DIVIDING UP YOUR RETAIL DOLLAR

A large food retailing organization in Florida recently described what happened to each dollar its customers spent with it in a late year. And this actual story is a significant one for budget conscious consumers.

Here is how that dollar was divided up: 85.11 cents went to buy merchandise; 8.4 cents was used to meet the payroll and to support various employee benefits; taxes took 1.38 cents; miscellaneous overhead expenses totaled 1.32 cents; rent and utility services cost 1.20 cents; depreciation claimed .85 cents; advertising accounted for .72 cents.

After all these costs were paid, 1.02 cents was left. And that was the retailing organization's profit.

In every branch of retailing, the profit item is far smaller than most of us realize. In fields where problems of style and seasonal changes are involved the profit naturally must be higher than in the case of staple merchandise. Even so, the net profit of representative stores rarely runs above four or five cents and often is much less.

No other people gets so much for their retail dollar as we do.

WEAPON AGAINST FAMINE

The Evening Times of Beverly, Massachusetts, recently ran a little item under the heading "Pathways To the Past." It read: "120 years ago, at the Hamilton County Agricultural Society of New York, Obed Hussey of Maryland, exhibited a strange new device called a reaping machine. It was not the first; men have experimented with reapers since the days of Pliny. But Hussey's machine worked . . . It was he who made possible the great grain fields of the West."

No doubt the Hussey reaper, remarkable as it was for its time, would seem absurdly primitive today. So would the first examples of all the other early farm machines—machines whose history goes back but little more than a long lifetime. But these machines have revolutionized agriculture as completely as the internal combustion engine revolutionized industry.

It is literally true that the modern farmer cannot afford to be without mechanical aids. The machine makes possible more production, better production, and cheaper production. It is the answer to high labor costs that make the use of human muscle prohibitively expensive.

Going farther, it is the machine that not only saves and conserves but improves the land for future generations. Seen in this light, agricultural machinery is the solution to the great problem of how, with a given amount of agricultural land, we shall meet the needs of the vastly larger population we will have 50 or 100 years from now. In other words, the machine, properly used by man, can prevent famine and near-famine.

BEST SALESMAN

Retailers "can't get along" without newspaper advertising "and they'd better not try." These words didn't emanate from an advertising solicitor, but from a retailer, J. C. Penney, chairman of the board of the company that bears his name, and a man who knows how to sell merchandise.

"We can't do business without newspaper advertising," said Mr. Penney. "The newspapers are our market place where we come to cry our wares."

In thousands of communities the local newspapers reach millions of readers regularly with a visual record of news and advertising that is not matched by any other means of communication.

PROFITS IN 1952

If you think that a large part of the money you spend winds up in the form of profits for the businesses you patronize, a report just published by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States will be both informative and surprising.

Last year American corporations made record sale of goods and services—some $500,000,000,000 worth. But net profits were substantially lower than in 1951—averaging only 3.4 cents on each sales dollar. The decline was largely due to taxes.

Taking the 1946-52 postwar years, it is found that corporate net profits rose by $3,200,000,000. In the same period, by comparison, compensation to employees increased by $73,000,000,000—well over twenty times as much.

The moral is plain—profits are a small factor in the price we must pay for things.

GREENVILLE, ILL., ADVOCATE: "The new Administration's Commissioner of Internal Revenue is planning a simplified form of tax return for persons with incomes of $10,000 or less. This is wonderful! The man who can make income tax paying as simple and effortless as the paying of state, county and municipal taxes will be listed among the immortals."

HOW WE GOT OUR BIBLE

The claim of certain religious people that they collected the different books of the Bible and gave it to the world near the dawn of the fifth century is not in harmony with the facts of history.

The greatest and best manuscript of the Bible in existence is the Codex Sinaiticus. It was discovered on Mt. Sinai in 1844 by the German scholar Tischendorf. This manuscript was written in Greek capital letters on one hundred antelope skins. It is complete except for small portions of the Old Testament. The New Testament is complete. Scholars are certain that it is one of the fifty manuscripts ordered made by the Emperor Constantine in the third century. Certainly this does away with the claim that the books of the Bible were not gathered until the dawn of the fifth century.

Tischendorf, who discovered this manuscript, was a Protestant. It was first taken to Russia and later purchased by the British Museum and is now there in London, England, a Protestant country.

It is available to all scholars for the purpose of translation. The world does not now, nor did it ever depend upon any organization for a correct translation. The scholars who gave us the American Standard Version of the Bible had access to the three best and oldest manuscripts extant. This version is the best we have. Written in the language of our day and considered the most accurate of all.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, of Texas
 M. D., State Health Officer

AUSTIN—Communicable diseases common to children reach their low point, as to number of cases, late in the summer. Then, when school opens, and children are closely grouped together in classrooms, germs begin to spread, and the increase runs to thousands of cases of illness causing much time lost from school, discomfort for the children, and untold hours spent in nursing them back to health, declared Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

Some children die and others suffer permanent damage to their health. The really tragic part of this situation is that it is, in large measure, preventable. If all parents would change their indifferent, negligent attitude toward diseases such as measles, whooping cough, scarlet fever, and chickenpox, and would co-operate with school and health authorities, these common communicable disease epidemics could be reduced.

Dr. Cox says these are the important ways to protect the health of our school children: immunize every child against diphtheria and small pox, have daily inspection of school children, with isolation or separation of the suspected case of disease, sending home any child showing signs of illness, such as paleness, sore throat, skin eruption, fever or any other symptom that apparently needs the attention of a physician; keep children home who show signs of illness. Call the physician and let him interpret the symptoms. Readmission to school should be based on permission of the family physician or health officer. Inspection should be made at the beginning of school and at mid-year for minor skin infections and head lice, with exclusion of all infected children from school. The development of good personal habits in every child is very essential to the control of all contagious diseases.

For the sake of our children—their physical health and progress in school, let's stop the inroads of needless illness, and give them a fair chance for normal development, physically and mentally.

Mr. and Mrs. Worth Gafford and Mrs. Frank Nance and Joe were visitors in Wichita Falls last Sunday.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Explains Why Some Uneducated People Can Make Money Money Than Educated People

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek is way over his head this week, he's talking about education.

Dear editor:
I read the other day where a man said there was one thing about the school system he could not understand.

Said the schools of this country are turning out a lot of graduates, but he'd noticed there were a lot of so-called educated people who never went to school much were making a lot better livin than the educated people. He wanted this explained.

J. A.

I will explain it. The reason is there is no substitute for hard work and hard thinkin, and the school system ain't got any courses in them subjects in its curriculum. It's just had to get teachers who can handle them two subjects.

However, I would like to say in a hurry that in regard to hard work and there not bein any substitute for it, as far as I'm concerned I ain't lookin for a substitute for it. Most of the substitutes I've encountered are worse than the original, and as for me and hard work, I just don't want to be associated with the idea.

The schools are able to teach a man to read and spell and figure and trim his fingernails, all right, although I've seen some people who went clean through the school system and couldn't spell or read or write any better than some people who quit in the eighth grade, in fact, I've observed that college degrees frequently ain't no reflection at all of a man's education, some people can get an M. A. degree and still not know any more than they did when they had just an B. A., and some people can get a Ph. D. degree and still not show any marked improvement over what they knew when they was back in the B. A. class. In lots of cases under this Gilmer-Aiken system, the only way on earth to tell how many degrees a teacher's got is to look at his pay check. It's the only place it shows. In fact, there are some people who claim degrees are only records of how many classes you attended and stayed awake in, not how much you absorbed, which is a matter out of my field, although I guess there are some people who absorb more than others, although some of them don't know what to do with what they do pick up.

Educatin some people is just like givin certain young boys a high-powered automobile. They just ain't equipped to handle it. As for as making money goes, I'm not equipped to speak on the topic, but I'd like to say that stayin ignorant may not be a bar to make money, but it ain't no help either, and a man who can get ahead without any education, there ain't no tellin where he could have gotten with a little. Might have been even a foreign diplomat.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

John Brown of Eunice, N. M., visited relatives and friends here the first of this week.

Mrs. Lee Haymes visited relatives in Abilene last Monday.

Enclose Laundry Tubs

STORAGE is a "must" in the laundry, but oftentimes it is makeshift and unsatisfactory. Wise homemakers can readily make a combination linen chest and laundry supply cabinet which will serve also to hide unsightly stationary tubs.

As shown in the illustration, the handyman can enclose the tubs, construct a chest of drawers next to them, and create a handy clothes sorting table on top. To do the best job from the standpoints of cost, appearance and long life, he should build a framework of 2 by 2-inch lumber and cover it with smooth Masonite Tempered Presdwood, one-quarter inch thick.

Drawer construction can be simple. Just form the framework of lumber and attach a bottom of Presdwood. Wooden slides attached to the cabinet and sides of the drawers complete that part of the project.

The lumber framework for the enclosures should be no farther than 16" apart. Swinging doors to enclose the tubs may be made, too, as illustrated, or sliding doors of Tempered Presdwood unframed, may be made. They will slide in grooves cut into the cabinet floor and upper framework.

Prime and paint the installation for the best appearance.

To Plane Narrow Strip
ANY craftsman knows how tricky it is to plane narrow wood strips. American Builder, a magazine which is an authority for professional craftsmen, shows how to do it in a simple, effective manner.

As illustrated, take two pieces of 2 x 4's, clamping the narrow strip between and using a C-clamp at each end to hold them together. Between the 2 x 4's, place a spacer strip of the same thickness as the piece to be planed.

Munday Girl Is Graduated From Wichita Hospital

Dr. Alfred Freman, pastor of the First Methodist Church, called the lives of individuals the canvases on which "the Master Painter" reveals himself to humanity, when he spoke to the 36th graduating class of Wichita General Hospital last Monday in Wichita Falls.

Speaking to the 16-member class at exercises at the Church of the Good Shepherd, Dr. Freman told the nurses to "dedicate their labor and their hands" that others might know that they are the canvases of God.

Dr. Gordon Clark, president of the board of directors of the hospital, presented diplomas to the graduates and Mrs. Frances Killen, director of the school of nursing, presented their pens.

The Nightingale Pledge was administered to the entire body by Miss Gwendolyn Groves, director of nursing service at the hospital and a member of the school alumnae.

Miss Irene McClaran of Munday was a member of the graduating class and has accepted a position with the General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Royce Hardy and children spent the week end with relatives in Abilene.

Brief Articles On The Draft Law And Regulations

(Editor's Note: This is one of a series of short articles on the draft law and its rules and regulations.)

When a man is classified by the draft board, that classification is not permanent. It may be change when the man's status changes.

Each classified man and each person who has filed a request for the man's deferment must report to the local board in writing any fact that might result in the man's being placed in a different classification. This must be done within 10 days after the change occurs.

Employers may be required to furnish information under the law, and police officials or other agencies may be requested to make investigations.

The local board may reopen and consider anew classification of a man (1) upon his written request, (2) written request of a person who claims to be his dependent, or (3) any person who has on file a written request for the man's occupational deferment. This can be done, provided such request for reopening is accompanied by written facts not considered when the man was first classified, which if true, would justify a change in his classification.

Draft regulations say that the "classification of a registrant shall not be reopened after the local board has mailed to such registrant an order to report for induction, unless the local board first specifically finds there has been a change in the registrant's status resulting from circumstances over which the registrant had no control."

Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, state draft director, points to two things which might happen to a man beyond his control: (1) a serious accident, or (2) death of his father, resulting in his becoming head of the family.

The local board must always reopen a case at either the request of the national or state director of Selective Service and must cancel any order to report for induction, if that is involved in the case.

STALK DESTRUCTION SHOULD BE A PART OF HARVESTING PROGRAM

Cotton stalks should be destroyed immediately after the cotton harvesting job is completed. In fact, says Fred C. Elliott, extension cotton specialist, the harvesting job should not be considered complete until the cotton stalks have been cut or shredded and plowed under.

Elliott says there are two big reasons for destroying the stalks early. First, it is one of the best known and cheapest practices that can be used for controlling cotton insects especially boll weevils and pink bollworms. Secondly, it is a good cultural practice. The crop residue when plowed under, explains the specialist, adds organic matter to the soil which helps to condition it and increases its water holding capacity. Then too, this early land preparation gets the soil ready for the planting of winter legumes.

It is a matter of record, says Elliott, that when an early cotton stalk destruction program is carried out on a county or area basis, the cotton insect troubles for the next season are materially reduced. The boll weevils and pink bollworms are deprived of their food supply by such a program and are forced into hibernation in a weakened condition. Thus the number which emerge the next spring is cut.

Elliott likes the shredder type stalk cutter but says the heavy roller cutters which cut the stalks into small pieces also do a good job. The important thing is to get the stalks cut into small pieces so all the residue can be completely covered by plowing. Soil moisture conditions are improving in most sections of the state and Elliott believes the plowing job can be done without difficulty. He points out that there is plenty of time left for planting winter legumes and recommendations that they can be planted on all cotton land.

The 1953 Texas Chicken-of-Tomorrow Program was a record-breaker. Participants sent 4,080 birds to the finals—a new record by 870 birds. The quality was described by the judges as remarkable.

Make Posts Last Longer

ILLUSTRATED is a simple and neat technique for applying a wood preservative, such as creosote solution, to fence and porch posts before they are placed into the ground.

Fill a galvanized steel pail about half full of the liquid preservative.

Place the lower end of the post in the pail, so it can absorb some of the preservative around it.

The upper portion of the post projecting above the liquid's level in the pail can be covered with a paint brush.

Then remove the wet post from the pail and place it on a thick, absorbent pad of old newspapers so that drippings will be confined to a safe area. Wood preservatives are difficult to remove from floors and can damage lawns.

Who will get Johnny to school the first day?

All hands will be on deck to speed Johnny off to his exciting new world. And no hands will be busier than Mother's. That is unless you count Reddy Kilowatt's helping hands, which help Mother at every turn.

Reddy helps wash Johnny's socks, iron his shirt, cook his breakfast, and even heats the water to scrub behind his ears. And later Reddy will help him get his lessons by making study easy on his eyes.

As a matter of fact, the older Johnny grows the more ways Reddy can help him... and Reddy's help is just about the biggest bargain in the family budget today.

LET'S TALK LIVESTOCK BY TED GOULDY

FORT WORTH—Parity prices of livestock as announced Monday by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics reveal hogs selling at 117 per cent of parity, the only species in that fortunate position.

Average hog price on August 15 was $23.60, effective parity $20.20. Average cattle prices, $16.30, effective parity $21.00, or 78 percent of parity. Average calf prices $16.70, effective parity price $23.30, 72 percent of parity. Average lamb price $40.00, effective parity, $22.80, or 88 percent of parity. Average wool price 53c, effective parity 58.4c, or 91 percent of parity.

Last week the daily papers and news services of the state carried a report from Houston's sixth annual marketing school. At this meeting, a spokesman for a leading cattlemen's association said price supports would be ineffective "because cattle are now selling at 90.1 percent of parity."

This sort of off-the-cuff use of figures has hurt the stockman's chances many times in the past when consideration of Congress or Washington agencies has been sought by the cattle producers. This gentleman may have been speaking in good faith, but he certainly gave the foes of the cattle producers some ammunition with his misstatement of the facts.

The fact is that cattle and calves, at 78 percent and 72 percent of parity respectively, are bringing an average of 75 percent of parity. With high support prices on feed ingredients and grains, the production of beef is still a hazardous business.

Monday's cattle run was big, over 131,000 at 12 major markets, over 7,000 above a week ago. The calf run of over 17,000 was 3,000 above a week ago. Hog receipts were light at all points. Western markets such as Denver and Omaha reported big sheep runs, indicating the Fall run of western slope sheep and lambs was under way. This hurt prices around the circuit, too.

At Fort Worth, good and choice fed steers and yearlings, cows and bulls were fully steady. Grassy steers and yearlings 50c lower. Fat calves 50c, spots $1.00 off. Stocker trade was very dull, and prices weak to $1.00 lower. Good and choice grainfed beeves $18.00-24.00, some Has-

I am such an old timer that I can actually remember when all that a man expected to get free from Washington was garden seed.

Dwight L. Moody was rejected as a Sunday School teacher so he went out and gathered a group of under-privileged boys and taught them.

Young Moody went to a Sunday School convention with a friend. The expected speakers failed to show up or else ran out of ideas, so the friend spoke and then Moody spoke and he enthralled the audience, converting 60.

Such was the beginning of the career of the greatest evangelist of his generation. Moody never was ordained as a minister but he traveled over a million miles and preached to more than 100,000,000 persons.

Someone criticized his imperfect knowledge of grammar and of English. He admitted the charge and expressed regret, then said, "But I am doing all I can for God with the gifts I have. Are you?"

Moody declared, "I want a man to tell me what he believes, not what he does not believe. I like to meet a positive man."

The War between the States has been described as "brother against brother, father against son." When the forces of the great Confederate raider, Morgan, were captured, one man surrendered to his own brother. John J. Crittendon of Kentucky was staunchly for the Union; he had a son who was a Northern general and another son who was a Southern general.

But Dr. Robert J. Breckenridge could surpass that. Breckenridge, who presided over the 64th convention which nominated Lincoln and Andrew Johnson, had four sons in the war, two Union officers and two Confederate officers.

Marble Falls has a grocery store built of pink granite, the same material of which the State Capitol is constructed. It is odd to see a granite building with signs in the window, "Picnic hams, 39c lbs." and "Sour Pickles, 25c qt." There is, of course, a vast amount of granite in the Marble Falls country.

BARGAINS IN BEEF
 Steaks and other good beef cuts rate star billing on the family shopping list through September.

With beef of all types more plentiful now than during any comparable period in recent years, Texans can now really indulge in their traditional fondness for this home raised product. Prices should be favorable enough to warrant laying away a good supply of meat in the deep freeze, too.

Supplies of beef during August and September will be setting new records. The hot, dry weather that prevailed over much of the cattle-raising region during the early summer has stimulated unusually heavy marketings of range cattle. This movement, added to the large supplies of fed cattle, means that the consumers are finding meat counters well stocked with attractively-priced cuts.

Judging by the quantity of livestock marketed during the past six months, and estimates of what is expected to come to market the rest of this year, consumption of beef in 1953 may be as high as 73 to 74 pounds per person. This would be a big increase over the 61 pounds per person last year and would equal or top the 1909 record of 73.2 pounds per person.

Housewives will need little prodding to choose beef and beef products for her family. They know that the protein in beef is needed by young and old alike, and that variety meats in particular are good sources of important vitamins and minerals. Lean beef is a valuable source of B-vitamins and of phosphorus and iron. Protein and minerals are found in beef liver, kidney and heart. And liver, with its iron and copper content, is an important blood builder.

But the best news is that after years of almost prohibitive prices, beef is now coming within the family budget. As a result, week end chefs of both sexes who go for outdoor cookery on summer evenings will be even more active in the next few weeks.

The barbecue barn may rely on easy-to-fix hamburger sandwiches, topped with onion or tomato slices. Or he may choose the ever-popular frankfurter on toasted roll with a generous garnish of relish or sauerkraut. But grilled steaks and other cuts are expected to top the list.

Whatever his preference, beef will score a hit every time.

DAUGHTER BORN TO THE ARLEDGE SUGGS

There's a girl at the Moody Air Force Base in Valdosta, Georgia. Now wait and let's get this straight before there is an enlistment rush in the Air Corp. This girl is the new daughter of Second Lt. and Mrs. Arledge Suggs and she made her arrival Saturday, August 22. She weighed 8 pounds and 11 ounces and her name is Aurelia Ann Suggs.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Carlton of Kinston, N. C., and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Suggs of Munday.

Mrs. Suggs, who has just returned from a visit there, reports that Buddy is one proud daddy. Just doesn't seem to realize that other lieutenants have been daddies before this one girl made her arrival.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Mitchell attended the Welch family reunion in Lueders last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Mitchell were business visitors in Wichita Falls last Wednesday.
