July Sales Of Savings Bonds Totals Announced By Wilson

July 1969 sales of United States Savings Bonds and Freedom Shares in Castro County totaled $1,621, according to a report from Judge R. E. Wilson, Chairman of the Castro County Savings Bonds Committee. January thru July sales totaled $33,884 and this is 56 per cent of the 1969 goal of $60,000.

"Bond holders should be aware of two facts and give consideration before redeeming for non-emergency or planned purposes," Chairman Wilson stated.

"One - accrued interest on bonds must be declared on Federal Income Tax returns in the year Bonds are cashed and, two, The Department of The Treasury has proposed to Congress a new higher rate of 5 per cent on both E and H Bonds retroactive to June 1, 1969. The 5 per cent rate would also apply to all outstanding bonds" Wilson said.

"People should remember, too, that Savings Bonds are sold to be redeemed so there's a steady rate of redemptions at all times for emergencies, planned expenditures, and education and retirement purposes. In addition the unique tax advantages of U. S. Savings Bonds make them especially attractive when fully understood by the bond saver.

"The $52 billion outstanding is a major brake on inflationary forces and represents 23 per cent of the publicly-held portion of the Federal debt," Wilson said.

Texas sales during the first seven months of 1969 totaled $104,261,845 --- a decrease of 2.4 per cent from 1968 when sales were $106,830,122. Sales during the month totaled $15,058,788 compared to $15,862,130 during the same period of 1968.

Nationwide, investments of United States Savings Bonds were 3 per cent below a year ago for the first seven months; however, July investments set a 13-year record for the month, totaling $419 million.

Financial Facts

By Willis A. Hawkins, Jr.

Most of the transactions of today's banks were performed in Ancient Rome.

Interest was paid on time deposits. Two and one half per-cent was the usual rate. Thrift and profitable investments were practiced and encouraged.

There is no evidence of the existence of regular savings banks. However, there were three methods of saving: First, by entrusting funds to bankers. Second, by placing them in care of priests. Third, by depositing them in safes guarded by the State.

The first method was strictly a means for safeguarding savings. The banker received the deposit but paid no interest.

Excellent facilities were furnished by the State for the safekeeping of valuables. The citizens were given the use of guarded, safe deposit vaults.

Dear Citizen of Texas:

Lieutenant Governor Ben Barnes bears full responsibility for forcing through the Senate the bill to place food under the sales tax. He has too long escaped the responsibility for running the Senate with an iron hand, and that bill was just one more example of his tactics. As the attached article points out, he pays lip service to open meetings but acts otherwise. In reality, the tax and appropriations conference committees consist of Barnes and Speaker Mutscher. Their bull-headedness is causing most of the problem. Their conference committee members unfortunately are go-along boys.

The news media, for reasons known only to themselves, have been overly kind to Barnes in letting him escape the responsibility for excessive spending programs. Perhaps Barnes is held in awe by many because he is the hand-picked heir apparent of the LBJ-Connally machine. For too long Barnes has "ridden" with both the lobbyists and the liberals. The liberals have helped pass all his spending programs but the lobbyists will not go along with him now in paying the tab.

This article for the first time to my knowledge tells what actually has been happening in the Legislature in both the Regular and Special Sessions. I thought you'd be interested in it.

Sincerely,
Hank Grover
Henry C. Grover

CAPITOL A
By Glen Castlebury and George Kuempel

The legislative leadership deserves whatever kicking around comes its way over the child of darkness called a tax bill.

This is not to judge the bill on its merits - or lack thereof - for certainly the big food tax and little gas tax have been indicted venomously already.

But what else could be expected from the shuttered rooms where a handful of men, brazen with power and seniority, gave birth to the thing - with only a tight clique of lobbyists for midwives.

The whole story of the tax bill has been one of the leadership making mockery of the idea of doing the public's business in public.

There are honest and logical and legitimate reasons for working out knotty problems in private, without the hot winds of pressure blowing over the shoulder. But if that be true and if that be the decision, then it should be honestly announced as the policy.

From the secret sessions of the conference committee to the final, ludicrous bomb threat lock-out of the press from the House chamber, the leadership has thumbed its nose repeatedly at the public and the press.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and Speaker Gus Mutscher must accept the blame, for the fault lies with them and their chosen henchmen.

Barnes is the prime offender, but let it be said in fairness that he does less complaining when the news media makes its points about the secrecy. Barnes also is much more polished than Mutscher in slipping it to the public.

Barnes coordinated and hosted most of the secret sessions of the conference committee writing the tax bill.

The lieutenant governor's front man for the tax bill, Sen. Bill Moore of a rural district around Bryan, is from the old school of politics, a school that gave America the "smoke-filled room" and perpetuated itself in office without worry about its image or its public.

Moore was the man - call it haughty or call it gutty - who emerged from secret sessions of the tax conference to announce that the bill would exempt auto race tracks from admissions taxes because a big, new track is being built in his district.

The rest of the Senate "team" is less strengthly than Barnes and Moore; in fact, perhaps they are go - along - to - get - along people. But they deserve to be on the same secret session indictment: Doc Blanchard, Lubbock; Don Kennard, Fort Worth; Jack Strong, Longview, and Ike Harris, Dallas.

Mutscher began his role in the trail of secrecy by breaking a promise to Rep. John Hannah of Lufkin.

On the day of the appointment of the conference committee, Hannah tried to sponsor a resolution binding the House conferees to attend only open meetings. But Mutscher made him pull down the resolution, promising that he would see to it that all meetings were open.

The meetings were closed. It was brought to Mutscher's attention. He did nothing.

Mutscher's counterpart for Moore is Rep. Dick Cory of Victoria, a tough little lawyer who knows he can't be hurt politically by the big city newspapers which cover the capitol.

That same assumption goes for the bulk of Mutscher's team - Bill Heatley, Paducah; John Traeger, Seguin; and Forest Harding, San Angelo.

The titular chairman of the House conferees, Rep. Ben Atwell of Dallas, largely ignores most of what is going on and being said. He is well entrenched in the Legislature and in Dallas, so your opinion doesn't really cut much ice.

Is it really surprising that the folks paying the bills - grocery bills and tax bills - didn't give the legislators a pay raise in the Aug. 5 election?

Moments OF Meditation

C. T. Cunningham, Pastor of The First Baptist Church

"Little Man..Great God"
"I was no prophet, neither was I a prophet's son; but I was a herdsman, and a gatherer of sycamore fruit; and the Lord took me as I followed the flock, and the Lord said unto me, Go, prophesy unto my people Israel. Now, therefore, hear the words of the Lord." Amos 7:14-16 an insignificant man and make him a man of courage and power.

First we see that the little "cog" is important. One of the largest churches in our country - almost five thousand members - automatically places every new member (as well as every old member) on some committee. The principal reason for the size of this church is that every member has a definite job to do, and no member is accepted unless he is willing to work.

Second, there must be power. And the power is available to all of us, from the smallest to the largest. All we have to do is make the proper connection.

Do you feel the winds rising in your personal life? Have the wheels slowly ground to a halt? Check your power-connections!

You may feel small but we serve a great God, let Him help you.

SMOKESTACKS

All around the world they marvel at American industry. Factory chimneys send great clouds of smoke skyward as we produce more and still more. There seems to be no end to man's progress, whether here on earth or out in the vast mystery of space.

In spite of all we do, there is still so much that we cannot do. For all our power, we are still frail and vulnerable. God has given us many capabilities, but we were never meant to "go it" entirely alone. To think that we need nothing beyond ourselves is not self-confidence—it is brashness.

There are moments when we all need to look into a special kind of mirror, by which we may re-examine our lives. Such a mirror may be found in church where God's word, if we really listen to it, can help show us the truth.

Why not go and listen in your church next Sunday?
