Boyce House is back.

When we first came to Munday, the column "I Give You Texas" by Boyce was running in this paper.

We carried it continually until a few weeks ago, when Boyce decided to quit writing it and devote that time to writing books. In the first of his revised efforts, Boyce tells this week why he began writing this column again.

This column writing is just like lots of other bad habits—once they get hold on you, they are hard to shake loose!

George Cross is back.

George put in about four years in our print shop, then decided to quit and try the Pecos country for a while.

After some 18 months at Pecos, George returned to Munday three weeks ago and to his job at the Times office, where he's plugging away in his usual steady and efficient manner.

Norton Pendergraft is back.

Instead of a job that requires being on his feet all the time, Norton has taken over the linotype machine—a piece of equipment that has caused us considerable expense, lots of grief and a few almost sleepless nights during recent months.

He thinks in time—and so do we—that he can get the "old mill" back in good shape, excusing its age, so it'll grind out type like it should.

N. M. Saunders, who was with us almost six years, returned to his home in Breckenridge—and Ben Yarbrough, erstwhile hotel operator, lost a regular roomer.

With our present force, we hope the old print shop will operate more smoothly than it has since we've had hold of the reins.

And we hope those who heard and witnessed the mock tornado alert Monday night were readers of our sheet. Otherwise, if they were listening to the radio, there might have been cause for some excitement.

Over the radio came news of a tornado alert on a line 50 miles south of Abilene to Ardmore, Okla., and for 50 miles on each side of the line.

We thought at the time, and we imagine others did, that this area would include Munday.

About 51 minutes later, the mock tornado alert went into effect with fire trucks racing through town on designated routes and with sirens screaming like all getout.

If there had been a dangerous looking cloud nearby, we expect lots of people would have hunted the storm cellars.

And that was just to show you, folks, what will happen when the "real McCoy" warning comes.

It is hoped that with this type of warning set up, no one in Munday will be caught unawares if a tornado should strike. And tornado season is here.

We think they've just about caught all the fish out of the city lake.

A number of people have gone out there lately with no luck.

The season opened ahead of time, mainly because water in the lake was getting very low. Man alive! The shores of that little lake have been very popular during recent weeks.

And with some pretty good catches, too. Lots of crapple, perch, bass and catfish have fought their last fight out there.

And lots of anglers are still trying their luck.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jungman and children, Ida Jo and Mike, of Vernon visited relatives here last Sunday.

The injured were H. G. Carnahan, driver of the car, and Donald Decker, who operates the Decker Home and Auto Supply in Munday. Carnahan received an ankle injury and Decker received bruises and cuts. He was taken to the Knox County Hospital for treatment.

Examination Monday revealed that Decker suffered a fractured pelvis and will remain in the hospital about two weeks.

County machinery for ministering the new Salk polio vaccine to some 400 first and second grade students of Knox County had been set up by county physicians prior to the announcement Tuesday that the new 1955 model of the vaccine was very effective.

The vaccine in mass tests last year proved its ability to prevent up to 90 per cent of cases of paralytic polio. But since then it has been improved and is far better than the vaccine tested last year.

It can theoretically prevent paralytic polio 100 per cent, declared Dr. Jonas Salk, Pittsburg scientist who developed it.

The vaccine was officially licensed for public use by the National Institutes of Health only hours after it had been found safe, effective and powerful in preventing polio, and supplies were being shipped to various state medical centers.

Late Tuesday, Cutter Laboratories of San Francisco sent 330 pounds of the vaccine to Dallas, and it arrived there Wednesday. This will be given children of the state as soon as possible.

Children would get only two shots of this newer vaccine—spaced two to four weeks apart—if Dr. Salk's recommendations are followed. They would get a third shot no earlier than seven months after that.

Dr. Salk finds this spacing best pulls the trigger of the body's gun mechanism, flooding billions of protective antibodies into the blood stream. It is these antibodies which build a wall between children and paralytic polio.

The offices of Dr. D. C. Eiland and Dr. R. L. Newsom in Munday and the Knox City Clinic will be used as vaccination centers for the first and second graders of the county.

"We hope to start the vaccinations some time next week for the first and second graders," Dr. D. C. Eiland, county health officer stated. "We will await a consensus of opinion before deciding whether to give two or three injections and at what intervals."

Tomorrow's It! Better Pay Your Income Taxes!

Long suffering Mr. Public Citizen was given a month of grace this year, as the deadline for payment of the income tax was set for April 15 instead of March 15, as heretofore.

But tomorrow's it! Midnight Friday, April 15, is the deadline this year for filing your income tax return—and most of us have to dig up a little money to satisfy the Director of Internal Revenue.

Don't be caught at deadline time. If you're one of those "tardy ones," better get busy and get your return in the mails by midnight Friday.

THE PROBLEM OF MENTAL ILLNESS

The problem of mental illness is a grave one. The number of its victims has been rising at an alarming rate. And it is a public problem, directly affecting the national welfare. Yet, according to two officials of the American Medical Association, who gave testimony before a House subcommittee, in some cases our mental health facilities resemble "pest houses" where patients are confined indefinitely with slight hope of cure.

These AMA spokesmen testified in support of a group of proposed health measures, one of which would promote an intensive program of study in the field of mental health under the Surgeon General and the National Institute of Mental Health. They urged that increased federal funds be provided. One of them made this all-important point: "Mental illness is intrinsically a medical problem. . . . In solving health problems, stress is too often placed in the provision of physical facilities for diagnosis and treatment. We lose sight of the facts that hospital buildings do not cure patients. The successful management of illness, whether physical or mental, comes only from the application of the art and science of medicine by a physician skilled in modern methods." He briefly reviewed the great progress that has been made in fighting such dread diseases as smallpox, typhoid fever, polio, and others and added: "Mental illness can succumb to the same attack. Patchwork, stop-gap programs for the care of the mentally ill are keeping us on a treadmill and actually doing little to reduce and prevent mental illness."

This expert advice should be heeded. We need the right kind of physical facilities for the mentally ill. But most of all we need to develop improved methods of care, treatment and rehabilitation.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

SPRING VALLEY, N. Y., LEADER: "According to Virginia's Senator Harry F. Byrd of the Senate Finance Committee, the national debt limit is equal to all the assets in America today and we are mortgaged to the hilt. How an individual decides to 'drown his troubles' may be his own business. When it looks like the national debt may drown the whole country, that becomes the concern of every citizen, every taxpayer."

CANNELTON, IND., NEWS: "There is one thing we can do as good Americans. That is to keep ourselves as well informed as possible and do our part in helping mould a national program that will keep us free and our country's institutions out of peril."

BACON FOR BREAKFAST

There's certainly nothing remarkable about a piece of bacon. Tens of millions of us eat it every day. It's one of the most desired. But the packing industry has to do a considerable amount of work before it's possible for you to bite into a slice of it. For bacon doesn't exist on the pig. In a sense, it has to be manufactured.

First, the proper side of meat has to be selected, trimmed and squared. Then comes the curing process, for which there are hundreds of different recipes resulting in a variety of flavors. Then the side goes into the smokehouse, where it gets its marvelous fragrance. After that it is chilled and formed. Finally, it is sliced, attractively wrapped, and sent on its way to the store.

This is just a single example of the thousand and one services the packers provide for consumers. And few industries give so much service for so meager a profit. Since 1925, meat packing firms have realized average earnings of only slightly more than one per cent dollar of sales. During the same period general manufacturing firms averaged nearly five cents on the sales dollar. Handling and processing the meat you eat is a big and complex job that's done at an amazingly low cost to you.

RESULTS SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES

Seventeen states now have right-to-work laws which permit a worker to decide for himself whether to join or not to join a union, without coercion from either the union or the employer, and without union membership being necessary to his employment.

Union heads are now organizing an all-out attack on these laws—on the grounds that they lead to oppression and underpayment of workers.

What are the facts? Well a survey has been made of the nine states which passed right-to-work laws in 1947, 1948 and 1949, and so have had them long enough to know the results. Between 1947 and 1953 non-agricultural employment in these states increased 21 per cent as against 14 per cent for the nation as a whole. The number of business establishments increased 24 per cent, as against 15 per cent nationally. And wages and salaries were up 69 per cent as against 59 per cent for the entire country.

Does that look as if the right-to-work laws are harming the workers?

WHAT DOES THE BIBLE SAY?

DON'T REFUSE THE FREE TICKET

"Well, I cannot understand why a man who has tried to lead a good moral life should not stand a better chance of heaven than a wicked one," said a woman recently in a conversation with others about the matter of salvation.

"Simply for this cause," answered one. "Suppose you and I wanted to go to a place of amusement where the admission was one dollar. You have half a dollar and I have nothing. Which would stand the better chance of admission?"

"Neither", answered the woman.

"Just so; and therefore the moral man stands no better chance than the rebellious sinner. But now suppose a kind and rich person, who saw our perplexity, would present a ticket of admission to each of us at his own expense. What then?"

"Well, then we should both go in alike. That is clear."

Thus it is, when the Saviour saw our need of entering heaven, he came and died; purchased His church, and obtained eternal redemption for us; and now he offers you and me a free ticket.

Only take care that your half-dollar does not make you proud enough to refuse the free ticket, and be refused admittance at last. The free gift of God's grace must be accepted by a faith that leads one to obey the gospel of Christ. "Go ye in to all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature. He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that believeth not shall be damned (Mk. 16:15-16)." "Though he were a Son, yet learned he obedience by the things which he suffered; And being made perfect, he became the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him. (Heb. 5:8-9.)" "Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren (1 Pet. 1:22) "Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost" (Acts 2:38.) "For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord (Rom. 6:23.)"

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas
A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

"The first thing we do, let's kill all the lawyers."

Shakespeare put these words in the mouth of Dick, the butcher, one of Jack Cade's followers, in the play, "Henry the Sixth."

It has been quoted often as an example of the occasional antipathy of the public toward lawyers. However, an examination of the play reveals a rather interesting turn to this quotation.

Jack Cade was a pretender to the throne of England. In the process of inciting his rebellion, he promised the rabble that they would get several halfpenny loaves for a penny, and all three-hooped pots should have ten-hoops, all things should be in common, the laws of England would come from his mouth, and his mouth would be parliament. Here was the promise of dictatorship, socialism and Communism, all rolled into one, in the time of Shakespeare, and in order to accomplish these results the first thing to be done was to kill all the lawyers, who would naturally oppose any such system.

Upon the pages of history are the names of lawyers whose contribution to our free society was so great that they are beacons by which all men continue to see their inalienable rights shine forth in the darkness of dictatorship and injustice.

One, whose name stands out on the early pages of history as a champion of all men in their striving for equality, was Cicero, Chrysoogonus, the political power of Rome, condemned Roscius, so that his property right might be confiscated for the benefit of Chrysoogonus.

When no one else would defend Roscius for fear of Chrysoogonus, Cicero came forward and, with the knowledge that he stood alone against the most powerful figure in Rome, made himself immortal when he refused to temper his argument, courageously attacked Chrysoogonus, and shamed the court into turning from cowardice to follow the law and set Roscius free.

Thus was broken the abuse of the powerful in using the courts to deprive men of their liberty, their rights and possessions. Cicero's act is a tradition of the legal profession today.

Look also to Lord Coke, who defied King James when he said the king is under the law, and thus again set the pattern for the supremacy of law for all, high and low alike.

America has had many great lawyers to whom each of us owe, and will continue to owe, a tremendous debt of gratitude, for the privilege of justice as we have it today.

John Adams, one of the leading patriots of Boston, endangered his life and his career by defending the British soldiers involved in the Boston Massacre. He later applied his deep-seated convictions of human rights and freedoms by assisting in the framing of the Declaration of Independence.

Our history books contain many other stirring examples. In the preservation of the individual's rights of freedom, the lawyer's training and tradition compels him to agree with Voltaire when he said, "I disapprove of what you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it."

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Joyce and son of Albany and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bowden of McCamey visited Mrs. J. B. Bowden and Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hawkins over the week end.

LET'S TALK LIVESTOCK BY TED GOULDY

High Grade Cattle, Calves Open Steady
FORT WORTH—The accent was again on "quality" in the cattle trade at Fort Worth on this week's opening session. Higher grades moved rather readily at generally steady prices, while the less attractive kinds were on the weak side.
 Packers took a bearish stand on most cattle on the early rounds, but salesmen were able to get largely steady prices for fed steers, yearlings and heifers. Cows were weak, and packers complain that many of the cows are either off grain pasture or clover or other lush growth and are washy and low in the yield and grade, a seasonal development.

Probably the most significant point in the condition of these cows is that it indicates that the movement from the eastern third of Texas, as well as the East Texas bordering states is somewhat earlier than usual this year in some cases.

High grade slaughter and high grade stocker calves sell readily at firm prices in the $18 to $22 field, while most slaughter kinds except a few fancy heavies check in at $21.50 down. Medium and lower grades were steady to weak. "Green" calves and yearlings are a problem for the slaughter buyers right now, they say. Bulls steady.

Fat Cattle Top $23.50 to $23.75

Good and choice fed steers and yearlings topped at $23.50 and $23.75 at Fort Worth Monday, a load if experimentally fed steers from the Spur Station brought in by Paul Marion at $23.50, and two loads of fed steers from a commercial feeder drew $23.75, both these sales were above any made here last week when $23 was the practical top. Fat cows $11 to $13.50, a few $14. Loads of cows at $13.50 from both East and West Texas in the yards on

A TOAST to first "transatlantic milk run" is drunk by Berrin Ergul, J. Ruth Gallo, and Chief Purser James Cooper on American Export Lines "Constitution." The American Can Company paper cartons from which they're sipping help make practicable this first fresh-milk shipboard service across the Atlantic and back.

Monday as Naud Burnett, Greenville, had a load at $13.50 and a load from Mill Iron Ranches, Wellington, at that figure. Canners and cutters $7 to $11. Bulls $10 to $14.50, a few higher. Good and choice slaughter and stocker calves $18 to $21.50, a few to $22. Plainer kinds $10 to $17.

Heavy Old Crop Lambs Weaker

Monday's trade in the sheep barns at Fort Worth saw Spring lambs and yearlings or older sheep sell steady. However, old crop shorn lambs were still under some pressure and no better than barely steady with last week's low close at best.

Packers are still bearish about heavyweight old crop lambs and when weights get around 100 pounds or more on these, the price is definitely lower again.

Some inquiry for breeding ewes developed on the heels of some rain in the sheep country but few desirable aged or desirable quality ewes were included in the runs. Some rather aged kinds from $6 to $8, and better kinds quotable well over that.

Feeder lamb trade was again very quiet, most stocker or feeder fleshed lambs selling for slaughter. Fat milk lambs topped at $23 and old crop shorn lambs $18 down. Slaughter ewes $5 to $6, old bucks around $4. Medium grade yearlings drew $15, some heavyweights might bring more, old mutton scarce.

Hog Prices Better, Top $18.50 Here

Hog prices were on the mend at Fort Worth Monday with top hogs at $18.25 to $18.50, and some around 250-pound hogs able to get the extreme top. Salesmen were again striving to make neat type hogs bring the premium they deserve and were getting some cooperation again from most of the buyers.

Sows were steady at $14 to $16. Less desirable butcher hogs of off weights, fat back or cold blooded types, etc. sold from $17 to $18.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Henry A. Holle, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—Meet the Man of the Hour.

He's the man who runs the water treatment plant in your home town. Does the task sound prosaic? Well, listen . . .

Without the commodity he handles men and cities would slowly die.

You use his handiwork with confidence, yet without thought, each time you turn the faucet and drink of the cool, clean water.

Each time you fill the basin to wash your face, or brush your teeth or shave. Or water the garden. Or fill the bird bath. Or on any one of a hundred other occasions during the course of a single, fleeting day.

Boiled down to its simplest terms his job is one of collecting water at a central point for processing, making it safe for human consumption, and transporting it to our homes and places of business. It goes on 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 365 days a year.

Today—April 7—is really his day. It's World Health Day, the theme of which is "clean water means better health."

The Man of the Hour retails clean water. Is that important?

So important that no tyrant has ever dared deny it to his people. Wars have been fought over water. Once mighty nations have collapsed because their supplies had been cut off.

The wandering children of Israel faltered in the desert and threatened rebellion until Moses smote a rock and brought forth a spring.

Because of what the Man of the Hour does during his 8-hour shift at the plant, the 400-odd gallons of water you use every day—assuming you're average—is delivered to you in all its life-giving cleanliness.

How does he do it? By knowing how to operate and maintain the equipment of his trade. By knowing the proper use of the chemicals of purification. Therefore he is part engineer, part chemist. Prosaic? Hardly.

His badge of merit is his cherished operator's license, bestowed only on those who have demonstrated ability to handle vital assignments in the treatment plant.

The use of water so pervades human life that it sometimes loses its significance. Thus does the Man of the Hour get slighted when the public hands out its accolades for vital service.

Why not drop by the plant today. Look the place over. Ask questions. And, if the thought occurs to you, say "thanks" to the Man of the Hour."

Hybrid grain sorghums will be produced commercially for the first time this year. Their development has been underway by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station since 1927. Seed will not be available for large scale plantings until 1957. Yields may jump by 30 to 40 percent.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Dane and daughter, Freddie Nell, of Lubbock and Mr. and Mrs. Sam McGaughey of Spur were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Hill over the week end.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chan Hughes this week are Mrs. Hughes' sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Hummel and sons, of Sterling, Ill.

Jimmy Boyles, who is stationed at Lackland Air Base in San Antonio, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Boyles, over the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Cannon and children of Hale Center were guests of her sister, Mrs. Charlie Haynie Jr., and family last Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cowan of Andrews visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Cowan, and other relatives over the week end.

Marion Phillips of Midland spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Phillips.

Dial 5631

A. Conan Doyle created Sherlock Holmes and, after writing many stories on his fictional character, decided he wanted to write about other subjects, so he "killed" Holmes. But so many protests came from readers that Doyle brought Holmes back to life.

In 1938, this "column" made its appearance and, for 17 years, never missed a week—probably close to half a million words of reminiscence, observation, bits of humor and philosophy, in short chit-chat and trivia in a world beset with wars (hot and cold), A-bombs and H-bombs.

Recently, I decided, in order to spend more time in writing books, to discontinue the column. The reaction has been surprising and (it must be confessed) gratifying. Readers have phoned, written, stopped me on the street to say they miss it. Even busy editors have taken time to express their regret.

If Sarah Bernhardt could make no less than six "farewell tours" of America and if Doyle could bring Sherlock Holmes back to life, there is precedent for reviving the column.

So here it is. Or, as George Gobel would put it, "There you are."

You will recall that when Tom Sawyer ran away from home, folks thought he had drowned. They couldn't find the body but decided to hold a funeral, anyway. Tom learned of this and hid himself in the loft of the church to attend his own funeral. The preacher's praise and his expression of how much the "deceased" was missed so touched Tom that, in the middle of the service, he came out of hiding.

I feel a good deal like Tom did—especially after Jake Smyth's most generous editorial in the Liberty Vindicator.

Anyhow, if you keep on reading it, I'll keep on writing it.

Like Hopalong Cassidy and the Lone Ranger, old Boyce rides again!

An old saying, "Do right—and fear no man. Don't write—and fear no woman."

A concession stand spieler at the Heart O' Texas Fair in Waco last fall sang out, "You'd better enjoy yourself because this is the good old days you'll be talking about 10 years from now."

Drive carefully. The life you save may be your own!

Tornado Safety Rules Listed By Munday Fireman

Members of the Munday Fire Department thank local citizens for their cooperation during the mock tornado warning Monday night.

"This alarm will be sounded in the future to give tornado warning, time permitting," they said. "However, when it sounds it does not necessarily mean there will be a tornado, as we shall not take any unnecessary chances to determine the direction of travel, as tornadoes can change in a moment's time."

Listed below are some of the tornado safety rules which everyone should be familiar with:

There is no universal protection against tornadoes except caves or underground excavations. When time permits, go to a tornado cellar, cave, or underground excavation, which should have an air outlet to help equalize the air pressure. It should be kept fit to use, free from water, gas, or debris, and preferably equipped with pick and shovel.

If you are in open country:
1. Move at right angles to the tornado's path. Tornadoes will usually move ahead at about 25 to 40 miles per hour.

2. If there is not time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression such as a ditch or ravine.

If in a city or town:
1. Seek inside shelter, preferably in a steel reinforced building.

STAY AWAY FROM WINDOWS.

2. In Homes: The southwest corner of the lowest floor or in

KEEP TEA FRESH, EXPERTS SAY

The people who know good tea have this important advice for every family that serves tea. Buy it fresh and then keep it fresh. Tea is fresh if it comes wrapped in sealed aluminum foil. But it is up to you to preserve its freshness once it's home. Store it in a closed canister. The canister can be any container at all, so long as it's spotlessly clean, thoroughly dry and has a tight-fitting lid.

the basement offers greatest safety. People living in brick or stone houses should seek other shelter, preferably in a storm cellar or the basement of a frame house. If time permits, electricity and fuel lines should be shut off. Windows on the north and east sides of the house may also be opened to help reduce the damage to the building.

3. Standing against the inside wall or a lower floor of an office building offers some protection.

If in Schools:
1. In city areas: Especially if school building is of good steel reinforced construction, stay inside, away from windows, remain near an inside wall on a lower floor. AVOID AUDITORIUMS AND GYMNASIUMS.

2. In rural districts: Remove children and teachers to a ravine or ditch if storm shelter is not available.

If in factories and industrial plants:

On receiving a tornado warning, a lookout should be posted to keep safety officials advised of the tornado's approach. Advance preparation should be made for shutting off electrical circuits and fuel lines if tornado approaches the plant. Workers should be moved to sections of the plant offering the greatest protection.

Keep calm! It will not help to get excited. People have been killed by running out into the streets and by turning back into the path of a tornado. Even though a warning is issued, the chances of a tornado striking one's home or location are very slight. Tornadoes cover such a small zone, as a rule, that relatively only a few places in a warned area are directly affected. You should know about tornadoes though, "just in case."

No gasoline—no, not a single one—has higher octane than New 1955 GULF NO-NOX

This lamp is burning the "DIRTY-BURNING TAIL-END" of gasoline which GULF refines out

This lamp is burning NEW SUPER-REFINED GULF NO-NOX, the clean-burning super-fuel

but octane alone is not enough...

That's why new Super-Refined Gulf NO-NOX is specially made to burn clean—to protect your engine—to give you thousands of extra miles of full engine power.

Fill up with new Super-Refined Gulf NO-NOX and feel the difference in lasting power. You'll get:

- More complete engine protection than with so-called "miracle-additive" gasolines.
- Extra gas mileage in the short-trip, stop-and-go driving motorists do most.
- Stall-proof smoothness... instant starts... fast, fuel-saving warm-up.
- No knock, no pre-ignition—even in today's high-compression engines.

Compare clean piston "A" from engine using new NO-NOX with piston "B" from engine using the "dirty-burning tail-end" of gasoline that Gulf refines out. Both pistons shown here, from Gulf test engines, ran the same number of hours under the same conditions.

It's super-refined... to burn clean!

Awards valued at $50,000 are being offered 4-H Club members in the 1955 National 4-H Garden, Canning and Frozen Foods programs.

Of the half-million 4-H'ers who participate in the three projects each year, those with outstanding records will be honored on county, state, sectional and national levels. Much of the food-stuffs grown in the 100,000 acres of 4-H gardens are used fresh, but members also can over six million quarts of food and freeze more than three million pounds annually.

Medals will be offered to four outstanding garden members in each county. State winners in the program will receive trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, Nov. 27-Dec. 1. The eight top-ranking 4-H'ers among the state winners will get $300 college scholarships each. For the 10th consecutive year, the Tractor Division of Allis-Chalmers is providing the awards for garden winners.

Similar county and state awards are made available to canning winners. The six top state winners will receive $300 scholarships from the Kerr Glass Mfg. Corp., donor of the canning awards, at the National Congress.

In the frozen foods program, medals are provided for two county winners by International Harvester, awards donor. State winners will receive $50 U. S. Savings Bonds. All-expense trips to the National 4-H Club Congress will be given eight sectional winners, representing all parts of the country, and six of the trip winners will be presented $300 scholarships as national winners.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Disturbed Over The Insistence Of The Experts That His Farming Future Is Secure

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek discusses the future of agriculture this week, a subject he knows as much about as he does anything else.

Dear editor:
I was out here the other day reviewing my assets, going over in my mind what the agricultural situation is and trying to figure out if I was about as well off as the amount of work I'm willing to put out would entitle me to be, and on the whole, despite the fact things could be a lot better. I guess you could say I'm still getting along and after all when you can say that, then things are in normal shape. I was figuring up my assets on the margin of a newspaper and after I got through calculating I looked the paper over and ran into an article that set me to worry.

In this article, the Secretary of Agriculture was trying to prove that farmers are in fine shape and things ought to continue that way. Now I'll tell you, when the experts start trying to prove to me my future is secure, my first reaction is to begin wondering if something's wrong, and one of the arguments advanced by Sec. Benson didn't help a bit. According to him, one of the reasons times are good and are gonna get better for the farmers is that he sees "a continuation of high domestic demand for food."

As I understand this, he believes farming is secure because people are gonna keep on eating food, and in one sense he's right, that is, I believe it's a fairly safe prediction that there will never come a time when people will lose interest in something to eat, but on the other hand I doubt if there ever was a time in the past when they lost interest in that either, and everybody knows that there have been times in the past when farmers were busted. I tell you, basing farming prosperity on the proposition that there's gonna be a steady demand for food is hunting pretty hard for something to be optimistic about. I believe farming is gonna continue to be a good enterprise, but I ain't basing it on the idea it has to be because people have to eat. You might as well argue banking is gonna stay good every month out of the year forever because people like money. I'd appreciate it if the experts would stop telling me when I'm well off. The minute I ain't, I'll know it.

WHAT IS THE ROAD OCTANE? Gulf Oil's new fuel test cars are designed to answer just that question about its premium gasoline. In its newspaper advertising Gulf has pledged that no competitor will offer a better gasoline than No-Nox. The automotive engineers in charge of the cars each expect to drive 40,000 miles over Texas roads this year checking the quality of Gulf's gasoline. MULLING WITH MULLER
By Edna M. Muller

Just how much attention is paid to spectacular four-color advertisements seen in leading magazines, could pose an interesting question. Do the ladies really stop leaping through the pages when they come to a picture of a beautiful woman elegantly gowned? Is man's attention diverted from reading if his eyes glance at an adjoining photo of a handsome car? For myself, lovely clothes, photos of far-away places, home furnishings, in fact all photos, attractively done, will make me stop and look. This all comes to mind because recently I witnessed a scene that most of America will be seeing in pages of magazines in May. I'd been spending a week in the south, and strolling one day through the colorful tropical gardens I came upon a high, movable contraption on which were perched a cameraman and his assistants, calling out instructions to a beautiful model below. Resplendent in a cool-looking, sun-bright white dress and parasol she stood beside one of those new four-door Rivieras. The overall beauty of the entire scene . . . the brilliant colors reflected in the car's high luster, the bluest of waters in the background, and this lovely girl . . . were being faithfully transmitted through the art of color photography for us to admire, enjoy or even yearn over! Incidentally, you ladies might watch for his particular photo as the simple yet elegant dress worn by the model is of Celanese acetate sharkskin, designed by Galanos, and is a high-light of what will be worn this summer. You know it would be interesting to learn just what makes most of us women stop and look at some particular photo in a publication. I'd more than welcome your comment if you'd care to . . . address me to your paper . . . I think they'd forward it to me.

Parting hint: Try a thick knife with a little butter on it to cut a pie without tearing the beautiful topping.

Mr. and Mrs. Donnis Melton of Waco visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Morrow, over the week end.

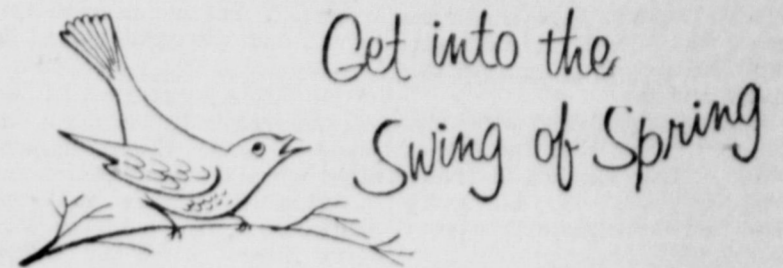

Miss Shirley McAfee of Wichita Falls was a guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie McAfee, over the holidays.

Lloyd Haynie of Wichita Falls visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Haynie, Sr., over the week end.

News From The U. S. Congress

Congressman Frank Ikard

Hearings are tentatively scheduled to begin on April 19th in the Public Works Committee on federal highway legislation. This will not be a hearing to determine or establish our national highway needs for it is generally agreed that a real need exists. The question to be decided at the hearings will be the extent of the Federal program and how and to what extent it can be developed within the limits of the Federal and State budgets.

In other words, the question to be determined at the hearings will be the same one that arises so many times in matters that are considered by the Congress, and that will be what kind of Federal highway program can be developed and not exceed the amount of funds that are available for that purpose. I believe the present attitude in Congress is that it would be very reluctant to endorse a program which would require the sales of long term bonds which would probably be payable after the highways that they were issued to build have been worn out.

There has been a great deal of talk recently about developing a bipartisan or nonpartisan foreign policy on account of the acute situation in the Far East. Developing such a policy, of course, is imperative because there can really be no Republican or Democratic foreign policy but only a United States foreign policy. The sooner we all realize this, I think the better off the country and, I think, the world will be. By the resolution that was passed by Congress early this session, it should be fairly clear that there has been a line drawn which includes Formosa in the Far East beyond which we will not retreat. The question as to whether or not we will defend Matsu and Quemoy which are both without this line is a military decision that will have to be made as the events unfold in the Far East. It would be foolish for us to now state what our policy would be because that would only serve to give the Reds a blueprint of our plans. There is no question but what in making the decisions concerning the situation in the Far East that the President will need all the help and support he can get and that his responsibility in making these will be tremendous.

Visitors from home this week were Mr. Ivan Elmer and Mr. Joe Ward of Wichita Falls.

LONE STAR Agriculture

By John C. White, Commissioner

TEXAS SMALL CROP PROSPECTS

Dry weather, record freezes and blowing winds in the past few weeks have done their bit in adding to the burdens of Texas farmers this year. Many crops not actually destroyed were severely set back, meaning millions of dollars lost in time, labor, seed and crop value.

The peach crop will be almost a complete failure in Texas as well as nine other early southern states. The freezes which took the peaches also caused extensive damage to early season vegetables in the state.

Most late spring potatoes in Central and Northeast Texas were frozen to the ground and harvest will be delayed two to three weeks. Early acreage watermelons of the Lower Valley and Falfurrias areas were not damaged by the cold but have suffered some damage from high winds. Considerable acreage in South and Central Texas was lost but not late enough to prevent replanting. The real problem was whether or not enough moisture would be available for re-seeding.

Also in South Texas, low temperatures delayed maturity of early-spring tomatoes and high winds whipped vines and scarred the fruit. The real tomato loss was in Eastern and Northeast Texas. Most tomatoes at Yoakum and nearby sections were killed. In the Jacksonville area, limited acreage which had been set was killed and considerable damage was suffered by plants in cold frames. Replanting will depend on the availability of plants.

A few cantaloupes were lost in the Winter Garden area but no damage to this crop occurred in other South Texas producing sections. Strong winds have also whipped vines in these areas, however. The freezes caused the heavy loss of cantaloup acreage in Central Texas but replanting was still possible.

Most onions in the southern area survived the killer northers and no serious delay in maturity is expected in the advanced irrigated fields. However, yield prospects on non-irrigated onions at Raymondville and along the Coastal Bend were reduced.

One of the most significant major crop losses was in cotton in areas from Corpus Christi along the Coastal Bend and as far north as San Antonio. Wherever young cotton was up in the field, it was killed. Seed loss alone will probably amount to more than $2 million.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Learn How to Pull Together

Saw a kid go by the Clarion office on a brand-new conster wagon yesterday—and it reminded me of when my brother and I were about forty years younger.

Our folks weren't poor, but there wasn't enough to buy two wagons for Christmas. We got one between us. Dad made a rule that we each could have it for a week—but the boy with the wagon was responsible for keeping the kitchen wood-box filled.

Seemed a bargain to Bud and me—at first. But soon we discovered it was no more fun playing alone than working alone. It wasn't long before we were sharing the wagon in return for sharing the chores.

From where I sit, you can't enjoy a privilege yourself if you're going to deny it to others. There are some folks who want the right to enjoy their favorite beverage—but would deny me my right to an occasional glass of beer. I doubt if such people get their full "share" of happiness, though.

New Vaccine

other children whose vaccine is not being furnished by the National Foundation, let me say that the county health officer serves without pay and what his office actually amounts to is a liaison officer between the various health departments and the other private physicians of the county.

It has been agreed that we endeavor to see that every child in the county under 12 years of age will have an opportunity to receive the vaccine. It will be given on a private practice basis by the parents' regular physician. If the family is unable to pay for it, it will be charged them like any other service. They will be expected to pay for it, if and when they are able.

It makes me happy to announce that the commissioners court is underwriting this program, and we hope to have 100 per cent vaccination of all children under 12 years of age, regardless of financial status. And those who are unable to buy the vaccine may go to their commissioner, who will give them an order to any doctor in the county to administer the vaccine. However, the family will owe the doctor and the commissioners court for service rendered, if and when they are able to pay."

Sodium bisulfite, a chemical commonly used to retard spoilage in foods, has proved itself worth as an additive to grass silage. Improves the quality by checking bacterial fermentation of silage and results in a bright looking, sweet smelling produce. Cost of treating varies from $1 to $1.25 per ton.
