

Knox Prairie Philosopher Has New Idea For Helping Washington To Meet Its Obligations Without Any New Taxes

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek has had some impossible ideas in his time, but this one rusts top the list.

Dear editor:
I was out here yesterday afternoon sittin in the shade worryin about the national debt. I find it's a whole lot more restful to worry about the national debt than the private debt, impersonal thinkin is a lot more effective and trouble-free than personal thinkin. I know lots of men who can come closer to settlin Washington's financial difficulties than they can their own, and along about sundown I noticed a cow sniffin at something in the weeds and when I got up to go home I walked over there and discovered it was a newspaper and I picked it up and put in my pocket and after supper I read where some emissary from Washington was just back from South America and he reported what that country needs is more cash from this country.

"If South America could manage a little financing from the United States, it'd be a big help in fightin Communism and buildin a stronger country," the representative said.
"I've been thinkin. Now South America ain't the only country which could use a little cash. As I understand it, the United States could, too. I notice that President Eisenhower is strugglin, with the problem of balancin the budget and has already found out we've promised to spend more money in the next few months than we got comin in and a special session of Congress may be necessary to raise the debt limit so we can borrow a little just to meet our current obligations, until some new sources of revenue can be found or the expenses can be cut.

I know this may sound revolutionary and in some countries even inhumane, but what I'd like to know is why don't we try borrowin some money from a foreign country ourself.
We've had every kind of representative imaginable goin abroad to see which country needs to borrow from us, and now that we're a little had up for some ready cash ourself, why don't we send out a borrowin mission of our own?
Or, to save a little money, why couldn't we just wire the fellows we already got abroad to stop lendin and start borrowin?

I know it would spread consternation abroad quicker than the news we'd discovered how to mass produce atom bombs at two-bits apiece and were gonna make practice drops clear around the world just to see what happens, or it might be like you announcin in your paper was gonna publish a list of all the past-due accounts owed all the stores in Munday next week, but in desperate times desperate actions simetimes are called for.

Cottonseed Stored For Fifteen Years Still Germinates

Under controlled conditions, cottonseed has been stored for periods up to 15 years and germination was good at the end of the test period. The percentage of germination was most effected by moisture and temperature, says Fred C. Elliott, cotton specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Seed from two upland cotton varieties are being used in the tests which were conducted jointly by the Tennessee Experiment Station and the USDA. The seed were divided into lots and adjusted to moisture levels ranging from 7 to 14 per cent. Samples of each were stored in constant temperatures of 90, 70 and 33 degrees Fahrenheit. Similar lots were stored at normal uncontrolled air temperatures at Knoxville, Tennessee.

After 15 years in storage, Elliott says, seeds kept at 33 degrees Fahrenheit with 7, 19 and 11 per cent moisture still germinated well. Those stored at 13 per cent moisture showed some deterioration while those with 14 per cent moisture were all dead after 15 years.

Seeds stored at 70 degrees and 7 per cent moisture for 15 years still showed 73 per cent of the seed capable of germinating. All lots stored at 70 degrees with more than 7 per cent moisture were dead at the end of the test period.

Seeds stored at uncontrolled air temperatures did not fare so well, says Elliott. Only those with a moisture content below 7 per cent survived beyond three years in storage and all lots were dead after 13 1/2 years.

Most rapid deterioration of seed occurred at 90 degrees. Those containing 14 per cent moisture were dead in four months and those at all other moisture levels were dead or badly deteriorated in three years, says Elliott.

Mrs. D. M. Groves and grandson, Jerry Ray Groves, returned last Friday from a three weeks visit with her son and family, Sgt. and Mrs. J. P. Groves of Harlingen.

THE FIFTH PLATE

The present birth rate in the United States indicates that one extra person will be sitting at every American table for four by 1975. People are now asking: "Where is the food coming from to fill this fifth plate?"

If population forecasters are right, our agricultural production will have to increase 20 percent to feed the next generation as well as we are eating now. This means a big demand for additional food.

In the past, such demands have led to drastic changes in the lives of many people. When the Irish potato crop failed in 1845, hundreds of thousands left their native country to find homes in the United States. As the population increased in the eastern states, people moved west, opening new land and advancing the frontier.

In World War I, American farmers expanded their production by putting vast acreages of land into cash crops. And you all know the years of distress that followed when the war-time market collapsed in the 20's.

When the second World War again demanded the utmost of farmers, they increased production capacity at that time.

Today each farmer now raises enough to feed himself and about 15 others. And there are 7,000 new babies to be fed in the United States every morning of the year. New farmers and new farms can't be created fast enough to keep the ratio balanced.

If we have to raise our sights to feed a permanently expanding population, where shall we turn this time? There're no new frontiers of first-rate land to be opened up. Only a little more than one-fifth of our land area is now being used for crops, so millions more acres could be put into cultivation—but the investment for irrigation alone would be staggering.

The problem is not a new one. About fifty years ago, Thomas Malthus, a brilliant but rather short-sighted English economist, forecast starvation for the human race because the world population, he said, was outstripping agricultural production. But Malthus was wrong. He underestimated the farmer's ingenuity in constantly improving his crop raising methods.

The answer, then, lies in a greater application of science to agriculture. We must find new ways to apply research to agricultural production and teach approximately the present number of farmers to use new scientific knowledge on approximately the present area of cropland.

We have nothing to fear from the "fifth plate" as long as the farmer continues to increase his per-acre yields, improve his soil conservation practices and work for better plant and animal breeding.

The man with 248,404 different names

Idly toying with pencil and paper, we just figured out what it would cost to buy yourself a certain electric manufacturing company. Complete with factories, machines, raw materials in the bins, and so forth.

Write your check for 2 billion dollars, please. (That's at recent price per share quoted on the Stock Exchange.) But don't send the check to the company. It doesn't own the stock.

You'd have to buy back the stock in bits and pieces from 116,000 women share owners. And 83,000 men. You'd have to get in touch with about 25,000 trustees and guardians. And a few thousand insurance companies, universities, hospitals and pension trusts to buy back the stock they own.

We wouldn't blame these people if they didn't sell to you. They don't have to, you know. Maybe they want the stock for the same reason you do.

Not even a thousand millionaires, each putting in a million dollars, could "own" General Electric. The "man" who owns General Electric has 248,404 names. There are that many owners on the books.

Simple mathematics can shoot a large round hole in the childish misconception that America's basic companies are owned by a few lucky people.

Suppose there were the fantastic total of 100,000 millionaires. Even they couldn't buy the "people-owned" businesses on which America depends for goods. But already six and a half million individuals have a direct investment in America's production.

The only thing bigger than America today will be America tomorrow. And the only collection of people rich enough to finance this growth and share in its success is the public.

You can put your confidence in—

LET'S TALK LIVESTOCK BY TED GOULDY

FORT WORTH—While Southwestern livestock movement held about level with a week ago at the start this week, the clangor of late Summer shipments of cattle to market reached a crescendo of 123,300 cattle and 14,400 calves at the nation's 12 major markets Monday. This was 28,500 more cattle and calves than a week ago, and 27,700 above the same day last year.

At Fort Worth, canners, cutters, bulls and choice stockers held firm. Most other kinds of cattle and calves were weak to 50c lower.

The strength of the canners held to Nocona to work awhile. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kirk are in San Angelo this week on business.

and cutters and other boning types reflected to some degree the liquid condition of that portion of the market aided by government purchases of canned and ground meat. Latest reports indicated this program was taking five to six million pounds per week (5,375,260 lbs. the week ended Aug. 10). Vast expansion of this buying is expected soon. The government paid $38.75 per cwt. for canned beef, and bought nearly a million and a half lbs. hamburger at $33.34. (Fort Worth packers quoted hamburger to this writer at $27.00 per cwt. the same week). Frozen carcass beef for Greece was bought at $23.93 and frozen carcass mutton at $14.70, delivered Port of New York.

While these prices may appear stronger than current wholesale levels, some of this is to be delivered in September and after all, it is bought in an effort to RAISE prices. This should do it.

Fort Worth's hog price Monday climbed back to the year's high of $25.25-25.50 for top hogs. This was 25 to 50c higher. Sows were steady to 50c higher, selling $18.00-21.50.

Sheep and lambs ruled steady at Fort Worth. Top lambs at $20, indicated that strictly choice kinds could bring $1 or $2 more. Medium, good and choice fat lambs sold from $14.00-20.00, cull to medium $10.00-14.00. Feeder lambs were held around $13.00-15.00. Old ewes $5.00-6.00; solid mouthed ewes $7.00-10.00. Old wethers $7.00-10.00. Old bucks $2.00-3.00. Two's $10.00-12.00. Slaughter yearlings $10.00-17.00.

Good and choice fed steers and yearlings $18.00-23.50; common and medium grassers and shortfeds $11.00-17.00; ratty yearlings $8.00-10.00.

Butcher and beef cows $9.50-12.00; canners and cutters $7.00-9.50. Bulls $8.00-13.00. Good and choice fat calves $13.50-16.50, few higher. Common and medium butcher sorts $10.00-13.00; culls $7.00-10.00. (Grassy calves and yearlings are at the lowest time since the third week in June.)

Good and choice stocker steer calves $13.00-18.00; heifers $15.50 down and good and choice stocker yearlings $13.00-16.00. Stocker cows $8.00 to $14.00.

Some criticism is being made of the food-making industry because of their stand against certain practices in the drought feed program. Feed men are being pilloried by some producers for trying to get a program set up whereby the feed making industry can participate.

Much of this is grossly unfair. After all this program will bankrupt many small businessmen (feed dealers) in its present form. We can hardly blame an important segment of our national economy for fighting for its life.

Miss Gwen Groves of Wichita Falls was a week end guest in the home of her mother, Mrs. D. M. Groves.

CARD OF THANKS
We again express appreciation to all of you who gathered last Friday and worked out our crops. Your neighborly deeds will always be remembered in our hearts.

REEVES MOTOR COMPANY
Dodge-Plymouth Cars Dodge "Job-Rated" Trucks Munday, Texas

The biggest bargain that I found on this summer's trip to California was a bus trip from Los Angeles to Tijuana, the town made famous by its race track, which was the subject of entertaining short stories by Gerald Beaumont, 30 years ago. Tijuana is just across the boundary in Old Mexico and the track, Aguacaliente, is the scene of racing every Sunday throughout the year.

You board a special bus (one leaves every few minutes from 7:15 to 8:15 a. m.) in front of the Biltmore Hotel and go past thousands of orange trees; San Juan Capistrano, the mission renowned for the swallows and 50 miles along the Pacific Ocean with its boundless green waves, bathers and campers in trailers or in cars, with tents and tarpaulins. (That night, coming back you will see fires of driftwood.) You go by Del Mar, the race track where "the turf meets the surf"—in fact, wisps of mist from the ocean hang like smoke across the track this particular morning; and through many pretty towns, past the harbor of San Diego, with its destroyers and cruisers.

At the boundary you leave the bus and are handed two tickets. You walk across the line and board a taxi to the track. The driver tears one ticket in two—the other half is for the return taxi ride. He steps on the starter and you are literally "off to the races"—in fact, the driver gives you a little racing down side streets, unpaved to avoid traffic and then zips in and out of the line of cars. You see the bull-ring, and off to one side, a slim tower that suggests the Moors in Spain—and then you are at the track entrance. The other ticket given you is admission, not just to the grounds, but to the clubhouse.

There, a scene right out of a South American technicolor musical presents itself to your enchanted gaze: a track surrounded by mountains, an infield of bright-hued grass, adorned with tropical flowers and shrubs; in front of the clubhouse, diners and sippers under big beach umbrellas of red, blue and pale gold, over the section of the clubhouse which extends out into the open, a canopy of red, white and green canvas. The clubhouse itself has tiled floors and an intricately-carved ceiling covered with gilt. Only Carmen Miranda was lacking!

This day, there are three races in the morning and 12 in the afternoon. There is little delay between races—at most tracks, in an afternoon there will be eight races, so naturally events here are speeded up.) People are the most interesting sight at the track—as they are everywhere. At Tijuana, you see Mexicans, Chinese, Americans; tourists, in lurid sport shirts; a woman of India (or maybe Hollywood) in a robe; men with wide hats and boots, as at the Stock Show in Fort Worth; a few Mexican policemen, smartly garbed in gray-green uniforms; movie actors and actresses; a giant of a man, over 300 pounds, in dark trousers and navy-blue sweater, his head sitting on bull-like shoulders; a woman in a picture hat, who reminds one of a duchess at Monte Carlo in an E. Phillips Oppenheim novel; a silent, lone man with slit-like eyes, swart face and the inscrutable expression of a Mayan image.

Well, when you are ready to depart, you exchange your taxi ticket for a ride back to town and walk past the U. S. immigration officer, who asks, "Where were you born?" You answer, "Why?" that might have been more difficult. Then the bus trip back to Los Angeles.

Now what do you think the fare for the international journey was: over 300 miles, past missions, orange groves, lovely towns, San Diego harbor, taxi to and from the track and admission to the clubhouse? Four dollars! That was the biggest bargain of my California visit.

(Of course, any losses at the track are extra). Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Gollehon and son, Tommy, of Amarillo are visiting in the homes of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Norvill and Mr. and Mrs. C. Gollehon, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Yarbrough and Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Fitzgerald returned Thursday evening from a two weeks vacation to points in Washington, Oregon, Utah, Nevada, California, New Mexico and other interesting places.

Joe Lanham Bevers of Dallas was a week end visitor in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bevers.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Baker and granddaughters, Shirley Carolyn and Dianna, returned Thursday evening from a vacation trip to points in Colorado and New Mexico. They visited the Earl Nichols in Tatum, N. M., on the way home.

Miss Ilene McClaran of Wichita Falls was a week end guest with her mother, Mrs. Ann McClaran.

How to Start a Nail

AS MANY a youngster or amateur craftsman has learned by painful experience, there are several wrong ways of starting a nail. There also is a correct way, which will avoid smashed fingers.

In the illustrations by the National Safety Council, the wrong way is demonstrated in the upper two pictures, with the painful result if the nail slips. Rule 1 is to avoid holding the nail by the thumb and finger near the point of the nail.

If the thumb and finger are held near the head of the nail, as shown in the lower illustrations, the digits will be knocked out of the way and will escape injury even though the nail slips. Of course, avoid having the thumb and finger snug against the head of the nail, too; otherwise the hammer is likely to strike them as well as the head of the nail.

Brief Articles On The Draft Law And Regulations

(Editor's Note: This is one of a series of short articles on the draft law and its rules and regulations.)

AUSTIN, Texas, August 10—Any young married man registering with a draft board had better be on the alert about reporting children in his family or expected birth of a child.

On August 25th and thereafter, fathers are not deferrable because of their children. Draft boards have this new regulation following an executive order of President Eisenhower.

Those who now have children and those who are expecting birth of a child, are deferrable; likewise, those who become fathers or expectant fathers before midnight, August 24th.

But these men who are fathers and expectant fathers before August 25th must act at once to advise their draft boards in writing. If they fail to perform this important duty required by draft regulation, they will be liable for the draft simply because they failed to advise their boards of the facts.

In the case of expectant fathers, certificate from a licensed physician must be secured stating that the child had been conceived, probable date of delivery, and evidence upon which positive diagnosis of pregnancy is based.

Brigadier General Paul L. Wakefield, state draft director, urges all married men who come under the provisions of this new regulation to act at once if they wish to retain their deferred status.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Jack Williams and children of Midwest City, Okla., came in last Sunday for a ten day visit here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. V. Williams. They and Mrs. Jerry Kane and girls visited Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bill Pierce and children in Midland last Tuesday and Wednesday.

O. B. Glover of Chickasha, Oklahoma was a business visitor here last Tuesday.

COTTON THEN AND NOW

Times may change, but cotton stays about where it was 35 years ago if one may judge from this clipping which appeared in a Beeville, Texas, newspaper dated 1916:

"Cotton is the overcoat of a seed that is planted and grown in the Southern states to keep the producer broke and the buyer crazy. The fiber varies in color and weight, and the man who can guess the nearest length of the fiber is called a cotton man by the public, a fool by the farmer and a poor business man by his creditors.

"The price of cotton is determined in New York and goes up when you have sold and down when you have bought. A buyer working for a group of mills was sent to New York to watch the cotton market, and after a few days' deliberation he wired his firm as follows:

"Some think it will go up and some think it will go down. I do, too. Whatever you do will be wrong. Act at once."

"Cotton is planted in the spring, mortgaged in the summer and left in the field in the winter.

"You can and you can't; you will and you won't. Be damned if you do and be damned if you don't.—Greenville (Miss.) Delta Democrat-Times.
