Senior Citizen Program Receives Good Response

Forty-two volunteers were on hand Tuesday morning at 10:00 o'clock to organize services for senior citizens. The meeting was held in the Fellowship Hall of the First United Methodist Church.

The name Community Service Organization was adopted for the group, and a steering committee was named to advise the organization and to complete information files for a plan to bring planned daily contact to older residents of Knox City.

Mrs. H.C. Dennington, Bob Reynolds, Floyd Bailey, C.D. Sikes, John May, Ulric Lea, F.Q. Warren, Joe Reeder, R.G. Vaughan, Leo Harris, John Crownover, Henry J. Jones, Celso Gonzales, Sam Clonts and Henry L. White were named to the panel.

STEVE SMART

High Teams Own Meet Mon.

R. Hernandez fifth in shot put 40'8". K. Burt placed sixth in 880 yd run with a time of 2:27.9.

New Residents For Knox City

Mr. and Mrs. M.L. Cowan are new residents of Knox City, moving here from Odessa.

The Cowans have purchased a home at 805 South Second. Mr. Cowan has been employed by Lynn Electric Motor Company and began work Monday morning of this week.

The Cowans, who are members of the Methodist Church, are the parents of Mrs. Robert G. Howell.

Knox City welcomes these new residents.

Cancer Crusade Plans Are Made

The Knox County Unit of the American Cancer Society held its meeting at the Church of Christ in Munday, March 16 at 7 p.m.

Cancer Society Committee chairmen for Knox City are Mrs. Cornie Covey, Mrs. Ruby Robinson and Sam Clonts.

A salad supper was served to kick off the Cancer Crusade drive which begins the first week of April.

Sterling R. Clark from Quanah was guest speaker.

Foursquare Crusade Will Begin Sunday

The Knox City Foursquare church will host an area-wide Spiritual Renewal Crusade, March 26 through April 2, 1972, at 7:00 o'clock each evening, with evangelist Steve Smart, 22.

The young man has been preaching since he was twelve years old, according to Rev. Floyd Bailey, pastor.

Messages will involve spiritual renewal, and will be centered around Jesus Christ, Savior, Healer, infiller with the Holy Spirit, and soon coming King.

The Rev. Bailey said the evangelist has a special ministry in prayer for the sick, and those seeking spiritual renewal.

Music for the public crusade will feature songs composed and sung by the evangelist and his wife.

A warm welcome is extended to all who desire to attend, the pastor said.

IN BRIDGEPORT

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Swain, Becky and Joey visited several friends in Bridgeport last weekend.

Water Authority Advertising For Bids

As will be noted in this week's News, the North Central Texas Municipal Water Authority's advertisements for bids were let on the scheduled date of March 22, and the advertisements for bids for five contracts appear elsewhere in this issue.

Contract I is for the construction of Millers Creek Dams.

Contract III is for the construction of water supply lines.

Contract IV is for the pump station construction.

Contract V is for furnishing vertical turbine pumping units, and Contract VI is for furnishing and erecting steel ground storage tanks.

Separate sealed bids will be received by L.B. Patterson, Sr., president, North Central Texas Municipal Water Authority at the office of the Authority in Munday until 2:00 o'clock May 23, 1972.

Pete Beecher, general manager for the Authority, explained that contract II for the filter plant is now being finalized by the Authority's engineers and the Texas Water Quality Board.

Wilson Promoted

Jerry Wilson of Lubbock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chad Wilson has been promoted to district manager for Dodge in the Houston area and has already assumed the duties of his new position.

His wife, "Dink", and children, Christi, Cindy and Curt, will move to Houston as soon as housing can be obtained.

G.E.D. Test Slated at Rule

The General Educational Development tests will be given at Rule, Saturday, March 25, in the High School Library at 8:00 p.m.

Five to eight hours are required to take the five tests. If a person passes these tests, the Texas Education Agency will issue him an equivalency high $10 for the five tests.

This diploma is usually accepted in lieu of the high school diploma for employment or college entrance of a high school education.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting the office of the superintendent.

Another test session will be at Rule April 22 at 8:00 a.m.

DID YOU KNOW . . . that Waters S. Davis III, 906 Exposition Building, Houston, Texas 77002 subscribes to the Knox County News?

Mr. Davis stopped by the News office to subscribe to the paper for two years before he left town.

Chamber Banquet Tonight

Sammy B. White, local welfare officer, presided at the meeting and explained how the telephone teams will operate.

The members voted to conduct the program throughout the community without regard for church affiliation. A general discussion brought out plans for the future development of this organization by gradually increasing the services offered to the older citizens.

Several members are circulating forms to be completed by older residents who did not attend the meeting.

If anyone is interested in helping with the program or if anyone would like to be included in the daily contact group and has not filled out a form, call 658-3771 for information.

The steering committee earnestly seeks the cooperation of all citizens of this area in making this program effective, and believes that other much-needed services for our senior citizens can be arranged if such cooperation is continued as has been exemplified up to this time.

The steering committee has set its next meeting for April 5 at 10:00 a.m. at the Four-square Church.

A June wedding is planned.

Grass Essential To Livestock Industry

Just as food crops are essential to the world's human population, grass is essential to the Texas livestock industry, to its wildlife, and to the entire Texas economy. It has been estimated that grass furnishes over eighty per cent of all cattle feed in the state. Many of the cattle in Knox County will be raised and sold as stockers or feeders and will have been grown almost entirely on our grasslands.

We can readily see the importance of good sound grassland management programs which may consist of weed and brush control, fertilization (for improved pastures), and proper grazing use is perhaps the most abused phase of grassland management in the state.

In defining proper use we find that it is the amount of grazing that a plant can stand without

If we were to analyze a sample of soil we would find minerals such as nitrogen, phosphorus, potassium and several others. These elements are "raw materials". When water is available and temperatures are favorable, the plant absorbs these minerals and water through its roots. If then moves them up into its leaves where, with energy furnished by the sun, these raw materials are combined with air and manufactured into food. Actually, about 95 per cent of the total plant growth comes from carbon and other elements which the plant takes from the air. The above ground, or green part of the plant, then is the "food factory". This being the only place where food for plant growth is actually manufactured.

What happens to the food manufactured in the plant leaves? A part of it goes back into the roots, here it feeds the roots so they can grow larger. Much of the food is used by perennial grass plants replace about half their roots each year. Part of the manufactured food is used for growing more leaves in increase the size of the "food factory". Part is used to produce stems and seed in order for the plant to reproduce itself. In addition, a part of the food manufactured is returned to the plant roots in the form of stored food.

The stored food in the roots is used to keep the plant alive during winter, or other non-growing periods. This is also the food the plant uses to start growth in the spring. At this time, there is no "food factory" or green leaves in order for the plant to manufacture its own food. If the first leaves are clipped or grazed off in the spring, the plant must dip into its root reserves again to replace these leaves. If the leaves are repeatedly clipped over an extended period the plant will run out of root reserves and simply starve to death. This is often referred to as the roots coming to the top of the ground. What has happened the lower roots have died from lack of plant food returned to them and top growth has been inadequate to grow new roots. In this condition the plant dies or barely exists.

The plant must be able to feed itself if it is to stay alive. Fortunately for the livestock industry, strong, healthy plants are able to produce more food provided a proper food factory feed themselves. It is this surplus growth that we can harvest with our livestock and wildlife.

As pointed out in the first part of this article the grass plant received 95 per cent of its growth from elements of the air, by the action of sunlight on the green leaf of the plant.

If we can leave enough above the ground to utilize the air and sunlight to its fullest extent, the plant can make a faster and more economical growth. A good rule of thumb is graze half and leave half. Accomplishing this, puts more money in the livestock producer's pocket.

In order to maintain the desired above ground growth we can see that at least two pastures would be to the advantage of the producer. This would enable him to move his cattle from a pasture before it becomes abused.

Several producers cooperating with Wichita-Brazos Soil and Water Conservation District are using or plan to use some type of planned grazing system this year.

We can say in conclusion that good Grassland Management is certainly a necessary tool to produce an ever increasing amount of high quality forage on each acre of land. At the same time, to harvest, by grazing a maximum amount of food each year.

Grass management is a game that must be played according to the rules—and mother nature wrote the rule book for us.

Soil Conservation technicians of the Soil Conservation Service, located in Knox City, will be glad to assist landowners operators in developing a good grassland management program

Texas Highway Program

Includes Work in County

The Texas Highway Commission on March 1, 1972, approved a $24 million, two-year program for the development of almost two thousand miles of Texas highways.

The 1973-74 Consolidated Highway Program calls for construction of 1,186 miles of highway facilities and the state's portion of right of way costs on 810 miles.

The program includes both new work and additional finance for work previously authorized.

V.L. McGee, district engineer of Childress, announced that the program is a project on State Highway 283, extending from F.M. Road 1756 near Truscott, south 4.2 miles at an estimated state cost of $350,000, for construction and $10,000, for right of way.

Also included in this program are state funds in the amount of $11,000, to cover the purchase of right of way and relocation assistance on State Highway 283, extending from the Foard County line, south to F.M. 1756 near Truscott, Knox County.

Weekend visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A.P. Denton were Miss Lou Denton, of Ft. Worth, and her two nephews, Danny and Donny Denton, of Grand Prairie, who are the twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. David Denton, who were unable to be with them.

Stenograph Representatives Visit Here

The second year typing class was visited by representatives of the Stenograph Institute of Texas on Thursday morning, March 9, 1972. Ken Carroll discussed court reporting, accounting, and secretarial fields as his lecture was machine recorded by Gary Hardin, pictured at the reporting machine. Pictured with the SIT guests are Helen Quintana, Ceissia Skiles, Carol King, Jan Lankford, Bobby Reeves, Mary Jo Campbell, Terri Whitten, Rob Harrison, and Karen Helms, all members of the Typing II class. Class members not pictured are Gary

Burt, Cindy Foster, Connie Gentry, Jack Gentry, Kathi Bent, Mickey Oxford, and Rolandine Stubbs. Victor Gonzales and Brent Railback were guests of the class for the occasion. Mr. Carroll pointed out that court reporting has opened the door to hundreds of young men and women in recent years to get into a profession that can easily yield from $10,000 to $18,000 a year. The class was interested in knowing that there are only 41 court reporting schools in the entire nation approved by the National Short Hand Reporters Assn. on a yearly basis. The school occupies the entire fourth floor of the Alexander Building in Abilene, Texas. The Stenographic institute is owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. H. Dan Rodgers, well-known West Texas court reporters. The class felt an immediate "attachment" for Mr. Carroll since he is the nephew of Mrs. Curtis Casey, sixth grade teacher at Knox City.

J. L. Hill Jr. Resigns As PCA President

At a meeting of the Board of Directors Friday, J. L. Hill Jr., president of the Rolling Plains Production Credit Association, advised the Board of his decision to retire effective June 30, 1972. He had originally planned to retire at the end of 1972 but due to other business interests, decided to retire at the earlier date.

Mr. Hill became manager of the Stamford Production Credit Association in 1935 and has served approximately 37 years as head of that organization and the Rolling Plains PCA which resulted from a merger of the Stamford and Memphis PCA's in 1965. When he became manager of the Stamford PCA in 1935, loans outstanding were approximately $100,000.00. Currently, loans outstanding total $20,000,000.00.

Prior to becoming manager of the Stamford Production Credit Association, Mr. Hill was associated with a bank in Rule for 10 years.

In the Army, he served as assistant bureau chief of Pacific Stars and Stripes' Korea Bureau and covered the North Korean attempt to assassinate South Korean President Park Chung-hee, and the Pueblo incident in 1968.

He also worked on Stars and Stripes in its Tokyo headquarters and as a correspondent in Vietnam. On release from a two-year tour in the Army, Graham traveled through the Far East, then spent a year with two Australian newspapers before returning to the United States and rejoining The Reporter-News in November, 1969.

J. L. Hill Jr. is married to the former Linda Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hill of Slaton and formerly of Knox City.

He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. L.W. Graham and Mr. and Mrs. Frank McAuley Sr., all of Knox City.

Lighting fixtures can be Jewelry For Your Home

"Lighting fixtures and lamps can be jewelry for your home," said Mrs. Elaine Carmichael, Extension County Home Demonstration Agent. She added that lighting can give a feeling of elegance to a room, as well as be functional.

"With the almost array of lighting fixtures and systems, it's possible to capture almost any mood with illumination," Mrs. Carmichael declared.

According to her, consumers may choose from two broad classes of fixtures—the decorative and the functional. "Many may be classified as both. A purely functional light draws little attention to itself. Its major use is to provide light for a particular purpose. Generally, it adds little or nothing to a decorative scheme except the light itself."

"The fashion fixture's major purpose, however, may be to add to a room's decor. The fixture and the light it produces will add a flourish and a sparkle to your furnishings, but will give little or no functional light. The average homemaker must recognize this feature and realize it won't serve a purpose for which it was not designed."

Mrs. Carmichael said that people too often forget the main function of a lighting fixture is to provide useful light. "Some allow themselves to be carried away with decorative appeal, or cut corners in cost," she claimed. "They sometimes wind up with a distracting glare."

A simple rule to keep in mind as you shop for table lamps: table height plus lamp base height (to the lower edge of shade) should equal the height of the person using the lamp.

Gerald Barnard of San Angelo visited the Claudal Barnard family Sunday.

Mrs. Dwight Gothard spent the weekend in Carbon visiting her mother.

Mrs. Rob Johnston has returned home from spending several weeks in Ohio with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Walter York.

I just had another birthday last week. I'm not saying anything about how old I was, only that I'm not 30 more and after spending the day climbing Kiowa Peak I feel I can give some good advice on how to feel younger even if you do not look it. Just start working with a group of young people and stay up with them a few days and you can not have time to get very old. If the communities around are like O'Brien, I know they would appreciate someone else to help with the activities of their young people.

JERENE MINCEY

Wedding Plans Told

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Mincey have announced the engagement of their daughter Adie Jerene to Rev. Bill Parks, son of Orval Parks and Mrs. Pauline Parks, both of Akron, Colorado.

A June wedding has been planned in the Foursquare Gospel Church in Knox City.

The bride elect is a graduate of Knox City High School and will be a June Graduate of L.I.F.E. Bible College in Los Angeles, California. She is employed in the Bank of America in Los Angeles.

The prospective bridegroom is a graduate of Akron High School of Akron, Colorado. Rev. Parks is also a graduate of L.I.F.E. Bible College where he was Treasurer of the Senior Class. He is assistant pastor of the Foursquare Church in Pueblo Colorado.

IN CANTON

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Boyd are visiting her sister, Mrs. Carly Wallace, of Canton and other relatives this week.

Mrs. Roy Day, Mrs. John Egenbacher and Randy spent Saturday and Sunday in Lubbock and Littlefield visiting relatives.

Business Women Speak To KC Study Club Thurs.

Members of the Knox City Study Club met last Thursday at The Woman's Club and heard guest speakers, Mrs. Doris Crownover, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Faye Railsback, city secretary. The women were introduced by Mrs. Myrtle White.

Mrs. Crownover, who spoke first told of the assets and advantages we as a small town enjoy. Among the things she mentioned, for which we can be grateful, are our county hospital which employs approximately 40 persons and has a payroll of $14,400.00, also a nursing home which is comparable, the Plant Materials Center which is one of the seven in the United States, the Soil Conservation Offices and Agricultural Stabilization Offices the Farmers Home Administration office, and the State Welfare office. Knox City also has two highway patrolmen with the Texas Department of Public Safety living here. The government programs of the school bring in teachers and families.

Mrs. Crownover said. She also mentioned the many small favors which she and the Chamber office do for the people of Knox City.

Mrs. Railsback described the improvements that have been made in recent months in the City Hall and the new office equipment that has been purchased. Also, the city has bought equipment such as the street sweeper, grader, new garbage truck and the new car for the police department.

Among city projects have been the hot topping of several streets and maintaining the cemetery, with the help of individuals and dues. Another improvement has been the sanitary landfill the city acquired for the removal of garbage from the townsite.

Farm and Ranch News

By Herman Collier

PLAN FERTILIZER NEEDS

Fertilizer should be ordered early to insure having the correct type and amount.

The fertilizer supply for the 1972 crop looks good at the moment, however, demand for it is at an all time high. Although the supply is good, difficulty arises in getting the fertilizer to the farmer when he needs it.

Contact should be made to take advantage of discounts on early ordered supplies. Bulk fertilizer should be ordered early, even though delivery is usually made to the field at the time of its use.

When storing early-ordered bag fertilizer, be sure to give it room to breathe. Leave air space between each stack of bags.

Always store fertilizers in a dry place. Don't lay bags on a concrete floor because they'll pick up moisture, get lumpy and cake up. It's a good idea not to stack fertilizer more than eight bags high. Keep fertilizer and animals separated. Fertilizer is food for plants; to animals it would be disastrous.

It's just good business to figure how much fertilizer you'll need for the coming crop season and to order it all right away.

Soil tests are important for finding out the proper types and amounts of fertilizer needed.

Soil mailing boxes and information sheets may be obtained without cost from the county Extension agent's office in Benjamin. Soil test samples may also be carried to the Extension Soil Testing Laboratory in Seymour instead of mailing.

SMALL GRAIN INSECTS

Greenbug and winter grain aphid numbers in wheat fields have been increasing in some fields the last two to three weeks. A few control applications have been made during this time.

The insect numbers have had a wide variation being moderate in some places and heavy in other locations.

Producers are encouraged to make regular observations of individual fields to decide if control applications should be made.

Copies of MP-399, Texas Guide for Controlling Insects and Mites on Corn, Sorghums and Small Grains are available at the county Extension office in Benjamin.

TREATMENT FOR NEMATODES IN GARDENS

Home gardeners complain each year about root knot nematodes in their tomatoes, okra, beans, and other vegetable crops. These microscopic worms may be the reason for sickly plants that do not respond to fertilizer or water. Nematode presence can be recognized by fails and knots on plant roots.

If nematodes have been a problem in the past, treat your garden this spring before planting.

The most widely used chemical for nematode control contains dibromochloropropane (DBCP). It is available at nurseries and farm supply stores.

No special equipment is necessary for treating home gardens. Liquid materials can be applied with a quart fruit jar with a ten-penny nail hole punched on each side of the lid—one to pour from and the other to let air into the jar so the liquid will pour evenly. This jar can be used to pour the proper amount of fumigant diluted with water, kerosene, or fuel oil into each 100 feet of open furrow at least six inches deep.

Granular DBCP can be sprinkled by hand, using rubber gloves—into the open furrow, in either case, cover the treated furrow immediately to prevent chemical vapors from escaping into the air.

Row treatment is made by placing the fumigant in a six-inch deep furrow directly under seed rows or transplant rows.

Broadcast treatment can be made by opening a six-inch deep furrow using a hoe, spade or other implement. Furrows should be no more than twelve inches apart from center to center.

A broadcast treatment is much more effective than row treatment, however, more fumigant and expense is involved.

No matter which method is

CATHY WATSON

Methodists Honor Seniors

The First United Methodist Church honored the 1972 graduating classes of Knox City and O'Brien High Schools with a "Senior Supper" in the Fellowship Hall of the church, Monday March 13.

The hall was beautifully decorated with silhouettes of graduates placed at various places on the walls and tables centered with white bud vases holding American Beauty red roses. The centerpiece for the head table, was a bouquet of red roses.

Brent Railback gave the invocation.

Brenda Hester entertained the group with her guitar playing and singing.

Charlie Lieb pronounced the benediction.

The menu consisted of baked ham, beans, baked potatoes, individual peach salads, hot rolls and strawberry cake squares.

Approximately 80 guests attended.

A member of the Foursquare Church, Cathy says she enjoys Christian Life very much.

Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. T.P. Watson, two of the most important people in her life. Cathy said she wanted to thank them personally for helping her get this far in school and making it possible for her to participate in this contest.
