while method has been selected to wish them a Merry Christmas.

Donations may be mailed to Hart Cemetery Fund.

Short Yields Are Reported In Area Crop

Short yields in this year's milo harvest are reported as the result of an uncooperative weatherman. Extremely hot days through July and August and an early freeze have cut yields from 1200 to 1500 pounds per acre, reports DeWayne Brown, manager of Farmers Grain Company.

Averages this year have run 5000 to 5500 pounds per acre.

Soybean yields are reported to be a little higher than usual with the average about 38 bushels per acre.

Dear Editor

Season Of Thanksgiving

Mrs. Otto Dinwiddie

This is the season of Thanksgiving and tho, we each realize that true Thanksgiving knows no season, we rejoice that there is a special day set aside in our great nation to say "Thank You". Too often we are prone to criticize ... too seldom we say "Thank You"...so at this special time I want to express my personal gratitude and thanksgiving for things near and dear to my heart.

I am so thankful for all the churches and pastors for all the good they do in the community.

I am thankful for our school and each teacher for they are making the best men and women of the children they can as well as showing them God's plan in this world...

I am thankful for our city and school officials who render countless hours of service free of charge, but whose services are very necessary to our town and community.

I am especially reminded to be thankful for our brave boys who are in armed services, fighting to defend the freedom we hold dear, and protect the land we love.

I am so thankful for living in a community who unites in sharing each others joys and sorrows, and here, I feel I must add a very personal note, for I am daily reminded to be thankful for all the many blessings of love and friendship which have been so generously bestowed upon us since the loss of our beloved Otto...without friends and God's love we could not have carried on this far, and we pray His blessings on each of you.

I am so thankful for the Hart Cemetery Ass'n. Board and for their labors of love and concern for the community. T. R. Davis, E. I. McLain and DeWayne Brown, as trustees for the Cemetery.

I am thankful for the children and young people of our community, and for the memory of Otto's deep concern for them.

A true friend is the gift of God's love, and He only made hearts can unite them. God grant at this Thanksgiving 1969, our hearts may all be united in praise to our Maker.

Financial Facts

By Willis A. Hawkins, Jr.

Did you know that there was once "tree" money?

History is literally overflowing with interesting stories about countless types of money. The story of "tree" money comes from the East Indies.

In the tiny kingdom of Malacca, near Singapore, the government minted tin coins. The coins were in the form of a tree. Each coin had a hole in the middle and was fastened to a center stem.

The Malaccans would carry all or part of the collection of coins around with them. When they wanted to spend a coin they just snapped one off the tree. This action was similar to breaking a grape from a bunch.

Because the money was made of tin it was easy ea carry. Also, it was convenient because the "tree" money itself formed a kind of purse.

"THE MAN WHO SAVES HIS OWN COTTONSEED"

Let's call him Grower A. He knows what seed production is all about . . . how seed quality insures greater production of higher quality cotton. He produces his seedstock with these elite methods: one variety farm, one variety gin for handling seed cotton, one variety trucking, one variety storage, handles big volume for processing one variety with absolute cleanup at every stage of handling. He knows that seed can be mixed at many points such as the gin or delinting plant and that "varietal mixture", so common with farmer-saved seed, hurts his overall production. Further, he's aware of the genetics and agronomics of seed production.

We salute Grower A. He produces planting seed exactly the way it should be done . . . exactly the way every bag of Johnny Cottonseed is produced. If your seedstock is anything less, you should be concerned. But maybe we can help. If you don't have the time, facilities or desire to go into the seed production business, check into our unique SEED BANK program at your local coop gin or elevator. You can get your choice of varieties in both guaranteed quality and supply. It's a service offered by your own cooperative, Growers Seed Association.

Sign up now at your local coop gin or elevators.

Longhorns Trip Matador

BY DAVID BASS

The Hart Longhorns bounced back from a 22-2 defeat at the hands of Lazbuddie to nip the Matador Matadors by a spine-tingling score of 7-6.

The game began with both teams moving the ball downfield a few yards and then punting. The scrappy Matadors won the offensive battle the first quarter as they came close to scoring once.

The fine Horn defense led by Jimmy Robinson stopped that drive however and the first quarter ended scoreless. The second quarter was almost a repetition of the first as the defensive battle continued.

Near the end of the half Matador got moving and with 32 seconds left on the clock Bill Barnhill pleased the Homecoming crowd at Matador with a bruising six-yard run into the end zone. The run for the extras was no good and Matador led 6-0 at the half.

The Fighting Horns were not to be denied as they took the kickoff and moved the ball well down to the Matador 30 yard line.

From this point Harold Bob

After-Game Party Held

An after-the-game party Friday night honored Miss Paula Sue Harris. The surprise 18th birthday observance was held in the home of Rev. and Mrs. C. T. Cunningham.

Guests were Vickie Six, Marsha McDerman, DeRhonda Brown, Gaylene Hawkins, Ann Hood, Becky King, Debbie Roberts, Roni Cox, Carol Miller and Frances Cunningham.

Basketball Season Starts

Junior High basketball season will begin Monday afternoon, Nov. 24. The first game is a home game set for 5:30 p. m. against Lazbuddie.

Boys and girls are each slated to play.

WMS Meet At Church

Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church met in Fellowship Hall of the church Monday for a visitation hour. They visited with new residents of the community and with older members of the church.

Members present were Mmes. Clay Anderson, R. A. Futrell, W. C. Lacy, Bill Lacy and Vasca Kittrell.

Bennett took the ball and shot through the Matador's defense to score Hart's first and last touchdown of the night. Johnny Ethridge converted to give Hart a one point edge.

The Horn defense kept Matador completely bottled up for the remainder of the period. The Horns were moving again by the end of the third period. They moved the ball well, but a pass dropped in the Matador end zone ended the drive. The fourth quarter was also a defensive battle until right at the end of the game. The Matadors began moving again as they were not to be denied either. With time running moved to the line. The Matador down with two first down. The it a game try, Robinson foiled attempt as he dor quarterback of scrimmage.

'Farmers Saved In Less Product

"Precision cotton production" makes good sense when it's done right. Use of bed shaping, high speed planting, combinations of insecticides and herbicides and other things intended to maximize profits has great potential for increasing profits from cotton. Yet perfecting such a system has been a real problem.

The reason? Scientists from Texas A&M University and other leading cotton research centers point to one big reason: poor quality planting seed, the least cost item in the entire system. Good seed, they stress, is the cornerstone of any production system; unless a producer gets a uniform, evenly distributed stand of vigorous disease-free plants that are capable of setting a heavy crop of uniform big bolls, there is little opportunity to apply any other management skills. In other words, the precision system is shot without good seed.

The "poor seed syndrome" is widespread. University studies show that much of the seed planted in West Texas is poor quality and results in stand failures and large numbers of weak, non-productive plants. It can cause re-planting, a costly practice which wastes time and money invested in other practices; also, yields and quality are sacrificed with late planted cotton. Just how much poor seed costs the cotton industry is questionable, but at the very least, the losses are phenomenal. In extensive studies by Texas A&M in West Texas, it was repeatedly shown that seed quality directly affected net profit; that crops produced from "farmer saved" seed (the most common seed source in this area) produced as much as 116 pounds of lint an acre less than the same variety from pure seedstock.

Few decisions made by the cotton producer during the season will influence profit as much as does the selection of planting seed; the investment in seed that can be planted at low rates and produce a stand that will grow off vigorously with high yield and quality fiber. The im-stands; higher percentage of ab- normal seedlings. Results: higher production costs and lower yields. A natural weather hazard, such as the early freeze that nipped much of West Texas this year, can have a damaging effect on quality of seed cotton.

Need for quality seed -- quality referring to the bred- in growing characteristics and fiber properties of the variety as well as the purity, germination and vigor of the seed itself -- prompted a group of West Texas cotton producers to join together to insure them- selves a supply of good seed. They formed a cooperative, Growers Seed Association, for the specific purpose of produc- ing and supplying its members with quality planting seed at reasonable prices.

Cooperative is staffed and geared to handle the rigid and highly sophisticated require- ments of quality seed produc- tion. It employs such elite produc- tion techniques as one variety farms, one variety gin, one variety trucking, one vari- ety storage, handling big vol- umes for processing one variety and strict cleanup before an- other variety is handled. Thus, chances for varietal mixture are virtually eliminated. Fur- ther, the association is staffed with competent seed breeders and agronomists who person- ally handle each intricate phase of the business. After produc- tion, seed are subjected to various tests and grow out pro- cedures to assure the highest quality before being offered for sale.

Growers Seed has a unique method for distributing these quality seeds. It's called the Seed Bank. A producer goes to his local coop gin or ele- vator, looks over the available varieties (which is virtually every adaptable variety), checks the prices, decides which he wants and in what amount. He then applies for this seed, receives a "bank certifi- cate" assuring him of the order. The association guar- antees that this seed, "banked" and held for the producer, will be ready when he needs it next spring. Certificates are issued only for seed currently in stock. The producer can also indicate and receive any special custom treating of the seed that he wants.

Seed are sold first come, first served. By signing up early, producers get the ad- vantage of both price and wide choice of varieties. Seed banked now and paid for before next January 15, is sold at lowest possible prices. Should the price drop after the producer has banked his seed, but be- fore January 15, his price is adjusted downward. The early freeze that hit much of West Texas this year has created an unusually strong de- mand for planting seed; thus, pro- ducers are urged to sign up for seed now to insure getting what they need.

Seed Bank, organized and supported by West Texas pro- ducers, is a key example where farmers recognized a critical problem and have taken steps to eliminate it.

CONCENTRATE on positive thoughts to share with your fam- ily. "I love you" and "I'm proud of you" should be com- mon in family conversations. Or say it with a smile, a pat or a kiss. It's easy to speak out with criticisms, demands and complaints, reminds Jen- nie Kitching, Extension family life education specialist.

ORANGE JUICE and orange drink aren't the same thing. Any beverage labeled "juice" must be the juice of the fruit named. Fruit punch may be part juice and part synthetic flavor. Fruit drink may be all synthetic, says Francis Reas- onover, Extension foods and nutrition specialist.

IF YOU ARE feeding your gar- bage can too well, make a list of what foods to buy and how much. Use a serving per pound guide to know the amount of food to buy for each person, advises Gwendolyn Clyatt, Ex- tension consumer marketing specialist.

SERVICE FOR OTHERS

Submitted by one of our readers.

"A Little Thought for Today"

Service for others - not for ourselves

That is the way we should live,

Turning our thoughts from the center within

And striving our utmost to give.

A hand where it's needed - a word of cheer,

A gift or a lift or a smile;

Trying to get other people to think

That though life is hard - it's worthwhile.

HER W I N D O W

The Bennetts live here. That's Grandmother Bennett's Bible on the window sill, and the whole family goes to the church across the snow covered field.

John Bennett works in the local bank. Martha, his wife, is president of the PTA, and they have three lovely children. Grandmother Bennett has been living with them for the past couple of years, since she broke her hip. She can't always get to church in wintertime and that's why she calls this her window. When she can't be in church, it helps to be able to see it.

To her, the church steeple represents a great many things, and brings back many memories. Her son was married in that church. Her husband was buried from it. Her grandchildren were christened in it.

The Church has helped her to bear grief, in hours of sorrow; and it has seemed to put a benediction upon her happiness, in times of joy. Most important of all, whatever the occasion, whatever the crisis . . . the Church has always been there.

To Grandmother Bennett, the most comforting thing in the world is knowing that it always will be there.
