TDPS Seeking Young Men

Due to the rising traffic deaths and crime rate, the Texas Legislature has authorized an additional increase of manpower in the uniformed ranks of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

In carrying out this authorization a call was issued today by Major C. W. Bell, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety for this area, to young men to fill a 120-man training school beginning Oct. 21.

Major Bell states that two inducements have been authorized by the Legislature to help fill the uniformed ranks of the Texas D. P. S. First, the salary during training has increased to $525 per month; secondly, upon graduation the salary has increased to $630 per month.

Grain Sorghum Referendum Ballots Approved By White

The Grain Sorghum referendum ballots for the Oct. 6 producers check-off vote were approved today, according to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

Grain Sorghum producers in a twenty-nine county area of the high plains and panhandle will be involved in the referendum vote, White said. They will be required to complete three major sections on the ballot.

The first section includes the self-assessment proposition. Candidates for a twelve-man Commodity Producers Board are listed in the second section. Growers must indicate last year's production in the third section of the ballot.

"All voters," Commissioner White stressed, "are eligible to vote on members of the Commodity Producers Board regardless of whether they voted 'yes' or 'no' on the referendum proposition. The decision of the Board will affect all producers in that area if the referendum passes."

Growers who had no production during the last crop year are still eligible to vote, White explained. However, they must certify on the ballot that they are new producers.

Ballots must be mailed to the polling sites before midnight, Oct. 6.

Car Wash Set By Seniors

Seniors 1970 will sponsor a car wash Saturday, Oct. 4 from 8 a. m. until 4 p. m. Members of the class will be at the Texaco, Shamrock and Phillips service stations.

Favorable Vote On Referendum May Solve Farmers' Problems

With a favorable vote on the grain sorghum referendum, some of the problems that grain farmers and the Grain Sorghum Producers Association would hope to find solutions to through a stepped up research program are:

GREENBUGS: help may be on the way for the greenbug problem. They were serious again this year and some producers used as many as three applications of insecticides in order to get control. Dr. Bill Ross, USDA sorghum breeder at Hays, Kans., released a sorghum line that is resistant to greenbugs. Other resistance has been found in the World Collection of Sorghum. If the biotype of the greenbug does not change again, resistant hybrids could be available in the future. According to Dr. Jerry Johnson, sorghum breeder, Texas Agriculture Experiment Station, Lubbock, "It will take time, special equipment, and a team approach if we are to succeed." When you consider the cost of spraying, it will be well worth the effort.

DOWNY MILDEW: Downy Mildew is present on sorghum on the High Plains again this year. It has been found mainly on sorghum-sudans and some silage types. While it has never been serious in this region, it has become an economically serious disease in South and Southeast Texas. The disease has also been reported in Oklahoma and Kansas. The development of resistant hybrids is the only means of control. At the present time no hybrids are completely resistant, but degrees of tolerance are available. Producers should watch their fields for this disease.

MAIZE DWARF MOSAIC VIRUS: Maize Dwarf Mosaic Virus is still being found on the High Plains. The disease was first observed in 1962 on a few corn plants growing along the Ohio River. Since that time, the virus has spread rapidly throughout most of the sorghum producing area of the United States. Distribution varies within areas depending upon the presence of the virus and the availability of the perennial host plant, Johnsongrass. Little is known about this disease. How serious it will be is still not known. It is difficult to measure losses and as a result a more basic approach is required to study the full effects of MDMV. The problem is complicated, since greenbugs can transmit the virus and Johnsongrass is an ideal host.

Some hybrids are tolerant to the disease and producers should keep this in mind when selecting hybrids. This is just one more problem that faces sorghum producers. It should be remembered that other diseases in the past have also been serious, but through research resistances have been developed in new hybrids.

HEAD SMUT: Heat Smut of sorghum is again becoming a major disease problem. A new race of Head Smut is now attacking sorghum hybrids in South Texas which are previously resistant. The new race was observed last year, identified last winter, and caused economic damage in 1969. Another new race is suspected in Kansas, but to date has not been verified. It is not all bad news, new smut resistant hybrids are already being sold and more will be available next year. However, there has been two new races of Head Smut in two years and more can be expected. In order to prevent losses in the future a continuous program of identification of potential new races must be maintained. The development of resistant hybrids appears to be the only control and as more new races are identified the development of resistant hybrids will become more complicated.

GRAIN QUALITY: Grain quality is becoming more important on the High Plains as feed operations continue to expand. Dr. Raymond Hinders, Animal Nutritionist with PGC explained, "Increased costs means that feeders must receive maximum efficiency from grain fed to animals." He continued by saying, "The value of sorghum can be increased." Dr. Hinders speaks with authority since he has been a leader in the development of improved quality grain. Most of his work has been on sorghums from India, and was instrumental in the development of a new grain sorghum hybrid. Why these characters improve sorghum quality are not known, but before all the hybrids planted on the High Plains in the future carry the quality that will be so important these characters must be identified.

The grain farmers are voting on a program to help solve some of these programs. It is the grain sorghum referendum. The referendum ballots have been distributed. The average cost per farmer within the 29 county area is only 9 cents per acre. Elbert Harp, Executive Director of GSPA said, "If only one spraying could be eliminated through a stepped-up research program, this would be a 2700 percent return for the average farmer. This is only one of the smaller possibilities. We hope every grain producer will vote."

Your Social Security

The economy drive is hitting close to home according to John G. Hutton, District Manager of the Social Security Office in Lubbock. Hutton announced that effective Oct. 1, the Lubbock Social Security Office will not be open Thursday evenings.

The reason for the change is that very few people were taking advantage of the extra service. "Keeping the office open required that we keep an adequate staff on duty to handle the interviews," Hutton said. The Social Security Administration is under orders to cut expenditures wherever practical.

Moments OF Meditation

C. T. Cunningham, Pastor of The First Baptist Church

"As God's partners we beg you not to toss aside this marvelous message of God's great kindness. For God says, "Your cry came to me at a favorable time, when the doors welcome were wide open." II Cor. 6:1.

How does one obtain God as a partner?

First - recognition of need.

If you are satisfied with your life, and recognize no need to help it, it is obvious that you are not likely to invite God to become your partner - or to accept His offer to be of help.

The greatest tragedy is the man who knows he is not succeeding while all the time success is available.

Second - recognition of the resources available.

The acceptance of God as your partner does not guarantee riches and prosperity. Neither do riches and prosperity guarantee happiness and peace of mind. Partnership with Christ does give you the privilege of consultation and of guidance.

Third - ask Him to be your partner. That's all you need to do, for He is even more anxious to be your partner than you can possibly be to accept Him.

What partnership with Christ can mean to you.

Let us make the admittedly inadequate comparison of God, in Christ, as our partner, with a business partnership. God is the senior, silent partner. He provides the two most important elements to any successful business - Sound advice and practically unlimited resources.

That, my friend, is what Christ, as your living, present partner, offers you.

So many of us never talk to God except in time of emergency. What would your best friends think of you if you failed to even recognize them except when you "got into a jam"? I wonder what God thinks, how He must hurt, when that is the way we treat Him. Just as a business partner is happy when we can report our successes, so God is happy when we talk to Him about everything in our lives.

So, take Christ as your partner, today.

Tax Man Sam Sez:

It's customary for a lot of housewives to take a part-time job shortly after they have bundled the kids off to school in September. This contributes to the family budget and gets mama back into the excitement of the business world and away from housewifing chores for at least a little while. Surprisingly enough, mothers who work part time create more than their share of tax problems. First, the employer figures that the housewife won't earn enough to be required to pay any tax, and he doesn't withhold.

But, unfortunately the housewife--due to community property law in Texas--has already earned enough to owe taxes--due to her half of the husband's income, and the law requires withholding regardless of the amount. The second problem comes from the housewife claiming her own exemption on her W-4 form without having her husband drop her as an exemption on his W-4. This usually results in the family owing a tax at the end of the year.

It is better on a part-time or temporary job of this type for her to claim "0" as her exemptions and let the husband's withholding continue unchanged. And, finally, some housewives happily sign the joint return with their husband on his earnings, and file a separate return and claim a refund on their temporary or part-time earnings. The computer has a program all ready to send the housewife and her husband a notice of audit. You can't file separate returns in Texas without splitting the income and the withholding and deductions for both spouses.

Financial Facts

By Willis A. Hawkins, Jr.

What happens when you deposit a check in your bank? In the first place, the money has to be collected. Suppose the check is drawn where you have an account. In this case, collecting becomes only an internal bookkeeping operation.

Suppose the check is drawn on a different bank in the community. Collection would then be made through the local clearinghouse.

The clearinghouse is a conveniently located establishment where bank representatives meet. There, they exchange checks received on deposit. They settle the difference owed each other.

Before being sent to the clearinghouse, each check is inspected. It must be properly endorsed and regular in every respect.

Checks are then stamped, bearing date and name. Also the clearinghouse number of the presenting bank.

Horns Nip Whitefaces, 19-18

By David Bass

Hart Longhorns slipped by the Hereford J. V. Whitefaces Thursday night by a spine-tingling score of 19-18.

The mighty Horns received the kickoff and began play from their own 30 yard line. Behind fine running and passing plays the Longhorns fought their way to the Hereford 30 yard line.

But the Horns failed to make a first down and the Whitefaces took over. Hereford's first drive got nowhere and they punted back to the Horns.

But the Horns also found the going a little bit tough and punted the ball right back.

The Whitefaces looked as though they might go places on the next drive, but the drive died off at the Hart 40 yard line. The Horns took over and they started moving again.

This time Hart made it down to the Hereford 25 before they were stopped. Hereford found the Horn defense a little too tough on their next drive and they punted to end the quarter with the score at 0-0.

Hart could not move the ball past their own 40 and Quincy Hawkins boomed a punt out of Hereford's end zone to give the Whitefaces the ball on their own 20.

Hereford could not get a drive going, however, so they punted the ball back to the Horns.

Hart finally found running room on the next drive as they began punching their way up-field. With the ball on the Hereford 18, Landria Bruington got the ball and scampered in for the first points of the game.

Johnny Ethridge kicked the extras to make the score Hart 7 and Hereford 0 at the half.

Hart kicked off to start the second half and Hereford began moving the ball well behind running plays by Danny Charest, Jeff Loerwald and Eugene Suttle.

With the ball on the one yard line, halfback Danny Charest ran the ball over. On the Whiteface's first run for the extras, Eugene Suttle blasted in, but an offside penalty brought the ball back and the Whiteface's second try was not successful and the score was left at 7-6 in favor of the Horns.

The Horns got nowhere on their next drive and Quincy Hawkins let fly with another long punt this time to the Hereford 4-yard line.

Hereford's fine quarterback Allen Raily started the drive from there and he took a chance on his own 6-yard line by throwing a pass.

Chance was right, as Hart lineman, Ralph Bell, intercepted the pass on the 10 and ran the ball on in for the Horns second T. D. The try for the extras was no good and the score stood at 13-6 in favor of the Horns.

Hereford looked as though they might get those points back quick, but the drive ended when a fourth down play was stopped by the Horns fine defense. Hart was fired up and ready to go and that is what it looked like they would do but a pass went awry and Hereford's Jeff Loerwald intercepted the ball on his own 40.

He then proceeded to run the ball the final 60 yards to the goal where he wound up in the end zone. The run for the extras was incomplete and the Horns still led 13-12 at the end of the third period.

Hart fought right back and moved the ball to the Whiteface 20 yard line where Jimmy Robinson ran the ball in for the Horns nineteenth point. The try for the extras was blocked and the Horns led 19-12.

Hereford could find no running room and had to give up the ball. Hart could not do much better and they also punted.

Hereford began moving the ball again and finally Eugene Suttle blasted in from the one. The run for the extras failed and the score stood at 19-18 Hart leading. On the kickoff disaster struck the Horns as they lost a fumble on the Hart 30 with three minutes remaining.

Hereford moved the ball down to the 13 but the game ended there with the score, Hart Longhorns 19 and the Hereford J. V. Whitefaces 18.

The Horns travel to Vega for their first game away from home at 8 p. m. Friday.

Accident-Proofing' Home Takes Time And Effort

Proofing your home against accidents takes a little time and effort. The "Home Sweet Home" is not a "Safe Home", according to the State Department.

It is thought of as a safe place, but it is not. In fact, it is a place which can cause injury.

A living room has many dangers. Gas stoves are useful tools, but they can cause fires or carbon monoxide shocks. Our slippery floors, fancy decorations and supplies of new hazards to our homes are the leading causes of these deaths. Most deaths occur in the kitchen and bathrooms. Most people think first of the bathtub, with its hazards of falls and drowning, as the number one killer, but it isn't.

Bedrooms rank first. Too many people smoke in bed and "wake up dead" from fire or lethal smoke. Many infants smother from improper covering or too large a pillow. And people get up during the night and fall over objects in the dark. Bad housekeeping is at fault here.

In our slick-floored kitchens we fall, burn, electrocute, bomb and poison ourselves. The oven cleaner, drain cleaner, bleach, dishwashing compounds, insecticide and furniture polish under the sink are products which are poisonous and easily accessible to children. Leaking gas--or fumes--may explode on contact with a pilot light on your stove.

In addition to falls around the tub, the bathroom has another potential killer in the medicine cabinet. It has been estimated that 302,000 children under five years of age ingested some potentially toxic product last year.

To prevent these home accidents, plan for safety. Keep medicines and home kitchen products out of the reach of children. Watch where you put your lighted cigarettes and matches. Put hand holds around your bathtubs and make sure all rugs are slide-free. Never place inflammables near a gas water heater. Before winter sets in, have your heating system checked to guard against fires--or carbon monoxide poisoning. Never touch any electrical appliance with your hands in water or while on a wet floor. And keep things in their places.

FOOD BUYING

Food buying trends show substantial shifts from canned to fresh fruit juices and from fresh to processed potatoes, Extension Home Economics Specialist Gwendolyne Clyatt reports on recent research. Today's homemaker also buys more bakery products in advanced stages of preparation than she buys bakery mixes.

Double-Rich Brownies

Who can resist a brownie? No one, especially when it's dark and rich with two kinds of chocolate. These moist and chewy brownies have unsweetened chocolate in the batter and semi-sweet chocolate chips sprinkled on top for added flavor and a polka dot look.

DOUBLE CHOCOLATE BROWNIES

2 squares Baker's Unsweetened Chocolate	1/4 teaspoon salt
1/3 cup butter or other shortening	2 eggs
2/3 cup unsifted all-purpose flour	1 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon double-acting baking powder	1 teaspoon vanilla
	1/2 cup chopped nuts
	1/2 cup semi-sweet chocolate chips

Melt chocolate with butter over hot water. Mix flour with baking powder and salt. Beat eggs well; then gradually beat in sugar. Beat in chocolate mixture and vanilla. Add flour mixture and mix well. Stir in nuts. Spread in a greased 8-inch square pan. Sprinkle with chocolate chips. Bake at 350° for 25 minutes (for moist chewy brownies) or about 30 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean (for cake-like brownies). Cool in pan; then cut into squares or rectangles. Makes about 20 brownies.

"What's in the cup, Granddad?"

Not many bother to answer the countless questions he loves to ask. But usually he can count on Granddad.

"What was in The Cup at church this morning?" It's a question many people ask — people sincerely wanting to know its significance . . . people who like to argue. (Is it wine or grape juice?) Theorists . . . theologians . . . people older and wiser than a little boy.

"Why can't I drink The Cup, like you and all the others, Granddad?"

"You're a little young, Sonny. It's one of the important things in life . . . a privilege . . . a part of growing up!"

"What does it mean, Granddad?"

"It means remembering . . . remembering what God gave us — what Christ did for us — what the Church is to us. It means being truly sorry that we have failed to do our very best."

"I don't understand, Granddad."

"But you will. That's why we all go to church . . . to learn . . . to understand . . . to remember . . . to love our Lord."

"Maybe I do understand, Granddad, about The Cup — 'cause I already love the Lord."
