Activities Planned For Hart Day

David Martinez, Dimmitt; Bo Myers, Dimmitt; Ricky Black, Hart; Gary Wise, Dimmitt; and Norman Hays, Dimmitt. Back row, Coach Don Parker, Dimmitt; Paul Ramos, Dimmitt; Lonnie Strickland, Dimmitt; Stan Dyer, Hart; David Schaeffer, Dimmitt; Bill Bates, Hart and Doc Bates, Hart. The team will challenge Borger at Anton Monday night.

August 9 has been set as "Hart Day" during Castro County's annual celebration and Hart residents began planning activities for the special day.

A meeting was held Monday night in the community room of the Farmers State Bank, with all businesses and clubs being represented. Wister Clevenger acted as chairman of the committee.

The Chi Psi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi will be in charge of the floats which will make up a parade. The members of the chapter will be contacting businesses and clubs being encouraged them to prepare a float for the parade.

Cookies and drinks will be served in the community room by the Good Neighbors Club.

A trophy will be presented to the best dressed man and woman. All residents are asked to dress in appropriate attire for the event, wearing western clothes or clothes which were worn back in the early settler's days.

Most business men will be offering a free gift to be given away at a drawing. Winners must be present to receive the gift.

The parade is scheduled to begin promptly at 2 p. m. and the drawing for the free gifts will be held immediately following the parade.

The Henderson arena will be a beehive of activity following the drawing as area riding clubs observe a play day.

Adding to the fun of the day will be the dropping of ping pong balls from an airplane. The balls which have numbers will be worth prizes to some lucky youngsters.

Clevenger said that everyone is urged to take part in the parade and enter a car, bicycle, unicycle or a float to "make Hart Day a bigger and better day, this year."

Unidentified Fish Appear In Well

"Down in the meadow in a 'itty bitty pool...swam three little fishes and a mama fish too..."

But...meanwhile back on the farm...down in an irrigation well 250 feet deep, swam many, many fish.

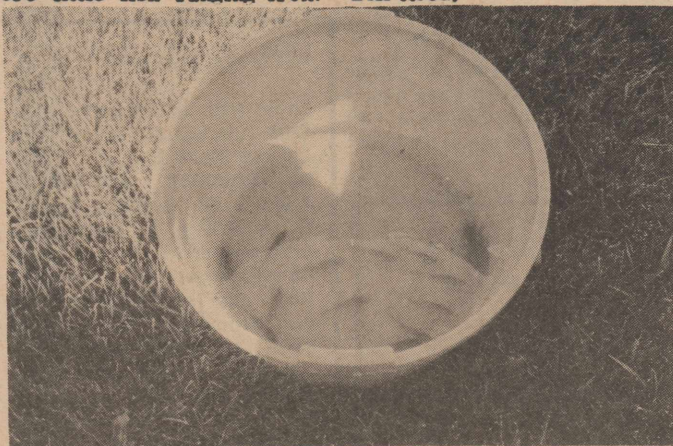

And Glyn Reed has a picture to prove that this is not just another fish story."

It seems that Reed, who farms east of Hart three miles, shut off his well this week and when the water receded, there were little fish ranging from two to four inches in length, swimming along the ditch.

Reed scooped up some of the fish and put them into a tub. Dead fish numbered in the hundreds along the irrigation ditches and it was surmised that there were great numbers of the fish also in the field.

The remaining live fish, which no one has been able to identify as to their species, are in a small tub at the home of Reed's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Reed.

NOT JUST ANOTHER 'FISH STORY' ---Glynn Reed rescued this bucket of fish from the irrigation ditches on his farm three miles east of Hart, after he shut his well off this week. There were hundreds of fish in the field and in the ditches and their species is unknown.

Cotton And Feed Acreage Must Be Certified Soon

August 15 is the final date to certify program acreages under the 1969 Cotton and Feed Grain Programs, according to Charley E. Hill, County Office Manager, Castro County ASCS in Dimmitt.

Correctly measured acreages may be certified now. The earlier the certification is received the sooner farm data can be submitted and drafts mailed to farmers for final payments.

The acreage reports must be accurate. If more or less acreages is certified than the actual amount, one will be subject to severe penalties or loss of all program payments.

The drafts for final payments cannot be delivered until the required number of farms have been spotchecked. This year about 30 per cent of the participating farms will be spotchecked on a random basis. After a farm is certified it is subject to spotcheck and acreage of any crop cannot be plowed up or changed to be in compliance with the program acreages.

Hill urges participants to take care of their diverted acres. Failure to control weeds and erosion on the diverted acres could result in the loss of program payments.

Soybeans planted on diverted acres for cover must be reported and plowed under by no later than September 30.

Castro County Accredited TB Area

Dr. James B. Henderson, Executive Director of the Texas Animal Health Commission, announces the reaccreditation of Castro County as a Modified Accredited Tuberculosis Area.

The County Agent, Charles L. Hottel, has received the certificate which is good for six years.

This Commission wishes to express its appreciation to the people of Castro County for the splendid cooperation extended to its representatives while work was being conducted in Castro County; and requests the further cooperation of the citizens of the area to maintain the tuberculosis status of the county.

Hart Residents Attend Tech Swine Course

Several Hart residents attended the Seventeenth Annual Swine Short Course at Texas Tech University July 10 and 11.

The workshop was sponsored by the Texas Pork Producers Association and Tech. Topics of discussion included "Progress And Plans For Swine Research At Texas Tech" and "The Hog Cholera Situation And How It Affects The Producer".

Approximately 200 pork producers attended the workshop including Mr. and Mrs. Lanny Tucker and Jim, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Davis, Phil and Debbie, Vic Nelson, Ed Bennett and Dean Sanders.

Bob Price Writes

Every family in the 18th District will be receiving in the mail in the next several days a two-page questionnaire from Panhandle Congressman Bob Price. Congressman Price announced today that he is sending a questionnaire to every home in the 18th District, in an effort to determine public sentiment on a number of major issues facing the 91st Congress.

"It is most important and helpful to me to know what members of my constituency are thinking on issues from space to farm problems and the way to settle the war in Vietnam," Congressman Price said. "We get mail on all these subjects, of course, which I read to keep in close touch with public sentiment in the district. At the same time, however, many people are often too busy to write. We have tried to design the questionnaire to make it as easy as possible to mark and return. No envelope will be needed; only a six-cent stamp. I am hoping for the largest possible response so that I can obtain the most representative sampling possible," Congressman Price said.

Included are questions on the ABM system, inflation, taxes, crime control, electoral college reform, postal reform, the draft, as well as questions relating to agriculture and space which Congressman Price has a special interest in as a member of both the House Agriculture Committee and the House Committee on Science and Astronautics.

"As soon as they are received, we will begin tabulating the results and will make them available to the public," Congressman Price said.

Special space has been provided on the form to allow both husband and wife to respond. Costs of printing and paper are being borne by Congressman Price and contributions from residents in the 18th District.

Financial Facts

By Willis A. Hawkins, Jr.

No budget is permanent. You change it, work over it and finally settle on it. You are never fully satisfied with it. One thing you do realize. And that is—there is no steadfast formula.

Let us not look upon budgeting as a system of penny-pinching. It is a planned program of financial management.

Following a strict budget actually helps all members of a family. Thus all members of the family should cheerfully cooperate.

The first step in setting up a budget is to outline goals. The next step is to estimate how much money will be available.

Write down all income you expect to receive. Estimate your expenses. Then set up your plan. This plan should be based on goals, income and expenses.

SENSING THE NEWS

By Thurman Sensing

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Southern States Industrial Council

Though the misnamed Students for A Democratic Society is a clear threat to good order and academic freedom at every American university, few institutions have yet taken an absolutely firm line in dealing with this destructive organization. The kind of measure needed to prevent campus disorders is that taken by the Louisiana State University Board of Supervisors at the close of the academic year. The board approved a resolution banning the SDS from all campuses within the LSU system.

The LSU board resolution said that "its current activities throughout the United States make it apparent that SDS is a radical, revolutionary organization dedicated to the destruction of American institutions, beginning with American universities. It, therefore, constitutes a clear and present danger to the entire Louisiana state university system."

The SDS was formed in 1962. It has been the spearhead of revolutionary action from coast to coast. Only now, seven years after its founding, are colleges and universities beginning to wake up to the SDS' destructive goals. In the past, the SDS didn't have any difficulty finding a campus on which to hold its annual national convention. This year, the SDS admitted, it was turned down by 37 colleges and universities and at least 25 meeting halls, parks and camps.

Some institutions have yet to demonstrate courage in dealing with the SDS. Harvard, the nation's oldest university, actually allowed an SDS spokesman to deliver a harangue at commencement exercises. The speaker poured abuse on the United States and, finally, had to be removed from the platform. At Radcliffe, Harvard's sister college in Cambridge, Mass., the SDS also was given an opportunity to have a spokesman address the graduates.

Indeed Radcliffe authorities seemed determined to give offense to patriotic, law-abiding citizens. Its commencement speaker was the Rev. William S. Coffin Jr., the Yale University chaplain who last year was convicted by a federal court jury of conspiring to violate the selective service law.

Yale showed no more concern than Radcliffe for the feelings of its patriotic alumni. A member of the graduating class was allowed to deliver a speech attacking America's involvement in the Vietnam War. No one was given an opportunity to speak in behalf of the Yale alumni proudly serving in Vietnam or who rendered loyal service to their country in past wars in defense of freedom.

At Princeton, the valedictorian, Michael A. Bernstein, called the United States "sick". He expressed solidarity with Black Panthers in New York, mutinous soldiers in California, and SDS members involved in a disturbance in a New Jersey plant. He said "their options open up possibilities for us, and...their defeat would be ours as well."

By allowing a handful of students to give such speeches, these universities give the country a false picture of attitudes among young Americans in college. The SDS has only about 35,000 members, a small number in a country of more than 200 million people. The militant minority is just that, but the prominence they get -- often with the support of radical faculty members and administrators -- helps the extremists build up their image as a powerful force.

The vast majority of college students want to get an education and firmly disapprove of the destructive outlook of the SDS and similar groups. Often, they want to take counter-action against the extremists.

At Ohio University recently, members of the Young Americans For Freedom, a patriotic group expressing the will of the majority of students, successfully frustrated the attempts of SDS members to break up an ROTC parade. Such counter-action is growing in importance as the SDS becomes more aggressive.

The Student Council at Palm Beach Atlantic College, in Florida, said "The students here believe it is high time some student body spoke up for the huge majority of students and let it be known that they are strongly opposed to the disruptive actions of small groups of students."

For the majority to take a stand is the American way. The New Left may soon find it is facing a revolt in reverse.

CHAIRMAN WISTER CLEVINGER leads a discussion about Hart Day activities which were planned at a meeting of interested persons at the Farmers State Bank community room Monday night. Women's clubs and businesses were represented at the meeting.

An Island Adventure

For an adventure with "Instant Hawaiian Cookery" try Little Smokies Honolulu! This appetizing main meal captures all the exotic flavors of food from the Hawaiian Islands, yet removes the long hours of preparation. You'll feel you have the native touch!

The buttery soy and pineapple sauce contains delicious tidbits of pineapple, fresh sliced celery, slivered almonds and plenty of appetizing Little Smokies. The miniature all meat links are a protein-rich addition to any casserole or main dish supper, reminds Ellen Edwards, Home Economist for Oscar Mayer & Co. Serve Little Smokies Honolulu with steaming bowls of rice.

Complete the menu in the style of the islands. Cook spears of fresh asparagus and serve crisp rolls and steaming cups of tea. Your adventure into Hawaiian cookery will be interesting and unusual with Little Smokies Honolulu.

LITTLE SMOKIES HONOLULU

|--------------------------------------|--|
| 1 can (13-1/2 oz.) pineapple tidbits | 1 cup water |
| 1/2 cup sliced celery | 1 tablespoon soy sauce |
| 2 tablespoons butter | 2 packages (5 oz. each) Little Smokies |
| 2 tablespoons cornstarch | 1/4 cup slivered almonds |
| 3 cups hot cooked rice | |

Drain pineapple, reserving liquid. In a skillet, cook pineapple and celery in butter 5 minutes. Stir in cornstarch. Add water, pineapple liquid and soy sauce. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thick and clear. Stir in Little Smokies and almonds. Cook slowly 5 minutes, or until heated through. Serve over rice. Makes 4 servings.

HOLLOWAY'S

Summer Angler's Favorite

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article was written by Jim Steiert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Steiert. Jim plans to enroll in West Texas State University this fall and study journalism.)

As the oppressively hot days of summer close in, the thoughts of many a fisherman dwell upon some far-away mountain stream, amidst the cool surroundings of overhanging pine trees. More important, however, almost all these dreamers visualize a heft trout, distinguished by his colorful appearance, struggling at the end of their line. This trout's beautiful coloration gives him his famous name, Rainbow Trout.

The species Salmo gairdnerii originated in the Western states of the U. S., but is now generally distributed over the whole world, including Hawaii, Africa, and New Zealand. Rainbow trout have become the most popular trout by far, largely because they are beautiful to look at, and exciting to catch, as the Rainbow jumps out of the water readily when hooked, and has become famous for its slashing fight.

One of the most important roles played by the Rainbow trout in this country is the position of importance the Rainbow has in the stocking of streams which might otherwise be unproductive. Rainbows grow rapidly and domesticate well in hatcheries, and show the biggest return for the effort required to stock them. The Rainbow is tolerant to a variety of habitat conditions, and the larger the body of water, the faster this trout will grow. Above all, the Rainbow is fairly easy to catch.

Today, when increasing demands are being placed upon our limited recreation facilities by a growing population, the purpose of stocking such fish has been to give more fish to a wider public at lowest possible cost. The Rainbow, just as he rises to a well presented dry-fly, has risen to this challenge and answered it beautifully.

Rainbows are not choosy, they take all manner of fishing lures with equal enthusiasm, thrilling the fly purist, the novice, the spin-fishing specialist, and just about everyone who has ever cared to bait a hook and wet a line in quest of him.

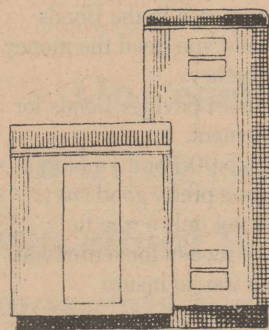

There are few fish today that could meet such stiff demands so effectively and readily. The Rainbow trout has been a leader in promoting sport fishing, and has proved to many generations the true value of angling for pleasure. Truly, the Rainbow trout deserves his position as one of the most popular cold water game fishes in the world today. Set a hook solidly into one sometime, and enjoy his brisk struggles. It will take only one or two of those slashing jumps to convince you that he's everything he's cracked up to be!

Most fishermen cast their lures downstream when they are seeking trout, for the simple reason that they hang bottom less often that way. Chances are, they also hang fewer trout. Any bait or lure will take more trout when cast upstream because its appearance to the trout is more natural as it drifts downstream with the current, and it resembles natural food more closely. Anglers take far more trout when they make their casts upstream, and allow the bait to drift down. Try it and see!

DIANA MALONE

Wedding Plans Revealed

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Malone of Olton announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Diana to Clifford Ray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Ray.

Vows will be pledged Saturday, Aug. 30 at 8 p. m. in the First Baptist Church in Olton.

The bride-elect is a 1969 graduate of Olton High School and attended Texas Tech this summer. The prospective groom attended Hart schools and is enrolled in Oklahoma State University in Okmulgee, Okla.

Friends and relatives are invited.

Wouldn't it be a shame if you saved a pile of money for retirement and there was nothing to retire to?

There's only one way to save money that insures your country's future at the same time.

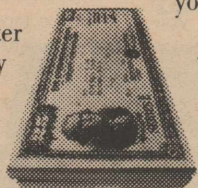

That's U.S. Savings Bonds.

With U.S. Savings Bonds, you're simply helping your country make the future a little better than the present.

Also, Savings Bonds are easy and automatic. All you do is fill out a little card through a Payroll Savings Plan where you work. And then you sit back and forget 'em while the money piles up.

And if you set just a little aside every payday, you'll never even feel the pinch.

And you don't have to muster up any willpower to save every payday, because your boss does it for you. It's something like setting up extra paydays for the future.

You don't pay any state or local income taxes.

If your Bonds are lost, or burned, or stolen, we simply replace them without cost.

So there's no risk.

You can even cash in the Bonds any time. Should you need the money for some emergency.

Think about Savings Bonds for your retirement.

One $25.00 Bond a month would be a pretty good start.

It's not only a way to insure money for retirement.

It's a way to insure retirement.

LEWIS LLEWELLYN

What Happened To Harvard?

Cartoonist and caustic commentator on the current scene Al Capp said recently that Harvard University had degenerated into a "combination pigpen and playpen."

Everyone except the anarchists and the lunatic fringe of the liberal left has been appalled at what has happened on the campus of the revered institution, Harvard University.

What is the reason for the disintegration in this renowned intellectual community?

Harvard was founded to provide education for young men, with the express purpose that this education was to be guided by the principle of dedication to truth, Christ, and the church.

How far has Harvard strayed from this!

Radical Shift

Though established by men who revered the Bible and had uncompromising faith in God, the university became the citadel of leftist educational and political philosophy.

Of course, the evolution from the original philosophy of putting God first to the present attitude—which has produced the current chaotic condition at Cambridge—was brought about by a complex variety of factors.

But, underneath it all, the denial of the authority of the Bible should be recognized as a very significant determinant of direction.

Of course, I am aware that those who themselves deny the authority of the Bible will dispute this.

Nevertheless, it cannot be denied that those who believe the Bible and who follow in the steps of the Master do not go about promoting anarchy.

They do not make it a practice to shout obscenities at all who disagree with them.

Students and others who are patterning their lives after the example set by the Nazarene do not act as the Harvard rebels have acted.

Denying the authority of the Bible was the first slippery step on the road which has led Harvard to the brink of anarchy.

Contrast

I have just returned home after attending the commencement convocation of Bryan College, a small Christian liberal arts college in Dayton, Tenn.

One thing which impressed me as being in sharp contrast with what is happening on some other campuses was this: each graduating senior, as he or she was handed the coveted diploma by the president, stepped to the microphone and repeated from memory a verse of Scripture.

A Negro girl was among those receiving diplomas. When her turn came to step to the microphone, she quoted from the prophecy of Jeremiah the words of the Lord, "Call upon Me and I will answer thee and show thee great and mighty things, which thou knowest not."

Doesn't it seem to you that a life based on this principle will be likely to achieve more than one which is based on the principle of disbelief, destruction and disorder?

Maybe if Harvard had not abandoned its dedication to God . . .

C. Alexander and family and camped at Navajo Lake. The group went to Silverton, Colo. Wednesday where it snowed on them. They reported they had good luck fishing.

Panhandle South Plains Fair Adds 'Gentle Ben' To Star List

Television's "Gentle Ben," his playmate, Peggy Ann Nielsen, comedian Mike Caldwell and The Congregation have been added to the Panhandle South Plains Fair's country and western variety spectacular scheduled to headline the 52nd annual renewal here Sept. 22-27.

The added Fair Park Coliseum fare joins Marty Robbins, Charley Pride, Buck Owens and his Buckaroos, and master of ceremonies Roy Clark for the biggest stage attraction ever presented for popular regional exposition.

Robbins will appear here on the opening two days, Pride will take the spotlight Sept. 24-25 and Owens and his group will round out the six-day stand Sept. 26-27. Clark, "Gentle Ben," Miss Nielsen, Caldwell, and The Congregation, a musical combo, will be seen in all shows.

John E. Vickers, president of the fair association's board of directors, said the big slate was expected to help draw record crowds to the 1969 event.

Ticket prices also have been revised, and "bargain rates" will apply to the natives. Tickets for 7:30 p. m. nightly shows are priced at $2, $3 and $4, and all persons will be admitted to 3 p. m. matinees for one-half price. Tickets purchased prior to the fair opening also will be accompanied by free gate admission passes.

Many new improvements to grounds and facilities -- including new paving and rest areas -- also are being planned for implementation during this year's fair. Parking facilities will be enlarged and coliseum seating will be rearranged.

Clark is the co-host and co-star with Owens of television's country comedy-music series, "Hee Haw," summer replacement for the Smothers Brothers. Shown locally, the series will star other country and western personalities.

The title of the program is derived from animated cartoon segments featuring a donkey in a cornfield.

Clark, comedian, vocalist and top-notch musician, is at home with Owens on the bright new show.

The big bear, actual "star" of the television series, will perform with Miss Nielsen and Caldwell. In addition to being a rising young actress, she also has performed throughout the nation as a juggling whiz who thrills audiences with fiery Samoan long knives. Two trainers will accompany "Ben" to Lubbock.

Caldwell hams it up with Miss Nielsen and Gentle Ben.

The Congregation, Joey Bishop's favorite musical group, consists of four boys and three girls -- a talented lot with a combination of personalities. They record for Jubilee Records.

CARE OF VINYLs

Read the label before you buy vinyls, advises Extension clothing specialist Hazel Roberts. Some vinyls are machine washable; some come clean with the swish of a sudsy cloth. She recommends no machine-drying or dry cleaning for vinyls.

PLANT VACATION

Give your house plants a summer vacation; move them outdoors. They should be placed in a lightly shaded spot in the yard or garden, or on a porch. Direct sunlight should be avoided because it could burn leaves. House plants are not hardened to full sunlight and do not require it, say Extension specialists at Texas A&M University. Plants usually grow faster when placed outside, they add.

4-H'ers Study Vet Science

A recent addition to the long list of 4-H educational programs is veterinary science. While it rounds out the traditional 4-H livestock project, veterinary science is not limited to farm youth.

Youngsters living off the farm apply the science to established projects such as dog care, horse and health.

Only in its second year, this new program already has attracted nearly 22,000 boys and girls from coast-to-coast. The national sponsor is The Upjohn Company of Kalamazoo, Mich., which again provides annual incentive awards.

The top state award is a $50 U. S. savings bond. Gold-filled medals are presented to the four most outstanding 4-H'ers in the county.

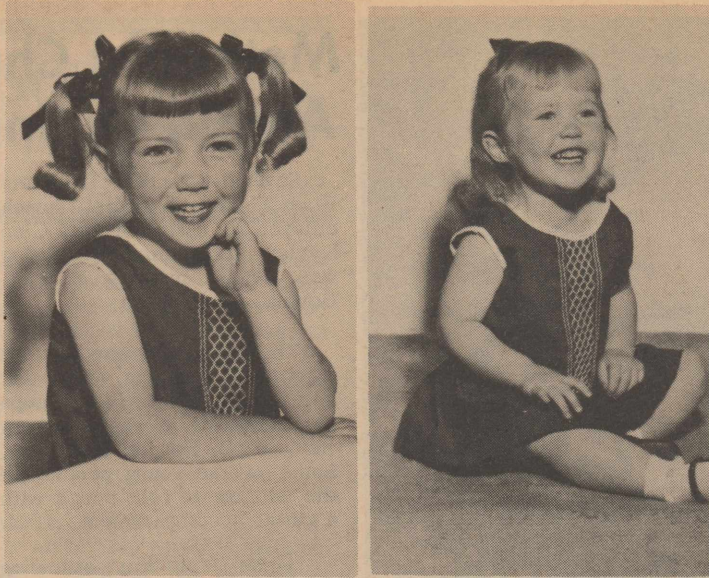

Booklets that present scientific and practical information on the subject have been written especially for the 4-H members and local club leaders. announces the Cooperative Extension Service which supervises the work.

Every boy or girl can benefit by participating in the veterinary science program, says a 4-H spokesman. The only requirement is access to an animal. Cats, rabbits, mice, birds and guinea pigs can be used.

Studies include health improvement in animals; how to recognize disease and its prevention; structure and function of the animal's body; principles that apply to animal health and personal health as well.

Assisting the county extension agents and local volunteer 4-H leaders who work with the youngsters, are professional and business people. They include veterinarians, kennel owners, zoo directors, dairymen, farm managers, public health officials, science teachers and researchers.

Information on how to get involved in this fascinating science project can be obtained from the county extension office in Dimmitt.

Accent on Health

Sooner or later everyone will find the need for a family health record, and if you don't have one, now is the time to start keeping it, advises the Texas State Department of Health.

If you have a youngster about ready for school, you'll realize the necessity of having accurate and current records. The health record can be of permanent value for the children's school records, for insurance data, and for your family doctor's use.

An individual personal health record can be had free of charge from the State Department of Health in Austin.

Too, you can start by jotting down the basic information you already have at hand concerning the injury and illness history of each member of your family.

Start it off with a brief listing of family history. Enter the date and place of birth of each person, and the place and date and cause of death of any deceased. Also enter pertinent information and the medical facts about each family member, such as the presence of chronic illness or physical handicap.

Next, start a section for dates of immunizations, being sure to provide space for each member of the family. Allow room for entering dates of immunizations against whooping cough, polio, smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, measles and typhoid fever. Don't forget to include the dates of booster shots.

In a section of general information, list such things as the type of blood each member of the family has, and the drug sensitivities or special allergies of each. If the RH factor is known to be present in anyone, be sure to record it prominently.

The health record ought to include a check list of who in the family has had the more common diseases of childhood—chicken pox, measles, mumps, whooping cough, scarlet fever, diphtheria. Most of these are diseases of childhood, but sometimes an adult is exposed. German measles is a serious threat to expectant mothers, and mumps is a dangerous disease in any adult.

Dates of physical examinations, with a line or two for notes of special advice or instructions that followed the check-up, should be noted in the health record. So also should illnesses requiring hospitalization, listing the nature of illness or injury, name of physician and hospital, dates of entry and discharge, length of illness, and type of surgery, if any.

Finally, list the family's health and accident insurance information for quick and easy reference when needed.

KITCHEN

KORNER

BY LELA GALLION

The fruits are beginning to be ready for canning or freezing and I have had several ask how to freeze the apricots and peaches without the sugar for the restricted diets. I found these directions. Take a few of the fruits to be frozen and cook slowly to make their own juice and pour this juice over the prepared fruit package and freeze. You can add a dietetic sweetener when the fruit is served. Some have frozen the fruit without the juice added but it is not as fresh tasting and dries out more readily.

TURKEY-GREEN GRAPE SALAD

1 1/2 c. diced cooked turkey
1 c. thinly sliced celery
1/2 c. green seedless grapes
1/2 c. mayonnaise

Combine turkey, celery, grapes, and mayonnaise. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Toss lightly. Serve on greens and trim with small bunch of grapes. Or serve in avocado halves brushed with lemon juice.

SNACKO

1 8-oz. pkg. corn-muffin mix
1 c. coarsely chopped salted peanuts
1/2 c. grated Parmesan cheese
1 tsp. garlic salt
3 T. butter, melted

Prepare corn-muffin mix according to package directions; spread evenly in a well-greased 15 1/2x10 1/2x1-inch jelly-roll pan. Sprinkle with peanuts, cheese, and garlic salt; drizzle butter over top. Bake in moderate oven (375deg.) about 25 minutes or till crisp and lightly browned. Immediately cut in squares or break in pieces; cool slightly and remove from pan.

but why?

Becky is a water baby—one part mermaid, three parts fish. We took her to the lake this summer, and she splashed and tumbled in the water joyously. I had to watch her every minute. I finally had to take her out by force—much to her consternation and objection. It took some doing to distract her.

Actually, it's relatively simple to comfort a small child whose wishes have been thwarted. A toy, a cookie, sometimes a loving hug will turn the trick.

But how about grown-up frustrations? When sick with disappointment, heartbroken or dejected by a bad turn of events, where can an adult turn for consolation and support?

God's Church is the mainstay to every situation. Radiating God's goodness, it offers reassurance and relief to the baffled and the hopeless. Men turning toward its promise find new confidence and faith and hope recovered.
