HNB Deposits Over $13 Million

Haskell National Bank deposits totaled $13,384,893.29 at the close of business June 29, 1973, according to a statement issued by Pauline Couch, Assistant Cashier.

The statement showed a total of $14,341,996.50 resources. Deposits are up almost $3,000,000.00 from this time a year ago.

Loans, listed at $3,829,868.40 less valuation reserves of $112,192.31 are slightly lower than last year's report of $4,004,654.54 less valuation reserves of $104,596.78.

Total resources are up almost $3,000,000.00 over this time a year ago.

City Sales Tax Check Shows A Steady Increase

The City of Haskell has received a check from the State Comptroller for $12,383.92 representing Haskell's portion of the Sales Tax. This total is $593.29 more than the check received for the same period last year—Jan., Feb. and March.

According to City Secretary Desmond Dulaney, "This money goes into the general fund. It covers such expenses as upkeep on parks and streets, city administration, police, fire, city property and sanitation."

Haskell's check represents its share of the 1% sales tax and is part of about $45 million collected by the State Comptroller each year. It is $2,065.41 higher than the comparable period for 1971, which is indicative of a steady business growth in the city of Haskell.

Students from Farm Bureau families, but is open to those who reside in towns or cities as well as rural areas. Their attendance is sponsored by the local county Farm Bureau.

Purpose of the seminar, according to Marvin Phemister, is to convey to the students a better understanding of our American heritage and the capitalistic private enterprise system "that has made ours the greatest of all nations."

He also said they will be informed about some of the forces, both internal and external, that are eroding our way of life. The ultimate goal, he added, in addition to helping them to be better informed, is to cause them to want to pass on their experiences to others.

Texas Hog Producers Join In ... Cattle and Calves Marketed Show Increase ... Above Normal Grazing.

Texas, which is currently 14th in the nation in hog production, is showing a 19 per cent decline in numbers of hogs on farms as of June 1. Nationwide, the number is also down, but by only one per cent.

Hogs kept for breeding purposes on Texas farms totaled 130,000 head, down 18 per cent from a year ago. Market hogs and pigs totaled 819,000 head, to 7.50 last year.

Nationwide, hogs and pigs on farms as of June 1 is down one per cent from a year ago. The December - May 1973 pig crop is estimated at 2 per cent less than the same period in 1972. Pigs per litter averaged 7.16 compared with 7.32 last year.

Hog producers intend to farrow 6,000,000 sows new through November, which is virtually unchanged. If intentions are realized and projected pigs per litter are reached, the pig crop will be 43,000,000 head, up one per cent from 1972.

SALES of cattle and calves as well as sheep and goats at auction markets in Texas show an increase compared to a year ago. Hog sales are down from year ago levels, the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes.

Cattle and calves marketed through auctions during May numbered 731,000 head, 26 per cent above a year ago, and 70 per cent above a month ago.

Sheep sales at livestock auctions during May at 230,000 head were 37 per cent above a year ago and 191 per cent above a month ago. Grats sold during May at 26,000 head were 91 per cent above last year and 20 per cent above last month.

Hogs sold during May at 41,000 head were 25 per cent below a year ago, but 21 per cent above a month ago.

EXCELLENT moisture conditions over most of Texas are maintaining ranges and pastures in above normal grazing conditions. Livestock condition is good to excellent. Horn flies and ticks have been bothering livestock but weight losses have not been severe. Rains have ruined some curing hay in East Texas but prospects for third and fourth cuttings are outstanding.

Screwworm outbreaks over the state are minimal compared to a year ago when the screwworm situation was completely out of control. Livestock producers are reminded to continue to submit suspected screwworm samples to the fly laboratory at Mission.

VEGETABLE crops are making good progress in the Hereford-High Plains-Panhandle areas.

Moderate shipments of potatoes and onions are now underway with heavier supplies expected during the latter half of July.

A market news office has been opened in Hereford.

MANUFACTURED dairy products utilized 23 per cent of the 1972 Texas milk production; nationwide, manufacturer dairy products utilized 52 per cent of the 1972 milk production.

Frozen dessert production in Texas totaled 62,656,000 gallons in 1972. This is one per cent below the 1971 production. Ice cream production was 3 per cent above the 1971 production in Texas.

PFD could be the most important thing in your life. At least it could be if you'd keep it handy. Or better yet—wear it.

It is a new-specifications life-saving device for use by anyone (young or old)—in, on or around water.

PFD is short for "Personal Flotation Device." You'll hear the term used often from now on. Having one handy is important—but wearing it is 10 times more so.

It's really any kind of approved life-saving outfit designed for an individual to wear—if it meets the new requirements outlined here.

An approved PFD that attaches to one's body will do far more good than an approved seat cushion and will last for years, especially if worn.

If left lying around the boat or on the beach it becomes dirty and unattractive to the point you don't ever want to wear it. So, keep it clean!

If worn while aboard a boat it will get less water, tear and abuse than when trampled on, stuck in a corner among junk and rubbish, or sat upon as a cushion.

From this you can gather that we're not hep about seat cushions as life preservers. Frankly—NO! They are about the poorest excuses ever conceived for life-saving devices.

Main trouble with seat cushions as life savers is you need to take one with you when you fall overboard, or leave someone in the boat to toss the cushion to you. Even then its usefulness is based on the fact that you can swim, at least far enough to reach the tossed-at-you cushion. And, of course, it's presumed that you weren't knocked in the head and knocked unconscious when you went overboard.

All of which points to the fact that you need a real, honest-to-goodness life preserver, a slip-over outfit that straps to you (under your arms and around your body) ... and has sufficient flotation in back to keep your head above water. That's "PFD" numbers I, II and III.

Can you imagine youngsters carrying along seat cushions as they run up and down the beach or gather rocks and shells at the shoreline?

Of course the point we wish to make is that life jackets are life preservers; seat cushions are seat preservers. Let's keep them in their proper place.

As stated earlier you'll be hearing more about PFD. It becomes mandatory on October 1, as new requirement of the U. S. Coast Guard. Bless 'em—they're going to save your life in spite of you. You won't wear life jackets voluntarily.

Unfortunately the new law won't apply to boats under 16 feet in length, so 67 per cent of the U. S. boat owners will not be affected by the rule changes. But just wait—if you too don't use an approved Personal Flotation Device, voluntarily, you'll be next—if you don't drown in the meantime.

Four types of PFDs are included in the approved stock of life preservers.

All four are much alike as to buoyancy, except Type I which must sustain at least 20 lbs. Specs for Types II and III call for 15.5 lbs. of buoyancy and Type IV, 16.5 lbs.

Unfortunately the latter is the buoyant cushion, again—designed to be thrown to a person in the water. But the new regulations do require that it be in addition to Types I, II and III on boats of 26 feet and longer.

Fourth of July holiday gave everybody a chance to close up shop and relax for a while with family and friends. A lot of people tried the lakes for fishing, boating and skiing, and quite a few went to Ruidoso for a few days. An unusual turn of events gave Haskell County a beautiful Fourth, but the weekend before, Ruidoso had some record high temperatures that made things a little uncomfortable for weekenders up that way. In fact, a few we know came home early in order to get under an air conditioner. Hot weather at Ruidoso is pretty uncommon, and when it hits, it's hot in those mountains!

Mr. and Mrs. Theo Moore, George and David of West Chicago, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. DeWayne Moore, Marilyn and Dorita of Abilene; Steve Whitaker of Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. Jake Whitaker of Stamford; and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Tabor of Norman, Okla., all visited in the Henry Harris home over the holiday.

Haskell, Texas

WASHINGTON "As it looks from here" OMAR BURLISON Congressman 17th District

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Things like people—need to be in the right place at the right time. This is the situation relative to an adequate supply of fuels. As has been opined in this space before, there are sources of fuels, if made available.

There is really no justification for shortages in gasoline and fuel oils, which now face many parts of the Country and which may become worse before it becomes better.

Those knowledgeable of the background of circumstances saw the shortage coming several years ago and warned of policies which have created the lack of supplies now apparent. A few glaring examples illustrate what is now happening. In the first place, tax incentives and tax policy have not encouraged new exploration for oil and gas. More immediate have been policies related to the environment. Everyone wants the environment protected and it can be protected with application of some common sense.

The environment kick we have been on the last few years has prevented the construction of new oil refineries. This is a bottleneck in finished products at this time.

Deep-sea unloading ports have not been developed; nuclear energy plants have been held up; pipelines have not been built and, particularly, the one from the North Slope of Alaska where an ocean of oil was discovered in 1968.

The argument over the construction of a pipeline from northern Alaska to the Southern Port of Valdez has raged for three years. The contention of the environmentalists has been, and continues to be, that a pipeline would spoil the Nation's last true wilderness; another is that tankers at the port of Valdez would foul the Gulf of Alaska; another is that a trans-Canadian pipeline to our Midwest would be preferable. Millions of dollars have already been spent in the most painstaking research to insure that a pipeline across Alaska would not disturb the environment. Every contingency has been anticipated from the needs of caribou herds to the potential effects of earthquakes.

DR. EUGENE A. COLEMAN of Texas Tech University (on the left) receives an honorable mention certificate from Dr. Robert Seif of the University of Illinois. Dr. Coleman's citation was awarded by the National Association of Colleges and Teachers of Agriculture (NACTA) at their national convention held recently at State University of New York, Agricultural and Technical College at Cobleskill. Dr. Coleman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Coleman of Haskell.

Volumes of research have concluded that a 789 mile pipeline from Prudhoe Bay down to the ice-free Port of Valdez would eventually be an invisible hairline in the awesome vastness of Alaska's 586,412 square miles. Its entire right-of-way would not be as wide as a modern highway, of which, incidentally, Alaska has none.

Emotions are raised by the notion that migratory animals, such as the caribou, would be unable to pass over the pipeline. The facts are that more than half of the pipeline would be buried 7 to 10 feet underground. Where it is above ground, underpasses are provided and tests have been physically carried out to show that migratory animals readily use the trails under them. Lines would be buried at least 5 feet below each of the 350 stream beds which it would traverse. It is planned that vegetation would be naturally replaced and that in a short time any denuded area would be healed over.

All Banks Are Not The Same

By ABE TURNER President, Haskell National Bank

"You mean to tell me that all banks are not the same?" This question, in a variety of forms, has been repeated by a number of customers ever since we at Haskell National Bank began displaying our new "Independent Community Bank" symbol. Yes, we believe there is a big difference. A difference that is just as important to you as a consumer and to Haskell as a community as it is to us at the bank.

For the most part, the work of a bank does not attract a great deal of notice, even though it can make the difference between stagnation and new vigor for a community. There is a major difference between independent community banks and banks which are part of large groups.

Haskell National Bank is an independent community bank. Its ownership and management are centered here and the bank does well only if Haskell prospers.

Members of multibank systems—holding companies and branching systems—have headquarters in large cities, a widely dispersed ownership, and not nearly so basic a commitment to any single community. So what? What difference does this make to someone who lives and works in Haskell?

It means for one thing that as long as there is an independent community bank operating here, the credit decisions that affect the business life of the community will be made right here with the interests of this town as a major factor in those decisions. It means that the money you leave on deposit will be loaned within this area and not funneled back to some central point for lending mainly to giant corporations. It means that your bank knows the entire community, knows its needs and its people. As a result, we are aware of when money is going to be needed for all types of local business and we make sure it's available. It also means that when someone has a financial decision to make, we know the town well enough to give him all the facts, needed. In short, this is our town and we're tied to it with stronger bonds than any other business. A bank can't just pick up and move out.

This column will be devoted in coming months to reports on interest rates, mortgages, automobile loans, taxes and other areas of life in which a bank can and should play a role in the life of its town.

I will also be reporting to you on developments within banking which may not come to your attention through regular news reports but which affect the economic life of our town just the same.

Also, this column is a means for us at the bank to make what we do more easily understood by our customers. So we welcome any questions you have on banking or economic issues in general.

is bound to occur in any seaport but every precaution is now being made to prevent it.

A final argument against the Alaskan pipeline argument is that a trans-Canadian line would be preferable. It is well documented that an Alaskan line can be completed in three years, while it would take a minimum of 10 years, even if all political problems were solved now, to bring a pipeline across Canada. This means that our oil-hungry Country could not get its own Alaskan oil until the early 1980's.

Finally, since many environmentalists are sure that a pipeline would soil and spoil our own backyard, why ask the Canadian Government to let us use their land for this purpose?

CHRIST IS REAL

A children's book is offered... which, when scratched, emits an odor—lily, pine, fir, rose. The fascinated child can read about Christmas story and at the same time smell the odor of an exciting Christmas tree!

Poor child! Don't be told of synthetic experiences of life. Things must be seen and touched and smelled—even heard and tasted—or else you've missed it all. Other things, just as real, or more cannot be encompassed by the One of these is Christ.

He is real, alive and present. You must experience Him by personal encounter. No synthetic gospel, no ersatz experience, no phony relationship will fill the place of Christ in your life.

Your safety is our concern.

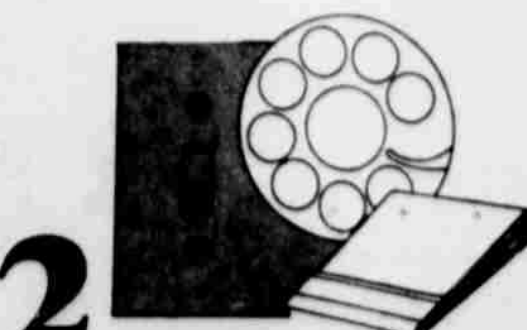

On occasions when you detect the odor of natural gas, it could be coming from the range where a burner may not be turned off completely or from a pilot light that's out. However, if these are functioning properly, and the odor seems to be quite strong—here are 4 easy steps to insure your safety:

1 First, open the windows and doors to allow ventilation of the room.

3 go next door to telephone the Fire Department as a precaution for your safety.

2 Second, don't switch anything electrical on or off. Don't use the telephone, and don't light a match.

4 Fourth, telephone Lone Star Gas and wait until we have checked the source and made certain that you can re-enter safely.

Although you may never have to worry about gas leaks, we at Lone Star feel you should be informed on what to do should the situation occur. Please inform your family of these 4 safety measures, and keep these steps for reference.

Farmers Are Urged To Keep Close Check For Grain Sorghum Diseases

COLLEGE STATION - Dis-extension Service. "They can overcome the disease problem by planting a resistant variety next year.

"In other words, the farmer needs to take a business-like approach to the matter with an eye on next year. He needs to keep notes of any disease and other problems he is having this year in order to do a better job next year."

MDMV is generally recognized by mottled upper leaves of plants, explains the Texas A&M specialist. There are certain hybrids that are more susceptible to this disease and some show a prominent red leaf when temperatures range below 60 degrees.

The virus lives in the rhizomes (underground stems) of Johnsongrass and is transmitted by aphids to corn and grain sorghum.

MDVD will not produce sterility but grain yields will be reduced depending on the degree of infection. Losses are generally heavier when the disease appears when the crop is young, points out Horne.

Downy mildew is identified by the striping of a plant's leaves. The striping is prominent and can easily be identified by someone familiar with the disease.

Horne notes that this disease is serious in that it causes sterility in the plant - in other words, the plant either does not produce a head or produces a head that does not bear grain.

"County agents can assist producers in identifying these diseases and can provide information on resistant varieties for next year's crop," says Horne. "The disease will continue to become more severe with continued use of susceptible hybrids."

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station have conducted numerous field studies in the past few years, using almost 200 hybrids, to determine the degrees of disease resistance of each at certain locations in the state. This information is available at any Extension office.

Cotton Men Tour Laboratory

RALEIGH — Key executives from the nation's leading yarn spinning mills got a firsthand look at Cotton Incorporated's research, marketing and sales support activities at a special seminar here.

The spinners, representing a cotton market of more than half-million bales a year, toured the product development laboratory at the Cotton Incorporated Research Center and heard detailed reports of research aimed at making cotton yarns more desirable for knitters and thus more profitable for spinners.

"We gave the spinners a candid look at the company research, sales and marketing program sponsored by America's 300,000 cotton producers through their dollar-per-bale program."

Haskell County Plays Significant Role In Producing Texas Oil & Gas

The petroleum industry in Haskell County played a significant role in 1972 in helping to satisfy the unprecedented demand for Texas' crude oil and natural gas.

Haskell was one of 190 of Texas' 254 counties which produced gas and oil valued in excess of $100,000 in a record production year for the state's No. 1 industry, according to figures compiled by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Assn.

The county ranked 107th in the state in the value of petroleum produced, just over $10 million. The sale of crude oil brought a $8.9 million; natural gas, $117,000.

But despite this record year, due in large part to 9 months of production at 100% of the maximum efficient rate, the nation's largest producer of petroleum could not produce enough to satisfy demand.

Want To Save On Income Tax?

COLLEGE STATION — "The summer months offer farmers a chance to save on income tax by having their children for farm work and combining vacation and business trips," says Dr. Wayne Hayenga, economist in agricultural management for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"A farmer can deduct wages he pays to his children and still claim them as dependents as long as he provides over half of their support. The support test is not hard to meet if the children are living at home," explains the Texas A&M University System specialist. "As long as they earn less than $2,050, the children will not have to pay income tax. Also, dependent children working for parents do not have to pay social security taxes."

The arrangement should be set on with regular hours and regular paychecks. The amount of pay must also be reasonable and for work actually done, cautions the economist.

"A farmer can also deduct business-related expenses from business-vacation trips as long as business is the primary purpose of the trip," continues Hayenga.

Fuel Shortage Reports Continue Heaviest In The Wheat Harvest Areas

Custom combine operators apparently are having the most trouble in locating fuel supplies.

Farmers who run short or out of fuel should report that fact to their county Agricultural and Stabilization and Conservation Office.

New Vet Rates Become Effective

Some veterans who are receiving Veterans Administration payments because of disease or injury incurred during military service may soon receive an increase in their monthly benefits. This announcement was made today by C. H. Herren, Veterans Service Officer for Haskell, Texas 79521 County.

For many years, the Congress has authorized the Veterans Administration to pay one rate of disability compensation for veterans whose diseases or injuries were incurred during periods of wartime, and another for veterans who were in military service during a period of peacetime. Under the laws, the peacetime veteran received 20 percent less compensation than the veteran who served during wartime.

Effective July 1, 1973, the monthly rates of disability compensation paid to peacetime and war time veterans will be equalized at the regular wartime rate. This means that all veterans who are presently receiving Veterans Administration compensation at the peacetime rate will automatically receive a 20 percent increase, which will be reflected in the July checks, which will be received about August 1, 1973.

This adjustment in the dates of disability compensation for veterans will be automatic. There will be no need for each individual veteran to apply for the increase. The local Service Officer does suggest, however, that each veteran who is currently being paid at the peacetime rate should be sure that the automatic increase is shown on his July check. Any peacetime veteran who does not receive his increase should contact the Service Officer as soon as possible after August 1, 1973, to make that an inquiry might be made.

Haskell County Plays Significant Role In Producing Texas Oil & Gas

"To further stimulate production, we need a restoration of the open market force," said Robert A. Buschman of San Antonio, president of the Association.

"This would produce two much-needed effects: First, it would channel the state's petroleum products to the most efficient and highest priority uses; second, it would help provide part of the capital needed so desperately to build refineries and superports and to carry on expensive exploration and production activities," Buschman added.

This study by the Association also shows that production last year in Haskell County resulted in the payment of $1.2 million to royalty owners.

The state of Texas received $63,000 in production taxes from county wells; 7,454,000 barrels of oil output and $9,000 from natural gas production.

Oil and gas producers and developers spent $628,000 drilling 31 wells in the county last year, with $388,000 of that figure lost in 23 dry holes.

According to the Texas Employment Commission, 107 oil and gas industry employees worked in the county in 1972 and shared a payroll of $783,000.

Lending Change Could Be Boon To Farmers

COLLEGE STATION — A recent lending change in the Federal Reserve System could be a boon to the rural economy of Texas. The change could make an estimated additional $1 billion in loanable funds available to Texas residents from the state's rural banks.

Called "Seasonal Borrowing Privilege," the change is designed to help rural banks expand loan fund sources where the local economy has a seasonal loan need, such as with grain sorghum, cotton, wheat or rice production, points out Dr. Wayne Hayenga, economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Rural banks experience wide fluctuations in loan demand from area farmers, and when such loans reach a seasonal high, other legitimate community loan needs must often be denied," notes the Texas A&M University specialist.

Hayenga contends that the additional loanable funds could be used for consumer credit purposes as well as local and area economic development.

The "Seasonal Borrowing Privilege" could affect an estimated 334 rural banks in Texas, more than one-fourth of all the banks in the state. To be eligible to use the borrowing privilege, banks must be members of the Federal Reserve System.

rather than 11 days as for grain sorghums. Again the operating efficiency of the sprinkler system determines how the operator needs to regulate the days between irrigations.

A good way to tell when your soil needs water is the use of the ball method. A fist full of clay soil tightly squeezed into a ball should be able to withstand three tosses into the air (about 3 feet) before breaking up to be at or near field capacity. If the soil will not ball up in your hand, or breaks up on the first toss, an irrigation is needed. If sand squeezed in the hand will not leave a sand imprint on your hand and fingers, an irrigation is needed.

Jim Boykin, Harry Koehler, or I will be glad to assist you with your irrigation problems. An analysis of your irrigation system and methods of application could probably save you many dollars in decreased operating costs as well as many gallons of water unnecessarily pumped onto the land.

New Mobile Field Office Planned

Governor Dolph Briscoe announced recently he will initiate a new Mobile Field Office as an extension of the Governor's Office sometime in July.

The Governor's Mobile Field Office will be located in every County seat in the State at least one day during the coming year and will be staffed on an alternating basis by the top members of the Governor's staff.

Governor Briscoe said whenever possible he himself will staff the Mobile Field Office. Addressing the County and District Clerks Association in Corpus Christi, the Governor said, "We will be in the communities for many purposes. We will be there to listen to what the public has to say... to answer questions — and — to help inform the public on matters of special interest to their communities."

Governor Briscoe pointed out that "the doors to this office will be open to everyone. The public will be encouraged to take advantage of this opportunity to communicate with their government."

Among other assignments, those staffing the office will help to inform the public of ways and means of conserving energy; will establish face to face communications with local governmental officials; and will search for ways of improving the overall delivery of government services to the communities, the Governor said.

"By establishing this close link to the people in the Governor's Office, it is my belief that the Governor's Office will be in a better position to serve all the people. The Mobile Field Office will be an instrument which will make State Government more accessible and more responsive to the public we all serve," the Governor said.

Training School Soon To Begin For Dept. of Public Safety Recruits

The Texas Department of Public Safety is actively recruiting applicants to fill the ranks of its uniformed services. Major C. W. Bell, Regional Commander of the DPS, announced that the training school for new uniformed law enforcement personnel will begin Sept. 25, 1973.

The Major noted that the DPS has been increasingly successful in recruiting persons from minority groups to these positions and said efforts in this direction will continue.
 Also in keeping with the current trend, female applicants will be considered for these rewarding careers in law enforcement.

Major Bell said general qualifications for DPS officers are these:
 Applicants must be 20 through 35 years of age; height not less than 68 inches; weight not less than two pounds per inch of height; visual acuity of 20/40 correctable to 20/20; and a minimum of 45 semester hours of college credit.

Applications may be obtained by contacting any DPS employee or any DPS office. The completed application form should be taken to offices in Lubbock, Amarillo or Wichita Falls where the competitive examination is given each Tuesday and Wednesday at 9:00 a. m.

Major Bell said persons selected as cadets will be assigned to Austin for training at the DPS Academy. The salary during training will be $625.00 per month. Upon being commissioned the salary is raised to $719.00 monthly with the opportunity to advance to $848.00 per month.

 Uniformed personnel receive additional longevity pay for each five years of service to 25 years. They are also granted a monthly uniform cleaning allowance, and receive travel expenses when away from their station.
