Odds Bits Salvaged
at Random

Wheat looks mighty good everywhere.

That is everywhere we've been since we were favored with rains.

Some think the wheat is not deep rooted enough to withstand much dry weather. It's growing off, now, in a manner that will consume quite a bit of moisture, and some fear that the rains will not continue in the right places at the right time.

Anyway, prospects at the present time were never better, it seems.

We took a sashay down Graham way last Sunday—and that's a pretty good story within itself.

A former county agent of Knox County, R. O. Dunkle, and his wife live there. Our meeting them dates back yonder several years before our marriage—and that's quite a spell, too.

A few months ago, while Munday was holding an irrigation school, Dunkle and his wife came back to Dunk's former "agencing" spot and stomping grounds.

As usual, the first thing he did was to make a bee-line for our office and hit us up for a free cup of coffee.

This particular school was a two-day affair, so our woman prevailed upon the former county agent and his wife to unload their valises at our house and spend the night.

They accepted with pleasure, and Dunkle consumed a lot of our life-sustaining grub with an up-and-coming appetite.

We were just bidding our time.

Then last week came the invitation to visit them in Graham, which we wanted to accept with equal pleasure and for an equal amount of time, but things came up to prevent our going to spend the night.

We think we got even with Dunk in just one meal for the consumption he did at our house.

His wife knows what hungry men are like, and she knows how to cook it. She seemed to try to overdo herself for Sunday's meal.

So putting our feet under Dunkle's table was a right enjoyable repast—to say nothing of the nice visit we had with friends of long standing.

Anyway, we left here just about the time that sandstorm blew up. We had it whipping across the highway from a northerly direction part of the way, then it switched back from the west.

Lots of real estate was moving between here and Olney.

Yeah, we went by Olney, then came back that evening by Throckmorton and Graham, in order to sort of get a peek at portions of the country we had not seen in a few months.

As we hit the post oak section of Young County, the wind continued, but the sand wasn't moving so readily. Learned there was a very light shower in Graham early that morning.

We saw some of the range practices carried out in Young County, where they were killing out the post oaks and improving their grass lands. It is figured that land which usually carried one cow to 20 acres can be made to carry one cow to five acres with these practices.

But as we started out to say, we looked at the country both coming and going.

And wheat surely looks good everywhere. We hope it continues that way plumb through harvest.

Emmett Branch, Wayne Mitchell and Dewey Blakney visited in Caddo, Okla., over the week end. Caddo was Mr. Branch's old home town some 45 years ago.

Pioneer Munday Couple Observe Their Golden Wedding Anniversary Wed.

A pioneer Munday couple who have spent all their married life in this area observed their golden wedding anniversary on Wednesday, March 25, at their home in the west part of town.

It was a quiet observance for Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Bevers, as only their relatives and a few friends knew of the occasion. The event was observed quietly because of Mrs. Bevers' health, which has been very poor for some time, and she is bedfast most of the time.

Walter recalls that he came to Knox County in March, 1887, and has lived within a stone's throw of Munday since that time. Mrs. Bevers came to Munday with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Thompson, in 1900.

Walter Bevers and Miss Jodie Thompson were married on March 25, 1903, at Thorp. The officiating minister was Rev. Ed R. Wallace, who served as the first pastor of the Munday Methodist Church.

They reared their family here; have been content to spend their life together in Knox County, and their friends hope them many more years of married life together. Both Mr. and Mrs. Bevers are 71 years of age.

Boggs Bros. Start Moving To New Location

Mahlon and A. C. Boggs today (Thursday) started their moving operations. Soon they'll be located in their new building, the one which formerly housed the Banner ice plant, which they purchased several weeks ago.

Some re-arranging of entrances, doors, etc., has been done in order to make the building more conveniently fit the needs of Boggs Bros. Furniture. One side of the building will house strictly new furniture, they said, while the other will contain their mattress factory and used furniture.

They believe this new arrangement will appeal to their customers and will enable them to better serve their trade.

They plan to hold a formal opening as soon as all arrangements are completed.

Farm Bureau Meets On Monday At Benjamin

The Knox County Farm Bureau Board of Directors met Monday night in the courthouse in Benjamin to discuss the membership drive now in progress and to hear a report of legislative activities.

Every tractor farmer in Knox County will lose one-fourth of his refund on non-highway gasoline tax if House Bill 388 is passed by the State Legislature, according to Herbert Partridge, president of the Knox County Farm Bureau.

Rep. James W. Yancy of Houston introduced the bill which would take away one cent of the four-cent-a-gallon refund and allocate it to the available school fund, the county farm leader said.

"What proponents of this bill forget is that the so-called tractor gas 'refund' is not actually a 'refund' since the money never belongs to the state. The tax is collected just as on all gasoline, sent to Austin, and then returned to the rightful owners," Partridge added.

The Farm Bureau leader said that the backers of the Yancy bill were apparently using the strategy of calling attention to the needs of the public schools and then pointing to the refund money as a likely source of revenue. He added that this would make the bill more difficult to defeat because the demand for a teacher's pay raise has touched off the hottest issue of this 53rd legislature session.

"The farmers pay their share of school taxes right along with everyone else in the school districts, and it isn't right for an additional burden to be placed upon them," Partridge said.

The head of the county farm organization said that if one-fourth of the refund were lost now, it might mean that the entire refund eventually might be abolished. He urged all farmers in the county to get in touch with their representatives in the state capitol and inform them of their desires and wishes on the refund issue.

During the last legislative session—two years ago—the Texas Farm Bureau was instrumental in saving the tractor gas refund, the county road bond assumption monies and the rural road program. Before the session was over, the farmers and ranchers of the state had also pushed through a tax on natural gas which is still being fought in the courts.

A company of eighty Albany young people and grown-ups will make the trip to Munday to act in and help produce the streamlined version of their annual outdoor summer show, The Fort Griffin Fandangle.

The Sampler, a Fandangle in miniature, runs almost an hour and will be presented free to the public. It is composed of songs and dances from previous Fandangles and from the show now in production. Robert Nail, director of the project, and a crew of assistants will arrive in Munday early Tuesday to install special lighting and sound equipment in the gymnasium. Music for the Sampler will be played on an electric organ which the group will transport here for the evening. The cast with its trunks of costumes and properties is due to reach Munday early enough in the afternoon to stage a rehearsal before the performance hour.

Te cast of the Sample is composed principally of young people, many of whom have been performing in Fandangles since they were small children, graduating each year to larger and more active parts. The Sampler has already made its first appearance of the spring in Stephenville. It will appear at later dates in Breckenridge and Stamford and also on TV.

The Fandangle is unique among community projects and in recent years has gained national recognition. Its principal distinction lies in the fact that nobody gets paid for being in it or working on it.

"Our show is something we do for the fun and satisfaction there is in it," Nail said. "We have created our show to express ourselves—our love of music and dancing and play-acting—and to commemorate the lives our when they settled on these Texas plains eighty or ninety years ago.

Shannon To Coach Puerto Rico Team

Editor's note: The following article regarding Howard Payne Shannon's coaching job in Puerto Rico is taken from The Topeka, Kans., Daily Capital. Shannon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Shannon of Munday.

Howard Shannon was disappointed with Topeka High's abrupt trip to the sidelines in the state playoffs, but the young Trojan coach has a consolation—a lush summertime job in Puerto Rico with all the trimmings.

Shannon Saturday was hired to coach Ponce in the eight-team Puerto Rican amateur island league. It's a signal honor for the former K-State star since most of the league coaches come from U. S. colleges.

It's a prize plum in other ways, too. In addition to a good salary, Shannon will receive air transportation both ways for himself, his wife and daughter, a rent-free air-conditioned apartment on the beach and a car for his use while on the island.

"I'm very happy about this job," said Shannon. "It will be very good experience and a fine summer vacation. I never tire of basketball. The game is just catching on in Puerto Rico and interest is high.

Shannon landed the position on the recommendation of Tex Winter, the former K-State aide who is now coaching at Marquette. Winter held the position last year but was unable to return this summer.

Winter also has given Shannon another boost. Winter last year brought two of the Puerto Ricans back to Marquette and that pair, which played on the Hill-topper freshman team, will form the nucleus for Shannon's team this summer.

Shannon will leave in mid-May for Puerto Rico and will miss about the last 10 days of school. "I appreciate the decision of the administration in giving me a short leave which enabled me to accept the job," Shannon said.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

BROWNSVILLE, PA., TELEGRAPH: "The Eisenhower Administration is removing the burden of wage and price controls from us. . . . We will be expected to exert some self-control."

BARBOURVILLE, KY., ADVOCATE: "We admire any man who will speak out . . . and in every case we wholeheartedly give way to his opinion as one of his own, not necessarily one that this paper might endorse, but as an individual opinion. These individual opinions can rule this country, just as effectively as any ruling or governing body ever assembled. There is no better way in America, under the American way of freedom, for a group of citizens to express themselves than through the columns of the local newspaper."

ARCATA, CALIF., UNION: "We have learned by now that government costs on either Federal or State level cannot be cut by creating omre bureaus. So top heavy has government become that every effort should be toward eliminating governmental services which can be handled on the local level both more efficiently and inexpensively."

ROSEBURG, ORE., NEWS-REVIEW: "Putting together the rail of the taxes imposed by federal, state and local governments, the U. S. Chamber of Commerce says, the sum comes to about $90 billion, or 30 per cent of the national income, which is another way of saying that we will work the entire first third year of the year to pay our tax bills."

THE RESPONSIBILITY IS OURS

Service, a publication of the Cities Service Company, says in a feature editorial: "During a political campaign we show our indignation and anger at the administration in power or we praise and defend it."

"We charge—or deny—corruption in high places; disloyalty on the part of the public servant; the inordinate growth of centralized power, bringing with it bureaucratic ineptitude and arrogance; excessive taxation."

"Yet with the installation of a new administration we blithely wash our hands of all responsibility. This is not as it should be. It certainly is not as our leaders would have it. A leader to be successful must have followers, not blind and indifferent, but followers who are intelligent, enthusiastic and energetic."

"If we are to get even a small per cent of the peace, prosperity and progress we should enjoy, we must daily appraise intelligently our leader's aims, approach discussion of them unselfishly, and close ranks in helping to carry them out."

"We have lost our illusions many times in the past partly because we have not done a good job as citizens."

Every American should read that, and remember it—and act on it.

MULTIPLYING MANPOWER RELEASE

"Russia has land resources and other resources in proportion to its population that are about the same as ours. So what?" said Bon D. Grussing, Chairman, Advisory Council, Farm Equipment Institute.

"Well," Mr. Grussing continued, "we have only about 15 per cent of the people on the land and they produce food and fiber of excellent quality in quantities to supply all our needs and much more for the rest of the world. . . . In Russia, one person out of every two between the ages of 15 and 55 is on the land. What does that mean? Well, it means that in spite of their large population they still have an industrial work force of 20 million fewer than the U. S. A." He pointed out that this may prove more important than the atomic bomb in preserving the peace of the world.

Our agricultural productivity is the result of many factors. Top among them has been mechanization—the application of amazingly ingenious machines to jobs that the done slowly and laboriously by hand in much of the world. The modern farm of today is a factory—and, in other kinds of factories, machines have lowered production costs and boosted output.

The farm equipment industry has given our farmers the best tools on earth. Those tools have transformed farming and have contributed directly to better living standards for us all, and the release of manpower for other essential activity.

HEAVY OBLIGATION

In a recent speech, J. C. Penny, head of the chain store system which bears his name, said: "In a free nation, where the individual is of first importance, that importance carries with it a heavy obligation. He must be worthy of the trust, by being a responsible citizen, by dealing reasonably and fairly with his fellow men. The free choices he makes cannot be jungle choices—they must be based upon the Golden Rule. He must do unto others as he expects to be dealt with by them. This is a stern discipline, but on it depends his survival as a free human being. And on him and his fellow Americans ultimately depends the survival of this country. Every man who fails, even in little things, may be responsible for the loss, to every man, woman and child in it, of the priceless gift of liberty."

Freedom is not a right. It must be earned, nourished, protected. Whether we shall have it or lose it will depend on our character as a nation—which is simply the sum total of our characters as individuals.

"Atomic energy will tend to supplement rather than supplant our industrial sources of fuel supply"—Gordon Dean.

NEW USES FOR BY-PRODUCTS

After a life-time of faithful productivity of the dairy barn, Old Bossy now might wind up as a vital component of the new plastic curtains in your kitchen. And the porker in your pigpen might conceivably be a part of your next tablecloth.

It's all because of a new development in which specially treated animal fats and vegetable oils can be used as plasticizing agents in the manufacture of new plastic products. Hence, the garden vegetables of today may be the garden hose of tomorrow. Or today's farm animals can be tomorrow's farm implements.

Sounds fantastic? It's really very simple, according to Dr. G. E. Hilbert, industrial chemist of Philadelphia. The acid portion of the inedible fat is treated with hydrogen peroxide in such a way that a specially oxidized oil results. This oil is used as a softening agent in plastic manufacturing.

Some of the final products of this research are plastic floor tile, drapes, tablecloths, table place mats, upholstery material and refrigerator gaskets. In some cases, this new product is superior to previous agents. It is especially valuable for chlorine-containing plastics, shielding them from discoloration and weakening caused by hydrochloric acid. This acid forms when plastic is exposed to heat or sunlight. And, unlike other modifiers, the new plasticizer does not mangle the final product opaque or hazy.

This new utility of inedible animal fats represented a forward step in the battle to find uses for the acute fat surpluses. Animal fats are by-products of the meat packing industry and the surplus has increased rapidly. Hilbert says this burdensome overflow amounted to approximately FORT WORTH—Hogs hit the highest point since last summer at Fort Worth Monday with a top of $22.25 and the bulk of the good and choice 185-250 pound butchers selling 25 to 75 cents above last week's close and in the $21.75 to $22.25 range. Sows were steady at $16.50 to $19. Receipts all around the major market circle were far below a week ago and a year ago also, indicating the short supply of hogs this season was possibly in excess of predictions early this year.

Easter lambs shared the spotlight with breeding ewes Monday. Some pairs of ewes and small lambs sold around $25 and $26 a pair, a new high for months on this class, and this reflects directly the enhanced prospects in the sheep country since the good rains of about Cattle trade was fairly active and generally steady. Some sows and fat yearlings stronger.

Good and choice fed steers and yearlings sold for $18.50 to $22, some weighty steers at $21.50. Common, plain and medium butcher cattle sold for $13 to $18.50.

Weekly Health LETTER
Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

Worried about your heart? If so, it doesn't help to hear that deaths from diseases of the heart and the blood vessels are the leading cause of death in Texas. Yet, if you have heart trouble today, you are better off than you would have been at any previous time in the history of the world, says Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. Cases, which in former years were considered hopeless, are now being treated successfully. Most heart patients who follow their physician's directions can lead relatively normal lives, carrying on most of the activities they did before they became ill with heart disease.

Over-fatigue, over-exertion, worry, and prolonged emotional disturbances also make additional work for the heart. The heart slows up somewhat when you lie down and a little more when you fall asleep, but the person who is constantly on the go, and gets too little sleep, does not give his heart much of a chance to rest. Whenever you become worried or excited, your heart is the first place of the body to react. It immediately starts to beat faster. If you really become frightened or over exercised, it may start pounding.

Many people, when they realize they have heart trouble, fortunately learn a new way of living. They acquire a more wholesome and happier way of life. Their work is planned so that they do not get overtired, and are not pushed to get the job done; when they get tired, they stop and rest. Few heart patients give up all of their usual activities. They learn a different and better way of doing things that does not put such a strain on the heart, for they have found that it is the way they do things, rather than what they do that is so very important.

Early treatment for heart destroyed within 10 days or two weeks. Most observers feel that of least 80 per cent have now been slaughtered.

Many cattle suffering from malnutrition have been marketed as "suspected" of having been poisoned. Old-timers are recalling the old saying that in this part of the country, a cow will live all winter and then die in the spring. We are sure this is the case with hundreds we have seen here.

No other light trucks have all this

YOU don't expect polo-pony agility from a truck in traffic—but the new GMC's have it. You'd like to have passenger-car pace and economy on the highway—and you'll get it from the 1953 GMC's. For there are two great advances that step the new GMC's ahead of all previous truck performance: One: Dual-Range Hydra-Matic Drive—the fully automatic shift with 3 speeds for traffic, 4 for the open road—available on 19 models through the 1/2-, 3/4- and 1-ton capacity range. Two: a new line of engines of progressive design, with compression ratios of 7.5 to 1 and 8.0 to 1—the highest of any gasoline truck engine ever built. Here's pile-driver power behind every piston stroke—flashing response and better mileage are squeezed from regular fuel. Many chassis advances, too, add to the extra-value features that make GMC's, point for point, the biggest dollar's worth in the light-truck field as well as in the heavier lines. We confidently tell you—these great new GMC's will do your job better, easier, and at the lowest over-all cost. They have stamina beyond their size, because they're "built like the big ones"—the heavy-duty GMC's that lead the world in sales. That's saying a lot. But just come in—and we'll prove it. *Standard equipment on Package Delivery models optional at moderate extra cost on the others.

FORT WORTH — In the Spring a young man's fancy turns to the fair sex, or so the poet says. In the Spring the Stockman's fancy turns to replacements for his herds and flocks, and the greener hue of the pastures and meadows pushes memories of winter, drouth, and other troubles far back into the limbo of things to forget.

At Fort Worth Monday this turn of mind became quite evident as stocker and feeder trade perked up and got into high gear for the first time in over a month.

Sharing the spotlight with the better stocker trade, was the Easter lamb market. Some 10,000 sheep and lambs greeted the buyers, and better than 5,000 of them were genuine Spring lambs. The trade was very slow getting underway as buyers bid strong prices, but salesmen pressed for sharply higher prices.

In the end the old crop lambs sold strong to 50 cents higher, and Spring lambs drew strong to $1 higher prices. Woolled lambs topped at $23.50, and Spring lambs topped at $24, while shorn fat lambs topped at $21. Some shorn feeders drew $17 to $19.50.

Stocker cows were reported from $12 to $18, and some around 600 lbs. kind drew $22. Stocker calves of the good sort sold around $18 to $23, and stocker yearlings sold from $22.50 down. Stocker heifers sold at $22.50.

Fat cows drew $14 to $16, and canners and cutters sold for $10 to $14. Bulls cashed at $12 to $18. Good and choice fat calves drew $19 to $23, and common, plain and medium kinds drew $13 to $19. Culls sold from $10 to $13.

Good and choice fed steers and yearlings sold for $18.50 to $23, the top of $23 paid for some commercially fed steers as well as a load of experimental cattle from the Spur Experiment Station. Common and plain to medium butcher sold from $13 to $18. Hops topped at $20.75 to $21.25, and sows drew $16 to $18.50. Pigs ranged from $14 to $17.

REFRIGERATORS DON GAY FABRIC COLORS

Refrigerators are getting dressed up today. The homemaker who has a yen for a refrigerator to match her kitchen curtains can have her wish.

In one leading manufacturer's new line of refrigerators, a decorator touch is included in a gay cotton cover for the door. Matching the new refrigerator to the color scheme of the kitchen is merely a matter of covering the door with 1 and 3/4 yards of cotton material of the owner's choice. When the homemaker tires of her color scheme, she can remove one cover and try a new design, or she can leave off the cover entirely and have a regulation white box.

GIANT PLANE DE-ICER

Los Angeles—Enough heat to warm a dozen six-room homes is produced in this aircraft tail stub assembly, shown being trundled out of the Chrysler Motors California Plant at Los Angeles for shipment to the Long Beach, Calif., Plant of Douglas Aircraft. The two heaters in this section of the Douglas Globemaster C-124 transport plane de-ice the tail surfaces and warm the interior of the giant craft, which has a capacity of 200 fully equipped troops or 76,000 pounds of cargo. Chrysler Corporation's Los Angeles Plant makes wing, tail and fuselage assemblies which go to Douglas for final assembly.

In the days of the old-time bad men, many played with the idea of holding up the bank in Eureka Springs, Arkansas, in the Ozarks but they decided the get-away would be too difficult because of the steep and narrow streets, and therefore, never made the attempt. Five modern-day bad men however, had an idea that they were wiser than the old-timers and decided they could turn the trick. But a watch that was slow proved their undoing.

On September 27, 1922, this gang of desperadoes brought about the most exciting day in the history of the resort city.

Far up the street from the bank was an alley but the alleys in Eureka Springs, because of the hills, are different from alleys in other cities—they have wooden stairways connecting the street above with the street below. One of the robbers remained with the car and was to L. delinted and treated cotton-seed come by and pick up the others at a certain time.

While one stood guard outside, the other three entered the bank, levelling their guns, ordered Cashier Smith and Teller Sawyer as well as three other employees, to throw up their hands; the bank force at bay, the other two scooped up all the cash in gated cotton. Extra good seed. $115.00 per ton. C. W. Sanders, looking the other way, one of the two miles west of Lorenzo, members of the bank force pressed an alarm button under the counter with his foot.

When the robbers emerged house. Also 15-foot Krause plow, Oliver Cletrac, No. 55. The car was not on hand because John Deere breaking plow, 24 foot Hobbs trailer. Equipment all in good shape. Joe B. Roberts. 23-tfc

Ernie A. Jordan had a jewelry store near the bank. Your columnist talked to him three years later and obtained his story

The push button in the bank set off a gong in the business section and Jordan exclaimed to a customer, "Say, the bank is being robbed!" The jeweler was a veteran of World War I and had under his counter a German Luger he had brought back from the battlefield. He seized the weapon and ran to the street.

As Jordan came out the door, one of the robbers was just backing away from the bank, six shooter in hand. Now the jeweler happened to be left-handed and was holding the Luger in that hand, down at his side, and when the bandit glanced toward him, he saw only Jordan's right side and supposed that the citizen was unarmed.

Jordan brought up the pistol, it cracked, and the robber fell. Then, out of the bank came another of the holdup men, the sack of money slung over his shoulder and seeing what had happened, he used his free hand to return the fire of the jeweler and other citizens, who, by this time, had started blazing away from second story windows along the street.

The robbers attempted to dash

News From The U. S. Congress

Congressman Frank Bcard

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 20.—At this time it looks as though the House will have an opportunity to consider the tidelands legislation during the week of March 30th. The Subcommittee that has been considering this matter reported out a bill this week which will go to the full Judiciary Committee for consideration. If this Committee acts on the bill this week as is expected, indications are that the Rules Committee will give it an immediate green light so that it can be brought up on the floor the last week in this month. The bill as reported out of the Subcommittee is in many respects disappointing, the principal objection being that while it relinquishes to the States the land within their historic boundaries, which in the case of Texas, would mean ten and one-half miles, it does not give the States any power or control over the so-called Continental Shelf. I am hopeful, however, that this prime objection can be cured by amendments either in the Committee or on the floor of the House.

President Eisenhower has inaugurated a policy of each week having a few members of Congress to lunch at the White House so as to enable him to become better acquainted with members of Congress and likewise to give us a better chance to know him. According to protocol, members of Congress are invited according to their seniority regardless of political party. Usually there are ten or twelve Democrats and the same number of Republicans invited to each luncheon. It is my understanding that serious business is not discussed at these meetings, and so far, they unquestionably have tended to create better relations between the Executive and Legislative branches of our government. I have been asked to the White House to attend the luncheon on March 24th. Naturally, I am looking forward to this occasion.

Few of us realize just how fast our population in this country is growing. According to the information that has recently come to my attention, there is one birth every nine seconds, one death every twenty-one seconds, one immigrant every two minutes, and one emigrant every seventeen minutes. This all adds up to a net gain of one individual in this country every thirteen seconds. Our population on March 20th at 10:28 A. M., E. ST., was 158,995,530. By simple arithmetic you can determine the population at the time you read this paragraph.

The Military Operations Subcommittee of which I am a member is charged with the duty of studying the operations of the military (other than combat) activities at all levels to determine how these activities can be made more efficient and more economical and to determine whether in the Armed Services there is a waste of manpower and dollars, and if so, just where this waste is occurring and to determine the best methods to bring about better results. Basically, the jurisdiction of the Subcommittee covers all of the activities of the Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marine Corps, other than combat. Primarily, its function will be of an investigatory nature. In the near future we will start a series of hearings designed to take a good look at how the expenditures of some of the defense appropriations are being made with the view in mind of being helpful and eliminating extravagant and wasteful spending. Of equal importance is the manner in which the manpower of the Armed Services is used. It seems to me that there is no reason why the performance of the duties of personnel of any of the services should be any less efficient or more expensive than similar civilian operations. These hearings that we will soon get into will, no doubt, be long and will involve a great deal of work, but I am hopeful that they will be fruitful and that we may be able to suggest some ways of substantial saving of both money and manpower.

that they have not completed their military duties according to officials of the Texas Military District, which is administrative headquarters for the Army reserve program in the state. For, in addition to the two years of active duty, the Universal Military and Training Act of 1948 and its later amended forms require that after the inductee returns to civilian life he will continue to be a member of the reserve forces of the branch in which he served. This term of reserve duty varies according to the law under which he was inducted and length of time he spent on active duty.

There are three categories of inductees and enlistees that are transferred to the reserve forces when they are separated from active duty. First, the young man who was inducted, enlisted or was appointed in a regular component of the Armed Forces between June 24, 1948 and June 19, 1951 and served on active duty less than three years must serve in one of the reserve components for five additional years. However, this five-year period may be shortened to three years if he joins and serves satisfactorily in a reserve unit for three years.

Those inducted for 21 months active service and volunteer for an additional 12-month period on active duty, thereby serving 33 months, have no further reserve obligation. This also applies to those who serve three years an active duty.

In the second category are those enlisted men who enlisted between June 24, 1948 and June 19, 1951 for one year. After completing this one-year enlistment these men are transferred to the reserve for a six-year term. Again, this term may be shortened to four years by performing satisfactory service in a reserve organization.

In the third category are those who enlisted, were inducted or appointed in the Armed Forces, including any of the reserve components, after June 19, 1951 and before their 26th birthday. These men are required to serve a total of eight years. This service can be in any combination so that a part of it may be served on active duty and the remainder in the reserve; however, present laws require two years in the active forces. Those who enter the active service after their 26th birthday serve only for the time for which they enlisted.

Tom Bullington attended a county and district convention in Austin the first of this week.

Mrs. C. M. Joines and Miss Madelyn Joines of Brownwood are visiting in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Harpham and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Harpham this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bailey King were visitors in Abilene last Sunday.

Munday Students Win Theme Prizes

Munday high school students have done a great deal of thinking recently about "Our Greatest Need in Public Education Today."

They transcribed their thoughts with paper and pen, and it soon became known that the Munday Study Club was sponsoring a theme writing contest.

First prize of $3.00 was awarded Julie Massey for having written what Study Club members considered the most outstanding theme. Second prize of $2.00 was awarded Gordon Stevens.

The Munday Study Club has entered Julie Massey's theme in the contest for high school students sponsored by the State Federation of Women's Clubs. The club winning this contest will be given a historical oil painting.

Mrs. A. L. Smith, chairman of the youth activities committee of the club, expressed the appreciation of her committee for the fine spirit shown by Mrs. Ottmers, high school English teacher, and the students entering the contest.

Local P-TA Unit Endorses Higher Pay For Teachers

At a recent session of the Munday P-TA, the organization went on record endorsing Texas House Bill No. 216—an act to provide a minimum salary of $3,000.00 for teachers.

Mrs. Clyde Taylor, president of the Munday organization, has received a letter from the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers informing her that this bill has been referred to the appropriations committee, in which it will have a much harder time being passed favorably to the House floor than it would have had had it been placed in the Committee on Education.

Mrs. Taylor urges all members of the P-TA as well as all citizens of Munday who are interested in seeing the teaching profession kept and attract the most capable people, write to Governor Allan Shivers, Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey and Speaker of the House Reuben Senterfitt, asking that they support the bill. These letters need only be addressed to them at the State Capitol, Austin, Texas.

"Needless to say, it is our own children who make the future leaders of our country," said Mrs. Taylor, "and they need the best education we can give them. As long as our schools are not able to compete with industry in the matter of salaries, the teaching profession will not attract enough capable people. I do urge you to write our officials regarding this important bill immediately."

Miss Claudine Winans and Mrs. J. A. Iden of Big Spring were week end guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Winans.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Aghast At The Idea He Should Earn Living In The Hard Sweat Of His Own Brow

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek is talking about something he probably doesn't have any personal knowledge of this week. Dear editor:

I was stretched out in the sun out here the other afternoon reading a newspaper when I ran across an item that made me sit up so fast I bumped my head on a low-hangin' limb.

Accordin' to this item, an official in the Agriculture Department in Washington, strugglin' with the fall in cattle and farm prices, generally, said there isn't too much to worry about yet, that the country is fundamentally sound and prosperity is still around and wages are high, and I guess he's right, but what brought me up was his next statement.

He went on to say that the farmer is gonna have to forget about high prices and return to earn a livin' in the sweat of his brow, and while most farmers I know never have given up that method, I personally was hopin' some other method would be found.

Earnin' your livin' in the sweat of your brow is an honorable pastime, but looks like he could have thrown in the suggestion it would be all right also to have more umbrellas on tractors. Looks to me like if a farmer can earn his livin' in the shade of a tractor umbrella, it ought to suit Washington just as much as the sweat of the brow. At any rate, we don't have to go bare-headed, do we? And I reckon it's be all right to plow on a cloudy day, won't it?

Now just the mere fact that some parts of farmin' require a lot of hard work never did increase the honor of the job, so as far as I'm concerned, Any man who can figure out a way to take some of the hard work out of farmin', he's the man I tip my hat to, provided I'm in the shade at the time. I guess more farmers earned their livin' in the sweat of their brows when we had walkin' plows and mules than they do now ridin' rubber-tired tractors with hydraulic lifts, but I just don't believe the country ever would have gotten fed without the increased production those tractors brought on, regardless of the condition of the farmer's brow.

Brow-moppin' no doubt is an honorable gesture brought on by an honorable expenditure of energy, but any time anybody comes out with an air-conditioned tractor on easy credit terms, you'll find me on the waitin' list. I could go on, but a man can work up a sweat writin' the same as he can plowin' and I hope Washington takes notice while I mop my brow.

Yours faithfully,

"Biff" Falls for His Own Story

Biff Morgan's four-year-old daughter Rusty is something of a night owl. Stays awake way past her bedtime.

Every night Mrs. Morgan complained about how hard it was to get Rusty to go to sleep. Finally Biff decided to handle the situation. "Anyone can get a kid to sleep — takes a little patience! Here, hand me her storybook."

He grabs the book and goes into Rusty's room. About an hour later Rusty comes padding out in pajamas and hands her mother the book. "Read it quietly," she whispers, "so we don't wake Daddy."

From where I sit, Biff won't be so quick to be a "child-care specialist" the next time. If we could just resist being such "know it alls," our neighbors would be better off. Take those who would deny me a glass of beer with my supper — well, I might not care for the buttermilk they like. We all ought to realize that we all have different abilities and different preferences, too.

Cotton Farmers Study Situation Before Planting

Cotton supplies have now reached the point where, if another large crop is produced in 1953, the carry-over could further depress markets and bring back control programs. Cotton producers are, therefore, being urged to study the present situation and plant in accordance with the expected demands for their product.

It appears now, says J. D. Prewit, associate director for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, that the demand for raw cotton in the United States this season and next will be only slightly less than used last season, however, exports are expected to drop at least 1½ million bales below last season and maybe even lower next season. The carry-over on August 1, 1953, is expected to be, says Prewit, about 4.3 million bales, which will be 1.5 million bales or 55 per cent more cotton than was on hand a year earlier.

Cotton advisory groups have met with Secretary of Agriculture Benson and after careful study and consideration of all factors, the Secretary has asked the nation's cotton producers to make an 18 per cent reduction in their 1953 plantings as compared with those for last year.

This reduced acreage should produce between 12 and 12.5 million bales of cotton. Such a crop would meet the estimated domestic and export demands and leave enough surplus to take care of the reserve needs, points out Prewit.

Prewit advises Texas cotton producers to think in terms of balancing cotton with other farm crops and pastures. He points out that under the 7-step cotton program, fitting cotton into a balanced farming program is the first recommended step in making production of the fleecy staple more profitable. The present situation, he explains, calls for this balance.

Unusually heavy demands for feed caused primarily by the drought and to some extent by increased livestock numbers, has reduced the amount of feed and forages to a very low level and the acres left out of cotton this year could be profitably used.

A young veteran, home from Korea, points out the battle area to a hostess in a USO club. Funds to make USO services available to GIs are sought by United Defense Fund in Red Feather and other united community campaigns.

says Prewit, for producing grain and forage for rebuilding the supply of these needed feeds.

Consideration, he adds, should also be given to increased plantings of soil improving crops in the areas where spring and summer planted legumes are adapted. Temporary pastures for livestock or for the production of hay crops might also be used on the diverted acres.

It all adds up, says Prewit, to this fact. The nation needs only 12 to 12.5 million bales of cotton this year and the shift to other crops will pay in two ways. A smaller 1953 national crop should bring in more net profit and the grain, forage or soil improving crops grown on the diverted acres will help rebuild depleted feed supplies and the soil building crops will aid in keeping future production high.

Mrs. Frank Bowley left Wednesday for Bangs to spend the remainder of this week with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. George Barnes.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Lee of Wichita Falls and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Borden visited at various points in South Texas last week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Atkeison returned Wednesday from a ten day stay in South Texas.
