Tommy Davis Tells Lions of Incidents As Nazi Prisoner

Tommy Davis, young insurance broker of this city, an Air Force veteran of World War II, told some of his experiences while a prisoner in Germany, at the regular meeting of the Lions Club Tuesday in the Texas Cafe.

Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Davis of Haskell, was held prisoner by the Germans after he and eight other crew members of a U. S. bomber ditched their plane in the sea off Holland. Two motors had been shot out over Berlin, and the crippled plane was headed back toward England when heavy Nazi anti-aircraft fire over Holland crippled the plane until it was forced down at sea.

The young airman told of his treatment at the hands of the Germans which he said was not too bad. He and other Allied captives feared mostly the damaging air raids inflicted during the latter stages of the war, he told the Lions. He told of many incidents occurring during the months he was in enemy hands, and his talk was highly interesting. In closing, he told of the actions of Russian troops who came into the German city where he was last held, and related instances of their plundering and looting. Davis was introduced by Hugh Ratliff.

First Baptist Youth Recreation Program Gaining Favor With Young People

The Summer Recreation Program inaugurated by the First Baptist Church, and which was officially opened two weeks ago has caught favor of a large number of youths in the church, both boys and girls, and the program was termed "off to a good start" by directors. Heavy rains last Thursday cut down attendance at Friday night's program, they explained, but community-wide interest has been manifest and a record number of young people is expected Friday evening.

A meeting will be held at the church tonight at 8 o'clock to organize softball activities to be included in the program. Miss Opal Dunnham has agreed to assist with the organization and supervision of women and girls teams. The group will go from the church to the playing field as soon after eight as possible to begin actual play.

Softball for men and boys will be under the direction of Durwood Jacobs and Olin King, who will assist in organizing teams and supervising this phase of the recreation program.

For the weekly recreation program each Friday night from 8 to 10 p. m., playing equipment and lighting facilities that have been installed on the church lawn include two Volley Ball courts, a Badminton court, Croquet course, Table Tennis, and Horseshoe Pitching. Other games will likely be added as the program progresses, directors announced.

Local Softballers Beat Stamford for Second League Win

Haskell All Stars softball team took their second straight win in conference play Tuesday night, defeating Stamford 7-1 at Fair Park Field before a sizeable crowd of fans. Previously they had defeated Weinert 8-5 in the softball league opener.

Their winning stride will be given a rugged test Friday night when they journey to Stamford for a return game with the Stamford team. The Jones Countains hold the lead in season play, having defeated the locals in an exhibition double-header recently.

Following the Stamford trip, the All-Stars have two home bills booked. They will play Weinert at Fair Park Field Saturday night, and Tuesday night take on Rochester for the first league game between the two teams. Starting time for all games is 8:30 p. m., sharp and the contests will be started on time, Manager Henry W. Smith has announced.

The season's schedule has been worked out, but a few changes are contemplated before the games are definitely scheduled.

Two league games will be played weekly, and occasional exhibition games will intersperse the regular bill, Smith said.

Teams included in this year's league are Haskell, Stamford, Avoca, Weinert, Rochester, and Knox City.

Indians Lose To Stamford; Wichita Falls Next Foe

The Haskell Black Indians suffered their first defeat of the season last Sunday afternoon when they bowed to the Stamford All Stars 6-2. The game developed into an old-fashioned pitching duel between Billy Davis of Haskell and William Dorsey of Stamford. Both teams scored in the first inning, and went deadlocked 1-1 from there into the 7th frame, when two errors and a pass ball set the stage for the Indians first defeat.

The Indians will meet another tough team Sunday afternoon at Fair Park Field when they tangle with the Wichita Falls Red Sox in a game slated to start promptly at 3:30 p. m. The Red Sox have a number of servicemen on their team from nearby Sheppard Field.

40 Years Ago—May 27, 1911

About 4:30 a. m. Friday the large two-story building on the northeast corner of the square was discovered to be on fire, and within a few minutes flames had broken through the roof and it appeared that the building would be destroyed. However, volunteer firemen and helpers soon had four streams of water pouring into the building and continuing their fight for more than an hour, succeeded in bringing the fire under control. This was one of the most successful attempts to control a big fire we ever saw. If it had not been for the good work of the fire boys Haskell would have probably suffered a quarter of a million dollar fire loss, as the entire east side would more than likely have burned.

J. J. Stein and N. I. McCollum made a business trip to Denton, Floydada and other points this week.

F. G. Alexander is having a cement drainage curb put down in front of his company's building.

The Reck Island Company has sold their T. P. Addition to Haskell and a party of 40 purchasers of this property from Joliet, Ill., will be here in June to wind up details of the purchase. S. W. Scott is arranging to give these visitors an outing at his ranch.

J. A. Via and Tom Mitchell bought lumber at Weiner, Saturday to build a bridge over Miller Creek. Mr. Mitchell is overseer and he states he will commence work at once. That will make two bridges over Miller Creek in the Vontress community and both are badly needed.

A serious accident occurred at the Ballew schoolhouse Sunday evening while church was in progress. Lightning struck near the building, knocking down nine horses tied at hitching racks or fence near the building. None of the animals were killed outright, but some may have been permanently lamed. Dave Josselet's horse broke loose and ran away, tearing up the harness. The bolt shocked several people slightly, but caused no property damage of any consequence. The preacher did not have to dismiss the congregation for every fellow was in the other fellow's way in attempting to get out.

Jones Cox & Company sold a header to Date Anderson Tuesday. This is probably the first machine of this kind ever purchased by a farmer in this county, so far as we are aware. These machines have never been used before in this section of the country.

S. G. Dean, who has a lumber yard at Swenson, spent several days in Haskell this week.

50 Years Ago—June 1, 1901

W. C. Hudson of Alvarado is here this week trying to buy 100 head of horses and mules. He has had some success, but doubts if he can get the full lot here.

Dr. King and a Mr. Mitchell of Hunt county were here on a prospecting tour this week. After looking around, they objected to locating in this section on account of the prairie dog pest. Although the damage caused by prairie dogs is sometimes exaggerated, there is no doubt but that it would pay to try to get rid of them.

Miss Mollie Whitman left Tuesday to visit relatives at Farmersville and other points in East Texas.

District Court convened Monday with Judge P. D. Sanders presiding and Sheriff Collins and Clerk Long in attendance. The Grand Jury was organized with the following members: W. M. Sager, T. E. Ballard, R. B. Fields, J. E. Mathis, R. G. Bennett, W. M. Wood, S. A. Broach, A. Chaney, J. F. Albin, A. G. Jones, M. A. Clifton, J. M. Perry.

Who keeps the "refreshment stand" down the Stamford road, was in town a day or so this week.

Prof. Frank Bowron went to Snyder this week to resume the instruction of the Snyder Band. J. F. Jones left Tuesday to return to his ranch in Schleicher county after a visit here of sev-

Roy Cummings and Miss Ethel Alexander arrived at home Tuesday evening from Georgetown, where they had been attending Georgetown University.

The mail carrier on the Seymour route had to turn back from Red Creek Thursday morning on account of high water.

A. C. PIERSON'S VISITING IN ALABAMA

Trash receptacles were placed on the streets throughout the business section recently by the City and are proving highly effective in eliminating much of the waste matter which is so commonly littered about the streets in the downtown section.

The neat containers have attracted considerable favorable comment from the public, and growing cooperation in use of the receptacles has been noted, city employees say.

Installation of the receptacles is a part of the City's street cleaning program which was enlarged in scope several months ago when the new paving project was completed.

A LOT of folks like the two-door idea, because they feel that tiny tots are safer in the back seat.

But that's no reason why back-seat headroom should be dimensioned for midgets only.

So Buick engineers have done something about it, in the Buick SPECIAL 2-door Sedan pictured here.

They've kept the compactness of overall length that's important in modern garages.

But they've arched that sturdy steel top to give you he-man headroom — headroom in back as well as headroom in front — that makes a six-footer feel at home.

And they've designed a trunk that has "room for tourists."

Don't ask us how they did it. Come see for yourself.

Slip into those spacious seats—and while you're there, find out why this compact honey is one of the hottest numbers we've seen in years.

Price Support For Grain Sorghum Crop Increased to $2.17 Per CWT

Joe S. Harper, secretary of the Haskell PMA County Committee, announced that Commodity Credit Corporation has increased the price support for the 1951 grain sorghum crop. The support level was increased from $1.88 per cwt to $2.17 per cwt.

The announcement was made after a meeting at Abilene. The meeting was attended by Texas farmers and was called for the purpose of discussing the planting of grain sorghum on wheat acreage which has been abandoned due to the drought.

Increasing feed requirements could easily lead to a tight feed situation in 1952, the secretary said today.

Prevention of such a development is the purpose behind the Department of Agriculture's high feed production guides for 1951, as well as for the appeal to farmers to use their feed supplies as efficiently as possible.

"It is extremely urgent that farmers plant more acres to grain sorghums and the other feed grains this year," the secretary said. "The plain fact is that we are feeding more than we are producing, and this means that we're digging into our reserve stocks."

"Total feed supplies last fall were large enough to encourage some increase in hog production and cattle feeding, but because of the increased livestock numbers and heavy feeding of grain, the carry-over of corn next fall is expected to be reduced to around 550-600 million bushels. Last fall our corn carry-over was 870 million. The availability of feed could very definitely be a limiting factor in livestock production for the feeding year beginning next October."

Average yields from so small an acreage as was indicated by farmers' early planting intentions would result in a total 1951 production of about 118 million tons of feed grains, 6 per cent smaller than in 1950, according to Mr. Harper. It would fall short of current feed grain requirements, estimated at about 132 million tons for 1950-51. This would mean a further reduction in carry-over stocks of feed grains, and also some reduction in 1951 of livestock feeding. With the strong demand in prospect, a much tighter feed supply situation would result.

An unfavorable growing season, such as occurred in 1947, would give a production about one-fourth less than requirements, resulting in a complete depletion of reserve stocks and a curtailment of livestock production.

"During the last war," Harper said, "feed production didn't keep up with livestock expansion. We had relatively large stocks of feed in 1941, but little was left by the summer of 1943, and we had to begin subsidizing the use of wheat for feed. By the end of 1943, we had used up our reserves of both wheat and corn and livestock numbers had to be greatly reduced."

"As Secretary of Agriculture Brannan said recently, in calling on farmers to grow at least the grain acreages set up by the production guides, 'the time to take action against a future shortage of feed is not when we have run out of reserves, but now.'"

Wilbur Shaw thinks so much of this new Chrysler, he has selected it as Pace Car for the 1951 Indianapolis 500-mile race.

WILBUR SHAW, AMERICA'S MOST FAMOUS DRIVER, DRIVES NEW 1951 CHRYSLER—REPORTS TO YOU ON REVOLUTIONARY FIREPOWER ENGINE AND HYDRAGUIDE POWER STEERING

Here are Wilbur Shaw's reactions—in his own words—as taken down by a recording machine in the car:

"The '51 Chrysler has it! With this new engine and power steering, the first on any U.S. car, it's a whale of an automobile."
"I'm completely bowled over by the ease of steering!"
"This steering combined with the automatic transmission . . . is the nearest thing to an automatic pilot for a car I can possibly imagine."

"This engine . . . I can't get over the amount of power and snap in this engine . . . it's incredible!"
"I drove 111 miles with the feeling I had expended no more effort than in driving around the block."
"When Mrs. Shaw drove, her comments just about squared with mine. Here's what she thinks of the 1951 Chrysler . . ."

Mrs. Shaw: "At first I could hardly believe the ease with which I could turn the wheel. That's important . . . especially in the summertime."
"Often after I have parked a car in the average parking space, I feel I should taxi home, shower and dressed again. But with Hydraguide Power Steering I parked it with one hand. It practically drives itself!"

Wilbur Shaw: "It's hard to describe this new Chrysler without going off the deep end . . . it has it in every department."
"In fact, I think so much of this car, I've selected it as Pace Car of the 1951 Indianapolis 500-mile race. (Mr. Shaw's comments are reprinted through the courtesy of Popular Science Magazine.)"
*Mr. Shaw refers of course to standard passenger cars—not racing cars or special models.

Check-Up of Farm Insurance Advised To Prevent Loss

It's too late to check or increase the amount of fire insurance on farm buildings after a disaster has struck. And according to C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist of Texas A&M College, it is quite common to find "under-insured" farm properties in Texas.

Building costs have risen steadily during the past few years, and unless insurance policies are changed in keeping with these costs, the actual protection becomes lower and lower. To offset these increases, Bates suggests that farmers check their policies now to make sure that the insurance coverage on all farm buildings is adequate.

He illustrates with what happened a few weeks ago to a farmer in north Texas. This farmer lost by fire a dairy barn, machinery shed and grain bins. These buildings had a total undepreciated value of $3,380. The complete settlement from his insurance amounted to $1,040—a difference of $2,340 between the cash settlement and the inventory values which were only a fraction of the total replacement costs under present conditions.

This farmer through careful planning can replace each $1,000 of 1939 building values by spending now about $2,380. Chances are that he may feel so "cramped" for funds that the replacements will be inferior to the buildings he lost. He must have the replacements stay in business and he needs them now.

Such an experience can be disastrous to a family just getting started in farming and can cause even the well established farm family to undergo privations. Bates, therefore, urges farmers to review their insurance needs in the light of present day building costs and make the needed adjustments.

Herbert L. Bridges, ET/2c, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tyler Bridges of Haskell, is now stationed at a Navy training center at Point Mugu, California, he told his parents in a recent letter. Young Bridges volunteered in the Navy in February of this year.

UNEQUALLED SIMPLICITY—

...The Basic Reason for the JOHN DEERE'S Outstanding Economy, Dependability, and Long Life

In terms of economy, field dependability, and long-lived performance, you just can't beat a John Deere Tractor.

But economy of maintenance isn't all. John Deere Tractors have proved themselves misers in fuel consumption, thanks to their outstanding cyclonic-fuel-intake engines, available in gasoline or all-fuel types.

Here's why! Exclusive John Deere two-cylinder design provides unequalled simplicity and strength. Parts are fewer, heavier, and better able to withstand the grueling strains of farm work for a longer time. Parts are more accessible; adjustments are easier to make... repair and overhaul expense is much lower.

Add up all the advantages a John Deere Tractor offers you—lower operating costs, increased profits, greater freedom from costly field delays, more years of service. You'll do well to choose a John Deere! Get the complete details from us—soon.

Freeze Pies After Baking To Keep For Future Use

Can I use my family's favorite apple and pumpkin pie recipes for home freezing? How long will pie keep in a freezer? Is it better to bake the pie before freezing, or after? So run questions to Miss Thelma Wirges, County Home Demonstration Agent.

With only a few changes, standard recipes may be used to prepare fruit pies for home freezing, also mince, pumpkin, and chifon and cream types. Custard pies, on the other hand, do not freeze well. And meringue trimmings are best avoided, because they are likely to toughen and stick to wrappings.

To use the pies at their best, plan to leave them in the freezer no longer than 2 or 3 months. As for the best baking time—before or after freezing—pies are satisfactory if frozen either baked or unbaked. However, crust will usually be more tender and flaky and flavor fresher, if pie is frozen unbaked.

Here are other special pointers on pie freezing taken from the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics.

When pies are frozen unbaked: Some fruits need special treatment to hold color and flavor. Steam apple slices 2 minutes, cool, and drain; or dip raw apple slices in a solution of 1-2 teaspoon ascorbic acid (vitamin C) to 1 cup water. Apples for 4 or 5 pies can be dipped in this amount of solution. Peel peaches without scalding, then slice. Mix peach slices with 1 teaspoon lemon juice or ascorbic acid solution made by dissolving 1-4 teaspoon ascorbic acid in 1 tablespoon water. Coat berries or cherries with a mixture of sugar and flour. Use spices lightly, especially cloves, because they may become bitter and discolor frozen filling.

Do not cut steam vents in top crust of an unbaked frozen fruit or mince pie until ready to bake. Then cut vents, bake the pie just as if fresh, allowing about Weinert Elementary graduation will be held Thursday May 24 in the school auditorium at 8:30 p. m. Joe Davis Supt. of the O'Brien school will be the speaker.

10 minutes longer baking than for fresh pie.

When pies are baked before freezing: Prepare and bake the pies as usual. Cool thoroughly before wrapping and freezing. Best way to thaw a baked fruit or mince pie is to remove the wrapper and heat the pie at once in a moderate oven, 375 degree F. for 30 minutes. Let baked chifon and pumpkin and cream pies thaw at room temperature.

Pie plates and wrappings: Put pies for freezing into paper pie plates made for baking; or use rust-proof metal pie plates, if you can spare them. Wrap pies in moisture-vapor-resistant material and seal with heat or tape. Cover pie with a paper plate and place in stockinette or paper box for added protection in freezer.

The electric cord used daily by homemakers on their home appliances is the life line of convenience. Because such materials as rubber and copper which the cords contain may not be readily available, homemakers are urged to take better care of this needed equipment.

New, Fish, Wildlife Sanctuary Set Up For This Area

The executive secretary of the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission said new opportunities for scientific study of wildlife preliminary to improved hunting and fishing in Texas will be provided under a new law just passed by the Legislature.

The act, sponsored by Representative Jack Cox of Breckenridge, affects only six counties. They are: Jack, Young, Stephens, Palo Pinto, Erath and Hood.

This new area, giving the Commission regulatory powers, is in addition to the 28 county area set aside for these studies in the Panhandle by the previous Legislature, as well as the area West of the Pecos.

The latest act automatically closes all seasons so far as the state law is concerned but the fishing, hunting and trapping periods will be re-established by the Commission. In time, because of the experiments thus authorized, the Commission hopes to provide even greater privileges for sportsmen.

The new act specifically authorizes the Commission to open and to close seasons and to set bag limits for both fish and game.

State Policies Are Dictated, Farm Bureau Told

A large group of Farm Bureau members and families attended the county meeting last Tuesday at the new school building. Loys D. Barbour, director of Texas Farm Bureau was principal speaker. Much interest was shown when he advised the group that a government employee seems to be dictating the policies of state government. He urged all members to contact the governor or their legislators, to express their opinions of state affairs.

R. C. Couch, Jr. explained the Choral Festival program being sponsored by Texas Farm Bureau when the finalists will be selected from all county choral groups at the state convention in Houston in November. Entertainment was furnished by the well known Tankersley quartet and children from O'Brien, Bernard Gilmore, president of Throckmorton Farm Bureau brought a young lady who sang two numbers that were much enjoyed. Refreshments were served and the meeting was declared one of the most informative held recently.

Part of the business section of Olney laid waste by the destructive tornado which struck that city Friday afternoon in which two persons were killed and several injured is shown in the above aerial photograph made by a photographer of the Fort Worth Star Telegram.

The tornado hit north of the Seymour Highway at the west end of the town, then travelled in a southeasterly direction through the south edge of the main business section, the path of destruction showing through the center of photo. Two-story building in the central foreground is the Olney City Hall.

Texas In Forefront of States In Organizing For Civilian Defense

Texas has taken the lead among states with respect to organization for civilian defense.

The set-up makes the most of existing agencies, which would cooperate in the event of an enemy strike. There is already a state-wide organization which would go into operation in the event of another tragedy such as that of Texas City.

If an enemy bomb should hit your city, the mayor would be in charge, and he would call in his local police, fire, health, and other authorities. If the situation should be too difficult for city officials to cope with, the county judge would be the next higher authority.

For next greater emergencies, the district highway patrol captain would bring in the necessary agencies, including the Red Cross.

On a statewide level, the civilian defense council is composed of Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Department of Public Safety; Dewitt C. Green, state highway engineer; K. L. Berry, adjutant general; Dr. George Cox, state health officer; John Winters, Department of Public Welfare; and George Hawley, state fire marshal.

H. D. Carmichael is the state Red Cross official who would work with this group, and Wm. J. McGill of the governor's office would co-ordinate the work of all the agencies involved.

Supposing the enemy attack was of major proportions, the militia under Gen. Berry would doubtless take over, and if other states were involved, he would be in touch with military authorities and with French Robertson of El Paso, who has an office in Dallas and is regional director for the national civilian defense administration.

The U. S. civilian defense administrator is Millard F. Caldwell, former governor of Florida. Sketchily, that summary outlines the chain of command in civilian defense, from bottom to top.

The federal government has left it to the states to work out their own civilian defense program, and that is what Texas has tried to do. So far, no state money has been spent, but the governor has asked for an appropriation of $100,000 per year for administrative purposes.

This money would be spent for a drama clear, for example, would keep the program moving on the state level. It would be up to the local authorities to take care of their own programs.

Governor Allan Shivers has suggested that some money be appropriated as an emergency fund, and earmarked for such use in his authority along with that of some other agency, such as the Legislative Budget Board.

The purpose of this appropriation would be to have the money on hand, ready for use when an emergency came.

The governor is now authorized by law to proceed with the civilian defense organization that is described here, and to join surrounding states in a compact for joint action, in the event an entire area should be affected by enemy attack.

While Texas is ahead of most states in civilian defense preparedness, there is yet much to be done to get ready for any bombing or invasion by foreign force.

The federal government has failed to make its role in such a drama clear, for example. But the thing for you—a private citizen—to do in the event you were the first to discover an enemy attack would be the same thing you would do if your home were on fire or if your home was burglarized.

In other words, call the nearest fire station or police station.

Chemical Mesquite Control Studied By Ranchmen

Chemical control of mesquite on range land is receiving a great deal of attention by ranchmen and by various agricultural agencies.

More than 6,000 acres of range land in Reagan County will be sprayed this spring with ester of 2,4,5-T to one gallon of diesel oil and three gallons of water per acre.

Most Texas range lands are producing only 50 percent of their former capacity. A. H. Walker, Texas A&M extension range specialist said last week.

This condition is due to overgrazing over a long period, drought, and brush infestation, Walker said. Sixty million acres of Texas range land are infested

OPS Regulations Are Extended To Many New Lines of Businesses

Office of Price Stabilization regulations were extended this week to commercial and personal service businesses.

Although this regulation is not expected to reduce service prices, it will establish ceilings above which they may not rise, according to OPS.

Here are the four things service organizations must do to comply: 1. File a statement by June 16 of prices in effect during the base period December 19, 1950 to January 25, 1951.

2. If pricing is done from a manual—as in the case of some auto repair shops or any other type business—the title and edition of the manual must be given. If pricing is done from a printed list, the date of the list must be given, as well as its origin.

3. By June 16, ceiling prices must be posted, clearly visible to the customer. 4. A duplicate copy of the report must be kept by the person making the report.

Here is a roundup of important dates for businessmen under OPS regulations: Wholesale beef prices went into effect on May 9, while retail beef ceilings were effective May 14.

Service station reports on prices are due on May 25th. On May 30, retailers must file price charts and base period reports under Ceiling Price Regulation 7.

Posting of price charts for meat retailers is required by June 4, and for commercial and personal service organizations on June 16.

The deadline for restaurants and other food and drink establishments to file food cost statements with the OPS has passed. Compliance with this regulation required reports to be in the district office by April 29.

Maximum penalty for non compliance with OPS regulations is a $10,000.00 fine or one year in prison or both.

Additional information on any OPS regulation may be obtained by calling, visiting or writing the Fort Worth District Office of Price Stabilization, 2900 West Lancaster in Fort Worth.

Control Methods Against Leaf Cut Ants Developed

The Texas leaf-cutting ant is a serious agricultural pest in many sections of the state. It causes extensive damage to gardens, field crops, fruit and shade trees and forestry seedlings. The pest can be successfully controlled, says James A. Deer, assistant entomologist of Texas A&M College, with methyl bromide.

The methyl bromide is packaged in one pound cans and comes in a liquid form. A special hand-type applicator is needed for getting the chemical into the ant colony. As an aid, a rubber tube three to four feet long should be attached to the applicator. This tube is thrust six to twelve inches into one of the openings near the center of the colony and held in place with the foot while the can is being opened.

The liquid changes immediately to a gas when the can is punctured and, since it is heavier than air, flows to the bottom of the chamber. According to Deer, one can of the material is usually sufficient to wipe out the average colony. He warns against spilling the chemical on the skin or inhaling its vapors when the application is being made for it is poisonous.

Colonies should be treated now because at this time of the year, the ants are concentrated in the central colony and are more easily controlled. Then too, the colonies are weaker and no young queens or new ants are being produced. The queens are usually together and since they are the only ants that lay eggs, killing them will help to exterminate the colony.

Methyl bromide is not recommended for controlling household and red ants, too expensive, and chlordane is very effective on these pests, says Deer.

A new leaflet, L-128, has been released by the Texas Extension Service that covers the details of the methyl bromide treatment and Deer suggests that you get a copy from your local county extension agent.

Dithane Z-78 and Puritized Agricultural Spray in 1950 tests, show promise as effective fungicides for controlling pecan scab.

Texas county agricultural agents in 162 counties reported that 1,631 storage buildings were erected in 1950 as were 1,028 dairy barns in 164 counties.

Climate Should Be Considered When Buying Paint

In buying paint for farm buildings, the main thing to consider is location and climate, says E. C. Brown, extension buildings specialist, Texas A&M College. He recommends using the hardier type paints, which contain greater amounts of zinc oxide, in areas that have warm, humid climates. Soft paints, which contain a high percentage of white lead, are better for use in a dry climate.

Brown warns against using white lead paints on buildings located near industrial plants that give off sulfide gases. These gases cause paints that contain a high percentage of white lead to turn black. Zinc oxide paints, however, are not affected.

In addition to climate and location, a farmer has to consider his income—because in a bad year, he may not be able to keep up a regular painting program. In a regular painting program, buildings are repainted every five years—or whenever the paint shows signs of failing.

Brown suggests that farmers consult these local paint dealers about painting problems. These men are qualified to give specific recommendations that apply in their area.

There is a new book just out entitled "Man The Ruler of His Home." Chances are I'll never read that one because I never read fiction.

Workable Budgets Can Be Fun, Food Specialists Say

Budgets cause many short tempers in the American household. Budgeting looks easy on paper but is entirely different in actual use. Budgeting can be fun if it is worked according to the foods and nutrition department of Texas Technological College. But the budget should not be a rigid affair.

Three guides determine a workable budget.

First, plan the budget for your own family, deciding how much you can spend on food and sticking to this decision. Don't use someone else's financial plan.

Second, plan for unexpected costs. Most budget makers overlook this item and often have their plan thrown out of kilter. If you plan for the unforeseen, your budget will run smoothly. Some months you will not spend this emergency fund. Sometimes this fund can be used for staple foods which are on sale.

Third, plan your menus a week in advance with an eye to food costs. These menus should serve as guides, not definite rules. Always use leftovers, even though you don't plan for them in your menu.

Plan a garden if possible. This will cut the cost of fresh vegetables. Home grown vegetables usually taste better and are more nutritious than those bought at the market. Plan to do some preserving in your home. Freezing some of the garden help trim food bills. A budget tailored to fit, if flexible, can be workable at the same time will save tempers and Some 250,000 tractors and other equipment were on Texas farms at the end of 1950. This power was up 85 percent of the 1940 level. Some 88 percent of the tractors were harvested with power.
