Eye Lights of K. C. H. S.

A very despairing and sad spirit hovered over the high school this week. Each student had the terrible realization that a fatal blow was to befall someone.

Even George Wall's smile became a mask of disaster. His tender heart skipped a beat as he thought of the millions of poor turkeys that were to meet their fate on Thanksgiving!

The thought of executions along with exams was too much for a number of Junior and Senior girls. So they chucked the whole situation and went over to O'Brien Friday night and rooted for our basketball team. Of course they did not consider their own personal preferences.

The news of the game between Goree and Knox City left my ears flopping. It is rumored that Goree is to win. Too bad they are in for a big let-down.

My eyes did not deceive me when I peeped into the skating rink last Friday night about 9:30. The band was having a skating party! Of all the hilarious fun I have ever witnessed. One student's father was there and furnished a good portion of the laughs. Poor man, we hope he is not "de-jointed."

A little bird whispered in my ear about three certain girls being called the "Sweet Swing Shifters," "The Three Musketeers" of something. Anyway, their engagements are becoming popular. Swing it away, trio!

The boys' Home Economics class is walking on air this week. They are looking forward to a very exciting Friday night. They will be entertained with a buffet supper by the Homemaking II and II girls in the beautifully decorated Home Economics laboratory.

It is nice that so many of these Freshmen and Sophs like to write. They get to practice enough in Mr. Farrar's study Hall.

There! Someone has suspected me and stuffed paper in that keyhole, so until I can open it feel free to do anything.

After a spell of headaches and black coffee this column is again placed in your hands to do what you may wish with. It doesn't make any real difference just what happens!

Since it is basketball season again, we would really like to see those Greyhounds break all previous records and run up high scores and win new championships. Here is to an overwhelming victory Tuesday and also Friday night. Let's see if we can get that old Knox City spirit going and really back them. The volley ball girls also make their debut, and we must stick behind them too.

The ominous rumbling that echoed over the school the past few days was the death groan of the upper classmen. A new organization has sprung up among Freshmen, with their chief aims and ambitions to worry their elders. This group is known as the "onion club." The fish have escaped considerable notice until Tuesday afternoon at the pep rally. The results: 1 They were compelled to come to the basketball game under guardianship of an upper classman; 2 The girls were to wear huge green bows in their hair, and the boys with a green bow "Percy Style" under their collars.

The Freshmen used their wits (as usual) and all came eating onions. Just ask a few of the upper classmen in the pep squad how they came out. Some of them slept with onions, had it to flavor every dish for a week, and have been compelled to wash their hair. There is a big reward for the person who can give a formula for its removal.

Tuesday afternoon, the first pep rally of the year was staged. It was a howling success. In fact, it was a knockout. In my wanderings about K. C. H. S. during the past week, my glance was attracted by the many styles of boots being worn by the girls and boys. From all indications, it is possible that the girls will make worthy cowgirls, with a little more experience. They are so in earnest that a few were found pouring over a wild west magazine, "get the right atmosphere," they said.

Miss Marjorie Propps visited in Abilene Thursday.

Geneva Jackson and Virgil Dotson sang with a group of Rule students and discovered this week that they had won a prize.

Zella Plumlee, Louise Large and Cleo Reynolds had guests from O'Brien Sunday.

Billie Dean Davis spent Sunday at Lake Kemp.

Friday afternoon, November 17, at 2:30 p.m., a representative of the FSA, with a territory of Baylor, Knox and Archer counties, gave a most interesting and beneficial demonstration to a group of twenty farm ladies and Homemaking girls in the Homemaking Department. Her demonstration concerned the making of yellow cheese from clabber milk and the many uses of our ordinary grains such as milo maize, corn, and others.

Let's Be Thankful for Electric Service, too!

"I am thankful for my electric range. It's so much easier to prepare Thanksgiving Dinner!"

ELECTRIC SERVICE is something we've all come to accept without much thought. That's because it's so very, very good and dependable. We simply needn't worry about it at all. So it's fitting and proper that we pause at Thanksgiving time to give a moment's thought to the marvelous value—nay, bargain—we get in return for the few pennies a day that we pay for Electric Service. Light is only one of the many items of service included in the monthly statement. Refrigeration, Cookery, Radio, Sweeper, Coffee-maker, Washer, Iron—all these and more cost less today than our grandparents paid for light alone! To use this Service, we need only turn a switch. And behind the switch are a thousand men and women whose constant labor and research make Electric Service both dependable and economical. Jobs thus created—a $1,300,000 payroll in this West Texas area. Taxes are paid—almost a half million dollars annually for the support of local, county, state and federal governments. We can well be thankful for modern Electric Service.

"I serve all the people."

THANKSGIVING DAY

Religious persecution has never been confined to one nation or to one country. In the early seventeenth century England persecuted the Catholics and France persecuted the Protestants. At this time, the Church of England was dominant in England. However, there were inside the church who did not agree with its views. These were divided into two groups: The Puritans, or those who preferred to remain in the church and purify it, and the Separists, or those who thought the best way for them to live according to the dictates of their own conscience was to separate from the church altogether and establish them one of their own. Both these groups were Protestants, but they were different to each other and to the Church of England.

The Separists, in order to escape persecution by the Church of England, first went to Holland to live, and from their wandering dispositions, they acquired the title of "Wanderers," or Pilgrims. After residing in Holland for about 12 years they became dissatisfied, because they saw their children growing up and acquiring Dutch customs and the Dutch language, and this displeased the proud, patriotic Englishmen.

So they set out for the New World in the good ship "Mayflower," landing on the coast of New England at a place they named Plymouth, after Plymouth, England, in December, 1620. These Pilgrim Fathers, as they are now termed by all American historians, faced a bleak, cold winter. So when springtime came, they lost no time in clearing the land and planting crops. Coming through the first year without much trouble from the Indians, and with a fairly bountiful harvest, Governor Bradford set aside a day after the crops were harvested, for thanksgiving and prayer. This custom soon spread to the other colonies and finally, after the Revolutionary War, to the various States in the Union.

But not until 1863 did it become a national holiday. In 1863 President Abraham Lincoln set aside August 6 as "a day for national thanksgiving and prayer." And since 1864, the last Thursday in November has been Thanksgiving Day, until President Roosevelt set aside a different day this year.

We think of Thanksgiving Day now as a day to eat turkey and see a football game, but our sturdy forefathers celebrated it in an entirely different manner and in a different spirit. To them it meant a day to thank God they had been spared the pangs of starvation and a scalping by the Indians' tomahawks.

Though it has been two hundred and eighteen years since that first thanksgiving day on American soil, we still should be thankful that we are the descendants of those sturdy, God-fearing English pioneers. And while we have no Indians to fear, and no anxiety about starvation for ourselves and our families, we still have problems of self-development, self-control and national well-being that try our mettle every bit as much as the bleak New England winters tried theirs, and let us only hope we conquer our difficulties as nobly and as successfully as they did theirs.

NO EUROPEAN LARK FOR US

Whatever war spirit there might have been in this country, and there never was any appreciable amount, has gradually subsided. Business men, laboring men, and all classes have come to the realization that a war means endangering liberty, freedom, and democratic government, as we have enjoyed them through all our history.

Then another thing, instead of grasping for European markets for our products, we are definitely trying to develop the home market and at the same time reach out after Latin American markets. Our destiny lies in the Americas. And our people are coming more and more to realize that we have no valuable stakes in Europe's bloody game.

In this connection, the Fortune Magazine poll of sentiment shows that 2.3 per cent of the American people thought that we should enter the war on the side of the Allies in September and only 1.7 per cent in October. Thirteen and five tenths per cent favored entering on their side in September if it appeared they were going to lose, and only ten per cent in October. The same poll showed 84 per cent favoring England and France to win and just 1.3 per cent favoring Germany. Fourteen and seven tenths per cent didn't care one way or the other.

This proves we want the Allies to win, and that we will do anything we can to help, except lend them money and send our boys to fight their battles.

WE ARE THANKFUL

This is the tenth issue of the Herald that we have published since taking charge, and we have enjoyed a good business in Knox City, for which we are thankful. The business men have all been good to us, and we want you to know that we appreciate your kindness very much, and will continue to give Knox City the best paper possible.

Everybody has heard of the man who sings in his bathtub. Well, we know one who reads in his. His wife often has to run him out. When he stays in the bathroom too long, she always says "I'll bet that _____ is in that bathtub reading again."

We heard a lady say the other day that not all the smart people wore breeches.

The pang of a guilty conscience is the worst punishment known to man.

When England and France made their pact recently with Turkey, they also made her a $240,000,000 loan. So money has a drag with others besides some of our public officials and their henchmen.

Big shots in politics, who seem unable to get along together, sometimes suddenly lay aside their hatchets. In many cases this is for the good of the dear, old party, and in others it is done because the men who put up their campaign money tell them to shut up and stop fighting.

When our grandmothers were girls, snuff dipping was the rage. The elite either dipped or smoked pipes. Today, the streamlined feminine descendant of those good ladies smokes her cigarette. And no intelligent person can truly say that one is any worse than the other. The cigarette is a little nicer, but it is also a little costlier. But the dainty finger that flicks her cigarette is every bit as good and virtuous as the rosy lip that spit her snuff.

Look how the mighty have fallen. Carnegie Tech, Pittsburgh and T. C. U. all look like they had been hit by a Kansas cyclone.

only to him who can lose himself in pure, lofty thought. A man who does that rises above his surroundings, no matter how humble they may be. His thoughts mount him on trailing clouds of glory, carrying him above the grit, grime, sickness, petty injustices and unhappiness of this world.

There is but little contentment in the world. This applies to both man and the dumb animals. The same thing that makes a cow look across a fence, wistfully yearning for greener pastures, makes a man forever search to make life easier and fuller. It is this longing and yearning within the breast of mankind that leads humanity to higher achievement.

Speaking of classical literature, were we to publish Shakespeare's Venus and Adonis in the Herald, we would about get run out of town for publishing an obscene, vulgar newspaper.

Recently, we saw the picture of a man and his wife both with black eyes. They said they got them when a giant wave at sea bounced their ship around. My, My, suppose this fellow had been in politics. Wouldn't he have had some tall explaining to do?

Don C. Wright, editor of the Wetumka, Oklahoma, Gazette, says, "When I am no longer cussed for the things I do and say in a professional way, I shall turn the management of my paper to someone who is able to make folks see red now and then, for I shall know my day is over. I have a wide acquaintance among newspaper people, and I've never known an editor who was universally loved who ever amounted to a tinker's dam as an editor."

We have all heard of the lunatic fringe in society. Well, there is also a quitter-griper fringe. Even Christ couldn't pick out twelve without getting one of these. But in destroying Christ he destroyed himself, which is always the unhappy fate of doubters.

The Range Rider knows a certain little grandmother who is 80 years old, and who still has a twinkle in her eye that would do credit to a woman half her age. She considerably irritates her seven dynamic grandchildren where she stays by telling each one on Sunday morning at the breakfast table the time of night he or she came in the night before.

"Dig, Dig, Dig." may be a funny song, but we know a dad who says he has some kids who can do it without music.

Russia may be a bear to little Finland, but she's liable to be a white elephant to Nazi Germany.

The best company is the companionship of a deep, rich nature with its own self.

How the sexes do differ. Imagine a man sitting in the church choir on Sunday with his hat on.

Since the Irish of Notre Dame have been winning all their games this year by 1, 2 and 3 point margins, they must have thought they were in "Reveria", when they were defeated by Iowa 7 to 6.

The most unchangeable people on earth are the people of India. Christian missionaries have been carrying the gospel of Christ to these people for 1900 years, and yet today only 1 per cent of them are Christians.

Like Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, we believe we have enough to be thankful for to justify two thanksgivings. First we are thankful that we live in America, and second, we are thankful that we don't live under Hitler.

In case you want to know how many feeble-minded people there are in the world, just get out on the highway and watch the fools go by.

FREE BOOKLETS ON CHRISTMAS LIGHTING

Many people are asking about lighting decorations for the home during the Christmas season according to Guy Glenn, local manager of the West Texas Utilities, who said that descriptive folders, illustrating attractive and economical ways of lighting both inside and outside of homes, were available at his office.

"A string of lights over the porch, or strung around evergreen trees in the front yard, gives a Yuletide effect to the entire premises," he reminded.

"Other creations include a pasteboard Santa Claus with sleigh and reindeer atop the house and lighted by a flood lamp. A lighted star guiding the three shepherds is another appropriate Christmas design."

The little booklet on Christmas lighting, he said, is free to all who care to ask for it.

With our equipment, we will be able to use genuine 22K gold leaf in imprinting bill folds, and all kinds of leather goods. We will also imprint Christmas cards, Writing papers, playing cards, napkins, party favors and many other items.

We will have this machine in operation in front of our store all during the holiday season and invite the public to see it in operation.

Don't place an order for Christmas cards until you see our line. We have cards for as little as 98c for 25 with your name imprinted in gold, silver or other colors. You will not have to wait for the cards as the work will be done right here in our own store.

Christmas merchandise is arriving daily and we are putting it on display as it comes in. We plan to have everything in and completely arranged by the latter part of next week. We believe you will like our arrangements better this season than heretofore.
