do with them. There are four things you can do with your hands:

(1) Clench them in anger

Many times we hear the words, "The world is in the hands of the youth". We accept this world and the responsibilities that accompany it.

FROM O.S.U. O'COLLEGIAN

And it came to pass
Early in the morning toward the last day of the semester,
There arose a great multitude smiting books and wailing.
And there was much weeping and gnashing of teeth,
For the day of judgement was at hand
And they were sore afraid, for they had left undone
Those things which they ought to have done,
But there was no help for it.

And there were many abiding in the dorm
Who had kept watch over their books by night.
But it availed them naught.

But some there were who arose peacefully
For they had prepared themselves the way
And made straight paths for knowledge.
And these were known
As wise burners of the midnight oil,
And to others they were known as "curve-raisers."
And the multitude arose
And ate a hearty breakfast
And they came unto the appointed place,
And their hearts were heavy within them.
And they had come to pass,
But some to pass out.
And some of them repented of their riotous living and bemoaned their fate
But they had not a prayer.
And at the last hour there came among them
One known as the instructor, and they feared him exceedingly.
He was of the diabolical smile,
And passed papers among them and went his way.
And many and varied
Were the answers that were given,
For some of his teachings had fallen among fertile minds,
Others had followed among the fallows,
While still others had fallen flat.
And some there were who wrote for one hour,
And others for two,
But some turned away sorrowfully, and many of these
Offered up a little bull
In hopes of pacifying the instructor.
And these were the ones who had not a prayer
And they were finished.
And they gathered up their belongings
And went their way quietly, each in his own direction,
And each one vowing unto himself in this manner:
"I shall not pass this way again."

Financial Facts

By Willis A. Hawkins, Jr.

There have been many explanations of how the dollar sign came into being.

One theory was that the initials "U.S." were placed before an amount. The "S" was written over the "U". This formed what resembled the dollar sign, like this "S" (US).

This is the explanation most widely accepted; Our dollar sign evolved from the Mexican or Spanish "Ps". "Ps" stood for pesos, piastres, or pieces of eight.

The theory is based on the study of old manuscripts. They revealed that the "S" eventually was written over the "P". It resulted in a close equivalent of the $ sign, like this "S" (SP).

The $ (SP) mark was widely used before the adoption of the United States dollar in 1785.

Proposed CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

NUMBER TWO ON THE BALLOT (HJR9)

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Article III of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended by adding thereto a new Section 49-d-1 to read as follows:

"Section 49-d-1. (a) In addition to Texas Water Development Bonds heretofore authorized to be issued by Sections 49-c and 49-d of Article III of the Constitution, the Texas Water Development Board is hereby authorized to issue $3,500,000,000 in aggregate principal amount of bonds. No part of such additional bonds shall be issued prior to approval thereof by the vote of two-thirds of the elected members of both houses of the Legislature.

"(b) The proceeds from the sale of such bonds shall be deposited in the Texas Water Development Fund.

"(c) The bonds herein authorized and all bonds authorized by such Sections 49-c and 49-d of Article III shall bear such interest and mature as the Texas Water Development Board shall prescribe subject to the limitations as may be imposed by the Legislature.

"(d) The Texas Water Development Fund shall be used for the purposes heretofore permitted by and subject to the limitations in said Sections 49-c and 49-d and in addition thereto for the purposes of developing water resources and facilities for the State of Texas, both within the State and without the State of Texas. Provided, however, that financial assistance may be made pursuant to the provisions of such Sections 49-c and 49-d subject only to the availability of funds and without regard to the provisions in Section 49-c that such financial assistance shall terminate after December 31, 1982.

"(e) Under such provisions as the Legislature may prescribe, the Texas Water Development Board may receive grants and, in addition, execute contracts with the United States or any of its agencies, other states of the United States, foreign governments and others, for the acquisition and development of such water resources and facilities for the State of Texas. Such contracts when executed may be secured by the general credit of the state, and if so secured shall constitute general obligations of the State of Texas in the same manner and with the same effect as Texas Water Development Bonds. If facilities are acquired for a term of years, such contracts shall contain provisions for renewal that will protect the state's investment. The aggregate principal amount of Texas Water Development Bonds authorized herein and in said Sections 49-c and 49-d shall be reduced by the aggregate of principal payments committed under such contracts constituting general obligations of the state. The provisions hereof shall not be construed to limit the authority of the Texas

Water Development Board to execute contracts or issue revenue bonds when such contracts or bonds are not secured by the general credit of the state.

"(f) Texas Water Development Bonds and such contracts secured by the general credit of the state shall after approval by the Attorney General, registration by the Comptroller of Public Accounts of the State of Texas, and delivery to the purchasers, be incontestable and shall constitute general obligations of the State of Texas under the Constitution of Texas.

"(g) Should the Legislature enact enabling laws in anticipation of the adoption of this amendment, such Acts shall not be void by reason of their anticipatory character."

Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this state at an election to be held on Tuesday, August 5, 1969, at which election all ballots shall be printed to provide for voting for or against the proposition: "The constitutional amendment broadening the powers of the Texas Water Development Board and the purposes of the Texas Water Development Fund; eliminating the interest limitations on Texas Water Development Bonds; raising the authorized amount of Texas Water Development Bonds by $3,500,000,000; extending the maturity schedule on Texas Water Development Bonds; eliminating the procedures for curtailment and the curtailment date of financial assistance to be provided by the Texas Water Development Board."

He marvels at the majesty of the clouds and the vastness of the sky. He thrills at the reflections cast upon the water by the rainbow palette of the setting sun. He is awed, humbled—yet, at the same time, fiercely proud.

His feelings contradict each other. For he knows he is a small creature dwarfed by the overpowering glory of nature, yet, at the same time, a man—a man created in the image of God.

Of course, we all need to be humble, but we also need to be proud. In one sense we are insignificant, and in another we are all-important. The problem lies in finding the proper balance between the two.

To understand the whole man—the all of you, you must turn to His Church where God is forever revealing the mysteries of His universe. Here we are taught truths that have endured throughout the ages. Here we must come if we are to find the proper balance in life.
